Publisher's Note

All praise and thanks belong to Allah alone, the One, the Almighty, and All-Merciful. Blessings and peace be upon Prophet Muhammad, the last of His messengers and prophets, and upon his family, his Companions, and all those who follow in his footsteps until the end of time.

It is quite disheartening that even though many Muslims today recite the Qur'an regularly, its application in their daily lives is almost non-existent. It all comes down to the fact that the Qur'an needs to be read with translation and explanation so that the context of each verse becomes clear as well as the different ways it applies to one's daily routine.

This comprehensive ten-volume exegesis of the Qur'an, beautifully penned by Imam Abdur-Rahmân Nâsir as-Sa'di and translated by Nasiruddin al-Khattab, attempts to do just that: make the meanings and explanation of the Qur'an easy to understand for the English-language readers and give them take-home lessons from the incidents mentioned in it. May Allah accept the efforts of all those who contributed to the production of this book, and may it be acceptable to Him, âmeen.

1:7. The path of those whom You have blessed; not of those who have incurred Your wrath, nor of those who have gone astray.

«In the name of Allah, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful» that is, I begin with every name of Allah (Subhânahu wa Ta'âlâ – Glorified and Exalted is He); this includes all the (beautiful) names of Allah.

«Allah» – He is the One Who is worshipped, the only One Who deserves to be worshipped, because of the divine attributes He has, which are attributes of perfection.

«the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful». These two names indicate that He possesses great mercy that encompasses all things and includes all living beings, and He has decreed it for the pious, the followers of His Prophets and Messengers. Absolute mercy is for them; others have a share of it.

It should be noted that one of the basic principles on which the early generations of the Ummah and its leading scholars are agreed is belief in the names and attributes of Allah and how those attributes are manifested. For example, they believe that He is Most Gracious, Most Merciful; He possesses mercy that is one of His attributes and this mercy has an impact on His creation. So all types of blessings are signs of His mercy. The same applies to all of His names. We may say concerning the All-Knowing that He has (unlimited) knowledge, by means of which He knows all things. Similarly, the All-Powerful is possessed of might and has power over all things.

«Praise be to Allah». This refers to praising Allah for the attributes of perfection and for His actions that are based on generosity and justice. So to Him be perfect praise in all ways.

«the Lord of the worlds». The Lord is the One Who sustains all creatures – which refers to all beings other than Allah – because He created them, granted them everything that they need and bestowed great blessings upon them; if they were deprived of those blessings they would not be able to survive, for whatever blessings they enjoy come from Him.

He sustains His creation in two ways, general and specific.

In general terms, this refers to His creation of all creatures, His granting of provision to them and His guiding them to that which is in their best interests, which enables them to survive in this world.

In specific terms, it refers to His cherishing of His close friends, by means of instilling faith in their hearts, guiding them to it, perfecting it for them and warding off from them distractions and obstacles that come between them and faith. In real terms, this means guiding them to everything that is good and protecting them from everything that is bad. Perhaps it is for this reason that most of the supplications of the Prophets used the word Lord (Rabb),<sup>3</sup> since all their requests and needs came under His special cherishing.

The phrase «the Lord of the worlds» indicates that He alone has the power to create, and He alone controls His creation, bestows blessings and is completely independent of means, whilst all of creation is dependent upon Him in all respects.

«Master of the Day of Judgement» The Master (Mâlik) is the one who possesses the attributes of sovereignty, one of the implications of which is that He enjoins and forbids, rewards and punishes, and controls His subjects in all ways. This sovereignty is connected to the Day of Judgement, which is the Day of Resurrection, the day on which people will be judged on the basis of their deeds, both good and bad. On that day, His perfect sovereignty, justice and wisdom will become completely clear to His creation, and they will realise that created beings have no sovereignty at all. On that day, kings and subjects, slaves and free, will all be equal and will submit fully to His might, awaiting the reckoning, hoping for His reward and fearing His punishment. Hence this day is singled out for mention; otherwise, He is the Master of the Day of Judgement and of all other days.

﴿You [alone] we worship, and You [alone] we ask for help﴾ that is, we single out You alone to worship and ask for help. Putting the object at the beginning of the sentence conveys the meaning of exclusivity. In other words: we worship You, and we do not worship anyone other than You; we ask You for help and we do not ask anyone other than You for help.

Worship is mentioned before seeking help by way of mentioning what is general before what is specific, and also to give precedence to Allah's dues over those of His slaves.

“Worship” (‘ibādah) refers to everything that Allah loves and is pleased with of actions and words, both outward and inward. “Seeking help” refers to relying upon Allah (ﷻ) when seeking to attain what is beneficial and ward off what is harmful, whilst trusting that one will attain that.

Worshipping Allah and seeking His help is the means of attaining eternal happiness and salvation from all evils; there is no other way of attaining salvation apart from doing these two things. True worship can only be that which is learned from the Messenger of Allah (ṣalla Allāhu ‘alayhi wa sallam – blessings and peace be upon him) and done with the intention of seeking the pleasure of Allah. If it includes these two things, then it is worship. Seeking help is mentioned after worship, even though it is a part of worship, because in offering all types of worship the individual needs the help of Allah (ﷻ); if Allah does not help him, he will not attain what he wants to of fulfilling commands and heeding prohibitions.

«Guide us to the straight path» that is, show us and help us to follow the straight path, which is the clear path that leads to Allah and to His paradise, which in turn means knowing the truth and acting upon it. (This is a prayer) for guidance to the straight path and guidance when following the path. Guidance to the straight path means adhering to the religion of Islam and forsaking all other religions; guidance when following the path includes guidance concerning all the details of religion, in knowledge and action. This supplication is one of the most concise, comprehensive and beneficial of supplications. Hence it is obligatory to call upon Allah with it in every rak'ah of the prayer, because we are in need of that.

This straight path is «The path of those whom You have blessed», namely the Prophets, ṣiddeeqeen (strong and true in faith), martyrs and righteous people.

«not» the path «of those who have incurred Your wrath» those who came to know the truth but drifted away from it, such as the Jews and others like them; and not the path «of those who have gone astray», those who drifted away from the truth because of ignorance and misguidance, such as the Christians and others like them.

Although this soorah is brief, it contains that which no other soorah of the Qur'an contains. It refers to the three types of tawḥeed (affirmation of the oneness of Allah). Tawḥeed ar-ruboobiyah (affirmation of the oneness of the divine Lordship) is seen in the verse «the Lord of the worlds». Tawḥeed al-uloohiyah (affirmation of the oneness of divinity), which refers to worshipping Allah alone, is seen in the phrases «Praise be to Allah» and «You [alone] we worship». Tawḥeed al-asmâ' waṣ-ṣifât (affirmation of the oneness of the divine names and attributes), which means affirming that the attributes of perfection belong to Allah (ﷻ) alone, which He ascribed to Himself and which His Messenger (ﷺ) affirmed, without denying the apparent meanings or likening Him to His creation, is seen in the word «Praise», as discussed above.

It affirms prophethood in the words «Guide us to the straight path», because that guidance is not possible without sending Messengers.

It affirms recompense for deeds in the words «Master of the Day of Judgement», and tells us that the recompense will be on the basis of justice, because this is the meaning of the word judgement.

It affirms the divine decree, and tells us that humans act on the basis of free will, which is contrary to the views of the Qadaris<sup>4</sup> and Jabarīs.<sup>5</sup> In fact, it refutes all the followers of innovation [and misguidance] in the verse «Guide us to the straight path» because the straight path is knowing the truth and acting upon it, but everyone who follows innovation [and misguidance] does the opposite of that.

It speaks of being sincere towards Allah in terms of worship and seeking help, in the verse «You [alone] we worship, and You [alone] we ask for help».

Praise be to Allah, the Lord of the worlds.

This is the end of the commentary on Soorat al-Fâtiḥah.

All praise and thanks are for Allah, and may the blessings and peace of Allah be upon Prophet Muhammad (ﷺ), his family, and his Companions abundantly until the Day of Judgement.

<sup>4</sup> Qadari: follower of a theological school of thought that denied the divine will and decree, and said that man has absolute free will, therefore whatever he does is purely his choice and his will is independent of the will of Allah.

<sup>5</sup> Jabari: follower of a theological school of thought that said that man has no free will, and whatever he does of good or evil is because it is decreed for him, and he is therefore compelled to do it and has no choice in the matter.

- 2:2. This is the Book about which there is no doubt; in it is guidance for those who fear Allah,
- 2:3. Who believe in the unseen, establish prayer, and spend out of what We have provided for them;

<sup>6</sup> Groups of letters (al-huroof al-muqatta'ah) appear at the beginning of several soorahs. The most correct scholarly view states that we are required to believe in them as they appear to be, without delving into their meaning, knowledge of which we should leave to Allah. We believe that they were not revealed in vain, and that there is wisdom behind them of which we are not aware.

- 2:4. And who believe in the Revelation sent down to you, and in what was sent before your time, and believe with certainty in the hereafter.
- 2:5. It is they who are following guidance from their Lord and it is they who will prosper.

We have discussed the basmalah (the phrase bismillâh ir-Rahmân ir-Raḥeem) above. With regard to the letters that appear at the beginning of some soorahs, the most prudent approach is to refrain from discussing their meaning, without basing that on any shar'i (of or pertaining to Sharia; Islamic) text, whilst being certain that Allah (ﷻ) did not reveal them in vain; rather there is wisdom behind that, of which we are not aware.

﴿This is the Book﴾ that is, this great Book is the Book in a true sense; it contains that which the previous Books did not contain of great knowledge and clear truth. So ﴿there is no doubt﴾ about it in any way, shape or form. Stating that there is no doubt implies the opposite; the opposite of doubt is certainty, so this Book contains certain knowledge that dispels doubt. This is a useful principle to note, that when it is stated that something is not the case, that inevitably refers to the opposite.

As it is based on certainty, and guidance cannot be attained except on the basis of certainty, Allah says: ﴿in it is guidance for those who fear Allah﴾. Guidance is the means of being directed away from misguidance and doubt, and it is the means of following the proper ways. Guidance is mentioned, but to what is not mentioned; Allah did not say guidance towards achieving such and such a purpose or to such and such a thing, because He intended it to be general in meaning. It is guidance to that which is in people's best interests in both realms (this world and the hereafter). So it is guidance for people in all matters, both fundamental and minor. It differentiates true from false, sound from flawed, and it explains to them how to follow the paths that will benefit them in this world and in the hereafter.

Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere: ﴿as guidance for humankind﴾ (2: 185) – which is general in meaning, but here and elsewhere He says ﴿guidance for those who fear Allah﴾ because it is, in and of itself, guidance for all people, but those who are doomed do not pay heed and they do not accept the guidance of Allah. Thus proof is established against them and they do not benefit from it because they are doomed. But the pious are those who have attained the main cause of achieving guidance, namely taqwā (piety or fear of Allah), the true meaning of which is taking measures to protect themselves from the wrath and punishment of Allah by obeying His commands and heeding His prohibitions. So they are guided by it and they benefit from it in the fullest sense.

Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿O you who believe. If you fear Allah, He will give you the insight to distinguish between right and wrong...﴾ (al-Anfāl 8: 29)

So the pious are the ones who benefit from the verses (āyāt, lit. signs) of the Qur'an and the signs in creation.

Guidance is of two types: guidance in the sense of being aware of the message, and guidance in the sense of being helped to follow the message. The pious have been granted both types of guidance, whereas others have not been helped to follow the message. Being aware of the message without being helped to act upon it is not guidance in any real or complete sense.

Then Allah describes the pious in terms of both inward and outward deeds, because piety (taqwā) includes both. He says: ﴿Who believe in the unseen﴾. The true meaning of belief or faith is complete affirmation of what the Messengers taught; this also includes physical actions. It does not refer to believing in things that are visible or may be known through any of the physical senses, because in that regard there is no difference between the Muslim and the disbeliever. Rather the issue here is belief in the unseen, which we cannot see or know through any of the physical senses; rather we believe in it because Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ) have told us of it. This faith is what distinguishes the Muslim from the disbeliever, because it is believing and affirming, with no hesitation, what Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ) said. So the believer believes everything that Allah or His Messenger (ﷺ) have told him, whether he sees it or not and whether he understands it and comprehends it or not, unlike the heretics and those who disbelieve in the unseen, because their limited intellects could not grasp it, so they rejected what they could not comprehend. Thus their intellect was corrupted and their thinking was flawed, whilst the thinking of the believers, who were guided by Allah, was sound.

Belief in the unseen includes belief in everything that Allah and His Messengers have told us about unseen matters in the past and in the future, events of the hereafter and the reality of the divine attributes and their essence. So they believe in the attributes of Allah in a true sense and with certain faith, even if they do not understand their essence.

Then Allah says: ﴿establish prayer﴾. He did not say that they “do” the prayer or “perform” the prayer, because it is not sufficient to only do the outward motions. Establishing prayer means establishing its outward form completely, with all its essential and obligatory parts and fulfilling its conditions, as well as establishing it inwardly, paying attention to its essence, which means having presence of mind whilst praying, and pondering the meaning of what one is saying and doing. Such is the prayer of which Allah says:

﴿...for verily prayer keeps [one] away from obscenity and wickedness...﴾ (al-'Ankaboot 29: 45)

– and this is the prayer that brings reward. The individual will be rewarded for his prayer only inasmuch he offered it with presence of mind. This applies to both obligatory and supererogatory prayers.

﴿and spend out of what We have provided for them﴾. This includes both obligatory spending, such as zakāh and spending on one's wives, relatives, slaves and so on, and spending on all kinds of charitable causes, which is encouraged in Islam (mustahabb). The recipients of this spending are not mentioned, because there are so many different ways of spending and because spending in and of itself is a means of drawing close to Allah. The word min (translated here as «out of») refers to some of the wealth; this draws attention to the fact that all that is expected of them is to give a small portion of their wealth, in such a way that does not harm them and is not burdensome; in fact they themselves benefit from spending and their brothers will also benefit.

«what We have provided for them». This indicates that this wealth that you possess was not obtained by your strength and efforts; rather it is provision that Allah has bestowed upon you and blessed you with. Therefore, as He has blessed you and favoured you above many of His slaves, you should show gratitude to Him by giving some of that with which He has blessed you, thus helping (literally, consoling) your brothers who are destitute.

Allah (ﷻ) often mentions prayer and zakâh together in the Qur'an, because prayer is a reflection of sincerity towards Allah, and zakâh and spending are a reflection of kindness towards His slaves. The sign of a person's being blessed (destined for paradise) is his sincerity towards Allah and his striving to help and benefit people, just as the sign of a person's being doomed (destined for hell) is that he does not have these two characteristics, sincerity and kindness.

«And who believe in the Revelation sent down to you», namely the Qur'an and Sunnah. Allah (ﷻ) says:

«...For Allah has sent down to you the Book and wisdom...» (an-Nisâ' 4: 113)

So the pious believe in everything that the Messenger (ﷺ) brought, and they do not differentiate between what he brought, believing in some parts and not believing in others, either by rejecting them or interpreting them in a manner other than that which was intended, as some of the innovators do, who misinterpret the texts that point to something other than what they say, which results in them not believing in the correct meaning, even if they believe the wording. Therefore they do not believe in them in a true sense.

﴿and in what was sent before your time﴾. This includes belief in all the previous Books; belief in the Books implies belief in the Messengers and everything that the Books contain, especially the Torah, Gospel and Psalms. This is something unique to the believers, that they believe in all the divinely revealed Books and in all the Messengers, and they do not differentiate between any of them.

﴿and believe with certainty in the hereafter﴾. The hereafter is that which comes after death; it is singled out for mention after discussing beliefs in general terms, because belief in the Last Day is one of the pillars of faith, and because it gives one the strongest motive to hope for reward, fear punishment and strive hard. Certainty is perfect knowledge that leaves no room for doubt at all and should prompt one to strive hard and do righteous deeds.

﴿It is they﴾ that is, those who have these praiseworthy characteristics ﴿who are following guidance from their Lord﴾. The word guidance (hudā) appears in the indefinite form, which in Arabic is an indication of how great it is; what guidance can be greater than the characteristics mentioned above, of having sound belief and righteous deeds? True guidance cannot be anything but the guidance followed by these people; anything that is contrary to that is misguidance.

The preposition (in the phrase translated here as ﴿It is they who are following guidance﴾, lit. “on guidance”) is indicative of superiority. A different preposition is used when referring to misguidance, as in the verse:

﴿...and verily either we or you are rightly guided or clearly misguided.﴾ (Saba' 34: 24)

– because the one who is guided is elevated to a superior position by means of that guidance, whereas the one who is misguided is sinking in it and is despised as a result.

﴿it is they who will prosper﴾. Prosperity means achieving what you are seeking and being saved from what you fear. Prosperity is exclusive to them, because there is no way of attaining prosperity except by following their path. Any paths other than that are paths that lead to doom, loss and destruction.

Therefore, when Allah mentions the characteristics of the true believers, He also mentions the characteristics of the disbelievers, who openly show their disbelief, stubbornly opposing the Messenger:

﴿إِنَّ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا سَوَاءٌ عَلَيْهِمْ أُنذِرْتَهُمْ أَمْ لَمْ تُنذِرْهُمْ لَا يُؤْمِنُونَ﴾ (٦) خَتَمَ اللَّهُ عَلَى قُلُوبِهِمْ وَعَلَى سَمْعِهِمْ وَعَلَى أَبْصَارِهِمْ غِشْوَةٌ وَلَهُمْ عَذَابٌ عَظِيمٌ ﴿٧﴾ (سورة

- 2:6. As for those who disbelieve, it is the same to them whether you warn them or do not warn them; they will not believe.
- 2:7. Allah has placed a seal on their hearts and on their hearing, and over their eyes is a cover; theirs will be a severe penalty.

Here Allah tells us concerning those who disbelieve – that is, those who have the characteristics of disbelief, which has become a definitive part of their identity – that nothing can deter them from their disbelief and no exhortation can make them give it up. They will persist in their disbelief, so it is all the same to them whether you warn them or not, for they will not believe. The essence of disbelief is rejection or partial rejection of that which the Messenger (ﷺ) brought. These disbelievers do not benefit from the call (to Islam); it is only given in order to establish proof against them. It is as if this was intended to put an end to hope on the part of the Messenger (ﷺ) that they might believe: do not grieve over them (cf. 5: 26) and do not destroy yourself with grief for them (cf. 35: 8).

Then mention is made of the impediments that prevent them from believing:

﴿Allah has placed a seal on their hearts and on their hearing﴾ that is, He has sealed them up so that faith will not enter them or penetrate them, and thus they will not understand or hear that which might benefit them.

﴿and over their eyes is a cover﴾ that is, a cover that prevents them from seeing that which might benefit them. Thus the means of attaining knowledge and goodness are blocked for them, so there is no hope for them and no goodness is to be expected of them. Rather that has been withheld from them and the door to faith is closed for them because of their disbelief, rejection and stubbornness after the truth became clear to them, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿We will turn their hearts and eyes away [from the truth], since they refused to believe in it the first time...﴾ (al-An'âm 6: 110)

This is an immediate punishment (in this world).

Then Allah mentions the punishment in the hereafter: ﴿theirs will be a severe penalty﴾ namely the punishment of hellfire and the eternal, everlasting wrath of the Compeller (al-Jabbâr).

Then He describes the hypocrites who make an outward display of being Muslim whilst concealing disbelief in their hearts:

﴿وَمِنَ النَّاسِ مَن يَقُولُ ءَامَنَّا بِاللَّهِ وَيَأْتُونَ الْآخِرَ وَمَا هُمْ بِمُؤْمِنِينَ ﴿٨﴾ يُخَادِعُونَ اللَّهَ وَالَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا وَمَا يُخَادِعُونَ إِلَّا أَنفُسَهُمْ وَمَا يَشْعُرُونَ ﴿٩﴾ فِي قُلُوبِهِم مَّرَضٌ فَزَادَهُمُ اللَّهُ مَرَضًا وَلَهُمْ عَذَابٌ أَلِيمٌ ﴿١٠﴾ بِمَا كَانُوا يَكْذِبُونَ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٨-١٠)

- 2:8. Among people there are some who say: We believe in Allah and the Last Day, but in fact they are not believers.
- 2:9. They seek to deceive Allah and those who believe, but they are not deceiving anyone except themselves, although they do not realise.
- 2:10. In their hearts is a disease; and Allah has increased their disease. Theirs will be a painful penalty for their persistent lying.

Hypocrisy means outwardly pretending to be good whilst concealing evil. This definition includes both hypocrisy in beliefs and hypocrisy in actions. The Prophet (ﷺ) mentioned something similar when he said:

«The signs of the hypocrite are three: when he speaks he lies, when he makes a promise he breaks it, and when he is entrusted with something he betrays that trust.» (Bukhari and Muslim)<sup>7</sup>

Another report adds:

«When he disputes, he resorts to foul speech.» (Bukhari and Muslim)

«We will turn their hearts and eyes away [from the truth], since they refused to believe in it the first time...» (al-An'ām 6: 110)

The kind of hypocrisy in belief that puts one beyond the pale of Islam is that which Allah ascribed to the hypocrites in this soorah and elsewhere. Hypocrisy did not exist before the migration of the Messenger (ﷺ) from Makkah to Madinah; after he migrated, in the battle of Badr Allah caused the believers to prevail and made them victorious, and those people in Madinah who had not become Muslim were humiliated. For that reason, some of them pretended to become Muslim, out of fear and by way of deceit, in order to protect themselves and their wealth. So they lived among the Muslims, pretending to be of their number, when in reality they were not Muslims.

By His kindness towards the believers, Allah described the characteristics (of the hypocrites) by which they might be recognised, so that the believers would not be deceived by them and so that (the hypocrites themselves) might be discouraged from committing many of their evil actions. Allah (ﷻ) said:

(In this passage), Allah described them in terms of the essence of hypocrisy:

﴿Among people there are some who say: We believe in Allah and the Last Day – but in fact they are not believers﴾. They paid lip service to that which was not in their hearts, so Allah showed them to be liars by saying ﴿but in fact they are not believers﴾, because true faith is that which is confirmed in the heart and on the lips. Theirs was an attempt to deceive Allah and His believing slaves.

Deceit means pretending one thing whilst concealing something else so that the deceiver may get what he wants from the one whom he is deceiving. These hypocrites were behaving in this manner with Allah and His slaves, but their deceit backfired on them. This is a kind of miracle or wonder, because the deceiver usually either gets what he wants or he remains safe without gaining or losing anything. But in this case, the deceit of the hypocrites backfired on them. It was as if they did what they did of plotting and scheming in order to harm and doom themselves, because Allah (ﷻ) is not harmed by their deceit at all, and neither are His believing slaves. The believers are not harmed if the hypocrites pretend to believe in order to protect their wealth and lives, because their plotting will eventually backfire on them, which will result in disgrace and scandal in this world, as well as ongoing regret because of what the believers achieve of power and victory.

Then in the hereafter, they will have a painful and devastating punishment because of their lies, disbelief and evil doing. But in their ignorance and foolishness they do not realise that.

﴿In their hearts is a disease﴾. What is meant by disease here is the disease of doubt, confusion and hypocrisy. The heart is vulnerable to two (spiritual) diseases that make it unhealthy and unbalanced: the disease of false doubts and the disease of desires that may lead to destruction. Disbelief, hypocrisy, doubt and innovation are all (spiritual) diseases that result from doubts and confusion. Zinâ (illicit sexual activity) and the inclination towards immoral actions and sin result from the disease of desires, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...lest one in whose heart is a disease should be moved with desire...﴾ (al-Ahzâb 33: 32)

– this has to do with the desire for zinâ (fornication or adultery). The one who is truly safe is the one who is protected from these two diseases, for he will have certainty and faith, and will be patient in refraining from all sins; thus he will enjoy good spiritual health.

﴿In their hearts is a disease; and Allah has increased their disease﴾. This verse, which speaks of the hypocrites, highlights Allah's wisdom in decreeing sin for the sinners: because of their previous sins, He causes them to commit further sins that will incur His punishment, as He says elsewhere:

﴿We will turn their hearts and eyes away [from the truth], since they refused to believe in it the first time...﴾ (al-An'âm 6: 110)

﴿...So when they chose to deviate [from the truth], Allah caused their hearts to deviate [from right guidance]...﴾ (aş-Şaff 61: 5)

﴿As for those in whose hearts is a disease, it will add doubt to their doubt...﴾ (at-Tawbah 9: 125)

So the punishment for sin is more sin, just as the reward for good deeds is more good deeds. Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Allah increases in guidance those who are guided...﴾ (Maryam 19: 76)

﴿وَإِذَا قِيلَ لَهُمْ لَا تُفْسِدُوا فِي الْأَرْضِ قَالُوا إِنَّمَا نَحْنُ مُصْلِحُونَ ﴿١١﴾ أَلَا إِنَّهُمْ هُمُ الْمُفْسِدُونَ وَلَكِنْ لَا يَشْعُرُونَ ﴿١٢﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١١-١٢)

2:11. When it is said to them: Do not make mischief in the land, they say: We only want to put things right.

2:12. Indeed they are the ones who make mischief, but they do not realise.

When these hypocrites are told not to make mischief in the land, which means committing sins and deeds based on disbelief, including disclosing the secrets of the believers to their enemies and taking the disbelievers as close friends,

﴿they say: We only want to put things right﴾. Thus they both strive to cause mischief in the land and defend their actions as being an effort to put things straight rather than causing mischief – contrary to what is really happening, and combining wrongdoing with the belief that it is right. This is a greater offence than committing sin whilst believing that it is indeed a sin; the one who does that is better off and there is more hope that he will return to the right path.

Because their saying ﴿We only want to put things right﴾ would seem to imply that they are the only ones who are putting things right, which in turn would imply that the believers are not putting things right, Allah refuted their claims by saying: ﴿Indeed they are the ones who make mischief﴾. There is no greater mischief than that of those who disbelieve in the signs of Allah, bar people from following the path of Allah, try to deceive Allah and His close friends and take as allies those who wage war against Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ), yet still claim that they are putting things right. Can there be any mischief greater than this? But they do not know anything that will benefit them, even though the knowledge that they have is sufficient to establish proof against them. Committing sin is only regarded as mischief because it results in damage to whatever is on the face of the earth of grains, fruits, trees and plants, as a result of the blights that befall them because of sin, and because putting things right on earth is achieved when people obey Allah and believe in Him. It is for this purpose that Allah created humanity and caused them to dwell on earth, and He bestowed provisions upon them to help them to obey and worship Him. If they do the opposite of that on earth, then they are spreading corruption which causes ruin by using what is on earth in a way other than that for which it was created.

﴿وَإِذَا قِيلَ لَهُمْ ءَامِنُوا كَمَا ءَامَنَ النَّاسُ قَالُوا أَنُؤْمِنُ كَمَا ءَامَنَ السُّفَهَاءُ أَلَا إِنَّهُمْ هُمُ السُّفَهَاءُ وَلَكِن لَّا يَعْلَمُونَ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٣)

- 2:13. When it is said to them: Believe as the people believe, they say: Shall we believe as the fools believe? Indeed it is they who are the fools, but they do not know.

That is, when it is said to the hypocrites: Believe as the people believe; this refers to the Companions (radiya Allāhu 'anhum – may Allah be pleased with all of them), whose faith was affirmed in their hearts and on their lips. But the hypocrites said, on the basis of their false accusation: Shall we believe as the fools believe? They were referring to the Companions (ﷺ), thinking that it was their alleged foolishness that had led them to believe and to leave their homelands and oppose the disbelievers. In their (the hypocrites') view, wisdom dictated the opposite of that. So they described them as foolish, implying that they themselves were people of wisdom and understanding.

But Allah (ﷻ) refuted their argument and stated that in reality they were the fools, because real foolishness is for a person to ignore what is in his best interests and strive for that which will harm him, and this description was true in their case. On the other hand, wisdom and reason are reflected in a person's knowing what is in his best interests and striving for that which will benefit him and ward off harm from him, which was true in the case of the Companions and the believers. What matters is sound proof, not mere claims and empty words.

- 2:14. When they meet those who believe, they say: We believe; but when they are alone with their devils, they say: We are really with you; we were only mocking.
- 2:15. Allah is mocking them, and gives them free rein in transgression so that they wander blindly.

This refers to them saying verbally that which was not in their hearts. When they met the believers, they would pretend that they were following their path and that they were with them, but when they were alone with their devils – that is, their leaders in evil – they said: We are really with you; we were only mocking the believers by pretending to them that we are following their path. This is how they are inwardly and outwardly, but the plotting of evil only rebounds on those who plot (cf. 35: 43).

﴿Allah is mocking them, and gives them free rein in transgression so that they wander blindly﴾. This is their punishment for mocking His slaves. By way of mocking them, Allah makes attractive to them the miserable situation in which they are and the evil way they are following, to the point that they think that they are with the believers, because Allah did not give the believers power over them. And He will mock them on the Day of Resurrection by giving them visible light along with the believers, then when the believers begin to walk in their light, the light of the hypocrites will be extinguished and they will be left in confusion after the light has gone. How great will be their despair after their hopes had been raised.

﴿The hypocrites will call out to the believers: Were we not with you? They will say: Yes, but you gave in to confusion and temptation, you kept waiting [for some misfortune to befall us], you doubted...﴾
(al-Hadeed 57: 14)

﴿and gives them free rein﴾ that is, He lets them get carried away
﴿in transgression﴾ that is, in their evildoing and disbelief
﴿so that they wander blindly﴾ that is, confused and hesitant. This is how Allah (ﷻ) mocks them.

Then Allah (ﷻ) describes how they really are:

﴿أُولَٰئِكَ الَّذِينَ اشْتَرُوا الضَّلَالَةَ بِالْهُدَىٰ فَمَا رَبِحَتْ تِجَارَتُهُمْ وَمَا كَانُوا مُهْتَدِينَ﴾

2:16. These are the ones who have traded guidance for error, but their trade brings no profit and they are not guided.

These people, namely the hypocrites who have the characteristics described here, ﴿are the ones who have traded guidance for error﴾ that is, they preferred misguidance, like a buyer who wants a particular item and because of his desire for it, he is willing to pay a high price. This is one of the best likenesses that explain how they are, because it likens misguidance, which is the ultimate evil, to an item for purchase, and it likens guidance, which is the ultimate good, to the price. So they gave away guidance and had no interest in it, in return for misguidance because they wanted it. This is their trade, and what a bad deal it is.

If the one who trades a dinar (gold coin) for a dirham (silver coin) is a loser, then how about the one who trades a precious stone for a dirham? How about the one who trades guidance for misguidance, chooses doom over blessing, and prefers the most vile and base of things to the most sublime? His trade brings no profit; rather it incurs the greatest loss.

﴿...Say: Indeed, the real losers will be those who lose their own souls and their families on the Day of Resurrection. That is indeed manifest loss.﴾ (az-Zumar 39: 15)

﴿and they are not guided﴾ this confirms that they are misguided, and that they did not gain anything from guidance. These are their abhorrent characteristics.

Then a likeness is given that highlights their character in a very clear manner:

﴿مَثَلُهُمْ كَمَثَلِ الَّذِي اسْتَوْفَدَ نَارًا فَلَمَّا أَضَاءَتْ مَا حَوْلَهُ ذَهَبَ اللَّهُ بِنُورِهِمْ وَتَرَكَهُمْ فِي ظُلُمَاتٍ لَا يُبْصِرُونَ ﴿١٧﴾ ضُمُّ بُكُمْ عَنْهُمْ فَهُمْ لَا يَرْجِعُونَ ﴿١٨﴾ أَوْ كَصَيْبٍ مِنَ السَّمَاءِ فِيهِ ظُلُمَاتٌ وَرَعْدٌ وَبَرْقٌ يَجْعَلُونَ أَصْئَعَهُمْ فِيْءِ أَذَانِهِمْ مِنَ الصَّوَاعِقِ حُدُودَ الْمَوْتِ ۚ وَاللَّهُ مُحِيطٌ بِالْكَافِرِينَ ﴿١٩﴾ يَكَادُ الْبَرْقُ يَخْطَفُ أَبْصَارَهُمْ كُلَّمَا أَضَاءَ لَهُمْ مَشَوْا فِيهِ وَإِذَا أَظْلَمَ عَلَيْهِمْ قَامُوا ۚ وَلَوْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ لَذَهَبَ بِسَمْعِهِمْ وَأَبْصَارِهِمْ ۚ إِنَّ اللَّهَ عَلَى كُلِّ شَيْءٍ قَدِيرٌ ﴿٢٠﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٧-٢٠)

- 2:17. Their likeness is that of a man who kindled a fire; when it illuminated all around him, Allah took away their light and left them in utter darkness, unable to see.
- 2:18. Deaf, dumb, and blind, they will not return [to the right path].
- 2:19. Or [another likeness] is that of a heavy downpour from the sky, accompanied by darkness, thunder and lightning. They put their fingers in their ears to keep out the stunning thunder-clap, for fear of death. But Allah encompasses the disbelievers.
- 2:20. The lightning almost snatches away their sight; every time it flashes, they walk [a few steps] therein, but when the darkness overtakes them again, they stand still. And if Allah willed, He could take away their hearing and their sight; for Allah has power over all things.

The exact likeness that describes the situation they are in is that of a man who kindled fire; when it was very dark and his need for a fire was great, he lit it from someone else's fire, as he had no fire of his own and needed to bring it from someone else. Then when the fire illuminated the area around him and he could see his surroundings and any potential dangers, and thus he felt safe and benefitted from the fire and was pleased with it, thinking that he was in control of it – whilst he was like that, Allah took away its light, so that he lost the light and any pleasure that he had felt because of it, and he remained in deep darkness with the fire still burning, as its illumination has disappeared but its burning effect still remained. Thus he was left in many layers of darkness: the darkness of the night, the darkness of the cloud, the darkness of the rain and the darkness that comes after the light disappears. How will the one who is in such a situation be? That is how these hypocrites are. They took the fire of faith from the believers, but having faith was not characteristic of them; rather they took the fire of faith in order to protect their lives and keep their wealth safe, so they had a kind of security in this world. Then whilst they were like that, death came to them and took away the benefit of that light, and there befell them all kinds of distress, grief and torment, as well as the darkness of disbelief, the darkness of hypocrisy and the darkness of various kinds of sin. After that came the darkness of hellfire – an evil place to settle in (cf. 14: 29).

Hence Allah says concerning them: «Deaf» that is, unable to hear the truth.

«dumb» that is, unable to speak the truth

«blind» that is, unable to see the truth.

«they will not return [to the right path]» because they have forsaken the truth after having come to know it, so they will not return to it, unlike those who kept away from the truth as the result of ignorance and misguidance; they did not understand it and they are more likely to come back to it than the hypocrites.

«Or [another likeness] is that of a heavy downpour from the sky» that is, they are like one who is caught in a heavy downpour from the sky, which is rain that comes down in copious amounts.

«accompanied by darkness» namely the darkness of the night, the darkness of the cloud and the darkness of the rain

«thunder» which is the sound that is heard from the cloud

«and lightning» which is the flashing light that is seen with the cloud.

«every time it flashes» that is, every time the lightning flashes in that darkness «they walk [a few steps] therein, but when the darkness overtakes them again, they stand still» that is, they halt.

This is the situation of the hypocrites. When they hear the Qur'an and its commands and prohibitions, promises and warnings, they put their fingers in their ears and turn away from its commands and prohibitions, promises and warnings. They are terrified of its warnings and disturbed by its promises (to the believers). Hence they turn away as much as they can and they hate it as the one who is caught in a downpour hates it, and when he hears the thunder he puts his fingers in his ears, for fear of death. In the case of the one who is caught in a downpour, that could help him to be safe, but in the case of the hypocrites, how could they become safe at the time when Allah encompasses them by His power and knowledge, so they cannot escape from Him or frustrate Him; rather He records their deeds and will requite them in full.

As they are suffering from deafness, dumbness and blindness in a metaphorical sense, and they are barred from the paths to faith, Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿And if Allah willed, He could take away their hearing and their sight﴾ that is, in a physical sense. This is a warning to them aimed at making them afraid of punishment in this world, so that they will adopt caution and be deterred from some of their evil and hypocrisy. ﴿for Allah has power over all things﴾, hence nothing is beyond Him; by His power, if He wills something He does it, and no one can prevent Him or oppose Him.

In this verse and others like it we see a refutation of the Qadaris<sup>8</sup> who say that their deeds are not subject to the power and control of Allah (ﷻ), as this verse shows that their deeds are among the things that are included in the words ﴿for Allah has power over all things﴾.

الَّذِي جَعَلَ لَكُمُ الْأَرْضَ فِرَاشًا وَالسَّمَاءَ بِنَاءً وَأَنْزَلَ مِنَ السَّمَاءِ مَاءً فَأَخْرَجَ بِهِ
مِنَ الشَّجَرِ رِزْقًا لَكُمْ فَلَا تَجْعَلُوا لِلَّهِ أَنْدَادًا وَأَنْتُمْ تَعْلَمُونَ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٢)

<sup>8</sup> Qadari: follower of a theological school of thought that denied the divine will and decree and said that man has absolute free will, therefore whatever he does is purely his choice and his will is independent of the will of Allah.

- 2:21. O people! Worship your Lord, Who created you and those who came before you, that you may become pious;
- 2:22. Who has made the earth a resting-place for you, and the heavens an edifice; and sent down rain from the heavens; and brought forth therewith fruits as a provision for you; so do not set up rivals to Allah when you know better.

This is a general command that is addressed to all people, instructing them to worship Him in a comprehensive way by obeying the commands of Allah, heeding His prohibitions and believing in His words. Thus He commands them to do that for which He created them, as He says:

Then Allah tells us why it is obligatory to worship Him alone, for He is your Lord Who has bestowed upon you all kinds of blessings: He created you after you were nothing, He created those who came before you and He bestowed upon you blessings both obvious and hidden. He made the earth a resting-place for you, on which you build structures for your benefit; He caused you to cultivate it and till it; He enabled you to travel from one place to another; and He granted you many ways of benefitting from it. He made the heavens an edifice for the earth on which you dwell, and He placed in it benefits that you need, such as the sun, moon and stars.

﴿and sent down rain from the heavens﴾. The word samā' (translated here as ﴿heavens﴾) refers to anything that is above you. Hence the commentators said that what is meant by ﴿heavens﴾ (samā') here is the clouds, from which Allah (ﷻ) sends down rain.

﴿and brought forth therewith fruits﴾ this may include other crops such as grains, dates and so on.

﴿as a provision for you﴾, to feed and sustain you so that you might survive by means of it and enjoy it.

﴿so do not set up rivals to Allah﴾ that is, equals from among His creation which you worship as you should worship Allah and love as you should love Allah, although they are created beings like you who receive provision and are under His control, having not the slightest power either in heaven or on earth, and they cannot benefit or harm you at all.

﴿when you know better﴾ that is, when you know that Allah has no partner or equal with regard to the power of creation, granting of provision or control of the universe, and He has no partner in worship. So how can you worship other gods besides Him when you know these things? This is something that is very strange and extremely foolish.

This verse combines the command to worship Allah alone and the prohibition on worshipping anything other than Him. It offers clear evidence that it is obligatory to worship Him and that the worship of anything other than Him is invalid. This refers to tawheed ar-ruboobiyah (oneness of the divine Lordship), which implies that He is the only One Who creates, grants provision and controls. If anyone accepts that He has no partner in these things, then by the same token he should also accept that Allah has no partner in worship. This is the clearest rational evidence for the oneness of the Creator and the invalidity of associating partners with Him.

The words ﴿that you may become pious﴾ may be understood as meaning that if you worship Allah alone, then you will avoid His wrath and punishment, because you have taken measures to ward that off from yourselves. Or it may mean that if you worship Allah (alone), you will become one of the pious who are described as fearing Allah. Both meanings are sound and complement one another. The one who worships Allah properly is one of the pious, and whoever is pious will be saved from the wrath and punishment of Allah (﴿﴾).

- 2:23. And if you are in doubt concerning what We have revealed to Our slave, then produce a soorah like it; and call your helpers besides Allah, if you are truthful [in your claim].
- 2:24. But if you cannot do it, and you can never do it, then beware of the fire whose fuel is men and stones, which is prepared for the disbelievers.

These verses provide rational evidence that the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) was genuine and that his message was true.

﴿And if you are in doubt...﴾ This is addressed to those who opposed the Messenger (ﷺ) and rejected his message, saying that he was lying. (What is meant is:) if you are doubtful and are uncertain concerning what We have sent down to Our slave, as to whether it is true or not, then here is a fair argument which will decide the matter between you and him. That argument is that he is a human being like you; he is not the most eloquent or most knowledgeable among you. You have known him from when he was small, as he grew up among you. He does not read or write, yet he has brought you a Book that he says is from Allah, but you say that he is speaking of his own accord and has made it up. If the matter is as you say, then produce a soorah like it, with the help of any one you can find among your helpers and witnesses; this will be something easy for you, especially since you are people of eloquence and oratory, and you are fuelled by deep enmity towards the Messenger (ﷺ). If you can produce a soorah like it, then he is as you say, but if you cannot produce a soorah like it, and you fail utterly, (rest assured that) you will never be able to produce a soorah like it. However, this (challenge) is offered by way of showing fairness and going along with you. This is a great sign and clear evidence that he is telling the truth and that his message is true. Then (if you fail to meet the challenge) it will be obligatory for you to follow him and protect yourselves from hellfire which reached the ultimate heat because its fuel is people and stones; it is not like the fire of this world that is fuelled with wood. The fire of hell is prepared for those who disbelieve in Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ), so beware of disbelieving in his Messenger (ﷺ) after it has become clear to you that he is indeed the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ).

This and similar verses are called the verses of challenge; they prove that people are incapable of producing anything like this Qur'an. Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Say: Verily, if all of humankind and the jinn were to come together to produce the like of this Qur'an, they could never produce the like thereof, even if they helped one another.﴾ (al-Isrâ' 17: 88)

How can the words of one who is created from dust be like the words of the Lord of lords? How can one who is lacking in all aspects produce words like the words of the Most Perfect, Whose perfection is absolute and Who is completely independent of means? This is not possible and it is not within any human's capability. Anyone who has the slightest knowledge and appreciation of (Arabic) literary and oratory style will, if he compares the Qur'an with other eloquent speech, clearly see a great difference between them.

﴿And if you are in doubt...﴾ This verse indicates that the one for whom there is hope of guidance away from misguidance is the one who has doubts and is confused, who cannot tell truth from falsehood. When the truth becomes clear to such a one, he is more likely to be guided if he is sincere in seeking the truth. As for the stubborn one who recognises the truth but ignores it, he cannot come back because he has turned away from the truth after it became clear to him and he did not turn away from it out of ignorance, so he is a hopeless case.

By the same token, the doubter who is not sincere or serious in seeking the truth and turns away indifferently will usually not be guided.

Describing the Messenger (ﷺ) as being a slave in the context of discussing such an important matter is indicative of his greatest characteristic, which is being a true slave of Allah, doing his duty towards Him in a manner unmatched by anyone else before or since.

He is also described as being a slave in the context of the isrâ' (Prophet's Night Journey), as Allah says:

﴿Glory be to Him Who took His slave for a journey by night...﴾ (al-Isrâ' 17: 1)

– and in the context of sending down Revelation, as He says:

﴿Blessed be He Who sent down the criterion [between right and wrong, namely the Qur'an] to His slave, so that it may be a warning to the worlds.﴾ (al-Furqân 25: 1)

﴿which is prepared for the disbelievers﴾ this and similar verses support the view of ahl as-Sunnah wal-jamâ'ah, which is that paradise and hell are two created entities; this is unlike the view of the Mutazilites. It also tells us that the monotheists, even if they commit some sins, will not remain in hell forever, because Allah says that it is ﴿prepared for the disbelievers﴾. If the sinners among the monotheists were to remain therein forever, it would not say that it is prepared for the disbelievers alone. This is unlike the view of the Kharijites and Mutazilites.

It also indicates that punishment becomes due for reasons, namely disbelief and various kinds of sin.

﴿وَبَشِّرِ الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا وَعَمِلُوا الصَّالِحَاتِ أَنَّ لَهُمْ جَنَّاتٍ تَجْرَى مِنْ تَحْتِهَا الْأَنْهَارُ
كُلَّمَا رُزِقُوا مِنْهَا مِنْ ثَمَرٍ رِزْقًا قَالُوا هَذَا الَّذِى رُزِقْنَا مِنْ قَبْلُ وَأَنُوتُوا بِهِ
مُتَنَبِّهًا وَلَهُمْ فِيهَا أَزْوَاجٌ مُطَهَّرَةٌ وَهُمْ فِيهَا خَالِدُونَ﴾ (سورة البقرة:

- 2:25. And give glad tidings to those who believe and do righteous deeds, that they will have gardens, through which rivers flow. Every time they are provided with fruits therefrom, they will say: This is what we were provided with before, because they will be given things that resemble one another; and they will have therein pure spouses; and they will abide therein forever.

As Allah mentioned the requital of the disbelievers, here He mentions the reward of the believers, those who do righteous deeds. This is the style of the Qur'an, which combines encouragement with deterrent so that the individual will be motivated and deterred at the same time, and he will balance fear with hope.

﴿And give glad tidings﴾ that is, O Messenger and those who convey his message

﴿to those who believe﴾ in their hearts

Good deeds are described as righteous (ṣāliḥāt) because by means of them people's affairs, both religious and worldly, in this world and in the hereafter, are set straight or put right (taṣluḥ), and all troubles will be eliminated. Thus he will become one of the righteous (ṣāliḥoon) who are qualified to be close to the Most Merciful in His paradise.

So give them the glad tidings ﴿that they will have gardens﴾ filled with wonderful trees, fine fruits and extensive shade, hence the one who enters this garden will enjoy it and the one who dwells in it will be happy.

﴿through which rivers flow﴾ that is, rivers of water, milk, honey and wine, which they will cause to spring up whenever they want and direct them wherever they want; those trees will be irrigated by them and will produce all kinds of fruits.

﴿Every time they are provided with fruits therefrom, they will say: This is what we were provided with before﴾ that is, this is the same type, with the same qualities. All of them will be similar in beauty and delicious taste; there will be no fruit that stands out from the others (because all of them will be good). There will be no time in which they are deprived of pleasure; they will constantly have the delight of eating these fruits.

﴿because they will be given things that resemble one another﴾. It was said that they will resemble one another in name, but will have different tastes; or that they will resemble one another in colour, but will have different names; or that they will resemble one another in beauty, delicious taste and enjoyability. Perhaps this last view is the one that is correct.

Then, having mentioned their dwellings and the provision of food, drink and fruits, Allah mentions their spouses and describes them in the most perfect, concise and clear way:

﴿and they will have therein pure spouses﴾. He did not describe them as purified from a specific defect; this indicates that they will be pure in all aspects. They will be pure in terms of their attitude and character, free of physical defects, pure in speech and chaste in their gaze. With regard to their attitude, they will be friendly and endearing to their husbands because of their good attitude; they will behave in a manner that is expected of a good wife and will be well-mannered in word and deed. With regard to being physically pure, they will be free of menses, postpartum bleeding, vaginal discharges, urine, stools, mucus, sputum and bad smells. They will also be physically pure in the sense that they will possess perfect beauty, with no physical defect or hint of ugliness; rather they will be good and beautiful (cf. 55: 70). They will be pure in speech and chaste in their gaze, gazing only at their husbands and refraining from all foul speech.

This verse speaks of the giver of glad tidings, the recipients thereof, the things promised in those tidings and the means of attaining what is promised. The giver of glad tidings is the Messenger (ﷺ) or those among his Ummah who convey his message. The recipients of the glad tidings are the believers who do righteous deeds. The things promised in these glad tidings are the gardens described in this manner (that is, the gardens of paradise). The means of attaining what is promised is faith and righteous deeds. There is no other way of attaining it. This is the greatest of glad tidings, conveyed by the best of Allah's creation, highlighting the best means.

It also shows us that it is encouraged to give glad tidings to the believers and to motivate them to do good deeds by referring to the reward and fruits of those deeds. Thus doing such deeds will become light and easy. The greatest good sign (of glad tidings) is when an individual is guided and enabled to believe and do righteous deeds. That is the first sign of glad tidings, and the foundation thereof. The second such sign is when the angels give him glad tidings at the time of death. The final good sign is when he reaches those eternal blessings (in paradise). We ask Allah to make us among those who are given these glad tidings.

أَرَادَ اللَّهُ بِهَذَا مَثَلًا يُضِلُّ بِهِ كَثِيرًا وَيَهْدِي بِهِ كَثِيرًا وَمَا يُضِلُّ بِهِ إِلَّا الْفَاسِقِينَ ﴿٢٦﴾ الَّذِينَ يَنْقُضُونَ عَهْدَ اللَّهِ مِنْ بَعْدِ مِيثَاقِهِ وَيَقْطَعُونَ مَا أَمَرَ اللَّهُ بِهِ أَنْ يُوصَلَ وَيُفْسِدُونَ فِي الْأَرْضِ أُولَٰئِكَ هُمُ الْخَاسِرُونَ ﴿٢٧﴾ ﴿سورة البقرة:

- 2:26. Allah is not ashamed to present an example – that of a mosquito, or of something even more insignificant. Those who believe know that it is truth from their Lord; but those who disbelieve say: What does Allah mean by this example? He causes many to go astray thereby and He guides many thereby, but He does not cause any to go astray thereby except the evildoers.
- 2:27. Those who break Allah's covenant after it has been made binding, and sever the bonds that Allah has commanded to be upheld, and spread mischief in the land – they are the ones who are the losers.

«Allah is not ashamed to present an example» and it does not matter what it is

«that of a mosquito, or of something even more insignificant», because these examples or likenesses convey wisdom and highlight the truth, and Allah is not ashamed to tell the truth. It is as if this is a response to those who disliked the giving of examples that referred to insignificant things and objected to Allah doing such a thing. But there is no room for objection here; rather this is a means by which Allah teaches His slaves and it is a sign of His mercy towards them. So it should be accepted gratefully. Hence Allah says:

«Those who believe know that it is truth from their Lord», so they understand it and ponder its meaning. If they understand its message in a comprehensive manner, then their faith and belief will be increased thereby; if not, they still acknowledge that it is truth and that its meaning is true, even if the message is unclear to them. That is because they know that Allah does not give any examples or likenesses in vain; rather there is great wisdom behind it and great blessing in it.

﴿but those who disbelieve say: What does Allah mean by this example?﴾ They object to it and are confused, which only increases them in disbelief as it increases the believers in faith. Hence Allah says:

﴿He causes many to go astray thereby and He guides many thereby﴾. This is a description of the response of the believers and disbelievers when Qur'anic verses were believed. Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿Whenever a soorah is revealed, some of them [the hypocrites] say: Which of you has this increased in faith? As for those who believe, it does indeed increase their faith and they rejoice. As for those in whose hearts is a disease, it will add doubt to their doubt, and they will die while they are still disbelievers.﴾ (at-Tawbah 9: 124-125)

There is no greater blessing to people than the revelation of Qur'anic verses, yet for some it is a trial and a source of confusion and misguidance which only adds further to their evil, whilst for others it is a gift and mercy that increases them in goodness. Glory be to the One Who makes His slaves so different and is the only One Who guides them or leaves them astray.

Then Allah speaks of His wisdom in leaving some of them to go astray, and confirms that the reason for that is justice on His part.

﴿but He does not cause any to go astray thereby except the evildoers﴾ that is, those who rebel and disobey Allah, those who stubbornly oppose the Messengers of Allah, those for whom evildoing is an essential part of their character which they do not seek to change. As wisdom dictates that they should go astray because they are not qualified to be guided, by the same token, His wisdom and grace dictate that those who believe and do righteous deeds should be guided.

Evildoing (fisq) is of two types, the first of which is that which puts one beyond the pale of Islam, such as that which is mentioned in this and similar verses. The second type does not put one beyond the pale of Islam, as mentioned in the verse in which Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿O you who believe, if a wrongdoer comes to you with any news, investigate [and verify the facts]...﴾ (al-Hujurât 49: 6)

Then Allah describes the evildoers:

﴿Those who break Allah's covenant after it has been made binding﴾. This includes covenants between them and Him as well as covenants between them and other people which Allah has made binding upon them in the strongest terms, but they do not care about those binding obligations; rather they break them, ignore His commands, do that which He has forbidden and transgress the covenants between them and other people.

﴿and sever the bonds that Allah has commanded to be upheld﴾. This includes many things. Allah has commanded us to uphold the bond between us and Him by believing in Him, carrying out duties as His slaves. He has commanded us to uphold the bond between us and His Messenger (ﷺ) by believing in him, loving him, respecting him and fulfilling our duties towards him. He has also commanded us to uphold the bonds between us and our parents, relatives, friends and all other people by respecting those rights that Allah has commanded us to uphold.

The believers uphold the bonds that Allah has commanded us to uphold and they fulfil the related duties in a proper manner. The evildoers, on the other hand, sever those bonds and ignore them completely, replacing them with evildoing, breaking of ties and striving in sin; this is spreading mischief in the land.

﴿they﴾ namely those who meet this description ﴿are the ones who are the losers﴾ in this world and in the hereafter. They are the only ones who are losers, because their losses affect them in all circumstances, whatever they do or say. They do not achieve any success at all, because the condition for righteous deeds to be accepted is faith, so the one who has no faith has no righteous deeds to his credit. This kind of loss is the result of disbelief. However, with regard to that loss that may be the result of disbelief, committing sins or neglecting to do deeds that are recommended, as mentioned in the verse in which Allah says:

– this is general in application and may include all humans, except those who have the characteristics of faith and righteous deeds, and exhort one another to hold fast to the truth and exhort one another to hold fast to patience (cf. 103: 3). What loss really means is missing out on something good that one could have achieved and that was within one’s means.

﴿كَيْفَ تَكْفُرُونَ بِاللَّهِ وَكُنْتُمْ أَمْوَاتًا فَأَحْيَاكُمْ ثُمَّ يُمَيِّتُكُمْ ثُمَّ يُحْيِيكُمْ ثُمَّ إِلَيْهِ تُرْجَعُونَ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٨)

- 2:28. How can you disbelieve in Allah, when you were lifeless, then He gave you life, then He will cause you to die, then He will bring you back to life, then to Him you will return?

This is a question which is intended to reflect astonishment as well as to rebuke and denounce. In other words, how could you disbelieve in Allah, Who created you from nothing and bestowed upon you all types of blessings, then He will cause you to die when you reach the appointed time, and He will requite you in the grave, then He will bring you back to life at the time of the Resurrection, then to Him you will return and He will repay you in full? As you are under His control, encompassed by His kindness and subject to His commands, after which you will be brought to account, is it befitting for you to disbelieve in Him? Can that be anything other than great ignorance and foolishness? Rather what is befitting for you is to believe in Him, be aware of Him, be grateful to Him, fear His punishment and hope for His reward.

﴿هُوَ الَّذِي خَلَقَ لَكُمْ مَا فِي الْأَرْضِ جَمِيعًا ثُمَّ أَسْتَوَىٰ إِلَى السَّمَاءِ فَسَوَّاهُنَّ سَبْعَ سَمَوَاتٍ وَهُوَ بِكُلِّ شَيْءٍ عَلِيمٌ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٩)

2:29. It is He Who has created for you all things that are on earth, then He turned towards the heaven and made them seven heavens, and He has knowledge of all things.

﴿It is He Who has created for you all things that are on earth﴾. He has created for you, out of kindness and mercy towards you, all things on the face of the earth so that you might benefit from them, enjoy them and learn from them.

This verse indicates that the basic principle concerning all things is that they are permissible and pure, because the context here is one of reminding us of His blessings. Excluded from that is everything that is evil or foul; the prohibition on such things may also be understood from the meaning of this verse. Allah has created (all things) for our benefit, so whatever is harmful is excluded from that, and it is a blessing from Him that He has forbidden foul things to us so as to protect us from them.

﴿then He turned towards the heaven and made them seven heavens, and He has knowledge of all things﴾.

﴿He turned towards﴾. The phrase astawâ ilâ (translated here as ﴿turned towards﴾) has three meanings in the Qur'an. When it appears without any preposition after it, it means attaining a level of complete perfection, as when Allah says concerning Moosâ:

(al-Qaşş 28: 14)

When it is followed by the preposition 'alâ (upon), it means rising above, as when Allah says:

﴿...and then [He] rose over [astawâ 'alâ] the Throne...﴾ (al-A'râf 7: 54)

When it is followed by the preposition ilâ (to), it means turning to or deciding, as in this verse, where what is meant is: when Allah (ﷻ) had created the earth, he turned to the creation of the heavens.

﴿and made them seven heavens﴾. He created them and perfected them

﴿and He has knowledge of all things﴾. So:

﴿He knows all that goes into the earth and all that comes out of it, and all that descends from heaven and all that ascends to it...﴾ (Saba 34: 2)
– and:

﴿Allah knows what you conceal and what you disclose.﴾ (an-Nahl 16: 19)

He knows what is secret and what is yet more hidden.

Mention of Allah's creation of the universe is often followed by affirmation of His omniscience, as in this verse and as in the verse in which Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿How could He Who created not know His own creation, when He is the Knower of subtleties, the All-Aware?﴾ (al-Mulk 67: 14)

That is because His creation of all things is the clearest evidence of His knowledge, wisdom and might.

﴿وَإِذْ قَالَ رَبُّكَ لِلْمَلٰٓئِكَةِ إِنِّي جَاعِلٌ فِي الْأَرْضِ خَلِيفَةً قَالُوا أَتَجْعَلُ فِيهَا مَن يُفْسِدُ فِيهَا وَيَسْفِكُ الدِّمَآءَ وَنَحْنُ نُسَبِّحُ بِحَمْدِكَ وَنُقَدِّسُ لَكَ قَالَ إِنِّي أَعْلَمُ مَا لَا تَعْلَمُونَ ﴿٣٠﴾ وَعَلَّمَ آدَمَ الْأَسْمَاءَ كُلَّهَا ثُمَّ عَرَضَهُمْ عَلَى الْمَلٰٓئِكَةِ فَقَالَ أَنْبِئُونِي بِأَسْمَاءِ هَٰؤُلَاءِ إِنْ كُنْتُمْ صٰدِقِينَ ﴿٣١﴾ قَالُوا سُبْحٰنَكَ لَا عِلْمَ لَنَا بِهَٰذَا مَا عَلَّمْتَنَا إِنَّكَ أَنْتَ الْعَلِيمُ الْحَكِيمُ ﴿٣٢﴾ قَالَ يَتَّذَرُ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا الْأَسْمَاءَ الَّتِي بَلَّغَهُمُ بِالْأَسْمَاءِ فَلَهُمُ الْبُزُورُ ﴿٣٣﴾ وَإِذْ قُلْنَا لِلْمَلٰٓئِكَةِ اسْجُدُوا لِآدَمَ فَسَجَدُوا إِلَّا إِبْلِيسَ أَبَىٰ وَاسْتَكْبَرَ وَكَانَ مِنَ الْكَٰفِرِينَ ﴿٣٤﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٣٠-٣٤)

- 2:30. When your Lord said to the angels: I am going to place on earth successive generations, they said: Will You place therein those who will make mischief therein and shed blood, whilst we glorify You with Your praises and proclaim Your holiness? He said: I know that which you do not know.
- 2:31. And He taught Adam the names of all things; then He showed them to the angels, and said: Tell me the names of these if you are right.
- 2:32. They said: Glory be to You, we do not know anything except what You have taught us; verily You are the All-Knowing, Most Wise.
- 2:33. He said: O Adam! Tell them the names of these [things]. When he had told them their names, [Allah] said: Did I not tell you that I know what is unseen in heaven and on earth, and I know what you disclose and what you conceal?
- 2:34. And when We said to the angels: Prostrate before Adam, and they [all] prostrated except Iblees; he refused and was arrogant; he was one of the disbelievers.

This is the beginning of the passage that speaks of the superiority of Adam ('alayhi as-salâm – peace be upon him), the father of humankind. When Allah wanted to create him, He informed the angels of that and said that He was going to place him on the earth, to be followed by successive generations.

The angels (peace be upon them) said: ﴿Will You place therein those who will make mischief therein﴾ by committing sin ﴿and shed blood?﴾ This (shedding blood) is a specific matter that is mentioned after a general statement (making mischief); it is mentioned in order to highlight the seriousness of killing. This was based on what the angels thought, that the successive generations who were going to dwell on earth would do that, so they declared that the Creator was above creating such a being and that it was not befitting for Him to do so; they glorified Him and declared that they were persistent in worshipping Allah in a manner that was free of any mischief, as they said: ﴿whilst we glorify You with Your praises﴾ that is, we declare You to be above all shortcomings.

﴿And proclaim Your holiness [nuqaddisu lak﴾. It may be understood as meaning: and we proclaim You alone to be holy. The phrase 'nuqaddisu lak' may also be understood as meaning: we purify ourselves for Your sake; that is, we purify ourselves by acquiring good characteristics, such as loving, fearing and glorifying Allah, and by ridding ourselves of bad characteristics.

Allah (ﷻ) said to the angels: ﴿I know﴾ concerning these successive generations ﴿that which you do not know﴾, because you are speaking on the basis of speculation, whereas I know what is apparent and what is hidden, and I know that the good that will result from the creation of these successive generations is many times greater than any evil that may result from it. If there was nothing more involved in that but that Allah (ﷻ) wanted to choose from among them the prophets, the ṣiddeeqeen, the martyrs and the righteous; and so that His signs might become manifest to His creation; and so that many acts of worship might be done that would not be done without the creation of these successive generations, such as jihad and so on; and so that the hidden potentials of the sons of Adam, both good and evil, might be demonstrated by means of testing them; and so that His enemies might be distinguished from His close friends, and His supporters from His opponents; and so that the hidden evil in the heart of Iblees, that was the main part of his character, might be made manifest – these are all great reasons, some of which, let alone all of them, would have been sufficient reason for that.

Because the statement of the angels was indicative of their feelings of superiority towards the successive generations that Allah was going to place on earth, Allah (ﷻ) wanted to explain to them the superiority of Adam so that they might acknowledge his status and see the perfection of Allah's wisdom and knowledge. So ﴿He taught Adam the names of all things﴾, and what these names applied to; in other words, He taught them words and meanings, to the extent that He taught them what to call large and small items.

﴿then He showed them﴾ that is, the things that were named ﴿to the angels﴾, as a test for them: would they know what these things were or not?

﴿and said: Tell me the names of these if you are right﴾, as you claim to be superior to these successive generations.

﴿They said: Glory be to You﴾ that is, it is not appropriate on our part to raise any objection to You or to go against Your command.

﴿we do not know anything﴾ whatsoever

﴿except what You have taught us﴾ by Your grace and kindness.

﴿verily You are the All-Knowing, Most Wise﴾; You encompass all things with Your knowledge, so nothing is hidden from You, even so much as a small ant or anything greater than that, on earth or in heaven.

The Most Wise is the One to Whom belongs perfect wisdom from which no creature is excluded; nothing of what He commands is beyond His wisdom. He has not created anything except for a reason and He has not commanded anything except for a reason. Wisdom means putting things in the appropriate place. So the angels recognised the wisdom and knowledge of Allah and acknowledged their own inability to know the slightest thing. They also acknowledged Allah's grace towards them and His teaching them that which they did not know.

Then Allah said: ﴿O Adam! Tell them the names of these [things]﴾ that is, the names of the things that Allah had shown to the angels but they were unable to name them.

﴿When he had told them their names﴾, it became clear to the angels that Adam was superior to them, and they clearly saw the wisdom and knowledge of the Creator in creating these successive generations.

﴿[Allah] said: Did I not tell you that I know what is unseen in heaven and on earth﴾. This refers to what is hidden from us, so we do not see it. If He knows what is hidden or unseen, it is more appropriate that He knows what is visible.

﴿and I know what you disclose﴾ that is, show openly ﴿and what you conceal﴾.

Then Allah (ﷻ) commanded them to prostrate to Adam, as a sign of honour and respect to him and as an act of obedience and worship to Allah (ﷻ). So they obeyed the command of Allah and they all hastened to prostrate, ﴿except Iblees; he refused﴾ to prostrate. He was too arrogant to obey the command of Allah and he looked down on Adam and said:

(al-Isrā' 17: 61)

This refusal and arrogance on his part stemmed from the disbelief that was a fundamental component of his character. At that point his enmity towards Allah and towards Adam, as well as his disbelief and arrogance, became clear.

We learn several things from these verses, which confirm that Allah (ﷻ) spoke and that He still speaks; He says whatever He wills and He speaks as He wills; and He is All-Knowing, Most Wise. We also learn that if the wisdom behind some of the things that Allah creates and some of the things that He commands is hidden to us, what we must do is surrender to Him, assume that it is our reasoning that is flawed, and affirm the wisdom of Allah. In these verses, we also see how Allah cared about the angels and showed kindness to them by teaching them that which they did not know and pointing out to them that of which they were not aware.

These verses also teach us the virtue of knowledge, from several angles. For example, Allah highlighted His knowledge and wisdom to His angels, and He highlighted to them the superiority of Adam, which was based on his knowledge; knowledge is the best characteristic that a person may have; and Allah commanded the angels to prostrate to Adam as an honour to him, when his superiority in knowledge became clear to them.

From this passage we also learn that it is important to test others (by asking them questions first, before giving the answers, instead of giving away information freely); if they are unable to answer when tested, then the one who is superior in terms of knowledge should tell them. This is more effective in proving the point.

We also learn from the contrast between the fathers of humanity and of the jinn; the superiority of Adam; the way in which Allah honoured him; the enmity of Iblees towards him; and other lessons.

وَقُلْنَا اهْبِطُوا بَعْضُكُمْ لِبَعْضٍ عَدُوٌّ وَلَكُمْ فِي الْأَرْضِ مُسْتَقَرٌّ وَمَتَعٌ إِلَىٰ حِينٍ ﴿٣٥﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٣٥-٣٦)

- 2:35. We said: O Adam! Dwell, you and your wife in paradise; and eat freely from it wherever you may wish; but do not approach this tree, or else you will both become transgressors.
- 2:36. Then Shayṭān made them slip from the [garden] and brought them out of the state [of felicity] they had been in. We said: Go down from here [all of you] as enemies to each other. On earth you will have an abode and your means of livelihood for a while.

When Allah created Adam and honoured him, He completed His blessing towards him by creating from him his wife (Ḥawwa'), so that he might enjoy the pleasure of living with her and so that he might enjoy her companionship, and He commanded them to dwell in paradise and eat from it in abundance and freely «wherever you may wish», that is, they were to eat different kinds of fruit. Allah said to him:

«[But] here [in paradise] it is granted to you that you will not go hungry or be naked, nor will you be thirsty here [in paradise] or suffer from the sun's heat.» (Tā Hâ 20: 118-119)

«but do not approach this tree» which was one kind of the trees of paradise; Allah knows best what it was. He only forbade them to approach it as a test and trial, or for a reason that is not known to us. «or else you will both become transgressors». This indicates that the prohibition was in the sense of it being haram (forbidden), because it would result in transgression or wrongdoing.

But their enemy kept whispering to them and making attractive to them the idea of eating that which was forbidden to them, until he caused them to slip; in other words he made them slip by making it look good to them:

(al-A'raf 7: 21)

– and they were deceived by him and they obeyed him. Thus he caused them to be expelled from the state of felicity and abundance in which they had been, and to be sent down to the realm of exhaustion, striving and struggle.

﴿as enemies to each other﴾. What is meant is that Adam and his progeny would be enemies of Iblees and his progeny. It is well known that enemies strive hard to cause harm to one another and to deprive one another of good by all means. This is an implicit warning to the sons of Adam against Shayṭān, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Verily, the Shayṭān is an enemy to you, so take him as an enemy. He only calls his followers so that they may become inhabitants of the raging fire.﴾ (Fāṭir 35: 6)

﴿...Will you then take him and his progeny as allies instead of Me, even though they are enemies to you? What a wretched exchange for the wrongdoers!﴾ (al-Kahf 18: 50)

Then Allah speaks of their destination on earth: ﴿On earth you will have an abode﴾ that is, a dwelling place

﴿and your means of livelihood for a while﴾, until the end of your allotted time, then you will move from the earth to the realm for which you were created and which was created for you. This verse tells us that the duration of this life is brief and transient. This world is not our true home; rather it is a place through which we pass and from which we seek provision to help us reach that other realm, and it is not to be regarded as our permanent abode.

﴿فَنَلَقَّ آدَمَ مِنْ رَبِّهِ كَلِمَتٍ فَتَابَ عَلَيْهِ إِنَّهُ هُوَ التَّوَّابُ الرَّحِيمُ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٣٧)

- 2:37. Then Adam received some words from his Lord, and He accepted his repentance, for He is the Acceptor of repentance, the Most Merciful.

«Then Adam received some words from his Lord» that is, Allah inspired him and prompted him. This refers to the words:

«...Our Lord, we have wronged ourselves. If You do not forgive us and have mercy on us, we will certainly be among the losers.» (al-A'raf 7: 23)

So Adam admitted his sin and asked Allah for His forgiveness.

«and He» that is, Allah (ﷻ)

«accepted his repentance» and had mercy on him.

«For He is the Acceptor of repentance» for the one who turns to Him.

Allah's acceptance of repentance is indicated by two things: being guided to repent, then repentance is accepted when all its conditions are met.

«the Most Merciful» towards His slaves. By His mercy towards them, He guides and enables them to repent, and He forgives them.

﴿قُلْنَا اهْبِطُوا مِنْهَا جَمِيعًا فَإِمَّا يَأْتِيَنَّكُمْ مِنِّي هُدًى فَمَنِ تَّبَعَ هُدَايَ فَلَا خَوْفٌ عَلَيْهِمْ وَلَا هُمْ يَحْزَنُونَ ﴿٣٨﴾ وَالَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا وَكَذَّبُوا بِآيَاتِنَا أُولَٰئِكَ أَصْحَابُ النَّارِ هُمْ فِيهَا خَالِدُونَ ﴿٣٩﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٣٨-٣٩)

- 2:38. We said: Go down from here, all of you; then when guidance comes from Me, whosoever follows My guidance will have no fear nor will they grieve.
- 2:39. But those who disbelieve and reject Our signs, they shall be inhabitants of the fire; they shall abide therein forever.

The idea of getting down is repeated as the basis for what comes next, which is the words ﴿then when guidance comes from Me﴾. In other words, whenever guidance comes from Me, O humankind and jinn; that is, a Messenger and a Book which will guide you to that which will bring you closer to Me and help you to do that which pleases Me.

﴿whosoever﴾ among you ﴿follows My guidance﴾, by believing in My Messengers and Books and following them, which means believing in everything the Messengers and Books say, obeying the commands and heeding the prohibitions

﴿will have no fear nor will they grieve﴾.

Elsewhere, Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...whoever follows My guidance will not go astray or suffer wretchedness.﴾ (Tā Hā 20: 123)

Thus, four things will result from following His guidance:

The one who does that will be safe from fear and grief. The difference between them is that if harm has already befallen a person, that causes grief, and if it is still expected (and has not yet happened), that causes fear. But here Allah tells us that the one who follows His guidance will be safe from both, and the one who is safe from both will attain the opposite, which is complete security. Similarly, Allah states that the one who follows His guidance will not go astray and will not fall into misery; again, the one who is safe from both will attain the opposite, which is guidance and happiness. So the one who follows His guidance will attain security and happiness in this world and the hereafter, and he will be protected from any negative outcomes, such as fear, grief, misguidance and misery. Thus he will attain what he is seeking, and what he fears will be warded off from him. This is the opposite of the one who does not follow His guidance, disbelieves in Him and rejects His signs.

﴿they shall be inhabitants of the fire﴾ that is, they will be the ones who stay in it and do not depart from it

﴿they shall abide therein forever﴾; they will never come out of it, the punishment will never be reduced for them and they will never be helped.

These and similar verses indicate that creation, both humans and jinn, will be divided into two groups: those who are blessed (destined for paradise) and those who are doomed (destined for hell). These verses also describe the two groups and the deeds that may lead to that. The jinn are like humans with regard to the reward and punishment, just as they are like them with regard to commands and prohibitions.

Then Allah (ﷻ) begins to remind the Children of Israel of His favours and kindness towards them:

2:40. O Children of Israel! Remember the favours which I bestowed upon you, and fulfil your covenant with Me and I shall fulfil My covenant with you, and fear none but Me.

2:41. And believe in what I have sent down, which confirms that which is [already] with you, and do not be the first to disbelieve therein or sell My revelations for a small price; and fear Me, and Me alone.

2:42. And do not confuse truth with falsehood, nor conceal the truth knowingly.

2:43. And establish prayer, give zakâh; and bow [in worship] with those who bow.

﴿O Children of Israel﴾ the name Israel here refers to Ya'qoob (ؑ), and it is addressed to all the tribes of the Jews who were in Madinah and its environs, as well as those who would come after them. Thus Allah commanded them in general terms: ﴿Remember the favours which I bestowed upon you﴾. This includes all the favours and blessings, some of which are mentioned in this soorah. What is meant is remembering them and acknowledging them in the heart, praising Allah verbally for them and using these blessings in ways that Allah loves and is pleased with.

﴿and fulfil your covenant with Me﴾. This refers to the covenant that He made with them, that they should believe in Him and His Messengers, and establish His laws.

﴿and I shall fulfil My covenant with you﴾ which is that He will reward them for that.

What is meant by that is what Allah mentions in the following verse:

﴿Allah took a covenant from the Children of Israel, and We appointed twelve leaders from among them. And Allah said: I am with you; if you establish prayer, give zakâh, believe in My Messengers and support them, and lend to Allah a goodly loan, I will surely expiate your bad deeds for you, and admit you to gardens through which rivers flow. But if any of you, after this, disbelieves, he will indeed have strayed from the right path.﴾ (al-Mā'idah 5: 12)

Then He points out the reason that should compel them to fulfil His covenant, which is fear of Him alone; for anyone who fears Him, that fear will make him obey His commands and heed His prohibitions.

Then a specific instruction is issued to them, without which their faith is not complete or valid:

﴿And believe in what I have sent down﴾, namely the Qur'an which He sent down to His slave and Messenger Muhammad (ﷺ). Here He is commanding them to believe in it and follow it, which implies that they should also believe in the one to whom it was sent down. The motive for their belief in it is also mentioned:

﴿which confirms that which is [already] with you﴾ that is, it is in harmony with it and does not contradict it. As it is in harmony with the scriptures that you already have, and does not contradict them, then there is no reason why you should not believe in it, because it brings the same message as all the Messengers brought. So it is more appropriate that you should believe in it, because you are the people of scriptures and knowledge.

Moreover, the words ﴿which confirms that which is [already] with you﴾ indicate that if you do not believe in it, that will backfire on you and will imply that you have rejected the scriptures that you already have, because the message it brings is the same as that which was brought by Moosâ, 'Eesâ and other Prophets. So by rejecting it, you are also rejecting what you have with you.

Furthermore, in the scriptures that you have with you, there is a description and foretelling of this Prophet (ﷺ) who has brought this Qur'an. Hence if you do not believe in him, then you will have rejected some of that which was revealed to you, and the one who rejects some of that which has been revealed to him has in fact rejected all of it, just as the one who disbelieves in one message has in fact disbelieved in all of them.

When Allah commanded them to believe in the Qur'an, He also forbade and warned them against the opposite, which is disbelief in it, as He says: ﴿and do not be the first to disbelieve therein﴾ that is, in the Qur'an and the Messenger (ﷺ).

The phrase ﴿the first to disbelieve therein﴾ is more eloquent than telling them, do not disbelieve in it, because if they were the first to disbelieve in it, that would mean that they were hastening to disbelieve in it, which is the opposite of what is expected from them; thus their sin and the sins of those who follow their example after them will be upon them.

Then Allah mentions that which is preventing them from believing, which is their preferring immediate worldly gains over eternal bliss. Allah says: ﴿do not...sell My revelations for a small price﴾. That price is what they gain of (worldly) status and accumulation which they think will cease if they believe in Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ), so they trade the verses of Allah for those things, preferring them and giving precedence to them.

﴿and fear Me, and Me alone﴾ that is, none other than Me. If you fear Allah alone, your fear of Him dictates that you should give precedence to belief in His revelations over that small gain, just as choosing the small gain (instead of faith) is indicative of the absence of fear of Allah in your hearts.

Then Allah says: ﴿And do not confuse﴾ that is, mix, ﴿truth with falsehood, nor conceal the truth knowingly﴾. Here Allah is forbidding two things to them: mixing truth with falsehood, and concealing the truth. That is because what is expected of the people of scriptures and knowledge is that they should distinguish between truth and falsehood and propagate the truth, so that people might be guided thereby, those who have gone astray might be brought back, and proof might be established against those who stubbornly reject faith, because Allah has made His revelations clear and has clarified His evidence, so as to distinguish truth from falsehood and to distinguish the path of those who are guided from the path of the evildoers. Any of the people of knowledge who acts upon that is one of the successors of the Messengers and is one of those who lead the people to guidance.

The one who confuses truth with falsehood, not distinguishing between them, and knowingly conceals the truth that he knows and is enjoined to disclose openly, is one of the callers to hell, because with regard to matters of religion, the people only follow their scholars. So choose for yourself one of these two options.

Then He says «And establish prayer» that is, performing the physical movements properly, with focus and presence of mind «give zakâh» to those who are entitled to receive it «and bow [in worship] with those who bow» that is, pray with those who pray. If you do that, whilst believing in the Messengers and revelations of Allah, then you will have combined both visible and hidden actions, joining sincerity towards Allah with kindness towards His slaves, and combining acts of worship in the heart with physical and financial acts of worship.

«and bow [in worship] with those who bow» that is, pray with those who pray. This is a command which indicates that it is obligatory to pray in congregation and that bowing is one of the pillars or essential parts of the prayer. Here prayer is referred to as bowing; when an act of worship is referred to by one of its parts, this indicates that that part of the act of worship is obligatory.

- 2:44. Do you enjoin righteousness upon people while you ignore your own selves, even though you study the scripture? Will you not understand?

«Do you enjoin righteousness upon people» that is, do you tell them to believe and do good

«while you ignore your own selves» that is, you do not remind yourselves to do that, at the time when ﴿you study the scripture? Will you not understand?﴾. The root meaning of the word 'aql' (reasoning or understanding) is to make a person understand that which will benefit him and restrain him from doing that which will harm him. Reason encourages the individual to be the first one to do what he tells others to do, and the first one to refrain from what he tells others not to do. If a person tells others to do good but does not do it himself, and he tells them not to commit evil but does not refrain from it himself, that indicates that he in fact has no understanding and is ignorant, especially if he does that knowingly. Thus proof is established against him.

Although this verse was revealed concerning the Children of Israel, it is general in meaning and applies to everyone, because Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿O you who believe, why do you say that which you do not do? It is most loathsome to Allah that you say that which you do not do.﴾
(as-Saff 61: 2-3)

There is nothing in the verse to indicate that if a person does not do what he is enjoining others to do, then he should give up enjoining what is good and forbidding what is evil, because it is well known that the individual has two duties: enjoining (what is good) and forbidding (what is evil) to others, and doing likewise for himself. The fact that he gives up doing one of them does not mean that he has a concession allowing him to give up the other. Perfection is attained when the individual does both duties, and the worst-case scenario is when he gives up both. As for doing one of them and not the other, it is not as good as the former, but it is not as bad as the latter. Moreover, it is human nature that people do not follow those whose deeds contradict their words; deeds are more likely to be heeded and emulated than mere words.

﴿وَأَسْتَعِينُوا بِالصَّبْرِ وَالصَّلَاةِ وَإِنَّهَا لَكَبِيرَةٌ إِلَّا عَلَى الْخَاشِعِينَ ﴿٤٥﴾ الَّذِينَ يَظُنُّونَ أَنَّهُمْ مُلَاقُوا رَبِّهِمْ وَأَنَّهُمْ إِلَيْهِ رَاجِعُونَ ﴿٤٦﴾ يٰبَنِي إِسْرَءِيلَ أَذْكُرُوا نِعْمَتِيَ الَّتِي أَنْعَمْتُ عَلَيْكُمْ وَأَنِّي فَضَّلْتُكُمْ عَلَى الْعَالَمِينَ ﴿٤٧﴾ وَاتَّقُوا يَوْمًا لَا تَجْزِي نَفْسٌ عَنْ نَفْسٍ شَيْئًا وَلَا يُقْبَلُ مِنْهَا شَفَعَةٌ وَلَا يُؤْخَذُ مِنْهَا عَدْلٌ وَلَا هُمْ يُنصَرُونَ ﴿٤٨﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٤٥-٤٨)

- 2:45. Seek help through patience and prayer. Indeed it is hard, except for the humble,
- 2:46. Who are certain that they are going to meet their Lord, and that to Him they will return.
- 2:47. O Children of Israel! Remember the blessings which I bestowed upon you and how I favoured you above all other people.
- 2:48. Then guard yourselves against a day when no soul shall avail another at all and neither intercession nor ransom will be accepted from it, nor will they be helped.

Here, Allah commands them to seek help in their affairs by being patient in all situations. That means being patient in obeying Allah so that one may fulfil one's obligations properly, and being patient in refraining from disobedience, so that one may be able to keep away from it altogether. It also includes patience in accepting the decree of Allah when it is painful, so as to avoid becoming angry or discontented with it. Having patience and compelling oneself to do what Allah has enjoined is a great help in all situations. As a person strives to be patient, Allah will grant him patience. That also applies to prayer, which is the foundation of faith and keeps one from committing shameful and evil deeds. By means of prayer, a person may seek help in all his affairs.

«Indeed it» that is, prayer «is hard» that is, difficult «except for the humble». It is easy and light for them, because humility, fear of Allah and hope for that which is with Him makes them do it happily, because they have the hope of reward and the fear of punishment. This is unlike the one who is not like that, for he has no motivation to do it, and if he does do it, it is one of the most burdensome of things for him.

Humility means submission of the heart, being tranquil and turning to Allah (ﷻ), expressing one's utter need of Him, having faith in Him and believing in the meeting with Him.

Hence He says: ﴿Who are certain that they are going to meet their Lord﴾, and He will requite them for their deeds ﴿and that to Him they will return﴾. This belief is what makes acts of worship easier for them, gives them consolation at the time of calamity, raises their spirits at the time of crisis and deters them from doing bad deeds. They are the ones who will find eternal bliss in paradise. As for the one who does not believe in the meeting with his Lord, prayer and other acts of worship are among the most difficult things for him.

Then Allah again reminds the Children of Israel of His blessings, as an exhortation and warning, and He instils in them fear of the Day of Resurrection, ﴿when no soul﴾, even if it is one of the noble souls, such as the Prophets and the righteous, ﴿shall avail﴾ that is, be able to help ﴿another﴾, even if the latter is the closest of family members ﴿at all﴾ in any way, great or small; rather the only thing that will benefit an individual is righteous deeds that he sent on ahead.

﴿and neither intercession nor ransom will be accepted from it﴾ that is, that soul will not be able to intercede for anyone without the permission of Allah and His approval of the one for whom intercession is sought, for Allah does not accept any deed except that which is intended for His sake and is in accordance with the straight path and the Sunnah. And no ransom will be accepted either:

﴿If the wrongdoers had everything on earth, and as much again with it, they would offer it to ransom themselves from the terrible punishment on the Day of Resurrection...﴾ (az-Zumar 39: 47)

But that will not be accepted from them, ﴿nor will they be helped﴾ that is, no harm will be warded off from them. This highlights the fact that there will be no benefit from any created being in any way. The words ﴿no soul shall avail another at all﴾ have to do with obtaining benefits, and the words ﴿nor will they be helped﴾ have to do with warding off harm.

﴿neither intercession nor ransom will be accepted from it﴾ – there will be no benefit from anyone that a person could seek in return for something, such as a ransom or intercession. This makes a person cut off any attachment to created beings, because he knows that they cannot bring him the slightest benefit; and it makes him put all his trust in Allah, Who is the One Who brings benefits and wards off harm; so he should worship Him alone, with no partner or associate, and seek His help in worshipping Him.

- 2:49. And [remember] when We delivered you from the people of Pharaoh, who were subjecting you to grievous torment, slaughtering your sons and letting your womenfolk live; in that was a great trial from your Lord.
- 2:50. And [remember] when We parted the sea for you and saved you while We drowned Pharaoh's people while you were looking on.
- 2:51. And [remember] when We appointed for Moosâ forty nights, and in his absence you took the calf [for worship], and thus became transgressors.
- 2:52. Yet, even after that We forgave you, so that you might be grateful.
- 2:53. And [remember] when We gave Moosâ the scripture and the criterion [between right and wrong] so that you might be guided aright.
- 2:54. And [remember] when Moosâ said to his people: O my people! You have indeed wronged yourselves by taking the calf [for worship]. So repent to your Maker, and kill [the guilty ones among] you; that will be best for you with your Maker. Then He accepted your repentance, for He is the Acceptor of repentance, the Most Merciful.
- 2:55. And [remember] when you said: O Moosâ! We will never believe in you until we see Allah with our own eyes, but a thunderbolt struck you while you were looking on.
- 2:56. Then We brought you back to life after your death, so that you might be grateful.
- 2:57. And We shaded you with clouds and sent down to you manna and quails, saying: Eat of the good things We have provided for you. Indeed, they did not wrong Us; rather they wronged their own souls.

This is the beginning of a detailed list of Allah's blessings to the Children of Israel:

﴿And [remember] when We delivered you from the people of Pharaoh﴾ that is, from Pharaoh and his people and troops, who prior to that had been ﴿subjecting you﴾ that is, they had been using and abusing them

﴿to grievous torment﴾ that is, the harshest possible torment
 ﴿slaughtering your sons﴾ for fear of your numbers increasing
 ﴿and letting your womenfolk live﴾ that is, not killing them; thus you were caught between being slain or being subject to hard labour, left alive as if a favour was being done to you by the people who looked down at you, which is the ultimate humiliation. But Allah blessed them by saving them completely and drowning their enemy while they were looking on, so that they might rejoice.

﴿in that﴾ that is, in saving you (from Pharaoh)
 ﴿was a great trial﴾ that is, a test
 ﴿from your Lord﴾. This is one of the things that require you to give thanks to Him and to obey His commands.

Then Allah mentions His blessing to them when He appointed for Moosâ forty nights in order to send down to him the Torah which was filled with great blessings and benefits, but they could not wait until the completion of that appointed time; rather they began worshipping the calf in his absence.

﴿and thus became transgressors﴾, fully aware of your transgression, as proof had already been established against you, which made it a greater offence and a more grievous sin. Then Allah commanded you on the lips of His Prophet Moosâ to repent, and to kill the guilty ones among you, after which Allah forgave you because of that, ﴿so that you might be grateful﴾ to Allah.

﴿And [remember] when you said: O Moosâ! We will never believe in you until we see Allah with our own eyes﴾. This was the utmost transgression and audacity towards Allah and towards His Messenger (ﷺ).

﴿but a thunderbolt﴾ that is, either death or deep unconsciousness ﴿struck you while you were looking on﴾ – that happened when you were all looking at one another.

﴿Then We brought you back to life after your death, so that you might be grateful﴾.

Then Allah mentions His favours to you when you were wandering in the wilderness, as He bestowed upon you shade and ample provision: ﴿And We shaded you with clouds and sent down to you manna﴾. Manna is a generic word that applies to all kinds of provision that are acquired without effort, such as ginger, truffles and so on.

﴿and quails﴾. The quail is a small bird, the flesh of which is palatable. The manna and quails would come down to them in sufficient quantities to nourish them.

﴿Eat of the good things We have provided for you﴾ that is, provision the like of which even those who dwell in cities and live a life of luxury do not have. But they were not grateful for this blessing, and they continued to be hardhearted and to commit many sins.

﴿Indeed, they did not wrong Us﴾ by doing these deeds that were contrary to Our commands, for Allah is not harmed by the disobedience of those who disobey Him, just as He does not benefit from the obedience of those who obey Him.

﴿rather they wronged their own souls﴾ because the harm of those actions came back to them.

سُجَّدَا وَقُولُوا حِطَّةٌ نَغْفِرْ لَكُمْ خَطِيئَتَكُمْ وَسَيَرْزِقُ الْمُحْسِنِينَ ﴿٥٨﴾ فَبَدَّلَ الَّذِينَ
ظَلَمُوا قَوْلًا غَيْرَ الَّذِي قِيلَ لَهُمْ فَأَنْزَلْنَا عَلَى الَّذِينَ ظَلَمُوا رِجْزًا مِنَ السَّمَاءِ بِمَا
كَانُوا يَفْسُقُونَ ﴿٥٩﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٥٨-٥٩)

- 2:58. And [remember] when We said: Go into this town, and eat freely from it wherever you may wish; but enter the gate bowing down [with humility] and say: Relieve us [from the burden of our sins]. We will forgive you your sins and increase [the reward] of those who do good.
- 2:59. But the wrongdoers changed the word to something other than what they had been told; so We sent down upon the wrongdoers a plague from heaven, because of their defiant disobedience.

This is a further part of the blessings that Allah bestowed upon them after they had disobeyed Him. He commanded them to enter a town, which would become a place where they could settle and live a life of dignity, and in which they would have abundant provision. But they were to enter it showing humility towards Allah in their actions, by entering the gate ﴿bowing down [with humility]﴾, and in their words, by saying: ﴿Relieve us [from the burden of our sins]﴾, asking Allah to relieve them of their sins by virtue of their asking Him for His forgiveness.

﴿We will forgive you your sins﴾ by virtue of your asking for forgiveness
﴿and increase [the reward] of those who do good﴾ by virtue of their good deeds, by granting them reward in this world and in the hereafter

﴿But the wrongdoers changed the word﴾ that is, the wrongdoers among them. This means that not all of them did this, because not all of them changed the word.

«to something other than what they had been told». So instead of saying hiṭṭatun «Relieve us [from the burden of our sins]», they said habbah fee hintah (a grain of wheat), making fun of and mocking the command of Allah. Since they changed the word, even though it was easy for them to say it, it is more likely that they changed the actions required of them. Hence they entered the gate shuffling on their bottoms. Furthermore, since this transgression was the greatest reason for the punishment that befell them, Allah said: «so We sent down upon the wrongdoers» among them «a plague» that is, a punishment «from heaven, because of their defiant disobedience» that is, because of their evil-doing and transgression.

﴿وَإِذْ أَسْتَسْقَىٰ مُوسَىٰ لِقَوْمِهِ فَقُلْنَا اضْرِبْ بِعَصَاكَ الْحَجَرَ فَانْفَجَرَتْ مِنْهُ اثْنَتَا عَشْرَةَ عَيْنًا قَدْ عَلِمَ كُلُّ أُنَاسٍ مَّشْرِبَهُمْ كُلُوا وَاشْرَبُوا مِن رِّزْقِ اللَّهِ وَلَا تَعْتُوا فِي الْأَرْضِ مُفْسِدِينَ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٦٠)

- 2:60. And [remember] when Moosâ prayed for water for his people; We said: Strike the rock with your staff. Then twelve springs gushed forth from it and each tribe knew its own drinking place. So eat and drink of the sustenance provided by Allah, and do not strive to spread mischief in the land.

Moosâ prayed for water from which they could drink.

«We said: Strike the rock with your staff.» This refers either to a specific rock that was known to him, or to any rock.

«Then twelve springs gushed forth from it»; the number of Israelite tribes was twelve.

«and each tribe» among them «knew its own drinking place» among these springs, so that there would be no pushing and shoving; rather they would be able to drink easily, without any disturbance. Hence

Allah said: ﴿So eat and drink of the sustenance provided by Allah﴾, meaning that which comes to you without any effort on your part, ﴿and do not strive to spread mischief in the land﴾ that is, do not try to cause ruin and spread mischief.

- 2:61. And [remember] when you said: O Moosâ! We cannot bear to eat only one kind of food; so pray to your Lord for us to bring forth for us of what the earth produces, its herbs, cucumbers, garlic, lentils and onions. He said: Would you exchange that which is better for that which is inferior? Go down to any town, and you will find what you want! They were struck with humiliation and wretchedness; they incurred the wrath of Allah. That was because they rejected the signs of Allah and killed the Prophets unjustly. That was because of their disobedience and transgression.

What is meant is: remember when you said to Moosâ, by way of expressing boredom with the blessings of Allah and scorning them: ﴿O Moosâ! We cannot bear to eat only one kind of food﴾. Although, as we stated above, there were different types of food, the variety was limited.

﴿so pray to your Lord for us to bring forth for us of what the earth produces, its herbs﴾ – the word translated here as ﴿herbs﴾ refers to plants other than trees – ﴿cucumbers, garlic, lentils and onions﴾. Moosâ said to them: ﴿Would you exchange that which is better﴾ namely the manna and quails ﴿for that which is inferior﴾ namely the foods mentioned; this is not befitting for you, because the foods you are asking for can be found in any town that you go down to. As for the food with which Allah has blessed you, it is the best and finest of food, so how can you ask for something else in its stead?

Since their behaviour was the greatest evidence of their lack of patience and their scorning the commands and blessings of Allah, He gave them an appropriate punishment, as He said: ﴿They were struck with humiliation﴾ that could be seen in their physical appearance, and ﴿wretchedness﴾ in their hearts, so that they had no self-respect or high ambitions; rather their souls were low and vile, and their aspirations were the worst of aspirations. ﴿they incurred the wrath of Allah﴾ that is, they did not gain anything but the wrath of Allah; what a bad return, and what a bad situation they found themselves in.

﴿That﴾ – the reason why they deserved His wrath – ﴿was because they rejected the signs of Allah﴾ that pointed to the truth. When they rejected His signs, He punished them by becoming angry with them. That was also because they ﴿killed the Prophets unjustly﴾.

Allah says ﴿unjustly﴾ to emphasise the abhorrent nature of the crime; otherwise it is well known that killing a Prophet can never be just or lawful. It also indicates that no one should think that they were ignorant or lacking in knowledge.

﴿That was because of their disobedience﴾ in committing sin ﴿and transgression﴾ against the slaves of Allah. One sin leads to another: negligence leads to minor sin, from which stems major sin, which in turn leads to various kinds of innovation, disbelief and so on. We ask Allah to keep us safe and sound from all trials.

These verses are addressed to the Israelite community that existed at the time when the Qur'an was revealed; the deeds referred to were committed by their forebears, but were attributed to them for several reasons, such as the following:

- They used to boast about and praise themselves, claiming that they were superior to Muhammad (ﷺ) and those who believed in him. By referring to the attitude of their predecessors, which was well known to them, Allah explained to each of them that they were not people of patience, high morals or good deeds. If this is how their ancestors were, when it is expected that the ancestors would be of a higher status and had a better attitude than those who came after them, then how about those who are addressed here?
- The blessings of Allah that were bestowed upon their predecessors also reached the later generations; a blessing for the fathers is also a blessing for the sons, which is why they are addressed here, because they were also included in the blessing.
- It is addressed to them as if they were the ones who did those deeds, which indicates that members of a community that follows one religion support one another and help one another with regard to that which serves the common interest, so that it is as if the earlier and later generations all lived at the same time. The action of one of them is like the action of all of them, because what some of them do of good deeds will benefit all of them, and what some of them do of evil deeds will bring harm to all of them.
- The latter generation did not denounce most of their predecessors' deeds, and the one who approves of sin is a partner in it.

And there are other reasons which are known only to Allah.

Then Allah (ﷻ) says, differentiating between various groups of the People of the Book:

﴿إِنَّ الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا وَالَّذِينَ هَادُوا وَالصَّابِئِينَ مَنْ ءَامَنَ بِاللَّهِ وَالْيَوْمِ
الْآخِرِ وَعَمِلَ صَالِحًا فَلَهُمْ أَجْرُهُمْ عِنْدَ رَبِّهِمْ وَلَا خَوْفٌ عَلَيْهِمْ وَلَا هُمْ يَحْزَنُونَ﴾

- 2:62. Those who believe [in the Prophet], and those who are Jews, and the Christians and the Sabians – whoever believes in Allah and the Last Day, and does righteous deeds, will have their reward with their Lord; they will have no fear, nor will they grieve.

This ruling applies to the People of the Book only, because the Sabians, according to the correct view, are one of the Christian sects. Here Allah tells us that the believers of this Ummah, and those among the Jews, Christians and Sabians, who believe in Allah and the Last Day, and believe in their Messengers, will have a great reward and well-being; they will have no fear nor will they grieve. As for those among these communities who disbelieve in Allah, His Messengers and the Last Day, they will be in the opposite state, that of fear and grief.

The correct view is that this ruling applies to these groups as they were, and it does not refer to believing in Muhammad (ﷺ), as it speaks of them at a time before the mission of Muhammad (ﷺ) began, and this is how they were then. This is how it is with the Qur'an: if some people find that some verses are not clear to them, they have to look for others that will clarify the matter, because it is a Revelation from One Who knows all things before they happen, and Whose mercy encompasses all things. The way in which this may be clarified – and Allah knows best – is that when the Qur'an mentions the Children of Israel and criticises them for their sins and abhorrent deeds, that may give the impression that all of the Israelites are subject to this condemnation. Hence the Creator (ﷻ) highlighted those who were not subject to this condemnation by referring to those others (who were not subject to it). As He mentioned the Children of Israel in particular, this may give the impression that this ruling applies to them only; hence Allah (ﷻ) mentioned the general ruling that applies to all these other groups, so as to clarify the truth and dispel confusion and doubt. Glory be to the One Who has included in His Book that which dazzles the minds of those who have knowledge.

Then Allah (ﷻ) goes back to rebuking the Children of Israel for what their predecessors did:

﴿وَإِذْ أَخَذْنَا مِيثَاقَكُمْ وَرَفَعْنَا فَوْقَكُمُ الطُّورَ خُذُوا مَا آتَيْنَاكُمْ بِقُوَّةٍ وَاذْكُرُوا مَا فِيهِ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَتَّقُونَ ﴿٦٣﴾ ثُمَّ تَوَلَّيْتُمْ مِنْ بَعْدِ ذَلِكَ فَلَوْلَا فَضْلُ اللَّهِ عَلَيْكُمْ وَرَحْمَتُهُ لَكُنْتُمْ مِنَ الْخَاسِرِينَ ﴿٦٤﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٦٣-٦٤)

- 2:63. And [remember] when We made a covenant with you and We raised the Mount above you, [saying]: Hold fast to what We have given you and bear in mind what is in it, so that you may become pious.
- 2:64. But after that you turned away, and were it not for the grace and mercy of Allah to you, you certainly would have been among the losers.

That is, remember ﴿when We made a covenant with you﴾. This refers to a solemn pledge, which is further emphasised by the fearful event of the raising of the Mount above them. It was said to them: ﴿Hold fast﴾ that is, with determination, effort and patience in obeying Allah ﴿to what We have given you﴾ of the Torah ﴿and bear in mind what is in it﴾ that is, what is in your Book, by reciting it and learning it, ﴿so that you may become pious﴾, fearing the punishment and wrath of Allah.

But after this emphasis on the pledge, «you turned away», which made it inevitable that the severest of penalties should befall you, «and were it not for the grace and mercy of Allah to you, you certainly would have been among the losers».

﴿وَلَقَدْ عَلِمْتُمُ الَّذِينَ اعْتَدَوْا مِنْكُمْ فِي السَّبْتِ فَقُلْنَا لَهُمْ كُونُوا قِرَدَةً خَاسِئِينَ ﴿٦٥﴾ فَجَعَلْنَاهَا نَكَالًا لِمَا بَيْنَ يَدَيْهَا وَمَا خَلْفَهَا وَمَوْعِظَةً لِّلْمُتَّقِينَ ﴿٦٦﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٦٥-٦٦)

- 2:65. And you certainly know those amongst you who broke the Sabbath, whereupon We said to them: Be apes, despised and rejected.
- 2:66. So We made their fate an example to their own generation and to those who came after them, and a lesson to those who fear Allah.

That is, the situation of «those amongst you who broke the Sabbath» is something with which you are very familiar. They are the ones whose story is told in detail in Soorat al-A'râf, where Allah (ﷻ) says:

«Ask them about the town which was by the sea and how they broke the Sabbath...» (al-A'râf 7: 163)

Because of this grave sin, they deserved the wrath of Allah and the punishment of being turned into «apes, despised and rejected» that is, disdained and humiliated.

Allah made this punishment «an example to their own generation» that is, the nations that witnessed it and those whom the news reached at that time

«and to those who came after them». Thus proof was established against people; this story also serves to deter people from disobeying Allah. But it is not a beneficial lesson for anyone except those who fear Allah; others do not benefit from His signs.

﴿وَإِذْ قَالَ مُوسَىٰ لِقَوْمِهِ إِنَّ اللَّهَ يَأْمُرُكُمْ أَنْ تَذْبَحُوا بَقَرَةً قَالُوا أَنَتَّخِذُهَا هُزُوًا قَالِ

 اللَّهِ وَمَا اللَّهُ بِغَفِيلٍ عَمَّا تَعْمَلُونَ ﴿٧٤﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٦٧-٧٤)

2:67. And [remember] when Moosâ said to his people: Allah commands you to sacrifice a cow. They said: Are you mocking us? He said: Allah forbid that I should be so ignorant!

2:68. They said: Pray to your Lord to make clear to us what [sort of cow] it should be. He said: He [Allah] says: The cow should be neither too old nor too young, but somewhere in between. Now do as you are commanded!

- 2:69. They said: Pray to your Lord to make clear to us what her colour should be. He said: He [Allah] says: A yellow cow, pure and rich in colour, pleasing to the beholder.
- 2:70. They said: Pray to your Lord to make clear to us [exactly] what she is, because to us all cows look alike. And surely, if Allah wills, we will be guided.
- 2:71. He said: He [Allah] says: A cow not broken in to till the earth or water the fields; sound and whole, without blemish. They said: Now you have brought the truth. Then they offered her in sacrifice, although they almost failed to do so.
- 2:72. And [remember] when you killed a man and disputed among yourselves concerning [the crime], but Allah brought forth that which you were concealing.
- 2:73. So We said: Strike the [body] with a piece of the [sacrificed cow]. Thus Allah brings the dead to life and shows you His signs, that you may understand.
- 2:74. Then after that, your hearts were hardened, and became like a rock or even harder. For among rocks there are some from which rivers spring forth; others which, when they cleave asunder, send forth water; and others which tumble down for fear of Allah. And Allah is not unaware of what you do.

That is, remember what happened to you with Moosâ, when you killed a man and disputed amongst yourselves concerning the crime. In other words, you argued as to who killed him, until the matter nearly got out of hand and almost – were it not for Allah guiding you – resulted in great turmoil amongst you. Then Moosâ told you how to find out about the murderer: Slaughter a cow. You should have hastened to obey his orders and should not have objected to them, but you insisted on objecting, and said: «Are you mocking us?». The Prophet of Allah said: «Allah forbid that I should be so ignorant!» The ignorant man is the one who speaks nonsense, in which there is no benefit, and he is the one who mocks people. The wise man, on the other hand, thinks that one of the greatest shameful acts that undermine one's religious commitment and rational thinking is mocking a person who is a human being like him; even if he is superior to him, that superiority requires him to show gratitude to his Lord and compassion towards His slaves.

When Moosā said that to them, they realised that he was speaking the truth, and said: ﴿Pray to your Lord to make clear to us what [sort of cow] it should be﴾; how old should it be? ﴿He said: He [Allah] says: The cow should be neither too old nor too young, but somewhere in between. Now do as you are commanded!﴾ – and stop confusing the matter with so many questions.

﴿They said: Pray to your Lord to make clear to us what her colour should be. He said: He [Allah] says: A yellow cow, pure and rich in colour﴾ that is, of a deep colour ﴿pleasing to the beholder﴾ with its beauty.

﴿They said: Pray to your Lord to make clear to us [exactly] what she is, because to us all cows look alike﴾, and we still do not know what you want. ﴿And surely, if Allah wills, we will be guided﴾.

﴿He said: He [Allah] says: A cow not broken in﴾ that is, trained ﴿to till the earth﴾ by ploughing ﴿or water the fields﴾ that is, she is not used for the purpose of irrigation; ﴿sound and whole﴾ that is, free of defects and not having been used for work; ﴿without blemish﴾ that is, there are no patches of any colour other than what was mentioned above. ﴿They said: Now you have brought the truth﴾ that is, now you have brought us a clear explanation. They said this because of their ignorance, for the truth had come to them from the outset. If they had gone and fetched any cow, they would have done what they were meant to do, but they made it difficult for themselves by asking too many questions, so Allah made it difficult for them. If they had not said ﴿if Allah wills﴾, they would not have been guided concerning this matter. ﴿Then they offered her﴾ that is, the cow that met that description ﴿in sacrifice, although they almost failed to do so﴾ because of their asking too many questions.

When they had slaughtered her, [Allah] said: ﴿Strike﴾ the slain man with part of her, either a specific part or any part of the cow's body. There is no benefit in specifying which part it was. So they struck him with part of the cow, and Allah brought him back to life and disclosed what they were concealing, as he identified his killer. His being brought back to life whilst they were watching was a sign that Allah can bring the dead back to life, ﴿that you may understand﴾ and be deterred from doing that which will cause you harm.

﴿Then after that, your hearts were hardened﴾ that is, they became harsh and rough, unable to benefit from any exhortation. ﴿Then after that﴾ means, after Allah bestowed upon you great blessings and showed you His signs, after which your hearts should not have become hard, because what you had seen should have softened your hearts and made them humble. Then Allah describes their hardheartedness as being ﴿like a rock﴾, which is harder than iron, because iron and lead melt when they are exposed to fire, but rocks do not melt.

﴿or even harder﴾ means, not less hard than rocks. Then Allah describes how rocks are better than their hearts, as He says: ﴿For among rocks there are some from which rivers spring forth; others which, when they cleave asunder, send forth water; and others which tumble down for fear of Allah﴾. In these ways rocks are superior to their hearts. Then He issues a sterner warning, and says: ﴿And Allah is not unaware of what you do﴾; rather He knows and keeps a record of all your deeds, great and small, and He will requite you for them in the fullest manner.

It should be noted that many of the commentators (may Allah have mercy on them) went to great lengths in filling their books with the stories taken from Jewish sources, and they tried to interpret the verses of the Qur'an in the light of these stories, making them like a commentary for the Book of Allah. They gave as evidence for their action the hadith in which the Prophet (ﷺ) said:

«Narrate from the Children of Israel, and it does not matter.» (Bukhari)

What I think is that even if it is permissible to narrate their stories and reports, that is only to be done in isolation, not in the context of discussing the meanings of Qur'an or any issue of Sharia. It is not permissible to make them a means of interpreting the Book of Allah at all, unless it is proven to be soundly narrated from the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ). That is because the status of these stories and reports is reflected in the hadith:

«Do not believe the People of the Book and do not disbelieve them.» (Bukhari)

As their status is somewhat dubious, and it is well known in Islam that we must believe in the Qur'an and be certain about its wording and its meanings, it is not permissible for us to use these stories, which were transmitted by unknown narrators in reports that in most, if not all, cases are most likely to be lies, to explain the meanings of the Qur'an in a definitive manner and without doubting them. In fact it is because of heedlessness regarding this issue that what happened came to pass. And Allah is the source of strength.

يَحْرِفُونَ، مِنْ بَعْدِ مَا عَقَلُوهُ وَهُمْ يَعْلَمُونَ﴾ (٧٥) وَإِذَا لَقُوا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا
قَالُوا آمَنَّا وَإِذَا خَلَا بِغَضِبِهِمْ إِلَىٰ بَعْضِ قَالُوا اتَّخَذْتُهُمْ بِمَا فَتَحَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْكُمْ
إِلْحَاجَّوْكُمْ بِهِ، عِنْدَ رَبِّكُمْ أَفَلَا تَعْقِلُونَ﴾ (٧٦) أَوَلَا يَعْلَمُونَ أَنَّ اللَّهَ يَعْلَمُ مَا
يُسرُونَ وَمَا يَكْتُمُونَ﴾ (٧٧) وَمِنْهُمْ أُمِّيُونَ لَا يَعْلَمُونَ الْكِتَابَ إِلَّا أَمَانِي وَإِنْ
هُمْ إِلَّا يَنْظُرُونَ﴾ (٧٨) ﴿سورة البقرة: ٧٥-٧٨﴾

- 2:75. Do you [O believers] then hope that they will respond to your call, when a party among them used to hear the word of Allah, and they distorted it knowingly after having understood it?
- 2:76. When they meet the believers, they say: We [too] believe: But when they meet one another in private, they say: Why are you telling them what Allah has disclosed to you [of the description of the Prophet in the Torah], that they may use it in argument against you before your Lord? Have you no sense?
- 2:77. Do they not realise that Allah knows what they conceal and what they disclose?
- 2:78. And there are among them unlettered people, who have no knowledge of the Book, except wishful thinking, and they have nothing but [mere] speculation.

These verses put an end to the believers' hopes that the People of the Book would believe. In other words, do not raise your hopes about them becoming believers, because the way they are does not give rise to any such hope. They used to distort the words of Allah after having learned and understood them; they interpreted them in a way different than what Allah intended, in order to give people the impression that it came from Allah, when it did not come from Allah. If this is how they are with regard to their own Book, which they regard as a source of great pride and honour, and as the basis of their religion, yet they took it as a means to turn people away from the path of Allah, then how can it be hoped that they would believe and respond to your call? That is highly unlikely.

Then Allah describes the condition of the hypocrites among the People of the Book:

﴿When they meet the believers, they say: We [too] believe﴾. They pretended to be believers and they paid lip service to a faith that was not in their hearts

﴿But when they meet one another in private﴾ and no one else is present other than their co-religionists, they say to one another:

﴿Why are you telling them what Allah has disclosed to you [of the description of the Prophet in the Torah]﴾ that is, why do you pretend to believe and tell them that you are like them, when that will be proof for them against you, because they will say: They affirmed that what we are following is truth and what they are following is falsehood. Thus they (the believers) will use that against you before your Lord. ﴿Have you no sense?﴾ That is, do you not have the sense to stop doing that which may be used against you? This is what they say to one another.

﴿Do they not realise that Allah knows what they conceal and what they disclose?﴾ So even though they concealed what they believed and kept it to themselves, and thought that by being discreet they would be able to avoid giving the believers any argument to use against them, they were wrong and very ignorant, for Allah knew what they concealed and what they disclosed, so He exposed their true nature to His slaves.

﴿And there are among them﴾ that is, among the People of the Book ﴿unlettered people﴾ that is, common folk who are not knowledgeable ﴿who have no knowledge of the Book, except wishful thinking﴾ that is, they have no share of the Book of Allah except recitation that they hear; they know nothing about what the early generations had of true knowledge of it. All these people have is some speculative ideas and they blindly follow the scholars among them.

In these verses, Allah mentions their scholars, common folk, hypocrites and those among them who were not hypocrites. The scholars among them were adhering to their false and misguided religion, and the common folk were blindly following them, with no insight, so there was no hope that either of the two groups would believe in your message.

2:79. Then woe to those who write the scripture with their own hands, and then say: This is from Allah, in order to trade it for a small price! Woe to them for what their hands have written, and woe to them for what they have earned thereby.

Here Allah (ﷻ) is warning that those who distort the scriptures and say of the distortion and what they write: «This is from Allah». In fact this is propagating falsehood and concealing truth. But they did that knowingly, «in order to trade it for a small price». All of this world, from beginning to end, is a small price. They made their falsehood a means of snatching what is in people's hands. Thus they wronged the people on two counts: they confused them with regard to their religion and they took their wealth unlawfully, by the worst of means, which is worse than those who take people's wealth by force or by stealing and so on. Hence Allah warned them about these two things and said: «Woe to them for what their hands have written» of distortion and falsehood «and woe to them for what they have earned thereby» of wealth. What is meant by woe is severe punishment and loss. This is a stern warning indeed.

Shaykh al-Islām (Ibn Taymiyah) said, when discussing this passage «Do you [O believers] then hope... for what they have earned thereby» (vv. 75-79):

Allah condemned those who distorted words, and this includes those who explain or teach the Qur'an and Sunnah on the basis of innovation [bid'ah].

He also condemned those who have no knowledge of the Book except wishful thinking. This applies to those who do not ponder the meanings of the Qur'an and know nothing of it except mere recitation of its letters. It also applies to those who write anything with their hands that is contrary to the Book of Allah for the purpose of worldly gain, such as saying that this is from Allah, or this is Islam, or this is what the Qur'an and Sunnah say, or this is the understanding of the early generations and leading scholars, or this is one of the basic matters of religion that every individual and the entire Ummah must believe. It also applies to those who conceal what they know of the Qur'an and Sunnah so that the one who differs from him concerning the truth will not use his words as evidence against him.

These are matters that are very common among the followers of whims and desires in general, such as the Râfiḍis<sup>9</sup> and also among many of those who claim to be scholars.

وَقَالُوا لَنْ تَمَسَّنَا النَّارُ إِلَّا أَنْتَ مَا مَعْدُودَةٌ قُلْ أَتَّخِذُكُمْ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ عَهْدًا فَلَنْ يَخْلَفَ اللَّهُ عَهْدَهُ أَمْ تَقُولُونَ عَلَى اللَّهِ مَا لَا تَعْلَمُونَ ﴿٨٠﴾ بَلَى مَنْ كَسَبَ سَيِّئَةً وَأَحَاطَتْ بِهِ خَطِيئَتُهُ فَأُولَٰئِكَ أَصْحَابُ النَّارِ هُمْ فِيهَا خَالِدُونَ

<sup>9</sup> Râfiḍis: The Râfiḍis are the extremist Shia who believe that 'Ali (raḍiya Allāhu 'anhu – may Allah be pleased with him) should have been the caliph after the Prophet (ﷺ) died, in accordance with his instructions (as they claim), and they believe that the Ṣaḥābah went against the Prophet's instructions by appointing Abu Bakr (رضي الله عنه) as caliph. For this reason the Râfiḍis bear resentment towards the Ṣaḥābah whilst, on the other hand, going to such extremes in their love for 'Ali (رضي الله عنه) and his descendants that some of them elevated them to the level of divinity. These Shia groups include the Ithnā 'Asharis and the Isma'ilis

وَالَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا وَعَمِلُوا الصَّالِحَاتِ أُولَٰئِكَ أَصْحَابُ الْجَنَّةِ هُمْ فِيهَا خَالِدُونَ ﴿٨٢﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٨٠-٨٢)

- 2:80. And they say: The fire will only touch us for a few days. Say: Have you received a covenant from Allah, for Allah will never break His covenant? Or are you saying about Allah things of which you have no real knowledge?
- 2:81. Nay, those who do evil, and are encompassed by their sin will be the inhabitants of the fire; they will abide therein forever.
- 2:82. But those who believe and do righteous deeds will be the inhabitants of paradise; they will abide therein forever.

Allah mentions their abhorrent actions, then states that despite that they praise themselves and are certain that they will be saved from the punishment of Allah and will be granted His reward, and that the fire will only touch them for a few days, which are so few that they may be counted on the fingers. Thus they combined evil-doing with the feeling that they would be safe from the consequences thereof.

Because this was no more than a mere claim, Allah (ﷻ) refuted them by saying:

«Say» to them, O Messenger: «Have you received a covenant from Allah» whereby you have pledged to believe in Him and in His Messengers, and to obey Him? This is the covenant that would lead to salvation, a covenant that cannot be changed or altered.

«Or are you saying about Allah things of which you have no real knowledge?». Here Allah (ﷻ) tells them that the truth of their claim is connected to one of these two matters, and there is no third option: either they have a covenant from Allah, in which case their claim is true, or they are saying something unfounded about Allah, in which case their claim is false. This exposes them to greater disgrace and a more severe punishment. It is known from their situation that they have no covenant from Allah, because they rejected many of the Prophets, to the extent that they killed a number of them. Because of their refusal to obey Allah and their breaking of covenants, there is only one possibility, which is that they are fabricators and liars who say about Allah what they do not know, and speaking of Allah without knowledge is one of the gravest and most abhorrent of forbidden actions.

Then Allah (ﷻ) outlines a general ruling that is applicable to all, including the Children of Israel and others. This is the ruling and there is no other; there is no room for their wishful thinking and their claims as to who will be doomed and who will be saved. Allah says: ﴿Nay﴾, the matter is not as you say, for your claim is unfounded. Rather ﴿those who do evil﴾. This may include shirk (association of others with Allah) and lesser sins, but what is meant here is shirk, based on the fact that Allah then says ﴿and are encompassed by their sin﴾. What is meant is that it encompasses the one who does it, leaving no way out. This is only applicable in the case of shirk, because the one who believes cannot be encompassed by his sin. ﴿will be the inhabitants of the fire; they will abide therein forever﴾. The Kharijites<sup>10</sup> quote this verse as evidence that anyone who commits sin becomes a disbeliever. But this is proof against them, as you may see, because it clearly refers to shirk. This is the case with every follower of falsehood who quotes a verse or ṣaḥeeḥ hadith to support his false notion; what he quotes as evidence will inevitably contain evidence against him.

﴿But those who believe﴾ in Allah, His angels, His Books, His Messengers and the Last Day
 ﴿and do righteous deeds﴾ – deeds cannot be righteous unless they meet two conditions: they should be done sincerely for the sake of Allah and in accordance with the Sunnah of His Messenger (ﷺ).

<sup>10</sup> Kharijite: The Kharijites are an extremist group who were former members of ‘Ali’s army who rebelled against ‘Ali (ﷺ) after he accepted arbitration. They held extreme views that led them to regard the majority of Muslims as disbelievers.

To sum up the meaning of these two verses, those who will attain salvation and victory are those who believe and do righteous deeds; those who will be doomed to hell are those who associate others with Allah and disbelieve in Him.

2:83. And [remember] when We took a covenant from the Children of Israel [saying]: Do not worship anyone but Allah; show kindness to your parents and kindred, and to orphans and those in need; speak good words to people; establish prayer; and give zakâh. Then you turned away, except a few of you, and paid no heed.

These teachings are among the basic principles of faith, which Allah has enjoined upon all nations because they contain that which is in the public interest at all times and in all places. So they are not subject to abrogation, because they are fundamental to the religion. Hence Allah enjoined them upon us when He said:

﴿Worship Allah, and do not ascribe any partner to Him...﴾ (an-Nisâ' 4: 36)

﴿And [remember] when We took a covenant from the Children of Israel﴾. That was because of their hard-heartedness; whatever command was enjoined upon them, they were reluctant to obey and would not do it unless they were made to give a solemn covenant and binding promises.

﴿[saying]: Do not worship anyone but Allah﴾. This is a command to worship Allah alone and a prohibition on associating anything with Him. This is the fundamental basis of Islam and no deeds are acceptable if they are not based on that. This is the right that Allah (ﷻ) has over His slaves.

﴿show kindness to your parents﴾ – this includes all types of kindness in word and deed, and implicitly forbids mistreating parents. What is obligatory is treating them kindly, and a command to do something implies prohibition of the opposite.

There are two opposites to kind treatment: mistreatment, which is the greater offence, and failing to show kindness without mistreatment, which is haram but is not as bad as the former. The same may be said with regard to upholding ties of kinship with relatives, orphans and the needy. Kindness may be defined but not quantified, as we shall see below.

Then Allah enjoined kindness towards people in general: ﴿speak good words to people﴾. Speaking good words to people includes enjoining them to do good, forbidding them to do evil, teaching them (beneficial knowledge), greeting them with salâm, smiling at them and so on.

As it is not possible for an individual to be kind to all people by monetary means, Allah has enjoined kindness that one may do to all others, namely kindness in words. That also implies that it is prohibited to say bad words to people, even the disbelievers. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Do not dispute with the People of the Book except in the most courteous manner...﴾ (al- 'Ankaboot 29: 46)

Part of the discipline and good manners that Allah has enjoined upon His slaves is that the individual should be dignified in his words and deeds, and not behave or speak in an indecent, offensive, insulting or argumentative manner. Rather he should have a good attitude, and be forbearing, easy-going with everyone, and patient in the face of any annoyance he encounters from people, in obedience to the command of Allah and in hope of attaining His reward.

Then Allah enjoined them to establish prayer and give zakâh, because of what has been discussed above, namely that prayer is indicative of sincere devotion to Allah and zakâh is indicative of kindness towards other people.

«Then» after these are good commands which, if one who has insight and wisdom ponders them, he will realise that Allah enjoined them upon His slaves out of kindness and mercy towards them, and He took a covenant from you, but «you turned away», not caring at all about the matter. It may be that the one who turns away does so with the intention of coming back, but these people had no desire to come back to these commands. We seek refuge with Allah from misguidance.

«except a few of you». This exception is noted, lest anyone think that all of them turned away; this tells us that Allah protected a few of them and made them steadfast.

- 2:84. And remember We took your covenant [saying]: Do not shed one another's blood or drive one another from your homes, and you confirmed it, and you bear witness to that.
- 2:85. Yet here you are, killing one another and driving a group of your own people out of their homes, helping their enemies against them, in sin and transgression; and if they come to you as captives, you ransom them, when it was forbidden for you to expel them in the first place! Do you believe only in part of the Book and deny another part of it? The punishment for those among you who do this will be nothing but disgrace in this world and on the Day of Resurrection they will be condemned to the harshest punishment. For Allah is not unaware of what you do.
- 2:86. These are the people who buy the life of this world at the cost of the hereafter; their penalty will not be reduced nor will they be helped.

The deeds referred to in these verses are the deeds of those who lived in Madinah at the time of the revelation. Before the Prophet's mission began, al-Aws and al-Khazraj – who became the Anṣār – were polytheists who used to fight one another according to the customs of the jāhiliyah (pre-Islamic period). Three Jewish tribes – Banu Qurayyah, Banu an-Naḍeer and Banu Qaynuqâ' – came and settled there, and each of these tribes became allies of a group of the people of Madinah.

When they fought, each Jew would help his ally against his opponents, who had the help of another Jewish group. So one Jew might kill another or expel him from his home, in the event of expulsion and plunder. Then, when the war ended and there were prisoners on both sides, they would ransom one another.

These three things were enjoined upon them: they were instructed not to shed one another's blood or expel one another, and if there were prisoners from among them, it was an obligation upon them to ransom them. They did the latter, but did not fulfil the first two obligations.

Allah condemned them for that, and said: ﴿Do you believe only in part of the Book﴾ namely the ransom of prisoners ﴿and deny another part of it?﴾ namely (the prohibition on) killing and expelling one another.

This offers the strongest evidence that faith requires acting upon commands and heeding prohibitions, and that the deeds that are enjoined are part of faith. Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿The punishment for those among you who do this will be nothing but disgrace in this world﴾, which indeed came to pass. Allah requited them and gave His Messenger (ﷺ) power over them; he executed some of them, captured others and expelled some.

﴿and on the Day of Resurrection they will be condemned to the harshest﴾ that is, the most severe ﴿punishment. For Allah is not unaware of what you do﴾.

Then Allah (ﷻ) tells us the reason why they disbelieved in part of the Book and believed in other parts: ﴿These are the people who buy the life of this world at the cost of the hereafter﴾. They thought that if they did not help their allies, that would be a source of shame. So they chose the flames over shame. Hence Allah says: ﴿their penalty will not be reduced﴾ rather it will remain severe and there will be no time of respite; ﴿nor will they be helped﴾ that is, no harm will be ward off from them.

﴿وَلَقَدْ آتَيْنَا مُوسَى الْكِتَابَ وَقَفَّيْنَا مِنْ بَعْدِهِ بِالرُّسُلِ ۖ وَآتَيْنَا عِيسَى ابْنَ مَرْيَمَ الْبَيِّنَاتِ وَأَيْدِنَاهُ الرُّوحَ الْقُدُسَ ۖ أَفَكُلَّمَا جَاءَكُمْ رَسُولٌ بِمَا لَا تَهْوَى أَنْفُسُكُمْ اسْتَكْبَرْتُمْ ۖ فَفَرِيقًا كَذَّبْتُمْ وَفَرِيقًا تَقْتُلُونَ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٨٧)

2:87. We gave Moosâ the Book and sent a succession of Messengers after him; We gave 'Eesâ the son of Maryam clear signs and supported him with the Pure Spirit. Is it that whenever there came to you a Messenger with something that was not in accordance with your desires, you became arrogant; some you disbelieved, and others you killed?

Here Allah reminds the Children of Israel that He sent Moosâ to them and gave him the Torah; after him, He sent Messengers who ruled in accordance with the Torah, until He sent their final Prophet, 'Eesâ ibn Maryam (ﷺ), and gave him clear signs that would be sufficient proof for any human to believe in him.

«supported him with the Pure Spirit» that is, Allah strengthened him with the Pure Spirit.

The majority of commentators stated that this refers to Jibreel (ﷺ); others suggested that it refers to faith by means of which Allah supports His slaves.

Yet, despite these blessings that cannot be quantified, when the Messengers came to you, «with something that was not in accordance with your desires, you became arrogant» that is, you were too arrogant to believe in them.

«some» of them «you disbelieved, and others you killed», so you gave precedence to your whims and desires over guidance, and to this world over the hereafter. This is an obvious rebuke.

2:88. They say: Our hearts are impenetrably wrapped [against whatever you say]. Nay, Allah has cursed them for their disbelief; little is it they believe.

As their excuse for not believing that to which you, O Prophet, are calling them, they stated that their hearts are impenetrably wrapped. What is meant is that their hearts are covered over, so they do not understand what you say. In other words, they have an excuse – or so they say – for not understanding. But this is a lie on their part, hence Allah (ﷻ) said: ﴿Nay, Allah has cursed them for their disbelief﴾ that is, they are cast away and cursed because of their disbelief and the believers among them are few, or they have little faith and it is their disbelief that is prevalent.

 ﴿٨٩﴾ يَنْسِكُمَا أَسْرَوَا بِهِ أَنْفُسَهُمْ أَنْ يَكْفُرُوا بِمَا أَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ بَغْيًا أَنْ يَنْزِلَ اللَّهُ مِنْ فَضْلِهِ عَلَى مَنْ يَشَاءُ مِنْ عِبَادِهِ فَبَاءُوا بِغَضَبٍ عَلَى غَضَبٍ وَلِلْكَافِرِينَ عَذَابٌ مُّهِينٌ ﴿٩٠﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٨٩-٩٠)

- 2:89. And now that there has come to them a Book from Allah, confirming what is with them – although in the past they used to pray for victory against those who disbelieved – when there comes to them that which they recognise as truth, they disbelieve in it; the curse of Allah is upon the disbelievers.
- 2:90. How miserable is the price for which they have sold their souls, in that they reject that which Allah has sent down, out of resentment that Allah would send it down by His grace upon any of His slaves He chooses: Thus have they incurred wrath upon wrath. And for the disbelievers there will be a humiliating punishment.

That is, when a Book has come to them from Allah at the hands of the best of creation and the Seal of the Prophets, confirming that which is with them of the Torah, and they had prior knowledge of it and were certain of its coming – to the extent that if war broke out between them and the polytheists during the jāhiliyah, they would speak of the victory they would achieve when this Prophet (ﷺ) came, and warn them (the polytheists) about his imminent appearance and that they would fight the polytheists alongside him. But when this Book came to them, and the Prophet (ﷺ) whom they recognised, they rejected him out of resentment and envy that Allah would send it down, by His grace, upon whomever He willed among His slaves. So Allah cursed them and was angry with them, wrath upon wrath, because their disbelief was so great and because they kept doubting and associating others with Allah.

«And for the disbelievers there will be a humiliating» that is, painful «punishment», namely being thrown into hell and missing out on eternal bliss (in paradise). What a wretched situation they will be in, and what a bad deal they made when they gave up belief in Allah and in His Books and Messengers, and traded it for disbelief in Him and in His Books and Messengers, despite their knowledge and certainty. Thus their punishment will be more severe.

بِمَا وَرَّاءَهُ. وَهُوَ الْحَقُّ مُصَدِّقًا لِمَا مَعَهُمْ قُلْ فَلِمَ تقتُلُونَ أَنْبِيَاءَ اللَّهِ مِنْ قَبْلُ إِنْ
كُنْتُمْ مُؤْمِنِينَ ﴿١١﴾ وَلَقَدْ جَاءَكُمْ مُوسَى بِالْبَيِّنَاتِ ثُمَّ اتَّخَذْتُمُ الْعِجْلَ
مِنْ بَعْدِهِ وَأَنْتُمْ ظَالِمُونَ ﴿١٢﴾ وَإِذْ أَخَذْنَا مِيثَاقَكُمْ وَرَفَعْنَا فَوْقَكُمُ
الطُّورَ خُذُوا مَا آتَيْنَاكُمْ بِقُوَّةٍ وَاسْمَعُوا قَالُوا سَمِعْنَا وَعَصَيْنَا وَأَشْرَبُوا

فِي قُلُوبِهِمُ الْعِجْلَ بِكُفْرِهِمْ قُلْ يَسْكَا يَا مَرْكُم بِهِ إِيمَانُكُمْ إِنْ
 كُنْتُمْ مُؤْمِنِينَ ﴿٩٣﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٩١-٩٣)

- 2:91. When it is said to them: Believe in that which Allah has revealed, they say: We believe in that which was revealed to us; yet they disbelieve in that which came after it, even though it is truth confirming that which is with them. Say: Why then did you kill the Prophets of Allah in the past, if you were indeed believers?
- 2:92. Moosâ came to you with clear signs, yet in his absence you took the calf [for worship] and thus became transgressors.
- 2:93. And [remember] when We took a covenant from you and We raised the Mount above you, [saying]: Hold fast to that which We have given you and listen, they said: We hear and we disobey. And their hearts were filled with love of the calf, because of their disbelief. Say: How wretched is that which your faith commands you to do, if you are believers.

That is, when the Jews were commanded to believe in that which Allah had sent down to His Messenger (ﷺ), namely the Qur'an, they were arrogant and refused, saying: «We believe in that which was revealed to us; yet they disbelieve in that which came after it» of other Books, even though what they should have done was believe in everything that Allah revealed, whether it was revealed to them or to others. That is beneficial faith, belief in what Allah has revealed to all the Messengers of Allah.

As for differentiating between the Messengers and the Books, claiming to believe in some but not others, this is not faith; rather it is the essence of disbelief. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says:

«Those who disbelieve in Allah and His Messengers, and want to make a distinction between [belief in] Allah and [belief in] His Messengers, and say: We believe in some and disbelieve in others

– and seek to adopt a way in between, it is they who are indeed disbelievers...﴾ (an-Nisā' 4: 150-151)

Hence Allah (ﷻ) rebuked them emphatically here, with such a strong argument that they could not evade it. He responded to their disbelief in the Qur'an in two ways: He said ﴿even though it is truth﴾ – so if it is truth in all that it contains of stories, commands and prohibitions, and it is from their Lord, then disbelieving in it after that is disbelief in Allah and rejection of the truth that He sent down.

Then He said ﴿confirming that which is with them﴾ that is, in accordance with it in everything that is true and correct, and with final authority over them (previous scriptures). So why do you believe in that which was revealed to you, but you reject that which is equal to it? Can this be anything other than bias and following whims and desires instead of guidance? Moreover, if the Qur'an confirms that which is with them, this is proof for what they have of Books, and they have no way of proving (that their books were originally revealed from Allah) except through the Qur'an. So if they disbelieve in it and reject it, they become like one who made a claim on the basis of proof, and had no other basis for it; his claim cannot be accepted unless his proof is sound, then he examines his proof and argument, and finds them flawed so he rejects them. Is this not foolishness and insanity? Therefore their rejection of the Qur'an is akin to rejection of what they have in their own hands, and undermines it.

Then Allah demonstrated that the claim to believe in what was revealed to them was baseless, as He said:

﴿Say﴾ to them ﴿Why then did you kill the Prophets of Allah in the past, if you were indeed believers? Moosā came to you with clear signs﴾ that is, he brought clear evidence that pointed to the truth.

﴿yet in his absence﴾ that is, after he had left, ﴿you took the calf [for worship] and thus became transgressors﴾, and you had no excuse for doing that.

«And [remember] when We took a covenant from you and We raised the Mount above you, [saying]: Hold fast to that which We have given you and listen» that is, listen to it, accept it, obey and respond «they said: We hear and we disobey» that is, this is how they were. «And their hearts were filled with love of the calf» that is, love of the calf and love of worshipping it was instilled in their hearts, because of their disbelief.

«Say: How wretched is that which your faith commands you to do, if you are believers» that is, you claim to believe and boast about having the true religion, yet you killed the Prophets of Allah and took the calf as a god instead of Allah, when your Prophet Moosâ was absent from you, and you did not accept his commands and prohibitions except after receiving threats and after the Mount was raised above you. Then you paid lip service to commitment, but your actions contradicted that. So what is this faith that you claim to have, and what is this religion?

If this is faith, as you claim, then how wretched is the faith that calls its followers to transgression, disbelief in the Messengers of Allah and great disobedience, when it is well known that true faith enjoins its followers to do all that is good and forbids them to do all that is evil. Thus their lies were highlighted and the contradiction (between their words and deeds) became evident.

﴿قُلْ إِنْ كَانَتْ لَكُمْ الدَّارُ الْآخِرَةُ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ خَالِصَةً مِّنْ دُونِ النَّاسِ فَتَمَنَّوُا الْمَوْتَ إِنْ كُنْتُمْ صَادِقِينَ ﴿٩٦﴾ وَلَنْ يَتَمَنَّوَهُ أَبَدًا بِمَا قَدَّمْت أَيْدِيهِمْ وَاللَّهُ عَلِيمٌ بِالظَّالِمِينَ ﴿٩٧﴾ وَلَنَجْذِثَهُمْ أَخْرَصَ النَّاسِ عَلَى حَيَوتِهِمِ مِنَ الَّذِينَ أَشْرَكُوا يَوْمَ أَحَدُهُمْ لَوْ يُعَمَّرُ أَلْفَ سَنَةٍ وَمَا هُوَ بِمُرَزَّحٍ مِنْهُ مِنَ الْعَذَابِ أَنْ يُعَمَّرَ وَاللَّهُ بَصِيرٌ بِمَا يَعْمَلُونَ ﴿٩٨﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٩٤-٩٦)

- 2:94. Say: If the final abode with Allah is yours alone, to the exclusion of all others, then wish for death, if you are sincere.
- 2:95. But they will never wish for death, because of what their own hands have sent on before them, and Allah is fully aware of the transgressors.
- 2:96. You will surely find them, of all people, most greedy for life, even more than the polytheists. Each one of them wishes that he could be granted a life of a thousand years, but his being granted such a long life will not save him from punishment. For Allah sees well all that they do.

﴿Say﴾ that is, tell them, by way of correcting their false claims ﴿If the final abode with Allah﴾ namely paradise ﴿is yours alone, to the exclusion of all others﴾, as you claim that no one will enter paradise except those who are Jews or Christians, and that the fire of hell will only touch them for a few days (2: 80), so if you are telling the truth, ﴿then wish for death﴾. This is a kind of challenge between them and the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ).

After having been cornered and pressured in response to their stubbornness, they are left with only one of two choices: either to believe in Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ), or to accept the challenge, which is to wish for death which will bring them to that abode that is exclusively theirs (according to their claim). But they refused to do that.

Thus it is established that they are in a state of extreme stubbornness and opposition to Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ), despite the fact that they are aware of what they are doing. Hence Allah (ﷻ) said: ﴿But they will never wish for death, because of what their own hands have sent on before them﴾ of disbelief and sin; they are well aware that this is a path that will lead them to the requital for their evil deeds. Hence death was the most hateful of things to them and they were greedier for life than anyone else, even the polytheists who did not believe in any of the Messengers or Books.

Then Allah mentioned the intensity of their love for this world: «Each one of them wishes that he could be granted a life of a thousand years». This highlights how eager they were to live, as they wished for something that is impossible. However, even if they were to live for that number of years, it would not avail them anything or ward off any of the punishment.

«For Allah sees well all that they do» – this is a threat to them of punishment for their deeds.

﴿قُلْ مَنْ كَانَ عَدُوًّا لِجِبْرِيلَ فَإِنَّهُ نَزَّلَهُ عَلَى قَلْبِكَ بِإِذْنِ اللَّهِ مُصَدِّقًا لِمَا بَيْنَ يَدَيْهِ وَهُدًى وَبُشْرَىٰ لِلْمُؤْمِنِينَ ﴿٩٧﴾ مَنْ كَانَ عَدُوًّا لِلَّهِ وَمَلَائِكَتِهِ وَرُسُلِهِ وَجِبْرِيلَ وَمِيكَالَ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ عَدُوٌّ لِلْكَافِرِينَ ﴿٩٨﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٩٧-٩٨)

2:97. Say: Whoever is an enemy to Jibreel – for he brings down the [revelation] to your heart by Allah's leave, a confirmation of what came before it, and guidance and glad tidings to the believers –

2:98. Whoever is an enemy to Allah and His angels and Messengers, to Jibreel and Meekâl [Meekâ'eel], then indeed, Allah is an enemy to the disbelievers.

That is, say to these Jews, who claim that what is preventing them from believing in you is the fact that your protector is Jibreel (جبريل), and if it were anyone else among the angels of Allah, they would have believed in you, that this claim of yours is flawed and self-contradictory, and it is arrogance towards Allah. That is because Jibreel (جبريل) is the one who brought down the Qur'an to your heart from Allah, and he is the one who came down to the Prophets before you; he is the one whom Allah commanded and sent to do that. Hence he is primarily a Messenger. Furthermore, this Book that Jibreel brought down confirms the scriptures that came before it, and does not differ from them or contradict them; it contains complete guidance away from all types of misguidance, and glad tidings of good in this world and in the hereafter for those who believe in it. Hence enmity towards Jibreel, who is described thus, constitutes disbelief in Allah and His signs, and it is enmity towards Allah and towards His Messengers and angels. Their enmity towards Jibreel was not because of who he is; rather it was because of what he brought down of the truth from Allah to the Messengers of Allah. Hence that enmity implies disbelief in and enmity towards the One Who sent him, the message with which he was sent and the one to whom he was sent.

2:99. We have sent down to you clear signs; and none reject them but the evildoers.

Here Allah says to His Prophet (ﷺ): ﴿We have sent down to you clear signs﴾, by means of which the one who seeks guidance will find it, and so as to establish proof against those who stubbornly refuse (to follow guidance). This is such clear guidance to the truth that no one could refuse to accept but an evildoer who rebels against the command of Allah, refuses to obey Him and is extremely arrogant.

﴿أَوَكُلَّمَا عَاهَدُوا عَهْدًا بَدَّاهُمْ فَرِيقٌ مِّنْهُمْ بَلْ أَكْثَرُهُمْ لَا يُؤْمِنُونَ﴾

2:100. Is it not so that every time they make a covenant, some of them cast it aside? In fact, most of them do not believe.

This is an expression of astonishment at how often they made covenants but did not have the patience to fulfil them. The phrase «every time» is indicative of something that happened repeatedly. Every time they made a covenant, the outcome was that they broke it. What was the reason for that? The reason was that most of them did not believe, and it is their lack of faith that caused them to break the covenants. If they had been sincere in faith, they would have been like those of whom Allah says:

﴿Among the believers are men who have been true to their covenant with Allah...﴾ (al-Ahzāb 33: 23)

يَعْلَمُونَ ﴿١٠٢﴾ وَلَوْ أَنَّهُمْ ءَامَنُوا وَاتَّقَوْا لَمَثُوبَةٌ مِّنْ عِندِ اللَّهِ خَيْرٌ لَّوْ كَانُوا يَعْلَمُونَ ﴿١٠٣﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٠١-١٠٣)

- 2:101. And when there came to them a Messenger from Allah, confirming that which was with them, some of those who had been given the Book cast the Book of Allah behind their backs as if they had no knowledge.
- 2:102. They followed that which the devils used to read [of books of magic] during the reign of Sulaymân. It was not Sulaymân who disbelieved; rather the devils disbelieved and taught men magic, and such things as had come down at Babylon to the two angels Hâroot and Mâroot. But these two never taught anyone without [first] saying: We are but a trial, so do not disbelieve. They learned from them the means of sowing discord between a man and his wife, but they could not harm anyone thereby except by Allah's leave. They learned that which harmed them, and did not benefit them, knowing full well that whoever dealt in it [magic] would have no share in the hereafter. How wretched was the price for which they sold their souls, if only they knew.
- 2:103. If they had believed and feared Allah, the reward from Allah would have been better, if only they knew.

When this noble Messenger (ﷺ) brought to them this great Book that was based on truth and was in harmony with that which they had, that was at a time when they claimed to be adhering to their scripture. But when they disbelieved in this Messenger (ﷺ) and that which he brought, ﴿some of those who had been given the Book cast the Book of Allah﴾, which had been sent down to them, ﴿behind their backs﴾, and showed no interest in it. This description is more emphatic than saying that they turned away from it. By doing this, it was as if they were among the ignorant, when in fact they were well aware that it was true.

Thus it becomes clear that this group among the People of the Book were not adhering to anything, because they did not believe in this Messenger (ﷺ). Hence their disbelief in him was tantamount to disbelief in their own scriptures, but they did not realise that.

It is a regular part of Allah's decree, which is based on divine wisdom, that if a person forsakes that which might have benefitted him, and he was able to benefit from it but did not, then he will be caused to deal with that which is harmful to him. The one who fails to worship Allah will end up worshipping idols; the one who fails to love, fear and put his hope in Allah will end up loving, fearing and putting his hope in something other than Allah; the one who fails to spend his wealth in obedience to Allah will spend it in obedience to the Shayṭān; the one who fails to show humility towards his Lord will end up being humiliated by other people; the one who fails to follow the truth will end up following falsehood.

Thus these Jews followed what the devils used to read (of the books of magic) during the reign of Sulaymān. These devils brought magic to people and claimed that Sulaymān used to use it and achieved great power by means of it, but they were lying. Sulaymān did not use magic; rather Allah declared him to be innocent of that, as He said: ﴿It was not Sulaymān who disbelieved﴾ by learning magic, for he did not learn it. ﴿rather the devils disbelieved﴾ by doing that, ﴿and taught men magic﴾ so as to misguide them, and out of their eagerness to tempt the sons of Adam.

Similarly, the Jews practised that magic that had come down to the two angels who lived at Babylon, in the land of Iraq. Magic was sent down to them as a test and a trial from Allah to His slaves. So (these two angels) taught them magic, ﴿But these two never taught anyone without [first]﴾ advising him and ﴿saying: We are but a trial; so do not disbelieve﴾ that is, do not learn magic, for it is disbelief. So they would tell him not to learn magic, and they would inform him of how bad it was. The devils' teaching of magic was aimed at confusing and misguiding people, and they attributed it to one whom Allah declared innocent of that, namely Sulaymān (ﷺ). In contrast, the angels' teaching of magic was as a test, after they offered advice, so as to leave no excuse.

These Jews practised the magic that had been taught by the devils and that which had been taught by the two angels; thus they ignored the knowledge brought by the Prophets and Messengers, turning instead to the knowledge of the devils. Every individual aspires to that which suits his nature.

Then Allah mentions the evil consequences of magic, as He says: ﴿They learned from them the means of sowing discord between a man and his wife﴾ even though the love between spouses cannot be compared to any other love, because Allah says concerning them:

﴿...and He has instilled love and compassion between you...﴾ (ar-Room 30: 21)

This indicates that magic is something real, and that it may cause harm by Allah's leave, if He wills it. Allah's leave is of two types: that which has to do with the divine decree, and is connected to the will of Allah, as in this verse; and that which has to do with the laws prescribed by Allah, as referred to in the previous verse: ﴿for he brings down the [revelation] to your heart by Allah's leave﴾ (2: 97).

In this and similar verses, it states that no matter how powerful the means may be, they are still subject to the divine will and decree, and are not independent in their effect. No one among the Ummah differed with regard to this principle apart from the Qadaris, who said that people's deeds are independent and are not subject to the divine will, and thus they excluded people's deeds from the divine decree, thereby going against the Book of Allah, the Sunnah of His Messenger (ﷺ) and the consensus of the Companions and tābi'een.

Then Allah states that magic is purely harmful, with no benefits, either spiritual or worldly. There may be some worldly benefits in some sins, as Allah says with regard to alcohol and gambling: ﴿Say: In them is great sin, and some benefit for people; but the sin is greater than the benefit﴾ (2: 219).

But magic is purely harmful, so there is no need for it at all. All forbidden things are either completely harmful, or their evil consequences outweigh any benefit in them. By the same token, everything that is enjoined is either completely good, or its good consequences outweigh any bad.

﴿knowing full well﴾ that is, the Jews were well aware ﴿that whoever dealt in it [magic] would have no share in the hereafter﴾ that is, rather he would be subject to punishment. They did not do it out of ignorance; rather it was because they preferred the life of this world to the hereafter.

﴿How wretched was the price for which they sold their souls, if only they knew﴾ that is, if only they had had the kind of knowledge that would lead to righteous deeds, then they would not have done that.

2:104. O you who believe, do not say [to the Messenger]: râ'inâ; rather say: undhurnâ<sup>11</sup>, and listen. For the disbelievers there will be a painful punishment.

<sup>11</sup> Râ'inâ means "Listen to us"; undhurnâ means "Look at us". Both words convey the meaning of "Pay attention to us", but with a slight twist in =

2:105. It is never the wish of the disbelievers among the People of the Book, or of the polytheists, that anything good should come down to you from your Lord. But Allah singles out for His mercy whomever He wills – for Allah is Possessor of abundant grace.

When the Muslims addressed the Messenger (ﷺ) as he was teaching them about their religion, they would say: râ'inâ, meaning pay attention to us, giving the word an acceptable meaning. The Jews, however, gave the same word an offensive meaning; they took advantage of this opportunity to address the Messenger (ﷺ) with this word, intending the offensive meaning. So Allah told the believers not to use this word, so as to put a stop to this problem. This shows us that something permissible may be disallowed, if it becomes a means that leads to something haram. It also shows us that we should adopt good manners and use words that can only be interpreted in a good way; we should also avoid foul speech and offensive words, or words that are ambiguous and may be interpreted in an inappropriate manner. So Allah instructed them to use words that could only be interpreted in a good way, as He said:

﴿rather say undhurnâ﴾, for this word is sufficient to convey the desired meaning without any reservations.

﴿and listen﴾. Who or what is to be listened to is not specified, so as to include everything that it is enjoined to listen to, such as the Qur'an and Sunnah. We should listen to them, understand them and respond to them. This is proper manners and obedience.

Then Allah warns the disbelievers of the painful punishment, and speaks of the enmity of the Jews and polytheists towards the believers, for they do not wish that ﴿anything good﴾ whether it be great or small ﴿should come down to you from your Lord﴾. This stems from envy and resentment on their part because Allah has singled you out for His grace. For He is «Possessor of abundant grace»; by His grace towards you, He sent down the Book to your Messenger (ﷺ), in order to purify you, teach you the Book and wisdom, and teach you that which you did not know. To Him be all praise.

= pronunciation, the former had an offensive meaning in Hebrew, which the Jews took advantage of to mock the Prophet (ﷺ). Hence the believers were instructed to use a word that could not be twisted in this manner.

﴿ مَا نَنْسَخْ مِنْ آيَةٍ أَوْ نُنسِهَا نَأْتِ بِخَيْرٍ مِنْهَا أَوْ مِثْلَهَا أَلَمْ تَعْلَمْ أَنَّ اللَّهَ عَلَى كُلِّ شَيْءٍ قَدِيرٌ ﴾ ﴿١٦﴾ أَلَمْ تَعْلَمْ أَنَّ اللَّهَ لَهُ مُلْكُ السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ وَمَا لَكُمْ مِنْ دُونِ اللَّهِ مِنْ وَلِيٍّ وَلَا نَصِيرٍ ﴿١٧﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٠٦-١٠٧)

- 2:106. Whenever We abrogate a verse or cause it to be forgotten, We bring one better than it or one equal to it. Do you not know that Allah has power over all things?
- 2:107. Do you not know that to Allah belongs the dominion of the heavens and the earth, and besides Him you have neither protector nor helper?

The Arabic word naskh (translated here as “abrogation”) means moving or shifting. What is meant by abrogation is shifting the accountable (that is, adults of sound mind) from one Islamic ruling to another, or cancelling the ruling altogether. The Jews do not accept the idea of abrogation, and they say that it is not permissible, even though it is mentioned in their Torah. The rejection of it constitutes disbelief, and is pure whims and desires.

Allah (ﷻ) tells us of His wisdom in ordaining abrogation, and that He does not abrogate any verse «for cause it to be forgotten», that is, cause people to forget it and remove it from their hearts, but He «bring[s] one better than it» and more beneficial, «for one equal to it».

This indicates that abrogation does not detract from what is in your best interests, because His grace and bounty always increases, especially for this Ummah, for which He has made its religion very easy.

He tells us that whoever objects to the concept of abrogation is underestimating His sovereignty and power, as He says:

﴿Do you not know that Allah has power over all things? Do you not know that to Allah belongs the dominion of the heavens and the earth﴾?

If He is in control of you and of your affairs, and He directs your affairs on the basis of kindness and mercy when issuing His decrees, commands and prohibitions, then just as there is no restriction with regard to what He decrees for His slaves, by the same token no one should object to what He prescribes for His slaves of different kinds of rulings. The individual is under the control of his Lord, subject to His religious rulings and divine decrees. So how can he have any objections?

Moreover, He is also the protector and helper of His slaves; so He helps them to attain that which is in their best interests and supports them in warding off harm from them. One aspect of His being their protector is that He prescribes rulings for them as dictated by His wisdom and mercy towards them.

The one who ponders what happened of abrogation in the Qur'an and Sunnah will come to know thereby the wisdom of Allah and His mercy towards His slaves, for He helps them to attain that which is in their best interests in ways that they do not realise.

﴿أَمْ تُرِيدُونَ أَنْ تَسْأَلُوا رَسُولَكُمْ كَمَا سَأَلَ مُوسَىٰ مِنْ قَبْلُ وَمَنْ يَبْدَلِ
الْكُفْرَ بِالْإِيمَانِ فَقَدْ ضَلَّ سَوَاءَ السَّبِيلِ ۝۱۸﴾ وَكَثِيرٌ مِّنْ أَهْلِ

 مِنْ بَعْدِ مَا بَيَّنَّ لَهُمُ الْحَقُّ فَاعْفُوا وَاصْفَحُوا حَتَّى يَأْتِيَ اللَّهُ بِأَمْرٍ إِنَّ اللَّهَ عَلَى
 كُلِّ شَيْءٍ قَدِيرٌ ﴿١٠٩﴾ وَأَقِيمُوا الصَّلَاةَ وَآتُوا الزَّكَاةَ وَمَا تُقَدِّمُوا لِأَنْفُسِكُمْ مِنْ
 خَيْرٍ نَجِدُوهُ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ إِنَّ اللَّهَ بِمَا تَعْمَلُونَ بَصِيرٌ ﴿١١٠﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٠٨-١١٠)

- 2:108. Do you want to question your Messenger just as Moosâ was questioned before? Whoever exchanges faith for disbelief has strayed from the right path.
- 2:109. Many among the People of the Book wish they could turn you back to disbelief after you have believed, out of the envy they have in their hearts, after the truth has become clear to them. But forgive and overlook until Allah gives His command; for Allah has power over all things.
- 2:110. And establish prayer and give zakâh, and whatever good you send forth for your souls, you will find it with Allah, for Allah sees well all that you do.

Here Allah forbids the believers, or the Jews, to question their Messenger ﴿as Moosâ was questioned before﴾. What is referred to here is questioning by way of causing annoyance or raising objections, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿The People of the Book ask you to bring down for them a book from heaven. Indeed, they asked Moosâ for something even greater than that, when they said: Let us see Allah with our own eyes...﴾
 (an-Nisâ' 4: 153)

﴿O you who believe, do not ask questions about matters which, if they were made known to you, would only cause you hardship...﴾
 (al-Mā'idah 5: 101)

This and similar matters are forbidden.

With regard to asking in order to learn and understand, this is something praiseworthy and was enjoined by Allah when He said:

﴿...So [O people] ask those who have knowledge, if you do not know.﴾ (an-Nahl 16: 43)

This is something of which He approves, as He says: ﴿They ask you about intoxicants and gambling﴾ (2: 219). And: ﴿They ask you concerning [the property of] orphans﴾ (2: 220). And so on.

Because the kind of asking that is forbidden is blameworthy, it may lead the one who asks to disbelief, as Allah says: ﴿Whoever exchanges faith for disbelief has strayed from the right path﴾.

Then He tells them about the envy of many of the People of the Book, which has reached such a point that they wished ﴿they could turn you back to disbelief after you have believed﴾, and they strove to achieve that, plotting and planning, but their plot backfired on them, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿A group among the People of the Book say: [Claim to] believe in the morning in what is revealed to the believers, but reject it at the end of the day; perhaps they may turn back [from Islam].﴾ (Āl 'Imrān 3: 72)

That was because of the envy they had in their hearts.

Hence Allah enjoined the believers to respond to their extreme mistreatment with forgiveness and to overlook it until He gave His command.

Then after that, Allah gave His command to them to fight in jihad. Thus Allah gave the believers the satisfaction of settling the score with them. So they killed some, took some prisoner and expelled others. ﴿for Allah has power over all things﴾.

Then Allah commanded them to make the most of the present time by establishing the prayer, giving zakāh and doing all kinds of acts of worship. He promised them that whatever they did of good would never be lost with Allah; rather they would find it with Him in abundance, as He would preserve it. ﴿for Allah sees well all that you do﴾.

- 2:111. And they say: No one will enter paradise unless he is a Jew or a Christian. That is their own wishful thinking. Say: Produce your evidence if you are telling the truth.
- 2:112. Nay, whoever submits himself [completely] to Allah and is a doer of good will have his reward with his Lord; they will have no fear, nor will they grieve.

That is, the Jews said: No one will ever enter paradise except one who is a Jew. The Christians said: No one will ever enter paradise except one who is a Christian. Thus they ruled that paradise was for them alone. But this was just wishful thinking that cannot be accepted unless it is accompanied by proof and evidence. So ﴿Produce your evidence if you are telling the truth﴾.

The same applies to anyone who makes a claim; he must supply proof to the validity of his claim, otherwise if it was met by an opposing claim from someone else, and he had no proof either, then there would be no difference between the two. Evidence is that which proves or disproves a claim; as they have no proof, it is known that this claim of theirs is false.

Then Allah describes the ruling that is based on clear proof, which is general in application, as He says: ﴿Nay﴾, the matter is not as you wish or claim. Rather ﴿whoever submits himself [completely] to Allah﴾ that is, is sincere to Allah alone in his deeds and turns to Him with all his heart

﴿and﴾ in addition to his sincerity ﴿is a doer of good﴾ with regard to worshipping his Lord, in that he worships Him as He has prescribed – these are the only ones who are the people of paradise.

﴿[he] will have his reward with his Lord﴾ which is paradise, with all that it contains of delights

﴿they will have no fear, nor will they grieve﴾, for they will have attained that which they seek and will have been saved from that which they fear.

From this we may understand that whoever is not like that is one of the people of hell who are doomed, for there is no salvation except for those who are sincere towards Allah and follow the Messenger (ﷺ).

﴿وَقَالَتِ الْيَهُودُ لَيْسَتِ النَّصْرَىٰ عَلَىٰ شَيْءٍ وَقَالَتِ النَّصْرَىٰ لَيْسَتِ الْيَهُودُ عَلَىٰ شَيْءٍ وَهُمْ يَتْلُونَ الْكِتَابَ ۚ كَذَلِكَ قَالَ الَّذِينَ لَا يَعْلَمُونَ مِثْلَ قَوْلِهِمْ ۚ قَالَ اللَّهُ يَحْكُمُ بَيْنَهُمْ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ فِيمَا كَانُوا فِيهِ يَخْتَلِفُونَ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١١٣)

- 2:113. The Jews say: The Christians have nothing to stand on, and the Christians say: The Jews have nothing to stand on, although they both read the scripture, and those who have no knowledge say something similar; but on the Day of Resurrection Allah will judge between them concerning that wherein they differ.

Whims and desires and envy among the People of the Book reached such a degree that they regarded one another as misguided disbelievers, as the unlettered among the polytheist Arabs also did.

Other groups also made similar claims, so each group regarded others as misguided, but in the hereafter Allah will judge between those who differed on the basis of the fair principle mentioned above (2: 112), as He has told His slaves. Therefore there will be no success or salvation on the Day of Resurrection except for those who believed in all the Prophets and Messengers, and obeyed the commands of their Lord and heeded His prohibitions. Anyone other than these is doomed.

﴿وَمَنْ أَظْلَمُ مِمَّن مَّنَعَ مَسْجِدَ اللَّهِ أَنْ يُذْكَرَ فِيهَا اسْمُهُ وَسَعَىٰ فِي خَرَابِهَا أُولَٰئِكَ مَا كَانَ لَهُمْ أَنْ يَدْخُلُوهَا إِلَّا خَائِفِينَ لَهُمْ فِي الدُّنْيَا خِزْيٌ وَلَهُمْ فِي الْآخِرَةِ عَذَابٌ عَظِيمٌ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١١٤)

2:114. And who does greater wrong than one who prevents Allah's name from being mentioned in His places of worship and strives to bring about their ruin? Such people do not deserve to enter them except in fear. For them there is disgrace in this world and grievous punishment in the hereafter.

That is, there is no one who does greater wrong or commits a greater offence than one who prevents mention of Allah, establishment of prayer and other acts of devotion in His places of worship.

﴿and strives﴾ that is, tries hard and does his utmost ﴿to bring about their ruin﴾ in both a physical and metaphorical sense. Physical ruin means destroying and demolishing them, and making them dirty by throwing rubbish into them. Metaphorical ruin means preventing people from mentioning Allah's name therein. This is general in meaning, and applies to everyone who meets this description. That includes the people of the elephant, and Quraysh when they prevented the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) from reaching the Kaaba in the year of al-Hudaybiyah. It also includes the Christians when they destroyed Bayt al-Maqdis, and other evildoers who strive to destroy places of worship, in opposition to Allah and by way of challenging Him. Hence Allah requited them by preventing them from entering it, as prescribed in Sharia and as He decrees, except in a state of fear and humiliation. Because they terrorised the slaves of Allah, Allah cast fear in their hearts. When the polytheists prevented the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) from reaching Makkah, it was not long before Allah gave permission to His Messenger (ﷺ) to conquer Makkah and prevent the polytheists from coming near His House, as He said:

﴿O you who believe, truly the polytheists are impure, so do not let them come near the Sacred Mosque after this [final] year...﴾
(at-Tawbah 9: 28)

As for the people of the elephant, Allah told us what happened to them; with regard to the Christians, Allah gave the believers power over them and they took Bayt al-Maqdis away from them.

This applies to everyone who meets this description; Allah's justice will inevitably overtake him. This is one of the great signs of which the Creator spoke before it happened, and it happened as foretold. The scholars quoted this verse as evidence that it is not permissible to permit the disbelievers to enter the mosques.

﴿For them there is disgrace﴾ that is, shame and scandal, as mentioned above, ﴿in this world and grievous punishment in the hereafter﴾.

As there is no one who does greater evil than those who prevent the name of Allah from being mentioned in His mosques, then there is no one who has greater faith than the one who strives to tend the mosques in both a physical and metaphorical sense, as Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿The mosques of Allah are only to be visited and tended by those who believe in Allah and the Last Day...﴾ (at-Tawbah 9: 18)

Indeed, Allah (ﷻ) enjoined that His houses should be venerated and honoured, as He says:

﴿[Such lamps are lit] in houses [mosques] which Allah has ordained to be built so that His name may be remembered therein...﴾ (an-Noor 24: 36)

There are many rules that apply to mosques, all of which are based on these verses.

﴿وَلِلَّهِ الْمَشْرِقُ وَالْمَغْرِبُ فَأَيْنَمَا تُولُوا فَثَمَّ وَجْهَ اللَّهِ إِنَّ اللَّهَ وَاسِعٌ عَلِيمٌ﴾

2:115. To Allah belong the east and the west, so wherever you turn, there is the Countenance of Allah. For Allah is All-Encompassing, All-Knowing.

The east and the west are singled out for mention here because they are the focal point of great signs, at which lights rise and set. So if Allah is in control of them, then He is in control of all directions.

«so wherever you turn» that is, whatever direction you face, if your taking of that particular direction is based on His command, then one of the following scenarios must apply:

Either He instructed you to face towards the Kaaba after you had been enjoined to face towards Bayt al-Maqdis; or you are enjoined to pray whilst travelling on your mounts and the like, in which case the qibla is whatever direction a person is facing; or an individual was confused about the qibla, and tried his best to work it out and pray in that direction, then he found out that he had got it wrong; or he is excused because he is being subjected to corporal punishment or he is sick and the like.

In all of these cases, the individual is either excused or is given particular instructions.

Whatever the case, whatever direction he takes cannot be beyond the dominion of his Lord.

«there is the Countenance of Allah. For Allah is All-Encompassing, All-Knowing». This is affirmation that Allah (ﷻ) does indeed have a Countenance or Face, in a manner that is befitting to Him, and that Allah has a Face that is not like the faces of His creation. Allah (ﷻ) is All-Encompassing in His grace and to Him belong all sublime attributes, and He knows what is in your hearts and your intentions.

Because He is All-Encompassing, All-Knowing, He has made things easy for you. To Him be all praise and thanks.

2:116. They say: Allah has taken unto Himself a son. Glory be to Him. Nay, to Him belongs all that is in the heavens and on earth; everything is subservient unto Him.

2:117. [He is] the Originator of the heavens and the earth: When He decrees a matter, He merely says to it, 'Be!' and it is.

«They» that is, the Jews, Christians and polytheists, and those who hold similar views

«say: Allah has taken unto Himself a son». They attributed to Him that which is not befitting to His Majesty, thus committing a grievous offence and wronging themselves. But Allah (ﷻ) responds to them with patience and forbearance, and grants them well-being and provision even though they say such terrible things that are contrary to His glory.

«Glory be to Him» – this is declaring Him to be holy and far above everything that the polytheists and transgressors attribute to Him that is not befitting to His Majesty. Glory be to the One Who is possessed of absolute perfection in all aspects and is not lacking in any way.

As well as refuting what they say, Allah establishes proof that He is far above that, as He says: ﴿Nay, to Him belongs all that is in the heavens and on earth﴾ that is, all of them are His possessions and slaves, and He disposes of their affairs in the manner of a master with his slaves; they are subservient to Him and subject to His control. As they are all His slaves and in need of Him, whereas He has no need of them, how can any of them be His son, when a son is inevitably of the same type as his father, because he is part of him?

Allah (ﷻ) is the Subduer and the Sovereign, and you are subservient slaves; He is Independent of means and you are in need of Him. So how, despite all this, can He have a son? This is the most abominable falsehood.

Being subservient to Allah is of two types: in a general sense, it means that all of creation is under His control; in a specific sense, it means worshipping Him alone.

Then He says: ﴿[He is] the Originator of the heavens and the earth﴾ that is, He is their Creator Who created them in a perfect manner without any precedent.

﴿When He decrees a matter, He merely says to it, 'Be!' and it is﴾; nothing can be too difficult for Him or be beyond His capability.

﴿وَقَالَ الَّذِينَ لَا يَعْلَمُونَ لَوْلَا يُكَلِّمُنَا اللَّهُ أَوْ تَأْتِينَا آيَةٌ كَذَلِكَ قَالَ الَّذِينَ مِنْ قَبْلِهِمْ مِثْلَ قَوْلِهِمْ تَشَبَهَتْ قُلُوبُهُمْ قَدْ بَيَّنَّا الْآيَاتِ لِقَوْمٍ يُوقِنُونَ ﴿١١٨﴾ إِنَّا أَرْسَلْنَاكَ بِالْحَقِّ بَشِيرًا وَنَذِيرًا وَلَا تُسْئَلُ عَنْ أَصْحَابِ الْجَحِيمِ ﴿١١٩﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١١٨-١١٩)

- 2:118. Those who have no knowledge say: If only Allah would speak to us or some sign would come to us. The people who came before them said something similar; their hearts are all much the same. We have made the signs clear to those who have certain faith.
- 2:119. Verily We have sent you with the truth as a bearer of glad tidings and a warner, but you will not be asked about the inhabitants of the blazing fire.

That is, the ignorant among the People of the Book and others say: Why does Allah not speak to us as He spoke to the Messengers? ﴿or some sign would come to us﴾ referring to signs that they suggest or demand on the basis of their corrupt thinking and worthless ideas, by means of which they showed audacity towards the Creator and arrogance towards His Messengers. This is like when they said:

﴿...We will never believe in you until we see Allah with our own eyes...﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 55)

﴿The People of the Book ask you to bring down for them a book from heaven. Indeed, they asked Moosâ for something even greater than that...﴾ (an-Nisâ' 4: 153)

﴿...Why has an angel not been sent down to him, to be a warner with him? Or why is not some treasure thrown down to him, or why does he not have a garden from which to eat?...﴾ (al-Furqân 25: 7-8)

﴿They say: We will never believe in you until you cause a spring to gush forth from the earth for us.﴾ (al-Isrâ' 17: 90)

This is how they were with their Messengers: they would ask for signs by way of causing annoyance and out of stubbornness, not by way of seeking signs so that they might be guided. Their aim was not to clarify the truth, because the Messengers had already brought such signs that lead people to believe. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿We have made the signs clear to those who have certain faith﴾. Everyone who had certain faith had already come to know, from the clear signs and proof of Allah, that by means of which he developed certainty and warded off doubts.

This is followed by some concise, brief verses that prove the truthfulness of the Prophet (ﷺ) and the soundness of his message: ﴿Verily We have sent you with the truth as a bearer of glad tidings and a warner﴾. This includes the signs that he brought, which may be summed up in three things: the message itself; his attitude and conduct; and that which he brought of the Qur'an and Sunnah.

The first and second are included in the words ﴿Verily We have sent you﴾ and the third is included in the words ﴿with the truth﴾.

With regard to the first, which is the message itself, the state of the earth's population before the Prophet (ﷺ) came is well established: they used to worship idols, fire and the cross, and they had altered their religions until they were sinking in the darkness of disbelief, which had encompassed and overwhelmed them, apart from some remnants of the People of the Book who had vanished shortly before the Prophet's mission began.

It is known that Allah (ﷻ) did not create humanity in vain and He did not neglect or forsake them, because He is Most Wise, All-Knowing, Mighty and Most Merciful. By His wisdom and His mercy towards His slaves, He sent this great Messenger (ﷺ) to them, to enjoin worship of the Most Gracious alone, with no partner or associate. Hence by examining his message, the wise person will realise that it is a message of truth, as well as a tremendous sign that he is indeed the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ).

With regard to the second matter, anyone who comes to know the Prophet (ﷺ) properly and learns of his character and teachings before his mission began, how he grew up with the best of characteristics, which only increased in nobility and greatness, will realise that this can be nothing other than the character of the perfect Prophets, because Allah (ﷻ) has made the individual's attitude and character the foremost means of knowing that person and the greatest proof of whether he is sincere or lying.

With regard to the third matter, which is knowing what the Prophet (ﷺ) brought of laws and the Holy Qur'an, which contains true stories and enjoins good and forbids all kinds of evil, as well as astonishing miracles, all the signs that indicate that he truly is a Prophet of Allah are included in these three categories.

﴿a bearer of glad tidings﴾ that is, glad tidings of blessings and happiness in this world and in the hereafter, to those who obey you
 ﴿and a warner﴾ of misery and doom in this world and in the hereafter, to those who disobey you.

﴿but you will not be asked about the inhabitants of the blazing fire﴾ that is, you are not responsible for them; your duty is only to convey the message, and the reckoning is for Us.

﴿وَلَنْ رَضَىٰ عَنْكَ الْيَهُودُ وَلَا النَّصْرَىٰ حَتَّىٰ تَتَّبِعَ مِلَّتَهُمْ ۚ قُلْ إِنْ هَدَىٰ اللَّهُ هُوَ الْمُهْدَىٰ
 وَلَئِنْ أَتَبَعْتَ أَهْوَاءَهُمْ بَعْدَ الَّذِي جَاءَكَ مِنَ الْعِلْمِ مَا لَكَ مِنَ اللَّهِ مِنْ وَلِيٍّ وَلَا نَصِيرٍ﴾

2:120. The Jews and the Christians will never be pleased with you until you follow their religion. Say: Verily the guidance of Allah is the [only] guidance. If you were to follow their desires after the knowledge that has come to you, then you would have neither protector nor helper against Allah.

Here Allah tells His Messenger (ﷺ) that the Jews and Christians will never be pleased with him unless he follows their religion, because they call people to the religion which they themselves are following, claiming that it is truth. So say to them: «Verily the guidance of Allah» with which I have been sent «is the [only] guidance».

With regard to what they are following, it is whims and desires, based on the fact that Allah then says: «If you were to follow their desires after the knowledge that has come to you, then you would have neither protector nor helper against Allah».

This represents stern instructions not to follow the whims and desires of the Jews and Christians, or to imitate them in that which is exclusive to their religions. Although this is addressed to the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ), his Ummah is also included in that, because what matters is the general application of the verse, regardless of whom it specifically addresses, just as what matters is the general meaning of the text, not the specific reason for which it is given.

 ﴿يَبْنَیْ اِسْرَءِیْلَ اذْكُرُوا نِعْمَتِيَ الَّتِي اَنْعَمْتُ عَلَیْكُمْ وَاَنِّیْ فَضَّلْتُكُمْ عَلَی الْعَالَمِیْنَ ﴿١٢٢﴾﴾
 ﴿وَاتَّقُوا یَوْمًا لَا تَجْزِی نَفْسٌ عَنْ نَفْسٍ شَيْئًا وَلَا یُقْبَلُ مِنْهَا عَدْلٌ وَلَا تَنْفَعُهَا شَفَعَةٌ وَلَا هُمْ یُنصَرُونَ ﴿١٢٣﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٢١-١٢٣)

- 2:121. Those to whom We have sent the Book read it as it should be read; they are the ones who [truly] believe in it. And those who disbelieve in it, they are the losers.
- 2:122. O Children of Israel, remember the blessing I bestowed upon you, and that I favoured you over all other nations.
- 2:123. Then fear a day when no soul will avail another, no compensation will be accepted from it, no intercession will benefit it nor will they be helped.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that those to whom He sent the Book and on whom He bestowed His great favour, ﴿read it as it should be read﴾ that is, they follow it as it should be followed. Reading (tilâwah, lit. recitation) may mean following. So they regard as permissible that which it permits, they regard as forbidden that which it forbids, they act upon its clear and unambiguous verses, and they believe in its ambiguous verses. These are the ones among the People of the Book who are blessed, those who acknowledge the blessings of Allah and give thanks for them; they believe in all the Messengers and do not differentiate between any of them.

These are the true believers, not those among them who said: ﴿We believe in that which was revealed to us; yet they disbelieve in that which came after it﴾ (2: 91). Hence, Allah warned them by saying: ﴿And those who disbelieve in it, they are the losers.﴾ (2: 121).

We have discussed previously the commentary on the following verse.

﴿وَإِذْ ابْتَلَىٰ إِبْرَاهِيمَ رَبُّهُ بِكَلِمَاتٍ فَأَتَمَّهُنَّ قَالَ إِنِّي جَاعِلُكَ لِلنَّاسِ إِمَامًا قَالَ وَمِنْ ذُرِّيَّتِي ۖ قَالَ لَا يَنَالُ عَهْدِي الظَّالِمِينَ ﴿١٢٤﴾ وَإِذْ جَعَلْنَا الْبَيْتَ مَثَابَةً لِّلنَّاسِ وَأَمْنَا وَاتَّخِذُوا مِن مَّقَامِ إِبْرَاهِيمَ مُصَلًّى ۖ وَعَهِدْنَا إِلَىٰ إِبْرَاهِيمَ وَإِسْمَاعِيلَ أَن طَهِّرَا بَيْتِيَ لِلطَّائِفِينَ وَالْمُكَيِّفِينَ وَالرُّكَّعِ السُّجُودِ ﴿١٢٥﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٢٤-١٢٥)

- 2:124. And [remember] when Ibrâheem was tested by his Lord with certain commands, which he fulfilled. He [Allah] said: I will make you a leader of people. He said: And also from among my progeny? He said: My covenant does not extend to the transgressors.
- 2:125. And [remember] when We made the House a focal point for the people, and a sanctuary [and said]: Take the Station of Ibrâheem as a place of prayer. We commanded Ibrâheem and Ismâ'eel, that they should purify My House for those who circumambulate it or stay there [for worship], or bow or prostrate there.

Here Allah tells us about His slave and close friend Ibrâheem (عليه السلام), whose leadership and virtue are universally acknowledged and whom all the groups of the People of the Book, and even the polytheists, claim as a leader. Allah tells us that He tried and tested him with certain commands and prohibitions, which is how Allah usually tests His slaves, to highlight those who are insincere and cannot be steadfast at the time of trial, and to demonstrate those who are sincere and will be elevated in status by means of the test, their deeds will be purified and they will be cleansed of sin. One of the greatest of them in this regard is Ibrâheem (عليه السلام).

He did what Allah commanded him to do, properly and perfectly. Allah appreciated that and He still appreciates it, as He said: ﴿I will make you a leader of people﴾ that is, they will follow your example and your guidance, and will walk behind you to their eternal bliss; you will be highly thought of forever, you will attain a great reward and you will be venerated by everyone.

This, surely, is the highest status for which people may compete and strive hard, the greatest achievement of the Messengers of firm resolve and each sincere follower of theirs who is calling to Allah and to His way.

When Ibrâheem attained that high status, he sought that for his descendants too, so that his status and that of his descendants would become even higher. This is also a reflection of his leadership, his sincerity towards the slaves of Allah and his desire to increase the numbers of those who lead others on the straight path; how great was his ambition and status.

Allah answered his prayer and told him of the reason why some may be prevented from attaining this status, as He said: ﴿My covenant does not extend to the transgressors». What is meant is: leadership in religion cannot be attained by one who wrongs and harms himself and brings himself down, because transgression is contrary to this status, which can only be attained by means of patience and strong faith. In other words, those who will be qualified to attain this status will be those who have a high level of faith, do a great deal of righteous deeds and are possessed of good characteristics, a good attitude, and complete love of Allah, fearing Him and turning to Him. How could a transgressor attain such a status? The implicit meaning of this verse is that anyone other than the transgressor may attain a position of leadership, but only after meeting its conditions.

Then Allah (ﷻ) refers to a lasting sign that is indicative of Ibrâheem's leadership, which is this sacred House, pilgrimage to which is one of the five pillars of Islam, a means of erasing sin.

In that House we see the legacy of Ibrâheem and his descendants, which offers proof of his leadership and reminds us of how he was. Allah (ﷻ) says: «And [remember] when We made the House a focal point for the people» that is, a place to which they return to attain religious and worldly benefits; it is a place that they frequent and never tire of it.

«and a sanctuary» that is, it is a place where everyone feels safe, even wild animals and inanimate things such as trees.

Hence during the jâhiliyah, despite their polytheism, the people venerated it immensely, to such a degree that if a man found his father's killer in the sanctuary, he would not disturb him. When Islam came, it further emphasised the sanctity, veneration and honour of the House.

«Take the Station of Ibrâheem as a place of prayer». It may be that what is meant here is the well-known Maqâm (Station), the position of which now is in front of the door of the Kaaba, where two raka'ât are prayed following tawâf (circumambulation of the Kaaba), which it is recommended to offer behind the Station of Ibrâheem. This is the view of the majority of commentators. It may also be understood as referring to all the places where Ibrâheem stood or halted during Hajj, which refers to all the rituals, namely ṭawâf (circumambulation of the Kaaba), sa'iy (going between Şafâ and Marwah), standing in 'Arafah and Muzdalifah, stoning the jamarât (stone pillars), offering the sacrifice, and other actions that are done during Hajj.

Hence what is meant by the words «a place of prayer» is a place of worship; in other words, follow his example in the rituals of Hajj. It may be that this is a more appropriate meaning, because that would also include the first meaning (the two raka'ât following ṭawâf), and the wording may indicate that.

«We commanded Ibrâheem and Ismâ'eel, that they should purify My House» that is, We revealed to them and instructed them to purify the House of Allah, ridding it of all traces of polytheism, disbelief, sin, abomination, impurities and filth, so that it might be «for those who circumambulate it» and «stay there [for worship], or bow or prostrate there» that is, those who pray there. Ṭawâf is mentioned first, because it is unique to al-Masjid al-Ḥarâm; that is followed by mention of staying there (for worship), which is known as i'tikâf (devotional retreat), one of the conditions of which is that it should be done in a mosque. Prayer is mentioned last, although it is a superior act, because it is not specific to the mosque and may be offered anywhere.

Allah attributed the House to Himself for several reasons, such as the following:

- So that Ibrâheem and Ismâ'eel would pay extra attention to purifying it, because it is the House of Allah, so they would strive hard and do their utmost.
- The fact that it is described as Allah's House is a sign of honour; this is an implicit instruction to His slaves to venerate and honour it.
- The fact that it is connected to Allah is what makes people's hearts attached to it.

2:126. And [remember] when Ibrâheem said: My Lord, make this a city of peace, and provide its people with fruits, those among them who believe in Allah and the Last Day. [Allah] said: As for those who disbelieve, I will grant them enjoyment for a short while, but then I will drive them towards the punishment of the fire; what a hapless journey's end.

That is, remember when Ibrâheem prayed for this House and its environs, that Allah should make it a city of peace and provide its people with various kinds of fruits, then he limited this supplication to the believers, out of appropriate manners before Allah, because his first request concerning leadership had been general (in the sense that he prayed for all of his offspring) and the response had been limited to those other than the transgressors among them.

Hence when he prayed for provision for them, he limited it to the believers, although the provision of Allah encompasses believers and disbelievers, disobedient and obedient. Allah said: ﴿As for those who disbelieve﴾ that is, I shall grant provision to all of them, Muslims and disbelievers alike; as for the Muslims, they will use that provision to help them in worshipping Allah, then they will move from that to the delights of paradise; as for the disbelievers, they will enjoy it for a short while

﴿but then I will drive them﴾ that is, force them and bring them reluctantly

﴿towards the punishment of the fire; what a hapless journey's end﴾.

- 2:127. And [remember] when Ibrâheem and Ismâ'eel raised the walls of the House [saying]: Our Lord! Accept [this] from us, for You are the All-Hearing, the All-Knowing.
- 2:128. Our Lord! Make us both Muslims submitting to You, and of our descendants a nation that is Muslim, submitting to You; and teach us our rituals [of pilgrimage]; and accept our repentance, for You are the Acceptor of repentance, the Most Merciful.
- 2:129. Our Lord, send to them a Messenger from among them, who will recite Your revelations to them, teach them the Book and wisdom, and purify them; for You are the Almighty, the Most Wise.

That is, remember Ibrâheem and Ismâ'eel, when they were building the walls of the House from the foundation upwards, and how they persisted in this great task with an attitude of both fear and hope. Whilst they were striving to complete this task, they prayed to Allah to accept their deeds from them, so that it might be a blessing for all.

They prayed for themselves, and for their offspring to be Muslim; what this signifies is humility in the heart and submission to Allah, which is reflected in outward behaviour.

﴿and teach us our rituals [of pilgrimage]﴾ that is, show us, demonstrate them before us so that we may see them, because seeing is more effective for the purpose of learning. It may be that what is meant by rituals (manâsik) is all the actions of Hajj, as indicated by the context and story, or it may be that the meaning is more general than that, and refers to all of Islam and all acts of worship, as indicated by the general meaning; the word nusuk (rituals, from the same root as manâsik) originally means worship, but came to be used primarily in reference to the acts of worship performed during Hajj. Thus what they meant by their supplication was to be guided and enabled to acquire beneficial knowledge and to do righteous deeds. As it is the case that human beings – no matter how hard they try – will always fall short and need to repent, they (Ibrâheem and Ismâ'eel) said: «and accept our repentance, for You are the Acceptor of repentance, the Most Merciful».

«Our Lord, send to them a Messenger from among them» that is, to all our descendants, so as to increase them in status and so that they will know him properly and follow him.

«who will recite Your revelations to them» and teach them the words «teach them the Book and wisdom» and teach them the meanings.

«and purify them» by guiding them to do righteous deeds and to rid themselves of evil deeds because of which the soul cannot be purified unless one rids oneself of them.

«for You are the Almighty» that is, the Subduer of all things, Whose power none can resist

«the Most Wise» Who puts things in the right place. I implore You by Your glory, might and wisdom, to send among them this Messenger. Allah answered their prayer and sent this noble Messenger, by means of whom Allah had mercy on his descendants in particular, and on all of humankind in general. Hence the Prophet (ﷺ) said:

«I am the answer to the prayer of my father Ibrâheem.» (Recorded and authenticated by Ibn Katheer)

Because Allah showed this great respect to Ibrâheem and told us of his perfect qualities, He said:

﴿وَمَنْ يَرْغَبْ عَنْ مِلَّةِ إِبْرَاهِيمَ إِلَّا مَن سَفِهَ نَفْسَهُ وَلَقَدِ اصْطَفَيْنَاهُ فِي الدُّنْيَا وَإِنَّهُ فِي الْآخِرَةِ لَمِنَ الصَّالِحِينَ﴾ (١٣٠) إِذْ قَالَ لَهُ رَبُّهُ أَسْلِمْ قَالَ أَسْلَمْتُ لِرَبِّ الْعَالَمِينَ ﴿١٣١﴾ وَوَصَّى بِهَا إِبْرَاهِيمُ بَنِيهِ وَيَعْقُوبُ يٰبَنِيَّ إِنَّ اللَّهَ اصْطَفَىٰ لَكُمُ الدِّينَ فَلَا تَمُوتُنَّ إِلَّا وَأَنتُمْ مُسْلِمُونَ ﴿١٣٢﴾ أَمْ كُنْتُمْ شُهَدَاءَ إِذْ حَضَرَ يَعْقُوبَ الْمَوْتُ إِذْ قَالَ لِبَنِيهِ مَا تَعْبُدُونَ مِن بَعْدِي قَالُوا نَعْبُدُ إِلَهَكَ وَإِلَهَ آبَائِكَ إِبْرَاهِيمَ وَإِسْمَاعِيلَ وَإِسْحَاقَ إِلَهًا وَاحِدًا وَنَحْنُ لَهُ مُسْلِمُونَ ﴿١٣٣﴾ تِلْكَ أُمَّةٌ قَدْ خَلَتْ لَهَا مَا كَسَبَتْ وَلَكُم مَّا كَسَبْتُمْ وَلَا تُسْأَلُونَ عَمَّا كَانُوا يَعْمَلُونَ ﴿١٣٤﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٣٠-١٣٤)

- 2:130. And who turns away from the religion of Ibrâheem but one who debases himself with folly? We chose him in this world, and in the hereafter he will be among the righteous.
- 2:131. [Remember] when his Lord said to him: Submit [to Me], he said: I submit to the Lord of the worlds.
- 2:132. And Ibrâheem enjoined his sons to do the same, as did Ya'qoob [saying]: O my sons, Allah has chosen this religion for you; so do not die except as Muslims.
- 2:133. Or were you present when death came to Ya'qoob? He said to his sons: What will you worship after I am gone? They said: We will worship your God and the God of your fathers, of Ibrâheem, Ismâ'eel and Is-hâq, One God, and To Him we submit [as Muslims].
- 2:134. That is a nation which has [already] passed away; they will have what they earned and you will have what you earn, and you will not be questioned about what they used to do.

That is, no one turns away ﴿from the religion of Ibrâheem﴾ after coming to know of his virtues ﴿but one who debases himself with folly﴾ that is, he transgresses against himself and humiliates himself, accepting for himself that which is inferior, and he sold his soul for a cheap price. By the same token, there is no one who is wiser or more mature than one who follows the religion of Ibrâheem. Then Allah tells us of Ibrâheem's status in this world and the hereafter:

﴿We chose him in this world﴾ that is, We selected him and guided him to do good deeds, by virtue of which he became one of the chosen and truly good (cf. 38: 47).

﴿and in the hereafter he will be among the righteous﴾ who will have the highest status.

﴿[Remember] when his Lord said to him: Submit [to Me], he said﴾ in obedience to his Lord: ﴿I submit to the Lord of the worlds﴾ with sincerity, affirming His oneness, out of love for Him and turning to Him. So tawḥeed (affirming the oneness of Allah) became his defining characteristic.

Then he passed down that legacy of tawḥeed (pure monotheism) to his descendants, enjoining it upon them and leaving it as a word to endure among those who came after him, that they might turn back (to Allah) (cf. 43: 28). Thus it was handed down from one to another, until it reached Ya'qoob, who enjoined it upon his sons.

So you – O sons of Ya'qoob – see that your father enjoined it upon you in particular, so you are obliged to submit completely and follow the Seal of the Prophets, as Ya'qoob said:

﴿O my sons, Allah has chosen this religion for you﴾ that is, He selected it for you, out of mercy and kindness towards you, so adhere to it, follow it and mould your character in accordance with its teachings, so that you may persist in that; and do not let death come to you except when you are adhering to that, because whoever lives his life following something will die in that state, and whoever dies following something will be resurrected in the same state.

As the Jews claimed to be following the religion of Ibrâheem, and of Ya'qoob after him, Allah said, denouncing them:

﴿Or were you present when death came to Ya'qoob?﴾ And he said to his sons, by way of testing them and so as to have the joy of certainty whilst he was still alive that they would adhere to what he enjoined upon them:

﴿What will you worship after I am gone?﴾ They answered him in a way that brought him joy, as they said:

﴿We will worship your God and the God of your fathers, of Ibrâheem, Ismâ'eel and Is-hâq, One God﴾ and we will not associate anything with Him or regard anyone as equal to Him

﴿and to Him we submit [as Muslims]﴾. Thus they combined monotheism with righteous deeds.

It is well known that they (the Jews of Madinah) were not present when Ya'qoob died, because they did not yet exist. As they were not present, Allah tells us that he (Ya'qoob) enjoined his sons to follow the path of monotheism, not Judaism.

Then Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿That is a nation which has [already] passed away﴾ and no longer exists

﴿they will have what they earned and you will have what you earn﴾ that is, each person has his own deeds and will be requited according to what he did; no one will be brought to account for the sin of another and no one will benefit except from his own faith and piety. So your preoccupation with them and your claims that you are following their religion, and your being content with mere words are matters that do not make sense, because there is no reality to them. Rather what you must do is examine your own situation and see whether it will help you to attain salvation or not.

﴿وَقَالُوا كُونُوا هُودًا أَوْ نَصَارَى تَهْتَدُوا قُلْ بَلْ مِلَّةَ إِبْرَاهِيمَ حَنِيفًا وَمَا كَانَ مِنَ الْمُشْرِكِينَ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٣٥)

- 2:135. They say: Become Jews or Christians, then you will be rightly guided. Say: Rather the religion of Ibrâheem the monotheist, and he was not one of those who ascribe partners to Allah.

That is, both the Jews and the Christians called upon the Muslims to enter their religion, claiming that they were the ones who were truly guided and others were misguided. So say to him, answering in a clear way so as to settle the matter: «Rather» we follow «the religion of Ibrâheem the monotheist» that is, turning to Allah alone and turning away from everything other than Him, on the basis of adhering to monotheistic belief and shunning polytheism. This is the one in following whom there is guidance, and turning away from his religion constitutes disbelief and misguidance.

وَالْأَسْبَاطَ وَمَا أُوتِيَ مُوسَى وَعِيسَى وَمَا أُوتِيَ النَّبِيُّونَ مِنْ رَبِّهِمْ لَا نُفَرِّقُ بَيْنَ أَحَدٍ
مِّنْهُمْ وَنَحْنُ لَهُ مُسْلِمُونَ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٣٦)

- 2:136. Say: We believe in Allah, and that which has been sent down to us, and that which was sent down to Ibrâheem, Ismâ'eel, Is-hâq, Ya'qoob, and the tribes, and that which was given to Moosâ and 'Eesâ, and that which was given to [all] Prophets from their Lord. We make no distinction between one and another of them, and to Him we have submitted [in Islam].

This verse includes everything that one must believe in. It should be noted that eemân (faith or belief) refers to complete affirmation in the heart of these principles, an affirmation that includes both deeds of the heart (that is, beliefs and emotions) and physical actions. In that sense eemân includes Islam and it includes all righteous deeds, which are part of and a reflection of eemân. Whenever the word 'eemân' is mentioned on its own, it includes everything mentioned above. Similarly, when the word 'Islam' appears on its own, it includes eemân. When the two words are mentioned together, eemân refers to what is in the heart of belief and affirmation, and Islam refers to outward physical deeds. The same applies when eemân and righteous deeds are mentioned together.

The word ﴿Say﴾ means speak verbally that which is in accordance with what is in your hearts. This is what brings reward, because just as uttering words without belief in the heart is hypocrisy and disbelief, by the same token, mere words that have no basis in belief have no impact and are of little benefit. Even though the individual will still be rewarded for saying good words, if they are good and he basically believes, there is still a difference between mere words and that which is based on deeds of the heart (strong faith and good intentions).

The word ﴿Say﴾ refers to announcing one's belief openly and calling people to it, because this is the foundation of religion.

﴿We believe﴾ – here the action is attributed to the entire Ummah (as it appears in the plural form), which indicates that it is obligatory for the Ummah to hold fast, all together, to the rope of Allah, and encourages them to be united so that their call will be one and their efforts will be united. This implies that the Ummah should not be divided and that the believers are like a single body.

﴿Say: We believe in Allah...﴾. These words indicate that it is permissible for a person to attribute faith to himself in a specific manner (namely, belief in Allah); rather it is obligatory to do so, which is different than saying "I am a believer" and the like, because no one should say any such thing without adding the words in shâ' Allâh (if Allah wills), because otherwise it may come under the heading of praising oneself and testifying that one has faith.

«We believe in Allah» means we believe that He exists, is One, has all the attributes of perfection, is above all shortcomings and defects, is the only One Who is deserving of all worship and no partners are to be ascribed to Him in any way whatsoever.

«and that which has been sent down to us» – this includes the Qur'an and the Sunnah, because Allah (ﷻ) says:

«...For Allah has sent down to you the Book and wisdom...» (an-Nisā' 4: 113)

Thus it includes belief in what the Book of Allah and the Sunnah of His Messenger (ﷺ) tell us about the attributes of Allah, the attributes of His Messengers, the Last Day, and the unseen, both past and future, and what they (the Qur'an and Sunnah) include of Islamic rulings, hadd<sup>12</sup> punishments and so on.

«and that which was sent down to Ibrâheem...». This points to belief in all the Books that were sent down to all the Prophets, as well as belief in the Prophets in general and those whose names are mentioned in this verse in particular, because of their high status and the fact that they received major laws. What is required with regard to belief in the Prophets and Books is that we should believe in them in general terms, and with regard to those about whom one learns more details, we must believe in them in detail.

«We make no distinction between one and another of them» that is, we believe in all of them. This is something that is unique to the Muslims, who alone have this belief, as opposed to those who claim to be followers of other religions. Even though the Jews, Christians, Sabians and others claim to believe in some of the Messengers and Books, they disbelieve in others and make distinctions between the Messengers and Books, believing in some and not in others. This proves that their belief is invalid, because the Messenger in whom they claim to believe affirmed all of the Messengers, especially Muhammad (ﷺ). So if they disbelieve in Muhammad (ﷺ), then they have disbelieved and rejected what their Messenger told them, so they have rejected their Messenger.

﴿and that which was given to [all] Prophets from their Lord﴾. This indicates that the gift of religious commitment is the true gift that is connected to happiness in this world and in the hereafter. Allah did not instruct us to believe in what was given to the Prophets of authority, wealth and the like; rather He commanded us to believe in what they were given of scriptures and laws.

This verse also teaches us that the Prophets conveyed the message from Allah and were intermediaries between Allah and His creation in conveying His religion; they had nothing else to do with it.

The phrase ﴿from their Lord﴾ indicates that as part of His perfect Lordship and care towards His slaves, He sent the Books down to them and sent the Messengers to them. His Lordship dictates that He should not neglect or ignore them.

If what was given to the Prophets only came to them from their Lord, then this shows the difference between true Prophets and imposters; we can tell the difference simply by knowing what they call people to, for the Messengers only call people to good and they only forbid everything that is evil. Moreover, each of them confirms the others, testifying that they told the truth, with no contradiction because it is all from their Lord.

﴿...If it [the Qur'an] had been from anyone other than Allah, they would surely have found therein many contradictions.﴾ (an-Nisā' 4: 82)

This is in contrast to those who falsely claim to be prophets; there will inevitably be contradictions in the stories they tell and in what they enjoin and forbid; this will be quite clear to anyone who examines their cases and finds out what they advocated.

As Allah has explained everything that is to be believed in, in general and specific terms, and as mere words are not sufficient unless accompanied by actions, He said: ﴿and to Him we have submitted [in Islam]﴾ that is, we have submitted to His greatness and we worship Him alone, both inwardly and outwardly, sincere to Him in worship.

This verse, although it is very brief and concise, refers to the three types of tawḥeed: tawḥeed ar-ruboobiyah (affirmation of the oneness of the divine Lordship), tawḥeed al-uloohiyah (affirmation of the oneness of divinity), and tawḥeed al-asmâ' waṣ-ṣifât (affirmation of the oneness of the divine names and attributes). It also includes belief in all the Messengers and all the Books. After mentioning the Prophets in general, then mentioning some by name, it points to the superiority of those who are named. It also refers to belief in the heart that is reflected in words and deeds; sincerity to Allah alone; the difference between true Messengers and impostors who claim to be prophets; how Allah teaches His slaves what to say; His mercy and kindness towards them by bestowing all kinds of religious blessings upon them that are connected to their happiness in this world and the hereafter. Glory be to the One Who made His Book explain all things, and made it a guidance and mercy to the believers.

﴿فَإِنْ ءَامَنُوا بِمِثْلِ مَا ءَامَنْتُمْ بِهِ فَقَدْ اهْتَدَوْا وَإِنْ تَوَلَّوْا فَإِنَّمَا هُمْ فِي شِقَاقٍ ۖ فَسَيَكْفِيكَهُمُ اللَّهُ وَهُوَ السَّمِيعُ الْعَلِيمُ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٣٧)

- 2:137. So if they believe as you believe, then they are rightly guided; but if they turn away, then it is they who are entrenched in opposition; but Allah will suffice you against them, and He is the All-Hearing, the All-Knowing.

That is, if the People of the Book ﴿believe as you believe﴾, O believers, in all the Messengers and all the Books, foremost among whom, and the final and the best of them, is Muhammad (ﷺ) and the Qur'an, and they submit to Allah alone and do not differentiate between any of the Messengers of Allah, ﴿then they are rightly guided﴾ to the straight path which leads to paradise. In other words, there is no other way for them to be guided except by means of this faith; it is not as they claim: ﴿Become Jews or Christians, then you will be rightly guided﴾ (2: 135). They claim that guidance is only to be found in their religion, but guidance means knowing the truth and acting upon it, the opposite of which is misguidance by failing to acquire knowledge and misguidance by failing to act upon the knowledge acquired. This is the opposition in which they were entrenched, as they turned away. The one who is entrenched in opposition is the one who is on one side whilst Allah and His Messenger are on the other side; this opposition in which they are entrenched means hostility and extreme enmity, which in turn dictates that they would strive their utmost to harm the Messenger. Hence Allah promised His Messenger that He would suffice him against them, because He is All-Hearing Who hears all voices, despite their different languages and the varying needs of people; and He is All-Knowing, Who knows what is before them and what is behind them, He knows the unseen and the seen, He knows what is apparent and what is hidden. As this is the case, then Allah will suffice you against their evil. And Allah did indeed fulfil His promise to His Messenger and gave him power over them, so that he killed some of them, took some of them captive and expelled others, banishing them in all directions.

This is one of the miracles of the Qur'an, which was foretelling an event before it happened, which then unfolded as foretold.

2:138. [Our religion] takes its colour from Allah, and who can give a better colour than Allah? And it is He Whom we worship.

That is, adhere to the colour given by Allah, which is His religion, and follow it completely, both inwardly and outwardly, with all of its beliefs, at all times, so that it will become like a colour for you, one of your characteristics. Once it becomes one of your characteristics, then you will follow its instructions willingly and lovingly, and religious commitment will become second nature to you, like the colour of a garment which has become an integral part of it. Thus you will attain happiness in this world and the hereafter, because Islam encourages good characteristics, good deeds and sublime aims. Hence Allah says, by way of making people think: ﴿and who can give a better colour than Allah?﴾ that is, there is no better colour than that which He gives.

If you want to know some examples that highlight the difference between the colour given by Allah and others, then compare a thing with its opposite. What do you think of a person who has a sound belief in his Lord, which has an impact on his attitude and behaviour, so that he continues to acquire all good characteristics and do all good deeds, conducting himself in the best manner and abandoning all bad characteristics, immoral deeds and shameful actions, so that he has the character of sincerity in word and deed and is patient, forbearing, dignified, courageous, kind in word and deed, loving Allah, fearing His punishment and hoping for His reward? Such a one has the attitude of sincerity towards Allah and kindness towards his slaves.

Then compare him to a person who disbelieves in his Lord, turns away from Him and turns instead to other, created beings. Thus he acquires bad characteristics, such as disbelief, polytheism, lying, treachery, deceit, cheating, lack of dignity and mistreating people in word and deed. Such a one has no sincerity towards Allah and shows no kindness to His slaves.

Thus it will become clear to you that there is a great difference between the two, and you will clearly see that there is no colour better than that given by Allah. This in turn implies that there is no colour that is worse or uglier than that of the one who colours himself with something other than the colour given by Allah and follows a religion other than His.

﴿And it is He Whom we worship﴾. This further explains that colour, which is adhering to these two principles, namely sincerity towards Allah and following (the Qur'an and Sunnah), because worship is a word that includes everything that Allah loves and is pleased with of actions, words, attitudes and beliefs, and it cannot be pleasing to Him unless it was prescribed by Allah on the lips of His Messenger (ﷺ). Sincerity means doing these actions for the sake of Allah alone. The structure of this sentence in Arabic indicates that worship is exclusively for Allah alone, and that this worship is to be done persistently and on an ongoing basis, to indicate that this is a characteristic that is like a colour that remains with them all the time.

2:139. Say: Would you dispute with us about Allah, when He is our Lord and your Lord? We have our deeds and you have your deeds, and we are sincerely devoted to Him.

What is meant by dispute is an argument between two or more people having to do with a controversial matter, in which each disputant is trying to support his own view and nullify that of his opponent, each of them striving to establish proof to that effect. What is required when engaging in dispute is to do it in the best manner, by keeping it brief in a way that could bring the misguided back to the right path, establish proof against the stubborn, clarify the truth and shed light on falsehood. If the argument develops and goes beyond these bounds, then it becomes pointless, an argument that does not lead to anything good, and it may in fact lead to some negative consequences.

The People of the Book claimed that they were closer to Allah than the Muslims, but this was a mere claim that required proof and evidence. If the Lord of all is One and He is not your Lord alone to the exclusion of us, and both we and you have our deeds, then we and you are equal in that regard. This means that neither of the two parties is closer to Allah than the other, because differentiating when you are equal in a particular matter, without there being anything to differentiate between you, is a false claim; differentiating between two who are equal is obviously stubborn and arrogant. Rather what makes one superior to the other is sincerity towards Allah alone in righteous deeds, and this is something that is a characteristic of the believers only. Therefore they are closer to Allah than others, because sincerity is the way to salvation. This is the difference between the close friends of Allah and the close friends of the Shayṭān, on the basis of the characteristics that truly matter and are recognised by people of reason, and are only disputed by those who are arrogant and ignorant. In this verse, we see a subtle hint which guides us to the best way to present our case in an argument; it also tells us that matters are based on noticing the similarities and differences between two things.

2:140. Or would you say that Ibrâheem, Ismâ'eel, Is-hâq, Ya'qoob and the Tribes were Jews or Christians? Say: Do you know better, or does Allah? And who does greater wrong than those who conceal a testimony they have received from Allah? But Allah is not unaware of what you do.

This refers to another claim on their part and another argument about the Messengers of Allah. They claimed that they were closer to the Messengers than the Muslims were.

But Allah refuted that by saying ﴿Do you know better, or does Allah?﴾ Elsewhere, Allah says:

﴿Ibrâheem was neither a Jew nor a Christian, but he was a monotheist, a Muslim, and he was not one of those who ascribe partners to Allah.﴾ (Âl 'Imrân 3: 67)

But they said that he was a Jew or a Christian.

Either they are the ones who are telling the truth and have knowledge of that, or Allah (ﷻ) is the One Who is telling the truth and has knowledge of that. One of the two must inevitably be true; the answer is not stated explicitly but it is absolutely clear and so obvious that there is no need to say that it is Allah Who knows best and is most truthful, and the like. The answer is obvious to everyone; this is like saying: is the night more illuminating, or the day? Is the fire hotter, or water? Is polytheism better, or monotheism (tawhîd)? And so on.

Anyone with the slightest common sense will know this; indeed even the Jews and Christians themselves know it. They know that Ibrâheem and other Prophets were neither Jews nor Christians, but they concealed this knowledge and testimony, hence their wrongdoing is the worst. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿And who does greater wrong than those who conceal a testimony they have received from Allah?﴾ This is testimony that they have; it was entrusted to them by Allah and not by any created being, so they should have paid attention to it by declaring it, but they concealed it and showed the opposite. Thus they combined the sin of concealing the truth and not speaking it with the propagation of falsehood. Is this not the greatest wrongdoing? Indeed it is, and they will receive the harshest punishment. Hence Allah says: ﴿But Allah is not unaware of what you do﴾. Rather He has recorded and listed their deeds and has stored up the punishment for them. What a bad punishment theirs will be, and what a bad final abode the fire will be. This is the Qur'anic style, to mention the knowledge and power of Allah after verses that refer to the deeds that He will punish.

Then Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿يَلِكْ أُمَّةٌ قَدْ خَلَتْ لَهَا مَا كَسَبَتْ وَلَكُمْ مَا كَسَبْتُمْ وَلَا تُسْأَلُونَ عَمَّا كَانُوا يَعْمَلُونَ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٤١)

2:141. That is a nation which has [already] passed away; they will have what they earned and you will have what you earn, and you will not be questioned about what they used to do.

The meaning of this verse has been discussed above. It is repeated in order to put an end to anyone pinning his hopes on any created being; what matters is the attributes that a person acquires, not the deeds of his forefathers. What really benefits the individual is his deeds and not his lineage.

﴿ سَيَقُولُ السُّفَهَاءُ مِنَ النَّاسِ مَا وَلَّيْنَاهُمْ عَنْ قِبَلِهِمُ الَّذِي كَانُوا عَلَيْهِمْ قُلْ لِلَّهِ الْمَشْرِقُ وَالْمَغْرِبُ يَهْدِي مَنْ يَشَاءُ إِلَى صِرَاطٍ مُسْتَقِيمٍ ﴾ (١٤٢) وَكَذَلِكَ جَعَلْنَاكُمْ أُمَّةً وَسَطًا لِنَكُونُوا شُهَدَاءَ عَلَى النَّاسِ وَيَكُونَ الرَّسُولُ عَلَيْكُمْ شَهِيدًا وَمَا جَعَلْنَا الْقِبْلَةَ الَّتِي كُنْتَ عَلَيْهَا إِلَّا لِنَعْلَمَ مَنْ يَتَّبِعِ الرَّسُولَ مِمَّنْ يَنْقَلِبُ عَلَى عَقْبَيْهِ وَإِنْ كَانَتْ لَكَبِيرَةً إِلَّا عَلَى الَّذِينَ هَدَى اللَّهُ وَمَا كَانَ اللَّهُ لِيُضِيعَ إِيمَانَكُمْ إِنَّ اللَّهَ بِالنَّاسِ لَرءُوفٌ رَحِيمٌ ﴿١٤٣﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٤٢-١٤٣)

- 2:142. The fools among the people will say: What has turned them from the qibla [direction of prayer] towards which they used to face? Say: To Allah belong the east and the west: He guides whom He will to a path that is straight.
- 2:143. Thus We have made of you an Ummah justly balanced, that you might be witnesses over humankind, and the Messenger might be a witness over you; and We prescribed the qibla towards which you used to face, only in order to know those who would follow the Messenger from those who would turn on their heels. It was indeed difficult, except for those whom Allah guided. Allah will never let your faith go to waste, for Allah is to all people Most Compassionate, Most Merciful.

The first verse is miraculous and offers consolation and reassurance to the believers. It discusses an objection and the answer to it in three ways; it gives a description of the ones who raised this objection and a description of the one who submits to the ruling and religion of Allah.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that the fools among the people are going to raise this objection. They are the ones who do not know what is good for themselves; rather they cause loss for themselves and sell their souls for the cheapest price. They are the Jews and Christians, and others like them, who object to the rulings and laws of Allah. The background here is that the Muslims were enjoined to face towards Bayt al-Maqdis (Jerusalem) for the duration of their time in Makkah, then approximately one and a half years after the migration (Hijrah) to Madinah, by His wisdom, Allah commanded them to face towards the Kaaba. Then He told them that the fools among the people would inevitably say: «What has turned them from the qibla [direction of prayer] towards which they used to face?» For they used to face towards Jerusalem, so what has made them turn away from it? This is an objection to Allah's ruling, law, grace and kindness. So Allah consoled the believers by telling them what was going to happen and pointing out that it would only come from those who were foolish, lacking in reason, forbearance and religious commitment, so do not pay any attention to them, because you know where this talk is coming from. The wise person pays no attention to the objections of the fool, and does not worry about him. This verse indicates that no one objects to the rulings of Allah but one who is foolish, ignorant and stubborn. As for the wise and rational believer, he accepts the rulings of his Lord and submits to them, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

«It is not fitting for any believing man or believing woman, when Allah and His Messenger have decided concerning a matter, to have any choice in that matter...» (al-Ahzāb 33: 36)

«But no, by your Lord, they will not [truly] believe until they make you [O Muhammad] judge in all disputes between them, then find in their hearts no reservations about your verdicts, but accept them wholeheartedly.» (an-Nisā' 4: 65)

«The only response of the believers, when they are called to Allah and His Messenger so that he may judge between them, is to say: We hear and we obey...» (an-Noor 24: 51)

The fact that Allah describes them as «The fools» is sufficient to reject what they say, with no need for further refutation.

But Allah (ﷻ) did not leave this specious argument without dispelling it and highlighting the flaws in the argument that may influence some people. So He said: «Say» in response to them:

﴿To Allah belong the east and the west: He guides whom He will to a path that is straight﴾ that is, as the east and the west both belong to Allah, there is no direction that is beyond His dominion. Moreover, He guides whom He will to a path that is straight, and part of that is His guiding you to this qibla, which was the way of your father Ibrâheem. So why are these people objecting to your turning towards a qibla or direction that is under Allah's dominion, for you are not facing towards any direction that does not belong to Him? Therefore one must submit to His command, if only for no other reason than this. So how about if, by His grace and kindness, Allah has guided you to that? Then the one who is objecting to you is in fact objecting to the grace of Allah, out of envy and resentment towards you.

Because Allah says: ﴿He guides whom He will to a path that is straight﴾, and what is stated in general terms is to be understood in the light of another verse that is more specific, there are reasons for guidance and misguidance, in accordance with the wisdom and justice of Allah. He has stated in more than one place in His Book the causes of guidance by which, if a person does them, he will be guided. For example, Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...There has come to you from Allah a light and a clear Book, with which Allah guides all who seek His good pleasure to ways of peace and safety...﴾ (al-Mâ'idah 5: 15-16)

In this verse, Allah mentions the means of guidance for this Ummah in general terms and how Allah blesses this Ummah, then He says: ﴿Thus We have made of you an Ummah justly balanced﴾ that is, following a moderate and just way. Anything other than the moderate middle way comes under the heading of extremes that are subject to prohibition. So Allah has made this Ummah justly balanced in all matters of religion and justly balanced with regard to belief in the Prophets, so that they do not go to extremes in veneration, as the Christians did, or in disrespect, as the Jews did. The Muslims believe in all the Prophets in an appropriate manner. They also follow a moderate middle way with regard to laws, avoiding the strictness and restrictions of the Jews and the lenience of the Christians.

With regard to matters of purification and food, the Muslims are not like the Jews, whose prayers cannot be valid unless they are offered in their synagogues, and whom not even water can purify from impurities. Good things were forbidden to them, as a punishment. And they are not like the Christians, who do not regard anything as impure or forbid anything; rather they permitted (as food) anything that walks or crawls on the face of the earth.

The Muslims' way of purification is the most perfect and complete; Allah has permitted to them good things in the area of food, drinks, clothing and marriage, and He has forbidden to them whatever is impure in those areas. Hence this Ummah has the most perfect religion, the best manners, and the most virtuous deeds.

Allah has bestowed upon them knowledge, forbearance, justice and kindness that He did not bestow upon any other nation. Hence they are «an Ummah justly balanced», that is a perfect community to be «witnesses over humankind». Because of their justice and fair ruling, they pass judgement between people of other religions, but no one else passes judgement on them. Whatever the Ummah testifies is acceptable should be accepted; whatever they testify is unacceptable should be rejected. If it is asked: how can they pass judgement on others when the testimony of each disputant is unacceptable to the other? The response is that rather the view of one of the disputants will not be acceptable, because there is the suspicion of bias, but when this suspicion is not present and there is complete justice, as is the case with this Ummah, then it is acceptable, because what matters is passing judgement on the basis of justice and truth, the condition of which is knowledge and justice, which are both present in this Ummah. Therefore its judgement is to be accepted.

If anyone has any doubts about the virtue of this Ummah, and wants someone to testify in its favour, the one to do that is the most perfect of Allah's creation, their Prophet (ﷺ), hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿and the Messenger might be a witness over you﴾.

One aspect of the testimony of this Ummah over others is that on the Day of Resurrection, when Allah asks the Messengers whether they conveyed the message, and He asks the nations who rejected them whether they received the message or not, and they deny that the Prophets conveyed the message to them, the Prophets will ask this Ummah for testimony, and its Prophet will speak in its favour (so that its testimony might be accepted).

This verse also indicates that the consensus of this Ummah constitutes definitive proof, and that they are protected from error, because Allah describes them as ﴿justly balanced﴾. If we were to assume that they agreed upon error, they could not have been described as justly balanced, except in a few issues. Because Allah says ﴿that you might be witnesses over humankind﴾, this implies that if they testify on a particular matter that Allah has permitted it, forbidden it or made it obligatory, then they cannot be wrong. We also learn from this verse that issuing verdicts, testifying, giving fatwas and so on are things that can only be accepted from people of good character, those who are ﴿justly balanced﴾.

﴿and We prescribed the qibla towards which you used to face﴾, which was initially the direction of Jerusalem ﴿only in order to know﴾ – this refers to knowledge that forms the basis of reward and punishment; otherwise Allah (ﷻ) has knowledge of everything before it happens, but this prior knowledge does not form the basis of reward and punishment, because of His complete justice and so as to establish proof against His slaves; rather when their deeds occur, reward and punishment become due. In other words: We prescribed this qibla in order to know and test ﴿those who would follow the Messenger﴾ and believe in him, and follow him in all situations, because he is a slave under orders, and because the previous Books stated that he would face towards the Kaaba. The fair-minded one is the one who seeks the truth that will increase him in faith and obedience to the Messenger (ﷺ).

As for the one who turns on his heels and turns away from the truth, following his whims and desires, it only increases him in disbelief and confusion, and he gives a false argument that is based on doubts to which there is no reality.

﴿It﴾ that is, the changing of the qibla ﴿was indeed difficult﴾ that is, hard ﴿except for those whom Allah guided﴾; they realised that this was a blessing from Allah to them, so they gave thanks and acknowledged His favour to them, as He commanded them to face towards this sacred House, which He favoured over all other places on earth, and made pilgrimage to it one of the pillars of Islam and the means of erasing sin. Hence it was easy for them but difficult for others.

Then Allah says: ﴿Allah will never let your faith go to waste﴾ that is, it is not appropriate or befitting for Him to do such a thing; rather it is not possible. Allah tells us that it is impossible for Him to let your faith go to waste. This is great glad tidings for those whom He has blessed with Islam and faith, for He will preserve and keep their faith for them, and will not let it go to waste. This keeping is of two types: protecting it from going to waste or becoming invalid, by protecting it for them from any trials and tribulations, or whims and desires, that could spoil it or undermine it; and protecting it by making it grow for them and guiding them to that by means of which their faith will increase and their certainty will become complete. Just as He initially guided you to faith, He will preserve it for you and will complete His favour to you by making it, and its reward, grow and increase, and by protecting it from anything that could contaminate it. When turmoils strike, which are a test aimed at finding out who is sincere in his faith and who is lying, these trials will purify the believers and highlight their sincerity. It is as if this is aimed at refuting the argument of those who said when Allah said: ﴿and We prescribed the qibla towards which you used to face, only in order to know those who would follow the Messenger from those who would turn on their heels», that this could be a cause of some believers leaving the faith, so He refuted this misguided notion by saying: «Allah will never let your faith go to waste» by decreeing this test or others. That also includes those of the believers who died before the qibla was changed; Allah will not let their faith go to waste, because they obeyed the command of Allah and obeyed His Messenger (ﷺ) at that time. Obedience to Allah means following His command at all times, in the manner appropriate at a particular time. This verse is proof for the view of ahl as-Sunnah wal-jamâ'ah that faith includes physical deeds.

«for Allah is to all people Most Compassionate, Most Merciful» that is, He is very merciful towards them. Because of His compassion and mercy towards them, He completes His blessing that He bestowed on them in the first place, makes them distinct from those who paid lip service to faith only, without really believing in their hearts, tests them in such a way that He increases their faith and raises their status thereby, and instructs them to face towards the direction of the noblest and greatest House.

- 2:144. We see the turning of your face [for guidance] towards heaven; now We will turn you to a qibla that will please you. So turn your face in the direction of the Sacred Mosque; wherever you are, turn your faces in its direction. Those who were given the scripture know well that that is the truth from their Lord, and Allah is not unaware of what they do.

Allah says to His Prophet (ﷺ): ﴿We see the turning of your face [for guidance] towards heaven﴾ that is, We see you frequently turning your face in all directions, longing and waiting for revelation with instructions to turn towards the Kaaba. It mentions ﴿your face﴾ and not “your gaze”, to convey a sense of great eagerness and because turning of the face implies turning of the gaze.

﴿now We will turn you﴾ that is, We will direct you, as you are under Our protection

﴿to a qibla that will please you﴾ that is, that you will love, namely the Kaaba. This is indicative of the virtue and high status of the Prophet (ﷺ), as Allah (ﷻ) hastened to please him. Then He told him in clear terms to face towards it: ﴿So turn your face in the direction of the Sacred Mosque﴾. The word translated here as ﴿face﴾ refers to the front of the body

﴿wherever you are﴾ on land or sea, east or west, north or south
﴿turn your faces in its direction﴾ that is, towards it.

This highlights the fact that facing the Kaaba is a condition of validity for all prayers, obligatory and supererogatory, and that if it is possible to face it directly, then one must do so, otherwise facing its general direction is sufficient; turning away from it (whilst praying) invalidates the prayer, because the command to do a thing is a prohibition of its opposite. As Allah mentioned above the People of the Book and others objecting to that, and referred to their argument, here He states that the people of knowledge among them know that you are following the truth and the command of your Lord in that regard, because they find this in their scripture. Therefore their objection stems from stubbornness and wrongdoing, because they know that they are in the wrong. So do not concern yourself with that, for a person would only worry about someone objecting to him if the matter in question was ambiguous or unclear, and it is possible that the objection may be valid (which is not applicable in this case, however).

But when one is certain that the one who is being subjected to objections is in the right, and the motive of the one who raised the objection is stubbornness, and he is aware that he is in the wrong, then there is no reason to be concerned; rather you may expect punishment to befall the one who is objecting, in this world and in the hereafter. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿and Allah is not unaware of what they do﴾; rather He is recording their deeds and will requite them for them. This is a warning to those who object, and it offers consolation to the believers.

- 2:145. Even if you were to bring to those who were given the scripture every kind of sign, they would not follow your qibla, nor would you follow their qibla; nor indeed would they follow one another's qibla. If you were to follow their desires after the knowledge that has come to you, then you would surely be in the wrong.

Because the Prophet (ﷺ) was so eager for people to be guided, he would do his utmost to offer sincere advice, speaking to them in a gentle manner to show them the path of guidance, and he would be distressed if they did not follow the command of Allah. Among the disbelievers were some who rebelled against the command of Allah and opposed the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ), and they rejected guidance deliberately, out of stubbornness. Such people included the Jews and Christians, the people of the first Book, who disbelieved in Muhammad (ﷺ) despite having certain knowledge (that he was a true Prophet); their disbelief did not stem from ignorance. Hence Allah (ﷻ) told him: «Even if you were to bring to those who were given the scripture every kind of sign» that is, every kind of proof and evidence to support what you say and explain what you are calling them to «they would not follow your qibla» that is, they would not follow you, because following his qibla is indicative of following him. This is mentioned because the reason for the argument was the issue of the qibla. They adopted this stance because they were stubborn; they knew the truth but they turned away from it. Signs are only of benefit to one who is seeking the truth but is somewhat confused, in which case clear signs may explain the matter to him. As for the one who has decided not to follow the truth, there is no hope for him.

Moreover, there were already some differences among them, as some of them did not follow the qibla of others. So there is nothing strange in them not following your qibla, O Muhammad (ﷺ), when they are enemies filled with real envy.

«nor would you follow their qibla». This is more eloquent than saying “do not follow their qibla”, because that implies that it is natural for the Prophet (ﷺ) to be different from them, hence it is impossible for him to do that.

Similarly, as the truth had become clear on the basis of certain evidence, there was no need to bring an answer to their specious argument, because there is no end to such arguments and because it is easy to see that they are flawed, as it is known that everything that is contrary to clear truth is false. Therefore discussion of their specious arguments is not necessary.

«If you were to follow their desires» – the verse mentions «their desires» and not “their religion” because what they are following is mere whims and desires, even though deep in their hearts they know that it is not a religion. The one who forsakes religion will inevitably follow whims and desires. Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿after the knowledge that has come to you﴾ that what you are following is truth and what they are following is falsehood
 ﴿then you would﴾ if you did follow them ﴿surely be in the wrong﴾; you would be one of the wrongdoers, and what wrongdoing can be greater than the wrongdoing of one who knows what is true and false, but gives precedence to falsehood over truth? Although this is addressed to the Prophet (ﷺ), it also includes his Ummah. Moreover, if this is the case with regard to the Prophet (ﷺ), were he to do that – and he is far above becoming a wrongdoer as he is so elevated in status and did so many good deeds – then anyone else would be more deserving of being called a wrongdoer.

﴿الَّذِينَ آتَيْنَاهُمُ الْكِتَابَ يَعْرِفُونَهُ كَمَا يَعْرِفُونَ أَبْنَاءَهُمْ وَإِنَّ فَرِيقًا مِنْهُمْ لَيَكْتُمُونَ

2:146. Those to whom We gave the scripture know him [the Prophet] as they know their own sons; but some of them conceal the truth knowingly.

2:147. It is truth from your Lord; so do not be among those who doubt.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that it was well established among the People of the Book, and they knew, that Muhammad (ﷺ) was the Messenger of Allah and that what he brought was truth; they were as certain of that as they were certain of their own sons, who they would not confuse with anyone else. Their knowledge of Muhammad (ﷺ) was of such a level that there could be no doubt or confusion about it at all.

But some of them – in fact the majority of them – who disbelieved in him concealed this testimony knowingly, despite that certainty. ﴿And who does greater wrong than those who conceal a testimony they have received from Allah?﴾ (2: 140). This provided consolation to the Messenger (ﷺ) and the believers, and warned them about the evil and specious arguments of these people. But some of them did not knowingly conceal the truth, some of them believed in him, and some disbelieved in him out of ignorance.

The one who has knowledge is obliged to disclose the truth, explain it and make it attractive to people with whatever means he can of eloquence, proof, examples and so on. He must also show falsehood to be false, distinguish it from the truth, and make it look displeasing and unattractive, with whatever means he can. Those who conceal the truth did the opposite of what they were commanded to do, which had a negative impact on their character and attitude.

﴿It is truth from your Lord﴾ that is, this is the truth which is more deserving of being called truth than anything else, because of what it contains of sublime aims, good instructions, purification of the soul, and motivation to focus on what is in its best interests and ward off that which may harm it, because it comes from your Lord. He has sent down to you the Qur'an in which there is nourishment for minds and souls, and guidance to that which is in their best interests.

﴿so do not be among those who doubt﴾ that is, you should not have the slightest doubt about it, rather you should think about it and ponder its meanings until you reach certainty thereby, because pondering it will inevitably ward off doubt and bring certainty.

﴿وَلِكُلِّ وِجْهَةٍ هُومَوْلِيهَا فَاسْتَبِقُوا الْحَيْرَاتِ ۚ إِنَّ مَا تَكُونُوا يَأْتِي بِكُمْ اللَّهُ جَمِيعًا ۚ إِنَّ اللَّهَ عَلَىٰ كُلِّ شَيْءٍ قَدِيرٌ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٤٨)

2:148. Each community has its own direction to which it turns, so hasten to do good deeds. Wherever you are, Allah will bring you all together, for Allah has power over all things.

That is, the people of each religion have a direction towards which they face in worship. It is not the issue of facing towards a particular direction, because that is one of the laws that may change with time and circumstance, and it is subject to abrogation or to change from one direction to another. Rather what matters is obeying Allah and seeking to draw closer to Him. This is a sign of blessing and piety; if one does not acquire it, he will be a loser in this world and in the hereafter, but if he acquires it, he will be a winner in the true sense of the word. This is something that is agreed upon in all religions, and it is the purpose for which Allah created the universe and enjoined it upon them.

The command to hasten to do good deeds implies more than a command to do good deeds, for hastening to do good deeds implies doing them in the best possible manner, and racing to do that. The one who takes this initiative in this world will be the first to attain paradise in the hereafter, and those who are foremost in the race will be the highest in status.

Good deeds include all obligatory duties, such as prayer, fasting, zakâh, Hajj, 'umrah, jihad and helping others and yourself.

As one of the greatest motivations for hastening to do good deeds is the reward that Allah has connected to such deeds, He says: ﴿Wherever you are, Allah will bring you all together, for Allah has power over all things﴾. He will bring you all together on the Day of Resurrection, by His might and power, then he will requite each individual for what he did:

«...so He will requite those who do evil for their deeds, and He will reward those who do good with the best reward.» (an-Najm 53: 31)

This verse is quoted as evidence for doing all kinds of good deeds, such as offering prayer when the time for it begins; hastening to do what is required of fasting, Hajj, 'umrah and praying zakâh; offering sunnah acts of worship and so on. How comprehensive and beneficial this verse is!

- 2:149. Thus wherever you set out from, turn your face in the direction of the Sacred Mosque [when you pray]; that is indeed the truth from your Lord. And Allah is not unaware of what you do.
- 2:150. And wherever you set out from, turn your face in the direction of the Sacred Mosque [when you pray], and wherever you are, turn your faces towards it, so that the people will not have any argument against you, except for the wrongdoers among them. So fear them not, but fear Me. And [it is] so that I may complete My blessing upon you and that you may be guided.

«And wherever you set out from» that is, when travelling and so on; this is general in meaning ﴿turn your face in the direction of the Sacred Mosque﴾ that is, towards it.

Then Allah addresses the Ummah in general: ﴿and wherever you are, turn your faces towards it﴾.

﴿that is indeed the truth from your Lord﴾. Here Allah confirms it so that no one will have any cause for confusion and so that no one will think that this is based on whims and desires rather than obedience to Allah.

﴿And Allah is not unaware of what you do﴾; rather He sees you in all that you do, so respect Him and remember that He is always watching by obeying His commands and heeding His prohibitions. For your deeds do not go unnoticed; rather you will be requited for them in full; if they are good then you will be rewarded and if they are bad then you will be punished.

﴿so that the people will not have any argument against you﴾ that is, We have prescribed for you to face towards the Kaaba so that there will be no argument against you from the People of the Book or the polytheists. If you were to continue to face towards Bayt al-Maqdis (Jerusalem), then there would be an argument against him (the Prophet ﷺ). The People of the Book find written in their scripture that their ultimate qibla is the Kaaba, the Sacred House, and the polytheists think that this great House is a source of pride for them and that it is part of the religion of Ibrâheem, so if Muhammad (ﷺ) did not face towards it in prayer, then they would have an argument against him and would say: How can he claim to be following the religion of Ibrâheem from whom he is descended, when he has forsaken his qibla? Thus by facing towards the Kaaba, proof was established against the People of the Book and the polytheists, so that they would have no argument against him, except those of them who did wrong; in other words those who argued against him are wrong in their argument, and there is no basis for this argument except following whims and desires and wrongdoing. Such a person will not be convinced by arguing with him. Likewise, there is no point in paying attention to any of the specious arguments that they present to support their view. Hence Allah (ﷻ) said: ﴿So fear them not﴾, because their argument is invalid, and what is invalid is always defeated, as is its proponent. This is unlike the proponent of the truth, for truth always gains the upper hand and prevails; it is the one who has truth on his side who ought to be feared. Allah decreed that He should be feared, and this fear is the foundation of all good. The one who does not fear Allah will not refrain from disobeying Him, and he will not obey His commands.

The Muslims' turning to face towards the Kaaba is a matter that resulted in a great deal of confusion, that was promoted by the People of the Book, the hypocrites and the polytheists. They spoke a great deal about it and presented specious arguments. Hence Allah (ﷻ) explained the matter fully, clarified it and reiterated it in various ways, including this verse.

- He enjoined it three times, although saying it once would have been sufficient.
- Commands were usually either addressed to the Messenger (ﷺ), and the Ummah was included in that, by implication, or they were addressed to the Ummah in general. But in this verse, the command is addressed to the Messenger (ﷺ) in particular: ﴿turn your face﴾, and then to the Ummah in general: ﴿turn your faces﴾.
- Allah refuted all the false arguments that were presented by the stubborn people, addressing them one by one, as explained above.
- He put an end to hope on the part of the People of the Book that the Messenger (ﷺ) would follow the qibla of the People of the Book.
- Allah says: ﴿that is indeed the truth from your Lord﴾. The mere fact that this is a statement from Almighty Allah is sufficient, yet He emphasised it (by saying wa innahu, translated here as «that is indeed»).

As He is the knower of what is hidden, he tells us that the validity of this matter was well-established for People of the Book, but they concealed this testimony knowingly.

As Allah's instructions to face towards the qibla is a great blessing, and His kindness and mercy to this Ummah are persistent, and every time He prescribed something new for them, it was a great blessing, He said: «And [it is] so that I may complete My blessing upon you». The foundation of this blessing is guidance to His religion, by sending His Messenger (ﷺ) and revealing His Book to him, then other blessings came after that to complete the initial blessing. The blessings that were bestowed from the beginning of the Prophet's mission until his time to depart from this world drew close cannot be enumerated, for Allah bestowed upon him blessings and bounty, and He bestowed upon his Ummah that which completed the blessings that He had bestowed upon him and then, and Allah revealed to him the words:

«...This day have I perfected your religion for you, completed My blessing upon you, and have chosen for you Islam as your religion...»

Praise be to Allah for His bounty, which cannot be enumerated or quantified, let alone giving sufficient thanks for it.

«and that you may be guided» that is, that you may learn the truth and act upon it. By His mercy towards His slaves, Allah (ﷻ) has made the means of guidance very easy for them and has described it very clearly to them; as part of that, He uses the stubborn people who argue against the truth, and thus the truth becomes more manifest and its signs become clearer, and the invalidity of falsehood and the lack of any foundation become apparent. Were it not for falsehood opposing truth, truth would not be clear to most people. Things become clearer when contrasted with their opposites. Were it not for the night, the virtue of the day would not be known; were it not for ugliness, the virtue of beauty would not be known; were it not for darkness, the benefit of light would not be known. Were it not for falsehood, truth would not become so clear. Praise be to Allah for that.

﴿كَمَا أَرْسَلْنَا فِيكُمْ رَسُولًا مِنْكُمْ يَتْلُو عَلَيْكُمْ آيَاتِنَا وَيُزَكِّيكُمْ وَيُعَلِّمُكُمُ الْكِتَابَ وَالْحِكْمَةَ وَيُعَلِّمُكُم مَّا لَمْ تَكُونُوا تَعْلَمُونَ ﴿١٥١﴾ فَاذْكُرُونِي أَذْكُرْكُمْ وَاشْكُرُوا لِي وَلَا تَكْفُرُونِ ﴿١٥٢﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٥١-١٥٢)

- 2:151. Similarly We sent to you a Messenger from among you, reciting to you Our revelations, purifying you, and teaching you the Book and wisdom, and teaching you that which you did not know.
- 2:152. Therefore remember Me; I will remember you. Give thanks to Me, and do not be ungrateful.

Here Allah tells us: the blessings that We bestowed upon you by instructing you to face towards the Kaaba and completing the blessing with other laws and further blessings are not something new; rather We bestowed upon you many blessings, great and small, the most significant of which is sending to you this great Messenger (ﷺ) from among you; you know his lineage, truthfulness, honesty, perfect character and sincerity.

﴿reciting to you Our revelations﴾. This refers to the Qur'anic verses; he recites to you verses that distinguish truth from falsehood, guidance from misguidance. First of all they tell you of the oneness and perfection of Allah, then the truthfulness of His Messenger (ﷺ) and the obligation to believe in him, then they tell you about the resurrection and other matters of the unseen, so that you will attain complete guidance and certain knowledge.

«purifying you» that is, he teaches you good manners and purifies your souls, teaching you how to achieve good characteristics and keep away from bad characteristics, such as purifying you by leading you from polytheism to monotheism, from showing off to sincerity, from lying to honesty, from treachery to trustworthiness, from arrogance to humility, from bad attitudes to good attitudes, from mutual hatred and shunning to mutual love and strong ties, and other kinds of purification.

«teaching you the Book» that is, the Qur'an and wisdom. It was suggested that this refers to the Sunnah or to deep knowledge and understanding of Sharia and fiqh, and the ability to evaluate things properly. On that basis, we may understand that teaching of the Sunnah is included in teaching of the Book, because the Sunnah explains the Qur'an and offers commentary and interpretation of it.

«and teaching you that which you did not know». Before the Prophet (ﷺ) was sent to them, they were in a state of obvious misguidance, with no knowledge or achievements. All the knowledge and achievements attained by this Ummah came at the hands of the Prophet (ﷺ) and because of him. This blessing is the foundation of all other blessings, and it is the greatest blessing that Allah bestowed upon His slaves. What is required of them is to give thanks to Allah for it and to adhere to the Prophet's teachings.

Hence Allah says: «Therefore remember Me; I will remember you». Here Allah commands us to remember Him, and He promises the best of rewards for that, which is that He remembers those who remember Him. The Messenger (ﷺ) has told us in a hadith qudsi that Allah (ﷻ) says:

«Whoever remembers Me to himself, I will remember him to Myself; whoever remembers Me in a gathering, I will remember him in a gathering better than it.» (A sound hadith recorded by at-Tirmidhi)

Allah tells us that the best of dhikr (remembrance of Him) is that which occurs simultaneously in the heart and on the lips. This is the dhikr that leads to increased knowledge of Allah and love for Him, and brings a greater reward. Dhikr is the essence of gratitude, hence He enjoins it in particular, then follows that with the command to show gratitude in general, as He says: ﴿Give thanks to Me﴾ that is, for these blessings that I have bestowed upon you, and because I have ward off from you all sorts of harm. Gratitude may be in the heart, which means affirming and acknowledging the blessings; it may be on the lips, in the form of dhikr and words of praise; or it may take the form of physical actions such as obeying Allah, submitting to His commands and avoiding that which He has forbidden. By means of gratitude, the existing blessings will continue, and further blessings will be added to them. Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...If you give thanks, I will surely give you more...﴾ (Ibrâheem 14: 7)

In these two verses, Allah instructs us to give thanks after receiving the spiritual blessings of knowledge, purification and learning good manners, as well as being helped to do good deeds, and He tells us that this is the greatest of blessings; in fact it is the real blessing that will last after other blessings vanish. The one who is guided and enabled to acquire knowledge or do good deeds should give thanks to Allah for that, so that He may increase His blessings to them and so as to ward off self-admiration. So they should busy themselves with giving thanks.

Because the opposite of gratitude is ingratitude, Allah forbids its opposite and says: ﴿and do not be ungrateful﴾. What is meant by ingratitude here is the opposite of gratitude; it is ingratitude for and denial of blessings, and the failure to appreciate them and fulfil one's duties with regard to them. It may be understood as being general in meaning, hence ingratitude is of many types, the most serious of which is disbelief in Allah, then sins of different types, such as associating others with Allah and sins that are less serious than that.

2:153. O you who believe, seek help through patience and prayer; for Allah is with those who are patient.

Here Allah (ﷻ) commands the believers to seek help in their religious and worldly affairs «through patience and prayer». Patience means controlling oneself in the face of that which one dislikes. That is of three types: patience in obedience to Allah, so that you will do it; patience in refraining from disobedience to Allah, so that you will not do it; and patience in accepting the decree of Allah when it is hard, so that you will not resent it. Patience is a great help in all matters, and there is no way for one who is not patient to achieve his goals, especially with regard to acts of worship that are difficult and are to be done regularly, because they require a great deal of patience to bear the hardship involved. If the one who does these acts of worship adheres to patience, he will attain success, but if he is deterred by difficulty and hardship, and does not have the patience to persist in these acts of worship, he will not achieve anything, and he will be deprived. Similarly, the sin for which one has a strong inclination and which is within one's means is something that cannot be resisted except by means of great patience, resisting one's inclination for the sake of Allah (ﷻ) and by seeking Allah's help to protect one from it, for it is one of the greatest temptations and is also a very difficult test, especially if it is ongoing. In such cases willpower and physical strength grow weak, and it may lead to resentment, unless one resists it by means of patience for the sake of Allah and puts one's trust in Him, turning to Him and expressing one's constant need for His help.

Therefore we know that patience is something that people need; in fact they are in desperate need of it in all situations. Hence Allah has enjoined it and tells us that He is ﴿with those who are patient﴾ that is, He is with those for whom patience is second nature. He is with them in the sense of helping and guiding them, thus hardships and difficulties become easy for them, they become able to cope with any serious matter and nothing is difficult for them. This kind of 'being with' is indicative of Allah's love, help, support and closeness, and it is a great privilege that is bestowed upon those who are patient. If those who are patient did not have any virtue other than the fact that Allah is with them, that would be sufficient honour for them. As for 'being with' in a general sense, it means that Allah is with us by His knowledge and power, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...He is with you wherever you may be...﴾ (al-Hadeed 57: 4)

This is general in meaning and applies to everyone.

Allah enjoins seeking help through prayer because prayer is the foundation of the faith and the light of the believers; it is the connection between the slave and his Lord. If a person's prayer is complete, including every obligatory and sunnah action, and it is done with the presence of mind that is its essence, when the individual begins to pray, feeling that he is indeed standing before his Lord, standing like a well-disciplined slave, focusing on everything that he says and does, fully immersed in conversing with his Lord and calling upon Him, then this prayer is most certainly one of the greatest helps in all one's affairs. Prayer restrains one from shameful and evil acts, because this focus in prayer will lead him to comply with the commands of his Lord and heed His prohibitions. This is the prayer through which Allah has enjoined us to seek help in all our affairs.

2:154. Do not say of those who are slain in the way of Allah: They are dead. Nay, they are alive, although you do not perceive [it].

When Allah issued the command to seek help through patience in all affairs, He gave an example of a matter in which one may seek help through patience, namely jihad for His sake. It is the best of physical acts of obedience and the most difficult for people, because in and of itself it is tough and because it may lead to death and loss of life, for people usually are attached to this world, so they want to live and attain the means of survival. So all their activities are for the purpose of survival and are aimed at warding off what is contrary to it.

It is well known that the wise individual does not give up what he loves unless it is for something even better. Hence Allah tells us that the one who is killed for His sake, when fighting so that the word of Allah may be supreme and His religion may prevail, and not for any other purpose, is not missing out on the life that he loves; rather he has attained a life that is more perfect than what you may think or imagine.

The martyrs:

﴿...are alive with their Lord, receiving provision, rejoicing in what Allah has bestowed upon them out of His bounty, sharing glad tidings that for those who have yet to join them, of those whom they left behind, they will have no fear, nor will they grieve. Rejoicing in the favours and bounties of Allah, and at the awareness that Allah will not cause the reward of the believers to be lost.﴾ (Āl 'Imrān 3: 169-171)

Is there anything greater than this life (of the martyrs) that includes closeness to Allah (ﷻ), physical enjoyment in the form of delicious food and drink, and spiritual enjoyment, which is joy, jubilation and the end of fear and grief? This is a life in al-barzakh (the period between death and the resurrection) that is more perfect than the life of this world. In fact the Prophet (ﷺ) told us that the souls of the martyrs are in the crops of green birds that drink from the rivers of paradise and eat from its fruits, then they go back to the lamps that are suspended from the Throne. In this verse there is the greatest encouragement of jihad for the sake of Allah, and being steadfast and patient in jihad. If people were aware of the reward of those who are killed for the sake of Allah, no one would stay behind. But the lack of certainty is what makes their resolve fail, makes them sleep more and causes them to miss out on immense rewards. How could it be otherwise, when Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Allah has purchased from the believers their lives and their wealth, in return for which paradise will be theirs; they fight in His cause, and they slay and are slain...﴾ (at-Tawbah 9: 111)

If a man had one thousand souls and lost them one by one for the sake of Allah, that would be insignificant in comparison to this great reward. Hence after seeing with their own eyes the reward of Allah, the martyrs would only wish to return to this world so that they might be killed again and again for His sake.

This verse indicates that there is bliss and torment in al-barzakh, as is confirmed in so many texts.

- 2:155. We will certainly test you with something of fear and hunger, and loss of property, lives and crops, but give glad tidings to those who patiently persevere,
- 2:156. Who say, when afflicted with calamity: To Allah we belong, and to Him is our return.
- 2:157. They are the ones on whom blessings and mercy from their Lord are [bestowed], and they are the ones who are guided.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that He will inevitably test His slaves with all sorts of trials and tribulations, in order to distinguish the sincere from the liars, and the impatient from the patient. This is His way with His slaves, because if times of ease were to persist for people of faith, without any trials, it would not be clear who is who, and that would lead to mischief. The wisdom of Allah dictates that good people should be distinguished from bad people. The purpose of tests is not to cause the believers to lose their faith or turn away from the religion, for Allah will not let the faith of the believers go to waste. But in this verse He tells us that He will test His slaves ﴿with something of fear﴾ of their enemies ﴿and hunger﴾. That is, He will test them with a little of these things, because if He tested them with extensive fear or hunger, they would be destroyed, but the purpose of tests is to purify, not to destroy.

﴿and loss of property﴾ – this includes everything that may befall wealth and property, such as vermin, drowning and other types of loss, or the seizing of wealth by evildoers, such as unjust rulers, bandits and the like.

﴿lives﴾ that is, loss of loved ones such as children, relatives and friends. It also includes various kinds of diseases that may affect the individual or one of his loved ones.

﴿and crops﴾ that is, grains and the fruits of palm trees and other kinds of trees and plants, because of intense cold, hail, burning, plagues of locusts and so on.

These things will inevitably happen, because the All-Knowing, All-Aware has told us of it, and it happened as He foretold. When it happens, people respond in one of two ways, either impatience or patience. The one who is impatient suffers two calamities: the loss of what he loves, which is the calamity that he has been stricken with, and loss of something greater than that, which is the reward for obeying Allah's command to be patient. Thus he incurs loss and deprivation of reward and whatever he has of faith decreases. He misses out on patience, acceptance and gratitude, and he becomes resentful, which is indicative of a lack of faith.

As for the one whom Allah enables to be patient when calamities occur, he controls himself and stops himself developing any resentment that could be reflected in his words or deeds. He seeks reward for it from Allah, and he knows that the reward he will attain for his patience is greater than the calamity that has befallen him. In his case, the calamity turns into a blessing, because it becomes a means of attaining something better and more beneficial for him than what he lost. So he obeys the command of Allah and earns reward. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿but give glad tidings to those who patiently persevere﴾ that is, give them the glad tidings that they will be rewarded without measure.

Those who are patient are those who attain these great glad tidings and immense gifts. Then Allah describes them thus: ﴿who say, when afflicted with calamity﴾ – calamity is anything that causes mental anguish or physical harm, or both, such as the things mentioned above. ﴿To Allah we belong﴾ that is, Allah owns us and we are under His control; we have no control over our own selves and property at all. If we are tested with regard to some of it, then the Most Merciful has decreed something concerning His slaves and their property as He wills, so there should be no objection to Him. Rather it is part of being a true slave of Allah (‘uboodiyah) to realise that the calamity has been decreed by the Sovereign, the Most Wise, Who is more merciful to him than he is to himself. This gives him a sense of contentment and acceptance of Allah's decree, which makes him grateful to Allah for decreeing for His slave that which is good for him, even if he does not realise it. In addition to the fact that we belong to Allah, we will return to Him on the Day of Resurrection, when He will requite each person in accordance with his deeds. So if we show patience and seek reward, we will find our reward waiting for us with Him, but if we are impatient and resentful, our share will be nothing but resentment and the loss of reward. Knowing that we are slaves of Allah and will return to Him is among the greatest means of attaining patience.

﴿are the ones on whom blessings and mercy from their Lord are [bestowed]﴾ that is, His praising them and highlighting their high status. His mercy is great; by His mercy towards them, He enables them to be patient, by virtue of which they will attain a perfect reward. ﴿and they are the ones who are guided﴾ and who know the truth; they know that they belong to Allah and that they will return to Him, so they act accordingly, thus showing patience for the sake of Allah.

This verse indicates that the one who is not patient will have the opposite of what they have. This implies that he is condemned by Allah and will be punished; it is also indicative of misguidance and loss. How great is the difference between the two types of people; how little is the trouble that the patient may have to bear, and how great is the trouble that the impatient will face. These two verses refer to training oneself to deal with calamity before it happens, so as to make things easier when it does happen; they also tell us what his response should be when calamity strikes, which is to be patient, how to help oneself develop patience, and what those who are patient will have of reward. We also learn that the situation of one who is impatient is the opposite of the situation of one who is patient.

These trials and tests have been Allah's way with those who have gone before, and you will find no change in Allah's way (33: 62).

﴿إِنَّ الصَّفَا وَالْمَرْوَةَ مِنْ شَعَائِرِ اللَّهِ فَمَنْ حَجَّ الْبَيْتَ أَوِ اعْتَمَرَ فَلَا جُنَاحَ عَلَيْهِ أَنْ يَطَّوَّفَ بِهِمَا وَمَنْ تَطَوَّعَ خَيْرًا فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ شَاكِرٌ عَلِيمٌ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٥٨)

2:158. Verily Şafā and Marwah are among the symbols of Allah. So whoever comes to the House for Hajj or ‘umrah, there is no blame on him for going back and forth between them. And whoever does good of his own accord, then verily Allah is Appreciative, All-Knowing.

Here Allah tells us that Şafā and Marwah, which are two well-known hills in Makkah

﴿are among the symbols of Allah﴾ that is, they are visible signs of His religion; Allah has prescribed that His slaves should do acts of worship connected to them (that is, sa‘iy: going between Şafā and Marwah during Hajj and ‘umrah). As they are among the symbols of Allah, and Allah has enjoined veneration of His symbols in the verse:

﴿...And whoever honours the rites of Allah, verily that stems from piety of the hearts.﴾ (al-Hajj 22: 32)

—the two texts together indicate that they (Şafā and Marwah) are indeed among the symbols of Allah and that veneration of His symbols stems from piety of the heart.

Piety is obligatory for everyone who is accountable, so this indicates that going between them (sa‘iy) is an obligatory part of Hajj and ‘umrah, as is the view of the majority of scholars. That is supported by prophetic hadiths and the actions of the Prophet himself (ﷺ), who said:

«Learn from me your rituals of Hajj.» (Muslim)

﴿So whoever comes to the House for Hajj or ‘umrah, there is no blame on him for going back and forth between them﴾. This verse is a response to the misgivings and reservations that some of the Muslims had about going back and forth between them, because during the jāhiliyah idols were worshipped at these locations. But Allah (ﷻ) stated that there is nothing wrong with doing that, so as to ward off these misgivings; it does not mean that this action is not obligatory.

The fact that this is specifically connected to Hajj and 'umrah indicates that there is no voluntary sa'iy that may be performed separately; it can only be part of Hajj or 'umrah. This is in contrast to ṭawâf or circumambulation of the Kaaba, which is prescribed as part of Hajj and 'umrah, but is also an act of worship in and of itself.

With regard to sa'iy, standing in 'Arafah and Muzdalifah, and stoning the jamarât, these are part of the rituals; if they are done outside of the rituals, then this comes under the heading of bid'ah (innovation). Innovation is of two types: worshipping Allah by doing an act of worship that was not prescribed at all, and worshipping Allah by doing an act of worship that He has prescribed should be done in a particular manner, in a manner other than that which was prescribed. The latter is applicable in this case.

﴿And whoever does good of his own accord﴾ that is, he does an act of worship, such as Hajj, 'umrah, ṭawâf, prayer, fasting and so on, sincerely for the sake of Allah (ﷻ), that is good for him. This indicates that the more a person does of acts of obedience, the more he increases in goodness, spiritual development, and status before Allah, because of the increase in his faith.

It also indicates that voluntary acts should be restricted to those that are good, because doing innovated actions of one's own accord, that were not prescribed by Allah or His Messenger (ﷺ), does not achieve anything but effort and troubles for no purpose. This is not good for the individual; rather it may be bad for him, if he did that deliberately, knowing that this act is not prescribed.

﴿then verily Allah is Appreciative, All-Knowing﴾. Ash-Shâkir (the Appreciative) and ash-Shakoor (the Most Appreciative) are among the names of Allah (ﷻ), Who accepts small deeds from His slaves and rewards them abundantly for them. If His slave follows His commands and obeys Him, He will help him in that, praise him for it and reward him with light, faith and contentment in his heart, as well as physical strength and energy, and increased blessing in all his affairs; and He will help him to do more good deeds.

Then after that, in the hereafter he will find his reward with his Lord, complete and ready for him, with nothing detracted from it.

Another aspect of Allah's appreciation towards His slave is that if anyone gives up something for the sake of Allah, He will reward him with something better than it; whoever draws nears to Him a hand's span, He will draw near to him an arm's length; whoever draws near to Him an arm's length, He will draw near to him a fathom's length; and whoever comes to Him walking, He will come to him at speed. Whoever deals with Him will make multiple gains in reward.

Whilst He is Appreciative, He is also All-Knowing; He knows who is deserving of complete reward, according to his intentions, faith and piety, and He knows who is not like that. He knows the deeds of His slaves, and He will not let them go to waste; rather they will find them in the greatest abundance, according to the intentions that are known to the All-Knowing, Most Wise.

﴿إِنَّ الَّذِينَ يَكْتُمُونَ مَا أَنزَلْنَا مِنَ الْبَيِّنَاتِ وَالْهُدَىٰ مِنْ بَعْدِ مَا بَيَّنَّاهُ لِلنَّاسِ فِي الْكِتَابِ ۖ أُولَٰئِكَ يَلْعَنُهُمُ اللَّهُ وَيَلْعَنُهُمُ اللَّعْنُونَ ﴿١٥٩﴾ إِلَّا الَّذِينَ تَابُوا وَأَصْلَحُوا وَبَيَّنَّوْا فَأُولَٰئِكَ أَتُوبُ عَلَيْهِمْ وَأَنَا التَّوَّابُ الرَّحِيمُ ﴿١٦٠﴾ إِنَّ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا وَمَاتُوا وَهُمْ كُفَّارًا ۖ أُولَٰئِكَ عَلَيْهِمُ لَعْنَةُ اللَّهِ وَالْمَلَائِكَةِ وَالنَّاسِ أَجْمَعِينَ ﴿١٦١﴾ خَالِدِينَ فِيهَا لَا يُخَفَّفُ عَنْهُمُ الْعَذَابُ وَلَا هُمْ يُنظَرُونَ ﴿١٦٢﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٥٩-١٦٢)

- 2:159. Those who conceal the clear signs and guidance that We have sent down, after We have made it clear for the people in the Book – on them shall be the curse of Allah, and the curse of the cursers,
- 2:160. Except those who repent and mend their ways and openly declare [what they used to conceal]; they are the ones whose repentance I will accept, for I am the Acceptor of repentance, the Most Merciful.
- 2:161. Those who disbelieve, and die as disbelievers – upon them is the curse of Allah and of the angels and of all humankind.
- 2:162. They will remain under it [the curse] forever. The punishment will not be reduced for them, nor will they be given any reprieve.

Although these verses were revealed concerning the People of the Book and what they concealed concerning the Messenger (ﷺ) and his attributes, the ruling is general in meaning and applies to everyone who conceals that which Allah revealed of «clear signs» that confirm and highlight the truth «and guidance», which is knowledge by means of which one is guided to the straight path, and the path that leads to paradise becomes distinct from the path of the people of hell. Allah took a covenant from people of knowledge, that they should explain to the people what Allah has blessed them with of knowledge of the Book and should not conceal it, for whoever ignores the covenant and combines the two evils, of concealing that which Allah has revealed and deceiving the slaves of Allah, «on them shall be the curse of Allah» that is, He will cast them far away from Him and His mercy. «and the curse of the cursers» – this refers to all of creation. The curse will befall them from all of creation, because they strove to mislead people, corrupt their religion and take them away from the mercy of Allah. Thus their punishment will fit their crime. By the same token, if someone teaches the people good, Allah will send blessings upon him, as will His angels, and even the fish in the depths of the sea, for his efforts to benefit people, teach them their religion properly and bring them closer to the mercy of Allah. Thus the reward will fit his good deeds. The one who conceals that which Allah revealed has gone against the command of Allah and is opposing Him. Allah explains the signs to people and clarifies them, but this person tried to conceal them. This stern warning applies to such a one.

«Except those who repent» that is, give up their sins out of regret and resolve not to go back to them

«and mend their ways», correcting their corrupt actions. It is not sufficient just to give up doing bad deeds unless they are replaced with good deeds. It is not sufficient in the case of one who conceals knowledge either, unless he makes known what he was concealing and shows the opposite of what he was hiding. In that case Allah will accept his repentance, because there is no barrier preventing one from attaining His acceptance of repentance. Whoever meets the conditions of repentance, Allah will accept it from him, for He is the Acceptor of repentance; in other words, He forgives and pardons His slaves after they commit sin, if they repent, and He grants them His blessing and favour after having withheld it, if they turn back to Him.

«the Most Merciful», Who is possessed of great compassion that encompasses all things. By His mercy, He guides and enables them to repent, then by His mercy, He accepts it from them, out of kindness and generosity. This ruling applies to one who repents from sin. As for the one who disbelieves and persists in his disbelief until he dies, and does not turn back to his Lord or hasten to repent to Him, he is among those «upon» whom «is the curse of Allah and of the angels and of all humankind», because when their disbelief became an entrenched characteristic, the curse likewise became entrenched and will never depart, because when the reason is present, the ruling still applies.

«They will remain under it [the curse] forever» that is, they will remain subject to the curse. This phrase may also mean that they will remain subject to the punishment; both meanings are interlinked.

«The punishment will not be reduced for them»; rather their punishment will be ongoing and severe

«nor will they be given any reprieve» that is, the punishment will not be delayed, because the time for reprieve, which was in this world, has ended and they can no longer give any excuse.

2:163. And your God is One God: There is no god but He, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful

Here Allah (ﷻ), Who is the Most Truthful, tells us that He is «One God» that is, He is One and unique; there is nothing like unto Him in His essence, names, attributes, and actions. He has no partner in His essence, no equal, none like unto Him, none comparable to Him, no peer; there is no creator or controller apart from Him. As that is the case, He is the only One Who deserves to be venerated and worshipped in all ways. Nothing of His creation should be associated with Him, because He is «the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful», Who is possessed of great mercy that cannot be matched by the mercy of anyone else, for it encompasses all things and all living beings. By His mercy, all His creation came into existence; by His mercy, all good and necessary qualities are possessed by His creation; by His mercy, all harm is warded off from them; by His mercy, He has made Himself known to His slaves through His attributes and His blessings; He has explained to them everything they need and is in their best interests in their religious and worldly affairs, by sending the Messengers and revealing the Books. Once it is known that whatever people have of blessings is from Allah, and that no one in creation can benefit anyone else, this leads to the conclusion that Allah is the only One Who is deserving of all kinds of worship; He is the only One Who is to be loved, feared and venerated, in whom hopes are to be placed and in whom we should trust, and all other kinds of worship.

One of the worst and most abhorrent kinds of transgression is turning away from worship of Allah to worship of His slaves, and to associate those who were created from dust with the Lord of Lords, or to worship a created being that is controlled and helpless in all aspects alongside the Creator Who is in control, the All-Powerful, the Most Strong, Who has subjugated all things and everything is subservient to Him.

In this verse, the oneness and divinity of the Creator are affirmed, by denying that any created being is like Him, and by highlighting the basic evidence for that, which is the affirmation of His mercy, among the results of which are the existence of all blessings and the warding off of all harms. This is evidence, in general terms, of His oneness. In the next verse, detailed evidence is given:

2:164. Verily in the creation of the heavens and the earth; in the alternation of the night and the day; in the sailing of the ships through the ocean for the benefit of humankind, in the rain which Allah sends down from the skies, and the life which He gives thereby to an earth that is dead, in the beasts of all kinds that He scatters throughout the earth; in the changing of the winds and clouds that run their appointed courses between heaven and earth – [here] are indeed signs for people of understanding.

Here, Allah tells us that in these created beings there are great signs, that is, evidence of the oneness and divinity of the Creator, and of His great power, mercy and all other attributes. But they are signs ﴿for people of understanding﴾ that is, for those who use their minds for the purpose for which they were created. So according to the level of rational thinking with which Allah has blessed His slave, that person will be able to benefit from these signs, and recognise them by way of his reasoning, thinking and pondering. In the ﴿creation of the heavens﴾, with their great height and breadth, their precision and perfection, and what Allah has placed in them of the sun, moon, and stars, and how they mark time in the ordering of people's affairs, and in the creation of ﴿the earth﴾ as a place where they could settle and abide, benefiting from everything in it and pondering it, there is an indication of Allah's unique powers of creation and control; this highlights His immense power by which He created it; His wisdom by means of which He perfected it, designed it beautifully, and regulated it; and His knowledge and mercy by means of which He placed what He placed on earth of things that are beneficial to humankind, serving their interests and meeting their needs.

In all of that there is the most eloquent proof of His perfection and that He alone is deserving of worship, because He alone creates and controls, and takes care of His slaves' affairs.

﴿in the alternation of the night and the day﴾, which constantly follow one another; when one departs, it is succeeded by the other. This alternation of night and day results in alternation between heat and cold and moderate temperatures, and between long and short days and days of moderate length. All of that in turn leads to the seasons, the order of which brings great benefits to the sons of Adam and their livestock, and to everything that is on the face of the earth of trees and plants. All of that is in accordance with a system and plan, in such a way that dazzles the most brilliant of minds. This is indicative of Allah's great might, knowledge, wisdom, vast mercy, all-encompassing kindness and full control which is His alone. His might is the might of sovereignty and power, which dictates that He alone should be venerated and worshipped, and He is the only One Who should be loved, the only One Whom we should fear and in Whom we should put our hope, and strive to attain His love and pleasure.

﴿in the sailing of the ships through the ocean for the benefit of humankind﴾ – this refers to ships, boats and other vessels that Allah inspired His slaves to make, and created for them the mental and physical means of making them. Then He subjugated this vast ocean for them, and the winds by means of which they move, carrying passengers, wealth and goods that are essential conveniences for people, in such a way that serves their interests. Who is it that inspired them to make them, enabled them to do so, and created for them the means of making them? Who is it that subjugated the sea for them, so that they travel in it by His leave and His subjugation of the winds? Who is it that created fire and metal for vehicles and vessels on land and sea, which helps to carry them and what they contain of wealth? Did these things happen randomly, or are they all made by this weak and vulnerable creature who emerged from his mother's womb with no knowledge or ability, then Allah created that ability in him and taught him what He wanted to teach him? Or was all of that subjugated to them by One Lord, Most Wise and All-Knowing, for Whom nothing is beyond Him and nothing is too difficult for Him. Indeed all things are subject to His Lordship, greatness and might.

The best that can be said about this weak human being is that Allah has made him part of the means by which these great things came into existence. This indicates that Allah is merciful and cares for His creation. All of this dictates that all love, fear, hope, obedience, humility and veneration should be for Allah alone.

﴿in the rain which Allah sends down from the skies﴾, and it comes down from the clouds

﴿and the life which He gives thereby to an earth that is dead﴾, and it brings forth all kinds of provisions and all types of plants, without which humans and animals cannot live.

Is this not indicative of the might of the One Who sent it down, and brought forth by means of it what He brought forth? Is it not indicative of His mercy and kindness to His slaves, and His taking care of their interests? Is it not indicative of the greatness of their need for Him in all aspects? Does that not dictate that He alone should be their God Whom they worship? Is that not evidence for the resurrection of the dead and their requital for their deeds?

﴿in the beasts of all kinds that He scatters throughout the earth﴾ that is, that He spreads throughout all regions of the earth, or of different kinds of animals. This is indicative of His might, greatness, oneness, and sovereignty. He subjugated them for humankind, so that they benefit from them in all ways: they eat the flesh of some of them and drink their milk; they ride some of them, and use others for various tasks and to guard them; they learn lessons from some of them. As He has scattered beasts of all kinds throughout the earth, He also takes care of their provision; there is no living creature on earth but its provision is due from Allah; He knows where it lives and where it dies.

﴿in the changing of the winds and clouds﴾ hot and cold, north and south, east and west, and everything in between. Sometimes the wind generates clouds; sometimes it joins the clouds together (into a heap); sometimes it fecundates the clouds; sometimes it causes rain; sometimes it breaks up the clouds, removing their harm; sometimes it brings mercy and sometimes it brings punishment.

Who is it that controls the winds in this way, and creates in them benefits for people which they cannot do without? Who is it that generates them so that they become a means of survival for all kinds of animals and all living things, such as trees, grains and plants? It can be none other than the Almighty, the Most Wise, the Most Merciful, Who is kind to His slaves and is deserving of all humility, submission, love, devotion and worship.

In the subjugation of the clouds between heaven and earth, which despite their lightness and fragility carry a great deal of water, which Allah drives wherever He wills, and it brings life to the land and the people, irrigating the hills and valleys, is an indication of His great power, kindness and mercy. He sends the rain down to humankind at the time of need, but if they will be harmed by its abundance, He withholds it from them. He sends it down as a mercy and kindness, and directs it in accordance with His care and compassion.

Is it not reprehensible on the part of His slaves that they should enjoy His provision and live by His kindness, yet they use it for sinful purposes that incur His wrath? Is this not indicative of His forbearance, patience and tolerance, and of the extent of His kindness? Praise be to Him at all times and in all circumstances.

The point is that the more a man of understanding thinks of Allah's creation and thoroughly examines the wonders thereof, the more he thinks of the amazing design and what He has created in it of things that are indicative of His kindness and wisdom, he will realise that it was created for the truth and by the truth; it is an open book of signs and evidence that point to what Allah has told us about Himself and His oneness, and what the Messengers have told us about the Last Day, and that all people are subjugated to His control and have no control over themselves and no power to resist.

Thus you should realise that all of creation, in heaven and on earth, are in desperate need of Him. He is the One Who is independent of means in and of Himself, and has no need of any of His creation. There is no god but Allah and there is no lord besides Him.

﴿وَمِنَ النَّاسِ مَن يَتَّخِذُ مِن دُونِ اللَّهِ أَندَادًا يُحِبُّونَهُمْ كَحُبِّ اللَّهِ وَالَّذِينَ آمَنُوا أَشَدُّ حُبًّا لِلَّهِ وَلَوْ رَى الَّذِينَ ظَلَمُوا إِذْ يَرَوْنَ الْعَذَابَ أَنَّ الْقُوَّةَ لِلَّهِ جَمِيعًا وَأَنَّ اللَّهَ شَدِيدُ الْعَذَابِ ﴿١٦٥﴾ إِذْ تَبَرَّأَ الَّذِينَ اتَّبَعُوا مِنَ الَّذِينَ اتَّبَعُوا وَرَأَوْا الْعَذَابَ وَتَقَطَّعَتْ بِهِمُ الْأَسْبَابُ ﴿١٦٦﴾ وَقَالَ الَّذِينَ اتَّبَعُوا لَوْ أَنَّا كُنَّا نَدْرِكُهُمْ لَسَخَّطْنَا لَهُمْ عَنَّا كُرْهًُا فَتَبَرَّأْنَا مِنْهُمْ كَمَا تَبَرَّءُوا مِنَّا كَذَلِكَ يُرِيهِمُ اللَّهُ أَعْمَالَهُمْ حَسَرَاتٍ عَلَيْهِمْ وَمَا هُمْ بِخَارِجِينَ مِنَ النَّارِ ﴿١٦٧﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٦٥-١٦٧)

- 2:165. Yet there are some people who take [for worship] others besides Allah, as equals [with Allah]; they love them as they should love Allah. But those who believe have greater love for Allah. When the transgressors see the punishment, they will realise that all power belongs to Allah and that Allah is severe in punishment.
- 2:166. When those who were followed disavow those who followed [them], and they see the punishment, and all ties between them are severed,
- 2:167. And those who followed say: If only we had one more chance, we would disavow them, as they have disavowed us, thus Allah will show them their deeds as a cause of bitter regret. They will never emerge from the fire.

How beautiful is this verse; after having explained in the previous verse His oneness and the definitive evidence for it, and the clear proof that leads to certain knowledge and removes all doubts, Allah tells us here that there are «some people» who, despite this clear explanation, take some created beings as equals with Allah; that is, they regard them as His peers and see them as being equal to Allah with regard to worship, love, veneration, and obedience.

The one who is like that – even after proof has been established and Allah’s oneness has been clearly explained – must be stubbornly opposed to Allah, or he must have turned away from pondering His signs and His creation. He does not have the slightest excuse for that; rather he is deserving of the punishment. These people who take others as equal to Allah do not say that they are equal to Him in terms of creating, granting provision and controlling; rather they think that they are equal to Him in terms of worship, so they worship them in order that they might bring them closer to Him.

The word «take» indicates that Allah has no equal; rather the polytheists regard some created beings as equal to Him, but this is no more than a notion in their minds, and is devoid of any meaning, as Allah says:

«...And yet they ascribe partners to Allah. Say: Name them; or do you presume to tell Allah of something that He does not know on earth, or is it [just] a show of words?...» (ar-Ra'd 13: 33)

«They are no more than names you have named, you and your forefathers, for which Allah has not sent down any authority. They follow nothing but conjecture...» (an-Najm 53: 23)

A created being cannot be equal to Allah, because He is the Creator and everything else is created; He is the Lord and Provider, and everything else is provided for. Allah is the One Who is independent of means, and you are dependent; He is perfect in all ways and you are lacking in all ways; Allah is the One Who brings benefits and causes harm, and created beings have no power to bring benefit or cause harm, for they have no power at all. Thus it is known for certain that those who take anything other than Allah as gods whom they regard as equal to Him, whether that is an angel, a Prophet, a righteous man, an idol or anything else, is misguided, and that Allah is the only One

Who is deserving of all love and complete humility. Hence Allah praises the believers by saying: ﴿But those who believe have greater love for Allah﴾ that is, they are sincere to Him alone in their love, whereas these people set up others whom they regard as equal to Him and worship them alongside Him; the believers love the only One Who is deserving of love in an absolute sense, love of Whom is the essence of a person's well-being, happiness, and salvation, whereas the polytheists love those who are not deserving of any love at all, and their love is the essence of a person's misery, corruption and loss.

Hence Allah warned them: ﴿When the transgressors﴾ that is, those who transgressed by taking others for worship besides Allah, as equals with Him, submitted to something other than the Lord of all, and wronged people by preventing them from following the path of Allah and striving to cause them harm.

﴿see the punishment﴾ that is, on the Day of Resurrection, when they will see it with their own eyes

﴿they will realise that all power belongs to Allah and that Allah is severe in punishment﴾ that is, then they will realise with certainty that all power belongs to Allah alone, and that their false gods have no power at all. Thus it will become clear to them how weak and incapable they (the false gods) are and that they are not as they mistakenly thought they were in this world, when they thought that they had some power and that they could bring them closer to Allah. They will see that their expectations were wrong, their efforts were wasted and they are deserving of a severe punishment that their false gods cannot ward off from them or offer them the slightest help. Rather harm will reach them because of those false gods, whereas they thought that they would benefit them.

Those who were followed will disavow the followers, and any ties that existed between them in this world will be severed, because these ties were for the sake of something other than Allah and were not in accordance with the command of Allah; rather they were based on utter falsehood. Thus their efforts will be wasted and they will be doomed, and they will realise that they (those who were followed) were liars; their deeds that they hoped would benefit them will turn into a source of regret and sorrow for them; and they will abide forever in the fire and will never be brought out of it. Can there be any greater loss than this? That is because they followed falsehood and acted accordingly, pinning their hopes on that in which there was no hope, and forming an attachment to that which was not deserving of it. Hence their deeds will be rendered invalid because of the invalidity of the foundation of those deeds, and at that point sorrow will overtake them for their dashed hopes of reward and the ultimate harm that befalls them. This is unlike those who put their hopes in Allah, the Sovereign, the Truth, and sincerely strive for His sake, hoping for His mercy. Such a one has acted appropriately, so his deeds are valid, because they are based on truth. Thus he will attain the positive result of his efforts, and he will find his reward with his Lord in abundance, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Those who disbelieve and bar others from the path of Allah, He will cause their deeds to come to naught. Those who believe and do righteous deeds, and believe in that which was sent down to Muhammad – for it is the truth from their Lord – He will absolve them of their bad deeds and rectify their condition. That is because those who disbelieve follow falsehood and those who believe follow the truth from their Lord. Thus does Allah set forth for humankind their comparisons.﴾ (Muhammad 47: 1-3)

Then the followers will wish that they could be returned to this world so that they might disavow what they followed, give up associating others with Allah, and strive hard for the sake of Allah alone. But alas it will be too late; it will no longer be the time for respite or reprieve. Moreover, they will be lying, because if they did return (to this world), they would go back to their previous ways. These are no more than empty words and wishful thinking on their part, out of resentment towards those whom they followed, when the latter disavow them, even though the blame is theirs. The leader of those who were followed in evil is Iblees; nevertheless he will say to his followers when judgement is passed:

﴿...Verily, Allah gave you a true promise; I also gave you promises, but I betrayed you. I had no power over you, except that I called you and you responded to me. So do not blame me; blame yourselves...﴾

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ كُلُوا مِمَّا فِي الْأَرْضِ حَلَالًا طَيِّبًا وَلَا تَتَّبِعُوا خُطُوَاتِ الشَّيْطَانِ إِنَّهُ لَكُمْ عَدُوٌّ مُبِينٌ ﴿١٦٨﴾ إِنَّمَا يَأْمُرُكُمْ بِالسُّوءِ وَالْفَحْشَاءِ وَأَنْ تَقُولُوا عَلَى اللَّهِ مَا لَا نَعْلَمُونَ ﴿١٦٩﴾ وَإِذَا قِيلَ لَهُمْ اتَّبِعُوا مَا أَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ قَالُوا بَلْ نَتَّبِعُ مَا أَلْفَيْنَا عَلَيْهِ آبَاءَنَا أَوَلَوْ كُنَّا آبَاءَهُمْ لَا يَعْقِلُونَ شَيْئًا وَلَا يَهْتَدُونَ ﴿١٧٠﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٦٨-١٧٠)

- 2:168. O humankind, eat whatever is lawful and good on earth, and do not follow the footsteps of the Shayṭān, for he is to you an avowed enemy.
- 2:169. For he only commands you to do evil and shameful deeds, and to say concerning Allah that of which you have no knowledge.
- 2:170. When it is said to them: Follow what Allah has revealed, they say: Nay, we will follow the ways of our forefathers. [Would they do that] even though their forefathers did not understand a thing and were not guided?

This is addressed to all people, believers and disbelievers alike, reminding them of Allah's blessings to them and instructing them to eat from everything that is on earth, such as grains, crops, fruits and animals, so long as it is lawful [halal], that is, it is permissible for you to eat it, and it has not been usurped or stolen, acquired by means of a prohibited transaction or in a forbidden manner, and that it is not used to help in committing forbidden actions.

﴿good﴾ that is, it is not evil or filthy (khabeeth), such as dead meat, blood, the flesh of swine and all other unclean things. This verse indicates that the basic principle is that things are permissible to eat and make use of, and that what is forbidden is of two types: either that which is forbidden in and of itself, which is evil or filthy things that are the opposite of good, or it is forbidden for some other reason, namely its connection to the rights of Allah or to the rights of people; this is the opposite of what is permissible. It also indicates that one may eat as much of (something haram) as is necessary to survive; this is obligatory, and the one who does not do that is sinning.

When Allah commanded them to follow what He enjoined upon them, which is in their own best interests, He forbade them to follow ﴿the footsteps of the Shayṭān﴾ that is, to follow the ways that he enjoins. This refers to all sins, such as disbelief, evildoing, and transgression. That also includes the prohibition on the sā'ibah and ḥām<sup>13</sup> and the like. That also includes eating haram (forbidden) foods.

﴿for he is to you an avowed enemy﴾ that is, his enmity is blatant; all he wants to do is deceive you and cause you to become among the inhabitants of hell. Our Lord did not only forbid us to follow his footsteps; rather He also told us – and He is the most truthful – of his enmity, of which we should beware. Furthermore, He told us details of what the Shayṭān wants to make us do, and that it is the most reprehensible and evil of things:

﴿For he only commands you to do evil﴾ that is, any bad deed that harms the one who does it. That includes all kinds of sins ﴿and shameful deeds﴾. This is an example of mentioning specific matters after having spoken in general terms, because shameful deeds are one type of sin and evil that is extremely abhorrent, such as fornication or adultery, drinking alcohol, murder, slander, miserliness, and other deeds that any wise person would regard as abhorrent.

﴿and to say concerning Allah that of which you have no knowledge﴾. This includes speaking about Allah's laws and decrees without knowledge. The one who ascribes to Allah something that He has not ascribed to Himself or that His Messenger (ﷺ) has not ascribed to Him, or denies an attribute that Allah has affirmed for Himself, or affirms an attribute that Allah has denied for Himself, has spoken about Allah without knowledge. The one who claims that Allah has an equal, and that idols will bring the one who worships them closer to Allah, has spoken about Allah without knowledge. The one who says that Allah has permitted or prohibited specific things, or that He has enjoined or forbidden specific things, without any understanding, has spoken about Allah without knowledge. The one who says that Allah created a specific type of creatures for a specific reason without having any evidence to that effect has spoken about Allah without knowledge.

One of the most serious kinds of speaking about Allah without knowledge is misinterpreting His words or those of His Messenger (ﷺ) in such a way that coincides with the interpretation of some misguided group, then saying that this is what Allah meant. Speaking about Allah without knowledge is one of the most serious of prohibited actions and one of the most favoured methods of the Shayṭān, who promotes it. These are the ways of the Shayṭān, to which he and his troops call people, doing their utmost to tempt people in whatever ways they can.

In contrast, Allah (ﷻ) enjoins justice, kindness and generosity towards relatives, and He forbids shameful deeds, injustice and transgression. So the individual must check himself and see which of the two callers he is following, and which party he is with. Are you following the caller of Allah, Who is benevolent and wants happiness for you in this world and the hereafter? For success and salvation are to be found in following Him, and you have everything to gain from forming an attachment to Him, for He grants all blessings, both obvious and hidden, He enjoins only what is good and forbids only what is evil. Or are you following the caller of the Shayṭān, who is the enemy of humanity? He wishes you ill and is striving his utmost to bring you destruction in this world and in the hereafter; all evil is in obeying him and all loss results from taking him as a friend; he enjoins nothing but evil and forbids nothing but good.

Then Allah tells us of the situation of the polytheists: when they were commanded to follow that which Allah had revealed to His Messenger (ﷺ) – as described above – they turned away from that and said: «Nay, we will follow the ways of our forefathers». They were content to blindly follow the ways of their forefathers, and they had no interest in believing in the Prophets. Moreover, their forefathers were the most ignorant of people and the most misguided, and this is a flimsy argument for rejecting the truth. This is indicative of their turning away from the truth, their lack of interest in it and the absence of any fair-mindedness in them. If they were guided and had good intentions, then truth would have been their main aim. The one who makes truth his main aim and measures everything against that will definitely see the truth clearly and will follow it, if he is fair-minded.

2:171. The likeness of those who disbelieve is that of animals whom the herdsman calls, but they hear nothing except the sound of shouts and cries. Deaf, dumb, and blind, they do not understand.

As Allah stated that they did not accept what the Messengers brought, and the reason for that was their blind following (of their forefathers), it becomes clear from that that they were not receptive to the truth and did not respond to it; rather it is easy to conclude that they would never give up their stubborn ways. Allah tells us that people who respond in this manner when they are called to faith are like animals whom the herdsman calls, but they have no understanding of what the one who is calling them is saying; all they hear is the voice by which proof is established against them, but they do not understand it in any way that could benefit them. Hence they are deaf and cannot hear the truth with any understanding; they are blind and cannot see in such a way that they could learn and ponder; they are dumb and cannot say what is good for them.

The reason for all of that is that they have no sound reasoning; rather they are the most foolish and the most ignorant. Can any wise man who was called to right guidance, told to avoid evil deeds, warned against exposing himself to punishment and enjoined to do that which will lead to his well-being, success, salvation and bliss disobey the one who is sincerely advising him, turn away from what his Lord enjoined upon him, throw himself willingly into the fire, follow falsehood and turn away from truth? Such a one does not possess an iota of common sense, and he is deceitful and shrewd; rather he is the most foolish of fools.

- 2:172. O you who believe! Eat of the good things that We have provided for you, and be grateful to Allah, if it is Him you worship.
- 2:173. He has only forbidden you dead meat, and blood, and the flesh of swine, and that on which any name has been invoked other than that of Allah. But if one is forced by necessity, without wilful disobedience, nor transgressing due limits, then there is no sin on him. For Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.

This is a command to the believers in particular, after a command addressed to all of humanity, for they are the ones who really benefit from the commands and prohibitions, because of their faith. Here Allah enjoined them to eat of the good things that He has provided, and to be grateful to Allah for His blessings, by only using them in ways that will bring them closer to Him. This is the same command that He gave to the Messengers, when He said:

In this verse, “gratitude” refers to doing righteous deeds. Here, Allah did not say “whatever is lawful (halal)” because Allah has permitted to the believer all good things that He has provided that are free of any negative consequences. Moreover, his faith will keep him from consuming anything that is not his.

﴿if it is Him you worship﴾ that is, then give thanks to Him. This indicates that the one who does not give thanks to Allah is not worshipping Him alone, whilst the one who does give thanks to Him is worshipping Him alone and has done what He enjoined. It also indicates that eating good things is the means of doing righteous deeds and of them being accepted. The command to give thanks comes immediately after mention of the blessing, because gratitude protects existing blessings and brings blessings that are missing, whereas ingratitude drives away blessings that are missing and causes existing blessings to be lost.

When Allah (ﷻ) mentions the permissibility of good things, He also mentions the prohibition on evil or filthy things, as He says: ﴿He has only forbidden you dead meat﴾. This refers to animals that died without being properly slaughtered in accordance with Sharia, because dead meat is filthy and harmful, and is bad in and of itself. Moreover, it is most likely that it died of some disease, in which case it is even more harmful. The Lawgiver makes an exception from this general rule with regard to dead locusts and fish, which are permissible and good.

﴿and blood﴾ that is, blood that has been “poured forth” (this refers to blood that has drained out of the carcass), as has been explained elsewhere. (al-An'ām 6: 145)

﴿and that on which any name has been invoked other than that of Allah﴾ that is, that which has been sacrificed to anything other than Allah, such as that which is sacrificed for idols, stones, graves and so on. This verse does not list everything that is prohibited; rather it highlights types of evil things, which are the opposite of ﴿the good things﴾. What is haram in general terms is implicit in the verse quoted above, as the opposite of ﴿whatever is lawful and good﴾ (2: 168).

These evil things and others are forbidden to us out of kindness towards us and so as to protect us from harm. However, ﴿if one is forced by necessity﴾ that is, if he is compelled by starvation or want, or he is forced,

﴿without wilful disobedience﴾ that is, without actively seeking that which is haram when he is able to obtain that which is halal, or when he is not starving, ﴿nor transgressing due limits﴾, that is, without overstepping the mark in consuming that which has been permitted to him out of necessity. So if a person is forced out of necessity and is not able to find any halal food, then he may eat only so much (of the available haram food) as is necessary, and no more than that.

﴿then there is no sin on him﴾.

As there is no sin on him, it becomes permissible. In such cases the individual is commanded to eat, and in fact it is forbidden to contribute to his own destruction or to kill himself.

In that case it is obligatory for him to eat, and he is sinning if he does not eat and that results in his death, because then he would have effectively killed himself. This concession and flexibility is part of Allah's mercy towards His slaves. Hence the verse ends with two names of Allah that are particularly appropriate in this context: ﴿For Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful﴾.

Because this permissibility and concession is connected to these two conditions, and the person who finds himself in this situation may not be able to adhere properly to them, Allah (ﷻ) tells us that He is Oft-Forgiving, so He will forgive any mistakes made in this situation, especially if it is a case of necessity and hardship which resulted in him not being able to realise when he should stop eating.

This verse is also indicative of the well-known principle, "Necessity makes permissible that which is (ordinarily) forbidden." Any haram thing that a person is compelled to do is permitted to him by the Most Merciful. To Him be praise first and last, in the heart and on the lips.

أُولَٰئِكَ مَا يَأْكُلُونَ فِي بُطُونِهِمْ إِلَّا النَّارَ وَلَا يُكَلِّمُهُمُ اللَّهُ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ وَلَا
يُزَكِّيهِمْ وَلَهُمْ عَذَابٌ أَلِيمٌ﴾ (١٧٤) ﴿أُولَٰئِكَ الَّذِينَ اشْتَرُوا الضَّلَالَةَ بِالْهُدَىٰ
وَالْعَذَابِ بِالْمَغْفِرَةِ فَمَا أَصْبَرَهُمْ عَلَى النَّارِ﴾ (١٧٥) ﴿ذَٰلِكَ بِأَنَّ اللَّهَ نَزَلَ الْكِتَابَ
بِالْحَقِّ وَإِنَّ الَّذِينَ اخْتَلَفُوا فِي الْكِتَابِ لَفِي شِقَاقٍ بَعِيدٍ﴾ (١٧٦) (سورة البقرة: ١٧٤-١٧٦)

2:174. Those who conceal what Allah has sent down of the Book and sell it for a small price take nothing into their bellies but fire.

Allah will not speak to them on the Day of Resurrection nor will He purify them, and theirs will be a painful punishment.

- 2:175. They are the ones who have traded guidance for misguidance, and forgiveness for punishment. What can make them patient in facing the fire?
- 2:176. That is because Allah sent down the Book in truth; those who find [a cause of] disagreement in the Book go much too far in opposition.

This is a stern warning addressed to those who conceal that which Allah sent down to His Messengers, the knowledge concerning which Allah had taken a covenant from them that they would disclose it to the people and not conceal it; those who use it for worldly gain and neglect the command of Allah, «take nothing into their bellies but fire». That is because the price they gain is only acquired in the worst and most emphatically forbidden manner; thus their punishment will fit the nature of their deeds.

«Allah will not speak to them on the Day of Resurrection»; rather He will be angry with them and will turn away from them. This is a more painful punishment for them than the punishment of hellfire.

«nor will He purify them» that is, He will not purify them of bad characteristics, and they have no good deeds to their credit for which they might deserve praise,<sup>14</sup> approval and reward. Rather He will not purify them because their actions deprived them of any purification, the most important means of attaining which is acting in accordance with the Book of Allah, following its guidance and calling others to it.

These people cast aside the Book of Allah and turned away from it; they chose misguidance over guidance and punishment over forgiveness, hence they are fit for nothing but the fire, and what can make them patient in facing the fire? Where could they get such endurance from?

«That» namely what is mentioned above of just requital and being deprived of the means of guidance, in the case of those who rejected it and chose something else,

«is because Allah sent down the Book in truth», and it is on the basis of the truth that the one who does good deeds will be rewarded and the one who does bad deeds will be punished. Moreover, the phrase «Allah sent down the Book in truth» indicates that Allah sent it down in order to guide humankind and to distinguish truth from falsehood and guidance from misguidance. So whoever uses the Book for purposes other than those for which it was revealed deserves to be subjected to the greatest punishment.

«those who find [a cause of] disagreement in the Book go much too far in opposition» that is, those who differed concerning the Book, believing in part of it and rejecting part of it, or those who distort it in accordance with their whims and desires

«go much too far in opposition» to the truth, because they have differed from the Book which brought truth that dictates agreement, not dissent. Thus they ended up in trouble, and their opposition increased and resulted in division, unlike the followers of the Book who believed in it and let it rule their lives in all aspects. Hence they were united and developed harmony on the basis of the Book.

These verses also include a warning to those who conceal that which Allah has revealed, giving precedence to worldly gain, of Allah's punishment and wrath, for Allah will not purify them or forgive them. The reason for that is their giving precedence to misguidance over guidance, which resulted in their choosing punishment over forgiveness.

This is followed by a question wondering how much patience they can have when facing the fire, because they were aware of the causes that would lead them to that. They also knew that what the Book contained of truth should unite them, not divide them, and that anyone who went against it would stray from the truth and go much too far in opposition. And Allah knows best.

﴿لَيْسَ الْبِرَّ أَنْ تُوَلُّوا وُجُوهَكُمْ قِبَلَ الْمَشْرِقِ وَالْمَغْرِبِ وَلَكِنَّ الْبِرَّ مَنْ ءَامَنَ بِاللَّهِ
وَالْيَوْمِ الْآخِرِ وَالْمَلَائِكَةِ وَالْكِتَابِ وَالنَّبِيِّينَ وَءَاتَى الْمَالَ عَلَى حُبِّهِ ذَوِي
الْقُرْبَىٰ وَالْيَتَامَىٰ وَالْمَسْكِينِ وَابْنَ السَّبِيلِ وَالسَّائِلِينَ وَفِي الرِّقَابِ وَأَقَامَ
الصَّلَاةَ وَءَاتَى الزَّكَاةَ وَالْمُوفُونَ بِعَهْدِهِمْ إِذَا عَاهَدُوا وَالصَّابِرِينَ فِي الْبَأْسَاءِ
وَالضَّرَّاءِ وَحِينَ الْبَأْسِ أُولَئِكَ الَّذِينَ صَدَقُوا وَأُولَئِكَ هُمُ الْمُتَّقُونَ﴾ (سورة

2:177. It is not righteousness that you turn your faces towards east or west; rather righteousness is to believe in Allah and the Last Day, the angels, the Book, and the Prophets; to spend from your wealth, despite your love for it, on kinsfolk, orphans, the needy, wayfarers and those who ask, and for the ransom of slaves; to establish prayer and give zakâh; to fulfil the covenants you make; to be patient in the face of hardship and adversity, and in times of conflict. Such are the true believers, and such are the pious.

«It is not righteousness that you turn your faces towards east or west» that is, this is not the righteousness that is expected from people, therefore discussing it at length and arguing about it is a kind of effort that only leads to division and dispute. This is similar to the words of the Prophet (ﷺ):

«The strong man is not the one who wrestles others to the ground; rather the strong man is the one who controls himself when he is angry.» (Bukhari and Muslim) – and so on.

﴿rather righteousness is to believe in Allah﴾ that is, that He is one God, He possesses all the attributes of perfection and is far above all shortcomings.

﴿and the Last Day﴾. This refers to everything that Allah has told us in His Book, or that the Messengers have told us, of what happens after death.

﴿the angels﴾ whom Allah has described to us in His Book, and His Messenger (ﷺ) has also described.

﴿the Book﴾ this refers to all the Books that Allah sent down to His Messengers, the greatest of which is the Qur'an. Thus we believe in all that it contains of stories and rulings

﴿and the Prophets﴾ in general, and especially the last and best of them, Muhammad (ﷺ).

﴿to spend from your wealth﴾ this refers to everything that an individual may possess of wealth, whether it is great or small. What is meant is giving

﴿despite your love for it﴾ that is, love of wealth. Here Allah highlights the fact that wealth is something that people love and find it hard to give to others.

If a person gives of his wealth, despite his love for it, in order to draw closer to Allah (ﷻ), this is indicative of his faith. Part of giving one's wealth despite one's love for it is to give charity when one is healthy and inclined to be stingy, hoping to become rich and fearing poverty. Similarly, giving charity when one does not have much is better, because in this situation one may want to keep it because of what is expected of need and poverty. It is also better to give what is precious and what one loves of one's wealth, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿You will never attain righteousness until you spend [in charity] of that which you love...﴾ (Āl 'Imrân 3: 92)

All of those who do these things are among those who give their wealth despite their love for it.

Then Allah tells us of those on whom it is to be spent, who are the most deserving of your kindness, such as «kinsfolk», those whose joys and sorrows you share; they are the ones who support one another and help one another to pay the diyyah (blood money) if need be. It is the best and most proper of righteousness to take care of kinsfolk by spending on them and speaking kindly to them, according to how closely they are related and the extent of their need.

«orphans» who have no breadwinner and do not have the strength to be independent of means. This highlights to us Allah's mercy towards His slaves, and shows us that He is more merciful to them than a father to his child, because Allah has enjoined His slaves, and made it obligatory for them, to spend some of their wealth on those who have lost their parents, so that they be equal to those who have not lost their parents. Moreover, as the reward matches the nature of the deed, whoever shows mercy towards the orphans of another, mercy will be shown to his orphan (if he dies).

«the needy» this refers to those whose are subdued by need and humiliated by poverty. They have rights over the rich, so as to ward off or reduce their need; hence the rich should give as much as they can afford.

«wayfarers» the wayfarer is the stranger who is cut off in a foreign land. Allah encourages His slaves to give him some of their wealth in order to help him on his journey, because he is most likely in need of help and has a great deal of expenses. Hence the one on whom Allah has bestowed the blessings of living comfortably in his homeland and so on should show compassion towards his brother who is a stranger, and help him in whatever way he can, even if that is by giving him food or a means of transportation, or protecting him from any wrongdoing that may befall him, and so on.

﴿and those who ask﴾. They are the ones who are faced with some troubles or desperate need which dictate that they should go and ask for help, such as one who has to pay for damage caused accidentally or has to pay a tax that has been imposed by the authorities. This also applies to one who asks people for donations for the maintenance of public utilities, such as mosques, schools, bridges and the like; such a person has the right to ask even if he is rich.

﴿and for the ransom of slaves﴾ this includes manumission and helping others with it; giving money to a mukâtib (slave with a contract of manumission) so that he can pay off his master; ransoming captive Muslims from the disbelievers; and paying ransoms in the case of those who are being held by evildoers.

﴿to establish prayer and give zakâh﴾. We have seen above that Allah (ﷻ) often mentions prayer and zakâh together because they are the best acts of worship, for they are spiritual, physical and financial. By means of them a person's faith and certainty may be evaluated.

﴿to fulfil the covenants you make﴾. A covenant means fulfilling that which Allah has made binding or that which one has made binding upon oneself. That includes all the rights of Allah, which Allah has enjoined upon His slaves so that they have become binding and form part of the covenant, hence they are obliged to fulfil them. It also includes the rights of other people that Allah has enjoined upon them, and the obligations that an individual takes upon himself, such as oaths, vows and so on.

﴿to be patient in the face of hardship﴾ that is, poverty, because the poor man needs patience in many ways, as he is going through ongoing psychological distress and physical pain that no one else is going through. When he sees rich people enjoying that which is beyond his means, he feels distress. When he or his dependents go hungry, he feels distress. If he eats food that does not suit him (because he cannot afford anything else), he feels distress. If he goes naked or almost naked, he feels distress. When he thinks of his current situation and what he expects to face in the future, he feels distress. When faced with cold that he cannot ward off, he feels distress. All of these and similar calamities he is enjoined to face with patience, seeking reward with Allah and hoping for it.

«and adversity» – this refers to sickness of all types, including fever, injuries, stomach ailments and pain in any part of the body, even toothache or aching fingers and so on. He needs to have patience in facing all of these things, because he feels weak and helpless and is suffering physical pain that is very difficult to bear, especially when it goes on for a long time. So he is enjoined to be patient and to seek reward with Allah (ﷻ).

«and in times of conflict» that is, times of fighting enemies whom we are enjoined to fight, because engaging in physical fighting is very difficult, and a person may fear being killed, injured or captured. So in this situation he needs to be patient and seek reward with Allah, hoping for reward from Allah, from Whom come the help and victory that He has promised to those who are patient.

«Such» that is, those who have the characteristics mentioned above, such as correct belief, and good deeds that are the result and proof of faith, and good manners that reflect the dignity of the individual and the essence of true humanity – such people are «the true believers» who are sincere in their faith because their deeds are a confirmation of that faith.

«and such are the pious» because they have given up what is forbidden and have done what is enjoined, and these qualities inevitably include all good characteristics; fulfilling covenants includes all Islamic teachings. The acts of worship mentioned in this verse are the greatest acts of worship, and the one who does them is more likely to do others. Such are the righteous people who are sincere and pious.

We know what Allah has connected to these matters of reward in this world and in the hereafter, but this is not the place to discuss that in detail.

2:178. O you who believe, legal retribution is prescribed for you in cases of murder: the free for the free, the slave for the slave, the woman for the woman. But if any remission is made by the victim's next of kin, then blood money should be claimed in a reasonable manner and paid with goodwill. This is a concession and a mercy from your Lord. Whoever transgresses after that will have a painful punishment.

2:179. In this legal retribution there is [saving of] life for you, O people of understanding, so that you may become pious.

Here Allah (ﷻ) reminds His believing slaves of His favour to them in prescribing ﴿legal retribution... in cases of murder﴾, which means equity: the murderer is to be killed in the same manner as that in which he killed his victim, so as to establish justice and fairness among people.

This verse is addressed to the believers in general, which indicates that it is obligatory upon all of them, even the killer's next of kin, and even the killer himself, to help the victim's next of kin if he demands legal retribution. They should hand over the killer, and it is not permissible for them to try to prevent this ḥadd punishment or to prevent the victim's next of kin from exacting legal retribution, as was customary during the jâhiliyah and is still the case in similar environments, where protection is given to the offender.

Then this matter is explained further:

«the free for the free» this includes a male for a male.

«the woman for the woman» this also includes a female for a male, or a male for a female, because the Sunnah indicates that a male may be killed for a female. Excluded from this general meaning are cases involving parents, grandparents and so on; they are not to be killed for killing their child, because there are reports of the Sunnah to that effect. Furthermore, the phrase «legal retribution» indicates that it is not just to kill a parent for killing his child, and the compassion and mercy in the parent's heart prevent him from killing his own child except in cases of mental illness or severe harm caused to him by the child.

Also excluded from the general meaning of this verse is the disbeliever, according to the Sunnah, in addition to the fact that the verse is addressed to believers only. Moreover, it is not justice to kill a friend of Allah (a Muslim) for killing an enemy of Allah (a disbeliever).

«the slave for the slave», whether male or female, and whether they are equal in value or not.

This also indicates that a free man cannot be killed for a slave, because they are not equal. From the phrase «the woman for the woman», some of the scholars understood that it is not permissible to kill a man for a woman; we have discussed this matter above.

This verse indicates that the basic principle is that legal retribution for killing is a must, and that the blood money (diyah) is an alternative to it. Hence Allah says: «But if any remission is made by the victim's next of kin» that is, if the victim's next of kin lets the killer off (and does not demand that he be killed), and decides to accept the blood money instead, or if some of the next of kin let him off, then legal retribution is waived, and the blood money becomes obligatory. The choice regarding the blood money is given to the next of kin. If he decides to let the killer off, it is obligatory for the victim's next of kin to claim the blood money «in a reasonable manner», without making things difficult for him or demanding more than he can bear; rather he should be gentle in asking and not put undue pressure on him.

«and paid with goodwill» that is, the killer should pay it without delay or shortfall, and without mistreating the victim's next of kin in word or deed; should the response to the next of kin's kindness in letting him off be anything but paying off with goodwill? This is applicable in all cases where there are similar issues between people: the one who is owed money must make his claim in a reasonable manner, and the one who owes it must pay it with goodwill.

The words «But if any remission is made by the victim's next of kin» are aimed at softening people's hearts and encouraging them to let the killer off and accept the blood money instead. Even better than that is to let him off altogether (by not demanding the blood money either). The word «next of kin» (literally, brother) indicates that the killer does not become a disbeliever by his actions, because what is meant by brotherhood here is brotherhood in faith. The killer is not excluded from that by his action, so it is more apt to say that all sins apart from disbelief do not make the one who does them a disbeliever; rather his faith decreases as a result of that.

If the victim's next of kin, or some of them, pardon the killer, then the latter's blood is protected (that is, he is not to be killed); he is protected by Sharia from them and from others. Hence Allah says: «Whoever transgresses after that», after the killer has been pardoned, «will have a painful punishment» that is, in the hereafter. The issue of whether he is to be killed or not is based on the above, because he has killed someone who is equal to him, so he should be executed for that.

According to those who interpreted the painful punishment as referring to execution (in the case of one who kills a killer who has been pardoned, as discussed above), this verse specifically indicates that he is to be killed and that it is not permissible to let him off. This is the view of some scholars, but the first view is the correct one, because his offence is no worse than that of anyone else.

Then Allah (ﷻ) explains the great wisdom behind the prescription of legal retribution:

﴿In this legal retribution there is [saving of] life﴾ that is, lives are protected and criminals will be deterred thereby, because anyone who realises that he will be killed if he kills another is very unlikely to kill. If the killer is seen executed, others will be deterred thereby, but if the punishment of the killer were something other than execution, there would be no deterrent to evil such as that which results from execution. The same may be said concerning all the ḥadd punishments prescribed in Sharia; they teach a lesson and provide a deterrent, which is indicative of the wisdom of the Most Wise, the Oft-Forgiving.

Because the wisdom behind this ruling is not properly understood except by people of reason and understanding, they alone are addressed here. This indicates that Allah (ﷻ) loves those of His slaves who use their minds and ponder the wisdom in His rulings and the purposes they serve, which is indicative of the perfection of His wisdom, His praise, His justice and His all-encompassing mercy. The one who meets this description is deserving of praise, because he is one of the people of understanding to whom this is addressed; that is sufficient honour for people who understand.

﴿so that you may become pious﴾. The one who knows his Lord and is aware of what there is in His religion and His law of great wisdom and clear signs is obliged thereby to submit to the command of Allah and be concerned about disobeying Him, so that he refrains from doing so. Thus he will deserve to be one of the pious.

وَالْأَقْرَبِينَ بِالْمَعْرُوفِ حَقًّا عَلَى الْمُنْفِقِينَ ﴿١٨٠﴾ فَمَنْ بَدَّلَهُ بَعْدَ مَا سَمِعَهُ فَإِنَّمَا إِثْمُهُ عَلَى
فَلَا إِثْمَ عَلَيْهِ إِنَّ اللَّهَ غَفُورٌ رَحِيمٌ ﴿١٨٢﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٨٠-١٨٢)

- 2:180. It is prescribed, when death approaches any of you, if he is leaving behind any wealth, that he should make a bequest to parents and next of kin on an equitable basis; this is a duty for those who fear Allah.
- 2:181. If anyone changes the bequest after hearing it, the guilt will be on those who make the change, for Allah is All-Hearing, All-Knowing.
- 2:182. But if anyone fears partiality or wrongdoing on the part of the testator, and sets things right between [the parties concerned], there is no sin on him, for Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.

That is: Allah has enjoined upon you, O believers, ﴿when death approaches any of you﴾ that is, when any of the causes of death are present, such as an illness that is expected to be terminal and so on ﴿if he is leaving behind any wealth﴾. This refers to whatever is regarded as a loss of wealth according to custom. In that case he should make a bequest to his parents and the people who are the closest to him on an equitable basis, according to his situation, without being extravagant and without giving only to distant relatives to the exclusion of close relatives. Rather he should give according to the degree of closeness and the extent of need.

﴿this is a duty for those who fear Allah﴾. This indicates that doing this is obligatory, because the right is established and Allah has made it one of the obligations connected to piety or fearing Allah.

It should be noted that the majority of commentators think that this verse was abrogated by the verse which speaks of the shares of inheritance; others think that it applies to parents and relatives other than heirs, even though there is nothing to indicate that it applies specifically to them. It is best to say that this is a bequest to parents and relatives in general terms, and Allah (ﷻ) has left the details to be determined according to custom.

Later on, Allah (ﷻ) decreed what is meant by ﴿on an equitable basis﴾ with regard to parents and other relatives who are designated heirs, in the verses that speak of the shares of inheritance. This came after the matter had been mentioned in general terms. The ruling (in this verse) concerning parents who do not inherit and other relatives who are blocked by a person or because of their degree of kinship, remained in effect, because the dying person is enjoined to make a bequest to these people, who are the most deserving of his kindness. This view is agreed upon by the Ummah, hence based on the above we can reconcile between the two views concerning this verse.

Whenever it is possible to reconcile between two views, it is better to do so than to say that one of them is abrogated when there is no sound evidence to that effect.

Because the testator may refrain from making a bequest because he thinks that those who come after him will change his bequest, Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿If anyone changes the bequest﴾ that is, a bequest made to those mentioned in this verse or others

﴿after hearing it﴾ that is, after understanding it and knowing how it should be carried out

﴿the guilt will be on those who make the change﴾. The testator will have his reward with Allah, and the guilt or sin will be on the one who changed it.

﴿for Allah is All-Hearing﴾ and hears all voices; He knows what the testator says and what his bequest is, so he should be careful and be aware of the One Who hears him and sees him, and he should not be unjust in his bequest

﴿All-Knowing﴾ and knows his intention; He knows what the beneficiary of the bequest will do. So the testator should try his best to do what is right, and Allah will know that from his intention and will reward him even if he makes a mistake. This is also a warning to the beneficiary against altering the bequest, for Allah knows and can see what he is doing; so he should fear Allah. This is the ruling on bequests that are fair. As for bequests that include unfairness and wrongdoing, those who are present at the time when the bequest is made should advise the testator to do that which is better and more appropriate; they should tell him not to be unfair. The word translated here as ﴿partiality﴾ refers to being unfair without realising it, and the word translated as ﴿wrongdoing﴾ refers to deliberate unfairness.

If he does not do that, then things should be put right among the beneficiaries of his bequest, trying to reach a fair solution among them on the basis of mutual consent and reconciliation. They should be exhorted to absolve their deceased loved one of any blame. The one who does that has done a great good deed and there is no sin on him, unlike the one who changes a permissible bequest. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿for Allah is Oft-Forgiving﴾ that is, He forgives all errors and their consequences to those who repent to Him; that includes His forgiveness of the one who showed selflessness and gave up some of his rights to his brother, because whoever is easy-going, Allah will be easy-going with him, and He will forgive their deceased loved one who was unfair in his bequest, if they seek reward with Allah for being easy-going with one another in order to absolve the deceased of any blame. Allah is Most Merciful to His slaves, as He has prescribed that they should be compassionate with one another in all their affairs. These verses indicate that it is encouraged to make a bequest and to make clear who the beneficiaries are. There is also a warning addressed to the one who changes a fair bequest, and encouragement to put things straight with regard to unfair bequests.

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا كُتِبَ عَلَيْكُمُ الصِّيَامُ كَمَا كُتِبَ عَلَى الَّذِينَ مِن قَبْلِكُمْ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَتَّقُونَ﴾ (١٨٣) أَيَّامًا مَّعْدُودَاتٍ فَمَن كَانَ مِنكُم مَّرِيضًا أَوْ عَلَى سَفَرٍ فَعِدَّةٌ مِّنْ أَيَّامٍ أُخَرَ وَعَلَى الَّذِينَ يُطِيقُونَهُ فِدْيَةٌ طَعَامُ مِسْكِينٍ فَمَن تَطَوَّعَ خَيْرًا فَهُوَ خَيْرٌ لَهُ. وَأَن تَصُومُوا خَيْرٌ لَّكُمْ إِن كُنتُمْ تَعْلَمُونَ ﴿١٨٤﴾ شَهْرُ رَمَضَانَ الَّذِي أُنزِلَ فِيهِ الْقُرْءَانُ هُدًى لِّلنَّاسِ وَبَيِّنَاتٍ مِّنَ الْهُدَى وَالْفُرْقَانِ فَمَن شَهِدَ مِنكُمُ الشَّهْرَ فَلْيَصُمْهُ وَمَن كَانَ مَرِيضًا أَوْ عَلَى سَفَرٍ فَعِدَّةٌ مِّنْ أَيَّامٍ أُخَرَ يُرِيدُ اللَّهُ بِكُمُ الْيُسْرَ وَلَا يُرِيدُ بِكُمُ الْعُسْرَ وَلِتُكْمِلُوا الْعِدَّةَ وَلِتُكَبِّرُوا اللَّهَ عَلَى مَا هَدَىٰكُم وَلَعَلَّكُمْ تَشْكُرُونَ ﴿١٨٥﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٨٣-١٨٥)

- 2:183. O you who believe! Fasting is prescribed to you as it was prescribed to those who came before you, that you may become pious.
- 2:184. [Fasting] for a specific number of days; but if any of you is ill, or on a journey, he should fast the same number of other days. For those who can fast only with extreme difficulty, there is a way to compensate, which is to feed a needy person [for each day]. But whoever gives more than that, of his own accord, that is better for him. And it is better for you to fast, if only you knew.
- 2:185. Ramadan is the month in which the Qur'an was sent down, as guidance for humankind, and as clear signs that show the right way and distinguish between right and wrong. So every one of you who is present [at his home] during that month should spend it in fasting, but if anyone is ill, or on a journey, he should fast the same number of other days. Allah intends for you ease, and He does not want to make things difficult for you. [He wants you] to complete the prescribed number of days, and to glorify Him for His having guided you, and so that you may be grateful to Him.

Here Allah tells us of the blessings that He has bestowed upon His slaves by enjoining them to fast as He enjoined it upon previous nations, because it is one of the laws and commands that are in the best interests of people in all times.

This verse also offers encouragement to this Ummah, that they should compete with others in striving to do perfect deeds and hastening to acquire righteous qualities; this is not something too burdensome which they have been singled out to do.

Then Allah (ﷻ) tells us of the wisdom behind the prescription of fasting, as He says ﴿that you may become pious﴾. Fasting is one of the greatest means of developing piety, because it involves obeying the command of Allah and avoiding that which He has forbidden.

Part of the piety that fasting involves is that the fasting person refrains from that which Allah has forbidden to him of food, drink, intercourse and so on, to which he is naturally inclined, seeking thereby to draw closer to Allah, hoping for His reward by giving up these things. This is part of piety. Piety also includes the following:

- The fasting person trains himself to remember that Allah (ﷻ) is always watching, so he gives up things that he desires even though they may be available to him, because he knows that Allah is watching him.
- Fasting narrows the pathways of the Shayṭān, who flows through the son of Adam like blood. Fasting weakens the Shayṭān's influence and reduces sins.
- The fasting person usually does many acts of worship and obedience, which are characteristics of piety.
- By fasting, the rich man feels the pain of hunger, which makes him inclined to help the poor and destitute. This is also a characteristic of piety.

After stating that He has enjoined fasting upon them, Allah then tells them that it is for a specific number of days; that is, it is only for a few days, so it is very easy.

Then another concession is granted: «but if any of you is ill, or on a journey, he should fast the same number of other days». That is because in most cases these things entail hardship, so Allah has granted a concession allowing these people to break the fast.

Because it is essential that every believer should attain the benefits of fasting, Allah instructed them to make up the fast on other days, when the sickness is over and the journey has ended, and one is at ease again.

«the same number of other days» indicates that he should make up the number of days missed in Ramadan, whether it is the whole month or less, and it is permissible to fast on short, cool days to make up for long, hot days, and vice versa.

«For those who can fast only with extreme difficulty» that is, they are able to fast, but with difficulty «there is a way to compensate» for each day they did not fast «which is to feed a needy person [for each day]». This was the ruling at the beginning, when fasting was first enjoined and they were not used to it. As it was difficult for them, Allah the Most Wise introduced it gradually in the easiest manner, giving those who found it too difficult the choice between fasting – which was preferable – or feeding the needy instead. Hence He said: «And it is better for you to fast, if only you knew».

Then after that fasting was made binding upon everyone who is able to do it; those who are not able to do it may break the fast and make up the same number of other days.

It was also stated that the phrase «For those who can fast only with extreme difficulty» refers to those who found it burdensome and unbearably difficult, such as the elderly; they could compensate by feeding one poor person for each day they did not fast. This is the correct view.

«Ramadan is the month in which the Qur'an was sent down» that is, the fast that you are enjoined to observe is the month of Ramadan, the great month in which Allah bestowed the great blessing upon you, namely the Holy Qur'an, which contains guidance to that which is in your best interests in both religious and worldly affairs, explains the truth in the clearest manner, and distinguishes between truth and falsehood, guidance and misguidance, those who are destined for paradise and those who are destined for hell. So it should come as no surprise that a month of such blessings that Allah bestowed upon you should be a season of worship in which fasting is enjoined.

Having confirmed that and highlighted its blessings, and the reason why it is deemed so special, Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿So every one of you who is present [at his home] during that month should spend it in fasting﴾. This indicates that fasting is obligatory for everyone who is able, healthy and not travelling.

Because the choice between fasting or paying compensation had been abrogated, Allah reiterated the concession that is granted to those who are sick or travelling, lest anyone think that this concession had also been abrogated: ﴿Allah intends for you ease, and He does not want to make things difficult for you﴾. That is, Allah (ﷻ) wants to make the paths that lead to attaining His pleasure very easy for you. Hence everything that Allah has enjoined upon His slaves is very easy.

If something happens to make it difficult, then there is another option to make it easier, either by waiving the obligation or by reducing it in some way.

﴿[He wants you] to complete the prescribed number of days﴾. This – and Allah knows best – is so that no one will think that the purpose of fasting Ramadan may be achieved by fasting only part of it. This notion is dispelled by the command to complete the number of days and to give thanks to Allah (ﷻ) when completing it, for enabling His slaves to do it, making it easy for them and explaining it to them, and to magnify Allah (by saying Allāhu akbar – Allah is most great) at the end of the fast. That also includes magnifying Allah from the time when the new moon of Shawwâl is sighted until the end of the Eid khufbah.

2:186. When My slaves ask you concerning Me, I am indeed close [to them]; I answer the call of the caller when he calls on Me. So let them respond to Me, and believe in Me, that they may be rightly guided.

This is the answer to a question. Some of his Companions asked the Prophet (ﷺ): O Messenger of Allah, is our Lord close to us so that we may whisper to Him or is He far away so that we should call out to Him? Then the words «When My slaves ask you concerning Me, I am indeed close [to them]» were revealed, because Allah (ﷻ) is Ever-Watchful, Witness (to everything); He can see what is secret and what is yet more hidden; He knows even the most stealthy glance of the eyes and all the secrets that hearts conceal. He is also close to the one who calls upon Him, in the sense that He is quick to respond. Hence He said: «I answer the call of the caller when he calls on Me».

Calling or supplication (du'â) is of two types: supplication of worship and supplication of asking. And Allah's closeness is of two types: closeness to all of His creation by His knowledge and closeness to those who worship Him and call upon Him by responding, helping and guiding.

Whoever calls upon his Lord with focus and presence of mind, offering supplication as prescribed in Islam, with no impediment to receiving a response to his supplication – such as consuming haram wealth or haram food, and so on – then Allah has promised to answer him, especially if he fulfils the conditions of supplication which are responding to Allah (ﷻ) by obeying His commands and heeding His prohibitions in word and deed, and having faith that makes a response inevitable. Hence He says: «So let them respond to Me, and believe in Me, that they may be rightly guided» that is, so that they will be guided to believe and do righteous deeds, which will rid them of errors that are contrary to faith and righteous deeds. Faith in Allah and responding to His commands are the means of attaining knowledge, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿أُحِلَّ لَكُمْ لَيْلَةَ الصِّيَامِ الرَّفَثُ إِلَى نِسَائِكُمْ هُنَّ لِيَاسٌ لَكُمْ وَأَنْتُمْ لِيَاسٌ لَهُنَّ ۗ عَلِمَ اللَّهُ أَنَّكُمْ كُنْتُمْ تَخْتَانُونَ أَنْفُسَكُمْ فَتَابَ عَلَيْكُمْ وَعَفَا عَنْكُمْ ۖ فَالْزَنُّ بِشُرُوهُنَّ وَابْتَغُوا مَا كَتَبَ اللَّهُ لَكُمْ وَكُلُوا وَاشْرَبُوا حَتَّى يَتَبَيَّنَ لَكُمُ الْخَيْطُ الْأَبْيَضُ مِنَ الْخَيْطِ الْأَسْوَدِ مِنَ الْفَجْرِ ۖ ثُمَّ أَتِمُوا الصِّيَامَ إِلَى اللَّيْلِ ۚ وَلَا تُبَشِّرُوهُنَّ ۚ وَأَنْتُمْ عَلَيْكُمْ فِي الْمَسْجِدِ يَلَكُ حُدُودُ اللَّهِ فَلَا تَقْرَبُوهَا ۚ كَذَلِكَ يُبَيِّنُ اللَّهُ لَالنَّاسِ لَعَلَّهُمْ يَتَّقُونَ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٨٧)

- 2:187. It has been made lawful for you to go in unto your wives during the nights of the fast. They are a garment to you and you are a garment to them. Allah knows that you have been betraying yourselves, but He has accepted your repentance and forgiven you. So now go in unto them, and seek what Allah has ordained for you; and eat and drink, until the white thread of dawn appears to you distinct from its black thread. Then complete your fast until nightfall; but do not be intimate with your wives during the nights of your devotional retreat in the mosques. These are the limits [set by] Allah, so do not go near them. Thus Allah makes His commands clear to humankind, that they may become pious.

When the fast was first made obligatory, the Muslims were forbidden to eat, drink or have intercourse during the night after sleeping. This caused a great deal of hardship to some of them, so Allah (ﷻ) made it easier for them by permitting these actions – eating, drinking and intercourse – throughout the night of the fast, whether they had slept or not, because they had been betraying themselves by not being able to adhere to some of that which was enjoined upon them.

﴿but He has accepted your repentance﴾ by making something flexible for you which, if He did not do that, would lead to sin ﴿and forgiven you﴾ for your previous self-betrayal. ﴿So now﴾, after this concession and flexibility that have been granted by Allah ﴿go in unto them﴾ and be intimate with them in all ways ﴿and seek what Allah has ordained for you﴾ that is, by being intimate with your wives, you should have the intention of drawing closer to Allah and of fulfilling the greater purpose behind intercourse, which is to produce offspring, to keep yourselves and your spouses chaste, and to fulfil the purposes of marriage.

One of the things that Allah has ordained for you is Laylat al-Qadr, which comes during the nights of the Ramadan fast. So it is not appropriate for you to be distracted by this pleasure and thus miss out on Laylat al-Qadr, because you can catch up with physical pleasures later on, but if you miss out on Laylat al-Qadr, you cannot catch up with it later.

﴿and eat and drink, until the white thread of dawn appears to you distinct from its black thread﴾. This refers to the time when one should stop eating, drinking and having intercourse. It indicates that if a person is eating and so on, and is not sure whether dawn has come, there is no blame on him.

It also indicates that it is recommended to have the pre-dawn meal (suhoor), because it is prescribed; it is also recommended to delay it, based on the fact that Allah likes to make things easy for people.

This verse also indicates that it is permissible to be in a state of janâbah (impurity following sexual activity) when dawn comes, because if it is permissible to engage in intimacy until dawn breaks, then it is permissible for him to be in a state of janâbah if dawn comes before he has done ghusl (full ablution), and his fast is still valid.

«Then» when dawn breaks «complete your fast» that is, refrain from everything that breaks the fast «until nightfall» which is sunset.

Although it is permissible to have intercourse during the nights of the fast, that does not apply to everyone. It is not permissible to the one who is observing i'tikâf (devotional retreat), because such persons were excluded by the phrase, «but do not be intimate with your wives during the nights of your devotional retreat in the mosques».

This verse indicates that it is prescribed to observe i'tikâf, which means staying in the mosque to devote oneself to worshipping Allah (ﷻ), and that i'tikâf is not valid anywhere except in a mosque.

We may conclude from this that the definition of a mosque is a mosque as it was known at that time, which is a mosque in which the five daily prayers are held.

It also indicates that intercourse is one of the things that invalidate i'tikâf.

«These» that is, the things mentioned here – namely the prohibition of eating, drinking, intercourse and other things that invalidate the fast, and the prohibition on breaking the fast except for those who have excuses, the prohibition on intercourse for the one who is observing i'tikâf, and other things that are forbidden (whilst fasting) – «are the limits [set by] Allah», Who has set them for His slaves and forbidden them to them. He says: «so do not go near them», which is more emphatic than saying “do not do them”, because the prohibition on going near them includes the prohibition on doing the forbidden action itself and the prohibition on the means that lead to it.

We are enjoined to refrain from things that are forbidden, and to keep away from them as much as possible, as well as avoiding everything that leads to them. With regard to commands, Allah says: ﴿These are the limits [set by] Allah, so do not go near them﴾. Thus it is forbidden to overstep those limits.

﴿Thus﴾ that is, Allah has clearly explained the rulings mentioned above to His slaves and has clarified them completely.

﴿Allah makes His commands clear to humankind, that they may become pious﴾. When the truth becomes clear to them, they will follow it, and when falsehood becomes clear to them, they will avoid it. A person may do something that is forbidden out of ignorance, not knowing that it is forbidden, and if he knew that it was forbidden, he would not have done it. So as Allah has explained His signs to people, there is no room for any excuse or argument. Hence this is a means of attaining piety.

﴿وَلَا تَأْكُلُوا أَمْوَالَكُمْ بَيْنَكُمْ بِالْبَاطِلِ وَتُدْلُوا بِهَا إِلَى الْحُكَّامِ لِتَأْكُلُوا فَرِيقًا مِّنْ أَمْوَالِ النَّاسِ بِالْإِثْمِ وَأَنْتُمْ تَعْلَمُونَ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٨٨)

2:188. Do not devour one another's property by unjust means, nor use it to bribe judges, with the intention of wrongfully and knowingly devouring a part of [other] people's property.

That is, do not take one another's wealth, meaning the wealth of other people, and add it to your own, because the Muslim should love for his brother what he loves for himself, and respect his brother's property as he respects his own. Devouring the wealth of others also encourages others to do likewise if they have the power to do so.

Taking other people's wealth is of two types: lawful and unlawful. What is unlawful is taking it and devouring it by unjust means, which is what is referred to here.

That also includes taking wealth by force, stealing, betraying a trust, failing to pay back a loan, and so on, as well as taking it on the basis of a transaction involving haram dealings such as ribâ (usury) and all forms of gambling. All of these come under the heading of consuming wealth unlawfully, because it is not in exchange for something that is permissible. It also includes taking wealth by deceit when buying and selling, renting and the like; employing hired workers and not paying them; taking payment for work that was not done properly; taking payment for doing acts of worship, which is not valid, because these acts should be done only for the sake of Allah (ﷻ); taking from zakâh and charity money, or awqâf (Islamic endowments) and bequests, by one who has no right to do so, or taking more than one is entitled to.

All of these and similar actions that come under the heading of consuming wealth unlawfully are not permitted under any circumstances; even if a dispute arises and is referred to the shar'i judge, and the one who wants to consume wealth unlawfully gives stronger evidence than that presented by the one who is in the right, and the judge rules in his favour on that basis, the ruling of the judge does not make permissible what is forbidden. Rather the judge rules on the basis of what he hears, but matters remain as they are and cannot be changed by the ruling of a judge. The verdict of the judge should not give the wrongdoer a sense of having got off scot free.

If a person presents false evidence to the judge and gets a verdict in his favour by means of that, that does not make it permissible for him, and he will be knowingly consuming the wealth of others unlawfully and sinfully. Therefore his punishment will be more severe. On that basis, if a lawyer knows that his defendant's claim is wrong, it is not permissible for him to defend the wrongdoer, as Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿...do not be an advocate for the deceitful.﴾ (an-Nisā' 4: 105)

﴿يَسْأَلُونَكَ عَنِ الْأَهِلَّةِ ۖ قُلْ هِيَ مَوَاقِيتُ لِلنَّاسِ وَالْحَجِّ ۚ وَلَيْسَ الْبُرْجَانِ تَأْتُوا
الْبُيُوتَ مِنْ ظُهُورِهَا وَلَكِنَّ الْبِرَّ مَنِ اتَّقَى ۚ وَأَتُوا الْبُيُوتَ مِنْ أَبْوَابِهَا
وَاتَّقُوا اللَّهَ لَعَلَّكُمْ تُفْلِحُونَ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٨٩)

2:189. They ask you about the phases of the moon. Say: They are a means of determining time for the [organisation of] human affairs and for Hajj. It is not righteousness to enter your houses from the rear; rather righteousness is to fear Allah. So enter houses through their doors, and fear Allah so that you may prosper.

﴿They ask you about the phases of the moon﴾: what is the wisdom behind them? Or they ask about the moon phases themselves.

﴿Say: They are a means of determining time for the [organisation of] human affairs﴾. By His grace and mercy, Allah (ﷻ) has caused them to change in this manner. The moon appears weak at the beginning of the month, then it gradually increases until halfway through the month, then it begins to decrease until the end of the month. This is so that the people will know thereby times for their acts of worship, such as fasting, as well as the times for paying zakâh and offering expiation, and the time of Hajj.

Because Hajj takes place during certain well-known months and takes a long time, Allah says ﴿and for Hajj﴾. From the phases of the moon people also know the times for paying off deferred debts, rental periods, the length of the 'iddah and pregnancy, and other matters that have to do with people's affairs. Allah has made it a means of working out times that is available to everyone, young and old, knowledgeable and ignorant. If times were calculated according to the solar calendar, no one would know it except very few people.

﴿It is not righteousness to enter your houses from the rear﴾. In the past, when the Anṣār and others among the Arabs entered iḥrām, they would not enter houses through their doors, thinking that this action was a kind of worship and righteousness. So Allah told them that it was not righteousness, because Allah (ﷻ) had not prescribed it for them; any person who does an act of worship that was not prescribed by Allah or His Messenger (ﷺ) is worshipping on the basis of innovation (bid'ah). He commanded them to enter houses through their doors, because that is easier for them, and one of the aims of Sharia is to make things easier for people.

From this verse we learn that in every situation one should approach the matter in the easiest manner that Allah has made the means of doing it. So the one who wants to enjoin what is good and forbid what is evil should look at the character of a person and his situation, and use gentleness and tact, by means of which his intended goal will be met, completely or partially. Both student and teacher should follow the easiest way of reaching the (educational) goal. The same applies to everyone who tries to do something: if he approaches it in the proper manner and persists in it, he will inevitably reach his goal with the help of Allah.

﴿and fear Allah﴾. This is the righteousness that Allah enjoins: that is, adhering to piety all the time, obeying His commands and heeding His prohibitions. This is the means of success, which is attaining one's goal and saving oneself from what one is afraid of. The one who does not fear Allah (ﷻ) will have no way of attaining success, whereas the one who does fear Him will attain success.

 الْمُعَدِّيْنَ﴾ (١٩٠) وَقَاتِلُوهُمْ حَيْثُ يُفْنُونُكُمْ وَأَخْرِجُوهُمْ مِنْ حَيْثُ أَخْرَجَكُمُ وَالْفَنَاءُ أَشَدُّ
 مِنَ الْقَتْلِ وَلَا تُقَاتِلُوهُمْ عِنْدَ الْمَسْجِدِ الْحَرَامِ حَتَّى يُقَاتِلَكُمْ فِيهِ فَإِنْ قَتَلُوكُمْ فَأَقْتُلُوهُمْ كَذَلِكَ
 جَزَاءُ الْكَافِرِينَ ﴿١٩١﴾ فَإِنْ أَنَّهُوْا فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ عَفُورٌ رَحِيمٌ ﴿١٩٢﴾ وَقَاتِلُوهُمْ حَتَّى لَا تَكُونَ فِتْنَةٌ وَيَكُونَ
 الدِّينُ لِلَّهِ فَإِنْ أَنَّهُوْا فَلَا عُدُوْنَ إِلَّا عَلَى الظَّالِمِينَ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٩٠-١٩٣)

- 2:190. Fight in the cause of Allah those who fight you, but do not overstep the limits, for Allah does not love those who overstep the limits.
- 2:191. And slay them wherever you find them, and drive them out from where they have driven you out, for persecution is worse than slaughter; but do not fight them in the Sacred Mosque, unless they [first] fight you there; but if they fight you, then slay them. Such is the recompense of the disbelievers.
- 2:192. But if they desist, then Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.
- 2:193. Fight them until there is no more worshipping of others along with Allah, and all worship becomes devoted to Allah alone; but if they desist, let there be no more hostility except towards wrongdoers.

These verses include the command to fight for the sake of Allah. This came after the migration to Madinah, when the Muslims had become strong enough to fight. Allah instructed them to fight after they had been instructed to refrain. The stipulation that fighting should only be «in the cause of Allah» is encouragement to make it sincerely for Him alone; this also implies prohibition on getting involved in fighting during turmoil in which Muslims kill other Muslims.

«those who fight you» that is, those who are prepared to fight you. This refers to adult men, not old men who have no contribution to make to fighting, whether by offering opinions or joining the physical fight.

The prohibition on overstepping the limits applies to all such acts, such as killing non-combatants like women, the insane, children, monks and the like; mutilating the bodies of the slain; or killing animals and cutting down trees, and other acts that bring no benefit to the Muslims.

Another kind of overstepping the limits is fighting those from whom jizyah may be accepted if they agree to give it. That is not permissible.

﴿And slay them wherever you find them﴾. This is a command to fight them wherever they are found, at all times, whether defending or attacking.

Then an exception is made to this general command to fight them: ﴿but do not fight them in the Sacred Mosque﴾. That is not permissible unless they are the ones who initiate the fighting there, in which case they are to be fought in requital of their aggression.

This is ongoing at all times, until they give up their disbelief and become Muslim. Then Allah will accept their repentance, no matter what they did (in the past) of disbelieving in Allah and worshipping others alongside Him in the Sacred Mosque and preventing the Messengers and the believers from reaching it. This is out of His mercy and kindness towards His slaves.

Because fighting in the Sacred Mosque may make people think that this is mischief in this holy city, Allah tells us that the mischief in that place caused by associating others with Allah and persecuting the Muslims is worse than the mischief of slaughter, so there is no sin on you – O Muslims – for fighting them.

From this verse is derived the well-known principle of committing the lesser of two evils in order to ward off the greater.

Then Allah (ﷻ) tells us of the purpose behind fighting for His cause. The aim is not to shed the blood of the disbelievers and take their wealth; rather the aim is so that ﴿all worship becomes devoted to Allah alone﴾, in order that the religion of Allah (ﷻ) may prevail over all other religions, and to ward off everything that is opposed to it, such as polytheism and so on. If this aim is achieved, then there is to be no killing or fighting.

﴿but if they desist﴾ and stop fighting you in the Sacred Mosque, ﴿let there be no more hostility except towards wrongdoers﴾ that is, there should be no aggression on your part towards them, except in the case of wrongdoers among them, who deserve punishment according to their wrongdoing.

﴿الشَّهْرُ الْحَرَامُ بِالشَّهْرِ الْحَرَامِ وَالْحُرُمَتِ قِصَاصٌ فَمَنْ آغْتَدَىٰ عَلَيْكُمْ فَاعْتَدُوا عَلَيْهِ بِمِثْلِ مَا آغْتَدَىٰ عَلَيْكُمْ وَاتَّقُوا اللَّهَ وَاعْلَمُوا أَنَّ اللَّهَ مَعَ الْمُتَّقِينَ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٩٤)

- 2:194. A sacred month for a sacred month: violation of any sanctity calls for fair retribution. So if anyone transgresses against you, then attack him as he attacked you. But fear Allah, and know that Allah is with those who fear Him.

The words ﴿A sacred month for a sacred month﴾ may be interpreted as referring to what the polytheists did of preventing the Prophet (ﷺ) and his Companions from entering Makkah in the year of al-Ḥudaybiyah, and agreeing that they could enter it (and make up the missed 'umrah) the following year. Both incidents – preventing the Muslims from entering Makkah, and their making up the missed 'umrah – occurred in a sacred month, namely Dhul-Qa'dah, so the one made up for the other. This offered consolation to the Companions by allowing them to complete their rituals (of 'umrah). It may also mean: if you fight them in the sacred month, but they are the ones who started the fight and were the aggressors, then you are not to be blamed for fighting back.

According to this understanding, the words «violation of any sanctity calls for fair retribution» come under the heading of stating a general principle after a specific one. In other words, with regard to everything that is to be venerated, whether it is a sacred month, a sacred land, being in the state of ihrām or anything more general than that, everything that Sharia enjoins us to venerate, if anyone transgresses against it, then there should be retribution against him. The one who fights during the sacred month is to be fought; the one who violates the sacred city should be subjected to the ḥadd punishment and has no protection in the sacred place; the one who kills his peer is to be killed in return; the one who wounds another or severs his limb is to be subjected to legal retribution; the one who takes the wealth of another unlawfully should have an equivalent amount taken from him.

But can the one who is in the right take as much as he is entitled to, or not? There is a difference of scholarly opinion concerning this matter; the correct view is that if the reason for him having this right is obvious, such as a guest who is not offered hospitality, or when a man refuses to spend on a wife or relative on whom one is obliged to spend. In such cases it is permissible to take one's right from that person's wealth. But if the reason is not obvious, such as one who denied a debt that he owed to another, or betrayed a trust that he was given, or he stole something, and so on, in such cases it is not permissible for him to take compensation from (the wrongdoer's) wealth, so as to reconcile between the evidence. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says, emphasising the above: «So if anyone transgresses against you, then attack him as he attacked you». This explains how to settle scores, namely like for like.

Because in most cases people would not stop at the limits when granted a concession allowing retaliation, since people want that satisfaction, Allah (ﷻ) enjoined them to always fear Him, which means heeding His limits and not overstepping them. Allah tells us that He is ﴿with those who fear Him﴾, and He will help them, support them and guide them.

If Allah is with a person, he will attain eternal happiness. But if a person does not adhere to piety and fear Allah, He will forsake him and not protect him; He will leave him to his own devices and thus his doom will be closer to him than his jugular vein.

2:195. And spend in the cause of Allah, and do not contribute to your destruction with your own hands; but do good, for Allah loves those who do good.

Here Allah (ﷻ) commands His slaves to spend for His sake, which means giving wealth in ways that bring one closer to Allah. These are all good ways, such as giving charity to one who is needy or to a relative, or spending on dependents on whom one is obliged to spend.

More important, and first and foremost, is spending on jihad for the sake of Allah. Spending on it is itself jihad with one's wealth; it is obligatory just as physical jihad is, and it serves great purposes such as helping to strengthen the Muslims and weaken polytheism and its followers, and helping to establish and support the religion of Allah. Jihad for the sake of Allah cannot be done except by spending; spending for jihad is like the soul for the body; it cannot exist without it. Failing to spend for the sake of Allah undermines jihad and gives power and strength to the enemy. So the words ﴿and do not contribute to your destruction with your own hands﴾ serve as a reason why one should spend on jihad.

Contributing to your destruction with your own hands refers to two things: not doing what is enjoined, which inevitably leads to ruin in both physical and spiritual terms, and doing that which leads to self-destruction, which includes many things such as: not engaging in jihad for the sake of Allah or spending on it, which inevitably leads to the enemy gaining power over the Muslims; taking unnecessary risks when fighting, or travelling in dangerous places where there are wild animals or snakes; climbing trees or dangerous structures; walking underneath something that poses a danger, and so on. Such things all come under the heading of contributing to your destruction with your own hands.

Other kinds of contributing to your destruction with your own hands include: persisting in disobedience and sin; despairing of ever repenting; failing to do obligatory duties that Allah has enjoined, failure to do which leads to ruin in spiritual and physical terms.

Because spending for the sake of Allah is a kind of good deed, Allah enjoins doing good in general terms: ﴿but do good, for Allah loves those who do good﴾. That includes all kinds of doing good, because it is not limited to any particular thing. That also includes doing good with one's wealth, as stated above.

It also includes being kind to people by: using one's position to help, interceding and so on; enjoining what is good and forbidding what is evil; teaching beneficial knowledge; meeting people's needs by relieving their distress, helping at times of hardship, visiting the sick, attending their funerals, guiding those who have gone astray, helping people with their work, doing things for those who cannot do them themselves, and other things that come under the heading of kindness as enjoined by Allah. Kindness also includes worshipping Allah (ﷻ) properly, which is as the Prophet (ﷺ) said:

«You should worship Allah as if you can see Him, and if you cannot see Him, He sees you.» (Muslim)

Whoever has these characteristics is one of those of whom Allah says:

«For those who do good there will be the best reward and more besides...» (Yoonus 10: 26)

Allah will be with such a one, guiding him and helping him in all his affairs.

Having mentioned the rulings on fasting and jihad, Allah now speaks of the rulings on Hajj:

﴿وَاتِمُوا الْحَجَّ وَالْعُمْرَةَ لِلَّهِ فَإِنْ أُخْصِرْتُمْ فَمَا اسْتَيْسَرَ مِنَ الْهَدْيِ وَلَا تَحْلِقُوا رُءُوسَكُمْ حَتَّىٰ يَبْلُغَ الْهَدْيُ مَحَلَّهُ ۚ فَمَنْ كَانَ مِنْكُمْ مَّرِيضًا أَوْ بِهِ أَذًى مِنْ رَأْسِهِ ۖ فَفِدْيَةٌ مِنْ صِيَامٍ أَوْ صَدَقَةٍ أَوْ نُسُكٍ ۚ فَإِذَا أَمِنْتُمْ فَمَنْ تَمَنَّعَ بِالْعُمْرَةِ إِلَى الْحَجِّ فَمَا اسْتَيْسَرَ مِنَ الْهَدْيِ ۚ فَمَنْ لَمْ يَجِدْ فَصِيَامٌ ثَلَاثَةِ أَيَّامٍ ۚ فِي الْحَجِّ وَسَبْعَةٍ إِذَا رَجَعْتُمْ ۚ تِلْكَ عَشْرَةٌ كَامِلَةٌ ۚ ذَٰلِكَ لِمَنْ لَمْ يَكُنْ أَهْلَهُ حَاضِرِ الْمَسْجِدِ الْحَرَامِ وَاتَّقُوا اللَّهَ وَاعْلَمُوا أَنَّ اللَّهَ شَدِيدُ الْعِقَابِ ﴿١٩٦﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٩٦)

- 2:196. And perform properly the Hajj and 'umrah for Allah. But if you are prevented [from completing it], send an offering for sacrifice, such as you can obtain easily, and do not shave your heads until the offering reaches the place of sacrifice. And if any of you is ill, or has an ailment of the scalp [necessitating shaving the head whilst still in ihram], he must compensate by either fasting, giving charity, or offering a sacrifice. And when you are safe [from the enemy], if any one wishes to take a break between 'umrah and Hajj, he must offer a sacrifice, such as he can obtain easily, but if he cannot afford it, he should fast three days during the Hajj and seven days upon his return, making ten days in all. This is for the one whose family is not present at the Sacred Mosque [that is, not residing in Makkah]. And fear Allah, and know that Allah is severe in punishment.

The words «And perform properly the Hajj and ‘umrah for Allah» are indicative of a number of things:

- 1- That Hajj and ‘umrah are obligatory.
- 2- That it is obligatory to do them properly, with all the essential and obligatory parts, as indicated by the actions of the Prophet (ﷺ) and his words:
«Learn from me your rituals (of Hajj).» (Muslim)
- 3- In these words is evidence for those who say that ‘umrah is obligatory.
- 4- That it is obligatory to complete Hajj and ‘umrah once one has started them, even if they are supererogatory (nafl).
- 5- The command to do them properly means putting more effort into doing what must be done.
- 6- That they should be done sincerely for the sake of Allah alone.
- 7- The one who enters ihrâm for them does not exit ihrâm at all until he has completed them, except in cases where Allah has made an exception, which is being prevented from completing them. Hence Allah says:

«But if you are prevented [from completing it]» that is, if you are prevented from reaching the Kaaba to complete Hajj and ‘umrah because of sickness, losing your way, (obstruction by) an enemy, and other things that may prevent one from continuing.

«Send an offering for sacrifice, such as you can obtain easily» that is, slaughter whatever sacrificial animal you can obtain easily. This refers to one seventh of a camel, one seventh of a cow, or a sheep to be sacrificed by the one who has been prevented from completing (Hajj or ‘umrah), who should then shave his head and exit ihrâm because of having been prevented from continuing. This is what was done by the Prophet (ﷺ) and his Companions when the polytheists prevented them from reaching Makkah in the year of al-Hudaybiyah. If no sacrificial animal is available, then he should fast ten days, as in the case of one who is doing Hajj tamattu',<sup>15</sup> then exit ihrām.

﴿and do not shave your heads until the offering reaches the place of sacrifice﴾. This is one of the things that are forbidden during ihrām: removing hair from the head or body by shaving or otherwise. The purpose behind that is to be unkempt and to prevent the pleasure of removing it.

Many scholars drew an analogy between removing the hair and clipping the nails, as both are a kind of comfort. The prohibition mentioned continues until the offering or sacrificial animal reaches the place of sacrifice, on the Day of Sacrifice. It is preferable to shave the head after offering the sacrifice, as is indicated by this verse.

This verse also indicates that if the one who is doing Hajj tamattu' has brought his sacrificial animal with him, he should not exit ihrām from his 'umrah before the Day of Sacrifice. When he has performed the ṭawâf (circumambulation of the Kaaba) and sa'iy (going between Ṣafâ and Marwah) for 'umrah, he should then enter ihrām for Hajj, and he cannot exit ihrām because he has brought the sacrificial animal with him. Rather Allah (ﷻ) has forbidden that to him because that is showing humility and submission to Allah, a kind of humility that is in the best interests of the individual, and there is no harm in it. If any harm does occur, such as if he is sick and will benefit from shaving his head, or he has an injury or lice and so on (and will benefit from shaving his head), then it is permissible for him to do so, but he must offer compensation for that ﴿by either fasting﴾ for three days, ﴿giving charity﴾ to six poor persons, ﴿or offering a sacrifice﴾ of an animal that is valid as an uḍḥiyah sacrifice. He has the choice between these options; the best is to offer a sacrifice, then to give charity, then to fast.

The same applies to similar things such as clipping the nails, covering the head, wearing a fitted garment or putting on perfume. These actions are permissible in the case of necessity, but the compensation mentioned must be offered, because the purpose behind all of these is to remove comfort (during the state of iḥrām).

﴿And when you are safe [from the enemy]﴾ that is, when you are able to reach the Kaaba without being prevented by an enemy and the like

﴿if anyone wishes to take a break between ‘umrah and Hajj﴾ and to have the advantage of exiting iḥrām after completing ‘umrah

﴿he must offer a sacrifice, such as he can obtain easily﴾ that is, he has to offer whatever sacrificial animal he can easily obtain, which is the same as that which is acceptable for uḍḥiyah. This is a sacrifice to be offered in return for doing two rituals in one journey, and because of the blessing that Allah has bestowed upon him by having the benefit of exiting iḥrām after completing ‘umrah and before starting Hajj. The same applies to the one who is doing Hajj qirān,<sup>16</sup> because he is doing two rituals in one journey.

The verse implies that the one who is doing Hajj ifrād<sup>17</sup> does not have to offer a sacrifice. It also highlights the permissibility, and indeed the virtue, of Hajj tamattu’, and that it is permissible to do it during the months of Hajj.

﴿but if he cannot afford it﴾ that is, the sacrificial animal or its price ﴿he should fast three days during the Hajj﴾; this first becomes permissible when he enters iḥrām for ‘umrah, and the end of the period is the three days after the Day of Sacrifice, the days of stoning the jamarāt and staying overnight in Mina. But it is preferable to fast on the seventh, eighth and ninth days of Dhul-Ḥijjah.

«and seven days upon his return» that is, when you have finished all the actions of Hajj, it is permissible to do these fasts in Makkah, or on the road, or after reaching home.

«This» that is, what is mentioned about the obligation of offering a sacrifice in the case of Hajj tamattu'

«is for the one whose family is not present at the Sacred Mosque [that is, not residing in Makkah]», meaning that they live at the distance at which it becomes permissible to shorten one's prayers, or further away than that according to the customary definition. Such are the people for whom the sacrifice is obligatory, because they are doing two rituals in one journey. As for those whose families are present at the Sacred Mosque (that is, they reside in Makkah), they do not have to offer the sacrifice, because the reason for it is not applicable in their case.

«And fear Allah» that is, in all your affairs, by obeying His commands and heeding His prohibitions. That also includes following what is commanded and forbidden in this verse.

«and know that Allah is severe in punishment» for those who disobey Him. This is what leads to piety. The one who fears the punishment of Allah will refrain from that which incurs the punishment, just as the one who hopes for the reward of Allah will do that which will bring the reward. As for the one who does not fear the punishment or hope for the reward, he will indulge in what is forbidden and will have the audacity to overstep the limits.

2:197. The Hajj takes place in the well-known months. Whoever undertakes to perform Hajj during them, there should be no lewdness, nor wrongdoing, nor quarrelling during the Hajj. And whatever good you do, Allah knows it. And take provision [with you] for the journey, but the best of provisions is piety. So fear Me, O people of understanding.

Here Allah tells us that the Hajj occurs ﴿in the well-known months﴾, that is months that were well known to those who were first addressed, in such a way that there was no need to specify them as there was a need to specify the month in which fasting is observed, and as Allah specified the timings of the five daily prayers.

But in the case of Hajj, it was part of the religion of Ibrâheem that was still practised among his progeny and was well known to them.

What is meant by ﴿the well-known months﴾, according to the majority of scholars, is: Shawwâl, Dhul-Qa‘dah, and the first ten days of Dhul-Hijjah. These are the months in which people usually enter iĥrâm for Hajj.

﴿Whoever undertakes to perform Hajj during them﴾ that is, whoever enters iĥrâm for it, because starting it makes it obligatory, even if it is a supererogatory (nafl) Hajj.

This verse is quoted as evidence by ash-Shâfi‘i and those who followed him in the view that it is not permissible to enter iĥrâm for Hajj before its months have begun. I say: if we were to say that this verse offers evidence for the view of the majority of scholars, which is that iĥrâm for Hajj is permissible before those months begin, that would be more likely to be correct. The words ﴿Whoever undertakes to perform Hajj during them﴾ indicate that the decision to undertake to perform Hajj may be taken during the months mentioned, or it may not.

Hajj, especially during the months of Hajj, and to protect it from anything that may spoil it or detract from it, such as lewdness, which refers to intercourse and its precursors in word or deed, especially in the presence of women. Wrongdoing here refers to all sins, including the things that are forbidden whilst in iḥrām. Quarrelling refers to arguing and disputing, because it stirs up trouble and creates enmity.

The purpose of Hajj is humility before Allah, seeking to draw close to Him by means of whatever acts of worship one can do, and keeping away from sin; in this way one's Hajj will be accepted, and an accepted Hajj brings no less a reward than paradise. Although these things are not allowed in any place or at any time, they are more emphatically forbidden during the Hajj.

It should be noted that aiming to draw closer to Allah by refraining from sins cannot be done unless you also do what He enjoins. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿And whatever good you do, Allah knows it﴾. That includes all good deeds and acts of worship. What is meant is that Allah is aware of it. This implies strong encouragement to do good, especially in those holy places, where one should do as much as one can of prayer, fasting, giving charity, ṭawâf and kindness in word and deed.

Then Allah enjoins the pilgrim to take provision with him for this blessed journey, because by taking provision with him he will be independent of other people and will refrain from taking their wealth by asking for it or begging for it. Taking a lot of provision is beneficial for the traveller, enables him to help others, and will bring him closer to the Lord of the worlds.

What is meant by provision here is that which will sustain him and help him to reach his destination and return.

However the real provision that will bring permanent benefit in this world and in the hereafter is the provision of piety, which is provision that will help one to reach the hereafter and obtain the most perfect pleasure and eternal bliss. The one who neglects this provision is the one who will run out of provision and be exposed to all dangers; he will be prevented from reaching the destination of the righteous. This is a commendation of piety.

Then Allah enjoins people of understanding to seek piety and fear Him:

﴿So fear Me, O people of understanding﴾ that is: O people of deep understanding, fear your Lord, for fear of Him is the most important thing that is enjoined by reason, and neglecting it leads to ignorance and poor thinking.

﴿لَيْسَ عَلَيْكُمْ جُنَاحٌ أَنْ تَبْتَغُوا فَضْلًا مِنْ رَبِّكُمْ ۚ فَإِذَا أَفَضْتُمْ مِنْ عَرَفَاتٍ فَاذْكُرُوا اللَّهَ عِنْدَ الْمَشْعَرِ الْحَرَامِ ۖ وَاذْكُرُوهُ كَمَا هَدَانَكُمْ وَإِنْ كُنْتُمْ مِنْ قَبْلِهِ لَعِنَ الضَّالِّينَ ﴿١٩٨﴾ ثُمَّ أَفِيضُوا مِنْ حَيْثُ أَفَاضَ النَّاسُ وَاسْتَغْفِرُوا اللَّهَ ۚ إِنَّ اللَّهَ غَفُورٌ رَحِيمٌ ﴿١٩٩﴾ فَإِذَا قَضَيْتُمْ مِنْ شَيْءٍ فَادْكُمْ اللَّهُ كَذِكْرُكُمْ ءَابَاءَكُمْ أَوْ أَشَدَّ ذِكْرًا ۚ فَمَنْ النَّاسُ مَنْ يَقُولُ رَبَّنَا ءَاتِنَا فِي الدُّنْيَا وَمَا لَهُ فِي الْآخِرَةِ مِنْ خَلْقٍ ﴿٢٠٠﴾ وَمِنْهُمْ مَنْ يَقُولُ رَبَّنَا ءَاتِنَا فِي الدُّنْيَا حَسَنَةً وَفِي الْآخِرَةِ حَسَنَةً وَقِنَا عَذَابَ النَّارِ ﴿٢٠١﴾ أُولَئِكَ لَهُمْ نَصِيبٌ مِمَّا كَسَبُوا ۚ وَاللَّهُ سَرِيعُ الْحِسَابِ ﴿٢٠٢﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ١٩٨-٢٠٢)

- 2:198. There is no sin on you if you seek the bounty of your Lord [during Hajj, by trading and so on]. Then when you move on from 'Arafāt, remember Allah at the sacred place [Muzdalifah], and remember Him as He has guided you, for you had gone astray before this.

- 2:199. Then move on from the place from which all the people move on, and ask for Allah's forgiveness, for Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.
- 2:200. Then when you have completed your rites, remember Allah as much as you remember your own forefathers, or even more. There are some people who say: Our Lord, give us good in this world, but they will have no share in the hereafter.
- 2:201. But there are others who say: Our Lord, give us good in this world and good in the hereafter, and protect us from the torment of the fire.
- 2:202. They will have their due share [in this world and the hereafter] according to what they earn. And Allah is swift in reckoning.

When Allah (ﷻ) enjoined people to fear Him, He taught them that there is nothing wrong with seeking the bounty of Allah by earning money during the Hajj season and at other times, if it does not distract from that which should be the main focus, namely the Hajj, and the earnings are permissible and attributed to the bounty of Allah, and not to the individual's smartness. Focusing only on the means and forgetting the One Who created the means is what is blameworthy.

«Then when you move on from 'Arafāt, remember Allah at the sacred place [Muzdalifah]». This indicates a number of things:

Firstly: The standing in 'Arafāt, which was known to be an essential part of the Hajj. Moving on from 'Arafāt can only come after standing in 'Arafāt.

Secondly: The command to remember Allah at this sacred place, which is Muzdalifah. This was also well known. They would stay there overnight on the night before the Day of Sacrifice, then after fajr prayer they would remain in Muzdalifah, offering supplication, until it became very light. Remembering Allah at this place includes both obligatory and supererogatory prayers.

Thirdly: Staying in Muzdalifah comes after the standing in 'Arafāt, as is indicated by the word order in this verse.

Fourth and fifth: ‘Arafāt and Muzdalifah are both rituals of Hajj that must be done.

Sixth: Muzdalifah is within the Ḥaram zone, as it is described as sacred.

Seventh: ‘Arafāt is outside the Ḥaram zone, as may be understood from the fact that Muzdalifah is described as sacred, but not ‘Arafāt.

﴿and remember Him as He has guided you, for you had gone astray before this﴾ that is, remember Allah (ﷻ), as He has blessed you with guidance after you were misguided and has taught you that which you did not know. This is one of the greatest of blessings for which we must give thanks and respond to it by remembering the Bestower in our hearts and verbally.

﴿Then move on from the place from which all the people move on﴾ that is, then move on from Muzdalifah, from where all the people have moved on, from the time of Ibrāheem (ﷺ) until the present. What is meant by this moving on was well known to them; it meant moving on and stoning the jamarāt, offering the sacrifice, ṭawāf (circumambulation of the Kaaba), sa‘iy (going between Ṣafā and Marwah), staying overnight in Mina during the days of at-tashreeq, and completing all the other rituals of Hajj.

Because the purpose of this moving on was as mentioned, and the things mentioned are the last of the rituals of Hajj, and Allah commanded that when finishing them, we should ask Him for forgiveness and remember Him a great deal; we should ask Him for forgiveness for any mistakes or shortcomings in worship. Remembering Allah means thanking Him for His blessings by which He enabled us to perform this great act of worship.

This is what should be done every time one finishes an act of worship: he should ask Allah for forgiveness for shortcomings and thank Him for enabling him to do it. This is unlike the one who thinks that he has done the act of worship perfectly and has done a favour to his Lord by doing it, and that it will give him high status. Such a one deserves to be despised (by his Lord) and to have his deed rejected, just as the former deserves to be accepted and enabled to do more good deeds.

Then Allah (ﷻ) tells us about the condition of people. All of them ask Him for their needs and for protection from harm, but their ultimate goals vary. Among them are ﴿some people who say: Our Lord, give us good in this world﴾ that is, they ask Him for things they want in this world that stem from their whims and desires; they will have no share in the hereafter, because they are not interested in it and their focus is limited to this world. Others ask Allah for what is good in both realms and express their need of Allah's help and support with regard to their religious and worldly affairs. Both groups will have a share of what they have earned, and Allah will requite them in accordance with their deeds, aims and intentions, in a manner that is based on justice and generosity. All praise be to Him.

This verse indicates that Allah answers the supplication of everyone who calls upon Him, whether he is a Muslim or a disbeliever or an evildoer, but His answering a supplication does not indicate that He loves the person who offered it or that that person is close to Him, unless it has to do with the hereafter or spiritual matters.

The good that is sought in this world includes everything that is liked by people, such as abundant and enjoyable halal provision, a righteous wife, a child who is a source of joy, ease and comfort, beneficial knowledge, righteous deeds and other things that are liked and are permissible.

The good that is sought in the hereafter is safety from punishment in the grave, during the standing (on the Day of Resurrection) and in hell; attaining the good pleasure of Allah and eternal bliss; and being close to the Most Merciful Lord. Hence this supplication is the most perfect and comprehensive of supplications, and the most appropriate for the believers. Hence the Prophet (ﷺ) often recited this supplication and encouraged others to do likewise.

2:203. Remember Allah during the appointed days. But if anyone hastens to leave [Mina] in two days, there is no blame on him, and if any one stays on, there is no blame on him, for him who fears Allah. So fear Allah, and know that you will surely be gathered unto Him.

Here Allah (ﷻ) enjoins us to remember Him during the appointed days, which are the three days of at-tashreeq that come after Eid (al-Aḍḥā), because of the special status and honour of these days, as the remainder of the Hajj rituals are performed during these days, and because the people are the guests of Allah during these days. Hence it is forbidden to fast at this time, and remembrance of Allah during these days has a special quality that is not present on other days. Hence the Prophet (ﷺ) said:

Remembering Him during these days includes remembering Him when stoning the jamarāt and offering the sacrifice, and the special dhikr that is recited following the obligatory prayers. In fact some of the scholars said that it is recommended to recite takbeer in general at this time, as in the first ten days (of Dhul-Hijjah), and this is not far-fetched.

«But if anyone hastens to leave [Mina] in two days» that is, departing from Mina before sunset on the second day

«there is no blame on him, and if anyone stays on» that is, stays overnight in Mina on the night before the third day, and stones the jamarât on the following day «there is no blame on him». This is a concession granted by Allah (ﷻ) to His slaves, allowing both options. However it is known that if both are permitted, then staying on is preferable, because it allows for more worship.

From this we may conclude there is no blame or sin on either the one who leaves earlier or the one who leaves late, provided that he is one «who fears Allah» that is, one who fears Allah in all his affairs and throughout the Hajj. The one who fears Allah in all things will have no blame in all things; the one who fears Him in one thing but not another, his requital will match his deeds.

«So fear Allah» by obeying His commands and not disobeying Him

«and know that you will surely be gathered unto Him», then He will requite you for your deeds. So the one who feared Allah will find the reward of his piety with Him, but the one who did not fear Him will receive the severest punishment. Knowing that there will be requital for deeds is one of the greatest motives for fearing Allah. Hence He encouraged knowledge of that.

- 2:204. Among people are those whose speech pleases you in this world, and they call Allah to witness as to what is in their hearts, yet they are the most contentious of opponents.

- 2:205. When [such a person] leaves you, he strives to spread mischief in the land and to destroy crops and livestock. But Allah does not like mischief.
- 2:206. When it is said to him: Fear Allah, his arrogance leads him to sin. Hell is enough for him – what a wretched resting-place.

When Allah (ﷻ) commanded us to remember Him a great deal, especially at the best times, which is good and is in our best interests, and is a righteous deed, He also told us about the one who speaks words but his actions do not match his words. For what a person says will either raise or lower him in status. Hence Allah says: ﴿Among people are those whose speech pleases you in this world﴾ that is, when such a person speaks, his words please the listener, and when he speaks, he thinks that he is saying something useful, and he supports what he is saying by calling ﴿Allah to witness as to what is in﴾ his heart, by saying that Allah knows that what is in his heart is in harmony with what he is saying, but in fact he is lying, because his words contradict his deeds.

If he were telling the truth, his words and deeds would be in harmony, as is the case with the believer who is not a hypocrite. Hence Allah says of such people: ﴿yet they are the most contentious of opponents﴾ that is, if you argue with him, you will find him quarrelsome, difficult and stubborn, and what results from that is the worst kind of attitude. This is unlike the attitude of the believer, whose way is the easiest and who submits to the truth and is easy-going.

﴿When [such a person] leaves you﴾ – this refers to the one whose speech pleases you when he speaks to you
 ﴿he strives to spread mischief in the land﴾ that is, he does his utmost in committing sins, which is spreading mischief in the land
 ﴿and to destroy﴾ because of that ﴿crops and livestock﴾. Crops and livestock are destroyed and the blessings in them decrease because of his striving to commit sin.

«But Allah does not like mischief». As He does not like mischief, He hates and despises the person who spreads mischief in the land, even if he speaks nice words.

This verse indicates that the words that people say do not prove that they are sincere or insincere, righteous or evildoers, unless there are actions that confirm and prove that. Therefore witnesses, and those who are in the right or in the wrong, should be tested by examining their deeds and checking their behaviour and attitude; we should not be deceived by how they present themselves and praise themselves.

Then Allah tells us that if the one who spreads mischief in the land by committing sin is instructed to fear Allah, he arrogantly and stubbornly rejects that advice, and «his arrogance leads him to sin», thus he combines his sinful actions with arrogance towards the sincere advisers.

«Hell» which is the abode of the sinners and the arrogant «is enough for him – what a wretched resting-place» that is, a place to settle and dwell, and unceasing punishment and never-ending distress and despair; the punishment will not be reduced for them and they will have no hope of reward. This is the recompense for their evil deeds. We seek refuge with Allah from ending up like them.

بِالْعَبَادِ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٠٧)

2:207. But there are others who would sell their souls to earn the pleasure of Allah. And Allah is Most Compassionate towards His slaves.

These are the ones who are guided, who have sold their souls, regarding them as cheap, and have given them up in order to seek the pleasure of Allah and in the hope of His reward. They have paid the price to the One Who owns everything and Who fulfils His promises and is most compassionate towards His slaves. By His compassion and mercy, He has guided them to that and He will fulfil His promise, as He says:

﴿Allah has purchased from the believers their lives and their wealth, in return for which paradise will be theirs...﴾ (at-Tawbah 9: 111)

– to the end of the verse. In this verse Allah tells us that they have sold their souls and given them away, and He tells them of His compassion which dictates that they should attain that which they were seeking and hoping for. So after this do not ask about what they will receive from the Most Generous and what they will attain of victory and honour.

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا ادْخُلُوا فِي السِّلَاحِ كَافَّةً وَلَا تَتَّبِعُوا خُطُوَاتِ الشَّيْطَانِ إِنَّهُ لَكُمْ عَدُوٌّ مُبِينٌ ﴿٢٠٨﴾ فَإِنْ زَلَلْتُمْ مِنْ بَعْدِ مَا جَاءَتْكُمْ الْبَيِّنَاتُ فَاعْلَمُوا أَنَّ اللَّهَ عَزِيزٌ حَكِيمٌ ﴿٢٠٩﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٠٨-٢٠٩)

2:208. O you who believe! Enter into Islam wholeheartedly; and do not follow the footsteps of the Shayṭān, for he is to you an avowed enemy.

2:209. If you backslide after the clear [signs] have come to you, then know that Allah is Almighty, Most Wise.

Here Allah (ﷻ) commands the believers to ﴿enter into Islam wholeheartedly﴾ that is, adhering to all the teachings of Islam and not ignoring any of them, and they should not be among those who take their own desires as a god, who follow the command if it is in accordance with their whims and desires, otherwise they do not do so.

Rather what is required is to make one's inclinations in accordance with religious teaching and to do everything that one is able to do of good; whatever he is unable to do, he will have the intention of doing it (if he were able to), and by virtue of his intention he will attain reward.

Because entering into Islam wholeheartedly cannot be possible and cannot be imagined except by going against the ways of the Shayṭān, Allah says: ﴿and do not follow the footsteps of the Shayṭān﴾ by committing sins and disobeying Allah, ﴿for he is to you an avowed enemy﴾. The avowed enemy does not enjoin you to do anything but evil and shameful deeds, and that which will bring you harm.

Because people will inevitably make mistakes, Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿If you backslide after the clear [signs] have come to you﴾ that is, after certain knowledge has come to you, ﴿then know that Allah is Almighty, Most Wise﴾.

This is a stern warning which dictates that you should correct the mistakes, for if the sinners disobey the Almighty, the Subduer, the Most Wise, He will subdue them by His might and will punish them in accordance with His wisdom, for it is by His wisdom that He punishes the sinners and evildoers.

هَلْ يَنْظُرُونَ إِلَّا أَنْ يَأْتِيَهُمُ اللَّهُ فِي ظُلُلٍ مِّنَ الْغَمَامِ وَالْمَلَائِكَةُ وَقُضِيَ الْأَمْرُ
وَالِلَّهِ تُرْجَعُ الْأُمُورُ ﴿٢١٠﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢١٠)

- 2:210. Are they only waiting for Allah to come to them in the shadows of the clouds, together with the angels? But then the matter would already have been decided. And to Allah all matters go back [for decision].

This is a stern warning and threat that makes the heart tremble. Here Allah (ﷻ) is saying: are those who strive to spread mischief in the land, who follow in the footsteps of the Shayṭān, who ignore the commands of Allah, waiting for anything but the day of recompense for their deeds, which is filled with horrors, hardships and terrifying scenes that will shake the hearts of the evildoers, when the bad consequences of evil deeds will be inevitable for the evildoers? That is because Allah (ﷻ) will roll up the heavens and the earth, the stars will be scattered, the sun and moon will be folded up, the noble angels will descend and surround all creatures, and the Creator (ﷻ) will descend ﴿in the shadows of the clouds﴾, to judge with justice among His slaves. The Balance will be set up and the records will be spread out; the faces of those who are blessed will be brightened whilst the faces of those who are doomed will be darkened. Those who were doers of good will be distinguished from those who were doers of evil, and each will be requited for his deeds. Then the wrongdoer will bite his hands, when he realises what his situation really is.

This verse and others like it provide evidence for the view of ahl as-Sunnah wal-jamâ'ah, who affirm the divine attributes such as rising above, descending, coming and other attributes that Allah (ﷻ) has affirmed for Himself, or that His Messenger (ﷺ) has told us of. They affirm them in a manner that is befitting to the majesty and greatness of Allah, without likening Him to His creation or misinterpreting or denying any attribute. This is unlike the various groups who deny the divine attributes, such as the Jahamis, Mutazilites, Ash'aris and others of their ilk. As a result of that, they deny the divine attributes and interpret these verses in a manner for which they have no proof; rather their misinterpretation undermines what is stated in the Qur'an and what was stated by the Prophet (ﷺ), and they claim that their view is the correct one.

These people have no evidence from the texts, and no rational basis for their opinion either.

With regard to the texts, they acknowledge that the texts of the Qur'an and Sunnah apparently, and even clearly, support the view of ahl as-Sunnah wal-jamâ'ah, and that in order to support their false view, the texts need to be interpreted in a manner other than that which is indicated by the apparent meaning, and they think that the texts should be added to and subtracted from. This, as you can see, is not acceptable to one who has the slightest amount of faith in his heart.

From a rational point of view, there is nothing to support the notion that these attributes should be denied; rather reason indicates that being able to do a thing is more perfect than not being able to do it, and that divine actions having to do with the divine essence and those having to do with His creation are perfect. If they say that affirming these attributes is likening Him to His creation, the response is: speaking of the divine attributes is like speaking about the divine essence. Just as Allah has an essence that is not like any other essence, Allah has attributes that are not like the attributes of others. His attributes are connected to His essence, and the attributes of His creation are connected to their essences. Affirming them does not imply likening Him to His creation in any way whatsoever.

It may also be said to the one who affirms some of the attributes and denies others, or affirms the divine names but not the divine attributes: either you affirm everything that Allah has affirmed for Himself and that His Messenger (ﷺ) has affirmed, or you deny everything, which amounts to denying the very existence of the Lord of the worlds. As for your affirming some of the attributes and denying some, we say: show us the difference between those which you affirm and those which you deny; you will never find any difference between them. If you say: those attributes that I affirm do not lead to likening Him to His creation, the response of ahl as-Sunnah is: affirming what you deny does not imply likening Him to His creation. If you say: I do not see in that which I deny anything but likening Allah to His creation, those who deny all the attributes will say: we do not understand what you do affirm as meaning anything other than likening Him to His creation. Thus the answer that you give to those who deny the divine attributes will be the same as the answer given by ahl as-Sunnah concerning the attributes that you deny.

The point is that whoever denies some of the divine attributes that are affirmed by the Qur'an and Sunnah, whilst affirming others, is contradicting himself and there is no shar'i rational evidence for what he says; rather he is contradicting both reason and text.

﴿سَلِّ بَنِي إِسْرَءِيلَ كَمْ ءَاتَيْنَهُم مِّنْ ءَايَةٍ يُبَيِّنُهَا وَمَن يُبَدِّلْ نِعْمَةَ اللَّهِ مِن بَعْدِ مَا جَاءَتْهُ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ شَدِيدُ الْعِقَابِ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢١١)

2:211. Ask the Children of Israel how many clear signs We have sent them. But if any one, after Allah's favour has come to him, substitutes [something else], then Allah is severe in punishment.

﴿Ask the Children of Israel how many clear signs We have sent them﴾, that pointed to the truth and confirmed that the Messengers spoke the truth, and they were certain of them and recognised them as signs, but they did not give thanks for this blessing as they should have done; rather they were ungrateful for it and they substituted ingratitude for the blessing of Allah. Hence they deserved that Allah should send down His punishment upon them and deprive them of His reward. Allah (ﷻ) described ingratitude for the blessing as a substitution for it because if Allah bestows a blessing, either spiritual or worldly, upon a person and he does not give thanks for it or do what is required of him as a result, then it will diminish and disappear, and will be replaced with disbelief and sin. Thus ingratitude becomes a substitution for the blessing. As for the one who gives thanks to Allah (ﷻ) and does what is required of him, the blessing becomes established and continues, and Allah gives him more of it.

يَوْمَ الْقِيَامَةِ ۗ وَاللَّهُ يَرْزُقُ مَنْ يَشَاءُ بِغَيْرِ حِسَابٍ ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢١٢)

2:212. The life of this world is made to appear attractive to those who disbelieve, and they scoff at those who believe. But those who fear Allah will be above them on the Day of Resurrection, for Allah bestows His abundance without measure on whom He will.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that in the case of those who disbelieve in Allah and His revelations, and Messengers, and do not submit to His law, the life of this world has been made attractive to them, so they are content and happy with it. Thus all their whims and desires, wishes and efforts are focused on it; they turn towards it and strive hard to acquire worldly gains; they give it the utmost importance and show respect to those who share their worldly interests and focus on accumulation; they look down on the believers and mock them, saying: Are these the people among us to whom Allah has shown His favour? This stems from their lack of understanding and their shortsightedness, for this world is the realm of tests and trials, in which hard times come to believers and disbelievers alike, but if bad things happen to the believer in this world, he bears it with patience and seeks reward with Allah, hence Allah alleviates it for him because of his faith and patience in a way that does not happen for anyone except the believer.

What really matters is true superiority in the hereafter. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿But those who fear Allah will be above them on the Day of Resurrection﴾. So those who fear Allah will be in the highest levels of paradise, enjoying all kinds of delight, happiness and rejoicing, whilst the disbelievers will be beneath them in the lowest depths of hell, being punished with all kinds of torment, humiliation and eternal misery that will never end. This verse offers consolation to the believers and condemnation of the disbelievers, because provision in this world and in the hereafter can only come by the decree of Allah, and it cannot be attained except by the will of Allah. Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿for Allah bestows His abundance without measure on whom He will﴾. Worldly provision is granted to believers and disbelievers alike; as for spiritual provision of knowledge, faith, love of Allah, fear of Him and hope in Him, and the like, He only grants them to those whom He loves.

- 2:213. Humankind was one single nation, then Allah sent Messengers with glad tidings and warnings, and with them He sent the scripture in truth, to judge between people in matters wherein they differed. But none differed concerning it except those to whom it was given – after the clear signs had come to them – out of mutual envy. So Allah by His grace guided the believers to the truth concerning that wherein they differed. For Allah guides whom He will to a path that is straight.

People were united in guidance for ten generations after Nooh (ﷺ), then when they differed concerning religion, some of them disbelieved and the rest of them continued to follow the true religion. Disputes and conflicts occurred, and Allah sent the Messengers to judge between people and establish proof against them. According to another scholarly opinion, they were united in disbelief, misguidance and wretchedness, with no light or faith amongst them. Then Allah (ﷻ) had mercy on them and sent the Messengers to them, ﴿with glad tidings﴾ that the one who obeyed Allah would see the results of his obedience, such as provision, physical and spiritual strength, a good life and, most important of all, attaining the pleasure of Allah and paradise.

﴿and warnings﴾ that the one who disobeyed Allah would see the results of his sin, such as being deprived of provision, weakness, humiliation, a hard life and, worst of all, the wrath of Allah and hell. ﴿and with them He sent the scripture in truth﴾, containing true stories and just commands. Everything that the scripture contains is truth that decides between two who disagree concerning major and minor issues of religion. This is what should be done in the event of differences and disputes: the dispute should be referred to Allah and to His Messenger. Were it not that the answer for the issue is to be found in His Book and the Sunnah of His Messenger (ﷺ), He would not have commanded us to refer to them.

Having mentioned the great blessing of sending down the scriptures to the People of the Book, which dictated that they should have been united in following them, Allah (ﷻ) then tells us that they transgressed against one another, and many disputes and conflicts arose among them; they differed concerning the scripture when they should have been the first of the people to unite on the basis of the scripture. That happened after they had learned and knew for certain the clear signs and definitive proof. Thus they went far astray.

﴿So Allah by His grace guided the believers﴾ of this Ummah ﴿to the truth concerning that wherein they differed﴾. With regard to everything concerning which the People of the Book disagreed and went astray from the correct view, Allah guided this Ummah to the truth concerning it, and ﴿by His grace﴾ and His mercy He made it easy for them.

﴿For Allah guides whom He will to a path that is straight﴾. He calls all of humanity to the straight path, on the basis of His justice and so as to establish proof against them, lest they say: No bearer of glad tidings and no warner came to us. And by His grace and mercy, and with His help and kindness, He guides whomever He will among His slaves. This is His blessing and kindness, and that is his justice and wisdom.

﴿أَمْ حَسِبْتُمْ أَنْ تُدْخَلُوا الْجَنَّةَ وَلَمَّا يَأْتِكُمْ مَثَلُ الَّذِينَ خَلَوْا مِنْ قَبْلِكُمْ مَسْتَكْمِلِينَ
نَصْرَ اللَّهِ قَرِيبٌ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢١٤)

2:214. Or do you think that you will enter paradise without such [trials] as came to those who passed away before you? They encountered suffering and adversity, and were so shaken in spirit that even the Messenger and the believers who were with him said: When will the help of Allah come? Verily, the help of Allah is [always] near.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that He will inevitably test His slaves with both ease and hardship, as He tested those who came before them. This is His way that never alters or changes. Whoever adheres to His religion and follows His laws will inevitably be tested; if he is patient in bearing the decree of Allah and does not worry about the difficulties he encounters for His sake, then he is the sincere one who has attained true happiness and high status. Whoever regards the trials that befall people as a punishment from Allah, in that hardship deterred him from carrying on what he had committed himself to, then he is insincere in his claim to be a believer, because faith is not mere wishful thinking and claims, unless it is proven or disproven by one's deeds.

That also happened to previous nations, as Allah tells us: «They encountered suffering» that is, poverty «and adversity» that is, physical disease «and were so shaken in spirit» with all kinds of fears such as threats to kill or banish them, seizing their wealth, killing their loved ones, and other types of harm, until they reached a point where they were so shaken in spirit that they started to think that the help of Allah was slow in coming, even though they were certain of it, but it was so hard that «even the Messenger and the believers who were with him said: When will the help of Allah come?» Because relief comes when the calamity has become intense, and the worse it gets the sooner it comes, Allah (ﷻ) says: «Verily, the help of Allah is [always] near». This is how it is for everyone who adheres to the truth: he will be tested.

Every time the test becomes too hard, if he is patient and persists in the path he is following, the test will turn into a gift for him, and hardship will turn into ease and will be followed by victory over the enemy and healing from the spiritual diseases in his heart. This verse is like the verses in which Allah (ﷻ) says:

«Did you think that you would enter paradise when Allah has not yet seen who among you will strive hard [in jihad] and has not seen who will remain steadfast?» (Āl 'Imrān 3: 142)

«Do people think that once they say: We believe, they will be left alone and not be tested? Indeed, We tested those who came before them. For Allah will surely make known those who are sincere and will surely make known those who are liars.» (al-'Ankaboot 29: 2-3)

Thus when faced with tests and trials, the individual will be either honoured or humiliated.

﴿يَسْأَلُونَكَ مَاذَا يُنْفِقُونَ قُلْ مَا أَنْفَقْتُ مِنْ خَيْرٍ قَلِيلًا لِلَّذِينَ وَالْأَقْرَبِينَ وَالْيَتَامَى
وَالْمَسْكِينِ وَابْنِ السَّبِيلِ وَمَا تَفْعَلُوا مِنْ خَيْرٍ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ بِهِ عَلِيمٌ﴾ (سورة البقرة:

2:215. They ask you what they should spend [in charity]. Say: Whatever good you spend should be for parents, kindred, orphans and those in need, and for wayfarers, and whatever good you do, Allah is aware of it.

That is, they ask you about spending, which includes asking about what is spent and on whom it is spent. Allah responded by saying: ﴿Say: Whatever good you spend﴾, whether it is a smaller or greater amount, the most deserving people of it, the most entitled to be given precedence, the ones who have the greatest rights over you, are parents to whom it is obligatory to show kindness and it is forbidden to disobey them. One of the greatest ways of showing kindness to them is to spend on them, and one of the greatest kinds of disobedience to parents is to fail to spend on them. Hence spending on them is obligatory for the one who can afford it.

Then after parents come relatives of varying degrees, the closest then the next closest, according to the degree of closeness and of need. Spending on them is both an act of charity and upholding ties of kinship.

﴿orphans﴾ – this refers to small children who have no breadwinner; they are usually in need because they are not able to look after themselves and they have lost their breadwinner. So Allah enjoined people to take care of them, out of mercy and kindness towards them.

﴿and those in need﴾. This refers to those who have urgent needs and are helpless. They should be given charity to meet their needs and make them independent of means.

﴿and for wayfarers﴾. The wayfarer is a stranger who is cut off in a foreign land. He should be helped on his way by spending on that which will help him to reach his destination.

Allah (ﷻ) singled out these categories for mention because of the severity of their need. Then Allah (ﷻ) spoke in more general terms: ﴿and whatever good you do﴾ of charity to these people and others, and all kinds of acts of obedience and worship – because they all come under the heading of good.

﴿Allah is aware of it﴾ and will reward you for it and preserve that reward for you, each according to his intention and sincerity, how much or how little he spent, the severity of the need for it, and the impact of it and how beneficial it was.

﴿كُتِبَ عَلَيْكُمُ الْقِتَالُ وَهُوَ كَرْهٌ لَّكُمْ وَعَسَىٰ أَن تَكْرَهُوا شَيْئًا وَهُوَ خَيْرٌ لَّكُمْ
وَعَسَىٰ أَن تُحِبُّوا شَيْئًا وَهُوَ شَرٌّ لَّكُمْ وَاللَّهُ يَعْلَمُ وَأَنْتُمْ لَا تَعْلَمُونَ﴾ (سورة

2:216. Fighting is prescribed for you, even though you dislike it. But it may be that you dislike a thing although it is good for you, and that you like a thing although it is bad for you. Allah knows, and you do not know.

This verse enjoins fighting for the sake of Allah, after the believers had been instructed to refrain from fighting because of their weakness and lack of readiness. But when the Prophet (ﷺ) migrated to Madinah, and the Muslims increased in numbers and strength, Allah (ﷻ) commanded them to fight. He stated that it was something disliked by them, because of what it entails of effort, hardship and exposure to different kinds of fear and risk, yet despite that it is still pure good, because of what it brings of great reward, protection from severe punishment, victory over the enemy, acquiring booty and other benefits, despite the fact that it is disliked.

﴿But it may be ... that you like a thing although it is bad for you﴾, such as refraining from jihad and preferring ease and comfort. This is bad because it leads to defeat, the enemy gaining the upper hand over Islam and its people, humiliation and degradation, loss of great reward, and incurring punishment.

These verses all confirm that doing good deeds that may be disliked – because of the hardship involved – is undoubtedly good, and that doing bad deeds that may be liked – because of the imagined comfort and pleasure involved – is undoubtedly bad.

With regard to what options one may have in worldly affairs, the above is not always the case. But usually if the believer likes something, then Allah diverts it from him in some way, it is better for him, so the most appropriate response in that case is to give thanks to Allah and to think that what happened is good, because he knows that Allah (ﷻ) is more merciful to him than he is to himself, and is more able to direct His slaves to that which is in his best interests, and knows better than he does what is in his best interests, as He says: ﴿Allah knows, and you do not know﴾. So the most befitting response is to accept whatever He decrees for you, whether you like it or not.

However, if the command to fight was not limited, it would have included the sacred months and others, so Allah (ﷻ) made an exception concerning fighting during the sacred months, and said:

﴿يَسْأَلُونَكَ عَنِ الشَّهْرِ الْحَرَامِ قِتَالٍ فِيهِ قُلْ قِتَالٌ فِيهِ كَبِيرٌ وَصَدُّ عَنْ سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ
وَكُفْرٌ بِهِ وَالْمَسْجِدِ الْحَرَامِ وَإِخْرَاجُ أَهْلِهِ مِنْهُ أَكْبَرُ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ ۚ وَالْفِتْنَةُ
أَكْبَرُ مِنَ الْقَتْلِ وَلَا يَزَالُونَ يُقَاتِلُونَكُمْ حَتَّى يَرُدُّوكُمْ عَنْ دِينِكُمْ إِنِ اسْتَطَاعُوا
وَمَنْ يَرْتَدِدْ مِنْكُمْ عَنْ دِينِهِ فَبِمَتِّ وَهُوَ كَافِرٌ فَأُولَٰئِكَ حَبِطَتْ أَعْمَالُهُمْ
فِي الدُّنْيَا وَالْآخِرَةِ وَأُولَٰئِكَ أَصْحَابُ النَّارِ هُمْ فِيهَا خَالِدُونَ﴾ (سورة

2:217. They ask you about fighting in the sacred month. Say: Fighting therein is a grave offence; but graver is it in the sight of Allah to bar others from the path of Allah, to disbelieve in Him, to prevent access to the Sacred Mosque and to drive out its people from it. Persecution is worse than slaughter. Nor will they cease fighting you until they turn you back from your faith if they can. And if any of you turn back from their faith and die as disbelievers, their deeds will come to nothing in this world and in the hereafter; they will be inhabitants of the fire and will abide therein forever.

The majority of scholars are of the view that the prohibition on fighting during the sacred months was abrogated by the command to fight the polytheists wherever they are found. However some of the commentators said that it was not abrogated, because that which is mentioned in general terms is to be interpreted in the light of that which is specific, and this verse is specific, whereas the verse that speaks of fighting the polytheists wherever they are found is general in meaning (therefore the latter should be understood in the light of the former). Moreover, one of the distinctive characteristics, which in fact is the major characteristic, of the sacred months is that fighting is prohibited during them. But this is limited to initiating the fight only;

2:218. Those who believed and migrated and fought for the sake of Allah – it is they who have the hope of Allah’s mercy. And Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.

This refers to the deeds that are the basis of being blessed, the main feature of which is true servitude to Allah; from them it may be known to what extent a person is a winner or a loser.

With regard to faith, do not ask about its virtue. How can you ask about something which is the factor that differentiates between those who are blessed and those who are doomed, between the people of paradise and the people of hell? This is a factor which determines whether a person’s good deeds will be accepted from him; if it is absent, then no obligatory or supererogatory good deed will be accepted from him.

As for migration, this refers to leaving loved ones with whom one grew up in order to please Allah (ﷻ). The migrant leaves his homeland, his property, his family and his friends, seeking to draw closer to Allah and to support His religion.

As for fighting for the sake of Allah, it means striving and fighting the enemy in battle, doing one’s utmost to support the religion of Allah and suppress the religion of the Shayṭān. It is the pinnacle of righteous deeds which brings the best of rewards. It is the main reason for the spread of Islam, defeating the idol worshippers and bringing security to the Muslims, their property and their children.

The one who does these three deeds, despite the difficulties involved, will be more likely to do other good deeds.

Such people deserve to be the ones who hope for the mercy of Allah, because they have taken measures that lead to mercy. This indicates that hope can only come after implementing the means that lead to blessing. As for hope that is accompanied by laziness and failure to take proper measures, this is helplessness, wishful thinking and self-defeat; it is indicative of weak resolve and lack of reason, like the one who hopes to have a child without getting married, or the one who hopes for a harvest without sowing any seed and irrigating it, and so on.

﴿it is they who have the hope of Allah's mercy﴾ – these words indicate that even if a person does these deeds, he should not rely on them, rather he should hope for the mercy of his Lord, and hope that his deeds will be accepted, his sins forgiven and his faults concealed.

Hence Allah says, ﴿And Allah is Oft-Forgiving﴾ that is, to the one who repents sincerely ﴿Most Merciful﴾ – His mercy encompasses all things and His kindness extends to every living creature.

This indicates that the one who does the deeds mentioned will attain the forgiveness of Allah, because good deeds erase bad deeds, thus attaining the mercy of Allah.

If he attains forgiveness, punishments in this world and in the hereafter, which are the consequences of sin, will be warded off from him, because his sins have been forgiven and their effects erased. If he attains mercy, he will attain all that is good in this world and in the hereafter. In fact the deeds mentioned are part of Allah's mercy to them: were it not for His guiding them, they would not have wanted to do them; if He had not helped them, they would not have been able to do them; were it not for His kindness towards them, they would not have completed them and they would not have been accepted from them. To Him be all praise, from beginning to end, for He is the One Who granted the means and the outcome.

﴿ يَسْأَلُونَكَ عَنِ الْخَمْرِ وَالْمَيْسِرِ قُلْ فِيهِمَا إِثْمٌ كَبِيرٌ وَمَنْتَفَعٌ لِلنَّاسِ
وَإِثْمُهُمَا أَكْبَرُ مِنْ نَفْعِهِمَا وَيَسْأَلُونَكَ مَاذَا يُنْفِقُونَ قُلِ الْعَفْوَ كَذَلِكَ يُبَيِّنُ اللَّهُ
لَكُمْ الْآيَاتِ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَنْفَكُونَ ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢١٩)

2:219. They ask you about intoxicants and gambling. Say: In them is great sin, and some benefit for people; but the sin is greater than the benefit. They ask you how much they are to spend. Say: Whatever is surplus to your needs. Thus does Allah make clear to you His revelations, so that you may reflect –

That is, the believers ask you – O Messenger (ﷺ) – about the rulings on intoxicants and gambling. These were common practices during the jāhiliyah and when Islam first came. It was as if there was some uncertainty about them, hence they asked about the rulings on them. So Allah commanded His Prophet (ﷺ) to explain to them the benefits and harms that they entailed. This was a precursor to the prohibition on them, which was inevitable.

Allah tells us that the sin and harm that result from them, such as loss of reason and wealth, preventing people from remembering Allah and praying, and the enmity and hostility that they may create are greater than the benefits that people think come, from them, such as making money by dealing in intoxicants and what they gain from gambling, and the pleasures they get when indulging in them. This statement is aimed at deterring people from them, because the wise person will try to attain that which is clearly of benefit and will seek to avoid that which does more harm than good.

But because they were so used to them, it was difficult to make them give them up all at once. Hence this verse came as a precursor to the prohibition which is mentioned in the verse in which Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿O you who believe, intoxicants, gambling, idols and divining arrows are an abomination, of Shayṭān's handiwork; therefore avoid such [abomination], so that you might prosper.﴾ (al-Mā'idah 5: 90)

This is by the kindness, mercy and wisdom of Allah. Hence when this verse was revealed, 'Umar said, "We have given them up, we have given them up."

With regard to khamr (translated here as «intoxicants»), this word refers to any intoxicant that affects the mind, no matter what kind of substance it is. Gambling refers to any contest in which one of the two sides pays the other, such as dice games and chess, or any verbal or physical contest in which prizes are awarded, apart from horse and camel races and archery. These types of contests are permissible, because they help with jihad; hence the Lawgiver granted a concession allowing them.

﴿They ask you how much they are to spend﴾ this is a question about how much they should spend of their wealth. Allah made it easy for them, and instructed them to spend the surplus, which is what is affordable of their wealth and is surplus to their needs and basic necessities. This differs from one person to another, according to his means and whether he is rich or poor or somewhere in between. Each should give what is surplus to his needs, even if it is half a date.

Hence Allah commanded His Messenger (ﷺ) to take what is surplus from people and what they give in charity, and not to burden them with something that would be too difficult for them. Allah (ﷻ) did not enjoin this upon us because of any need on His part or because He wanted to burden us with more than we can afford; rather He enjoined upon us that which is in our interests and is easy for us, and that which is beneficial for us and our brothers. For that He deserves the most perfect of praise.

After explaining this to others in a clear way and outlining the reasons for which He prescribed it, He said: ﴿Thus does Allah make clear to you His revelations» that is, (His revelations) point to the truth, highlight beneficial knowledge and clarify matters «so that you may reflect»

 حَكِيمٌ ﴿٢٢٠﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٢٠)

2:220. – on this life and the hereafter. They ask you concerning [the property of] orphans. Say: The best thing to do is to manage it in their interests; if you mix their affairs with yours, then they are your brothers; and Allah knows who is dishonest and who is honest. And if Allah willed, He could have made things hard for you. Allah is indeed Almighty, Most Wise.

«– on this life and the hereafter». That is, so that you may use your mind and ponder the wisdom behind His laws, and realise that His commands are in your best interests in this world and the hereafter; and also so that you might think about this world and how quickly it will end, so that you will reject it, and think about the hereafter and how it will last forever, and that it is the realm of requital, so that you will prepare for it.

«They ask you concerning [the property of] orphans...». When the verse:

«Verily, those who devour the property of orphans unjustly take nothing into their bellies but fire. Soon they will burn in a raging fire.» (an-Nisā' 4: 10)

– was revealed, that was very difficult for the Muslims, and they separated their food from the food of the orphans, for fear that they might eat it, even in situations where they usually shared food. They asked the Prophet (ﷺ) about that, and Allah (ﷻ) told them that what is meant is to manage orphans' wealth in the best way, by protecting it, taking care of it and making it increase through trade, and that mixing with them with regard to food and other matters was permissible if it was done in a way that did not harm the orphans, because they are your brothers and it is normal for a person to mix with his brother. What matters in this case is the intention and the deed. If Allah knows that a person is sincere and honest towards the orphan in his intentions, and that he does not want to take his wealth, then if he used any of the orphan's wealth unintentionally, there would be no blame on him. But if Allah knows that by mixing the two, a person intends to take and devour the orphan's wealth, then this is the one who is to be blamed, and he is sinning. The means come under the same ruling as the ends.

This verse indicates that different types of mixing with regard to food, drink and trade are permissible. This is a concession granted by the kindness of Allah, to make things easy for the believers. Otherwise, ﴿if Allah willed, He could have made things hard for you﴾ that is, He could have made it difficult for you by not granting you this concession, then it would be difficult for you and you would be sinning.

﴿Allah is indeed Almighty﴾ that is, He has perfect strength and all things are under His control, but at the same time He is ﴿Most Wise﴾ and only does that which His perfect wisdom and care dictate. His might does not contradict His wisdom, so it cannot be said that whatever He wills He does whether it is in accordance with wisdom or not. Rather we should say that His actions and rulings are in accordance with His wisdom, so He does not create anything in vain; rather it must be for a reason, whether we know it or not. By the same token, He does not prescribe anything for His slaves without it being connected to wisdom; He only enjoins that which is purely or mostly in our best interests, and He does not forbid anything but that which is purely or mostly bad, because of His perfect wisdom and mercy.

﴿وَلَا تَنْكِحُوا الْمُشْرِكَةَ حَتَّىٰ تُؤْمِنَ ۚ وَلَا مُمْسِكَةً مُّؤْمِنَةً خَيْرٌ مِّنْ مُّشْرِكَةٍ وَلَوْ أَعْجَبَتْكُمْ ۚ وَلَا تُنكِحُوا الْمُشْرِكِينَ حَتَّىٰ يُؤْمِنُوا ۚ وَلَعَبْدٌ مُّؤْمِنٌ خَيْرٌ مِّنْ مُّشْرِكٍ وَلَوْ أَعْجَبَكُمْ ۚ أُولَٰئِكَ يَدْعُونَ إِلَى النَّارِ ۚ وَاللّٰهُ يَدْعُو إِلَى الْجَنَّةِ وَالْمَغْفِرَةِ بِإِذْنِهِ ۚ وَبَيِّنُ عَآيَاتِهِ لِلنَّاسِ لَعَلَّهُمْ يَتَذَكَّرُونَ ﴿٢٢١﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٢١)

- 2:221. Do not marry the polytheist women until they believe, for a believing slave girl is better than a polytheist woman, even though she may please you; and do not give your daughters in marriage to polytheists until they believe, for a believing slave is better than a polytheist, even though he may please you. They invite unto the fire, and Allah invites unto paradise and unto forgiveness by His grace, and He explains His revelations to humankind so that they may bear them in mind.

﴿Do not marry the polytheist women﴾ so long as they are still polytheists

﴿until they believe﴾, because a believing woman – no matter how ugly she may be – is better than a polytheist woman, no matter how beautiful she may be. This is general in meaning and applies to all polytheist women; the verse in Soorat al-Mâ'idah made an exception in permitting marriage to women of the People of the Book, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...chaste women among those who were given the scripture before you...﴾ (al-Mâ'idah 5: 5)

﴿and do not give your daughters in marriage to polytheists until they believe﴾. This is general in meaning and there are no exceptions.

Then Allah (ﷻ) tells us the wisdom behind the prohibition on Muslims, male or female, marrying those who differ from them in religion: ﴿They invite unto the fire﴾ that is, by their words, deeds and attitude, so mixing with them poses a danger, not in worldly terms, but in terms of eternal doom. What we learn from this verse is that it is not allowed to mix with polytheists and innovators, because if it is not permissible to marry them – even though doing so may serve many interests – then it is more appropriate to say that mixing with them in a regular manner is not allowed, especially in cases where the polytheist or innovator is in a higher position than the Muslim, such as if the Muslim is his servant and so on.

The words ﴿and do not give your daughters in marriage to polytheists﴾ also indicate that the presence of the woman's wali (guardian) in marriage is essential.

﴿and Allah invites unto paradise and unto forgiveness﴾ that is, He calls His slaves to attain paradise and forgiveness, one of the effects of which is to ward off punishment. That is achieved by calling people to the means of attaining that, such as righteous deeds, sincere repentance and beneficial knowledge.

﴿and He explains His revelations﴾ that is, His rulings and the wisdom behind them ﴿to humankind that they may bear them in mind﴾. That is so that they may remember that which they forget and learn that which they did not know, and to pay attention to that which they have been neglecting.

- 2:222. They ask you about menstruation. Say: It is an impurity, so keep away from women during menstruation and do not approach them until they have become pure. Then when they have purified themselves, you may approach them as Allah has ordained. Truly, Allah loves those who turn unto Him in repentance and He loves those who purify themselves.
- 2:223. Your wives are your tilth, so approach your tilth however you will; and send [good deeds] before you for your souls. Fear Allah and know that you will meet Him, and give glad tidings to the believers.

Here, Allah (ﷻ) speaks of their questions about menstruation, and whether a woman is the same after she gets her period as she was before, or she should be avoided completely, as is the practice among the Jews.

Allah tells us that menstruation is an impurity, and because it is an impurity, by His wisdom Allah told His slaves to avoid the place of impurity only. Hence He said: ﴿so keep away from women during menstruation﴾. The phrase translated here as ﴿during menstruation﴾ may refer to the place from which the menstrual bleeding comes (the vagina), hence what is forbidden is intercourse in the vagina in particular (at the time of menstruation). This is haram according to scholarly consensus. The command to keep away from the place of menstruation indicates that intimate activity with the menstruating woman is permissible, so long as intercourse in the vagina is avoided.

But the words ﴿and do not approach them until they become pure﴾ indicate that intimate activity involving the area near the vagina, which is the area between the naval and the knee, should be avoided too, as the Prophet (ﷺ) did this when he wanted to be intimate with his wife when she was menstruating; he would tell her to put on a waist wrapper, then he would be intimate with her.

The length of time during which menstruating women should not be approached lasts «until they have become pure» that is, it ends when the bleeding ends. Once the bleeding has ended, the prohibition that applied when the blood was flowing also comes to an end. There are two conditions for it to be permissible to resume regular intimate activity: cessation of bleeding and full ablution (ghusl) following menses. When the bleeding stops, the first condition is met and the second remains. Hence Allah says: «Then when they have purified themselves» that is, done ghusl (full ablution) «you may approach them as Allah has ordained» that is, in the vagina and not in the anus, because the vagina is the place of tilth or sowing the seed.

This indicates that it is obligatory for the menstruating woman to do ghusl and that cessation of the bleeding is a condition of her ghusl being valid.

Because this prohibition is based on Allah's kindness to His slaves and protecting them from harm, He says, «Truly, Allah loves those who turn unto Him in repentance» that is, those who constantly repent from their sins

«and He loves those who purify themselves» that is, those who keep away from sin. This includes both physical purity from impure substances and purifying oneself from the impurity that results from breaking wind, sexual activity and so on.

This indicates that purification is prescribed in general, because Allah (ﷻ) loves those who do this. Hence purification in general is a condition of prayer and ṭawâf being valid, and it is a condition of it being permissible to touch the muṣ-ḥaf. It also includes purity, in a metaphorical sense, from immoral acts, bad attitudes and vile deeds.

«Your wives are your tilth, so approach your tilth however you will», from the front or from the back, but it should only be in the vagina, because that is the place of tillage and this is the place from which the infant emerges.

This indicates that anal intercourse is forbidden, because Allah has only permitted intercourse with women in the place from which the infant will emerge. There are many hadiths from the Prophet (ﷺ) which forbid anal intercourse and curse the one who does it.

﴿and send [good deeds] before you for your souls﴾ that is, by drawing close to Allah by doing good deeds. That includes a man being intimate with his wife and having intercourse with her by way of seeking reward for it and in the hope of producing offspring through whom Allah will benefit him.

﴿Fear Allah﴾ that is, in all your affairs you should constantly fear Allah and seek help thereby, knowing ﴿that you will meet Him﴾ and He will requite you for your deeds, righteous or otherwise.

﴿and give glad tidings to the believers﴾. There is no mention of what the glad tidings are about, in order to indicate the general meaning and that they will have glad tidings in this world and in the hereafter. Attaining all that is good and protection from all that is bad are connected to faith, and this is included in these glad tidings.

This is also indicative of Allah's love for the believers and for that which pleases them. It also shows us that it is recommended to motivate them and make them long for that which Allah has prepared for them of reward in this world and in the hereafter.

﴿وَلَا تَجْعَلُوا اللَّهَ عُرْضَةً لِأَيْدِيكُمْ أَنْ تَبْرُوا وَتَتَّقُوا وَتُصْلِحُوا بَيْنَ النَّاسِ وَاللَّهُ سَمِيعٌ عَلِيمٌ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٢٤)

2:224. Do not allow your oaths in Allah's name to hinder you from doing righteous deeds, guarding [against evil] and making peace between people, for Allah is All-Hearing, All-Knowing.

The purpose of oaths and vows is to show veneration of that by which you swear and to confirm the action for which you swore the oath. Allah (ﷻ) has commanded us to guard our oaths, which implies fulfilling them in all cases. But He made an exception from that, if fulfilling the oath implies not doing something that is dearer to Him. He has forbidden His slaves to make their oath a hindrance, that is to let the oath be an obstacle that prevents them from doing righteous deeds, doing good, guarding against evil or making peace between people.

The one who swears not to do something that is obligatory must break his oath, and it is haram for him to fulfil his oath. The one who swears not to do something that is mustahabb (recommended) is encouraged to break his oath. The one who swears to do something that is haram is obliged to break his oath; if he swears to do something makrooh (disliked), it is recommended for him to break his oath. With regard to permissible matters, he should guard his oath and not break it.

This verse points to the famous principle that when choosing between many options that may serve many purposes, the most important should be given precedence. In this case, fulfilling the oath serves a purpose, but obeying the commands of Allah with regard to these matters serves a greater purpose, therefore it should take precedence.

Then the verse ends with these two divine names: ﴿for Allah is All-Hearing﴾ that is, He hears all sounds. ﴿All-Knowing﴾ that is, He knows people's aims and intentions. That includes His hearing the words of those who swear oaths, and He knows their intentions, whether they are good or evil. This is a warning that He will requite them for their deeds, and He has full knowledge of their actions and their intentions.

2:225. Allah will not call you to account for that which is unintentional in your oaths, but He will call you to account for that which is intended in your hearts; and He is Oft-Forgiving, Most Forbearing.

That is, He will not call you to account for that which comes from your lips of empty oaths that people say without intending it or meaning it, but they are simply uttered, as when a man says, “No, by Allah” or “Yes, by Allah,” or when he swears an oath concerning something in the past that he thinks he is telling the truth about. Rather the calling to account will be concerning that which was intended in the heart.

This indicates that what matters is what was intended when saying something, as is also the case with regard to actions.

Allah ﴿is Oft-Forgiving﴾ to those who repent to Him ﴿Most Forbearing﴾ towards those who disobey Him, for He does not hasten to punish them; rather He is forbearing towards them, conceals their faults and forgives them, even though He has power over them and could seize them with punishment at any moment.

2:226. For those who take an oath of abstinence from their wives, there should be a [maximum] waiting period of four months; if they then go back [to their normal relationship], Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.

2:227. But if they decide upon divorce, Allah is All-Hearing, All-Knowing.

This refers to a type of oath that has to do only with the wife regarding a particular matter. It is an oath whereby the husband swears not to have intercourse with his wife, without specifying a time limit, or specifying a time limit of less or more than four months.

With regard to the one who swears not to have intercourse with his wife, if it is for a period of less than four months, this is like any other oath, and if he breaks it he has to offer expiation, but if he fulfils the term, he does not have to do anything and his wife can make no claim against him, because he has the right to abstain for four months.

However, if it is an oath of permanent abstention, or for a period longer than four months, a limit of four months from the time of the oath must be imposed on him, if his wife demands that, because that is her right. When that period comes to an end, he should be instructed to go back to normal intimate relations; if he does so, then he is not required to do anything apart from offering expiation for his oath. However, if he refuses, then he should be forced to divorce her. If he refuses to divorce her, the judge should issue the divorce.

But resuming normal relations with his wife is more liked by Allah (ﷻ), hence He said: ﴿if they then go back [to their normal relationship]﴾ that is, if they go back to what they swore to abstain from, which is intercourse, then ﴿Allah is Oft-Forgiving﴾ and will forgive them for what they did of swearing that oath, because of their going back.

﴿Most Merciful﴾ as He has ordained expiation and a way out from their oath, and has not made it binding upon them as an unbreakable commitment from which they cannot free themselves. By His mercy towards them, He wants them to go back to their wives, and to feel compassion for them.

«But if they decide upon divorce» that is, if they refuse to go back, then that indicates that they no longer want them as their wives, which can only be the case if they have decided upon divorce. If this happens, he should do it straight away, otherwise the judge should force him to do it, or issue the divorce himself.

«Allah is All-Hearing, All-Knowing». This is a warning to the one who swears this oath, intending to cause harm.

This verse is quoted as evidence that such an oath can only be sworn with regard to the wife, because Allah says «from their wives», and that it is obligatory to have intercourse (at least) once every four months, because after four months, the husband should be forced either to have intercourse or to divorce his wife, and that can only be because he has failed to do something that is obligatory.

- 2:228. Divorced women should wait concerning themselves for three menstrual cycles. It is not permissible for them to conceal what Allah has created in their wombs, if they believe in Allah and the Last Day. Their husbands have the greater right to take them back in that period, if they wish for reconciliation. And women have rights similar to the rights over them, according to what is equitable; but men have a degree [of responsibility] over them. And Allah is Almighty, Most Wise.

That is, women whose husbands have divorced them ﴿should wait concerning themselves﴾ that is, they should observe the 'iddah or waiting period

﴿for three menstrual cycles﴾, whether that is counted from the beginning or the end of the bleeding; there was a difference of scholarly opinion concerning that. However, the correct view is that what is meant by the menstrual cycle is the beginning of the menses. There are several reasons for this waiting period, one of which is to establish the absence of pregnancy. If the woman has three menstrual cycles, it will be known that there is nothing in her womb, so there will be no mixing of lineages (if she remarries). Hence Allah (ﷻ) has commanded women to speak of ﴿what Allah has created in their wombs﴾, and He has forbidden them to conceal either pregnancy or menses, because concealing that leads to very negative consequences. Concealing a pregnancy may lead to attributing the child to someone other than his real father, if the woman likes another man and wants to hasten the end of the 'iddah. If she attributes the child to someone other than his real father, that will result in severing of ties of kinship, prevention of inheritance, and his real mahrams observing hijab in front of him; he may even end up marrying one of his mahrams unwittingly. On the other hand, if he is attributed to someone other than his real father, then he may end up being inherited from or himself inheriting from people with whom he is not entitled to have this kind of inheritance. It also makes the relatives of the one to whom he is attributed his relatives, which will lead to evil consequences the extent of which no one knows except the Lord of humankind. If nothing else resulted from it except her (the divorced woman) staying with a man whom it is not permissible for her to marry (because she is pregnant from her first husband), which involves persisting in the grave major sin of zinâ (fornication or adultery), that would be sufficient evil.

With regard to concealing menses, by lying and saying that she had her period when she did not, because she wants to hasten the end of the 'iddah, this is hastening to put an end to the husband's right to take her back, and making herself permissible to another man, which may lead to evil consequences as discussed above. If she lies and says that there was no menses in order to make her 'iddah last longer, and she takes maintenance from him that he is not obliged to pay, in fact it is haram for her to take it for two reasons: because she is not entitled to it and because she is taking it on the basis of a shar'i ruling but she is lying (about her condition). Moreover, he may take her back after the (real) 'iddah has ended, in which case it would be an immoral relationship, because she is no longer permissible for him. Hence Allah says: ﴿It is not permissible for them to conceal what Allah has created in their wombs, if they believe in Allah and the Last Day﴾.

If they conceal what is in their wombs, this indicates that they do not truly believe in Allah and the Last Day. Otherwise, if they did truly believe in Allah and the Last Day, and knew that they would be requited for their deeds, they would not have done any of these things.

This indicates that what a woman says about herself concerning matters that no one but she could know about, is to be accepted, as in the case of menses, pregnancy and so on.

﴿Their husbands have the greater right to take them back in that period﴾ that is, so long as the woman's 'iddah has not yet ended, her husband has the greater right to take her back

﴿if they wish for reconciliation﴾ that is, because they like them, want them back and love them. What this verse means is that if they do not intend to reconcile with them, then they have no right to take them back. It is not permissible for them to take them back with the intention of harming them or making the 'iddah longer. Does the husband have the right to do that when this is his intention? There are two scholarly views on this matter.

The majority are of the view that he does have a right, even though it is haram. However the correct view is that if he does not wish for reconciliation, then he has no right to do that, as is the apparent meaning of the verse. This is another reason for this waiting period: the husband may regret separating from her, so he is given this period of time to think about the matter and make his mind up.

This indicates that Allah (ﷻ) loves harmony and reconciliation between spouses, and He dislikes separation, as the Prophet (ﷺ) said: «The most disliked of permissible things to Allah is divorce.» (A sound hadith recorded by Ibn Mâjah)

This applies specifically when the woman has been divorced and the waiting period ('iddah) has not yet ended. But if the waiting period has ended, then she is completely divorced and the husband does not have the greater right to take her back; rather if they agree to get back together, they must do a new marriage contract, fulfilling all the necessary conditions.

«And women have rights similar to the rights over them, according to what is equitable» that is, women have rights over and duties towards their husbands, just as their husbands have rights over and duties towards them, both obligatory and recommended.

The reference point with regard to rights and duties between the spouses is what is equitable, and that is to be based on local custom in that particular place and at that particular time, as applicable to men and women of similar social standing. That varies from one time, place, situation, people or custom to another.

This indicates that provision of maintenance, clothing, kind treatment and accommodation, and frequency of intercourse, should be in accordance with what is equitable. This is what the regular marriage contract is based on. But if there are some additional stipulations, then they should be adhered to, unless it is a condition that permits something that is forbidden or forbids something that is permitted.

«but men have a degree [of responsibility] over them» that is, men are of higher standing and take the leading role, and have some extra rights over their wives, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

Moreover, prophethood, and the positions of judge, imam, head of state and other positions of authority are given exclusively to men, and in many cases men are given double what is given to women, as in the case of inheritance and so on.

﴿And Allah is Almighty, Most Wise﴾ that is, He has overwhelming power and absolute authority to which all things yield. Yet – alongside His power – He is Most Wise in all that He does.

Excluded from the general meaning of this verse are: pregnant women, whose 'iddah lasts until they give birth; women with whom the marriage was not consummated, who have no 'iddah; and slave women, whose 'iddah is two menstrual cycles, as was the view of the Companions (رضي الله عنهم). The context of these verses indicates that what is meant here are free women.

- 2:229. Divorce may be pronounced twice; then the wife should either be retained honourably or be released gracefully. It is not lawful for you to take back anything that you have given [to your wives], except when both parties fear that they would be unable to keep the limits ordained by Allah. If you do indeed fear that they would be unable to keep the limits ordained by Allah, then there is no blame on either of them if the woman opts to give something for her release. These are the limits ordained by Allah, so do not transgress them; if any do transgress the limits ordained by Allah, it is they who are the wrongdoers.

During the jāhiliyah and at the beginning of Islam, a man could divorce his wife endlessly. If he wanted to cause her harm he would divorce her, then when her 'iddah was about to end, he would take her back. Then he would divorce her again, and this could happen countless times, causing such harm and suffering, the extent of which only Allah knows.

So Allah stated that ﴿Divorce﴾ that is, revocable divorce, in which the husband may take the wife back ﴿may be pronounced twice﴾ so that the husband will be able – if his intention is not to cause harm – to take her back and think again during this period. But anything more than that is not appropriate, because the one who does it more than twice is either transgressing the limit or has no wish to keep her; rather his aim is to cause harm. Hence Allah (ﷻ) instructed the husband to retain or keep his wife ﴿honourably﴾ that is, to treat her kindly as other husbands treat their wives. This is the most correct opinion. Otherwise, he should let her go or release her ﴿gracefully﴾. That includes not taking any of her wealth in return for letting her go, because that is unjust and is taking wealth for nothing in return. Hence Allah says: ﴿It is not lawful for you to take back anything that you have given [to your wives], except when both parties fear that they would be unable to keep the limits ordained by Allah﴾. This refers to khul' or releasing the wife in a graceful manner. in a case where the wife dislikes her husband because of his physical appearance, attitude or lack of religious commitment, and she fears that she will not be able to obey Allah by fulfilling her duty towards him.

﴿If you do indeed fear that they would be unable to keep the limits ordained by Allah, then there is no blame on either of them if the woman opts to give something for her release» because it is compensation in return for getting what she wants of separation. This shows that khul' is prescribed, if this reason is applicable.

«These» that is, the Islamic rulings mentioned above «are the limits ordained by Allah» that is, His rulings that He has prescribed for you and has enjoined you to adhere to them.

«if any do transgress the limits ordained by Allah, it is they who are the wrongdoers» and what wrongdoing could be greater than ignoring what is permissible and doing what is forbidden, and not being content with that which Allah has permitted?

Wrongdoing is of three types: wrongdoing that affects a person's relationship with Allah, the gravest of which is shirk or associating others with Him; wrongdoing that affects a person's relationship with other people, for Allah does not forgive shirk unless one repents, but He does not forgive transgressions against the rights of other people; and wrongdoing of a lesser degree than shirk that affects a person's relationship with Allah – this is subject to the will and wisdom of Allah (and He may forgive or punish for it).

﴿فَإِنْ طَلَّقَهَا فَلَا تَحِلُّ لَهُ مِنْ بَعْدُ حَتَّى تَنْكِحَ زَوْجًا غَيْرَهُ، فَإِنْ طَلَّقَهَا فَلَا جُنَاحَ عَلَيْهِمَا أَنْ يَتَرَاجَعَا إِنْ ظَنَّا أَنْ يُقِيمَا حُدُودَ اللَّهِ، وَتِلْكَ حُدُودُ اللَّهِ يُبَيِّنُهَا لِقَوْمٍ يَعْلَمُونَ ﴿٢٣٠﴾ وَإِذَا طَلَّقْتُمُ النِّسَاءَ فَلَنْ أَجْلُهُنَّ فَأَمْسِكُوهُنَّ بِمَعْرُوفٍ أَوْ سَرِّحُوهُنَّ بِمَعْرُوفٍ ۚ وَلَا تُمْسِكُوهُنَّ ضِرَارًا لِنَعْتَدُوهَا وَمَنْ يَفْعَلْ ذَلِكَ فَقَدْ ظَلَمَ نَفْسَهُ، وَلَا تَنْجِدُوا ۚ إِنَّا نَبِّئُكُمْ بِهَذَا هُزُوعًا ۚ وَأَذْكُرُوا نِعْمَتَ اللَّهِ عَلَيْكُمْ وَمَا أَنْزَلَ عَلَيْكُمْ مِنَ الْكِتَابِ وَالْحِكْمَةِ لِيُعْظِمَ بِهِ ۖ وَأَتَّقُوا اللَّهَ ۚ وَاعْلَمُوا أَنَّ اللَّهَ يَكُلُّ شَيْءًا عَلِيمٌ ﴿٢٣١﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٣٠-٢٣١)

2:230. And if he divorces her [the third time], she will not be lawful for him again until she has married another husband. Then if

[the latter] divorces her, there is no blame on either of them if they return to each other, provided they feel that they can keep the limits ordained by Allah. Such are the limits ordained by Allah, which He makes clear to those who understand.

- 2:231. When you divorce women, and they have approached [the end of] their waiting periods, either retain them on equitable terms or release them on equitable terms. Do not retain them in order to harm them, thus overstepping the limits; if anyone does that, then he has wronged himself. Do not make a mockery of Allah's revelations; remember the favours Allah has bestowed upon you, and what He has revealed to you of the Book and wisdom, to teach you. And fear Allah, and know that Allah has knowledge of all things.

«And if he divorces her [the third time]», that is the third talâq «she will not be lawful for him again until she has married another husband» that is, a genuine marriage in which he has intercourse with her, because the legitimate marriage is that in which there is a contract and intercourse. This is according to scholarly consensus.

It is stipulated that the second marriage should be a genuine marriage; if the aim is to make it permissible for her to go back to the first husband, then it is not a marriage and it does not make her lawful for the first husband. But if she marries the second husband in a genuine marriage and he has intercourse with her, then he leaves her and her 'iddah comes to an end, then «there is no blame on either of them» that is, on the first husband or the wife «if they return to each other» that is, if they make a new marriage contract between them, with mutual consent. Because it refers to them (with no mention of a third party), this indicates that there must be mutual consent.

But it is stipulated, in the event of returning to each other, that they should think «that they can keep the limits ordained by Allah», by each of them fulfilling the rights of the other. This applies if they regret their previous conduct that led to separation and they resolved to change for the better. In that case there is no blame on either of them if they return to each other.

What we understand from this verse is that if they do not think that they can keep the limits ordained by Allah, because they think it most likely that they will go back to the way they were before and that the bad attitude has not changed, in that case there will be blame on them, because in all cases where the commands of Allah will not be adhered to and He will not be obeyed, it is not permissible to go ahead.

This indicates that if a person wants to do something, especially positions of major or minor responsibility, he should first examine himself: if he is confident that he has the ability to do it, he should go ahead, otherwise he should refrain.

After explaining these important rulings, Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿Such are the limits ordained by Allah﴾ that is, His laws that He has explained clearly.

﴿which He makes clear to those who understand﴾ because they are the ones who will benefit thereby and benefit others.

This obviously highlights the virtue of people of knowledge, because Allah (ﷻ) has addressed this explanation of His limits to them. It also indicates that Allah loves for His slaves to know and understand His limits that He revealed to His Messenger (ﷺ).

Then Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿When you divorce women﴾ – this refers to the revocable divorce, which is the first or second ṭalâq.

﴿and they have approached [the end of] their waiting periods﴾ that is, they are close to the end of their ‘iddah,

﴿either retain them on equitable terms or release them on equitable terms﴾ that is, either take them back with the intention of fulfilling their rights, or release them without taking them back or harming them. Hence He says: ﴿Do not retain them in order to harm them, thus overstepping the limits», by this action of yours. What is permissible is keeping them on equitable terms and what is forbidden is harming them.

«if anyone does that, then he has wronged himself» even if the harm done affects another person, the intention to cause harm will backfire on the one who had that intention.

«Do not make a mockery of Allah's revelations». Allah (ﷻ) explained His limits very clearly; what was required was to know them and act accordingly, and keep those limits and not transgress them, because He did not reveal them in vain; rather He revealed them in truth, to be taken seriously and adhered to with all sincerity. Hence He forbade making a mockery of them, which means toying with them and abusing them, such as using them to cause harm by either retaining or releasing a wife, or divorcing frequently, or issuing three divorces at one time. In His mercy, Allah allowed divorce one at a time, out of kindness and in people's best interests.

«remember the favours Allah has bestowed upon you» in general, with praise and thanks, acknowledging that in the heart and physically striving to obey Allah

«and what He has revealed to you of the Book and wisdom», that is, the Sunnah. Both describe to you the paths of goodness and encourage you to follow them, and they describe the paths of evil, and warn against following them. Allah has told you about Himself and how He deals with His close friends and His enemies; He has taught you that which you did not know.

It was also suggested that what is meant by wisdom is deep understanding of Sharia; the Book contains the rulings and the wisdom highlights the wisdom of Allah in His commands and prohibitions. Both meanings are correct, hence Allah says: «to teach you» that is, by means of what He has revealed to you. This supports the idea that what is meant by wisdom is deep understanding of Sharia, because teaching is the result of explaining the rulings and the wisdom behind them.

 ﴿and know that Allah has knowledge of all things﴾ and this is why He has explained these rulings to you in a very precise and clear manner which is in the best of people's interests in every time and place. Praise and thanks be to Him.

2:232. When you divorce women, and they have reached [the end of] their waiting periods, do not prevent them from marrying their [former] husbands, if they have come to an equitable agreement. This instruction is for all amongst you who believe in Allah and the Last Day. That is better and more decent for you. Allah knows, and you do not know.

This is addressed to the guardians of women who have been divorced fewer than three times. When the woman comes out of her 'iddah, if her husband wants to remarry her and she agrees to that, then it is not permissible for the guardian, whether he is her father or any other relative, to prevent her from remarrying out of resentment towards the husband for what he did of divorcing her previously.

This verse states that if the guardian believes in Allah and the Last Day, his faith does not allow him to prevent the marriage, because that is better for you and more decent and more appropriate than what the guardian thinks: that not allowing this new marriage is the right decision and the proper way, and that he is getting his own back on the husband for the previous divorce by not giving her in marriage to him, as is usually the case with those who are stubborn and arrogant.

So if he thinks that it is better not to give her in marriage, (he should realise that) «Allah knows, and you do not know», so you should comply with the instructions of One Who has knowledge of what is in your best interests, wants that for you, and is able to bring this about in ways that you know or that you do not know.

This verse indicates that the presence of the guardian is essential in marriage, because Allah forbade guardians to prevent marriage and He only issued this prohibition concerning a matter that is under their control and it is their right to decide concerning it.

- 2:233. Mothers may breastfeed their children for two whole years, for those who wish to complete the full term of breastfeeding. It is the obligation of the one to whom the child belongs to provide food and clothing for them [the mothers] on an equitable basis. No soul should have a burden laid on it greater than it can bear. No mother should be made to suffer harm on account of her child, nor any father on account of his child, and the same duty is incumbent on the heir. If they both decide on weaning, by mutual consent, and after due consultation, there is no blame on them. And if you wish to provide a wet-nurse for your children, there is no blame on you, provided you pay [the wet-nurse] what you agreed upon, on an equitable basis. But fear Allah and know that Allah sees well all that you do.

This appears in the form of a statement but what is meant is a command; it refers to what happens anyway, so there is no need to issue instructions that ﴿Mothers may breastfeed their children for two whole years﴾. Because the word translated here as “year” may mean an entire year or most of a year, Allah stipulates that it should be two whole or complete years.

﴿for those who wish to complete the full term of breastfeeding﴾. Then when the two years of breastfeeding are over, breastfeeding is complete; after that the milk becomes like any other food. Hence breastfeeding after two years does not count with regard to creating the mahram relationship between the breastfeeding woman and the infant.

From this verse, and from the verse in which Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...and his bearing and weaning take thirty months...﴾ (al-Aḥqāf 46: 15)

– it is understood that the minimum length of pregnancy is six months, at which stage a child may be born.

﴿It is the obligation of the one to whom the child belongs﴾ that is, the father

﴿to provide food and clothing for them [the mothers] on an equitable basis﴾. This is applicable whether she is still married to him or is divorced; the father has to give her maintenance by spending on her and clothing her; that is her payment for breastfeeding.

This indicates that if she is still married to him, she is not entitled to any payment other than maintenance and clothing, each one according to his means. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿No soul should have a burden laid on it greater than it can bear﴾. So a poor man should not be forced to spend like a rich man, and the one who cannot afford to pay maintenance should not be forced to do so until he can afford it.

«No mother should be made to suffer harm on account of her child, nor any father on account of his child» that is, it is not permissible to cause harm to the mother because of her child, either by preventing her from breastfeeding him or by not giving what she is entitled to of maintenance, clothing or payment.

«nor any father on account of his child» by refusing to breastfeed him in a way that hurts the father, or by asking him for more than what is required of him, and other kinds of harm.

The phrase «the one to whom the child belongs» indicates that the child belongs to the father, because the child is a gift that is given to him, and because he is part of his earnings. Hence it is permissible for the father to take from the son's wealth, whether he agrees or not; this does not apply to the mother.

«and the same duty is incumbent on the heir» that is, on the heir of the child, if there is no father and the child has no wealth; the heir is required, like the father, to spend on the infant's maintenance and clothing. This indicates that spending on relatives who are in difficulty is obligatory for well-off relatives who are heirs.

«If they both» that is, the parents «decide on weaning» that is, weaning the child before the age of two years «by mutual consent» that is, if they both agree

«and after due consultation» that is, discussing the matter between themselves, as to whether it is in the child's best interests or not. If it is in the child's best interests and they both agree, «there is no blame on them» for weaning him before the age of two years.

This verse indicates that if one of them agrees to that but the other does not, or it is not in the child's best interests, then it is not permissible to wean him (before the age of two years).

«And if you wish to provide a wet-nurse for your children» that is, if you want to look for wet-nurses other than their mothers, without causing any harm

«there is no blame on you, provided you pay [the wet-nurse] what you agreed upon, on an equitable basis».

«But fear Allah and know that Allah sees well all that you do» and He will requite you for that, rewarding good deeds and punishing bad deeds.

2:234. If any of you die and leave widows behind, they should refrain from marrying again for four months and ten days. When they have reached the end of their waiting period, there is no blame on you for that which they do with themselves, according to what is reasonable. And Allah is aware of all that you do.

If the husband dies, his wife should wait for four months and ten days; this is obligatory. The wisdom behind it is so that any pregnancy will become apparent during these four months, and the foetus will start moving at the beginning of the fifth month. This is general in meaning, with the exception of the pregnant woman, because the 'iddah of a pregnant woman ends when she gives birth. Moreover, the 'iddah of a slave woman is half that of a free woman, two months and five days.

«When they have reached the end of their waiting period» that is, when the 'iddah is over
 «there is no blame on you for that which they do with themselves» that is, going back to adornment and perfume
 «according to what is reasonable» that is, in a manner that is not forbidden or disliked.

This indicates that it is obligatory for the woman whose husband has died to mourn for the length of the 'iddah; this applies to the bereaved wife only and not to women who are divorced or separated. There is scholarly consensus on this point.

﴿And Allah is aware of all that you do﴾ that is, He knows all your deeds, outward and inward, apparent and hidden, and He will requite you for them.

The words ﴿there is no blame on you for that which they do with themselves﴾ are addressed to guardians, which indicates that the guardian is in charge of the woman, and that he should prevent her from doing that which is not permissible and should force her to do that which is obligatory; this is addressed to him and it is his duty.

عَلِمَ اللَّهُ أَنَّكُمْ سَتَذْكُرُونَهُنَّ وَلَكِنْ لَا تُوَاعِدُوهُنَّ سِرًّا إِلَّا أَنْ تَقُولُوا قَوْلًا
مَعْرُوفًا وَلَا تَعْزِمُوا عُقْدَةَ النِّكَاحِ حَتَّى يَبْلُغَ الْكِتَابُ أَجَلَهُ، وَاعْلَمُوا أَنَّ اللَّهَ
يَعْلَمُ مَا فِي أَنْفُسِكُمْ فَاحْذَرُوهُ وَاعْلَمُوا أَنَّ اللَّهَ غَفُورٌ حَلِيمٌ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٣٥)

2:235. There is no blame on you if you hint at a proposal of marriage or keep it concealed in your hearts. Allah knows that you will think of them, but do not make any secret arrangements with them; rather you may say something appropriate. Do not finally decide on the marriage contract until the prescribed period has come to its end. And know that Allah knows what is in your hearts, so fear Him, and know that Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Forbearing.

This ruling applies to the woman who is observing 'iddah following the death of her husband or a divorce, if the husband is still alive. It is haram for anyone other than the husband (if he wants to take her back) to state clearly that he wants to propose to her. This is what is meant by the words ﴿do not make any secret arrangements with them﴾. As for hinting, Allah has stated that no blame is entailed in it.

The difference between them is that a clear statement cannot be interpreted as meaning anything other than marriage, and this is forbidden lest it make her hasty and cause her to rush and tell lies about the end of her 'iddah because she wants to get married. This indicates that the means that lead to something haram should be prevented, and that the first husband's rights should be protected, so she should not make any promises to anyone else during her 'iddah.

With regard to hinting, it is anything that may be understood as referring to marriage or to something else. It is permissible to make such hints concerning a woman who is irrevocably divorced, such as saying "I want to get married" or "I would like to know when your 'iddah ends" and so on. This is permissible, because it is not like a clear statement and it is something for which people may have a strong motive that they cannot suppress completely.

The same applies to thinking to oneself about marrying a woman who is still in her 'iddah, when her 'iddah ends: ﴿or keep it concealed in your hearts. Allah knows that you will think of them﴾. All of this has to do with doing that which leads to a marriage contract. As for the marriage contract itself, that is not permissible ﴿until the prescribed period has come to its end﴾ that is, until the 'iddah has ended.

﴿And know that Allah knows what is in your hearts﴾, so have good intentions and not bad intentions, fearing His punishment and hoping for His reward.

﴿and know that Allah is Oft-Forgiving﴾ to the one who commits sin and then repents from it, turning back to his Lord

﴿Most Forbearing﴾ as He does not hasten to punish sinners for their sins, even though He is able to do so.

﴿لَا جُنَاحَ عَلَيْكُمْ إِنْ طَلَقْتُمُ النِّسَاءَ مَا لَمْ تَمْسُوهُنَّ أَوْ تَفْرِضُوا لَهُنَّ فَرِيضَةً وَمِعْوَهُنَّ عَلَى
الْوُسْعِ قَدْرُهُ وَعَلَى الْمَقْتِرِ قَدْرُهُ مَتَعًا بِالْمَعْرُوفِ حَقًّا عَلَى الْمُحْسِنِينَ﴾ (سورة البقرة:

2:236. There is no blame on you if you divorce women before the marriage is consummated or the dowry settled; but give them a gift [as compensation], the wealthy according to his means, and the poor according to his means, a gift of a reasonable amount. This is an obligation on the righteous.

That is, there is no blame or sin on you – O husbands – if you divorce women before consummating the marriage or settling the dowry. But because that is upsetting to her, he should offer compensation by giving a gift. So you should give them gifts in the form of some wealth, as compensation for upsetting them.

«the wealthy according to his means, and the poor» that is, the one who is in financial difficulty «according to his means».

This depends on custom, and varies according to circumstances. Hence Allah says «a gift of a reasonable amount». This is an obligatory duty «on the righteous», and they have no right to mistreat them. As they caused them to look forward to marriage and their hearts became attached to the idea, then they did not give them what they wanted, they must – in return for that – give this gift.

How beautiful is this divine ruling, and how indicative of the wisdom and mercy of the Lawgiver. Who is better than Allah in ruling for people of certain faith? This is the ruling concerning women who are divorced before consummation of the marriage and settling the dowry.

Then Allah mentions the ruling on those whose dowry has been settled:

2:237. And if you divorce them before the marriage is consummated, but after their dowry has been settled, then half of the dowry [is due to them], unless they forgo it, or the one in whose hand is the marriage tie [the husband] forgoes his share [and gives her the dowry in full]. And forgoing it is closer to piety. Do not forget to show graciousness to one another, for Allah sees well all that you do.

That is, if you divorce women before consummating the marriage and after settling the dowry, then the divorced women are entitled to half of the settled dowry, and you are entitled to half.

This is obligatory unless someone chooses to show kindness, such as if the woman forgoes her half and gives it up to the husband, she has the right to do so.

﴿or the one in whose hand is the marriage tie﴾ that is, the husband, according to the correct opinion, because he is the one in whose hand is the marriage tie, and because the guardian has no right to forgo what is due to the woman, because he does not have that authority and is not acting as an agent for the woman.

Then Allah encourages people to forgo this wealth, and states that the one who forgoes it is closer to piety, because it is an act of kindness that leads to people feeling at ease, and because the individual should not neglect to do acts of kindness or forget graciousness which is the pinnacle of interaction, because interactions between people occur on two levels: either justice and fairness, which is obligatory and is the basis on which people give and take what is due, or graciousness and kindness, which means giving what is not due and being easy-going with regard to one's own rights, suppressing any feelings of annoyance. No one should forget this level, even if that is only on some occasions, especially with regard to those with whom one has to interact or mix with. Allah will reward those who do good by His grace and generosity. Hence He says: ﴿for Allah sees well all that you do﴾.

- 2:238. Be ever mindful of prayers, especially the middle prayer; and stand before Allah in devotion.
- 2:239. If you are afraid [of an enemy and the like], pray on foot or riding, but when you are safe again, remember Allah, for He has taught you what you did not know [before].

Here Allah instructs us to be ever mindful of prayers in general, and of the middle prayer – which is ‘asr’ – in particular. Being mindful of prayers means performing them on time, fulfilling all the necessary conditions and essential parts, focusing on them with proper humility, and doing everything that is obligatory or recommended. Being mindful of prayers leads to being mindful of all acts of worship, and it helps to keep one away from shameful and evil deeds, especially if the prayers are performed properly, as Allah enjoins, standing ﴿before Allah in devotion﴾ that is, in humility and with presence of mind. This is a command to stand up in devotion, in which speaking normally is not allowed. This command to have proper humble focus of mind is applicable in the case of safety and calm.

But ﴿If you are afraid [of an enemy and the like]﴾. No mention is made of the object of fear, so as to include everything of which one may be afraid, such as disbelievers, evildoers, wild animals and so on. What is meant is: if you are afraid of some harm if you pray in the regular manner, then pray ﴿on foot﴾ that is, walking ﴿or riding﴾ on horses or camels and the like. This implies that this may be done whether one is facing the qibla or not; this further emphasises the importance of offering prayer on time, as this is enjoined even if it means omitting some of the essential parts or conditions, or not doing them. It is not permissible to delay the prayer until after the time for it has ended even in these extreme circumstances. Offering the prayer in that (imperfect) manner is preferable; indeed it is more obligatory than offering the prayer in safety and calmness outside the prescribed time.

﴿but when you are safe again﴾ that is, when the fear has passed ﴿remember Allah﴾ – this includes all kinds of remembrance of Allah, one of which is offering the prayer in the proper manner ﴿for He has taught you what you did not know [before]﴾, which is a great blessing and favour, in return for which you should remember Him and give thanks, so that the blessing will remain and you will be given more.

﴿وَالَّذِينَ يُتَوَفَّوْنَ مِنْكُمْ وَيَذَرُونَ أَزْوَاجًا وَصِيَّةً لِأَزْوَاجِهِمْ مَتَاعًا إِلَى
الْحَوْلِ غَيْرِ إِخْرَاجٍ فَإِنْ خَرَجْنَ فَلَا جُنَاحَ عَلَيْكُمْ فِي مَا فَعَلْنَ فِي
أَنْفُسِهِنَّ مِنْ مَّعْرُوفٍ وَاللَّهُ عَزِيزٌ حَكِيمٌ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٤٠)

- 2:240. Those of you who die and leave widows behind should bequeath for their widows a year's maintenance without them having to leave [their marital homes]. But if they leave their homes [of their own accord], there is no blame on you for what they do with themselves, provided it is reasonable. And Allah is Almighty, Most Wise.

That is, husbands who die and leave behind wives must make a will.

﴿should bequeath for their widows a year's maintenance without them having to leave [their marital homes]﴾ that is, they should leave instructions stating that the wives should stay in their houses for one year, and not leave.

﴿But if they leave their homes﴾ by their own choice ﴿there is no blame on you﴾, O guardian ﴿for what they do with themselves, provided it is reasonable. And Allah is Almighty, Most Wise﴾. This refers to them going back to wearing adornment and perfume, and the like. Most of the commentators are of the view that this verse was abrogated by a previous verse, in which Allah says: ﴿If any of you die and leave widows behind, they should refrain from marrying again for four months and ten days﴾ (2: 234). It was also suggested that it was not abrogated; rather the first verse indicates that four months and ten days is obligatory, and anything more than that is recommended and should be done in order to fulfil the husband's right and to take care of the wife's welfare. The evidence that this is recommended is that in this verse it says there is no blame on guardians if the women leave before this year has ended; if it was obligatory for them to stay in the husband's house, it would not say that there is no blame on the guardians in that case.

﴿وَالْمُطَلَّقَاتُ مَتَّعٌ بِالْمَعْرُوفِ حَقًّا عَلَى الْمُتَّقِينَ﴾ ﴿كَذَلِكَ يُبَيِّنُ اللَّهُ لَكُمْ ءَايَاتِهِ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَعْقِلُونَ﴾ ﴿سورة البقرة: ٢٤١-٢٤٢﴾

- 2:241. The divorced women should be given something according to what is reasonable. This is a duty incumbent upon the pious.
- 2:242. In this way Allah makes His revelations clear to you, so that you may understand.

That is, every divorced woman should be given something according to what is reasonable, and this is an obligation upon everyone who is pious, so as to offer compensation to the woman and to fulfil some of her rights. This gift is obligatory for one who divorces his wife before consummation of the marriage, and giving it is sunnah in other cases, as stated above. This is the best opinion concerning this matter. It was also suggested that giving the gift is obligatory in all cases of divorce, based on the general meaning of this verse. However, the basic principle is that what is general in meaning should be understood in the light of what is specific, and we have seen above that the ruling on giving something to the divorced woman applies specifically in the case of divorce before settling the dowry and consummating the marriage.

As Allah (ﷻ) has described these important rulings as being based on wisdom and mercy, He reminds people of His favour by saying: «In this way Allah makes His revelations clear to you» that is, He makes clear His limits, what He permits, what He forbids, and rulings that are beneficial for you, so that you might understand them, recognise them and be aware of the purpose behind them. The one who learns that is obliged to act upon them.

مَنْ ذَا الَّذِي يُقْرِضُ اللَّهَ قَرْضًا حَسَنًا فَيُضْعِفُهُ لَهُمْ أَضْعَافًا كَثِيرَةً وَاللَّهُ يَقْبِضُ وَيَبْطِطُ وَإِلَيْهِ تُرْجَعُونَ ﴿٢٤٥﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٤٣-٢٤٥)

- 2:243. Have you not seen those who fled their homes in their thousands for fear of death? Then Allah said to them: Die, then He brought them back to life. For Allah is most gracious to humankind, but most of them do not give thanks.
- 2:244. Fight in the cause of Allah, and know that Allah is All-Hearing, All-Knowing.
- 2:245. Who is he that will lend to Allah a goodly loan, so He will multiply it for him manifold? It is Allah Who withholds and Allah Who gives abundantly, and to Him you will all return.

Here Allah tells us the story of those who left their homes, despite their large numbers and the fact that they all had one motive; what brought them out of their homes was fear of death from an epidemic or some other cause. By leaving, they wanted to save themselves from death, but no precaution could ward off the divine decree.

﴿Then Allah said to them: Die﴾ and they died.

﴿then He brought them back to life﴾, either in response to the prayer of a Prophet or something other than that, out of mercy, kindness and forbearance towards them, and so as to make manifest His signs to His creation by bringing the dead back to life. Hence He says: ﴿For Allah is most gracious to humankind, but most of them do not give thanks﴾, so the blessings do not make them more grateful; rather they use the blessings of Allah to commit sin, and very few of them are grateful and acknowledge the blessings and use them in obedience to the Giver.

Then Allah (ﷻ) enjoins fighting for His sake, which is fighting the disbelieving enemies so that the word of Allah may be supreme and His religion may prevail.

«Fight in the cause of Allah» that is, have good intentions and seek thereby the Countenance of Allah; understand that refraining from fighting will not benefit you at all. If you think that refraining from fighting will save your lives and ensure your survival, that is not the case. Hence Allah mentioned the story quoted above, as an introduction to this command. Just as leaving their homes did not benefit those who left their homes for fear of death, and in fact what they feared came to them in a way they never thought of, then you should realise that you are the same.

Because fighting for the sake of Allah cannot be done except by spending wealth for that purpose, Allah (ﷻ) enjoins and encourages spending for His sake, and He called it a loan.

«Who is he that will lend to Allah a goodly loan» and spend whatever he can afford of his wealth on various good causes, especially jihad. What is meant by a goodly loan is that which is earned in a permissible manner and is spent for the sake of Allah.

«so He will multiply it for him manifold». The good deed brings a tenfold reward, up to seven hundredfold, up to many times more, according to the intention of the one who gives it, how beneficial it is and how much it is needed. Because people may think that if they spend they will become poor, Allah (ﷻ) wards off this notion by saying «It is Allah Who withholds and Allah Who gives abundantly» that is, He gives abundant provision to whomever He wills and He withholds from whomever He wills. All control is in His Hands and all matters are directed by Him. Withholding wealth does not increase provision and spending it does not decrease it. Moreover, spending is not wasted for those who spend; rather on that day they will find what they sent forward, complete and multiplied abundantly. Hence Allah says: «and to Him you will all return» and He will reward you for your deeds.

These verses indicate that taking measures is of no avail with regard to the divine will and decree, especially measures in which one ignores the command of Allah. They also tell us of a great miracle, which was bringing the dead back to life before people's eyes in this world. We also see the command to fight and spend in the cause of Allah, and He tells us the reasons that should encourage us to do that, by calling it a loan and telling us that the reward for it will be multiplied and that Allah is the One Who withholds or gives abundantly, and to Him we will all return.

﴿أَلَمْ تَرَ إِلَى الْمَلَأِ مِنْ بَنِي إِسْرَءِيلَ مِنْ بَعْدِ مُوسَى إِذْ قَالُوا لِنَبِيِّ لَهُمْ أَبْعَثْ لَنَا مَلِكًا نَقْتُلُ الْفِتْلَ فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ قَالَ هَلْ عَسَيْتُمْ إِنْ كُتِبَ عَلَيْكُمُ الْقِتَالُ أَلَّا تُقَاتِلُوا وَمَا لَنَا أَلَّا نُقَاتِلَ فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ وَقَدْ أُخْرِجْنَا مِنْ دِيَارِنَا وَأَبْنَانِنَا فَلَمَّا كُتِبَ عَلَيْهِمُ الْقِتَالُ تَوَلَّوْا إِلَّا قَلِيلًا مِّنْهُمْ وَاللَّهُ عَلِيمٌ بِالظَّالِمِينَ ﴿٢٤٦﴾﴾ وَقَالَ لَهُمْ نَبِيُّهُمْ إِنَّ اللَّهَ قَدْ بَعَثَ لَكُمْ طَالُوتَ مَلِكًا قَالُوا أَنَّى يَكُونُ لَهُ الْمُلْكُ عَلَيْنَا وَنَحْنُ أَحَقُّ بِالْمُلْكِ مِنْهُ وَلَمْ يُؤْتَ سَعَةً مِّنَ الْمَالِ قَالَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ اصْطَفَاهُ عَلَيْكُمْ وَزَادَهُ بَسْطَةً فِي الْعِلْمِ وَالْجِسْمِ وَاللَّهُ يُؤْتِي مَلَكَهُ مَن يَشَاءُ وَاللَّهُ وَاسِعٌ عَلِيمٌ ﴿٢٤٧﴾﴾ وَقَالَ لَهُمْ نَبِيُّهُمْ إِنَّ آيَةَ مُلْكِهِ أَنْ يَأْتِيَكُمُ التَّابُوتُ فِيهِ سَكِينَةٌ مِّن رَّبِّكُمْ وَبَقِيَّةٌ مِّمَّا تَرَكَ آءَالُ مُوسَىٰ وَءَالُ هَارُونَ تَحْمِلُهُ الْمَلَائِكَةُ إِنَّ فِي ذَلِكَ لَآيَةً لَّكُمْ إِنْ كُنْتُمْ مُّؤْمِنِينَ ﴿٢٤٨﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٤٦-٢٤٨)

- 2:246. Have you not seen the chiefs of the Children of Israel after [the time of] Moosâ? They said to a Prophet of theirs: Appoint for us a king, and we will fight in the cause of Allah. He said: Is it possible that, if fighting was ordained for you, you would not fight? They said: How could we refuse to fight in the cause of Allah, when we have been turned out of our homes and separated from our children? But when fighting was ordained for them, they turned away, except a few of them. And Allah is fully aware of the wrongdoers.

2:247. Their Prophet said to them: Allah has appointed Tâloot as king over you. They said: How can he be king over us when we are more worthy of kingship than him and he has not been given any measure of wealth? He said: Allah has chosen him over you, and has increased him abundantly in knowledge and physique: Allah grants kingship to whomever He wills, and Allah is All-Encompassing, All-Knowing.

2:248. And their Prophet said to them: The sign of his kingship is that there will come to you the Ark of the Covenant, in which there is reassurance from your Lord, and a remnant of that which was left behind by the family of Moosâ and the family of Hâroon, carried by angels. Surely, in that there is a sign for you, if you are believers.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells His Prophet (ﷺ) the story of the chiefs of the Children of Israel, who were the nobles and prominent figures. The chiefs are singled out for mention because they usually discuss their affairs so as to agree on a decision, then others follow them in what they decide. That is because they came to a Prophet of theirs after Moosâ (ﷺ) and said to him: «Appoint for us a king» that is, choose a king for us, «and we will fight in the cause of Allah» so that we can unite behind him and he could lead us against our enemies. Perhaps at that time they did not have a leader to rally behind, because usually among tribes that are composed of clans, each clan would refuse to accept a leader from another clan. So they asked their Prophet to appoint a king who would be acceptable to all clans, and who would be selected in accordance with their traditions. The Israelite Prophets used to decide concerning their affairs; every time a Prophet died, he was succeeded by another Prophet. When they said that to their Prophet, «He said» to them: «Is it possible that, if fighting was ordained for you, you would not fight?﴾ that is, perhaps you are asking for something which, if it is ordained for you, you will not do. Thus he offered them the option of not committing themselves, but they did not accept it; they insisted on what they had decided to do, and said: ﴿How could we refuse to fight in the cause of Allah, when we have been turned out of our homes and separated from our children?﴾ That is, what could keep us from fighting when we are all forced to fight, because we have been expelled from our homes and our children have been taken captive? This is something for which we would have to fight, even if it was not ordained for us, so how about if it is ordained for us after what has happened? But because their intention was not good and they did not have strong trust in their Lord, ﴿when fighting was ordained for them, they turned away﴾; they were too cowardly to fight the enemy and they lost their resolve and forgot about their decision.

Most of them were controlled by weakness and cowardice ﴿except a few of them﴾, whom Allah protected, made steadfast and strengthened their resolve, so they obeyed the command of Allah and started preparing themselves for combat with His enemies. Thus they attained honour in this world and the hereafter. As for the majority, however, they wronged themselves and neglected the command of Allah. Hence Allah says: ﴿And Allah is fully aware of the wrongdoers﴾.

﴿Their Prophet said to them﴾ in response to their request ﴿Allah has appointed Tâloot as king over you﴾. He was appointed by Allah, so what they should have done was accept him, submit and not raise objections. But they insisted on raising objections, and said: ﴿How can he be king over us when we are more worthy of kingship than him and he has not been given any measure of wealth?﴾ That is, how can he be a king when he is inferior to us in terms of prominence and lineage, and we are more deserving of kingship than him and, moreover, he is poor and does not have enough wealth to enable him to be a king. This was based on the false notion that the prerequisites for kingship and similar positions of authority were noble descent and abundant wealth; they were not aware of the real qualities that qualify a person to take up such a position. Hence their Prophet said to them: ﴿Allah has chosen him over you﴾, and you are obliged to submit to that choice.

﴿and [He] has increased him abundantly in knowledge and physique﴾. That is, He has favoured him over you and given him more in terms of knowledge and physique; in other words, He has given him deep insight and physical strength by means of which he is qualified for his post as king, for if he has deep insight and the ability to implement the right decision, he will be able to fulfil this role in the best manner, but if he were lacking in either of these two qualities, he would not be able to do his job properly. If he were physically strong but lacked deep insight, then the king would be unsuccessful in running the kingdom's affairs, because his strength would not be used in a wise manner. If he had deep insight but did not have the strength to implement any decisions he made, his insight would not benefit him because he would not be able to achieve anything.

﴿and Allah is All-Encompassing﴾ in His grace; for His mercy and kindness are not limited to some in exclusion of others, or to the noble in exclusion of the lowly. Nevertheless, He is

﴿All-Knowing﴾ of who is deserving of His grace, so He bestows it upon him. These words removed any doubt, uncertainty or specious arguments in their hearts, because they explained that Tâloot possessed all the qualifications for kingship, and that Allah bestows His grace on whomever He wills among His slaves, and no one can ward it off. Then their Prophet also gave them a tangible sign that they could see for themselves, which was the coming of the Ark of the Covenant, which had been missing for a long time. The Ark contained reassurance which would give them peace of mind, along with a remnant of that which was left behind by the family of Moosâ and the family of Hâroon. It was brought to them by the angels who carried it, whilst they were looking on.

﴿فَلَمَّا فَصَلَ طَالُوتُ بِالْجُنُودِ قَالَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ مُبْتَلِيكُمْ بِنَهَرٍ فَمَنْ شَرِبَ مِنْهُ فَلَيْسَ مِنِّي وَمَنْ لَمْ يَطْعَمْهُ فَإِنَّهُ مِنِّي إِلَّا مَنِ اغْتَرَفَ غُرْفَةً بِيَدِهِ ۖ فَشَرِبُوا مِنْهُ إِلَّا قَلِيلًا مِّنْهُمْ ۖ فَلَمَّا جَاوَزَهُ هُوَ وَالَّذِينَ آمَنُوا مَعَهُ ۖ قَالُوا لَا طَاقَةَ لَنَا الْيَوْمَ بِجَالُوتَ وَجُنُودِهِ ۚ قَالَ الَّذِينَ يَظُنُّونَ أَنَّهُمْ مُلْقَوُا آلِهَةً مِن فِتْنَةٍ قَلِيلَةً غَلَبَتْ فِتْنَةُ كَثِيرَةٍ يَأْذِنُ اللَّهُ ۖ وَاللَّهُ مَعَ الصَّابِرِينَ ﴿٢٤٩﴾ وَلَمَّا بَرَرُوا لِبَالُوتَ وَجُنُودِهِ ۚ قَالُوا رَبَّنَا أَفْرِغْ عَلَيْنَا صَبْرًا وَثَبِّتْ أَقْدَامَنَا وَانصُرْنَا عَلَى الْقَوْمِ الْكَافِرِينَ ﴿٢٥٠﴾ فَهَزَمُوهُمْ يَأْذِنُ اللَّهُ وَقَتَلَ دَاوُدُ جَالُوتَ ۖ وَآتَاهُ اللَّهُ الْمُلْكَ وَالْحِكْمَةَ وَعَلَّمَهُ مِمَّا يَشَاءُ ۚ وَلَوْلَا دَفْعُ اللَّهِ النَّاسَ بَعْضَهُم بِبَعْضٍ لَّفَسَدَتِ الْأَرْضُ وَلَٰكِنَّ اللَّهَ ذُو فَضْلٍ عَلَى الْعَالَمِينَ ﴿٢٥١﴾ تِلْكَ آيَاتُ اللَّهِ نَتْلُوهَا عَلَيْكَ بِالْحَقِّ ۚ وَإِنَّكَ لَمِنَ الْمُرْسَلِينَ ﴿٢٥٢﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٤٩-٢٥٢)

- 2:249. When Tâloot set out with the troops, he said: Allah will test you with a river: whoever drinks from it does not belong with me, but whoever does not drink from it does belong with me; and anyone who scoops up a little with his hand [will be excused]. But they all drank of it, except a few. When they crossed the river, he and those who believed with him, they said: We do not have the strength to face Jâloot and his troops today. But those who were certain that they would meet Allah said: How often has a small group overcome a mighty host by Allah's leave. And Allah is with those who are steadfast.

- 2:250. When they came out against Jâloot and his troops, they said: Our Lord, bestow on us steadfastness and make us stand firm; and grant us victory over the disbelieving people.
- 2:251. Thus they defeated them by Allah's leave; and Dâwood slew Jâloot; and Allah gave him power and wisdom and taught him whatever [else] He willed. Were it not for Allah restraining the people, some by means of others, the earth would indeed be filled with mischief. But Allah is most gracious to all the worlds.
- 2:252. These are the revelations of Allah, which We recite to you in truth; verily you are one of the Messengers.

When Tâlout became king of the Children of Israel, and became established in his position, they made preparations to fight their enemies. When Tâlout set out with the Israelite troops, who were huge in number, he tested them, on Allah's command, to show who would be steadfast and assured, and who would not. He said: «Allah will test you with a river: whoever drinks from it does not belong with me» because he is disobedient and cannot follow us because of his lack of patience and steadfastness, and his disobedience. «but whoever does not drink from it does belong with me». «and anyone who scoops up a little with his hand [will be excused]» and there will be no blame on him for that. It may be that Allah will put blessing in it and it will suffice him. This test indicates that the supply of water was little, in order to test them. The majority of them disobeyed him and drank from the river in the manner that was forbidden, and they changed their minds about fighting their enemies. Their lack of patience in refraining from the water for a short while offered the greatest evidence that they had no patience for the fight which would be lengthy and would involve a great deal of hardship. Their turning back from the rest of the army increased the trust in Allah of those who remained steadfast, and made them more earnest in beseeching Him, humbling themselves before Him and declaring the stories that Allah has told him about previous nations, and the Prophets and their followers and enemies; if Allah did not tell him about that, he would have no knowledge of it; in fact there was no one among his people who had any knowledge of these matters. This indicates that he is indeed the Messenger of Allah and His true Prophet (ﷺ), whom He sent with truth and with the religion of truth, so that it might prevail over all religions, even if the polytheists dislike that.

This story contains signs and wonders that serve as a reminder to people of understanding. They include the following:

- For the decision-makers to be united and to examine different options before choosing the best and acting upon it is the greatest means of advancing and attaining their goals, as happened in the case of these chiefs when they consulted their Prophet about appointing a king whom they could rally behind and bring their scattered community together, and they would obey him.
- The more the truth is challenged and specious arguments are produced against it, the clearer and more distinct it becomes and the more certainty can be attained thereby, as happened in the case of these people when they objected to the appointment of Tâloot as their king. They were given answers by means of which they became convinced and all doubts and specious arguments were dispelled.
- Knowledge and insight combined with the power to implement decisions are two qualities which together lead to perfect performance in positions of authority. However, lacking one or both of them will damage a leader's performance.
- Relying on oneself is a cause of failure and being forsaken by Allah, whereas seeking the help of Allah with patience and turning to Him is a cause of victory. The former is reflected in their words to their Prophet: «How could we refuse to fight in the cause of Allah, when we have been turned out of our homes and separated from our children?» (2: 246); it was as if that was the reason why, when fighting was ordained for them, they turned away. The latter is reflected in the words: ﴿When they came out against Jâloot and his troops, they said: Our Lord, bestow on us steadfastness and make us stand firm; and grant us victory over the disbelieving people. Thus they defeated them by Allah's leave...﴾ (2: 250-251).

- The wisdom of Allah (ﷻ) dictates that evil be distinct from good, true be distinct from false, and patience be distinct from cowardice. He would not have left the people as they were, mixed and not distinct from one another.
- By His mercy and according to His way, He restrains the harm caused by disbelievers and hypocrites by means of believers who fight. Were it not for that, the world would be filled with mischief when it was overtaken by disbelief and its symbols.

2:253. Those Messengers: We favoured some above others. There are some to whom Allah spoke directly; others He raised in rank; to 'Eesâ the son of Maryam We gave clear signs and supported him with the Pure Spirit. If Allah had so willed, those who came after them would not have fought one another after clear signs had come to them, but they disagreed among themselves, some believing and others disbelieving. If Allah had so willed, they would not have fought one another; but Allah does whatever He wills.

Here, Allah (ﷻ) tells us that He favoured some of the Messengers over others, in that He singled them out from among all people to receive His revelation, to be sent to the people and to call them to Allah. Then He favoured some of them over others in terms of what He bestowed upon them of praiseworthy characteristics and righteous deeds, and in terms of what they brought of benefits to people. Some of them Allah spoke to directly, as in the case of Moosâ ibn 'Imrân, whom He singled out to speak to directly. Some of them He raised above others in status, such as our Prophet (ﷺ), in whom were combined all the qualities that were scattered among other Prophets; Allah combined in him all the virtues by means of which he superseded the first and the last.

﴿to 'Eesâ the son of Maryam We gave clear signs﴾ that pointed to his prophethood and confirmed that he was the slave of Allah, His Messenger, His word that he bestowed upon Maryam, and a spirit created by Him.

﴿and supported him with the Pure Spirit﴾ that is, with faith and certainty with which Allah supported him and gave him the strength to do what He commanded him to do. It was also said that what is meant is that He supported him with Jibreel (ﷺ), who stayed with him constantly.

﴿If Allah had so willed, those who came after them would not have fought one another after clear signs had come to them﴾, because the signs should bring about unity in faith

﴿but they disagreed among themselves, some believing and others disbelieving﴾. These differences resulted in division, enmity and fighting, yet despite that, if Allah had so willed, after they had these differences, they would not have fought. This indicates that the will of Allah always comes to pass and defeats all measures; rather measures may only be of benefit if they are not contrary to the divine will. If the divine will is there, all measures aimed at achieving the opposite will be diminished. Hence Allah says: ﴿but Allah does whatever He wills﴾. Thus His will always prevails and comes to pass. This and similar verses indicate that Allah (ﷻ) always does what is dictated by His will and wisdom; among the things He does are those that He has told us of Himself, or that His Messenger (ﷺ) has told us of, such as rising above, descending, speaking and other actions that He may or may not do.

Note: Just as the believer is required to know about his Lord, he is also required to know about His Messengers, their essential characteristics, and what is and is not appropriate for them. All of these qualities may be understood from the description that Allah has given of them in numerous verses. For example, they are men, not women, and they are townspeople, not desert dwellers; they are chosen and selected; Allah has instilled in them all praiseworthy characteristics because of which they are qualified to be chosen and selected; they are free of any faults that could undermine their mission as Messengers, such as lying, treachery, concealing knowledge and other faults that would undermine their position; any errors they may make with regard to the message are not condoned (rather they are corrected); and Allah has chosen them to receive His revelation. Hence we must believe in them and obey them; anyone who does not believe in them is a disbeliever, and anyone who criticises or reviles any one of them becomes a disbeliever who has gone beyond the pale of Islam and may be subject to capital punishment. There is a great deal of evidence for what has been mentioned above; whoever ponders the Qur'an, the truth will become clear to him.

﴿يَتَأْتِيهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا أَنفِقُوا مِمَّا رَزَقْتَكُمْ مِّن قَبْلِ أَن يَأْتِيَ يَوْمٌ لَا بَيْعٌ فِيهِ وَلَا خُلَّةٌ وَلَا شَفِيعَةٌ ۚ وَالْكَافِرُونَ هُمُ الظَّالِمُونَ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٥٤)

2:254. O you who believe, spend from that which We have provided for you, before the day comes when there will be no bargaining, no friendship, and no intercession. It is the disbelievers who are the wrongdoers.

By His kindness towards His slaves, Allah commands them to give some of that which He has provided them with, in the form of obligatory or recommended charity, so that it may be stored up as abundant reward for a day when those who strive hard will need every last little good deed, and when there will be no room for bargaining, and if a person were to offer an earthful of gold to ransom himself from punishment on the Day of Resurrection, it would not be accepted from him, and no friend, no status and no intercession will benefit him. That is the day on which the followers of falsehood will be losers and the wrongdoers will be disgraced; they are the ones who acted inappropriately, failing to fulfil their obligations towards Allah and towards His slaves, and who transgressed the limits of what is permissible, seeking that which is forbidden. The worst type of wrongdoing is disbelief in Allah, Who is the only One Who should be worshipped, but the disbeliever directed his worship to a created being like himself. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿It is the disbelievers who are the wrongdoers﴾ that is, they are the ones who are proven to be wrongdoers in the fullest sense of the word, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿اللَّهُ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا هُوَ الْحَيُّ الْقَيُّومُ لَا تَأْخُذُهُ سِنَّةٌ وَلَا نَوْمٌ لَهُ مَا فِي السَّمَوَاتِ وَمَا فِي الْأَرْضِ مَنْ ذَا الَّذِي يَشْفَعُ عِنْدَهُ إِلَّا بِإِذْنِهِ يَعْلَمُ مَا بَيْنَ أَيْدِيهِمْ وَمَا خَلْفَهُمْ وَلَا

يُحِيطُونَ بِشَيْءٍ مِّنْ عِلْمِهِ إِلَّا بِمَا شَاءَ وَسِعَ كُرْسِيُّهُ السَّمَاوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضَ وَلَا يَئُودُهُ
حِفْظُهُمَا وَهُوَ الْعَلِيُّ الْعَظِيمُ ﴿٢٥٥﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٥٥)

2:255. Allah: there is no god but He, the Ever-Living, the Self-Sustaining and All-Sustaining. Neither slumber nor sleep overtake Him. To Him belongs all that is in the heavens and on earth. Who is there that can intercede with Him except by His leave? He knows what was before them and what will be after them, while they encompass nothing of His knowledge except what He wills. His Kursi<sup>18</sup> extends over the heavens and the earth, and the preservation of both does not weary Him, for He is the Most High, the Most Great.

This verse is the greatest, best and most sublime verse in the Qur'an, because of what it points to of important matters and divine attributes. Hence there are many hadiths that recommend reciting it regularly at different times, morning and evening, when going to sleep and following the prescribed prayers. In it, Allah tells us about Himself that «there is no god but He» that is, there is none deserving of worship except Him, for He is the true God to Whom all types of worship, obedience and devotion should be directed, because of His perfection, the perfection of His attributes and His great blessings. And it is befitting that the human being should be a slave to his Lord, following His commands and heeding His prohibitions. Everything other than Allah (ﷻ) is false and worship of anything other than Him is false, because everything other than Allah is created, imperfect, under His control and dependent (on Him) in all ways, so it does not deserve to be worshipped in any way.

<sup>18</sup> The Kursi is the footstool of the Most Merciful, according to the most correct scholarly opinion. It is something other than the 'Arsh (Throne), which is the greatest of all things that Allah has created, over which our Lord rose in a manner that befits His Majesty.

«the Ever-Living, the Self-Sustaining and All-Sustaining» these two divine names inherently imply all the other divine names. The Ever-Living (al-Ḥayy) is the One Who has perfect life, which implies all attributes of His essence, such as hearing, sight, knowledge, power, and so on. The Self-Sustaining and All-Sustaining (al-Qayyoom) is the One Who is self-sustaining and Whom others need to exist. This implies all the actions of the Lord of the worlds, Who does whatever He wills of rising above, descending, speaking, creating, granting provision, giving life and death, and all types of control. All of that is included in the concept that He is Self-Sustaining and the Sustainer of others. Hence some of the scholars said that these two are the greatest names to which, if Allah is called upon by them, He will respond, and if He is asked by them, He will give. The perfect nature of His being Ever-Living, Self-Sustaining and All-Sustaining means that «Neither slumber nor sleep overtake Him». The word translated here as «slumber» implies drowsiness.

«To Him belongs all that is in the heavens and on earth» that is, He is the Sovereign, and everything other than Him belongs to Him. He is the Creator, the Provider, the Controller, and everything other than Him is created, provided for and controlled; it does not possess for itself or for anyone else the weight of an atom in the heavens or on earth. Hence Allah says: «Who is there that can intercede with Him except by His leave?» That is, no one can intercede with Him without His permission. All intercession belongs to Allah (ﷻ), but when He wants to show mercy to whomever He will among His slaves, He gives permission to whomever He wants to honour among His slaves to intercede for him. The intercessor does not initiate intercession before permission is given.

«He knows what was before them» that is, what is past of all things «and what will be after them» that is, what lies ahead in the future. His knowledge encompasses all details, past and future, apparent and hidden, seen and unseen. People have no control over their affairs at all, and they do not have the slightest knowledge except that which He has taught them. Hence He says: «while they encompass nothing of His knowledge except what He wills».

«His Kursi extends over the heavens and the earth». This is indicative of His perfect might and all-encompassing power, as the Kursi encompasses the heavens and the earth, despite their vastness and the greatness of what they contain. The Kursi, however, is not the greatest of Allah's creation; rather there is something that is greater than it, namely the Throne al-'Arsh and that which no one knows except Him. The greatness of these creations dazzles the mind and is beyond comprehension; it causes the mountains to crumble and cannot be grasped by even the most brilliant of human minds. So how about the greatness of their Creator and Initiator, Who instilled in them many wonders and mysteries that point to His great wisdom, the One Who keeps a firm hold on the heavens and the earth, lest they fall apart (cf. 35: 41), without becoming tired or weary? Hence He says «and the preservation of both does not weary Him» that is, it is not burdensome for Him.

«for He is the Most High» in and of Himself, above His Throne; He is the Most High in the sense that He is the Subduer of all His creation, the Most High in status, because of the perfection of His attributes. «the Most Great»; the might of tyrants appears insignificant when compared with His greatness, and the status of powerful kings appears small when compared with His Majesty. Glory be to the One Who is possessed of great power and might over all things.

This verse refers to the oneness of divinity (tawḥeed al-ulooḥiyah), the oneness of the divine Lordship (tawḥeed ar-ruboobiyyah) and the oneness of the divine names and attributes (tawḥeed al-asmâ' waṣ-ṣifât). It also refers to His all-encompassing sovereignty and knowledge, and to the greatness of His power, majesty, glory, might and pride, and His exaltedness above all His creation. This verse on its own highlights belief in the names and attributes of Allah, and implies all the beautiful names and sublime attributes of Allah.

بِاللهِ فَقَدْ اسْتَمْسَكَ بِالْعُرْوَةِ الْوُثْقَىٰ لَا انْفِصَامَ لَهَا ۗ وَاللهُ سَمِيعٌ عَلِيمٌ ﴿٢٥٦﴾ اللَّهُ وَلِيُّ
الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا يُخْرِجُهُم مِّنَ الظُّلُمَاتِ إِلَى النُّورِ ۚ وَالَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا أَوْلِيَائُهُمُ
الطَّاغُوتُ يُخْرِجُونَهُم مِّنَ النُّورِ إِلَى الظُّلُمَاتِ ۗ أُولَٰئِكَ أَصْحَابُ النَّارِ ۖ هُمْ فِيهَا
خَالِدُونَ ﴿٢٥٧﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٥٦-٢٥٧)

- 2:256. Let there be no compulsion in religion; truth stands out clear from error. Whoever rejects tāghoot<sup>19</sup> and believes in Allah has grasped the most trustworthy hand-hold that never breaks. And Allah is All-Hearing, All-Knowing.
- 2:257. Allah is the Protector of those who believe; from the depths of darkness He will lead them forth into light. As for those who disbelieve, their protectors are tāghoot; from light they will lead them forth into the depths of darkness. They will be inhabitants of the fire, to abide therein forever.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that there should be no compulsion in religion because there is no need to compel anyone to believe in it. Compulsion can only be in matters that are ambiguous and unclear, for which there is no proof or evidence, or for matters to which people have a natural aversion. As for this true religion and straight path, it is very clear to those who are possessed of reason and is based on clear evidence. Truth stands out clear from error, so if one who is fortunate looks at it briefly, he will choose it, whereas the one who has ulterior motives, bad intentions and evil inclinations will see the truth yet will prefer falsehood to it; he will see what is beautiful but will choose that which is ugly. Allah has no need to compel such a person to follow this religion, because there is no benefit in doing so; the faith of one who is forced to believe is not valid. However, this verse does not indicate that we should give up fighting the disbelievers who are in a state of war with Islam; rather it indicates that the beautiful nature of this religion would make any fair-minded person feel inclined towards it. As for the issue of fighting or not fighting, that is not the issue here; rather the obligation of fighting is learned from other texts. What we learn from this verse is that jizyah may be accepted from people other than the People of the Book, as is the view of many scholars.

Whoever rejects ṭaghoot and gives up worshipping anything other than Allah and obeying the Shayṭān, and believes in Allah in a complete sense that leads to worshipping and obeying his Lord ﴿has grasped the most trustworthy hand-hold﴾ that is, the true religion, the foundations of the pillars of which are well established; the one who adheres to it will be sure of what he is doing, because he is adhering to the most trustworthy hand-hold ﴿that never breaks﴾. As for the one who does the opposite, he has disbelieved in Allah and has believed in ṭaghoot, thus letting go of this trustworthy hand-hold in which is protection and salvation, and he has adhered to every falsehood that will lead him to hell.

﴿And Allah is All-Hearing, All-Knowing﴾ and He will requite each according to his deeds, good or bad; that is the ultimate fate of the one who grasps the most trustworthy hand-hold and the one who does not.

Then Allah mentions the means of attaining that: ﴿Allah is the Protector of those who believe﴾. This is because of their sincerity towards their Lord, as they have taken Him as a friend and they do not seek any alternative to Him or associate anyone with Him. They have chosen Him as the Beloved and Protector, and they have taken His close friends as their friends and His enemies as their enemies. Thus He protects them by His grace and bestows blessings upon them by His kindness; He brings them forth from the darkness of disbelief, sin and ignorance to the light of faith, obedience and knowledge.

Their reward for that is that He grants them safety from the darkness of the grave, the gathering and the resurrection and blesses them with eternal bliss, comfort, ease and happiness.

﴿As for those who disbelieve, their protectors are ṭāghoot﴾; they have taken the Shayṭān and his troops as friends, instead of Allah; they have taken Shayṭān as a friend instead of their Lord. So Allah has given the Shayṭān and his troops power over them, as a punishment to them; thus they incited them to commit sins and evil actions, and they brought them forth from the light of faith, knowledge and obedience to the darkness of disbelief, ignorance and sin. Their punishment for that was to be deprived of good things and to miss out on delights, joys and pleasures. They will be with the Shayṭān and his friends, suffering regret in the hereafter. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿They will be inhabitants of the fire, to abide therein forever﴾.

الَّذِي يُحْيِي وَيُمِيتُ قَالَ أَنَا أُحْيِي وَأُمِيتُ ۖ قَالَ إِبْرَاهِيمُ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ يَأْتِي بِالشَّمْسِ
مِنَ الْمَشْرِقِ فَأْتِ بِهَا مِنَ الْمَغْرِبِ فَبُهِتَ الَّذِي كَفَرَ ۗ وَاللَّهُ لَا يَهْدِي الْقَوْمَ الظَّالِمِينَ

- 2:258. Have you not seen the one who argued with Ibrâheem about his Lord, as Allah had granted him kingship? Ibrâheem said: My Lord is He Who gives life and death. He said: I give life and death. Ibrâheem said: But it is Allah Who brings the sun from the east; so bring it from the west [if you can]. Thus the one who disbelieved was dumbfounded. Allah does not guide wrongdoing people.

«Have you not seen the one who argued with Ibrâheem about his Lord» that is, have you not seen his audacity, ignorant behaviour, stubbornness and arguing about that concerning which there can be no doubt? Nothing made him do that except the fact that «Allah had granted him kingship», so he transgressed and thought that he was in control of his subjects. That prompted him to argue with Ibrâheem about the Lordship of Allah, and he claimed that he could do what Allah does. Ibrâheem said: «My Lord is He Who gives life and death» that is, He is the only One Who has full control. He singled out the giving of life and death for mention because they are the greatest levels of control. Giving life is the beginning of life in this world, and giving death is the starting point for the events of the hereafter. The one who was arguing with him said: «I give life and death», but he did not say: I am the one who gives life and death, because he did not claim to be independent of Allah or to have full control; rather he was claiming to do what He does and to control as He controls. He claimed that he could kill someone, thus having given him death, or he could let someone live, thus having given him life. When Ibrâheem saw the flaws in his argument and heard him say something that is not fit to cause doubt, let alone be proof for his argument, he ignored his argument and went on to say:

«But it is Allah Who brings the sun from the east» that is, he referred to something visible that everyone acknowledges, even that disbeliever. «so bring it from the west [if you can]». Here he was going along with his argument, if he was really telling the truth as he claimed. When Ibrâheem presented to him an argument that he could not counter, «Thus the one who disbelieved was dumbfounded» that is, he was confounded and could not give an answer; thus his argument was defeated and was proven to be specious and flawed. This is the state of the stubborn defender of falsehood who wants to wrestle with the truth and fight it; he will be defeated and subdued. Hence Allah (ﷻ) said: «Allah does not guide wrongdoing people»; rather He leaves them in their disbelief and misguidance. They are the ones who chose that for themselves, otherwise if they were really seeking the truth and guidance, He would have guided them to it and made it easy for them to reach it. This verse offers definitive proof that Allah is the only One Who can create and control, therefore He is the only One Whom people should worship, turn to, and put their trust in, in all situations. Ibn al-Qayyim (may Allah have mercy on him) said:

In this debate there is a very subtle point, which is that the foundation of polytheism in all people goes back to worship of heavenly bodies and graves; then idols were made to represent them. Thus the two points of evidence produced by Ibrâheem to highlight the falseness of other gods is summed up in one sentence, which states that Allah alone is the one who gives life and death, and that the living being that will die cannot be regarded as divine, either during life or after death. That living being has an all-powerful Lord Who subdues and controls all, and Who gives life and death. How can one who is like that be a god in whose image idols are made and who is worshipped instead of Allah? By the same token, the heavenly bodies, the brightest and biggest of which is the sun, also have a Lord and are controlled by and subjugated to Him. They have no control over themselves at all; rather their Lord and Creator brings them from the east, so they yield to His command and will, and are subjugated and are under control. There is no God to be worshipped except Allah.<sup>20</sup>

2:259. Or [have you seen] the one who passed by a town that lay in ruins? He said: How can Allah restore this to life when it has died? Then Allah caused him to die for a hundred years, then brought him back to life. He said: How long did you remain [in this state]? He said: [Perhaps] a day or part of a day. He said: No; you remained [like this] for a hundred years. Look at your food and your drink; they have not changed. But look at your donkey, so that We may make of you a sign unto the people; look at the bones, [and see] how We bring them together then clothe them with flesh. When it had all become clear to him, he said: I know that Allah has power over all things.

This is another sign that points to the fact that Allah is the only Creator, controller and Giver of life and death.

﴿Or [have you seen] the one who passed by a town that lay in ruins?﴾ That is, its people had vanished, its inhabitants had died out, and the walls and ceilings of its buildings had collapsed. There was no sign of life left in it; rather it was desolate and devoid of its people. This man who came across it wondered: ﴿How can Allah restore this to life when it has died?﴾. He thought that such a thing was very unlikely, and he was unaware of the power of Allah (ﷻ). But because Allah willed good for him, He showed him a sign in himself and in his donkey, and in the food and drink that he had with him.

﴿Then Allah caused him to die for a hundred years, then brought him back to life. He said: How long did you remain [in this state]? He said: [Perhaps] a day or part of a day﴾. He thought that the time for which he had died was very short, because he had not been conscious. Then it was said to him:

﴿No; you remained [like this] for a hundred years. Look at your food and your drink; they have not changed﴾ that is, they remained as they had been, despite the passage of time. This was a great sign of Allah's power, as He kept the food and drink as they had been, and protected them from changing or spoiling, because food and drink are among the quickest of things to spoil.

﴿But look at your donkey﴾, which had died, its flesh and skin had disintegrated and its bones had become scattered

﴿so that We may make of you a sign unto the people﴾ of the power of Allah and His ability to resurrect the dead from their graves, so that this would be a tangible example that you could see with your own eyes, and so that people may know thereby that what the Messengers said is true.

﴿look at the bones, [and see] how We bring them together then clothe them with flesh﴾ – and he saw it with his own eyes as Allah (ﷻ) had described it.

﴿When it had all become clear to him﴾ and he became aware of the power of Allah

﴿he said: I know that Allah has power over all things﴾. The apparent meaning from the context of the verse is that this was a man who did not believe in the resurrection, and Allah willed good for him, wanting to make him a sign for people in three ways:

- 1- The man said: ﴿How can Allah restore this to life when it has died?﴾ If he had been a Prophet or a righteous slave, he would not have said that.
- 2- Allah showed him a sign in his food and drink, and in his donkey and in himself, so that he could see it with his own eyes and affirm what he had denied. The verse does not say that the town mentioned was rebuilt and restored to its former state; there is nothing in the context to indicate that, and there would not be much benefit in it. What benefit would there be in bringing the dead back to life in a ruined town, then its people would return to it or other people would come and rebuild it? Rather the real proof is in bringing him and his donkey back to life, and preserving his food and drink as they were.

- 3- Allah says: ﴿When it had all become clear to him﴾ that is, when something that he had not known and that had been hidden from him became clear to him. Thus it is known that what we said is correct. And Allah knows best.

- 2:260. When Ibrâheem said: Show me, O Lord, how You will raise the dead, He replied: Do you not believe then? [Ibrâheem] said: Yes of course, but just to reassure my heart. [Allah] said: So take four birds and cut their bodies into pieces, then place a piece of each of them on each hill. Then call them; they will come swiftly to you. Know that Allah is Almighty, Most Wise.

This is also tangible evidence of the power of Allah and how He will bring the dead back to life in order to requite them. Allah (ﷻ) tells us that His close friend Ibrâheem asked Him to show him before his own eyes how he would bring the dead back to life. He was certain of that, because Allah (ﷻ) had told him of it, but he wanted to see it with his own eyes, so that he might attain the certainty of seeing it with his own eyes. Hence Allah said to him: ﴿Do you not believe then? [Ibrâheem] said: Yes of course, but just to reassure my heart». That was because seeing further certain evidence is one of the things by which faith increases and certainty becomes complete. This is what those who want to draw closer to Allah try to attain. So his Lord said to him: «So take four birds and cut their bodies into pieces, then place a piece of each of them on each hill» that is, cut them into pieces, mix the parts and place on each hill – of some hills that were nearby – one of those pieces.

«Then call them; they will come swiftly to you» that is, they will be brought back to life in a complete sense, and they will come quickly to you, as birds do. So Ibrâheem (عليه السلام) did that, and what he wanted happened. This is part of Allah's mighty dominion over the heavens and the earth, which He showed him, as He says:

«Thus We gave Ibrâheem an insight into [Allah's] mighty dominion over the heavens and the earth, so that he might be one of those who have certain faith.» (al-An'âm 6: 75)

«Know that Allah is Almighty, Most Wise» that is, He has great power by which He has subjugated all created things, so nothing is outside His control; rather everything submits to His might and majesty. Nevertheless, His actions are in accordance with His wisdom, and He does not do anything for no purpose.

- 2:261. The likeness of those who spend their wealth in the cause of Allah is that of a grain of corn that produces seven ears, each ear bearing a hundred grains. Allah gives manifold increase to whomever He wills. And Allah is All-Encompassing, All-Knowing.

This is an explanation of the multiplication of reward mentioned previously: ﴿Who is he that will lend to Allah a goodly loan, so He will multiply it for him manifold?﴾ (2: 245). Here Allah says: ﴿The likeness of those who spend their wealth in the cause of Allah﴾ that is, they spend it in obedience to Him, seeking His pleasure. The most important kind of spending is spending on jihad for His sake.

﴿is that of a grain of corn that produces seven ears, each ear bearing a hundred grains﴾. What is meant by this example is to give a likeness of that multiplication, so that a person may form a mental picture of it, by means of which his faith will be strengthened and he will be motivated to spend in the hope of attaining that multiplied reward and great blessing.

﴿Allah gives manifold increase﴾ which is this multiplication of reward ﴿to whomever He wills﴾ that is, according to the giver's condition and level of sincerity, and how beneficial and appropriate the spending is. And it may be that Allah will multiply the reward even further for ﴿whomever He wills﴾, giving without limit.

﴿And Allah is All-Encompassing﴾ in His generosity, so He gives abundantly and His giving does not deplete what He has. No one who spends (for His sake) should think that this multiplication of reward is a kind of exaggeration, because nothing is too much for Allah (ﷻ), and this giving does not decrease His resources, no matter how great it is. At the same time He is ﴿All-Knowing﴾; He knows who is deserving of that multiplied reward and who is not, so He multiplies appropriately in accordance with His perfect knowledge and wisdom.

- 2:262. Those who spend their wealth in the cause of Allah, and do not follow their spending with reminders of their generosity or hurtful words, for them their reward is with their Lord: they will have no fear, nor will they grieve.
- 2:263. Kind words and forgiveness are better than charity followed by hurtful [words]. Allah is Self-Sufficient, Most Forbearing.

That is, those who spend their wealth in obedience to Allah and in His cause, and do not follow that with things that may detract from it or spoil it, such as reminders to the recipient by recounting his favour either in his own mind or verbally, demanding something in return, or hurtful words or actions. Such people will have a suitable reward, and they will have no fear, nor will they grieve. Thus they will attain good and evil will be warded off from them, because they did something sincerely for the sake of Allah, free of anything that would spoil it.

«Kind words» that is, words that are acceptable and not objectionable. That includes any kind words that make a Muslim feel happy, such as speaking gently when having to turn away a beggar, and praying for him.

«and forgiveness» towards one who mistreats you, by not blaming him and by pardoning him. That includes pardoning what the beggar may say of offensive words (when you turn him away). Kind words and forgiveness are better than charity that is followed by hurtful words, because kind words come under the heading of verbal kindness, and forgiveness is also an act of kindness because you are not blaming him. Both actions are kindness in which there is nothing that may spoil it, so they are both better than a kind charitable act that is followed by hurtful reminders and the like. What the verse means is that charity that is not followed by hurtful words or actions is better than kind words and forgiveness; rather it is reminding of charity that spoils it and it is forbidden, because only Allah (ﷻ) can remind of favours and all blessings come from Him. Hence the individual should not remind others of something that came about as a result of Allah's kindness and grace, and did not come from him. Moreover, reminding another of one's favour is like enslaving him, but humbleness and servitude are only befitting if directed towards Allah. Allah has no need of His creation, but all of them need Him in all circumstances and at all times. So the benefit of your charity, spending and worship comes back to you. «Allah is Self-Sufficient» and has no need of it. Despite all that, He is «Most Forbearing» towards the one who disobeys Him. He does not hasten to punish him even though He is able to do so; His mercy, kindness and forbearance prevent Him from hastening to punish those who disobey Him. Rather He gives respite and explains the signs to them in various ways, so that they might return to Him and repent. But once He knows that there is nothing good in them, and that the signs will not benefit them, and they have not learnt from previous exemplary punishments, then He will send the punishment down upon them and deprive them of His great reward.

النَّاسِ وَلَا يُؤْمِنُ بِاللَّهِ وَالْيَوْمِ ءَآخِرٍ فَمَثَلُهُ كَمَثَلِ صَفْوَانٍ عَلَيْهِ تُرَابٌ فَأَصَابَهُ وَابِلٌ
فَتَرَكَهُ صَلْدًا لَا يَقْدِرُونَ عَلَىٰ شَيْءٍ مِّمَّا كَسَبُوا ۗ وَاللَّهُ لَا يَهْدِي الْقَوْمَ

الْكَافِرِينَ ﴿٢٦٤﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٦٤)

2:264. O you who believe, do not nullify your acts of charity with reminders and hurtful words, like the one who spends his wealth to show off before people, but believes neither in Allah nor in the Last Day. His likeness is that of a smooth rock, on which there is a little soil; when heavy rain falls it leaves it completely bare. They will gain nothing from their efforts. And Allah does not guide the disbelieving people.

Here Allah forbids His slaves, out of kindness and mercy towards them, to nullify their charity with hurtful reminders. This shows us that hurtful reminders nullify charity, and may be taken as evidence that bad deeds nullify good deeds, as Allah says elsewhere:

﴿...and do not speak loudly to him [the Prophet] as you speak loudly to one another, lest your deeds come to nothing without your realising it.﴾ (al-Hujurat 49: 2)

Just as good deeds erase bad deeds, bad deeds nullify preceding good deeds. This verse, along with the verse:

﴿O you who believe, obey Allah and obey the Messenger, and do not let your deeds go in vain.﴾ (Muhammad 47: 33) – encourages us to perfect our deeds and protect them from anything that may nullify them, lest the deeds go to waste.

﴿like the one who spends his wealth to show off before people, but believes neither in Allah nor in the Last Day﴾ that is, even though you may initially be doing it for the sake of Allah, reminders and hurtful words render your deeds invalid, thus your deeds become like those of the one who does things in order to show off to people, and he is not seeking Allah and the hereafter thereby. The deeds of such a person are undoubtedly rejected from the outset, because a condition of deeds being acceptable is that they should be for the sake of Allah alone. This person is in fact doing things for people, not for Allah, so his deeds are invalid and his efforts are not appreciated. The exact likeness of such a person is that of a smooth rock, on which there is a little soil; when heavy rain falls it leaves it completely bare» that is, with no soil on it. This is the situation of the show-off: his heart is as hard as a rock, and his charity and other deeds are like the soil on the rock. If an ignorant person sees it as it is, he thinks that it is fertile land where plants could grow; then when he shows his true colours, the soil will be gone and his deeds will become like a mirage. His heart is (like a rock) that is not suitable for cultivation; rather his showing off and evil intentions prevent him from benefiting from any of his deeds. Hence «They will gain nothing from their efforts» that is, from the deeds that they did, because their intentions were inappropriate and they did these deeds for people like themselves who do not have the power to cause them any harm or bring them any benefit, and they turned away from worshipping the One of Whom worship could be of benefit. So Allah turned their hearts away from guidance, hence He says: «And Allah does not guide the disbelieving people».

كَمَثَلِ جَنَّةٍ بِرَبْوَةٍ أَصَابَهَا وَابِلٌ فَثَمَرَاتُهَا أُكِلَتْ حَتَّىٰ ضَعُفَتْ وَلَٰئِن لَّمْ يَهِبْهَا وَابِلٌ
فَطُلُ اللَّهُ بِمَا تَعْمَلُونَ بَصِيرٌ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٦٥)

- 2:265. And the likeness of those who spend their wealth, seeking Allah's pleasure and out of their own inner certainty, is that of a garden on high ground; if heavy rain falls on it, it makes it yield a double increase of harvest, and if it does not receive heavy rain, then a light drizzle suffices it. Allah sees all that you do.

This is the likeness of those who spend their wealth in such a way that their spending will be rewarded and their charity will be accepted.

﴿And the likeness of those who spend their wealth, seeking Allah's pleasure﴾ that is, seeking thereby to attain the pleasure of their Lord and closeness to Him

﴿and out of their own inner certainty﴾ that is, they are happy with what they are doing, with no hesitancy or lack of resolve in giving. Two problems may be encountered with regard to spending: either the individual may seek to win praise from people when doing it, which is showing off, or he may spend reluctantly, with a lack of resolve and with hesitation. But the people referred to in this verse are free of these two problems; they spend seeking Allah's pleasure and not for any other purpose, out of their own inner certainty. The likeness of their spending ﴿is that of a garden﴾ with lots of trees and shade covering what is in it. This garden is ﴿on high ground﴾ that is, an elevated area that is open to the sun from the beginning of the day until the end, so its fruits are more abundant and beautiful. It is not on low ground, shielded from the wind and sun.

﴿If heavy rain falls on it﴾ that is, this garden that is on high ground, ﴿it makes it yield a double increase of harvest﴾ that is, its fruits multiply because of the goodness of the ground and for other reasons that lead to this outcome. The availability of plentiful water makes it grow and reach maturity.

﴿and if it does not receive heavy rain, then a light drizzle﴾ that is, light rain is sufficient, because of the fertility of the place where it grows. This is the likeness of those who spend a large or small amount, each according to his means; what he spends grows and multiplies until it reaches fullness. The One Who causes it to grow is more merciful to you than you are to yourself; He cares about you when you are not paying attention. If it so happened that such a garden existed in this world, people would rush to acquire it and there would be great competition for it, which would lead to conflict, even though this world is transient and will end, and it is the realm of hardship, stress and problems. It is as if the believer can see, through the lens of his faith, this reward that Allah mentions, eternal and everlasting, with all kinds of joy and happiness. Yet despite that you see people who have no interest in it and pay no attention to it. Do you think that this is due to a lack of interest in the hereafter and its delights, or is it the result of weak faith in Allah and lack of hope of attaining His reward? Otherwise, if a person was indeed certain about that and had deep faith in his heart, then you would find him motivated and longing for it, and he would make it his main aim and focus, and would be willing to spend a great deal in hope of reward. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿Allah sees all that you do﴾, and He sees the deeds that each person does and the motivation for those deeds, and He will requite them in full.

- 2:266. Does any of you wish to have a garden with date palms and vines, through which rivers flow, with all kinds of fruit, while he is stricken with old age, and his children are weak [too small to look after themselves], then it should be consumed by a fiery whirlwind? Thus Allah makes clear to you [His] revelations; that you may reflect.

This is the likeness of the one who does acts of charity and other deeds for the sake of Allah (ﷻ), then he does deeds that nullify them. His likeness is that of the owner of this garden in which there are all kinds of fruits. Date palms and grapevines are singled out for mention because of their superiority and abundant benefits, because they provide nourishment, staple foods and sweet fruits. In that garden there are rivers that irrigate it without the need for a great deal of effort. The owner is very happy with his garden, but then he grows old and becomes too weak to work, so he becomes more concerned about it. He has small children, none of whom are able to help him; rather they are all dependent on him, and his livelihood and theirs comes from that garden. Whilst they are like that, a storm or whirlwind in which there is fire comes to that garden and burns it up. Do not ask about what that man goes through of grief and distress; if grief could kill a person it would have killed him. This is the likeness of the one who does something for the sake of Allah; his deeds are like the seeds that are sown to get crops and fruit. He carries on like that until his efforts yield a garden of utmost splendour. The things that invalidate his deeds are like the storm in which there is fire. The individual is in the greatest need of his good deeds when he dies and is in a situation where he cannot do anything; then he finds his deeds, which he hoped would benefit him, like floating dust scattered about.

If a person could imagine this scenario and had the slightest understanding, he would not do that which will harm him and bring the utmost regret. But weakness of faith and reasoning, and lack of insight, bring one to this state which, if an insane person who does not understand anything were to do that which leads to the same fate, it would be a grievous matter. Hence Allah (ﷻ) instructs and encourages us to reflect, as He says: ﴿Thus Allah makes clear to you [His] revelations; that you may reflect﴾.

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا أَنْفِقُوا مِنْ طَيِّبَاتِ مَا كَسَبْتُمْ وَمِمَّا أَخْرَجْنَا لَكُمْ مِنَ الْأَرْضِ وَلَا تَيَمَّمُوا الْخَبِيثَ مِنْهُ تُنْفِقُونَ وَلَسْتُمْ بِآخِذِيهِ إِلَّا أَنْ تُغْنِشُوا فِيهِ

وَأَعْلَمُوا أَنَّ اللَّهَ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ حَكِيمٌ ﴿٢٦٧﴾ الشَّيْطَانُ يَعِدُّكُمْ الْفَقْرَ وَيَأْمُرُكُمْ بِالْفَحْشَاءِ
وَاللَّهُ يَعِدُّكُمْ مَغْفِرَةً مِنْهُ وَفَضْلًا وَاللَّهُ وَاسِعٌ عَلِيمٌ ﴿٢٦٨﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٦٧-٢٦٨)

- 2:267. O you who believe! Give of the good things which you have earned, and of what We have produced for you from the earth, and do not select the inferior things to give away, when you yourselves would not accept them unless you were to overlook them. And know that Allah is Self-Sufficient, Owner of Praise.
- 2:268. The Shayṭān threatens you with poverty and instructs you to be miserly, but Allah promises you His forgiveness and grace. And Allah is All-Encompassing, All-Knowing.

Here Allah (ﷻ) instructs His believing slaves to spend by giving of the good things which He has made available to them and of that which He has brought forth for them from the earth. As He has blessed you by making it easy for you to obtain these things, you should spend from them in gratitude to Allah, in fulfilment of some of the rights that your brothers have over you, and in order to purify your wealth. So you should select for that giving the good things that you like for yourselves, not that which is bad and that you do not want, and that you would only take by way of overlooking it and reluctantly.

﴿And know that Allah is Self-Sufficient, Owner of Praise﴾. He has no need of you; the benefits of your charity and good deeds come back to you. Yet He is Owner of Praise; He praises you for doing what He enjoins upon you, so you must comply with His commands, because that brings nourishment to the heart and life and joy to the soul. Beware of following your enemy the Shayṭān, who instructs you to withhold your wealth and scares you with the fear of poverty and want if you do spend. But this is not sincere advice on his part, rather it is the ultimate deception.

﴿Verily, the Shayṭān is an enemy to you, so take him as an enemy. He only calls his followers so that they may become inhabitants of the raging fire.﴾ (Fâṭir 35: 6)

Rather you should obey your Lord, Who enjoined you to spend in a way that is easy for you and does not cause you harm. Nevertheless, He ﴿promises you His forgiveness﴾ for your sins and to purify you of your faults, ﴿and grace﴾, and kindness to you in this world and in the hereafter, such as rapid compensation, contentment in the heart, ease in the grave, and abundant reward on the Day of Resurrection. This is not difficult for Him, because He is ﴿All-Encompassing﴾ and His grace is immense;

﴿All-Knowing﴾ – He knows what you give, great or small, secretly or openly, and He will reward you for it by His bounty, grace and kindness. So the individual should decide which of the two callers he will follow. These two verses point to a number of important matters, including the following:

- Encouragement to spend.
- Explanation of why one should spend.
- The obligation of giving zakâh on gold and silver (currency) and on all trade goods, because they are included in the words ﴿of the good things which you have earned﴾.
- The obligation of giving zakâh on what the land produces of crops, fruits and metals.
- Zakâh is due from the one who is investing in crops and fruits, not the owner of the land, because Allah says ﴿and of what We have produced for you﴾. So the one for whom it is produced is obliged to give zakâh.
- Wealth that is prepared for keeping (as opposed to selling), such as real estate, vessels and the like, is not subject to zakâh. The same applies to debts, confiscated wealth and the like, if it is not known where it is or who has it, and the owner cannot get it back. There is no zakâh on it, because Allah has enjoined spending from wealth that can grow, whether from the land or through trade, so that the poor may be helped from its growth. However, with regard to wealth that is not prepared for investment and is not under one's control, that is not included in this ruling.

- It is forbidden to give that which is of poor quality, and it is not acceptable as zakâh.

﴿يُؤْتِي الْحِكْمَةَ مَنْ يَشَاءُ وَمَنْ يُؤْتَ الْحِكْمَةَ فَقَدْ أُوتِيَ خَيْرًا كَثِيرًا وَمَا يَذَّكَّرُ إِلَّا أُولُو الْأَلْبَابِ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٦٩)

2:269. He grants wisdom to whomever He wills; and he to whom wisdom is granted has been given much good; but none will bear this in mind except people of understanding.

Allah (ﷻ) issued these important commands that are based on significant wisdom, but that is not attainable by all people; rather it is granted only to the one whom Allah has blessed with wisdom, which is beneficial knowledge, righteous deeds and knowledge of the reasons behind the laws. The one to whom Allah has granted wisdom has been given a great deal of good. What can be better than goodness which leads to happiness in this world and the next, and salvation from misery in both realms? In this verse we see that this blessing is only for some, namely those who are the heirs of the Prophets. Attaining a degree of perfection depends on having wisdom, because attaining such a level is only achieved by striving to attain knowledge and do righteous deeds. To attain knowledge, one must learn the truth and the aim thereof; to do righteous deeds, one must do good and refrain from evil. Thus one will be able to say and do what is right and to manage different affairs appropriately, whether it has to do with oneself or other people. Without that, the individual will not be able to attain that level of perfection, because Allah (ﷻ) has created His slave with the inclination to worship Him, love good and seek truth. So Allah sent the Messengers to remind them of that which is already instilled in their nature and their minds, and to explain to them that which they did not know. People may be divided into two categories: (the first of which is) those who responded to their call, and knew what would benefit them and did it, and they knew what would harm them and avoided it. These are the people of perfect understanding and sound reason. The second category is those who did not respond to their call; rather they followed that which was in accordance with their evil inclinations, and they failed to obey the Lord of humanity. These are not people of understanding. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿but none will bear this in mind except people of understanding﴾.

2:270. And whatever you spend in charity or whatever vows you make, then verily Allah knows it all. But for the wrongdoers there are no helpers.

This verse speaks of the reward for all types of spending, obligatory and recommended, great or small, that Allah has enjoined, as well as vows by which a person commits himself to something. Allah (ﷻ) knows them and nothing is hidden from Him; He knows the intention behind them, whether it is sincerely for His sake or not. If it is based on sincerity and seeking the pleasure of Allah, He will reward it abundantly. If a person does not spend what is enjoined upon him and does not fulfil the vows to which he committed himself, or he intends thereby to please people, then he is a wrongdoer who has acted inappropriately; thus he deserves a severe punishment and no one will be able to benefit him or help him. Hence Allah says: «But for the wrongdoers there are no helpers».

2:271. If you disclose [acts of] charity, it is good, but if you conceal them, and give it [charity] to the poor, that is better for you, and He will expiate some of your bad deeds. And Allah is well aware of what you do.

«If you disclose [acts of] charity» by giving them openly and publicly, if the purpose is to seek the pleasure of Allah, then «it is good» and it serves the intended purpose.

«but if you conceal them» that is, do them in secret

«and give it [charity] to the poor, that is better for you». This indicates that charity given secretly to the poor is better than charity given openly, but if charity is not being given to the poor, then the verse implies that giving secretly is not better than that which is given openly. It depends on what serves a greater purpose. If giving charity openly makes acts of worship visible and encourages others to follow suit and the like, then it is better than doing it secretly. The words «and give it [charity] to the poor» indicate that the giver should look for those who are in greatest need, and not give it to one who is in need, if there is someone else who is in greater need. Allah (ﷻ) tells us that charity is good for the giver, which implies that it will bring reward; He also says: ﴿and He will expiate some of your bad deeds﴾ which will ward off punishment.

﴿And Allah is well aware of what you do﴾ of good or evil, great or small. What is referred to here is the requital for deeds.

﴿لَيْسَ عَلَيْكَ هُدَاهُمْ وَلَٰكِنَّ اللَّهَ يَهْدِي مَن يَشَاءُ ۖ وَمَا تُنْفِقُوا مِنْ خَيْرٍ فَلَا تُنْفِسْكُمْ ۖ وَمَا تُنْفِقُونَ إِلَّا ابْتِغَاءَ وَجْهِ اللَّهِ ۖ وَمَا تُنْفِقُوا مِنْ خَيْرٍ يُّوفَّ إِلَيْكُمْ وَأَنْتُمْ لَا تُظْلَمُونَ﴾ (٢٧٢) ﴿لِلْفُقَرَاءِ الَّذِينَ أُحْصِرُوا فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ لَا يَسْتَطِيعُونَ ضَرْبًا فِي الْأَرْضِ يَحْسَبُهُمُ الْجَاهِلُ أَغْنِيَاءَ مِنَ التَّعَفُّفِ تَعْرِفُهُمْ بِسِيمَاهُمْ لَا يَسْأَلُونَ النَّاسَ إِلْحَاقًا ۚ وَمَا تُنْفِقُوا مِنْ خَيْرٍ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ بِهِ عَلِيمٌ﴾ (٢٧٣) ﴿الَّذِينَ يُنْفِقُونَ أَمْوَالَهُمْ بِالْإِتِلِ وَالنَّهَارِ سِرًّا وَعَلَانِيَةً فَلَهُمْ أَجْرُهُمْ عِنْدَ رَبِّهِمْ وَلَا خَوْفٌ عَلَيْهِمْ وَلَا هُمْ يَحْزَنُونَ﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٧٢-٢٧٤)

2:272. It is not for you [O Prophet] to guide them, but Allah guides whomever He wills. Whatever wealth you spend in charity benefits your own souls, and you do not spend except seeking the pleasure of Allah. Whatever wealth you give will be repaid to you in full, and you will not be wronged.

2:273. [Charity is] for those poor who are wholly occupied in Allah's cause and cannot move about in the land, seeking [trade or work]; the one who is unaware thinks, because of their dignity, that they are free from want. You will know them by their mark: they do not ask importunately from people. And whatever of wealth you give, then verily Allah knows it well.

2:274. Those who spend [in charity] of their wealth by night and by day, in secret and in public, will have their reward with their Lord; they will have no fear, nor will they grieve.

Here Allah (ﷻ) says to His Prophet (ﷺ): You are not responsible for guiding people; rather all you have to do is convey the message clearly, and guidance is in the Hand of Allah (ﷻ). This indicates that just as charity may be given to a Muslim, it may also be given to a disbeliever, even if he is not guided. Hence Allah says: ﴿Whatever wealth you spend in charity﴾ that is, whether the amount is great or small, and whether it is given to a Muslim or non-Muslim, ﴿benefits your own souls﴾ that is, you are the ones who benefit from it.

﴿and you do not spend except seeking the pleasure of Allah﴾. This is a statement about charity given by the believers that is based on their faith, because it is only for the sake of Allah (ﷻ); their faith forbids them to have any bad intentions or ulterior motives, and it obliges them to be sincere.

﴿Whatever wealth you give will be repaid to you in full﴾ on the Day of Resurrection, when you will be given your reward in full ﴿and you will not be wronged﴾ that is, nothing will be detracted from your righteous deeds, not even the smallest amount, just as your bad deeds will not be increased.

Then Allah mentions the recipients of charity who are the most entitled to it, namely:

- 1- The poor.
- 2- Those who are ﴿wholly occupied in Allah's cause﴾ that is, they are completely focused on obedience to Allah, in jihad and otherwise; they are prepared for that and are kept ready for that.
- 3- Those who are unable to travel in order to seek provision. Allah says: ﴿and cannot move about in the land﴾ that is, they are unable to travel in order to earn a living.
- 4- ﴿the one who is unaware thinks, because of their dignity, that they are free from want﴾. This tells us of the sincerity of their patience and their dignified attitude.

- 5- ﴿You will know them by their mark﴾ that is, as referred to in the description given of them. This does not contradict the words ﴿the one who is unaware thinks... that they are free from want﴾, because not everyone who is unaware of their condition has deep insight by means of which he may know what they are going through; as for the one who does have deep insight, he will realise as soon as he sees them and recognises their mark.
- 6- ﴿they do not ask importunately from people﴾ that is, they do not ask persistently; rather if they do ask, in the case of necessity, they do not persist in asking.

These are the ones who are most deserving of charity, because Allah described them in the best terms. As for spending in charity on anyone, it is good and kind, and the one who does that will be rewarded. Hence Allah says: ﴿And whatever of wealth you give, then verily Allah knows it well﴾.

Then Allah tells us of the status of those who give charity at all times and in all circumstances:

﴿Those who spend [in charity] of their wealth﴾ for the sake of Allah, in obedience to Him and seeking His pleasure, and they do not spend it on things that are forbidden or disliked, or to fulfil their own whims and desires

﴿by night and by day, in secret and in public, will have their reward with their Lord﴾ that is, a great reward with the Most Merciful Lord. ﴿they will have no fear﴾ when those who fell short will be afraid ﴿nor will they grieve﴾ when those who were heedless grieve. They will attain their goal and be saved from what they fear.

As Allah referred to the status of those who are kind to His slaves by spending on them in different ways, He also refers to the wrongdoers who mistreat His slaves in the worst manner:

﴿الَّذِينَ يَأْكُلُونَ الرِّبَا لَا يَقُومُونَ إِلَّا كَمَا يَقُومُ الَّذِي يَتَخَبَّطُهُ الشَّيْطَانُ مِنَ الْمَسِّ ذَٰلِكَ بِأَنَّهُمْ قَالُوا إِنَّمَا الْبَيْعُ مِثْلُ الرِّبَا وَأَحَلَّ اللَّهُ الْبَيْعَ وَحَرَّمَ الرِّبَا فَمَنْ جَاءَهُ مَوْعِظَةٌ مِنْ رَبِّهِ فَانْتَهَى فَلَهُ مَا سَلَفَ وَأَمْرُهُ إِلَى اللَّهِ وَمَنْ عَادَ فَأُولَٰئِكَ أَصْحَابُ النَّارِ هُمْ فِيهَا خَالِدُونَ ﴿٢٧٥﴾ يَمْحُو اللَّهُ الرِّبَا وَيُزِيهِ الصَّدَقَاتِ وَاللَّهُ لَا يُحِبُّ كُلَّ كَفَّارٍ أَثِيمٍ ﴿٢٧٦﴾ إِنَّ الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا وَعَمِلُوا الصَّالِحَاتِ وَأَقَامُوا الصَّلَاةَ وَءَاتَوْا الزَّكَاةَ لَهُمْ أَجْرُهُمْ عِنْدَ رَبِّهِمْ وَلَا خَوْفٌ عَلَيْهِمْ وَلَا هُمْ يَحْزَنُونَ ﴿٢٧٧﴾ يَتَأَيَّاهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا اتَّقُوا اللَّهَ وَذَرُوا مَا بَقِيَ مِنَ الرِّبَا إِن كُنْتُمْ مُؤْمِنِينَ ﴿٢٧٨﴾ فَإِنْ لَمْ تَفْعَلُوا فَأْذَنُوا بِحَرْبٍ مِنَ اللَّهِ وَرَسُولِهِ وَإِنْ تُبْتِغُوا فَلََكُمْ رَأْسُ أَمْوَالِكُمْ لَا تَظْلُمُونَ وَلَا تُظْلَمُونَ ﴿٢٧٩﴾ وَإِنْ كَانِ ذُو عُسْرَةٍ فَنَظِرَةٌ إِلَىٰ مَيْسَرَةٍ وَأَنْ تَصَدَّقُوا خَيْرٌ لَّكُمْ إِنْ كُنْتُمْ تَعْلَمُونَ ﴿٢٨٠﴾ وَاتَّقُوا يَوْمًا تُرْجَعُونَ فِيهِ إِلَى اللَّهِ ثُمَّ تُوَفَّى كُلُّ نَفْسٍ مَا كَسَبَتْ وَهُمْ لَا يُظْلَمُونَ ﴿٢٨١﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٧٥-٢٨١)

- 2:275. Those who consume usury will not stand [on the Day of Resurrection] except like a madman who is being beaten by the Shayṭān. That is because they say: Trade is like usury; but Allah has permitted trade and forbidden usury. Therefore, he who desists because of the admonition that has come to him from his Lord may keep his past gains; his case is for Allah [to judge]; but those who return to it will be inhabitants of the fire; they will abide therein forever.
- 2:276. Allah destroys usury, but will give increase for deeds of charity. Allah does not love any ungrateful sinner.
- 2:277. Those who believe, and do righteous deeds, and establish prayer and give zakāh, will have their reward with their Lord; they will have no fear nor will they grieve.
- 2:278. O you who believe! Fear Allah, and give up what is still due to you of usury, if you are indeed believers.

- 2:279. If you do not do it, then be warned of a declaration of war from Allah and His Messenger: But if you repent, you may retain your capital, neither wronging, nor being wronged.
- 2:280. If the debtor is in difficulty, give him time until it is easy for him to repay. But if you remit it by way of charity, that is best for you, if only you knew.
- 2:281. And fear the day when you will be brought back to Allah. Then every soul will be paid in full for what it earned, and none will be wronged.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us of the bad end and hardship that those who consume usury will face: they will not rise from their graves on the Day of Resurrection to stand ﴿except like a madman who is being beaten by the Shayṭān﴾. So they will rise from their graves confused and shaky, as if they are drunk, expecting a severe punishment. That is because they thought and said: ﴿Trade is like usury﴾. Such a statement would only come from one who is very ignorant or one who ignores what he knows out of stubbornness. So Allah will requite them in an appropriate manner, and they will become like insane people. It may be understood from the words ﴿[they] will not stand [on the Day of Resurrection] except like a madman who is being beaten by the Shayṭān﴾ that when they lost their minds in seeking to earn through usury, they became very foolish and unable to think properly. Their appearance and movements will be like those of insane people, with a complete lack of coordination and loss of rational thinking.

Allah (ﷻ) says, responding to them and explaining His great wisdom: ﴿but Allah has permitted trade﴾ because it serves the public interest and there is a great need for it, and because prohibiting it would cause great harm. This is the basis for the permissibility of all ways of earning money, unless there is a text to indicate that something is not permitted.

﴿and forbidden usury﴾ because of what it entails of wrongdoing and evil consequences. Usury (ribâ) is of two types: ribâ nasee'ah (pay now, or pay an increased amount later); and ribâ faql, which involves trading two things of the same type, where one is greater in quantity than the other. Both are haram, according to the Qur'an and Sunnah, and according to the consensus of the scholars in the case of ribâ nasee'ah; those who permitted ribâ faql held an odd view that is contrary to the abundant texts. Rather usury is one of the major sins that may doom a person to hell.

﴿Therefore, he who desists﴾ that is, gives up what he is doing and is deterred from it

﴿because of the admonition that has come to him from his Lord﴾ that is, the admonition, reminder and warning against dealing in usury. This admonition is a mercy from Allah towards those to whom it is addressed, and serves to establish proof against them.

﴿may keep his past gains﴾ that resulted from previous transactions in which he engaged before this admonition reached him; he may keep them as a reward for accepting the advice. This verse indicates that the one who does not desist will be punished for both his earlier and later actions.

﴿his case is for Allah [to judge]﴾ as to whether to requite him

﴿but those who return to it﴾ that is, to dealing in usury, and who do not benefit from the admonition; rather they persist in it

﴿will be inhabitants of the fire; they will abide therein forever﴾. The scholars (may Allah have mercy on them) differed concerning the texts that speak of punishment where the apparent meaning suggests that those who commit major sins that are less serious than associating others with Allah (shirk) will abide in hell forever. The best view is that which says that in these cases where Allah states that certain sins will doom a person to eternity in hell are applicable provided there is no impediment (that is, tawḥeed or belief in the oneness of Allah). It is known from the Qur'an and Sunnah, and from the consensus of the early generations of the Ummah, that the one who believes in the oneness of Allah (tawḥeed) and has faith cannot abide in hell forever. However, if a person does not believe in tawḥeed, then the sin or usury, let alone his disbelief, would qualify him to abide in hell forever.

«Allah destroys usury» that is, He takes it away and takes away its blessing, so that it becomes a source of problems and trouble and takes away blessing from the individual's life. If he spends from it, he will not be rewarded; rather it will bring him closer to hell.

«but will give increase for deeds of charity» that is, He will cause it to grow and will send down blessings upon the wealth from which the charity is given, and He will reward the giver. That is because the requital befits the action. The one who deals in usury wrongs people and takes their wealth in an unlawful manner, so he is punished with loss of his wealth. The one who is good to people shows kindness to them in different ways, and his Lord is kinder than he is, so He treats him kindly, as He is kind to His slaves.

«Allah does not love any ungrateful sinner» that is, one who is ungrateful for the blessings of Allah and does not do what is enjoined upon him of giving charity, and people are not safe from him or his evil.

«sinner» that is, one who does actions that incur a burden of sin and punishment.

After mentioning those who consume usury, and noting that if they had been believers who truly benefited from their faith, they would not have done what they did, Allah then mentions the condition and reward of the believers. He addresses them as believers and forbids them to consume usury, if they are indeed believers. They are the ones who accept the admonition of their Lord and obey His command. He instructs them to fear Him, and part of that fear of Him is that they should give up what remains of usury, that is, any current existing transactions. As for that which is past, whoever heeds the admonition, Allah will pardon him for what is in the past, but whoever does not heed the admonition of Allah and does not accept His advice is opposing his Lord and is effectively in a state of war against Him, at the time when he is helpless and weak, and has no power to wage war against the Almighty, the Most Wise, Who gives respite to the evildoer but does not forget about him, and will eventually punish him severely.

«But if you repent» from dealing in usury
 «you may retain your capital», and that is all you are entitled to «neither wronging» those with whom you do business, by taking anything extra, which is usury «nor being wronged» by the loss of your capital.

«If the debtor is in difficulty» and cannot pay off what he owes «give him time until it is easy for him to repay». It is obligatory to give him more time, until he can afford it.

«But if you remit it by way of charity, that is best for you, if only you knew». This refers to waiving the debt, completely or partially.

«And fear the day when you will be brought back to Allah. Then every soul will be paid in full for what it earned, and none will be wronged». This verse was one of the last verses of the Qur'an to be revealed, and it was placed at the end of these rulings, commands and prohibitions, because it contains a promise (of reward) for doing good and a warning against doing evil. If a person knows that he will return to Allah, and that He will requite him for all his deeds, great and small, public and private, and that Allah will not wrong him in the slightest, he will inevitably develop hope of reward and fear of punishment. Without having this knowledge in his heart, there is no way he could develop that hope and fear.

 اللَّهُ وَاللَّهُ بِكُلِّ شَيْءٍ عَلِيمٌ ﴿٢٨٢﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٨٢)

- 2:282. O you who believe! When you contract debts among yourselves for a stated period of time, write it down. Let a scribe write it down faithfully between you. No scribe should refuse to write, as Allah has taught him, so let him write, and let the one incurring the debt dictate, and let him fear Allah his Lord, and not diminish [the debt] at all. If the debtor is feeble-minded or incapacitated, or unable himself to dictate, then let his guardian dictate faithfully, and call to witness two men from among you; if two men are not available, then a man and two women, such as you choose, to act as witnesses, so that if one of them forgets, the other can remind her. The witnesses should not refuse when they are summoned. Do not be reluctant to write down your debts, whether small or large, together with the time of repayment; that is more equitable in the sight of Allah, more reliable as evidence, and more likely to prevent doubts among yourselves. But if it is a transaction which you carry out on the spot among yourselves, there is no blame on you if you do not write it down. Have witnesses present whenever you trade with one another, and let neither scribe nor witness suffer harm, for if you did cause them harm, it would be wickedness on your part. So fear Allah, for it is Allah Who teaches you. And Allah has full knowledge of all things.

This is the verse of debt, which is the longest verse in the Qur'an. It contains important rulings which are of great benefit and value. These rulings are as follows:

- 1- All types of dealings that are based on credit or otherwise are permissible, because Allah tells us about dealings based on credit that the believers engaged in, in a manner that is indicative of approval and lays out guidelines concerning them. This indicates that they are permissible.
- 2- In the case of credit, there must be a deadline for delivery.
- 3- It is essential that the deadline be specified and known; it cannot be specified that delivery will be immediate or that the deal is open-ended.
- 4- It is enjoined to put in writing all types of dealings that are based on credit. Doing so is either obligatory or recommended, and writing it down is essential because without putting it in writing, there is a great risk of problems such as mistakes, forgetting, disputes and quarrels.
- 5- The scribe should be instructed to write.
- 6- He should be a person of good character for his writing to be reliable, because what is said or written by an evildoer is not reliable.
- 7- He should write it down faithfully between them, and not be biased in favour of one of them because of ties of kinship or friendship and the like.
- 8- The scribe should know how to write documents and all that is required of each party in a particular case. He should also know how to make the document binding, because there is no other way to be fair and just. This is understood from the words: «Let a scribe write it down faithfully between you».

- 9- If there is a document (of debt) in the handwriting of one who is known to be faithful or fair, as mentioned, it should be relied upon, even if he and the witnesses have died.
- 10- The words «No scribe should refuse to write» mean: no one whom Allah has blessed by enabling him to learn how to write should refuse to write down (a contract) between a debtor and creditor. Just as Allah has shown kindness to him by causing him to learn, he should treat kindly the slaves of Allah who need his writing, and he should not refuse to write for them.
- 11- The scribe should be instructed not to write anything but what the one who owes the debt dictates to him.
- 12- The one who dictates to the scribe should be the one who owes the debt.
- 13- He should be instructed to disclose everything that he owes, and not diminish (the debt) at all.
- 14- If someone admits that he owes something to someone else, it is to be accepted, because Allah instructed the one who owes the debt to dictate to the scribe. When the admission of debt is put in writing, what he has admitted of debt becomes binding, even if he claims after that that he made a mistake or forgot.
- 15- If there is any person who owes debts to others and there is proof of the amount and how great or small it is, and whether payment is due now or later, his statement is to be accepted and not the statement of the one to whom it is owed, because Allah (ﷻ) told him not to diminish (the debt), yet his statement concerning the amount owed and the terms of repayment is to be accepted.
- 16- It is forbidden for the one who owes the debt to diminish it or reduce it in terms of its quantity and quality, or the timescale of repayment, and other factors.
- 17- The one who is unable to dictate the debt because he is too young, feeble-minded, unable to speak and so on, can appoint his guardian to dictate on his behalf and admit the debt.

- 18- The guardian is obliged to be faithful and fair just as the debtor himself is enjoined to be, and he should not diminish the debt, because Allah says «faithfully».
- 19- Good character on the part of the guardian is essential, because dictating faithfully as mentioned cannot be done by an evildoer.
- 20- Guardianship in financial matters (that is, doing business on behalf of another) is valid.
- 21- The debt is owed by the minor or by the one who is feeble-minded, insane or incapacitated; it is not owed by the guardian.
- 22- Acknowledgement of the debt by the minor or the person who is feeble-minded, insane, mentally challenged and so on, and their transactions, are not valid, because Allah has given their guardian the authority to dictate, and He did not give them any authority therein, out of compassion and mercy towards them, lest their wealth be lost.
- 23- The guardian's handling of the wealth of the people mentioned is valid.
- 24- This verse shows that it is prescribed for a person to learn everything that each party to a transaction needs to know in order to document it and preserve his rights, because the aim here is to document the transaction, provide proof and guarantee equity. That which is essential in order to achieve what is prescribed is also prescribed.
- 25- Acquiring literacy is prescribed; in fact it is a communal obligation, because Allah has enjoined the writing down of debts and other matters, which cannot be achieved except by learning.
- 26- It is enjoined to have contracts witnessed. This is recommended, because the aim behind it is to protect people's rights, which serves their interests. If the one who is carrying out the transaction is acting on behalf of another, such as the guardian of an orphan or the caretaker of an endowment (waqf) and other cases in which recording transactions is essential, then having it witnessed becomes obligatory.

- 27- The minimum number of witnesses in financial transactions and so on is two men or a man and two women. The Sunnah indicates that one witness, accompanied by the oath of the claimant, is also sufficient.
- 28- The testimony of boys is not acceptable, because the verse specifically mentions men.
- 29- The testimony of women on their own concerning financial transactions and the like is not to be accepted, because Allah did not accept women's testimony unless it is accompanied by that of a man.
- 30- The testimony of an adult male slave is acceptable just like the testimony of a free man, because of the general meaning of the words ﴿and call to witness two men from among you﴾, and an adult slave is one of our men.
- 31- The testimony of the disbelievers, whether they are male or female, is not acceptable, because they are not of us and because testimony should be based on good character, and they are not of good character.
- 32- This verse indicates that men are superior to women, and that the testimony of one man is equal to that of two women, because men have good memories and women do not.
- 33- If someone forgets his testimony, then remembers it later on, his testimony is still to be accepted, because Allah says: ﴿the other can remind her﴾.
- 34- From the meaning of this verse it may be understood that if a witness is afraid of forgetting his testimony with regard to the dues of others, then he must write it down, because that which is essential to fulfilment of an obligatory duty is also obligatory.
- 35- If a witness is summoned and has no excuse, it is not permissible for him to refuse, because Allah says: ﴿The witnesses should not refuse when they are summoned﴾.

- 36- If a person's testimony will not be acceptable, then it is not obligatory for him to respond if he is summoned, because there is no benefit in his doing so, and he is not counted as a witness.
- 37- It is not allowed to be reluctant or find it too burdensome to write down debts every time, whether they are great or small, and to write down the time of payment, and all the other conditions and restrictions in the contract.
- 38- This verse highlights the wisdom behind the prescription to write down contracts and have them witnessed, which is that it ﴿is more equitable in the sight of Allah, more reliable as evidence, and more likely to prevent doubts among yourselves﴾. It guarantees fairness and justice, on which the well-being of people and the country is based. Testimony accompanied by written documentation is more proper and better, and further removed from doubt, suspicion, disputes and quarrels.
- 39- From this it may be understood that if a person is uncertain about his testimony, he has no right to give it; rather he must be certain of his testimony.
- 40- The words ﴿But if it is a transaction which you carry out on the spot among yourselves, there is no blame on you if you do not write it down﴾ indicate that there is a concession allowing people not to write it down if it is a transaction on the spot in which there is a hand to hand exchange, because there is no great need to write it down.
- 41- Although there is a concession allowing people not to write down transactions conducted on the spot, it is still prescribed to call witnesses, because Allah says: ﴿Have witnesses present whenever you trade with one another﴾.
- 42- It is prohibited to harm the scribe by calling him at a time when he is busy and it is difficult for him to attend.
- 43- It is also prohibited to harm witnesses by calling them to witness or give testimony when they are ill or busy and it is too difficult for them to attend, and so on. This is based on the words ﴿and let neither scribe nor witness suffer harm﴾. However, this phrase may also be understood as meaning “and let neither scribe nor witness cause harm” to the one to whom the debt is owed, by refusing or demanding too high a fee, and so on.

- 44- The above may mean that the scribe should not cause any harm (to the lender).
- 45- It may also mean that the witness should not cause any such harm either.
- 46- Doing these forbidden actions is a characteristic of wickedness, because Allah says: ﴿for if you did cause them harm, it would be wickedness on your part﴾.
- 47- Attributes such as wickedness, faith, hypocrisy, enmity, faithfulness and so on may be partial characteristics (that is, not an individual's main characteristic). Thus a person may have some element of wickedness and the like, and he may also have some element of belief or disbelief, because Allah says: ﴿it would be wickedness on your part﴾ and He did not say, “you would be wicked.”
- 48- The witness should be of good character, because Allah says: ﴿such as you choose, to act as witnesses﴾.
- 49- The definition of good character is to be based on what people regard as good character in every place and time. Whoever is regarded by people as being of good character is to be accepted as a witness.
- 50- Based on this, the testimony of one whose character is not known should not be accepted until he is proven to be of good character.

These rulings are what may be derived from this verse according to the best of my limited knowledge. Allah has further wisdom and subtle reasons, understanding of which He grants to whomever He will.

- 2:283. If you are on a journey, and cannot find a scribe, then something should be handed over as collateral. But if you trust one another [and there is no need for collateral], let the one who is trusted fulfil his trust, and let him fear Allah his Lord. Do not conceal testimony, for whoever conceals it has a sinful heart. And Allah is well aware of all that you do.

That is, if you are travelling ﴿and cannot find a scribe﴾ to write down the deal between you and document it ﴿then something should be handed over as collateral﴾ that is, the lender should take possession of it, to keep it as security until he is repaid. This indicates that collateral that is not handed over does not serve as security. It also indicates that if the one who gives collateral and the one who receives it differ concerning the amount for which the collateral is given, the lender is the one whose word is to be accepted, the reason being that Allah has ordained collateral instead of writing down in order to secure the loan for the lender. If the word of the one who is keeping the collateral was not acceptable with regard to the amount for which it was left with him, then it would not serve the purpose. As the aim of collateral is to secure loans, it is acceptable when travelling and when not travelling. Allah only mentioned travelling here because it is more likely to be needed in that situation when there is no scribe available. All of this applies in the case of a lender who wants to have some security regarding his loan. But if the lender trusts the borrower and wants to deal with him without collateral, then the one who owes him must pay back in full, and should not transgress against him or diminish the value of what he owes him.

﴿and let him fear Allah his Lord﴾ in paying back what he owes and showing kindness to the one who trusted him.

﴿Do not conceal testimony﴾ because rights that cannot be proved otherwise are based on it, so concealing it is a grave sin, because it is failing to do his duty of stating the facts, and it results in the lender losing what is due to him. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿for whoever conceals it has a sinful heart. And Allah is well aware of all that you do﴾. This verse includes these rulings through which Allah has guided His slaves, which are based on great wisdom and serve great purposes. This indicates that if people followed Allah's guidance in these rulings, their affairs, both worldly and spiritual, would be in the best shape, because these rulings lead to justice and that which is in the Muslims' best interests; rights would be protected, quarrels and conflicts would be prevented, and peaceful relations between people would be guaranteed. To Allah be praise such as befits His majesty and might; we cannot praise Him enough.

2:284. To Allah belongs all that is in the heavens and on earth. Whether you disclose what is in your minds or conceal it, Allah will call you to account for it. He forgives whomever He will, and punishes whomever He will, for Allah has power over all things.

Here Allah tells us that to Him belongs all that is in the heavens and all that is on earth; He created every one, He granted them provision and He guides them to that which is in their best interests, both worldly and spiritual. So they are His possessions and slaves; they possess no power to cause harm or bring benefit to themselves and they possess no power with regard to death, life or resurrection. He is their Lord and sovereign Who controls their affairs on the basis of His wisdom, justice and kindness. He has ordained commands and prohibitions for them and will bring them to account for all that they conceal or disclose.

﴿He forgives whomever He will﴾ namely the one who takes the measures that lead to forgiveness. And He punishes whomever He will for his sins, the one who did not go through anything that could lead to expiation.<sup>21</sup>

﴿for Allah has power over all things﴾ and nothing is beyond Him; rather all people are subject to His control, His will, His decree and His requital.

﴿ءَامَنَ الرَّسُولُ بِمَا أُنزِلَ إِلَيْهِ مِنْ رَبِّهِ وَالْمُؤْمِنُونَ كُلٌّ ءَامَنَ بِاللَّهِ وَمَلَائِكَتِهِ وَكُتُبِهِ وَرُسُلِهِ لَا نُفَرِّقُ بَيْنَ أَحَدٍ مِنْ رُسُلِهِ وَقَالُوا سَمِعْنَا وَأَطَعْنَا غُفْرَانَكَ رَبَّنَا وَإِلَيْكَ الْمَصِيرُ ﴿٢٨٥﴾﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٨٥)

2:285. The Messenger believes in what has been revealed to him from his Lord, as do the believers. Each [of them] believes in Allah, His angels, His Books, and His Messengers. We make no distinction between one and another of His Messengers. And they say: We hear, and we obey. Grant us Your forgiveness, our Lord, and to You is the return [of all].

<sup>21</sup> Sins may be expiated by different means, such as hardship, sickness, loss of loved ones, and so on.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us about the faith, submission and obedience of the Messenger (ﷺ) and the believers who were with him, and their asking Him for forgiveness. He tells us that they believe in Allah, His angels, His Books and His Messengers. This implies belief in everything that Allah has told us about Himself or that His Messengers have told us about Him, namely the attributes of His perfection and majesty, in brief and in detail, as well as the declaration that He is above being likened to His creation and is above any denial of His attributes and above all shortcomings. It also implies belief in the angels who are referred to in the texts in general terms and in detail, as well as belief in all the Messengers and Books. That in turn implies belief in everything that the Messengers have told us and everything contained in the Books of stories, commands and prohibitions. They (the believers) do not differentiate between any of His Messengers; rather they believe in all of them because they are all intermediaries between Allah and His slaves, so disbelief in one of them is disbelief in all of them, and is in fact disbelief in Allah.

﴿And they say: We hear﴾ what You have enjoined upon us and what You have forbidden to us

﴿and we obey﴾ You in that, and we are not of those who say: We hear and disobey.

Because people will inevitably fall short with regard to the rights of Allah and thus are in need of His forgiveness all the time, they say: ﴿Grant us Your forgiveness﴾ that is, we ask You for forgiveness for what we have done of shortcomings and sins, and to erase our faults ﴿and to You is the return [of all]﴾ that is, all creatures will return to You and You will requite them for what they have done of good or evil.

الَّذِينَ مِنْ قَبْلِنَا رَبَّنَا وَلَا تَحْمِلْنَا مَا لَا طَاقَةَ لَنَا بِهِ ۖ وَاعْفُ عَنَّا وَارْحَمْنَا ۚ
 أَنْتَ مَوْلَانَا فَانصُرْنَا عَلَى الْقَوْمِ الْكَافِرِينَ ﴿٢٨٦﴾ (سورة البقرة: ٢٨٦)

- 2:286. Allah does not place on any soul a burden greater than it can bear. For it is what it has earned, and against it is what it has committed. Our Lord, do not hold us accountable if we forget or fall into error. Our Lord, do not lay on us a burden like that which You laid on those who came before us. Our Lord, do not lay on us a burden greater than we have strength to bear. Pardon us, forgive us and have mercy on us; You are our Protector, so help us against the disbelieving people.

When Allah revealed the words «Whether you disclose what is in your minds or conceal it, Allah will call you to account for it» (2: 284), the Muslims were distressed by it because they thought that they would be called to account for whatever entered their minds of persistent or passing thoughts. So in this verse, Allah told them that He does not place on any soul a burden greater than it can bear; in other words, (whatever burden He places upon an individual) is within his capability and He does not overburden him or make things too difficult for him. Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

«...He... has not imposed any hardship on you in religion...» (al-Hajj 22: 78)

In principle, the commands and prohibitions are not too difficult for people to adhere to; rather they are nourishment for the soul, a remedy for the body and protection from harm. Allah (ﷻ) enjoined these things for His slaves out of mercy and kindness, yet despite that, if something is too hard to adhere to for some reason, He grants concessions to make it easier, by waiving it either completely or partially, as in the case of the concessions made for those who are sick or travelling, and so on.

Then Allah (ﷻ) tells us that each soul will be rewarded for what it did of good, and whatever it did of evil will be counted against it; no soul will carry the burden of another and no one's reward will be given to someone else. The word which is translated here as «earned» (kasaba) flows more easily on the tongue, which indicates that doing good is easier and takes less effort, and as soon as a person forms the intention to do good, the reward begins. On the other hand, the word translated here as «committed» (aktasaba) is more difficult to say, which indicates that doing evil is not recorded against an individual unless he actually makes the effort to do it.

As Allah has told us about the faith of the Prophet (ﷺ) and the believers who were with him, and that each person will be requited for his actions, and that man will inevitably fall short, make mistakes and forget, He then tells us that He does not place on us any burden greater than what we can bear. He also tells us of the supplication of the believers to that effect. The Prophet (ﷺ) told us that Allah said: "I have done that," in response to this supplication.

«Our Lord, do not hold us accountable if we forget or fall into error». The difference between the two is that forgetting occurs when one becomes absent-minded about what he is instructed to do, so he fails to do it because he forgot it. Error occurs when a person aims to do something that is permissible, then the result of his action is not permissible. Allah has pardoned this Ummah for whatever they fall into of these two things, out of mercy and kindness towards them.

Based on that, if a person prays wearing a stolen or unclean garment, or he forgot about some impurity that was on his body, or he talks during the prayer because he forgot, or if he does something that breaks the fast because he forgot, or he does one of the actions that are forbidden when in iḥrām but does not involve killing an animal (this refers to hunting, which is forbidden when in iḥrām and for which a compensatory sacrifice must be offered), because he forgot, he is forgiven for that. By the same token, the one who swore an oath not to do something is not regarded as having broken his oath if he does the thing he swore not to do because he forgot. Similarly, if a person kills someone accidentally or destroys property accidentally, there is no sin on him; rather he is liable and must offer some compensation because of the results of his action, not because of his sin. Similarly, if a person forgets to mention the name of Allah at times when he should mention His name, it does not matter.

﴿Our Lord, do not lay on us a burden﴾ that is, difficult responsibilities ﴿like that which You laid on those who came before us﴾. And Allah (ﷻ) answered this supplication, as He granted concessions to this Ummah in matters pertaining to purification and different acts of worship, which He made easier in a way that he did not do for other nations.

﴿Our Lord, do not lay on us a burden greater than we have strength to bear﴾. Allah has answered this supplication also; to Him be praise. ﴿Pardon us, forgive us and have mercy on us﴾. Pardon and forgiveness are acts by means of which one may ward off evil and harm; mercy is that by virtue of which one attains well-being in all one's affairs. ﴿You are our Protector﴾ that is, You are our Lord, Sovereign and God, Whose protection and care for us have never faltered since You created us and formed us. Your blessing is constantly bestowed upon us at every moment of our lives. Moreover, You have bestowed upon us a great blessing and marvellous gift, namely the blessing of Islam to which all other blessings are secondary. So we ask You, O our Lord and Sovereign, to complete Your blessing by helping us against the disbelieving people who have disbelieved in You and Your Messenger (ﷺ), opposed the followers of Your religion and disobeyed You. Help us against them with proof and evidence, and on the battlefield, by causing us to prevail in the land and causing their defeat; bless us with faith and righteous deeds that lead to victory. Praise be to Allah, the Lord of the worlds.

This is the end of the commentary on Soorat al-Baqarah.
All praise and thanks are for Allah, and may the blessings and peace of Allah be upon Prophet Muhammad (ﷺ), his family, and his Companions abundantly until the Day of Judgement.

(Madani)

---

The first eighty-odd verses of this soorah have to do with debating with the Christians, highlighting the flaws in their arguments and calling them to enter the true religion, which is Islam, as the first part of Soorat al-Baqarah spoke of debating with the Jews, as discussed previously.

*In the name of Allah,
the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful*

﴿١﴾ اللَّهُ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا هُوَ الْحَيُّ الْقَيُّومُ ﴿٢﴾ نَزَّلَ عَلَيْكَ الْكِتَابَ بِالْحَقِّ مُصَدِّقًا لِمَا بَيْنَ يَدَيْهِ وَأَنزَلَ التَّوْرَةَ وَالْإِنْجِيلَ ﴿٣﴾ مِن قَبْلُ هُدًى لِّلنَّاسِ وَأَنزَلَ الْفُرْقَانَ إِنَّ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا بِآيَاتِ اللَّهِ لَهُمْ عَذَابٌ شَدِيدٌ وَاللَّهُ عَزِيزٌ ذُو انْتِقَامٍ ﴿٤﴾ إِنَّ اللَّهَ لَا يَخْفَى عَلَيْهِ شَيْءٌ فِي الْأَرْضِ وَلَا فِي السَّمَاءِ ﴿٥﴾ هُوَ الَّذِي يُصَوِّرُكُمْ فِي الْأَرْحَامِ كَيْفَ يَشَاءُ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا هُوَ الْعَزِيزُ الْحَكِيمُ ﴿٦﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١-٦)

3:1. Alif. Lām. Meem.<sup>22</sup>

<sup>22</sup> Groups of letters (al-huroof al-muqatta'ah) appear at the beginning of several soorahs. The most correct scholarly view states that we are required to believe in them as they appear to be, without delving into their meaning, knowledge of which we should leave to Allah. We believe that =

- 3:2. Allah: there is no god but He, the Ever-Living, the Self-Sustaining and All-Sustaining.
- 3:3. He has sent down to you the Book in truth, confirming what came before it; and He sent down the Torah and the Gospel
- 3:4. before this, as a guide to humankind, and He sent down the criterion [between right and wrong]. Then those who disbelieve in the revelations of Allah will suffer a severe punishment, and Allah is Almighty, an Avenger.
- 3:5. From Allah, verily nothing is hidden on earth or in the heavens.
- 3:6. He it is Who shapes you in the wombs as He wills. There is no god but He, the Almighty, the Most Wise.

Allah (ﷻ) begins this soorah by telling us of His divinity and that He is God and there is no god but He; no devotion or worship should be directed to anyone but Him. Everything other than Him that is worshipped is false; Allah is the true God Who has the divine attributes that are inherently implied in these two names. The Ever-Living is the One Who has life in the most perfect sense, which implies all attributes without which life cannot be complete or perfect, such as hearing, seeing, power, strength, greatness, eternal life, and unsurpassable might. The Self-Sustaining and All-Sustaining is the One Who sustains Himself and has no need of any of His creation, and the One Who sustains all others. All created beings need Him to be brought into existence, to be formed and shaped, and to be sustained. He is the One Who controls the affairs of all creatures, body, mind and soul. One aspect of His sustaining and caring for His slaves and showing mercy towards them is that He sent down to His Messenger Muhammad (ﷺ) the Book, which is the greatest and holiest of the Books, containing truth in its stories, commands and prohibitions. What He says is truth and what He ordains is justice. He sent it down in truth so that people would worship their Lord and learn His Book.

= they were not revealed in vain, and that there is wisdom behind them of which we are not aware.

﴿confirming what came before it﴾ of the previous books. So it is a judge over them; what it confirms is to be accepted and what it refutes is to be rejected. What you find in the Qur'an of rulings that all previous Messengers agreed upon you will find in other books too, and these (previous books) testify that the Qur'an is truly from Allah. But the People of the Book cannot truly believe in their books if they do not believe in the Qur'an; their disbelief in it undermines their belief in their own books.

Then Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿and He sent down the Torah﴾ to Moosâ ﴿and the Gospel﴾ to 'Eesâ

﴿before this﴾ that is, before the sending down of the Qur'an ﴿as a guide to humankind﴾. The apparent meaning of this phrase is that it refers to everything mentioned previously, that is, Allah sent down the Qur'an, the Torah and the Gospel as a guide to humankind to steer them away from misguidance, so whoever accepts the guidance of Allah is guided, and whoever does not accept it will remain misguided. ﴿and He sent down the criterion [between right and wrong]﴾ that is, definitive arguments, proof and evidence that point to the right path. Thus Allah explains what people need to know, so that the rulings will remain clear and no one will have any excuse or argument for not believing in Allah and His revelations. Hence He says: ﴿Then those who disbelieve in the revelations of Allah﴾ that is, after He has explained them, and made them clear and removed any ambiguity ﴿will suffer a severe punishment﴾ that no one can imagine how severe it is or comprehend its nature.

﴿and Allah is Almighty﴾ that is, powerful, and nothing is beyond Him ﴿an Avenger﴾ against those who disobey Him.

﴿From Allah, verily nothing is hidden on earth or in the heavens﴾. This is an affirmation that His knowledge encompasses all things, manifest and hidden, visible and invisible, including the foetus in the womb that cannot be seen by other created beings, and of which they have no knowledge at the time when He is caring for it in the best manner and it is developing according to His decree. Hence He says: «He it is Who shapes you in the wombs as He wills», complete or incomplete, beautiful or ugly, male or female.

«the Almighty, the Most Wise».

These verses affirm the divinity of Allah and that it is His alone, and they declare false the divinity of anything other than Him. This is a refutation of the Christians who claimed that 'Eesâ ibn Maryam (ﷺ) was divine. The verses also affirm the perfect life of Allah, Who is self-sustaining and sustains others completely. These two attributes (divinity and perfect life) imply all the other divine attributes, as discussed above. These verses also affirm the great scriptures and tell us that they were a mercy and guidance for people; hence people are divided into those who are guided and those who are not, and those who do not follow the guidance (of these scriptures) will be punished. There is also affirmation of the vastness of Allah's knowledge, and that His will and wisdom always come to pass.

﴿هُوَ الَّذِي أَنْزَلَ عَلَيْكَ الْكِتَابَ مِنْهُ آيَاتٌ مُحْكَمَاتٌ هُنَّ أُمُّ الْكِتَابِ وَأُخَرُ مُتَشَابِهَاتٌ
تَأْوِيلَهُ إِلَّا اللَّهُ ۚ وَالرَّاسِخُونَ فِي الْعِلْمِ يَقُولُونَ ءَامَنَّا بِهِ ۚ كُلٌّ مِنْ عِنْدِ رَبِّنَا وَمَا يَذَّكَّرُ إِلَّا أُولُو
الْأَلْبَابِ ﴿٧﴾ رَبَّنَا لَا تَجْعَلْ قُلُوبَنَا بَعْدَ إِذْ هَدَيْتَنَا وَهَبْ لَنَا مِنْ لَدُنْكَ رَحْمَةً إِنَّكَ أَنْتَ الْوَهَّابُ
﴿٨﴾ رَبَّنَا إِنَّكَ جَامِعُ النَّاسِ لِيَوْمٍ لَا رَيْبَ فِيهِ ۚ إِنَّكَ اللَّهُ لَا يُخْلِفُ الْوَعْدَ ﴿٩﴾﴾

(سورة آل عمران: ٧-٩)

- 3:7. It is He Who has sent down to you the Book. In it are definitive verses, which are the foundation of the Book; others are ambiguous, but those in whose hearts is deviation follow the part thereof that is ambiguous, seeking [to cause] confusion, and seeking an interpretation [that suits them]. But no one knows its [true] interpretation except Allah. And those who are firmly grounded in knowledge say: We believe in [the Book]; all of it is from our Lord. None will pay heed except people of understanding.

3:8. Our Lord, do not let our hearts deviate now after You have guided us, and bestow upon us mercy from Yourself; for You are the Bestower.

3:9. Our Lord, You will gather all people on the day of which there is no doubt; for Allah does not break His promise.

The entire Qur'an is definitive, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...This is a Book, the verses of which are perfected, then explained in detail, from One Who is Most Wise, All-Aware.﴾ (Hood 11: 1)

It is precise, based on clarity, justice and perfection.

﴿...But who could be better in judgement than Allah, for a people who are certain in faith?﴾ (al-Mā'idah 5: 50)

All of it is similar in beauty and eloquence, with some parts confirming others and with similarities in terms of wording and meaning. With regard to the definitive clarity and ambiguity mentioned in this verse, Allah says, in reference to the Qur'an: ﴿In it are definitive verses﴾ that is, their meaning is clear and there is no ambiguity or confusion.

﴿which are the foundation of the Book﴾ that is, they form the basic reference point in the light of which any ambiguous verse is to be understood, and they form the greater part of the Book.

﴿others are ambiguous﴾ that is, the meaning may not be clear to many people, because the wording is very general, or they may be misunderstood by some. To sum up, some of the verses are clear to everyone, and they are the majority that form the reference point for others; and there are other verses which may be unclear to some people. In that case what they must do is refer that which is ambiguous to that which is definitive, and that which is unclear to that which is clear. In that way, one will find that some parts of the Book confirm others and there will be no contradiction or conflict in meaning. But people are divided into two groups:

﴿but those in whose hearts is deviation﴾ that is, an inclination away from righteousness because of corrupt motives; their aim is to follow misguidance. Their hearts have deviated from the path of guidance. ﴿follow the part thereof that is ambiguous﴾ that is, they forsake what is definitive and clear, and go to that which is ambiguous. Thus they approach the matter backwards, trying to interpret that which is definitive in the light of what they want to understand from the ambiguous verses, which results in confusion.

﴿seeking [to cause] confusion﴾ to those whom they call to follow them, because that which is ambiguous may be interpreted in such a way as to cause confusion due to its ambiguous nature. However, that which is clear and definitive cannot be a cause of confusion, because the true meaning is clear to anyone who seeks to follow the truth.

﴿and seeking an interpretation [that suits them]. But no one knows its [true] interpretation except Allah﴾. There are two opinions among the commentators as to whether the sentence ends with the word ﴿Allah﴾. The majority are of the view that it does end there; others are of the view that it continues, so that what is meant is, “But no one knows its [true] interpretation except Allah and those who are firmly grounded in knowledge.” Both meanings are possible. If interpretation is aimed at finding out the truth about the matter and its real nature, then the correct opinion is to stop at the phrase ﴿except Allah﴾, because Allah has kept knowledge of the true meaning of the ambiguous verses to Himself, as in the case of the exact nature of the attributes of Allah and how they are, and the exact nature of the events that will occur on the Last Day, and so on. These are matters the true nature of which is known only to Allah. It is not permissible to try to understand the nature of these things, because that is something that cannot be known. Imam Mâlik (may Allah have mercy on him) was asked about the verse:

﴿The Most Gracious rose over the Throne [in a manner that befits His Majesty]﴾. ﴿(Tā Hâ 20: 5)﴾

The questioner said: How did He rise over it? Imam Mâlik said: The rising over is known (in linguistic terms), how (with regard to Allah) is not known, belief in it is obligatory, and asking about its nature is an innovation (bid'ah).

Something similar may be said concerning all the divine attributes to one who asks how they are; he should be told something similar to what Imam Mâlik said: that the attribute is known, but how it is, is not known; believing in it is obligatory and asking about its nature is an innovation. Allah has told us of it but He has not told us how it is. So we must be content with the limit that He has set for us. But those who have devious inclinations seek out these ambiguous and unclear matters and seek to discuss that which does not concern them; they put effort into trying to understand that which we cannot comprehend, because no one knows it except Allah. Those who are firmly grounded in knowledge believe in it, but they leave the meaning to Allah; they leave it to Him and thus are safe. However, if what is meant by interpretation is explanation and clarification, then the correct view is to connect ﴿those who are firmly grounded in knowledge﴾ to ﴿Allah﴾. Thus we may understand that interpreting that which is ambiguous in the light of that which is definitive, and removing the ambiguity, is a process that no one knows except Allah and those who are well grounded in knowledge. Hence they believe in it and refer it to the definitive texts and say: ﴿all of it﴾, both the definitive and ambiguous texts ﴿is from our Lord﴾, and there can be no contradiction in that which is from Him; rather it is harmonious, and some parts of it confirm and support one another. This points to an important major principle, which is that if they know that all of it is from Allah, and they are not sure about the exact meaning of an ambiguous verse, they know for certain that it is to be referred to the definitive verses, even if they do not know how to go about doing that. As Allah encourages people to submit to Him and believe in His rulings, and He has warned against following that which is ambiguous, He says:

﴿None will pay heed﴾ that is, no one will understand the admonition of Allah and accept His advice and teachings except ﴿people of understanding﴾ that is, people of sound reasoning, who are the best of people and the elite among the sons of Adam. The admonition reaches their minds, so they pay attention to what will benefit them and they do it, and they take note of what will harm them and they avoid it. But in the case of others, they are like dross in which there is no benefit and which produces nothing. No rebuke or reminder will benefit them because they are devoid of reason.

Then Allah (ﷻ) tells us about those who are firmly grounded in knowledge: they call upon Him and say: ﴿Our Lord, do not let our hearts deviate now after You have guided us﴾ that is, do not cause our hearts to incline away from the truth out of ignorance or stubbornness on our part; rather cause us to follow the straight path, to be guided and to guide others; make us steadfast in adhering to Your guidance and keep us safe from that which those who deviate suffer

﴿and bestow upon us mercy from Yourself﴾ that is, grant mercy by means of which You guide us to that which will help us to do good and will protect us from evil

﴿for You are the Bestower﴾ that is, You give in abundance and are very kind; Your generosity reaches all created beings.

﴿Our Lord, You will gather all people on the day of which there is no doubt; for Allah does not break His promise﴾. He will requite them for their deeds, both good and bad. Allah (ﷻ) praises those who are firmly grounded in knowledge for having seven attributes, which are the key to happiness. They are:

- 1- Knowledge which is the way to reach Allah, for it explains His rulings and laws.
- 2- Deep knowledge, which does not refer to merely having some knowledge. Rather the one who has deep knowledge is the scholarly person who has certain knowledge and practises precise scholarship. Allah has taught him the apparent and hidden meanings (with regard to the rulings and so on). He is deeply immersed in the wisdom of Sharia in terms of knowing, shaping his character and acting upon it.
- 3- Allah describes such people as believers in His Book in its entirety, for they refer that which is ambiguous to that which is definitive. ﴿We believe in [the Book]; all of it is from our Lord﴾.
- 4- They ask Allah for well-being and protection from that which those who deviate suffer.
- 5- They acknowledge the blessings of Allah for having bestowed guidance upon them, as they say: ﴿Our Lord, do not let our hearts deviate now after You have guided us﴾.
- 6- Nevertheless, they ask Him for His mercy which leads to all that is good and wards off all that is evil. They seek His mercy by virtue of His name the Bestower (al-Wahhâb).
- 7- Allah tells us of their faith and certainty in the Day of Resurrection, and their fear of Him. This is what should motivate them to strive to protect themselves from falling into error.

Then Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿إِنَّ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا لَنْ تُغْنِيَ عَنْهُمْ أَمْوَالُهُمْ وَلَا أَوْلَادُهُمْ مِنَ اللَّهِ شَيْئًا وَأُولَٰئِكَ هُمْ وَقُودُ النَّارِ﴾ (٦) ﴿كَذَٰبِ ۖ آلِ فِرْعَوْنَ ۖ وَالَّذِينَ مِنْ قَبْلِهِمْ ۖ كَذَّبُوا بِآيَاتِنَا فَآخَذَهُمُ اللَّهُ بِذُنُوبِهِمْ ۗ وَاللَّهُ شَدِيدُ الْعِقَابِ﴾ (١١) ﴿قُلْ لِلَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا سَتْغْلَبُونَ وَتُحْشَرُونَ إِلَىٰ

جَهَنَّمَ وَيَنْسَ الْمِهَادُ ﴿١٢﴾ قَدْ كَانَ لَكُمْ آيَةٌ فِي فِئَتَيْنِ الْتَقَتَا فِئَةٌ تُقَاتِلُ فِي
 سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ وَأُخْرَى كَافِرَةٌ يَرَوْنَهُمْ مِنْ لَدُنْهُمْ رَأَى الْعَيْنُ وَاللَّهُ يُؤَيِّدُ بِنَصَرِهِ
 مَنْ يَشَاءُ إِنَّ فِي ذَلِكَ لَعِبْرَةً لِقَوْمٍ الْأَبْصَارِ ﴿١٣﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٠-١٣)

- 3:10. As for those who disbelieve, neither their wealth nor their children will avail them at all against Allah; it is they who will be fuel for the fire,
- 3:11. as was the case with the people of Pharaoh and those who came before them. They rejected Our signs, and Allah seized them because of their sins. For Allah is severe in punishment.
- 3:12. Say to the disbelievers: You will be defeated and driven together to hell – what a wretched resting-place.
- 3:13. There has already been for you a sign in the two groups that met [in combat]: one was fighting in the cause of Allah, the other disbelieving [in Allah]; they saw them with their own eyes twice their number. But Allah supports with His help whomever He wills. In this is a lesson for those who have insight.

Here Allah tells us that those who disbelieve in Him and His Messengers, and reject His religion and His Book, are deserving of punishment, and indeed the most severe punishment, for their disbelief and their sins; their wealth and their children will not avail them at all, even though in this world they may be useful in warding off some of these calamities that may befall them. They say:

﴿...We are more abundant in wealth and children, and we are not going to be punished.﴾ (Saba' 34: 35)

– but on the Day of Resurrection there will appear to them from Allah that which they had not reckoned on.

﴿The evil consequences of what they have earned will become apparent to them, and the very thing [punishment] they used to ridicule will overwhelm them.﴾ (az-Zumar 39: 48)

Children and wealth will have no value before Allah; rather what will benefit a person will be his faith in Allah and his righteous deeds, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿It is not your wealth or your children that bring you nearer to Us; but those who believe and do righteous deeds – it is they who will have a multiple reward for their deeds, and they will dwell secure in the high places in paradise.﴾ (Saba' 34: 37)

Here Allah tells us that the disbelievers are the fuel of hellfire, and they are the ones who will remain therein forever. That is the situation in which Allah says that no wealth or children will avail the disbelievers at all. This is the way in which Allah dealt with previous nations, as happened to Pharaoh, those who came before him and those who came after him of transgressors and tyrants, who had much wealth and many troops under their control, when they disbelieved in the signs of Allah and stubbornly denied the message that the Messengers brought. Allah seized them because of their sins, on the basis of justice on His part, not injustice. Allah punishes severely those who do that which incurs the punishment, namely disbelief and sins of various types and degrees of severity.

﴿Say﴾ O Muhammad (ﷺ) ﴿to the disbelievers: You will be defeated and driven together to hell – what a wretched resting-place﴾. This indicates that the believers will prevail; it is also a warning to the disbelievers. And it came to pass as Allah foretold; He granted victory to the believers over their enemies, the disbelievers among the polytheists, Jews and Christians, and He will continue to do this for His believing slaves and troops until the Day of Resurrection. In this there is a lesson; it is one of the visible miracles of the Qur'an. Allah tells us that in addition to being defeated in this world, the disbelievers will also be gathered on the Day of Resurrection in the abode of perdition. This is what they have brought upon themselves, and what a wretched resting-place and bad recompense will be theirs.

«There has already been for you a sign» that is, a great lesson «in the two groups that met [in combat]» on the day of Badr «one was fighting in the cause of Allah» namely the Messenger (ﷺ) and his Companions «the other disbelieving [in Allah]» namely the disbelievers of Quraysh who came out of their homes in insolence and arrogance, aiming to show off and to bar people from the path of Allah. Allah brought the two groups together at Badr, and the polytheists were many times greater in number than the believers. Hence Allah says: «they saw them with their own eyes twice their number» that is, the believers saw that the disbelievers were much more numerous than them, double their number or more; this is confirmed by the words «with their own eyes». But Allah helped and supported the believers, so they defeated (the enemy), killed their leaders and captured many of them. That only came about because Allah supports those who support His cause and humiliates those who disbelieve in Him. In this there is a lesson for those who have insight and sound reasoning, that the group that prevails is in the right and the other group is in the wrong; otherwise if one only examines and compares the number and arms of the two sides as they appear to be, he will be certain that it is impossible for this small group to prevail over this large group. But in addition to these visible means, there are greater means that lie beyond them and cannot be comprehended except by people of insight, who believe in Allah, put their trust in Him and have the confidence that He will suffice. Those greater means are His help and support that He gives to His believing slaves against His disbelieving enemies.

- 3:14. Fair-seeming to men is the love of pleasures, such as women and sons, heaped-up hoards of gold and silver, fine horses, and livestock and well-tilled land. These are the enjoyments of the life of this world; but with Allah is the best place to return to.
- 3:15. Say: Shall I tell you of something better than that? For those who are pious, there are gardens with their Lord, through which rivers flow, where they will abide forever, with pure spouses and the good pleasure of Allah. Allah is fully aware of His slaves,
- 3:16. those who say: Our Lord! We have indeed believed; forgive us, then, our sins, and protect us from the punishment of the fire:
- 3:17. Those who are patient, those who are truthful, those who are truly devout, those who are charitable, those who pray for forgiveness before dawn.

Here Allah tells us that love of worldly pleasures has been made fair-seeming to people. The things mentioned are singled out because they are the greatest pleasures in this world, and others are secondary to them. Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Verily, We have made all that is on earth as an adornment for it...﴾
 (al-Kahf 18: 7)

As the things mentioned have been made fair-seeming to them, because of the excitement they generate, people become attached to them and their hearts become inclined to them, therefore they were divided into two groups according to their attitude towards these things. One group made pursuit of these things their main aim, thus it became the focal point of their thoughts, ideas and actions both visible and hidden, and it distracted them from the purpose for which they were created; they became like grazing animals, enjoying these pleasures and indulging their desires, not caring in what manner they acquired these things or disposed of them. For these people, these things became a cause of their ending up in the realm of suffering and torment. The second group understood the purpose of these things and realised that Allah has made them as a test and a trial for His slaves, so that it may be known who will give precedence to obeying and pleasing Him over his own pleasures and desires. In this case, they have made it a means of attaining success in the hereafter, and they enjoy what they enjoy in a manner that helps them to obey Him. Physically they are dealing with these things but their focus of mind is on something else. They understand that these things are as Allah says: «the enjoyments of the life of this world», so they take them as a means of reaching the hereafter and their ḥasanāt (righteous deeds) increase thereby, thus giving them provision to help them in their journey towards their Lord.

This verse offers consolation to the poor who cannot afford these pleasures that the rich can afford. It is also a warning to those who are deceived by them and get carried away, and it discourages people of intelligence from pursuing them. This is followed by mention of the permanent abode and ultimate destination of the pious and righteous; Allah tells us that it is better than what is mentioned here, because in it there are lofty gardens with elegant dwellings and high chambers, various kinds of trees bearing all kinds of fruit, flowing rivers that will go wherever they want, and pure spouses who are free of any dirt, impurity or faults, visible or hidden; they will abide therein forever, thus their joy will be complete. Moreover, they will attain the pleasure of Allah which is the greatest blessing. Compare this sublime abode with the ignoble realm, then choose for yourself which is better.

﴿Allah is fully aware of His slaves﴾ that is, He knows what they have of good qualities and bad qualities, and what is best suited to their condition, so He helps whomever He wills among them and He leaves whomever He wills to his own devices.

Allah describes paradise perfectly, and He describes those who deserve it, namely those who fear Him by doing what He has enjoined and refraining from what He has forbidden. Part of their supplication is: ﴿Our Lord! We have indeed believed; forgive us, then, our sins, and protect us from the punishment of the fire﴾. They seek to draw closer to Allah by virtue of His favour upon them, as He guided them to believe, and they beseech Him to forgive them for their sins and to protect them from the evil consequences thereof, which is the punishment of the fire. Then He discusses further the nature of their piety or fear of Him:

﴿Those who are patient﴾ that is, they are steadfast in doing that which Allah loves of acts of obedience, and in refraining from disobedience towards Him; they bear with patience the divine decrees that cause them pain

﴿those who are truthful﴾ that is, sincere in faith and truthful in all they do and say

﴿those who are charitable﴾ and spend from that which Allah has provided to them on various causes to help the needy among their relatives and others

﴿those who pray for forgiveness before dawn﴾. Among their praiseworthy characteristics is their thinking little of themselves; they do not regard themselves as good enough or as being of any status; rather they regard themselves as sinners who fall short, so they seek forgiveness from their Lord and look for the times when supplications are more likely to be answered, such as the time before dawn. Al-Ḥaṣan said, “They extended their (night) prayers until dawn, then they sat asking their Lord for forgiveness.” This passage speaks of how people are inclined towards the life of this world, then points out that it is nothing more than conveniences that will soon come to an end; this is followed by a description of paradise which is filled with delights. Thus the contrast between this world and the hereafter, and the superiority of the hereafter over this world, is highlighted, in order to point out that people should give precedence to the hereafter and strive for it. The people of paradise are described as pious, then the characteristics of piety are outlined so that one may measure oneself against that and see whether he is one of the people of paradise or not.

﴿ شَهِدَ اللَّهُ أَنَّهُ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا هُوَ وَالْمَلَائِكَةُ وَأُولُو الْعِلْمِ قَالِمًا بِالْقِسْطِ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا هُوَ الْعَزِيزُ الْحَكِيمُ ﴾ (١٨) إِنَّ الَّذِينَ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ الْأَسْلَمُ وَمَا اخْتَلَفَ الَّذِينَ أُوتُوا الْكِتَابَ إِلَّا مِنْ بَعْدِ مَا جَاءَهُمُ الْعِلْمُ بَيْنَهُمْ وَمَنْ يَكْفُرْ يَتَّيْتُ اللَّهُ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ سَرِيعُ الْحِسَابِ ﴿١٩﴾ فَإِنْ حَاجُّوكَ فَقُلْ أَسْلَمْتُ وَجْهِيَ لِلَّهِ وَمَنِ اتَّبَعَنِ وَقُلْ لِلَّذِينَ أُوتُوا الْكِتَابَ وَالْأُمِّيَّةَ أَسْلَمْتُمْ فَإِنْ أَسْلَمُوا فَقَدِ اهْتَدَوْا وَإِنْ تَوَلَّوْا فَإِنَّمَا عَلَيْكَ الْبَلَاءُ وَاللَّهُ بَصِيرٌ بِالْعِبَادِ ﴿٢٠﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٨-٢٠)

- 3:18. Allah bears witness that there is no god but He, as do His angels and people of knowledge; He is the upholder of justice. There is no god but He, the Almighty, the Most Wise.
- 3:19. Verily the true religion in the sight of Allah is Islam. Those who were given the scripture did not differ except after knowledge had come to them, out of mutual envy and rivalry. But if any disbelieve in the revelations of Allah, then Allah is swift in reckoning.
- 3:20. So if they dispute with you, say: I have submitted my whole self to Allah and so have those who follow me. And say to those who were given the scripture and to the unlettered: Do you [also] submit yourselves? If they do, then they are rightly guided, but if they turn away, your duty is only to convey the message. Allah is fully aware of His slaves.

This is an affirmation from Allah (ﷻ) of His oneness (tawḥeed) in the strongest terms, because it is the testimony of Allah Himself and of the best of His creation, namely the angels and the people of knowledge. The testimony of Allah is based on definitive proof and evidence that point to His being one and that there is no God but He; the type of evidence that is found in the universe and in people's own creation points to this great principle (that there is only one God). If there was no evidence other than the fact that no one affirms His oneness but Allah supports him against the polytheists who deny His oneness, His great grace in that there is no blessing that people enjoy but it is from Him, the fact that no one could ward off harm except Him, and that all people are unable to bring benefits or cause harm to themselves or others – then this would be definitive proof of the oneness of Allah and the invalidity of associating others with Him. As for the testimony of the angels to that effect, we learn it from what Allah has told us about it and what His Messengers have told us. As for the testimony of the people of knowledge, that is because they are the reference point to be consulted in all religious matters, especially the most important, greatest and noblest matter, namely affirming the oneness of Allah (tawḥeed). All of them, from the first one to the last, agreed on that, called people to it and showed them the way that leads to it. So people are obliged to adhere to this matter (tawḥeed), concerning which testimony was given, and to act upon it. This indicates that the noblest of matters is knowledge of tawḥeed, because Allah has testified to it Himself and the best of His creation have also testified to it; testimony can only be based on knowledge and certainty. This indicates that whoever has not reached that level in knowledge of tawḥeed is not one of the people of knowledge.

This verse highlights the importance of knowledge from many angles, such as the following:

- Allah singled them (the people of knowledge) out for the honour of testifying to the most important matter to which anyone may testify (namely tawḥeed).
- Allah mentioned their testimony alongside His own and that of the angels, which is sufficient honour.
- He describes them as people of knowledge, as they are the ones who are carrying this knowledge.
- He describes them as witnesses and proof against people, and made it binding upon people to adhere to the matter that was witnessed; thus Allah made them the cause of people adhering to belief in His oneness, so whoever follows that, the scholars will get part of the reward for it. This is the bounty of Allah that He bestows upon whomever He will.
- The fact that He includes the people of knowledge among the witnesses implies that they are praiseworthy and of good character, and that they are trustworthy and able to take care of that which He entrusted to them (namely affirmation of His oneness). As He affirmed His oneness, He also affirmed His justice and said: ﴿He is the upholder of justice﴾ that is, He is always just and fair in all His actions and in the disposal of His slaves' affairs. He is indeed on a straight path in what He enjoins and forbids, and what He creates and decrees. Then He reiterates the affirmation of His oneness: ﴿There is no god but He, the Almighty, the Most Wise﴾.

It should be noted that this principle, which is affirmation of the oneness of Allah and worshipping Him alone, is supported by textual evidence and by rational evidence, thus it becomes clearer than daylight to those who have deep insight.

With regard to textual evidence, everything in the Book of Allah and the Sunnah of His Messenger (ﷺ) that enjoins and affirms belief in His oneness, and speaks of loving those who believe in it and hating those who do not believe in it, punishing them (the disbelievers), and condemns polytheism and those who believe in it, comes under the heading of textual evidence; almost the entire Qur'an affirms that. With regard to rational evidence, that may be understood just by thinking, contemplating and pondering, the Qur'an refers to that and points out much of this evidence.

One of the most important principles is acknowledging the Lordship (ruboobiyah) of Allah. The one who realises that He is the Creator, Provider and Controller of all things will reach the conclusion that He is the only One Who is to be worshipped, and worship should be directed only to Him. As this is the clearest and most important of matters, Allah (ﷻ) reiterates this evidence frequently in His Book. Another example of rational evidence that Allah is the only One to be worshipped, to the exclusion of all others, is that He alone bestows blessings and wards off harm. The one who realises that blessings, both apparent and hidden, great and small, come from Allah and that there is no harm, hardship or distress but He is the only One Who can ward it off, and that no one in creation has the power to bring benefit to or ward off harm from himself, let alone anyone else, will reach the certain conclusion that worshipping anything other than Allah is the falsest of falsehood and that worship should only be for the only One Who can bring benefits and ward off harm. Hence Allah often highlights this point in His Book. A further example of rational evidence to that effect is what Allah has told us about other deities that were worshipped instead of Him: they have no power to bring benefit or cause harm; they cannot help anyone else or even help themselves; they have no power of hearing and seeing; even if it is assumed that they can hear, it would avail them nothing; and they have other attributes which are indicative of their utter imperfection. What Allah has told us about Himself, of His majestic attributes, sublime actions, might, power and other attributes may be known from textual and rational evidence. The one who truly knows that knows that it is not befitting or appropriate to worship any but the Almighty Lord to Whom belong all perfection, all glory, all praise, all might and all pride; it is not befitting to worship created beings that are subject to control, imperfect, deaf and dumb, and have no understanding. Further rational evidence to that effect is found in what people see with their own eyes in the past and at present of how Allah honours those who affirm His oneness, and humiliates and punishes those who associate others with Him. That is because Allah has made affirming His oneness a means of attaining all that is good and warding off all that is harmful in both spiritual and worldly terms. He has made associating others with Him and disbelief a means of incurring punishment in both spiritual and worldly terms. Hence when He mentions the stories of the Messengers and their interactions with nations who were obedient or disobedient, and He tells us about the punishment of the disobedient and the salvation of the Messengers and those who followed them, after each story He says:

﴿...Surely, in that there is a sign...﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 248)

– that is, a lesson that may be understood by those who reflect, for they will understand that belief in His oneness is the only way to attain salvation, and failure to do that leads to doom. This is the main rational and textual evidence that points to this important principle. Allah mentions it a great deal in His Book in various ways, so that the one who chooses faith will do so on the basis of clear evidence, and the one who chooses disbelief would do so despite the evidence that had been made clear to him. To Allah be all praise and thanks.

Then He affirms that He is the True God Who deserves to be worshipped, and He explains the religion through which people should worship Him and submit to Him; that is Islam, which is submission to Allah by declaring His oneness and obeying Him. This is the religion to which His Messengers called people and which is prescribed in His Books. No other religion is accepted from anyone. It is the religion that is based on sincerity towards Him in terms of love, fear, hope, turning to Him, beseeching Him and following His Messenger in all of that. This is the religion of all the Messengers; anyone who follows them is on their path. The People of the Book only differed after their Books had come to them, urging them to unite in following the religion of Allah, but they only differed out of enmity, envy and rivalry amongst themselves. Otherwise there had come to them the greatest reason that should have motivated them to follow the truth and give up dissent. This was the result of their disbelief, hence Allah (ﷻ) said: ﴿Those who were given the scripture did not differ except after knowledge had come to them, out of mutual envy and rivalry. But if any disbelieve in the revelations of Allah, then Allah is swift in reckoning﴾. Allah will requite each person for his deeds, especially those who abandon the truth after having come to know it. Such a one deserves the stern warning and the painful punishment.

Then Allah (ﷻ) commanded His Messenger (ﷺ), when debating with the Christians and others who preferred a religion other than Islam, to say to them: ﴿I have submitted my whole self to Allah and so have those who follow me﴾ that is, I and those who followed me have affirmed and testified and submitted our own selves to our Lord; we have forsaken any religion other than the religion of Islam and we are certain that they (other religions) are false. This is aimed at making them lose hope of winning you over to their religion and reinforcing your beliefs when you come across specious arguments. It also offers proof to the one who is confused, because, as stated above, Allah referred to the testimony of the people of knowledge among His slaves to His oneness, so that they may provide evidence against others. The leader of the people of knowledge, the best of them and the most knowledgeable is our Prophet Muhammad (ﷺ), then after him come his followers of different levels. They are possessed of sound knowledge and mature thinking that is unmatched by anyone else; no one else even comes close to it. Once the oneness of Allah and

His religion, to which the best and most knowledgeable of creation (the Prophet ﷺ) devoted himself, are proven on the basis of clear evidence, certainty will be attained and all doubts and uncertainty will be dispelled, and one will realise that all other religions are false. Hence Allah says: ﴿And say to those who were given the scripture﴾, namely the Christians and the Jews ﴿and to the unlettered﴾ namely the polytheists among the Arabs and others: ﴿Do you [also] submit yourselves? If they do﴾ that is, if they believe the same as you believe, ﴿then they are rightly guided﴾ as you are rightly guided, and they become your brothers with the same rights and duties as you have. ﴿but if they turn away﴾ from Islam, and are content with other religions, ﴿your duty is only to convey the message﴾ and your reward is due from your Lord. Proof has been established against them and there is nothing left after that but the requital of punishment for their sins. Hence Allah says: ﴿Allah is fully aware of His slaves﴾.

الَّذِينَ يَأْمُرُونَ بِالْقِسْطِ مِنَ النَّاسِ فَبَشِّرْهُمْ بِعَذَابٍ أَلِيمٍ
﴿١١﴾ أُولَٰئِكَ الَّذِينَ حِطَّتْ أَعْمَالُهُمْ فِي الدُّنْيَا وَالْآخِرَةِ وَمَا لَهُمْ مِنْ
نَاصِرِينَ ﴿١٢﴾﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ٢١-٢٢)

- 3:21. As to those who reject the revelations of Allah and unjustifiably slay the Prophets, and slay those of humankind who enjoin justice among the people, give them the tidings of a painful punishment.
- 3:22. They are those whose deeds will come to nothing in this world or in the hereafter and they will have no helpers.

These are the ones of whom Allah tells us, in this verse, that they are the worst of people in terms of sin, and what sin can be worse than rejecting the revelations of Allah which are definitive proof of the truth? Those who reject them are the worst in terms of disbelief and stubbornness; they killed the Prophets of Allah who have the greatest rights over people after Allah, for Allah enjoined that they should be obeyed, believed, respected, honoured and supported. But these people did the opposite of that; they also killed those who enjoined justice upon people, which is enjoining what is good and forbidding what is evil, which in fact is kindness and sincerity to the ones to whom this advice is addressed. But they responded in the worst manner, and thus they deserve the worst punishment for this evil offence; that is the most indescribably painful and severe punishment, one that hurts bodies, hearts and souls. Moreover, their deeds are rendered invalid because of what their hands have earned and they will have no one to help them against the punishment of Allah or to ward off His wrath and punishment in the slightest. Rather, they will lose hope of all good, and everything that is evil or harmful will befall them. This applies to the Jews and others like them, whom Allah has cursed for their audacity against Allah, His Prophets and His righteous slaves.

- 3:23. Have you not seen those who have been given a portion of the Book? They are invited to the Book of Allah, so it may judge between them, but a group of them turn away in aversion.
- 3:24. That is because they say: The fire will only touch us for a few days. Thus the lies they fabricated have deceived them with regard to their own religion.
- 3:25. But how [will they fare] when We gather them together on a day about which there is no doubt, and each soul will be paid in full for what it has earned, and none will be wronged?

Here Allah tells us about the People of the Book whom Allah blessed with His Book. It was incumbent upon them to be those who most closely adhered to it and were quickest to submit to its rulings. But, Allah tells us, when they are called to comply with the ruling of the Book, some of them turn away in aversion; they turn away physically and mentally. That is the utmost criticism which contains an implicit warning to us, lest we do what they did, in which case we would be subject to the same criticism and punishment. Rather what is required of everyone, if he is called to the Book of Allah, is to hear and obey, and submit, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿The only response of the believers, when they are called to Allah and His Messenger so that he may judge between them, is to say: We hear and we obey...﴾ (an-Noor 24: 51)

The reason why the People of the Book were deceived into such audacity in disobeying Allah is that they said: ﴿The fire will only touch us for a few days. Thus the lies they fabricated have deceived them with regard to their own religion﴾. They fabricated these words and thought that they were true, so they based their actions on that and did not refrain from falling into sin, because they had developed wishful thinking; they were deceived by thinking that their ultimate destiny was paradise, but they were lying for that was no more than lies and fabrications. Rather their ultimate destiny is the worst of destinies, and the consequences of their actions will be extremely severe. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿But how [will they fare] when We gather them together on a day about which there is no doubt﴾ that is, how will they be when they are faced with the evil consequences of their deeds on that day? Their situation will be indescribably and unimaginably awful, because that day is the day when all people will be paid in full for what they earned; the requital will be on the basis of justice, not injustice. It is already established that the requital will be in accordance with the deeds. We have seen above that some of their deeds indicate that they will be among those who are most severely punished.

- 3:26. Say: O Allah, Lord of all dominion, You grant dominion to whomever You will, and You take away dominion from whomever You will; You grant honour to whomever You will, and You humiliate whomever You will. In Your Hand is all good. Verily, You have power over all things.
- 3:27. You cause the night to encroach upon the day, and the day to encroach upon the night; You bring forth the living from the dead, and You bring forth the dead from the living; and You grant provision to whomever You will without measure.

Here Allah says to His Prophet (ﷺ): ﴿Say: O Allah, Lord of all dominion﴾ that is, You are the Sovereign, the Lord of all realms; absolute possession and control is only for You; all realms, in heaven and on earth, are Yours and all control is Yours. Then Allah highlights some of the ways in which He alone controls all affairs, as He says: ﴿You grant dominion to whomever You will, and You take away dominion from whomever You will﴾. This indicated that Allah (ﷻ) would take away dominion from Caesar and Chosroes and those who followed them, and would give it to the Ummah of Muhammad (ﷺ). And Allah did indeed do that, to Him be praise. Dominion may be granted or taken away in accordance with the will of Allah (ﷻ). This does not contradict the laws of cause and effect, whether in universal or religious terms, that what Allah has decreed should be the means of attaining, keeping or losing dominion. All of that is connected to the will of Allah, and there is no cause or measure that can lead independently to the effect; rather all causes are connected to the divine will and decree. Among the causes that Allah has decreed should be means of attaining dominion are faith and righteous deeds, unity among the Muslims, preparing whatever weapons can be acquired, being patient and avoiding division. Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Allah has promised those among you who believe and do righteous deeds that He will surely make them successors [to power] in the land, as He made those before them successors...﴾ (an-Noor 24: 55)

Thus Allah tells us that faith and righteous deeds are the means of attaining power, as mentioned in this verse. Allah says:

﴿...He it is Who strengthened you with His help and with [the support of] the believers. He brought their hearts together...﴾ (an-Anfāl 8: 62-63)

﴿O you who believe, when you meet an [enemy] troop, stand firm and remember Allah much, so that you may triumph. And obey Allah and His Messenger, and do not dispute, lest you lose heart and your strength desert you. And be steadfast, for Allah is with those who are steadfast.﴾ (al-Anfāl 8: 45-46)

Here Allah tells us that the unity and steadfastness of the believers, and their avoidance of division, are the means of attaining victory over their enemies. If you study the history of Muslim nations, you will find that the main cause of their decline is drifting away from Islam and division amongst themselves, which encouraged their enemies to attack them and made them turn against one another.

Then Allah says: ﴿You grant honour to whomever You will﴾ by virtue of his obedience to You ﴿and You humiliate whomever You will﴾ because of his disobedience towards You.

﴿Verily, You have power over all things﴾ and nothing is beyond You; rather all things are under Your control and power.

﴿You cause the night to encroach upon the day, and the day to encroach upon the night﴾ that is, You cause the one to encroach upon the other, and vice versa, which results in the change of seasons, light, sunshine, shade, stagnation and spreading out. This is one of the greatest signs of Allah's might, greatness, wisdom and mercy.

﴿You bring forth the living from the dead﴾, such as the chicken from the egg, trees and crops from the seeds, the believer from the disbeliever

﴿and You bring forth the dead from the living﴾ such as the egg from the bird, the seed from the tree, the grain from the crop, the disbeliever from the believer. This is the greatest sign of Allah's might, which demonstrates that all things are subjugated and are controlled, and nothing has any control over anything. The fact that Allah (ﷻ) created opposites, and created some things from their opposites, indicates that all things are subjugated to His control.

﴿and You grant provision to whomever You will without measure﴾ that is, You grant abundant provision to whomever You will, from sources he never thought of and never earned anything from them before.

﴿لَا يَتَّخِذِ الْمُؤْمِنُونَ الْكَافِرِينَ أَوْلِيَاءَ مِنْ دُونِ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ وَمَنْ يَفْعَلْ ذَلِكَ فَلَيْسَ مِنَ اللَّهِ فِي شَيْءٍ إِلَّا أَنْ تَخَفُوا مِنْهُمْ تَقَةً وَيُحَذِّرُكُمُ اللَّهُ نَفْسَهُ وَإِلَى اللَّهِ الْمَصِيرُ﴾ (٢٨) قُلْ إِنْ تَخَفُوا مَا فِي صُدُورِكُمْ أَوْ بُشِّرُوا بِمَا عَلَّمَهُ اللَّهُ وَيَعْلَمُ مَا فِي السَّمَوَاتِ وَمَا فِي الْأَرْضِ وَاللَّهُ عَلَى كُلِّ شَيْءٍ قَدِيرٌ ﴿٢٩﴾ يَوْمَ تَجِدُ كُلُّ نَفْسٍ مَا عَمِلَتْ مِنْ خَيْرٍ مُخَضَّرًا وَمَا عَمِلَتْ مِنْ سُوءٍ تَوَدُّ لَوْ أَنَّ بَيْنَهَا وَبَيْنَهُ أَمَدًا بَعِيدًا وَيُحَذِّرُكُمُ اللَّهُ نَفْسَهُ وَاللَّهُ رَءُوفٌ بِالْعِبَادِ ﴿٣٠﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ٢٨-٣٠)

- 3:28. Let not the believers take for allies disbelievers instead of believers, for anyone who does that has no connection with Allah at all, except when you need to protect yourselves from them. Allah admonishes you to fear Him, for to Allah is the return [of all].
- 3:29. Say: Whether you conceal what is in your hearts or disclose it, Allah knows it all: He knows what is in the heavens and what is on earth. And Allah has power over all things.
- 3:30. On the day when every soul will find itself faced with all the good it has done, and all the evil it has done, it will wish there were a great distance between it and its evil. But Allah admonishes you to fear Him. And Allah is Most Compassionate towards His slaves.

Here Allah forbids the believers to take the disbelievers as allies, close friends or supporters, seeking their help in any matter pertaining to the Muslims, and He issues a stern warning against doing that: «anyone who does that has no connection with Allah at all» that is, he is cut off from Allah and has no share in the religion of Allah, because taking disbelievers as allies and close friends is contradictory to faith. That is because faith enjoins taking Allah and His close friends, the believers, as allies, helping one another to establish the religion of Allah and fighting in jihad against His enemies. Allah (ﷻ) says:

(at-Tawbah 9: 71)

So whoever takes the disbelievers as allies instead of the believers, aligning himself with those who want to extinguish the light of Allah and persecute His close friends, has left the party of the believers and joined the party of the disbelievers. Allah (ﷻ) says:

This verse indicates that we should keep our distance from the disbelievers, not mix with them, befriend them, incline towards them or trust them; the disbeliever should not be appointed to a position of authority over the Muslims and his help should not be sought in matters pertaining to the public interests of the Muslims.

﴿except when you need to protect yourselves from them﴾ that is, when you fear for your lives, then it is permissible to do that which will protect you by saying or making a show of that which will bring about protection.

﴿Allah admonishes you to fear Him﴾ that is, do not expose yourselves to His wrath by committing sins for which He will punish you.

﴿for to Allah is the return [of all]﴾ that is, all people will return to Him on the Day of Resurrection, when He will examine their deeds, bring them to account for them, and requite them accordingly. So beware of doing abhorrent deeds that will incur punishment; rather do that which will bring reward. Then Allah tells us of the vastness of His knowledge, which encompasses what is in their hearts in particular, and what is in heaven and on earth in general; and of the perfect nature of His power, which indicates that people should strive to purify their hearts and bear in mind the knowledge of Allah at all times, so that the individual will feel too shy before his Lord to let Him see his heart filled with bad thoughts; rather he will focus his thoughts on that which will bring him closer to Allah, such as pondering a verse of the Qur'an or a hadith of the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ), or thinking of and seeking knowledge that may benefit him, or contemplating the creation and blessings of Allah, or offering sincere advice to the slaves of Allah. It is appropriate, in the context of Allah informing us of His knowledge and power, to speak of what implies the requital for deeds, which will take place on the Day of Resurrection, when people will be requited in full for their deeds. Hence Allah says:

﴿On the day when every soul will find itself faced with all the good it has done﴾ that is, in full and complete, not lacking in the slightest, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿So whoever does an atom's weight of good will see it.﴾ (az-Zalzalah 99: 7)

The word good (khayr) refers to everything that brings one closer to Allah of righteous deeds both great and small; similarly, the word evil (saw') refers to everything that incurs the wrath of Allah of bad deeds both great and small.

﴿and all the evil it has done, it will wish there were a great distance between it and its evil﴾, because of its great sorrow and regret. So people should beware of doing evil deeds that will inevitably lead to great regret, and give them up in this world whilst they are still able to do so, before one says:

﴿...Alas! I neglected my duty towards Allah...﴾ (az-Zumar 39: 56)

﴿On that day, those who disbelieved and disobeyed the Messenger will wish that the earth could be levelled over them...﴾ (an-Nisā' 4: 42)

﴿On that day, the wrongdoer will bite on his hands and say: Would that I had taken a path with the Messenger.﴾ (al-Furqān 25: 27)

﴿Then when [such a one] comes to Us, he will say [to his devil companion]: Would that there was between me and you the distance between east and west. What a wretched companion! ﴿ (az-Zukhruf 43: 38)

By Allah, giving up every desire and pleasure, even if it is difficult to do so in this world, is easier than suffering all these pains and exposure before people (on the Day of Judgement). But because of wrongdoing and ignorance, a person may focus only on the present moment and not have the rational thinking to see the consequences and thus do that which would benefit him in this world and in the hereafter, and refrain from that which will harm him in both realms. Then Allah reiterates the admonition to fear Him, out of kindness and mercy towards us, lest our hearts become hard with the passage of time. This is a combination between encouragement that leads to hope and righteous deeds and warnings that lead to fear of Allah and giving up sin, as He says:

﴿But Allah admonishes you to fear Him. And Allah is Most Compassionate towards His slaves﴾.

We ask Him to bless us with consciousness of Him at all times, so that we will not do that which incurs His wrath and punishment.

3:31. Say: If you love Allah then follow me; Allah will love you and forgive you your sins: For Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.

This verse speaks of the obligation to love Allah and explains the signs, consequences and fruits thereof.

﴿Say: If you love Allah﴾ that is, you claim this lofty status, above which there is no other, but it is not sufficient to make mere claims; rather it is essential to be sincere in that claim. The sign of such sincerity is following His Messenger (ﷺ) in all matters, in word and deed, in both major and minor issues of religion, inwardly and outwardly; if an individual follows the Messenger, this indicates that he is sincere in his claim to love Allah (ﷻ), and Allah will love him, forgive his sins, have mercy on him and guide him in all that he does and does not do. But the one who does not follow the Messenger does not truly love Allah, because loving Allah requires him to follow His Messenger; so long as that is not the case, this indicates that that love is not present and that he is lying in his claim. Even if that love did exist, it would not benefit him without fulfilling the necessary conditions. This verse sets the standard against which all people may be measured; the extent to which they follow the Messenger is indicative of their faith and love for Allah, and any shortcoming in that reflects a shortcoming in loving Allah.

﴿ قُلْ أَطِيعُوا اللَّهَ وَالرَّسُولَ ۖ فَإِنْ تَوَلَّوْا فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ لَا يُحِبُّ الْكَافِرِينَ ﴾ (سورة آل

3:32. Say: Obey Allah and the Messenger: But if they turn away, Allah does not love the disbelievers.

This is a command from Allah to His slaves in very general terms. The command is to obey Him and His Messenger, by means of which one enters faith and embraces belief in the oneness of Allah; all minor issues regarding actions and words, both visible and hidden, are based on that. Indeed, obedience to Him and to His Messenger includes avoiding that which He has prohibited, because avoiding it in obedience to the command of Allah is part of obeying Him. Whoever obeys Allah and His Messenger, it is they who are the successful.

﴿But if they turn away﴾ that is, if they turn away from obeying Allah and His Messenger, there is no recourse for them except disbelief and obedience to every rebellious devil:

﴿About whom it is decreed that whoever takes him as an ally, he will lead him astray and guide him to the punishment of the raging fire.﴾ (al-Hajj 22: 4)

Hence Allah says: ﴿But if they turn away, Allah does not love the disbelievers﴾; rather He hates them and despises them, and punishes them in the severest manner. It is as if this verse is explaining what it means to follow His Messenger, which is by obeying Allah and obeying His Messenger. This is following in the true sense.

﴿إِنَّ اللَّهَ اصْطَفَىٰ آدَمَ وَنُوحًا وَآلَ إِبْرَاهِيمَ وَآلَ عِمْرَانَ عَلَى الْعَالَمِينَ ۝۳۳ ذُرِّيَّةَ بَعْضُهَا مِنْ بَعْضٍ وَاللَّهُ سَمِيعٌ عَلِيمٌ ۝۳۴ إِذْ قَالَتِ امْرَأَتُ عِمْرَانَ رَبِّ إِنِّي نَذَرْتُ لَكَ مَا فِي بَطْنِي مُحَرَّرًا فَتَقَبَّلْ مِنِّي إِنَّكَ أَنْتَ السَّمِيعُ الْعَلِيمُ ۝۳۵ فَلَمَّا وَضَعَتْهَا قَالَتْ رَبِّ إِنِّي وَضَعْتُهَا أُنْثَىٰ وَاللَّهُ أَعْلَمُ بِمَا وَضَعْتَ وَلَيْسَ الذَّكَرُ كَالْأُنْثَىٰ ۝۳۶ وَإِنِّي سَمِعْتُهَا مَرِيem وَإِنِّي أُعِيذُهَا بِكَ وَذُرِّيَّتَهَا مِنَ الشَّيْطَانِ الرَّجِيمِ ۝۳۷ فَتَقَبَّلَهَا رَبُّهَا بِقَبُولٍ حَسَنٍ وَأَنْبَتَهَا نَبَاتًا حَسَنًا وَكَفَّلَهَا زَكَرِيَّا كُلَّمَا دَخَلَ عَلَيْهَا الْعِمْرَابُ وَجَدَ عِنْدَهَا رِزْقًا قَالَ يَمْرِؤُكُمْ أَنَّىٰ لَكِ هَذَا قَالَتْ هُوَ مِنْ عِنْدِ اللَّهِ إِنَّ اللَّهَ يَرْزُقُ مَنْ يَشَاءُ بِغَيْرِ حِسَابٍ ۝۳۸﴾ (سورة آل

3:33. Allah chose Adam and Nooh, the family of Ibrâheem, and the family of 'Imrân above all of creation.<sup>23</sup>

3:34. They were descendants one of another. And Allah is All-Hearing, All-Knowing.

<sup>23</sup> Prophet Muhammad (ﷺ) is the best of Allah's creation, and he is included in the family of Ibrâheem mentioned here.

- 3:35. [Remember] when the wife of 'Imrân said: O my Lord, I dedicate entirely unto You what is in my womb, so accept this from me, for You are the All-Hearing, All-Knowing.
- 3:36. When she gave birth, she said: O my Lord, I have given birth to a female! – and Allah knew best what she had given birth to – and the male is not like the female. I have named her Maryam, and I seek refuge with You for her and her offspring from the accursed Shaytân.
- 3:37. Her Lord graciously accepted her and caused her to grow in a good manner, and entrusted her to the care of Zakariyâ. Every time Zakariyâ entered the chamber to see her, he found some provisions with her. He said: O Maryam, where has this come from? She said: From Allah; for Allah grants provision without measure to whomever He will.

Here Allah tells us about those whom He selected among His close friends, beloved and chosen ones. He tells us that he chose Adam above all other created beings; He created him with His own Hand and breathed into him a spirit created by Him; he instructed the angels to prostrate to him and caused him to dwell in His paradise; He gave him knowledge, forbearance and virtue by means of which he superseded all other created beings. Hence Allah favoured his descendants and said:

﴿We have indeed honoured the sons of Adam, given them means of transportation on land and sea, provided them with good things, and have favoured them above many of those whom We have created.﴾

He chose Nooh and made him the first Messenger to the people of earth, when they began to worship idols, and He gave him patience, perseverance and gratitude that enabled him to call the people to Allah at all times. Hence Allah chose him and brought him close to Him, and He caused the people of earth to drown in response to his prayer, but He saved him and those who were with him in the laden ark, and made his progeny the survivors. Thus He caused him to be remembered and praised in all eras.

He chose the family of Ibrâheem, who was the close friend of the Most Merciful whom Allah favoured by choosing him to be His close friend. He offered himself to be thrown into the fire, he offered his son to be sacrificed and he offered his wealth to honour his guests. He called people to his Lord, night and day, in private and in public. Allah made him an example to be followed by those who came after him, and He ordained that prophethood and the Book should be among his descendants. All the Prophets who came after him are regarded as being of the family of Ibrâheem, because they were his descendants. Allah singled them out for all kinds of noble traits by virtue of which they were the best of creation. Among them was the leader of the children of Adam, our Prophet Muhammad (ﷺ). Allah (ﷻ) combined in him all the perfect qualities that were scattered among others, and he superseded the first and the last; he is the leader of the Messengers, the chosen one from among the children of Ibrâheem.

Allah chose the family of 'Imrân, who was either the father of Maryam bint 'Imrân, or the father of Moosâ ibn 'Imrân (ﷺ). These families who were mentioned by Allah are the best of creation, and righteousness and guidance were handed down from one generation to another of their descendants. Hence Allah says: ﴿They were descendants one of another﴾ that is, they were connected by bonds of blood ties and sharing similar sublime characteristics, as Allah said, after mentioning a number of Prophets who were members of those great families:

﴿And [We guided] some of their forefathers, progeny and brothers; We chose them and guided them to a straight path.﴾ (al-An'âm 6: 87)

﴿And Allah is All-Hearing, All-Knowing﴾ – He knows who deserves to be chosen, so He chooses him, and who does not deserve to be chosen, so He forsakes him and lets him get carried away (in misguidance), and causes his doom. This indicates that He chose these people on the basis of what He knew about their characters that made them entitled to receive His generosity and bounty.

The wisdom that we learn from this story about these chosen ones is that we should love them and follow their example, and we should ask Allah to help and guide us as He did for them. We should always strive hard to emulate them and try to acquire their noble characteristics and traits. This is also by virtue of Allah's kindness towards them, that they are praised among the earlier and later generations, which highlights their high status. How great is His generosity and kindness; how many benefits one may attain from staying close to Him. If they had no honour except the fact that the memory of them and their noble attributes is eternal, that would be sufficient honour.

When Allah mentions the virtues of these noble families, He also tells us what happened to Maryam, the mother of 'Eesâ, and how Allah took care of her as she was growing up. He said:

«[Remember] when the wife of 'Imrân» that is the mother of Maryam, «said» when she became pregnant: «O my Lord, I dedicate entirely unto You what is in my womb» that is, I dedicate what is in my womb sincerely for Your sake, to serve You and Your House. «so accept this» that is, this blessed deed «from me, for You are the All-Hearing, All-Knowing»; You hear my prayer and You know my intention. This was when she was still in the uterus and had not yet been born.

«When she gave birth, she said: O my Lord, I have given birth to a female!» It was as if she was hoping that the infant would be male, because he would be more able to offer greater service. In her words there is a kind of apology to her Lord. But Allah said: «— and Allah knew best what she had given birth to» that is, there was no need for her to tell Him; rather He knew about her before her mother knew what she was

﴿and the male is not like the female. I have named her Maryam﴾. This indicates that the male is preferred to the female, and that the child may be named at the time of birth, and that the mother may give the child his or her name, if the father does not object.

﴿and I seek refuge with You for her and her offspring from the accursed Shayṭān﴾. She prayed for her and her offspring, asking Allah to protect them from the accursed Shayṭān.

﴿Her Lord graciously accepted her﴾ that is, He accepted the vow and protected her and her offspring from Shayṭān

﴿and caused her to grow in a good manner﴾ that is, she grew in a good manner physically and in terms of physical well-being and attitude, because Allah made Zakariyā (ﷺ) available to look after her:

﴿and entrusted her to the care of Zakariyā﴾. This was by Allah's kindness towards her, so that she would grow up in the best circumstances. So she grew up worshipping her Lord, and she superseded all women and devoted all her time to the worship of her Lord, remaining in her chamber or prayer place.

﴿Every time Zakariyā entered the chamber to see her, he found some provisions with her﴾ that is, without any effort on her part; rather it was provision that Allah granted to her and with which Allah honoured her. Zakariyā said to her: ﴿...where has this come from? She said: From Allah﴾ that is, by His grace and kindness

﴿for Allah grants provision without measure to whom He will﴾ that is, without any thought or effort on the individual's part. Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿... Whoever fears Allah, He will grant him a way out [from difficulty], and will provide for him from where he does not expect...﴾ (at-Talâq 65: 2-3)

This verse indicates that miracles and extraordinary events may happen to the close friends of Allah, as has been mentioned in many reports, contrary to denials. When Zakariyā saw what Allah had bestowed upon Maryam and what He had honoured her with of delicious provision that came to her without any effort on her part, he began to hope for a child himself. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿هَٰذَاكَ دَعَا زَكَرِيَّا رَبَّهُ ۖ قَالَ رَبِّ هَبْ لِي مِنْ لَدُنْكَ ذُرِّيَّةً طَيِّبَةً ۖ إِنَّكَ سَمِيعُ الدُّعَاءِ ۝٣٨﴾ فَدَٰثَتْهُ الْمَلٰٓئِكَةُ وَهُوَ قَائِمٌ يُصَلِّي فِي الْمِحْرَابِ أَنَّ اللَّهَ يُبَشِّرُكَ بَصَدَقَةٍ مُّصَدِّقًا بِكَلِمَةٍ مِنَ اللَّهِ وَسَيِّدًا وَحَصُورًا وَنَبِيًّا مِنَ الصَّٰلِحِيْنَ ۝٣٩﴾ قَالَ رَبِّ أَنَّىٰ يَكُونُ لِي غُلَامٌ وَقَدْ بَلَغَنِيَ الْكِبَرُ وَامْرَأَتِي عَاقِرٌ ۖ قَالَ كَذَٰلِكَ ۖ قَالَ اللَّهُ يَفْعَلُ مَا يَشَآءُ ۝٤٠﴾ قَالَ رَبِّ اجْعَلْ لِّيٓ ءَايَةً ۖ قَالَ ءَايَتُكَ ۖ أَلَّا تُكَلِّمَ النَّاسَ ثَلَاثَةَ أَيَّامٍ إِلَّا رَمْرَمًا ۖ وَٱذْكُرْ رَبَّكَ كَثِيرًا وَسَبِّحْ بِٱلْعَشِيِّ وَٱلْإِبْكَرِ ۝٤١﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ٣٨-٤١)

- 3:38. Thereupon Zakariyā prayed to his Lord, saying: O my Lord! Grant unto me by Your grace righteous offspring, for You are the One Who hears every prayer.
- 3:39. While he was standing in prayer in the chamber, the angels called unto him: Allah gives you glad tidings of Yaḥyā, who will believe in a word from Allah. He will be a leader and abstinent [from women], a Prophet from among the righteous.
- 3:40. He said: O my Lord, how can I have a son, when old age has overtaken me, and my wife is barren? He said: Thus Allah does whatever He wills.
- 3:41. He said: O my Lord! Give me a sign. He said: Your sign will be that you will not speak to people for three days except through gestures. So remember your Lord often, and glorify Him in the evening and in the morning.

Zakariyā (ﷺ) called upon his Lord, asking Him to bless him with righteous offspring, that is offspring who would be good in behaviour and attitude and well mannered, so that the blessings, both worldly and spiritual, would be completed by them. Allah answered his prayer; whilst he was standing in his chamber worshipping and beseeching his Lord, the angels called out to him: ﴿Allah gives you glad tidings of Yaḥyâ, who will believe in a word from Allah﴾ that is, in 'Eesâ (ﷺ), because he was created by means of a word from Allah ('Be!' and he was).

﴿He will be a leader﴾ that is, he will have such a beautiful and perfect character that he would be elevated to the position of a noble leader, and matters would be referred to him for advice and decisions.

﴿and abstinent [from women]﴾ that is, he is prevented from intimacy with women because he has no desire for them, as he is preoccupied with serving and obeying his Lord.

﴿a Prophet from among the righteous﴾. What tidings could be greater than tidings of this son with his perfect qualities, who would be a Prophet from among the righteous?

In his great joy, Zakariyâ said:

﴿O my Lord, how can I have a son, when old age has overtaken me, and my wife is barren?﴾ and either of these two matters could be a cause of not being able to have a child, so how about when both are present? But Allah told him that this would be a miracle, as He said: ﴿Thus Allah does whatever He wills﴾. Just as He has decreed that children come into being by various means, including procreation, if He wills to bring them into existence without the usual means, He will do so, because nothing is too difficult for Him. In haste and seeking certainty, Zakariyâ (ﷺ) said: ﴿O my Lord! Give me a sign﴾ that is, a sign that this child will come.

﴿He said: Your sign will be that you will not speak to people for three days except through gestures﴾ that is, your tongue will be prevented from speaking, without there being any physical problem, so you will only be able to communicate by means of gestures; this is a great sign, that you will not be able to speak. This is an amazing contrast: just as He may prevent causes from leading to effects even when they are present, He may also make things happen without the causes that would lead to them. This serves to demonstrate that all causes and means are subject to His will and decree. So Zakariyâ stopped speaking for three days, and Allah enjoined him to give thanks to Him and remember Him a great deal in the evening and in the morning. Then when he came out from his chamber to the people, he gestured to them that they should glorify Allah in the evening and in the morning, that is, at the beginning and end of the day.

﴿وَإِذْ قَالَتِ الْمَلَائِكَةُ يَمْرُؤُا إِنَّ اللَّهَ اصْطَفَاكِ وَطَهَّرَكِ وَاصْطَفَاكِ عَلَى نِسَاءِ الْعَالَمِينَ ﴿٤٢﴾ يَمْرُؤُا اقْنُتِي لِرَبِّكِ وَاسْجُدِي وَارْكَعِي مَعَ الرَّاكِعِينَ ﴿٤٣﴾ ذَلِكَ مِنْ أَنْبَاءِ الْغَيْبِ نُوحِيهِ إِلَيْكَ وَمَا كُنْتَ لَدَيْهِمْ إِذْ يَقُولُ أَفْلَهُمْ أَنْهُمْ يَكْفُلُ مَرْيَمَ وَمَا كُنْتَ لَدَيْهِمْ إِذْ يَخْتَصِمُونَ ﴿٤٤﴾﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ٤٢-٤٤)

- 3:42. And [remember] when the angels said: O Maryam! Allah has chosen you and purified you – chosen you above the women of all nations [of her own time].
- 3:43. O Maryam, worship your Lord devoutly; prostrate and bow [in prayer] with those who bow.
- 3:44. This is an account of the unseen [the distant past], which We reveal to you [O Muhammad]; you were not with them when they cast lots with their pens, [to decide] who, from among them, should be the guardian of Maryam. Nor were you with them when they disputed about it.

Here Allah speaks of the virtue and high status of Maryam, and tells us that the angels addressed her and told her their message, saying:

﴿O Maryam! Allah has chosen you and purified you﴾ from imperfections that could undermine your good character ﴿chosen you above the women of all nations﴾. The first choosing is because of her praiseworthy characteristics and righteous deeds; the second choosing is because she was favoured above the women of all nations, meaning that she was favoured either above the women of all nations of her own time, or in general terms, even though in the latter case some other women shared that status with her, such as Khadeejah, ‘Â’ishah and Fâtimah (raḍiya Allāhu ‘anhunna – may Allah be pleased with all of them). Thus the fact that other women were also chosen later on does not contradict what is mentioned in this verse about Maryam. When the angels told her that Allah had chosen her and purified her, that was a great blessing and gift that required her to give thanks. Hence the angels said to her:

﴿O Maryam, worship your Lord devoutly﴾. What is meant by the word translated here as “devout” is persisting in obedience, with submission and humility.

﴿prostrate and bow [in prayer] with those who bow﴾. Prostration and bowing are singled out for mention because of their virtue and because they are indicative of the utmost submission to Allah. So Maryam did what she was instructed to do, in gratitude and obedience to Allah (ﷻ). As Allah told His Prophet (ﷺ) what He told him about Maryam, and how she followed the course that Allah had set for her, and this was one of the matters of the unseen that could only be known through revelation, He said:

﴿This is an account of the unseen [the distant past], which We reveal to you [O Muhammad]; you were not with them when they cast lots with their pens, [to decide] who, from among them, should be the guardian of Maryam﴾. That was when her mother took her to those who were in charge of Bayt al-Maqdis, and they disputed amongst themselves as to which of them would take charge of Maryam. They cast lots concerning her by throwing their pens into the river; the one whose pen was not carried away by the water would be her guardian. That fell to Zakariyâ, their Prophet and the best of them. As you, O Muhammad (ﷺ), told them of this story which neither you nor your people knew, this indicates that you are telling the truth and that you are indeed the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ), so they are obliged to submit to you and follow your instructions, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

{You were not there on the western side [of the mountain] when We decreed for Moosâ the commission...} (al-Qaṣaṣ 28: 44)

الْحَكِيمِ ﴿٥٨﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ٤٥-٥٨)

- 3:45. Remember [when] the angels said: O Maryam! Allah gives you glad tidings of a word from Him: his name will be the Messiah 'Eesâ, the son of Maryam, held in honour in this world and the hereafter and one of those granted nearness [to Allah].
- 3:46. He will speak to the people in the cradle and in maturity. And he will be one of the righteous.
- 3:47. She said: O my Lord! How will I have a son when no man has touched me? He said: Thus Allah creates what He wills. When He has decreed something, He merely says to it, 'Be!' and it is.
- 3:48. And Allah will teach him the Book and wisdom, the Torah and the Gospel.
- 3:49. And [will appoint him] a Messenger to the Children of Israel, [with this message]: I have come to you, with a sign from your Lord, in that I make for you out of clay, as it were, the figure of a bird, and breathe into it, and it becomes a bird by Allah's leave. And I heal those born blind, and the lepers, and I bring the dead back to life, by Allah's leave; and I tell you what you eat, and what you store in your houses. Surely in that is a sign for you if you are believers;
- 3:50. [I have come] to confirm that which came before me of the Torah, and to make lawful to you some of the things which had been forbidden to you; I have come to you with a sign from your Lord, so fear Allah, and obey me.

- 3:51. Verily Allah is my Lord and your Lord, so worship Him. This is a straight path.
- 3:52. When 'Eesâ came to know of their disbelief, he said: Who will be my helpers in the cause of Allah? The disciples said: We will be helpers [in the cause] of Allah. We believe in Allah; bear witness that we are Muslims.
- 3:53. Our Lord! We believe in what You have revealed, and we follow the Messenger, so record us among those who bear witness [to the truth].
- 3:54. And [the disbelievers] plotted and planned, and Allah also planned, and Allah is the best of planners.
- 3:55. And [remember] when Allah said: O 'Eesâ, I will take you back and raise you up to Me and deliver you from those who disbelieve; I will make those who follow you superior to those who disbelieve, until the Day of Resurrection. Then you will all return unto Me, and I will judge between you concerning the matters about which you differed.
- 3:56. As for those who disbelieve, I will punish them with a severe punishment in this world and in the hereafter, and they will have no helpers.
- 3:57. As for those who believe and do righteous deeds, He [Allah] will give them their reward in full; but Allah does not love the wrongdoers.
- 3:58. This is what We convey to you of the signs and the wise admonition.

Here Allah tells us that the angels gave the greatest glad tidings to Maryam (peace be upon her), which was the 'Word of Allah', His slave and Messenger, 'Eesâ ibn Maryam. He was called the 'Word of Allah', because he came into being by virtue of a word from Allah, not by the usual means. Allah made him one of His signs and one of the wonders of His creation. Allah sent Jibreel (ﷺ) to Maryam, and he blew into the collar of her garment; thus the blessed breath from the pure angel entered into her, and Allah caused that pure soul to grow from it; thus he was a spiritual being, created from spiritual matter. Hence he was called a spirit created by Allah, ﴿held in honour in this world and the hereafter﴾ that is, he was of high status in this world, for Allah made him one of the Messengers of strong will, those who brought major laws and had many followers. Allah caused his fame to spread, filling the earth from east to west. And in the hereafter he is of high status before Allah; he will intercede like his fellow Prophets and Messengers, and it will become clear that he is superior to most of Allah's creation. Thus he will be one of those granted nearness to Allah, one of the closest of all creatures to their Lord; indeed he will be one of the prominent ones among those who are brought close to Allah.

﴿He will speak to the people in the cradle and in maturity﴾. This is something other than regular speech; what is meant is that he will speak to the people with regard to that which is in their best interests and will lead to their well-being. This is the speech of the Messengers. This confirms that he was a Messenger who was sent to call people to their Lord. His speaking to them in the cradle is one of the great signs of Allah from which the believers benefit, and which constitutes proof against the stubborn that he was the Messenger of the Lord of the worlds and that he was a slave of Allah; it was also a help to his mother, as it demonstrated that she was innocent of what she was accused of.

﴿And he will be one of the righteous﴾ that is, Allah blessed him by causing him to be righteous, one of those whom He blessed. These words brought many glad tidings to Maryam, in addition to what they say about the Messiah (ﷺ).

﴿She said: O my Lord! How will I have a son when no man has touched me?﴾ Usually a child can only be born as a result of intimacy, and this astonished her; however, she did not doubt the power of Allah (ﷻ).

﴿He said: Thus Allah creates what He wills. When He has decreed something, He merely says to it, 'Be!' and it is﴾. So the angel told her that this was something extraordinary, created by the One Who says to everything that He wills, 'Be!' and it is. The one who is certain of that will no longer be astonished or amazed. In His wisdom, Allah (ﷻ) takes a gradual approach by telling His slaves of that which is strange as an introduction to that which is stranger. So He first of all mentioned the creation of Yaḥyâ ibn Zakariyâ, who was born to parents, one of whom was elderly and the other was barren. Then He mentioned something stranger and more amazing than that, which was the creation of 'Eesâ (ﷺ) through a mother, without a father, in order to show to His slaves that He does what He wills, and that whatever He wills happens, and whatever He does not will does not happen.

Then Allah (ﷻ) speaks of the great blessing that He bestowed upon His slave and Messenger 'Eesâ (ﷺ), as He said:

﴿And Allah will teach him the Book﴾. It may be that what is meant is books in general, thus the Torah and the Gospel are mentioned in specific terms because of their sublime status and virtue, and because they contain rulings and laws by which the Israelite Prophets ruled and in which there is a great deal of knowledge; hence they include knowledge of words and meanings. Or it may be that what is meant by the words ﴿And Allah will teach him the Book﴾ is literacy, because literacy is one of the greatest blessings that Allah bestows upon His slaves. Thus He reminds His slaves of His favour in teaching them the use of the pen, as mentioned in the first soorah that He revealed, as He said:

﴿Recite [commencing] with the name of your Lord Who created, created man from a clinging clot. Recite, for your Lord is the Most Generous, Who taught the use of the pen.﴾ (al-'Alaq 96: 1-4)

What is meant by wisdom is knowledge of the reasons behind the rulings and knowing how to do or say the right thing at the right time. Hence this is a reminder of Allah's blessings to 'Eesâ (ﷺ), as He taught him literacy, knowledge and wisdom. This is what helps man to attain perfection. Then Allah refers to another quality of perfection, in addition to what Allah granted him of virtues, as He says:

﴿a Messenger to the Children of Israel﴾. Allah sent him to this virtuous people who were the best of the worlds at their time, to call them to Allah and show them signs to prove that he was indeed a Messenger of Allah and a true Prophet. Hence he said:

﴿I have come to you, with a sign from your Lord, in that I make for you out of clay﴾ a bird; that is, he made it into the shape of a bird.

﴿and breathe into it, and it becomes a bird by Allah's leave﴾ that is, a bird that has a soul and flies, by Allah's leave.

﴿And I heal those born blind, and the lepers﴾ by Allah's leave

﴿and I bring the dead back to life, by Allah's leave; and I tell you what you eat, and what you store in your houses. Surely in that is a sign for you if you are believers﴾. What sign could be greater than making an inanimate object come to life, healing people of ailments that doctors cannot treat, bringing the dead back to life and speaking of unseen matters? Each one of these on its own is a great sign, so how about when they are combined and confirm one another? That should be a cause of belief and faith.

﴿[I have come] to confirm that which came before me of the Torah﴾ that is, I have brought something similar to the Torah and what Moosâ brought. The sign of the truthful person is that what he tells people is similar to that which truthful people tell; he tells the truth and enjoins justice, without any contradiction in his words, unlike those who make false claims, especially with regard to the greatest claim, which is the claim of prophethood. The liar who makes a false claim thereof will inevitably demonstrate to everyone that he is lying, as he will contradict himself, and will say something that is different to what the truthful say and is in accordance with what liars say. This is what is dictated by the nature of things and as a result of divine wisdom and mercy, because the one who speaks the truth can never resemble a liar who makes false claims of prophethood. This is unlike some minor issues, where the words of one who speaks the truth may be confused with the words of the liar. But with regard to prophethood, the matter has to do with guidance or misguidance of people, and their ultimate fate (in paradise or hell). It is well known that the one who is truthful in his claim of prophethood is one of the most perfect of people, and the one who makes a false claim to that effect is one of the most ignoble, mendacious and evil of people. By virtue of the wisdom of Allah and His mercy towards His slaves, Allah has decreed that there should be a difference between them, so that the matter will be clear to anyone who can think rationally.

Then 'Eesā (ﷺ) told them that the law of the Gospel is a law that is easy, as he said:

﴿and to make lawful to you some of the things which had been forbidden to you﴾. This indicates that most of the rulings of the Torah were not abrogated by the Gospel; rather it completed them and confirmed them.

﴿I have come to you with a sign from your Lord﴾ that proves my truthfulness and that you are obliged to follow me. This refers to the signs mentioned above. What all of this means is summed up in the words: ﴿so fear Allah﴾ by doing what He has enjoined and refraining from what He has forbidden. ﴿and obey me﴾, because obedience to the Messenger is obedience to Allah.

﴿Verily Allah is my Lord and your Lord, so worship Him﴾. 'Eesā (ﷺ) referred to the concept of the oneness of divine Lordship (tawḥeed ar-ruboobiyah) which is acknowledged by everyone, in order to affirm the oneness of divinity (tawḥeed al-uloohiyah), which is denied by the polytheists. Just as Allah is the One Who created us, granted us provision and bestowed upon us blessings both apparent and hidden, He should be our (only) object of worship, to Whom we turn in love, fear and hope, calling upon Him and seeking His help, and to Whom we devote all kinds of acts of worship. This is a refutation of the Christians who say that 'Eesâ is God or the son of God; it is an affirmation on his part that he is a slave under orders and a created being, as he said:

﴿... Verily, I am a slave of Allah; He has given me the Book and made me a Prophet.﴾ (Maryam 19: 30)

﴿When Allah says: O 'Eesâ son of Maryam, did you say to people: Take me and my mother as two gods besides Allah? He ['Eesâ] will say: Glory be to You! It is not proper for me to say that which I have no right [to say]. If I had said it, You would surely have known it... I said nothing to them except that which You commanded me [to say]: Worship Allah, my Lord and your Lord...﴾ (al-Mâ'idah 5: 116-117)

﴿This﴾ that is, worshipping and fearing Allah and obeying His Messenger ﴿is a straight path﴾ that leads to Allah and to His paradise; anything other than that is a way that leads to hell.

﴿When 'Eesâ came to know of their disbelief﴾ that is, when he saw that they were not accepting what he said, and they said that it was obvious sorcery, and they thought of killing him and tried to do that, ﴿he said: Who will be my helpers in the cause of Allah?﴾ That is, who will help me and stand with me in support of Allah's religion? ﴿The disciples﴾, who were the helpers, ﴿said: We will be helpers [in the cause] of Allah﴾ that is, they offered their support and did that, and they said: ﴿We believe in Allah; bear witness that we are Muslims﴾.

﴿Our Lord! We believe in what You have revealed, and we follow the Messenger, so record us among those who bear witness [to the truth]﴾ that is, beneficial testimony, bearing witness to the oneness of Allah (tawḥeed) and believing in His Messenger, and adhering to that. When they stood with 'Eesâ in support of Allah's religion and established His laws, some of the Children of Israel believed whilst others disbelieved. Then the two groups fought, and Allah supported those who had believed against their enemies, and thus they were victorious. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says here:

﴿And [the disbelievers] plotted and planned﴾ that is, the disbelievers plotted to kill the Prophet of Allah and extinguish His light
 ﴿and Allah also planned﴾ against them, as a requital to them for their plot.

﴿and Allah is the best of planners﴾. Thus Allah thwarted their plot and they became losers.

﴿And [remember] when Allah said: O 'Eesâ, I will take you back and raise you up to Me and deliver you from those who disbelieve﴾. So Allah took His slave and Messenger 'Eesâ up to Himself, and He made someone else look like him, so they [the disbelievers] took the one who had been made to look like him, and they killed him and crucified him and thus incurred great sin because of their intention to kill the Messenger of Allah. Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...But they did not slay him or crucify him; rather [another man] was made to resemble him to them...﴾ (an-Nisâ' 4: 157)

This verse indicates that Allah is exalted above His creation and that He rose above His Throne in a real sense, as is indicated by the Qur'anic texts and hadiths of the Prophet (ﷺ) which are accepted and believed in by ahl as-Sunnah. Allah is Almighty, Most Powerful, the Subduer, and by His might He prevented the Children of Israel, after they had decided to kill 'Eesâ (ﷺ) and there was nothing to prevent them from doing so, from harming him, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...I restrained the Children of Israel from [harming] you when you brought them the clear signs and the disbelievers among them said: This is obviously nothing but magic!﴾ (al-Mâ'idah 5: 110)

Allah is most wise and does what is most appropriate; there is great wisdom behind His confusing the Children of Israel, and thus they crucified the one who was caused to look like 'Eesâ, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...Those who differ concerning this matter are in doubt concerning it, with no [certain] knowledge, but only conjecture to follow. But they certainly did not slay him.﴾ (an-Nisâ' 4: 157)

Then Allah (ﷻ) said:

﴿I will make those who follow you superior to those who disbelieve, until the Day of Resurrection﴾. We have seen above that Allah supported the believers among them against the disbelievers, and the Christians who claimed to follow 'Eesā (ﷺ) continued to subdue the Jews, because the Christians were closer to following 'Eesā than the Jews were. That continued until Allah sent our Prophet Muhammad (ﷺ); then the Muslims became the ones who were truly following 'Eesā, so Allah supported them and caused them to prevail over the Jews, Christians and all of the disbelievers, although at some times it may so happen that the disbelievers, Christians or others, gain the upper hand over the Muslims, in accordance with Allah's wisdom and as a punishment for failing to follow the Messenger (ﷺ).

﴿Then you will all return unto Me﴾ that is, the ultimate destiny of all creatures is to Him

﴿and I will judge between you concerning the matters about which you differed﴾. Everyone claims that the truth is with him, and that he is right and everyone else is wrong, but these are mere claims that require proof. Then Allah tells us that He will judge between them on the basis of fairness and justice.

﴿As for those who disbelieve﴾ that is, those who disbelieve in Allah, His revelations and His Messengers

﴿I will punish them with a severe punishment in this world and in the hereafter﴾. The punishment in this world is what Allah sent upon them of calamities, visible punishments, killing, humiliation and so on, as a foretaste of the punishment of the hereafter, and the punishment of the hereafter is the greatest calamity. Indeed, it is the punishment of the fire, the wrath of Allah and deprivation of reward.

﴿and they will have no helpers﴾ to protect them from the punishment of Allah, neither among those who they claim will intercede for them with Allah nor those that they take as protectors instead of Him. Neither their friends and relatives nor their own selves will help them.

﴿As for those who believe﴾ in Allah, His angels, His Books, His Messengers, the resurrection after death, and other things that Allah has enjoined us to believe in

﴿and do righteous deeds﴾ in their hearts, and in word and deed, as taught by the Messengers, seeking thereby the pleasure of the Lord of the worlds

﴿He [Allah] will give them their reward in full﴾. This indicates that they will be rewarded in this world for their good deeds, by way of honour, dignity, support and a good life, but the reward will be given in full on the Day of Resurrection, when they will find what they sent forth of good deeds rewarded abundantly. So He will give each one who did good deeds the reward of his deeds, and give them more by His grace and generosity.

﴿but Allah does not love the wrongdoers﴾; rather He hates them and subjects them to His wrath and punishment.

﴿This is what We convey to you of the signs and the wise admonition﴾. This is a great blessing to His Messenger Muhammad (ﷺ) and to his Ummah, as He sent down to them this wise admonition which is precise and clear, and explains in detail rulings, what is permissible and what is forbidden, and stories of the earlier Prophets and what Allah caused to happen at their hands of clear signs and astounding miracles. This Qur'an tells us everything that will benefit us of stories and rulings, from which we may increase in knowledge, learn lessons and find reassurance; this is the greatest mercy from the Lord of humanity.

Then Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿إِنَّ مَثَلَ عِيسَىٰ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ كَمَثَلِ آدَمَ خَلَقَهُ مِنْ تُرَابٍ ثُمَّ قَالَ لَهُ كُنْ فَيَكُونُ
الْحَقُّ مِنْ رَبِّكَ فَلَا تَكُن مِّنَ الْمُمْتَرِينَ﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ٥٩-٦٠)

- 3:59. The likeness of 'Eesâ before Allah is as the likeness of Adam; He created him from dust, then said to him, 'Be!' and he was.
- 3:60. This is the truth from your Lord, so do not be among those who doubt.

Here Allah establishes proof against the Christians who attribute to 'Eesâ (ﷺ) that which is not his, with no proof and no reason for confusion, and claim that as he did not have a father, he deserves to be the son of God or a partner in God's divinity. But this (the fact that he did not have a father) should not lead to any confusion, let alone form the basis of their argument, because his being created in this manner is one of the signs of Allah that indicate that Allah alone is the Creator Who is in control of all things, and that all causes that lead to effects are subject to His will and power. The fact that 'Eesâ was created with a mother only is more indicative of the opposite of their argument, and demonstrates that no one can be a partner or associate of Allah in any way whatsoever. Moreover, Allah created Adam (ﷺ) from dust, not from a father or a mother, and if that does not lead to the same conclusion as the Christians claimed about the Messiah, then it is more appropriate that the fact that the Messiah was created from a mother without a father should not lead to that conclusion. If the claim of prophethood and divinity can be made with regard to the Messiah, then the argument may be stronger with regard to Adam. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿The likeness of 'Eesâ before Allah is as the likeness of Adam; He created him from dust, then said to him, 'Be!' and he was. This is the truth from your Lord﴾ that is, what We have told you about the Messiah (ﷺ) is the truth that is at the highest level of authenticity, because it comes from your Lord; because He has bestowed special care upon you and your Ummah, He has told you stories of the Prophets (peace be upon them).

﴿so do not be among those who doubt﴾ that is, those who are uncertain of something that your Lord has told you. This verse and those that follow it offer proof for an important principle, which is that where there is evidence that something is true and one is certain about it, whether it is an issue of belief ('aqeedah) or otherwise, he must be certain that everything that is contrary to it must be false and any argument in support of that opposing view is flawed, whether one is able to see the flaw or not. His inability to refute that argument should not make him doubt what he knows, because whatever is contrary to the truth is false. Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...And what is there apart from truth but error?...﴾ (Yoonus 10: 32)

Following this principle will help one deal with many specious arguments that may be presented by philosophers and sophisticates; if a person tries to highlight the flaws, that is good but is not necessary; otherwise he should focus on his task, which is to explain the truth on the basis of evidence and call people to it.

وَنِسَاءَنَا وَنِسَاءَكُمْ وَأَنْفُسَنَا وَأَنْفُسَكُمْ ثُمَّ نَبْتَهِلْ فَنَجْعَلْ لَعْنَتَ اللَّهِ عَلَى
الْكَاذِبِينَ ﴿٦١﴾ إِنَّ هَذَا لَهُوَ الْقَصَصُ الْحَقُّ وَمَا مِنْ إِلَهٍ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَإِنَّ اللَّهَ لَهُوَ
الْعَزِيزُ الْحَكِيمُ ﴿٦٢﴾ فَإِنْ تَوَلَّوْا فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ عَلِيمٌ بِالْمُفْسِدِينَ ﴿٦٣﴾﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ٦١-٦٣)

3:61. If anyone disputes with you concerning him [‘Eesâ], after the knowledge that has come to you, say: Come, let us gather together – our sons and your sons, our women and your women, ourselves and yourselves – then let us earnestly pray and invoke the curse of Allah on the liars.

3:62. This is the truth of the matter. There is no god but Allah. Verily Allah is the Almighty, the Most Wise.

if the fighting is defensive, then it is permissible to fight during the sacred months as it is permissible in the sacred land.

This verse was revealed because of what happened to the expedition of ‘Abdullāh ibn Jaḥsh, their slaying of ‘Amr ibn al-Ḥaḍrami and their seizing of their wealth, which happened – according to reports – in the month of Rajab; the polytheists criticised them for fighting during the sacred months, but this was unfair criticism, because they had committed abhorrent deeds that were worse than that for which they were criticising the Muslims. Hence Allah (ﷻ) highlighted their abhorrent deeds:

﴿to bar others from the path of Allah﴾ – the polytheists sought to prevent those who wanted to believe in Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ), persecuted those who did believe in Him, and strove to make them recant their religion and disbelieve in Him; all of this on its own is sufficient evil, so how about if it occurred during a sacred month and in a sacred land?

﴿to prevent access to the Sacred Mosque and to drive out its people from it﴾ that is, the people of the Sacred Mosque, namely the Prophet (ﷺ) and his Companions, because they were more deserving of it than the polytheists

﴿from it﴾ and they did not allow them to reach it, even though this House was made for all people, residents and visitors alike.

Each one of these matters on its own ﴿is worse than slaughter﴾ during the sacred month, so how about when they are combined? Thus it is known that they were wrong and unfair in their criticism of the believers.

Then Allah (ﷻ) tells us that they will not cease fighting the believers, and that their aim is not to take their wealth and kill them; rather their aim is to make the believers give up their religion and become disbelievers after having believed, so that they will become people of hell. They are striving their utmost, by all possible means, to achieve that aim.

This description applies to all of the disbelievers; they will continue to fight others, until they make them give up their religion. This is especially true of the People of the Book, the Jews and Christians, who set up organisations, send preachers and medical doctors and build schools to attract other nations to their religion, and do their utmost to introduce ideas that make people confused about their religion.

What we hope is that Allah (ﷻ) – Who has blessed the believers with Islam, chosen for them His true religion, and perfected His religion for them – will complete His blessing to them by enabling them to adhere to it fully, that He will defeat everyone who wants to extinguish His light, that He will cause their plots to backfire, and cause His religion to prevail and His word to be supreme. This verse is applicable to the disbelievers of our own time as it was applicable to those who came before them.

﴿The disbelievers spend their wealth to bar [people] from the path of Allah, and they will continue to spend it, then it will become a source of regret for them, then they will be defeated, and as for those who disbelieve, into hell they will be gathered.﴾ (al-Anfāl 8: 36)

Then Allah tells us that for those who turn away from Islam, preferring disbelief, and persist in that until they die as disbelievers, ﴿their deeds will come to nothing in this world and in the hereafter﴾ because they did not fulfil the conditions of their deeds being accepted, which is being Muslim

﴿they will be inhabitants of the fire and will abide therein forever﴾. This verse indicates that if a person apostatises then comes back to Islam, the good deeds that he did before he apostatised will be restored to him. The same applies to one who repents from sin: his previous good deeds will be restored to him.

3:63. But if they turn away, Allah is fully aware of those who spread mischief.

﴿If anyone disputes﴾ that is, argues ﴿with you﴾ about ‘Eesâ (ﷺ), and claims that he is above being a slave of Allah, and raises him above his real status, ﴿after the knowledge that has come to you﴾, that he is indeed a slave of Allah and His Messenger, and you have explained to those who argue with you what you have of evidence that indicates that he is no more than a slave whom Allah has blessed, then this indicates that he is stubborn and has not accepted what you say about this issue that is based on certain knowledge. Hence there is no longer any benefit, either for you or for him, in arguing with him because the truth has become clear, so his arguing about it is the argument of a stubborn person who is opposing Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ); his aim is to follow his whims and desires, not to follow that which Allah has revealed, so this is a hopeless case. Hence Allah instructed His Prophet (ﷺ) to move onto challenging and invoking mutual curses: they were to call upon Allah and pray earnestly, asking Him to send His curse and punishment upon whichever of the two groups was lying, on (the leader) and on the most beloved of people to him, namely his children and womenfolk. So the Prophet (ﷺ) called upon them to do that, but they turned away and refused, because they realised that if they engaged in invoking mutual curses, they would go back to their families and children, and they would not find any families and any wealth, and the punishment would be brought forward for them. They were content with their false religion, even though they were certain that it was false. This is the utmost mischief and stubbornness. Hence Allah (ﷻ) said:

﴿But if they turn away, Allah is fully aware of those who spread mischief﴾ and He will punish them severely for that. Allah tells us that ﴿This﴾ that Allah has related to His slaves ﴿is the truth of the matter», and any other story or statement that is told to the believer that contradicts this is false.

«There is no god but Allah», hence He is the only object of worship Who is to be worshipped sincerely, and it is not appropriate to direct worship to anyone but Him; no one else deserves even an atom's weight of worship.

«Verily Allah is the Almighty»; He has subdued all things and everything submits to Him

«the Most Wise»; He is wise in all that he does or says, and His is the utmost wisdom in testing the believers with the disbelievers, by means of their fighting them, arguing with them and striving against them in word and deed.

﴿قُلْ يٰٓأَهْلَ ٱلْكِتَآبِ تَعَالَوْٓا۟ إِلَىٰ كَلِمَةٍ سَوَآءٍ بَيْنَنَا وَبَيْنَكُمْ أَلَّا نَعْبُدَ إِلَّا ٱللَّهَ وَلَا نُشْرِكَ بِهِۦ شَيْئًا وَلَا يَتَّخِذَ بَعْضُنَا بَعْضًا أَرْبَابًا مِن دُونِ ٱللَّهِ فَإِن تَوَلَّوْا۟ فَقُولُوا۟ ٱشْهَدُوٓا۟ بِأَنَّا مُسْلِمُونَ﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ٦٤)

- 3:64. Say: O People of the Book! Come to common terms between us and you, that we worship none but Allah, that we associate no partners with Him, and that we not take one another as lords besides Allah. If then they turn away, say: Bear witness that we are Muslims [those who submit to Allah].

That is, say to the People of the Book, the Jews and Christians: «Come to common terms between us and you» that is, let us agree on a word on which all the Prophets and Messengers are agreed, and no one differs from that except those who are stubborn and misguided, and it does not belong only to one party and not the other; rather it is something that we and you have in common. This is by way of fairness in discussion and argument. Then Allah explains that by saying:

﴿that we worship none but Allah, that we associate no partners with Him﴾ that is, we worship Allah only, focusing all love, fear and hope on Him alone, and we do not associate any Prophet, angel, “saint”, idol, graven image, animate being or inanimate object with Him ﴿and that we not take one another as lords besides Allah﴾; rather, all obedience is to Allah and His Messenger, so we do not obey created beings by disobeying the Creator, because that would be ascribing the status of lordship to those created beings.

When calling the People of the Book or others to that, if they respond then they are like you, with the same rights and duties; but if they turn away, then they are stubborn and are following their whims and desires, so let them bear witness that you are Muslims (those who submit to Allah). Perhaps the benefit of that is that if you say that to them, when you are the people of true knowledge, this will establish further proof against them, as Allah referred to the testimony of the people of knowledge in order to establish proof against those who are stubborn. Moreover, if you become Muslim and believe, Allah would not care that others do not submit, because they are wicked and have evil in their hearts. Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Say: Believe in it, or do not believe. Verily, those who were given knowledge before it, when it is recited to them, fall down on their faces in prostration.﴾ (al-Isrâ' 17: 107)

Moreover, when the specious arguments are presented in order to undermine belief and faith, that motivates the believer to renew his faith, affirm his Islam, announce his certainty and express gratitude for the blessing of his Lord.

- 3:65. O People of the Book! Why do you dispute about Ibrâheem, when the Torah and the Gospel were not revealed until after him? Do you not understand?
- 3:66. Look at yourselves! You are the ones who disputed about that of which you have [a little] knowledge, but why do you dispute about matters of which you have no knowledge? Allah knows, but you do not know.
- 3:67. Ibrâheem was neither a Jew nor a Christian, but he was a monotheist, a Muslim, and he was not one of those who ascribe partners to Allah.
- 3:68. Verily the closest of people to Ibrâheem are those who followed him, and this Prophet and those who believe. And Allah is the Guardian of the believers.

When the Jews claimed that Ibrâheem was a Jew, and the Christians claimed that he was a Christian, and they argued about that, Allah refuted their arguments on three counts:

- 1- Their argument about Ibrâheem was an argument about a matter of which they had no knowledge, hence it was not possible or allowable for them to argue about something that had nothing to do with them. They used to argue about the rulings mentioned in the Torah and the Gospel, whether they were right or wrong, but in this case they had no right to argue about Ibrâheem.
- 2- The Jews claimed to be following the Torah and the Christians claimed to be following the Gospel, but the Torah and the Gospel only came down after the time of Ibrâheem. So how could they claim that Ibrâheem belonged to them, when he had come before them? Does this make any sense? Hence Allah says: ﴿Do you not understand?﴾ that is, if you did understand what you are saying, you would not say that.

- 3- Allah (ﷻ) declared that His close friend (Ibrâheem) had nothing to do with the Jews, the Christians or the polytheists; rather He described him as ﴿a monotheist, a Muslim﴾, and stated that the people who were closest to him were those who believed in him of his own nation, and this Prophet – namely Muhammad (ﷺ) – and those who believed with him, because they are the ones who truly followed him, and they are closer to him than any others, and Allah (ﷻ) is their Guardian, Helper and Supporter. As for those who cast his religion behind their backs, such as the Jews and Christians and polytheists, they do not belong to Ibrâheem and he is not one of them; merely attributing themselves falsely to him is of no benefit to them. These verses include the prohibition on arguing and debating without knowledge; the one who speaks in that case is speaking of something that he cannot prove and it is not permissible for him to argue about it. These verses also offer encouragement to learn history, for it is a way to refute many false arguments and claims that are contrary to history.

- 3:69. Some of the People of the Book wish to lead you astray, but they only lead themselves astray, although they do not realise it.
- 3:70. O People of the Book, why do you reject the revelations of Allah, while you [yourselves] bear witness [to their truth]?
- 3:71. O People of the Book, why do you confuse truth with falsehood and knowingly conceal the truth?
- 3:72. A group among the People of the Book say: [Claim to] believe in the morning in what is revealed to the believers, but reject it at the end of the day; perhaps they may turn back [from Islam].
- 3:73. And believe no one except one who follows your religion.<sup>24</sup> Say [O Muhammad]: True guidance is the guidance of Allah. [They say:] Lest anyone be given the same as you were given, or argue with you before your Lord. Say: All bounties are in the Hand of Allah; He grants them to whomever He will. And Allah is All-Encompassing, All-Knowing.
- 3:74. He singles out for His mercy whomever He will; for Allah is the Possessor of abundant grace.

Here Allah (ﷻ) warns His believing slaves about the plot of that evil group among the People of the Book, and tells them that they wish to lead you astray, as He says elsewhere:

﴿Many among the People of the Book wish they could turn you back to disbelief after you have believed...﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 109)

<sup>24</sup> These are the words of that group among the People of the Book to their co-religionists.

It is well known that the one who wishes for something will try his hardest to attain his goal, and this group is indeed striving and putting effort into leading the believers astray and making them doubt their faith by all possible means. But by His grace and kindness, the plotting of evil only rebounds on those who make the plot. Allah says: ﴿but they only lead themselves astray﴾. Their efforts to lead the believers astray only make them go further astray and will result in more severe punishment for them. Allah says:

﴿For those who disbelieve and bar others from the path of Allah, We will add punishment to their punishment because they used to spread mischief.﴾ (an-Nahl 16: 88)

﴿although they do not realise it﴾ that is, they do not realise that they are in fact striving to harm themselves, and that they will not harm you at all.

﴿O People of the Book, why do you reject the revelations of Allah, while you [yourselves] bear witness [to their truth]?﴾ That is, what makes you disbelieve in the revelations of Allah despite your knowing that what you follow is false, and that what Muhammad (ﷺ) has brought is the truth about which you have no doubt; rather you bear witness to it and sometimes whisper this testimony to one another? This is instructing them to give up their misguidance, then Allah rebukes them for misleading the people, as He says:

﴿O People of the Book, why do you confuse truth with falsehood and knowingly conceal the truth?﴾. Here Allah rebukes them for confusing truth with falsehood and for concealing the truth, because by doing these two things they misled their own people. If the scholars confuse truth with falsehood and do not distinguish between them, and instead leave matters vague and conceal the truth which they are enjoined to make manifest, that results in concealment of the truth and the prevalence of falsehood, and hence the common folk who are seeking the truth and want to know it so that they can follow it will not be guided. What is required from the people of knowledge is to make the truth clear to the people and proclaim it openly, and distinguish truth from falsehood, and explain clearly the difference between evil and good, what is permissible and what is forbidden, sound belief and corrupt belief, so that the people will be guided, those who have gone astray will be brought back and proof will be established against those who are stubborn. Allah says:

﴿And [remember] when Allah took a covenant from those who were given the scripture, that they should make it known and clear to humankind, and not conceal it; but they cast it behind their backs...﴾
(Al 'Imrān 3: 187)

Then Allah tells us about what this evil group thought of and what they wanted to plot against the believers:

﴿A group among the People of the Book say: [Claim to] believe in the morning in what is revealed to the believers, but reject it at the end of the day﴾ that is, enter their religion with ulterior motives, and as a trick, at the beginning of the day, then at the end of the day, exit from it; ﴿perhaps they may turn back [from Islam]﴾ that is, from their religion, and perhaps they may say: If it were true, the people of knowledge and the Book would not have left it. This is what they were aiming at, because they thought highly of themselves and thought that the people thought well of them and would follow them in what they said and did. But Allah insists that His light should be perfected even if the disbelievers hate that.

They said to one another: ﴿And believe no one except one who follows your religion.﴾ That is, do not trust or accept the word of anyone but your co-religionists, and conceal your affairs, because if you tell others who are not followers of your religion, they will acquire knowledge that you have and will become like you or they will argue with you before your Lord, and will testify against you that proof was established against you and true guidance was explained to you, but you did not follow it. To sum up, they thought that by not telling the believers about what they had of knowledge, they would be depriving them of knowledge, because in their view no one could have knowledge except them, and the knowledge they had could establish proof against them. But Allah refuted them by saying: ﴿True guidance is the guidance of Allah﴾, because guidance is only from Allah to everyone who is guided. Guidance means knowing the truth or following it; there is no knowledge except that which was brought by the Messengers of Allah and no one is guided except the one whom Allah guides. The People of the Book were only given a little knowledge, and as for guidance, their share of it has come to an end because of their evil intentions and ulterior motives.

But in the case of this Ummah, Allah granted them knowledge and the ability to act upon it in a way that surpassed all others, and in that regard they superseded all others. So they became the leaders of guidance who guided others as commanded by Allah. This is by the favour and grace of Allah and His great kindness to this Ummah. Hence He said: ﴿Say: All bounties are in the Hand of Allah﴾ that is, Allah is the One Who bestows all kinds of bounties upon His slaves ﴿He grants them to whomever He will﴾ among those who take measures to attain that.

﴿And Allah is All-Encompassing﴾ in His bounty, and very kind ﴿All-Knowing﴾ – He knows who deserves this kindness, so He grants it to him, and He knows who does not deserve it so He withholds it from him.

﴿He singles out for His mercy whomever He will﴾ that is, by His mercy in a general sense, which He grants in this world and makes it continue into the hereafter; this is the blessing of Islam and other blessings.

﴿for Allah is the Possessor of abundant grace﴾ that is indescribable and does not even enter the mind of man; rather His grace and kindness reach as far as His knowledge reaches; our Lord, You have encompassed all things with Your mercy and knowledge.

﴿ وَمِنْ أَهْلِ الْكِتَابِ مَنْ إِنْ تَأْمَنَهُ بِقِطَارٍ يُؤَدُّهُ إِلَيْكَ وَمِنْهُمْ مَنْ إِنْ تَأْمَنَهُ بِدِينَارٍ لَا يُؤَدُّهُ إِلَيْكَ إِلَّا مَا دُمْتَ عَلَيْهِ قَائِمًا ۚ ذَٰلِكَ بِأَنَّهُمْ قَالُوا لَيْسَ عَلَيْنَا فِي الْأُمِّيِّينَ سَبِيلٌ وَيَقُولُونَ عَلَى اللَّهِ الْكَذِبَ وَهُمْ يَعْلَمُونَ ﴿٧٥﴾ بَلَىٰ مَنْ أَوْفَىٰ بِعَهْدِهِ وَاتَّقَىٰ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ يُحِبُّ الْمُتَّقِينَ ﴿٧٦﴾ إِنَّ الَّذِينَ يَشْتَرُونَ بِعَهْدِ اللَّهِ وَأَيْمَانِهِمْ ثَمَنًا قَلِيلًا أُولَٰئِكَ لَا خَلَاقَ لَهُمْ فِي الْآخِرَةِ وَلَا يُكَلِّمُهُمُ اللَّهُ وَلَا يَنْظُرُ إِلَيْهِمْ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ وَلَا يُزَكِّيهِمْ وَلَهُمْ عَذَابٌ أَلِيمٌ ﴿٧٧﴾ ﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ٧٥-٧٧)

- 3:75. Among the People of the Book are some who, if entrusted with a heap of gold, will [readily] pay it back; there are others, who, if entrusted with a single gold coin, will not repay it unless you keep standing over him, because, they say: We are under no obligation towards the unlettered. And they tell lies about Allah knowingly.
- 3:76. But those who fulfil their covenant and fear Allah – Allah loves those who fear Him.
- 3:77. As for those who sell Allah's covenant and their own oaths for a small price, they shall have no share in the hereafter. Allah will not speak to them or look at them on the Day of Resurrection, nor will He purify them, and theirs will be a painful punishment.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us about the People of the Book with regard to honesty or dishonesty concerning wealth, as He already mentioned their treachery with regard to religion and their plots and concealment of the truth. He tells us that among them are those who are dishonest and those who are honest, and among them are ﴿some who, if entrusted with a heap of gold﴾ that is, a large amount of wealth ﴿will [readily] pay it back﴾ that is, they are more likely to be honest and return what is less than that. And there are others ﴿who, if entrusted with a single gold coin, will not repay it unless you keep standing over him», so it is more likely that they will not return any amount greater than that. What makes them dishonest towards you is that they claim that they are «under no obligation towards the unlettered» that is, there is no sin on them if they do not give their wealth back to them, because on the basis of their false claim and flawed opinions, they look down on them and feel greatly superior to them, when in fact they are the lowest and most despised. They give no sanctity to the unlettered, and they regard that as permissible, and thus they combined the consumption of haram wealth with the belief that it was permissible. This amounted to telling lies about Allah, because when a scholar says that forbidden things are permissible at the time when the people are under the impression that he is speaking of the ruling from Allah and not his own ruling, this is a lie. Hence Allah says: «And they tell lies about Allah knowingly». This is a more serious sin than speaking about Allah without knowledge.

Then He refutes their false claim and says:

«But» that is, it is not as you claim, that there is no sin on you for what you do to the unlettered; rather there is the gravest of sin and the greatest blame on you for that.

«those who fulfil their covenant and fear Allah». The word covenant here includes everything that Allah has enjoined upon a person with regard to His dues, as well as covenants between one person and another. This is the context in which fear of Allah is required, which leads to fear of falling into sin with regard to matters between a person and his Lord, and between him and other people. The one who does that will be one of the pious who fear Allah, whom Allah (ﷻ) loves, whether they are unlettered or otherwise. Whoever says that we are under no obligation towards the unlettered has not fulfilled his covenant and has not feared Allah, so he is not one of those whom Allah loves; rather he is one of those whom Allah hates. If the unlettered were known to fulfil the covenants, fear Allah and not transgress the limits with regard to the wealth of others, then they would be the ones who are beloved to Allah, the pious for whom paradise is prepared, and they would be the best and the most honoured of Allah's creation, unlike those who say, we are under no obligation towards the unlettered. The latter are included in the verse in which Allah says: ﴿As for those who sell Allah's covenant and their own oaths for a small price...﴾. That includes anyone who makes any worldly gains in return for overlooking the rights of Allah or the rights of His slaves. It also includes the one who swears an oath in order to acquire the property of another to which he has no right; such a one is also included in this verse. These are the ones who ﴿shall have no share in the hereafter﴾ that is, they will have no share of good.

﴿Allah will not speak to them﴾ on the Day of Resurrection, because He will be angry with them, as they gave precedence to their own whims and desires over pleasing their Lord

﴿nor will He purify them﴾ that is, He will not purify them of their sins nor free them from their faults

﴿and theirs will be a painful punishment﴾ that is, it will be painful both psychologically and physically; this is the punishment of the divine wrath and being kept away from Him, and the punishment of hell. We ask Allah to keep us safe and sound.

﴿وَإِنَّ مِنْهُمْ لَفَرِيقًا يَلْوُنَ أَلْسِنَتَهُم بِالْكِتَابِ لِتَحْسَبُوهُ مِنَ الْكِتَابِ وَمَا هُوَ مِنَ الْكِتَابِ وَيَقُولُونَ هُوَ مِنْ عِنْدِ اللَّهِ وَمَا هُوَ مِنْ عِنْدِ اللَّهِ وَيَقُولُونَ عَلَى اللَّهِ الْكَذِبَ وَهُمْ يَعْلَمُونَ﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ٧٨)

- 3:78. There are some among them who distort the Book with their tongues, so that you would think it is part of the Book, but it is not part of the Book; and they say: This is from Allah, but it is not from Allah. And they tell lies about Allah knowingly.

Here Allah tells us that some of the People of the Book distort the Book with their tongues, that is, they twist the meanings. That includes distorting both the pronunciation and the meanings, when what should be done is to keep the wording of the Book as it is and not change it, and to understand it properly and help others to do likewise. But these people did the opposite of that and they gave an impression of incorrect meanings of the Book, either implicitly or explicitly. They do so implicitly in such a manner that «you would think it is part of the Book» that is, they distort it with their tongues and give you the impression that this is what is intended in the Book of Allah, when it is not what was intended. And they do so explicitly when they say «This is from Allah, but it is not from Allah. And they tell lies about Allah knowingly». This is a more serious sin than speaking about Allah without knowledge. These people tell lies about Allah, and thus they combine denial of the true meaning and affirmation of the false meaning, in order to knowingly interpret in a corrupt manner the verses that speak of the truth.

- 3:79. No human being to whom Allah has given the scripture, wisdom and prophethood would ever say to the people: Be my worshippers rather than Allah's. On the contrary [he would say]: Be perfect in knowledge and in deeds, by virtue of your constant teaching of the scripture and of your constant study thereof.

3:80. Nor would he instruct you to take angels and Prophets for lords. Would he command you to disbelieve after you have submitted to Allah [as Muslims]?

This verse was revealed in response to those of the People of the Book who said to the Prophet (ﷺ), when he instructed them to believe in him and called them to obey him: O Muhammad, do you want us to worship you alongside Allah? He said: «No human being» that is, it is utterly impossible for any human being whom Allah has blessed by sending down the Book to him, and teaching him what he did not know and sending him to humankind, to «ever say to the people: Be my worshippers rather than Allah's». This is the most impossible thing for any of the Prophets ever to do, because this is the most abhorrent of all things and the Prophets are the most perfect of all people. Hence their instructions are befitting to their status, so they would never enjoin anything but the most sublime of actions, and they would be the most outspoken of people in forbidding abhorrent things. Hence Allah (ﷻ) said: «On the contrary [he would say]: Be perfect in knowledge and in deeds, by virtue of your constant teaching of the scripture and of your constant study thereof» that is, rather he would enjoin them to be perfect in knowledge, that is, wise and forbearing scholars who teach the people and educate them in a gradual manner and act upon what they know and teach. Thus they enjoin the pursuit of knowledge, acting upon it and teaching it, which is the basis of success; falling short in any of these matters leads to shortcomings and problems.

«by virtue of your constant teaching» that is, because of what you teach others of that which you know and have studied of the Book of Allah and the Sunnah of His Prophet (ﷺ), by studying which you have attained deep and entrenched knowledge, as you have become perfect in knowledge and in deeds.

﴿Nor would he instruct you to take angels and Prophets for lords﴾. This is a general statement after a specific statement. In other words, he would not instruct you to worship him or to worship any of creation, such as the angels, Prophets or others.

﴿Would he command you to disbelieve after you have submitted to Allah [as Muslims]?﴾ This is something that could not happen and it cannot be imagined that such a thing would be done by one whom Allah has blessed with prophethood. Whoever accuses any of the Prophets of any such thing has committed a grievous sin and an abhorrent act of disbelief.

3:81. And [remember] when Allah took the covenant of the Prophets, saying: If I give you scripture and wisdom, and there comes to you a Messenger confirming what is with you, then you must believe in him and you must support him. [Allah] said: Do you agree, and take this covenant of Mine as binding upon you? They said: We agree. He said: Then bear witness, and I am with you among the witnesses.

3:82. If any turn away after this, it is they who are the evildoers.

Here Allah tells us that He took from the Prophets a covenant and a solemn pledge because of what He bestowed upon them of the revealed Book of Allah and the wisdom to distinguish between truth and falsehood, guidance and misguidance. The covenant was that if Allah sent a Messenger confirming what was with them, they would believe in him and follow him, and they took this pledge from their nations. So Allah (ﷻ) enjoined them to believe in one another and confirm one another, because everything they had was from Allah, and everything that is from Allah must be believed and followed. Thus they were all the same, and on this basis it is known that Muhammad (ﷺ) is the last of them; all the Prophets, if they had lived to see him, were obliged to believe in him, follow him and support him, and he would be their leader and commander. This verse is one of the greatest proofs of his high status and that he is the best of the Prophets and their leader. When Allah (ﷻ) asked them if they agreed, ﴿They said: We agree﴾ that is, we accept what You have commanded, willingly. Allah (ﷻ) said to them: ﴿Then bear witness﴾ to yourselves and your nations to that effect; ﴿and I am with you among the witnesses﴾.

﴿If any turn away after this﴾ that is, after this covenant and pledge that has been confirmed by testimony from Allah and from His Messengers

﴿it is they who are the evildoers﴾. Based on this, those who claim to be followers of the Prophets, like the Jews and Christians and those who followed them, have turned away from this solemn covenant and deserve to be among the evildoers who will abide forever in hell, if they do not believe in Muhammad (ﷺ).

﴿أَفَغَيْرَ دِينِ اللَّهِ يَبْغُونَ وَلَهُ أَسْلَمَ مَنْ فِي السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ طَوْعًا
وَكَرْهًا وَإِلَيْهِ يُرْجَعُونَ﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ٨٣)

- 3:83. Is it other than the religion of Allah that they seek, when to Him has submitted everything in the heavens and on earth, willingly or unwillingly, and to Him they will return?

That is, are the seekers seeking a religion other than the religion of Allah? That is not appropriate and it is not befitting, because there is no better religion than the religion of Allah

﴿when to Him has submitted everything in the heavens and on earth, willingly or unwillingly﴾ that is, all of creation are subjugated to Him and in a state of submission to Him, willingly and by choice, namely the Muslim believers who are submitting to the worship of their Lord, or unwillingly, namely the rest of creation, even the disbelievers who must submit to His will and decree, and they have no way of evading it or resisting it, and to Him all creatures will return, and He will judge between them and requite them on the basis of either grace or justice.

﴿قُلْ ءَامَنَّا بِاللّٰهِ وَمَا أُنْزِلَ عَلَيْنَا وَمَا أُنْزِلَ عَلَىٰ إِبْرَاهِيمَ وَإِسْمَاعِيلَ وَإِسْحَاقَ وَيَعْقُوبَ وَالْأَسْبَاطِ وَمَا أُوتِيَ مُوسَىٰ وَعِيسَىٰ وَالنَّبِيُّونَ مِنْ رَبِّهِمْ لَا نُفَرِّقُ بَيْنَ أَحَدٍ مِنْهُمْ وَنَحْنُ لَهُ مُسْلِمُونَ﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ٨٤)

3:84. Say: We believe in Allah, and that which has been sent down to us, and that which was sent down to Ibrâheem, Ismâ'eel, Is-hâq, Ya'qoob, and the tribes, and that which was given to Moosâ and 'Eesâ, and to the Prophets from their Lord. We make no distinction between one and another of them, and to Him we have submitted [in Islam].

There is a similar verse in Soorat al-Baqarah (2: 136).

- 3:85. If anyone seeks a religion other than Islam, never will it be accepted from him; and in the hereafter he will be among the losers.

That is, whoever follows a religion other than the religion of Islam, which Allah wants His slaves to follow, his deeds will be rejected and not accepted, because the religion of Islam is what is meant by (willing) submission to the will of Allah and sincerely following His Messengers. So if a person does not adhere to it, then he is not taking the measures of salvation from the punishment of Allah and attaining His reward. All religions other than Islam are false.

- 3:86. How would Allah guide people who disbelieve after having believed and borne witness that the Messenger was true and that clear signs had come unto them? But Allah does not guide people who are wrongdoers.
- 3:87. The requital of such people is that upon them is the curse of Allah, the angels and all humankind.
- 3:88. They will remain under it forever. Their punishment will not be alleviated, nor will they be given respite.
- 3:89. Except for those who repent after that, and mend their ways; for verily Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.

This is an expression of something being very unlikely; that is, it is very unlikely that Allah would guide people who chose disbelief and misguidance after having believed and testified that the Messenger (ﷺ) was true on the basis of what he brought to them of clear signs and definitive proof.

﴿But Allah does not guide people who are wrongdoers﴾. These people did wrong and abandoned the truth after having come to know it, and they followed falsehood even though they knew it was false, wrongfully and stubbornly, and on the basis of their own whims and desires. Hence these people will not be shown the path of guidance, because the one who it is hoped will be guided is the one who did not know the truth but is keen to seek it. Such a one is deserving of being shown the path of guidance and being protected from misguidance by Allah.

Then Allah tells us of the punishment of these stubborn wrongdoers in this world and in the hereafter, as He says:

﴿The requital of such people is that upon them is the curse of Allah, the angels and all humankind. They will remain under it forever. Their punishment will not be alleviated, nor will they be given respite﴾. That is, the punishment is not reduced for them, not even for a moment, either by being stopped altogether or by being reduced in intensity. ﴿nor will they be given respite﴾ that is, they will not be given any reprieve, because the time for respite has passed and Allah has left them no excuse, as He caused them to live for a long time but they did not heed the admonition. If there had been any good in them, it would have shown, and if they were to return to this world they would go back to their evil ways.

الضَّالُّونَ ۝ إِنَّ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا وَمَاتُوا وَهُمْ كُفَّارٌ فَلَنْ يُفْعَلَ مِنْ أَحَدِهِمْ مَلَأٌ

الْأَرْضِ ذَهَبًا وَلَوْ افْتَدَى بِهِ ۚ أُولَٰئِكَ لَهُمْ عَذَابٌ أَلِيمٌ وَمَا لَهُمْ مِنْ نَّاصِرِينَ ﴿٩١﴾

- 3:90. But those who disbelieve after having believed – and then continue increasing in their disbelief, their repentance will never be accepted; they are the ones who have gone astray.
- 3:91. Verily those who disbelieved and died as disbelievers, not an earthful of gold will be accepted from any such, even if they were to offer it as a ransom. For such there will be a painful punishment, and they will find no helpers.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that whoever disbelieves after having believed, then increases in disbelief by persisting in wrongdoing and misguidance, and persisting in turning away from the path of guidance, his repentance will not be accepted. In other words, they will not be helped to repent in any acceptable manner; rather Allah will let them get carried away in their misguidance. Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿We will turn their hearts and eyes away [from the truth], since they refused to believe in it the first time...﴾ (al-An'ām 6: 110)

﴿...So when they chose to deviate [from the truth], Allah caused their hearts to deviate...﴾ (as-Saff 61: 5)

Hence evil deeds lead to more evil deeds, especially in the case of one who has fallen into major disbelief and has abandoned the straight path, after proof was established against him and Allah had shown him clear signs and evidence. Such a person has barred himself from taking measures of attaining his Lord's mercy, and he is the one who has barred the way to repentance for himself. Hence misguidance is solely applicable to this type of people.

﴿they are the ones who have gone astray﴾ that is, what misguidance can be greater than that of the one who has abandoned the straight path, knowing that it is the straight path. If these disbelievers persist in disbelief until death, then eternal doom and wretchedness become inevitable, and nothing will benefit them; if one of them were to spend an earthful of gold to ransom himself from the punishment of Allah, that would not benefit him at all; rather they will inevitably remain subjected to the painful punishment, with no intercessor, support or help, and no one to turn to, to save them from the punishment of Allah. Thus they will despair of all good and will be certain that they will abide forever subject to punishment and wrath; may Allah save us from their fate.

3:92. You will never attain righteousness until you spend [in charity] of that which you love; and whatever you give [in charity], verily Allah knows it well.<sup>1</sup>

---

Here Allah (Subhânahu wa Ta'âlâ – Glorified and Exalted is He) encourages His slaves to spend on good causes, and says: ﴿You will never attain righteousness﴾ that is, you will never reach the level of righteousness which leads to paradise, ﴿until you spend [in charity] of that which you love﴾ that is, your precious wealth that you love. If you give precedence to the love of Allah over the love of wealth, and you spend it in ways that please Him, this will prove your sincere faith, the righteousness of your hearts and the genuineness of your piety. That includes spending what is precious of your wealth, spending when the giver is in need of what he gives, and spending when one is healthy. The verse indicates that the individual will attain righteousness according to his spending of that which he loves, and that he will be lacking according to what is lacking in his spending. Because spending in any way brings reward, whether the amount is small or great, and whether it is something he loves or not, and the words: «You will never attain righteousness until you spend [in charity] of that which you love» may give the impression that spending anything other than what is mentioned will be of no benefit, Allah dispelled this notion by saying: «and whatever you give [in charity], verily Allah knows it well», so do not be hard on yourselves, for He will reward you according to your intentions and the extent to which (your charity) benefits others.

- 3:93. All food was lawful to the Children of Israel, except what Israel [Ya'qoob] made unlawful for himself, before the Torah was revealed. Say: Bring the Torah and read it, if you are telling the truth.
- 3:94. Those who persist in fabricating lies and attributing them to Allah after this are indeed the wrongdoers.
- 3:95. Say: Allah has spoken the Truth. Follow the religion of Ibrâheem, the monotheist, and he was not one of those who ascribe partners to Allah.

This is a refutation of the Jews' false claim that abrogation was not permissible, as a result of which they disbelieved in 'Eesâ ('alayhi as-salâm – peace be upon him) and Muhammad (ṣalla Allāhu ‘alayhi wa sallam – blessings and peace be upon him) because they brought some rulings that differed from the rulings of the Torah concerning what is permissible and what is forbidden. By way of being completely fair in argument, and to make them quote from their own Book, the Torah, in order to prove that all types of food were permissible to the Children of Israel, Allah said: ﴿All food was lawful to the Children of Israel, except what Israel﴾ meaning Ya‘qoob (ﷺ) ﴿made unlawful for himself﴾ that is, without any prohibition from Allah (ﷻ); rather he forbade it to himself because he suffered from sciatica, so he vowed that if Allah (ﷻ) healed him, he would forbid to himself the most beloved of food to him. According to their sources, he forbade to himself the meat and milk of camels, and they followed him in that; this happened before the Torah was revealed. Then it was revealed in the Torah things that were forbidden other than what Israel (Ya‘qoob) had forbidden, of foods that had previously been permissible to them, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Because of the wrongdoing of the Jews, We forbade to them certain good things that had [previously] been permitted to them...﴾ (an-Nisā’ 4: 160)

Allah instructed His Messenger (ﷺ) that if they denied that, he was to tell them to bring the Torah, yet they persisted in wrongdoing and stubbornness after that. Hence Allah (ﷻ) said:

﴿Those who persist in fabricating lies and attributing them to Allah after this are indeed the wrongdoers﴾. What wrongdoing can be greater than the wrongdoing of one who is called to let his scripture judge, but he refuses to do that out of stubbornness and arrogance? This is among the greatest evidence of the soundness of the prophethood of our Prophet Muhammad (ﷺ) and that there are many clear signs of his truthfulness and the truthfulness of the One Who told him of various matters that he could not have known unless his Lord had told him of them. Hence Allah says:

«Say: Allah has spoken the Truth» that is, in what He has told you and in what He has ruled. This is a command from Allah to His Messenger (ﷺ) and those who follow him that they should say out loud: “Allah has spoken the truth”, believing that in their hearts on the basis of certain evidence, and so as to establish this testimony against those who deny it. Thus we know that the people who have the most faith and belief in Allah are those who have the most knowledge and understanding of the proof and evidence in detail, based on reports or reason. Then He instructed them to follow the religion of their father Ibrâheem (عليه السلام), that was based on affirmation of the oneness of Allah and abandoning polytheism; this is the basis of happiness, and abandoning it will result in doom and misery. This indicates that the Jews and others, who are not following the religion of Ibrâheem (عليه السلام), are polytheists, not monotheists.

When Allah commanded them to follow the religion of Ibrâheem in affirming the oneness of Allah and giving up polytheism, He commanded them to follow him in venerating His Sacred House by performing pilgrimage to it and otherwise, as He said:

﴿إِنَّ أَوَّلَ بَيْتٍ وُضِعَ لِلنَّاسِ لَلَّذِي بِبَكَّةَ مُبَارَكًا وَهُدًى لِلْعَالَمِينَ ﴿٩٦﴾ فِيهِ آيَاتٌ بَيِّنَاتٌ مَّقَامُ إِبْرَاهِيمَ وَمَنْ دَخَلَهُ كَانَ آمِنًا وَلِلَّهِ عَلَى النَّاسِ حِجُّ الْبَيْتِ مَنِ اسْتَطَاعَ إِلَيْهِ سَبِيلًا وَمَنْ كَفَرَ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ غَنِيٌّ عَنِ الْعَالَمِينَ ﴿٩٧﴾﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ٩٦-٩٧)

- 3:96. The first House [of worship] to be established for humanity was that at Bakkah [Makkah], full of blessings and guidance for the worlds.
- 3:97. In it are clear signs, [such as] the Station of Ibrâheem; whoever enters it will be safe. Pilgrimage to the House is a duty owed to Allah by all who can afford the journey; and whoever disbelieves, then Allah has no need of the worlds.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us about the high status of this sacred House and that it was the first House (of worship) that Allah established for people, where they could focus on worshipping their Lord, and thus their sins would be forgiven, they would draw close to Allah, and by virtue of (this House) they would do many acts of worship and good deeds to attain the pleasure of their Lord, earn His reward and be saved from His punishment. Hence Allah says:

﴿full of blessings﴾ that is, in it there is a great deal of blessing and spiritual and worldly benefits, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿So that they may avail themselves of benefits and mention the name of Allah [at the time of sacrifice], during the appointed days, over the livestock that He has provided for them...﴾ (al-Hajj 22: 28)

﴿and guidance for the worlds﴾. Guidance is of two types: guidance in knowledge and guidance in deeds. Guidance in deeds is visible; it includes what Allah has ordained in it (the Ḥaram) of various acts of worship that are unique to this place. Guidance in knowledge refers to what a person acquires, by means of this place, of knowledge of the truth, as there are clear signs therein that Allah (ﷻ) has mentioned in the following verse:

﴿In it are clear signs﴾ that is, clear evidence and definitive proof for various kinds of divinely revealed knowledge and sublime aims, such as evidence of His oneness, mercy, wisdom, greatness, majesty, the perfect nature of His knowledge, and the vastness of His bounty and what He has bestowed upon His close friends and Prophets. One of these signs is ﴿the Station of Ibrâheem﴾. It may be that what is meant here is the well-known Maqâm<sup>2</sup> (Station), which is the rock on which Ibrâheem (عليه السلام) stood in order to build the Kaaba when the structure had grown tall. It was formerly attached to the wall of the Kaaba, then when 'Umar (raḍiya Allāhu 'anhu – may Allah be pleased with him) was caliph, he put it in the place where it is now. It was also said that the sign in it is the traces of Ibrâheem's feet, which left a mark on the rock; that mark remained until the early period of this Ummah, and this is something extraordinary. It was also said that the sign in it is the high esteem for it that Allah has instilled in people's hearts, so they venerate, honour and respect it. It may be that what is meant by the Station of Ibrâheem is the various locations in which he stood for the rituals of Hajj. Thus it may mean that all the parts of Hajj are clear signs, such as ṭawâf (circumambulation of the Kaaba), sa'iy (going back and forth between Şafâ and Marwah), as well as its locations, standing in 'Arafah and Muzdalifah, and the stoning of the jamarât, and all the rituals of Hajj. The sign in this case is what Allah has instilled in people's hearts of veneration and respect for these places and rituals, and their readiness to make the effort and spend the best of their wealth in order to reach these places, and putting up with all kinds of difficulty for that purpose, as well as what there is in those rituals and places of great wisdom and sublime meanings, and what there may be in those actions of wisdom and benefits, some of which are beyond people's comprehension. Another of the great signs in this place is that whoever enters it will be safe, protected by Sharia, as is Allah's will. With regard to shar'î protection, Allah and His Messenger Ibrâheem (ﷺ), then His Messenger Muhammad (ﷺ), ordained that the place should be respected and that whoever enters it should be granted safety and not be disturbed. This protection even includes the game animals, trees and plants (in the Ḥaram). This verse is quoted as evidence by those scholars who said that any person who commits an offence outside the Ḥaram then seeks sanctuary in the Ḥaram is to be granted safety and no ḥadd punishment is to be carried out on him unless he goes out of the Ḥaram. As for being granted safety according to Allah's will, that is because Allah (ﷻ), by His will and decree, has instilled in people's hearts – even in the hearts of the polytheists who associate others with Him and those who disbelieve in their Lord – veneration and respect for this place, to the extent that one of them, despite all their strong tribal feelings and lack of patience in putting up with any wrongdoing done to him, may find his father's killer in the Ḥaram and not disturb him. Part of it being made a sanctuary is that if anyone intends to do harm to it, Allah will inevitably punish him in this world, as happened to the army of the elephant and others.

- 3:98. Say: O People of the Book, why do you reject the revelations of Allah, when Allah is witness to all that you do?
- 3:99. Say: O People of the Book, why do you bar from Allah's way those who believe, seeking to make it [seem] crooked when you yourselves are witnesses [to its truth]? But Allah is not unaware of all that you do.
- 3:100. O you who believe, if you obey some of those who were given the scripture, they will turn you into disbelievers after your having believed.

3:101. How can you disbelieve, when Allah's revelations are being recited to you and His Messenger is in your midst? Whoever holds fast to Allah is indeed guided to a straight path.

Here Allah rebukes the People of the Book, the Jews and Christians, for their rejection of the revelations of Allah that He sent down to His Messengers and made as a mercy to His slaves, by means of which they are guided to Him and by means of which they will be guided to all sublime aims and beneficial knowledge. These disbelievers combine disbelief in the revelations with barring those who believe in Allah from following them, and distorting and twisting the intended meaning, when they bear witness to its truth, knowing that what they have done is the greatest act of disbelief that would incur punishment. ﴿For those who disbelieve and bar others from the path of Allah, We will add punishment to their punishment because they used to spread mischief.﴾ (an-Nahl 16: 88)

Hence Allah warns them here: ﴿But Allah is not unaware of all that you do﴾; rather He is aware of your deeds, your intentions and your evil plot, and He will requite you for it with the worst of punishments. As He warned and rebuked them, He followed that with mention of His mercy, generosity and kindness, and warned His believing slaves lest a plot be hatched against them without them realising, as He said:

﴿O you who believe, if you obey some of those who were given the scripture, they will turn you into disbelievers after your having believed﴾ – that is because of their envy and resentment towards you, and their eagerness to turn you away from your religion, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿Many among the People of the Book wish they could turn you back to disbelief after you have believed, out of the envy they have in their hearts, after the truth has become clear to them...﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 109)

Then Allah (ﷻ) mentions the main reason and most significant factor that should make the believers steadfast, so that their certainty will not be shaken, and He states that this is something that is very unlikely:

«How can you disbelieve, when Allah's revelations are being recited to you and His Messenger is in your midst?» That is, the Messenger (ﷺ) is among you, reciting to you the verses of your Lord all the time; these are clear revelations which make one certain of the meaning and what they refer to, and not have any doubt about that content in any way, especially when the one who is explaining them is the best of humankind, the most knowledgeable, the most eloquent, the most sincere and the most compassionate towards the believers, and he is eager for people to be guided by all possible means; blessings and peace of Allah be upon him. He conveyed the message sincerely and clearly, and he did not leave any room for anyone to need to ask further questions or to seek further. Then Allah tells us that the one who holds fast to Him, puts his trust in Him, seeks protection by virtue of His strength and mercy from all evils and seeks His help in attaining all that is good, «is indeed guided to a straight path» that will bring him to his ultimate goal, because he is combining following the Messenger (ﷺ) in word and deed with holding fast to Allah.

- 3:102. O you who believe, fear Allah as He should be feared, and do not die except as Muslims.
- 3:103. And hold fast, all together, to the rope of Allah, and do not be divided among yourselves. Remember the blessing that Allah bestowed upon you, for you were enemies then He brought your hearts together, so that by His grace, you became brethren, and you were on the brink of the pit of fire, and He saved you from it. Thus Allah makes His revelations clear to you, so that you may be guided.

This is a command from Allah to His believing slaves, that they should fear Him as He should be feared and persist in that, remaining steadfast and adhering to it until death. The one who persists in something will die adhering to it. If a person persists in fearing his Lord, obeying Him and turning to Him all the time when he is healthy, energetic and able, Allah will make him steadfast at the time of death and bless him with a good end. Fearing Allah as He should be feared – as Ibn Mas'ood said – means that He is to be obeyed and not disobeyed, remembered and not forgotten, shown gratitude and not ingratitude. This verse explains what Allah (ﷻ) deserves of fear of Him. As for what is required of people in that regard, it is as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿So fear Allah as best you can...﴾ (at-Taghābun 64: 16)

The details of fearing Allah in terms of what is in the heart and actions that one should take are very many; fearing Allah means doing what Allah has enjoined and refraining from everything that Allah has forbidden.

Then Allah (ﷻ) instructed them to do that which will help them to attain fear of Him, which is to be united and adhere to the religion of Allah. The fact that the believers' call is one should unite them in harmony, because if the Muslims are united in their religion and their hearts are in harmony with one another, that will help to make their religious affairs sound and worldly affairs in good shape. By uniting, they will be able to tackle any matter and achieve innumerable interests that depend on unity, such as cooperating in righteousness and piety, and other matters; by the same token, division and enmity undermine their well-being, sever the bonds between them and lead to everyone striving for his own self-interests, even if that leads to harm on a community level.

Then Allah (ﷻ) reminds them of His blessings and instructs them to remember them:

﴿Remember the blessing that Allah bestowed upon you, for you were enemies﴾ killing one another and taking one another's wealth, to such an extent that the members of one tribe would fight and oppose one another, and there would be enmity and fighting among the people of one city. Their situation was one of grievous trouble; this was the situation of the Arabs before the Prophet (ﷺ) was sent. When Allah sent him and they believed in him, united in Islam and joined together in faith, they became like one person because of the harmony and bonds of friendship between them. Hence Allah (ﷻ) said: ﴿then He brought your hearts together, so that by His grace, you became brethren, and you were on the brink of the pit of fire﴾ that is, you deserved to enter the fire, and there was nothing standing between you and it except death, after which you would enter it

﴿and He saved you from it﴾ by means of what He blessed you with of belief in Muhammad (ﷺ).

﴿Thus Allah makes His revelations clear to you﴾ that is, He explains and clarifies them, and distinguishes for you truth from falsehood, guidance from misguidance

﴿so that you may be guided﴾ by knowing the truth and acting upon it. This verse indicates that Allah loves His slaves to remember His blessing in their hearts and verbally, so that they may increase in gratitude towards Him and love for Him, and so that He will give them more of His bounty and blessings. The greatest of what one may remember of His blessings is the blessing of guidance to Islam, following the Messenger (ﷺ) and unity among the Muslims.

﴿وَلَتَكُنْ مِنْكُمْ أُمَّةٌ يَدْعُونَ إِلَى الْخَيْرِ وَيَأْمُرُونَ بِالْمَعْرُوفِ وَيَنْهَوْنَ عَنِ الْمُنْكَرِ وَأُولَٰئِكَ هُمُ الْمُفْلِحُونَ﴾ (١٠٤) وَلَا تَكُونُوا كَالَّذِينَ تَفَرَّقُوا وَاخْتَلَفُوا مِنْ بَعْدِ مَا جَاءَهُمُ الْبَيِّنَاتُ وَأُولَٰئِكَ لَهُمْ عَذَابٌ عَظِيمٌ ﴿١٠٥﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٠٤-١٠٥)

- 3:104. Let there arise from among you a group of people inviting to all that is good, enjoining what is right, and forbidding what is wrong. They are the ones who will be successful.
- 3:105. Do not be like those who became divided and fell into disputes after the clear proofs had come unto them; for them there will be a grievous punishment.

That is, let there be among you, O believers whom Allah has blessed with faith and holding fast to His rope, ﴿a group of people inviting to all that is good﴾. Good (khayr) is a comprehensive word that includes everything that brings one closer to Allah and further away from His wrath ﴿enjoining what is right﴾ that is, everything that is known to be good by means of rational or shar'i proof ﴿and forbidding what is wrong﴾ that is, everything that is known to be evil by means of rational or shar'i proof. This is an instruction from Allah to the believers, that among them there should be a group that takes on the task of calling people to His way and explaining His religion to people. That includes the scholars who teach religion; the preachers who call the people of other religions to enter Islam and call those who have gone astray to mend their ways; the mujāhideen who strive in jihad for the sake of Allah; those who have the task of checking on people and making them adhere to the rulings of Islam such as the five daily prayers, zakâh, fasting, Hajj and so on; and those who check on weights and measures, and check on the traders in the marketplace, preventing them from cheating or engaging in invalid transactions. All of these matters come under the heading of communal obligations, as is indicated in this verse, in which it says, «Let there arise from among you a group of people». In other words, let there be among you a group of people who achieve the purpose behind the things mentioned. It is well established that when something is enjoined, it refers to that thing and whatever means are necessary to achieve it. Whatever these matters depend on is also enjoined, such as preparing for jihad by making ready all kinds of equipment by means of which the goal of defeating enemies and making the word of Islam supreme may be attained; acquiring knowledge with which to call people to what is good and developing means of achieving that; building schools to teach knowledge; helping the authorities in implementing the laws of Sharia among the people in word and deed, and with financial support; and other matters on which these aims depend. This group that is prepared to call people to what is good, enjoining what is right and forbidding what is wrong, is the elite of the believers. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says concerning them: «They are the ones who will be successful»; they will attain what they are seeking (paradise) and be saved from what they fear (hell).

Then Allah forbids being like the People of the Book in terms of division and disputes:

«Do not be like those who became divided and fell into disputes». What is astounding is that their disputes came «after the clear proofs had come unto them», that should have led to them not being divided. It was more expected of them than others that they would adhere to the religion, but what happened was the opposite, even though they were aware that they were going against the command of Allah. Thus they deserved the severe punishment; hence Allah (ﷻ) said: «for them there will be a grievous punishment».

﴿يَوْمَ تَبْيَضُّ وُجُوهٌ وَتَسْوَدُّ وُجُوهٌ فَأَمَّا الَّذِينَ اسْوَدَّتْ وُجُوهُهُمْ أَكَفَرْتُمْ بَعْدَ إِيمَانِكُمْ فَذُوقُوا الْعَذَابَ بِمَا كُنْتُمْ تَكْفُرُونَ ﴿١٠٦﴾ وَأَمَّا الَّذِينَ أَبْيَضَتْ وُجُوهُهُمْ فَفِي رَحْمَةِ اللَّهِ هُمْ فِيهَا خَالِدُونَ ﴿١٠٧﴾ تِلْكَ آيَاتُ اللَّهِ نَتْلُوهَا عَلَيْكَ بِالْحَقِّ وَمَا اللَّهُ يُرِيدُ ظُلْمًا لِلْعَالَمِينَ﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٠٦-١٠٨)

- 3:106. On the day when some faces will become bright, and some faces will become dark, to those whose faces will become dark, [it will be said]: Did you disbelieve after having believed? Taste then the punishment for having disbelieved.
- 3:107. But those whose faces become bright, they will be in Allah's mercy [paradise], to abide therein forever.
- 3:108. These are the revelations of Allah; We recite them to you in Truth: And Allah does not intend any injustice to [any of] His creation.

Here Allah tells us about the Day of Resurrection and the outcome of recompense on the basis of justice and grace on that day. This includes both promises and warnings that instil hope and fear.

﴿On the day when some faces will become bright﴾ – these are the faces of the good people who are blessed, the people who were united in holding fast to the rope of Allah.

﴿and some faces will become dark﴾ – these are the faces of the evil people who are doomed, those who were divided and who differed among themselves. Their faces will become dark because of the disgrace, humiliation and shame in their hearts; the faces of the blessed will become bright because of the joy, happiness, blessing and contentment in their hearts, the effects of which will appear on their faces, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...and will bestow upon them radiance and joy.﴾ (al-Insân 76: 11)

The radiance will be on their faces and the joy will be in their hearts. Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿As for those who earn evil, the recompense of an evil deed will be the like thereof, and shame will cover them. They will have no protector from [the wrath of] Allah. Their faces will be covered, as it were, with patches of darkest night. They will be inhabitants of the fire; they will abide therein forever.﴾ (Yoonus 10: 27)

﴿to those whose faces will become dark﴾ it will be said to them by way of rebuke and reprimanding: ﴿Did you disbelieve after having believed?﴾ that is, how could you prefer disbelief and misguidance over faith and guidance? How could you forsake the path of guidance and follow the path of misguidance?

﴿Taste then the punishment for having disbelieved﴾ for nothing is befitting for you except the fire and you deserve nothing but disgrace and shame.

﴿But those whose faces become bright﴾ will have the most perfect joy and they will be given the greatest glad tidings. They will be given the glad tidings of admittance to paradise and the pleasure and mercy of their Lord.

﴿they will be in Allah's mercy [paradise], to abide therein forever﴾. Because they will abide in His mercy forever, paradise is part of His mercy; they will abide therein forever, enjoying all that it contains of eternal delights and a life of ease in the vicinity of the Most Merciful of those who show mercy.

When Allah explained to His Messenger (ﷺ) the rulings and requitals, He said: ﴿These are the revelations of Allah; We recite them to you﴾ that is, We tell them to you ﴿in Truth﴾ because His commands and prohibitions are based on wisdom and mercy, and the reward and punishment are likewise based on wisdom, mercy and justice that is free of any injustice. Hence He said ﴿And Allah does not intend any injustice to [any of] His creation﴾. He told us that He does not intend to be unjust towards them, let alone act on the basis of injustice, so He will not detract from the reward for good deeds of anyone or increase the wrongdoing of the wrongdoers; rather He will requite them for their deeds only.

3:109. To Allah belongs all that is in the heavens and on earth; it is to Allah that all things will return.

That is, He is the Sovereign of everything in the heavens and on earth; He created them and granted them provision, and He controls them in accordance with His will and decree and in what He prescribes and enjoins upon them. They will return to Him on the Day of Resurrection, and He will requite them for their deeds, both good and bad.

﴿كُنْتُمْ خَيْرَ اُمَّةٍ اُخْرِجَتْ لِلنَّاسِ تَأْمُرُوْنَ بِالْمَعْرُوْفِ وَتَنْهَوْنَ عَنِ الْمُنْكَرِ ۚ وَتُؤْمِنُوْنَ بِاللّٰهِ وَلَوْ ءَامَنَ اَهْلُ الْكِتٰبِ لَكَانَ خَيْرًا لَّهٖمۡ مِّنْهُمُ الْمُؤْمِنُوْنَ وَاَكْثَرُهُمُ الْفٰسِقُوْنَ﴾ (۱۱۰) لَنْ يَضُرُّكُمْ اِلَّا اَذًى ۖ وَاِنْ يُقْتَلُوْكُمْ يَوْلُوْكُمْ اِلَّا ذُبٰرٌ ثُمَّ لَا يُنصَرُوْنَ﴾ (۱۱۱) ضُرِبَتْ عَلَيْهِمُ الذَّلٰلَةُ اِنْ مَا تَفْقَهُوْا اِلَّا بِحَبْلِ مِّنَ اللّٰهِ وَحَبْلِ مِّنَ النَّاسِ وِبَآءُ وُ يَفْضَحُ مِّنَ اللّٰهِ وَضُرِبَتْ عَلَيْهِمُ الْمَسْكَنَةُ ۚ ذٰلِكَ بِاَنَّهُمْ كَانُوْا يَكْفُرُوْنَ بِآيٰتِ اللّٰهِ وَيَقْتُلُوْنَ الْاَنْبِيَآءَ بِغَيْرِ حَقٍّ ۚ ذٰلِكَ بِمَا عَصَوْا وَكَانُوْا يَعْتَدُوْنَ

- 3:110. You are the best community ever brought forth for [the benefit of] humankind; you enjoin what is good, and forbid what is evil, and you believe in Allah. If only the People of the Book had believed, it would have been better for them. Among them are some who do believe, but most of them are evildoers.
- 3:111. They will do you no harm, except with abusive words. If they come out to fight you, they will turn and flee, then they will not be helped.
- 3:112. They are struck with humiliation wherever they may be, except when under a covenant [of protection] from Allah or a covenant [of protection] from the people. They have incurred Allah's wrath, and wretchedness is decreed for them. This is because they disbelieved in the revelations of Allah, and killed the Prophets unjustly. That was because of their disobedience and transgression.

Here Allah (ﷻ) praises this Ummah and states that it is the best of communities that Allah has ever brought forth for (the benefit of) humanity, because they perfected themselves by having faith, which requires them to do everything that He enjoined and to strive in perfecting others by enjoining what is good and forbidding what is evil. That includes calling the people to Allah, striving for that purpose and doing their utmost to turn people away from their misguidance, transgression and sin. By doing that, they (the Muslims) become the best community ever brought forth for (the benefit of) humanity. In a previous verse (3: 104), Allah (ﷻ) said: «Let there arise from among you a group of people inviting to all that is good, enjoining what is right, and forbidding what is wrong». This is a command from Allah to this Ummah, and when there is a command, the one who is commanded may or may not do it. But in this verse (3: 110) Allah states that the Ummah has carried out what Allah instructed it to do and obeyed the command of its Lord; thus it deserves to be favoured above all other nations or communities.

﴿If only the People of the Book had believed, it would have been better for them﴾. This is a kind of calling them in a gentle manner that should cause them to respond to the call, but only a few of them believed; most of them are evildoers who disobeyed Allah and showed all kinds of enmity towards the close friends of Allah. But by the grace of Allah towards His believing slaves, He caused their plots to backfire, so they will not harm the believers in terms of their religious commitment or physical well-being. Rather the worst of their harm is no more than verbal annoyance which is inevitable on the part of every opponent. But if they fight the believers, they will turn and flee, then their defeat will be ongoing; they will continue to be humiliated and they will not be helped at any time. Hence Allah says that He has punished them with inward humiliation and outward wretchedness, and they will never feel settled or at peace.

﴿except when under a covenant [of protection] from Allah or a covenant [of protection] from the people﴾. The Jews will only either be under Muslim rule, paying jizyah according to the covenant, or they will be under Christian rule.

﴿They have incurred Allah's wrath﴾ in addition to that, and this is the worst punishment. Allah tells us why they have ended up in this situation, as He says:

﴿This is because they disbelieved in the revelations of Allah﴾ that Allah sent down to His Messenger Muhammad (ﷺ), that should have led to certainty and faith, but they disbelieved in them out of resentment and stubbornness

﴿and killed the Prophets unjustly﴾ that is, they responded to the Prophets of Allah, who showed them the greatest kindness, in the most evil of ways, by killing them. After such an audacious crime, could there be anything worse than that? All of this came about because of their disobedience and enmity, which is what gave them the audacity to disbelieve in Allah and kill the Prophets of Allah.

يَسْجُدُونَ ﴿١١٣﴾ يُؤْمِنُونَ بِاللَّهِ وَالْيَوْمِ الْآخِرِ وَيَأْمُرُونَ بِالْمَعْرُوفِ وَيَنْهَوْنَ
عَنِ الْمُنْكَرِ وَيُسْرِعُونَ فِي الْخَيْرَاتِ وَأُولَٰئِكَ مِنَ الصَّالِحِينَ ﴿١١٤﴾ وَمَا يَفْعَلُوا مِنْ
خَيْرٍ فَلَن يُكْفَرُوهُ وَاللَّهُ عَلِيمٌ بِالْمُتَّقِينَ ﴿١١٥﴾﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١١٣-١١٥)

- 3:113. Not all of them are alike. Among the People of the Book are some who are upright; they recite the revelations of Allah [in prayer] during the night, and they prostrate.
- 3:114. They believe in Allah and the Last Day; they enjoin what is good, and forbid what is evil; and they hasten to do good deeds. They are among the righteous.
- 3:115. Whatever good they do, it will not go unappreciated; for Allah knows well those who are conscious of Him.

After having told us about the evildoers among the People of the Book, and their deeds and punishments, Allah then tells us about the upright group, and their deeds and rewards. He tells us that they are not alike in His sight, rather there is an indescribable difference between them. The evildoers are as described above, whereas these people are believers. Allah tells us that some of them ﴿are upright﴾ that is, they adhere to the religion of Allah and do that which Allah has commanded, which includes establishing prayer ﴿they recite the revelations of Allah [in prayer] during the night, and they prostrate﴾. This is a description of their prayer during the night, their lengthy tahajjud, their recitation of the Book of their Lord, their showing humility towards Him and their bowing and prostrating to Him.

﴿They believe in Allah and the Last Day﴾ that is, their faith is like that of the believers, which includes believing in every Prophet who was sent and every Book revealed by Allah. Belief in the Last Day is singled out for mention because belief in the Last Day motivates the believer to do that which brings him closer to Allah and that will bring reward on that day, and to avoid anything for which he will be punished on that day.

﴿they enjoin what is good, and forbid what is evil﴾ thus they strive to perfect themselves by means of faith and all that it entails, and they strive to perfect others by enjoining them to do all that is good and forbidding them to do anything that is evil. That includes encouraging their co-religionists and others to believe in Muhammad (ﷺ). Then Allah describes their lofty aspirations:

﴿and they hasten to do good deeds﴾ that is, they rush to do them and seek every opportunity to do them at the earliest possible time. That is because of their great eagerness to do what is good, and their knowledge of the benefits and reward that goodness brings. These are the people to whom Allah ascribes these beautiful characteristics and good deeds.

﴿They are among the righteous﴾ whom Allah encompasses in His mercy and forgiveness, bestowing upon them His grace and bounty.

﴿Whatever good they do﴾, whether it is great or small
 ﴿it will not go unappreciated﴾ that is, they will never be deprived of its reward; rather Allah will reward them for it completely, but the reward for deeds depends on what is in the individual's heart of faith and piety. Hence Allah says: ﴿for Allah knows well those who are conscious of Him﴾, as He says elsewhere:

﴿... Verily, Allah only accepts from those who fear Him.﴾ (al-Mā'idah 5: 27)

﴿إِنَّ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا لَنْ تُغْنِيَ عَنْهُمْ أَمْوَالُهُمْ وَلَا أَوْلَادُهُمْ مِنَ اللَّهِ شَيْئًا وَأُولَٰئِكَ أَصْحَابُ النَّارِ هُمْ فِيهَا خَالِدُونَ ﴿١٦٦﴾﴾ مَثَلُ مَا يُنْفِقُونَ فِي هَذِهِ الْحَيَاةِ الدُّنْيَا كَمَثَلِ

رِيحٌ فِيهَا صَاعِقٌ أَصَابَتْ حَرْثَ قَوْمٍ ظَلَمُوا أَنْفُسَهُمْ فَأَهْلَكَتْهُ وَمَا ظَلَمَهُمُ اللَّهُ وَلَٰكِنْ
 أَنْفُسُهُمْ يَظْلِمُونَ ﴿١١٧﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١١٦-١١٧)

- 3:116. As for those who disbelieve, neither their wealth nor their children will avail them at all against Allah; it is they who will be inhabitants of the fire, abiding therein forever.
- 3:117. The likeness of what they spend in this worldly life is that of a freezing wind that strikes the crops of people who have wronged themselves, destroying them. It is not Allah Who has wronged them, but they wronged themselves.

Here Allah tells us that in the case of those who disbelieve, their wealth and children will never avail them at all before Allah; they will not ward off from them anything of the punishment of Allah or bring them anything of the reward of Allah, as He says:

﴿It is not your wealth or your children that bring you nearer to Us; but those who believe and do righteous deeds...﴾ (Saba' 34: 37)

Rather their wealth and their children are a means that will take them to hell and serve as proof against them that Allah bestowed blessings upon them for which they should have been grateful, and they will be punished for not giving thanks and for disbelieving. Hence Allah says: ﴿it is they who will be inhabitants of the fire, abiding therein forever﴾.

Then Allah gives a likeness of what the disbelievers spend of their wealth in order to bar people from the path of Allah, seeking thereby to extinguish the light of Allah; their wealth will not achieve anything and it will diminish, like one who sows crops, hoping that they will be productive and hoping to harvest the yield, but whilst he is like that a freezing wind comes, one that is biting cold, and destroys his crops, leaving him with nothing but exhaustion and sorrow. Similarly, these disbelievers, of whom Allah (ﷻ) says:

«The disbelievers spend their wealth to bar [people] from the path of Allah, and they will continue to spend it, then it will become a source of regret for them, then they will be defeated...» (al-Anfāl 8: 36)

«It is not Allah Who has wronged them» by cancelling out their deeds

«but they wronged themselves» when they disbelieved in the revelations of Allah, rejected His Messenger (ﷺ) and were eager to extinguish the light of Allah. These factors are what made their deeds come to nothing and took away their wealth.

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا لَا تَتَّخِذُوا بَطَانَةً مِنْ دُونِكُمْ لَا يَأْلُونَكُمْ خَبَالًا وَدُّوا مَا عَنِتُّمْ قَدْ بَدَتِ الْبَغْضَاءُ مِنْ أَفْوَاهِهِمْ وَمَا تُخْفِي صُدُورُهُمْ أَكْبَرُ قَدْ بَيَّنَّا لَكُمُ الْآيَاتِ إِنْ كُنْتُمْ تَعْقِلُونَ ﴿١١٨﴾ هَآأَنْتُمْ أَوْلَاءُ تُحِبُّونَهُمْ وَلَا يُحِبُّونَكُمْ وَتُؤْمِنُونَ بِالْكِتَابِ كُلِّهِ وَإِذَا لَقُوكُمْ قَالُوا آمَنَّا وَإِذَا خَلَوْا عَضُّوا عَلَيْكُمْ الْأَنَامِلَ مِنَ الْغَيْظِ قُلْ مُؤْتُوا يَغِيظُكُمُ اللَّهُ إِنَّ اللَّهَ عَلِيمٌ بِذَاتِ الصُّدُورِ ﴿١١٩﴾ إِنْ تَمَسَسْتُمْ حَسَنَةً سَوْهُمْ وَإِنْ تُصِيبْكُمْ سَيِّئَةٌ يَفْرَحُوا بِهَا وَإِنْ تَصِيرُوا وَتَتَّقُوا لَا يَضُرُّكُمْ كَيْدُهُمْ شَيْئًا إِنَّ اللَّهَ بِمَا يَعْمَلُونَ مُحِيطٌ ﴿١٢٠﴾﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١١٨-١٢٠)

3:118. O you who believe, do not take as your close friends those outside your ranks; they will spare no effort to cause you mischief; they wish to see you in distress. Hatred has already appeared from their mouths, and what their hearts conceal is far worse. We have made clear to you the revelations, if you understand.

3:119. O you who [take them as close friends], you love them but they do not love you, even though you believe in all the scriptures. When they meet you, they say: We believe, but when they are alone, they bite their fingertips in their rage against you. Say: Perish in your rage; Allah knows well what is in [your] hearts.

- 3:120. If anything good happens to you, it grieves them; but if some misfortune overtakes you, they rejoice at it. But if you remain steadfast and fear Allah, not the least harm will their scheming do to you; for Allah has full knowledge of all that they do.

Here Allah (ﷻ) forbids His believing slaves to take close friends from among the hypocrites of the People of the Book and others, telling them of their secrets and what is in their hearts, or appointing them to do some work for the Muslim community. That is because they are enemies whose hearts are filled with hostility and hatred, thus it has appeared from their mouths.

﴿and what their hearts conceal is far worse﴾ than what you hear from them. Hence ﴿they will spare no effort to cause you mischief﴾ that is, they will do their utmost to cause you harm and distress, and they will do things to cause you trouble and help your enemies against you. Allah says to the believers:

﴿We have made clear to you the revelations﴾ that is, in which you will find that which is in your best interests in both religious and worldly terms

﴿if you understand﴾ and thus recognise these things and distinguish between friends and enemies. For not everyone should be taken as a close friend; rather the wise person is someone who, if he has no choice but to mix with the enemy, only mixes with him outwardly, and does not let him know anything about his inner thoughts, even if that person tries to be a friend and swears that he is his friend.

Allah says, urging the believers to be cautious of these hypocrites among the People of the Book, and explaining the extent of their enmity:

﴿O you who [take them as close friends], you love them but they do not love you, even though you believe in all the scriptures﴾ that is, all the Books that Allah has revealed to His Prophets, whereas they do not believe in your Book; rather when they meet you they pretend to be believers:

«When they meet you, they say: We believe, but when they are alone, they bite their fingertips in their rage against you».

«Say: Perish in your rage; Allah knows well what is in [your] hearts» this is glad tidings for the believers: those who aim to harm you are only harming themselves and they cannot act upon their rage; they will continue to be troubled by it until they die and move from the punishment of this world to the punishment of the hereafter.

«If anything good happens to you», such as victory over the enemy, conquests and booty

«it grieves them» that is, it upsets them and causes them distress

«but if some misfortune overtakes you, they rejoice at it. But if you remain steadfast and fear Allah, not the least harm will their scheming do to you; for Allah has full knowledge of all that they do». If you take the measures by means of which Allah has promised victory – namely steadfastness and fear of Him – their scheming will not harm you; rather Allah will cause their schemes to backfire, because He has complete knowledge and power over them. Hence they cannot escape from that and nothing is hidden from Him.

﴿وَإِذْ عَدَوْتَ مِنْ أَهْلِكَ تُبَوِّئُ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ مَقْعِدَ لِلْقِتَالِ وَاللَّهُ سَمِيعٌ عَلِيمٌ ﴿١٢١﴾
هَمَّتْ طَائِفَتَانِ مِنْكُمْ أَنْ تَفْشَلَا وَاللَّهُ وَلِيَهُمَا وَعَلَى اللَّهِ فَلْيَتَوَكَّلِ الْمُؤْمِنُونَ ﴿١٢٢﴾﴾

(سورة آل عمران: ١٢١-١٢٢)

- 3:121. And [remember] when you set out from your home to post the believers at their stations for battle; and Allah is All-Hearing, All-Knowing.

3:122. And [remember] when two groups from among you were about to lose heart; but Allah was their protector, and in Allah let the believers put their trust.

These verses were revealed concerning the battle of Uḥud, the story of which is well known from books of seerah (Prophet's biography) and history. Perhaps the reason why the story of Uḥud is mentioned in this context, as is the story of Badr later on, is that Allah (ﷻ) had promised the believers that if they were steadfast and feared Him, He would grant them victory and foil the schemes of their enemies against them. This is a general principle and true promise that is never broken if the conditions are met. Examples of that are mentioned in these two stories. Allah supported the believers at Badr, when they were patient and feared Him, and He caused the enemy to gain the upper hand (at Uḥud) when they acted in a manner that showed that their fear of Allah had been undermined. One of the reasons why these two stories are mentioned together is that Allah loves His slaves, if something they dislike happens to them, to remember other things that happened to them that they do like; this will reduce the impact of the calamity and they will give thanks to Allah for the great blessing that, when compared to the calamity that has befallen them but is ultimately good for them, will make the calamity seem insignificant in comparison with those blessings. And Allah also refers to this wisdom in the verse: ﴿How is it that, when a calamity befell you whilst you had inflicted twice as much [on your enemy], you said: Where has this come from? Say [to them]: It has come from your own selves. Verily, Allah has power over all things.﴾ (3: 165).

To sum up the story of Uḥud: when the remnants of the polytheists went back from Badr to Makkah, which happened in 2 AH, they prepared all that they could of wealth, men and equipment, until they had collected enough to give some certainty that they would achieve their goal and exact vengeance. Then they headed from Makkah to Madinah with three thousand fighters, and they halted near Madinah. The Prophet (ﷺ) came out to meet them, after consulting with his Companions (radiya Allāhu 'anhum – may Allah be pleased with all of them). He came out with one thousand men. After they had gone a short distance, the hypocrite 'Abdullāh ibn Ubayy went back with one-third of the army whose thinking was akin to his. Two groups among the believers, Banu Salamah and Banu Hārithah, thought of turning back, but Allah made them steadfast. When they reached Uḥud, the Prophet (ﷺ) stationed the Muslims with their back to Uḥud, then he placed fifty men in a gap in Mount Uḥud, and instructed them to stay put and not to move from that spot; their job was to make sure that no one could attack the Muslims from the rear. When the Muslims and the polytheists met in battle, the polytheists were initially defeated and they fled, leaving behind their camps, and the Muslims pursued them, killing some and taking others captive. When the archers whom the Prophet (ﷺ) had stationed in the gap in the mountain saw them, they said to one another: The booty, the booty! Why should we stay here when the polytheists have been defeated? Their commander, 'Abdullāh ibn Jubayr, warned them not to disobey orders, but they did not pay any attention to him. When they deserted their posts and only a few were left, including their commander 'Abdullāh ibn Jubayr, the cavalry of the polytheists came through that gap and attacked the Muslim rearguard from behind. The Muslims were thrown into panic, which was a very hard test for them and in which they were made to taste the punishment for their disobedience, and some of them were killed. Then they climbed up to the top of Mount Uḥud and Allah restrained the hands of the polytheists, who returned to their land, and the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) and his Companions (رضي الله عنهم) returned to Madinah.

﴿And [remember] when you set out from your home﴾ the Prophet (ﷺ) and his Companions set out after Jumu'ah prayer

﴿to post the believers at their stations for battle﴾ that is, you organised them and placed them in suitable positions. This is great praise for the Prophet (ﷺ), because he is the one who organised them and posted them in their battle stations; that was because of his perfect knowledge and skill, and his high aspirations and perfect courage, because he took care of these matters himself; blessings and peace of Allah be upon him.

﴿and Allah is All-Hearing﴾; He hears all sounds, including what the believers and hypocrites say, each of them speaking in accordance with what is in his heart

﴿All-Knowing﴾; He knows people's intentions, and requites them in full. Moreover, Allah hears you, knows all about you, and takes care of you; He controls your affairs and supports you. He said to Moosâ and Hâroon:

﴿Allah said: Fear not; verily I am with you both. I hear and see [everything].﴾ (Tâ Hâ 20: 46)

By His grace and kindness to them, when ﴿two groups from among﴾ the believers thought of giving up – namely Banu Salamah and Banu Hârithah, as stated above – Allah (ﷻ) made them steadfast as a favour to them and to the rest of the believers. Hence He said: ﴿but Allah was their protector﴾. That was by His grace towards His close friends; He guided them to that which was in their best interests and protected them from that which could have caused them harm. One aspect of His protection of them was that when they thought of committing this great sin, namely giving up and deserting the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ), He protected them from doing so because of the faith they had. This is like the verse:

﴿Allah is the Protector of those who have faith; from the depths of darkness He will lead them forth into light...﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 257)

Then He said: ﴿and in Allah let the believers put their trust﴾. This is a command to put their trust in Allah, which means relying on Him to bring benefits and ward off harm, whilst trusting and having faith in Allah. A person's trust in Allah will be commensurate with his faith, and the believers are more entitled to put their trust in Allah than anyone else, especially at times of hardship and fighting, because they have no choice but to put their trust in their Lord, to seek His help and support, to declare that they have no power or strength of their own and to depend on the power and strength of Allah. Thus He will support them and ward off calamities and trials from them.

﴿وَلَقَدْ نَصَرَكُمُ اللَّهُ بِبَدْرٍ وَأَنْتُمْ أَذِلَّةٌ فَاتَّقُوا اللَّهَ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَشْكُرُونَ ﴿١٢٣﴾ إِذْ يَقُولُ
لِلْمُؤْمِنِينَ أَلَنْ يَكْفِيَكُمْ أَنْ يُمِدَّكُمْ رَبُّكُمْ بِثَلَاثَةِ آَلَفٍ مِنَ الْمَلَائِكَةِ مُنَزَّلِينَ ﴿١٢٤﴾
بَلَىٰ إِنْ تَصْبِرُوا وَتَتَّقُوا وَيَأْتُوكُمْ مِنْ فُورِهِمْ هَذَا يُمْدِدْكُمْ رَبُّكُمْ بِخَمْسَةِ آَلَفٍ مِنَ
الْمَلَائِكَةِ مُسَوِّمِينَ ﴿١٢٥﴾ وَمَا جَعَلَهُ اللَّهُ إِلَّا بُشْرَىٰ لَكُمْ وَلِنُظْمِنَ قُلُوبَكُمْ بِهِ وَمَا النَّصْرُ
إِلَّا مِنْ عِنْدِ اللَّهِ الْعَزِيزِ الْحَكِيمِ ﴿١٢٦﴾﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٢٣-١٢٦)

- 3:123. Allah had helped you at Badr, when you were weak and few in number. So fear Allah, that you may be grateful.
- 3:124. [Remember] when you said to the believers: Does it not suffice you that Allah will help you with three thousand angels sent down?
- 3:125. Indeed, if you remain steadfast and are mindful of Allah, even if the enemy should attack you suddenly, your Lord will [immediately] help you with five thousand angels clearly marked.
- 3:126. Allah ordained this only as glad tidings for you, and to reassure your hearts thereby; there is no victory except from Allah, the Almighty, the Most Wise.

This is a reminder to His believing slaves of how He helped them achieve victory on the day of Badr, when they were weak, few in number and poorly equipped, in contrast to the great numbers and superior equipment of their enemy. The battle of Badr occurred in 2 AH. The Prophet (ﷺ) left Madinah with a little over three hundred of his Companions (رضي الله عنهم), and they had only seventy camels and two horses with them. They set out in pursuit of the caravan of Quraysh that had come from Syria. The polytheists heard of that, so they prepared the army to go from Makkah to protect their caravan; they set out with approximately one thousand well-equipped and fully armed fighters and plenty of horses. They and the Muslims met at a well called Badr, between Makkah and Madinah, where they fought. Allah granted a great victory to the Muslims, who killed seventy of the most prominent and courageous of the polytheists, as well as capturing seventy more and seizing control of their camp. We will discuss the story further in the commentary on Soorat al-Anfâl, in shâ' Allâh, as that is the appropriate place to do so. However, Allah mentioned it here to remind the Muslims that they should fear their Lord and give thanks to Him. Hence He said: ﴿So fear Allah, that you may be grateful﴾, because the one who fears his Lord has given thanks to Him, and the one who does not fear his Lord has not given thanks to him.

﴿[Remember] when you said to the believers﴾ that is, remember, O Muhammad (ﷺ), when you said to the believers on the day of Badr, giving them the glad tidings of victory:

﴿Does it not suffice you that Allah will help you with three thousand angels sent down? Indeed, if you remain steadfast and are mindful of Allah, even if the enemy should attack you suddenly, your Lord will [immediately] help you with five thousand angels clearly marked﴾ that is, they bear marks of courage. Allah stipulated three conditions for their support: steadfastness, fear of Allah and a sudden attack from the enemy. This was a promise to send down the angels mentioned and to support them by means of those angels. As for the promise of victory and foiling the enemy's schemes, Allah stipulated the first two conditions for that, as we have seen previously in the verse: «But if you remain steadfast and fear Allah, not the least harm will their scheming do to you» (3: 120).

«Allah ordained this» that is, His support of you with the angels «only as glad tidings for you» so that you might rejoice and your spirits be raised

«and to reassure your hearts thereby; there is no victory except from Allah», so do not rely on what you have of the means of victory; rather the means of victory may give you some reassurance, but the true victory that cannot be overturned comes by the will of Allah; He grants victory to whomever He will of His slaves. If He wills, He grants victory to those who have the means of attaining victory and are better prepared, as is usually the case; but if He wills, He will grant victory to the weaker side, in order to highlight to His slaves that all matters are in His Hands and all matters go back to Him. Hence He said:

«from Allah, the Almighty», so no created being can frustrate Him; rather all people are weak and under His control

«the Most Wise» Who says and does what is appropriate at the right time and in the right place. By His wisdom He sometimes causes the disbelievers to prevail over the Muslims, but this is not ongoing. Allah (ﷻ) says:

«...If Allah had so willed, He could have exacted retribution upon them [without you fighting], but He [commands you to fight] in order to test some of you by means of others...» (Muhammad 47: 4)

3:127. [Allah helped you] so that He might cut down a section of the disbelievers or disgrace them, so that they might retreat in utter disappointment.

Here Allah tells us that He gives His help to His believing slaves for either of two reasons, the first of which is to cut down a section or group of the disbelievers and their prominent figures, by causing them to be killed or captured, or a city to be taken over, or booty to be seized, thus strengthening the believers and humiliating the disbelievers. That is because the disbelievers' resistance to Islam and their fighting the Muslims are based on their individuals, weapons, wealth and land, by means of which they are able to resist and fight. Therefore cutting down any part of that reduces their strength. The second reason is that by means of their strength and numbers, the disbelievers have great hope of defeating the Muslims and are very keen to achieve that, so they do their utmost and spend their wealth to achieve it. Hence Allah helps the believers against them and sends them back disappointed, not having achieved their goal; rather they go back with loss, grief and sorrow. If you think about what happens in reality, you will see that Allah's help to His believing slaves is only ever one of these two things: either victory against the enemy or disgrace and retreat for them.

3:128. It is not for you [O Prophet] to decide whether He turn in mercy to them, or punish them, for they are indeed wrongdoers.

3:129. To Allah belongs all that is in the heavens and on earth. He forgives whomever He wills and punishes whomever He wills, and Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.

When the events of the day of Uḥud unfolded, and the Prophet (ﷺ) went through hardship, by means of which Allah raised him in status, and his head was injured and his front tooth broken, he said: «How can any people prosper who injured the head of their Prophet?» (Muslim)<sup>3</sup>

He started to pray against the leaders of the polytheists, such as Abu Sufyân ibn Ḥarb, Ṣafwân ibn Umayyah, Suhayl ibn 'Amr and al-Ḥârith ibn Hishâm, but Allah sent down revelation to him, forbidding him to pray against them, invoke curses upon them and seek their expulsion from the mercy of Allah:

«It is not for you [O Prophet] to decide»; all you have to do is convey the message, teach the people and strive to do what is in their best interests. The matter is in the Hand of Allah (ﷻ), Who controls all things; He guides whomever He wills and He causes to go astray whomever He wills. So do not pray against them; rather their case is for your Lord to decide. If His wisdom and mercy dictate that He should show mercy to them and bless them with Islam, He will do that, and if His wisdom dictates that they should remain disbelievers and not be guided, in which case they are the ones who wronged and harmed themselves and brought it upon themselves, He will do that.

Allah turned in mercy to these specific individuals and others, and guided them to Islam, may Allah be pleased with them. This verse indicates that the will of Allah supersedes the will of people; that an individual, no matter how high his status, may choose one thing but what is best and serves a purpose is something other than that; it was not for the Messenger (ﷺ) to decide, so it is more appropriate to say this in the case of others. This is the greatest refutation of those who pin their hopes on Prophets, righteous people and others, and it highlights the fact that doing so is associating others with Allah in worship and is indicative of a lack of rational thinking, because they turn away from the One Who is in control of all things and turn to those who have no control at all, which is clearly misguidance. Think about how, when Allah mentions His turning to them in mercy, He attributes this action to Himself and does not refer to any measure on their part that could make them qualified for that. This indicates that this blessing is pure grace from Him to His slave, without any prior measure on the part of that person. But when He mentions the punishment, He also mentions their wrongdoing and connects the punishment to the fact that they were wrongdoers: ﴿or punish them, for they are indeed wrongdoers﴾. This is indicative of the perfect justice and wisdom of Allah, as He dictates punishment when appropriate, and He does not wrong His slaves; rather it is the slave who wrongs himself. When He stated that His Messenger (ﷺ) had nothing to do with the decision, He affirmed that the decision was His to make:

﴿To Allah belongs all that is in the heavens and on earth﴾ including the angels, human beings, jinn, animals, heavenly bodies and all inanimate things. Everything in the heavens and on earth belongs to Allah, and is created by Him and under His control. He directs them like slaves, and they have no control at all. As that is the case, they are recipients of either His forgiveness or His punishment; He forgives whomever He wills, by guiding him to Islam, forgiving his association of others with Him and blessing him by enabling him to give up sin, so that He will forgive him his sin.

﴿and punishes whomever He wills﴾ by leaving him to his own devices and his ignorant self that is inclined towards evil; thus he will do evil deeds and be punished for that. Then the verse ends with two names of Allah that are indicative of the vastness of His mercy and the comprehensive nature of His forgiveness, as He says: ﴿and Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful﴾. This offers the great glad tidings that His mercy prevails over His wrath, and His forgiveness prevails over His punishment. This verse tells us about the categories of people and that Allah forgives some of them and punishes others, but it does not end with one name that refers to mercy and another that refers to vengeance; rather it ends with two names, both of which refer to His mercy. He is possessed of mercy and kindness by virtue of which He will show mercy to His slaves such as has never entered the mind of any human being and cannot be described. We ask Him to bestow His mercy upon us and admit us to His paradise among His righteous slaves.

- 3:130. O you who believe! Do not devour usury, doubled and multiplied. Fear Allah, that you may prosper.
- 3:131. Guard yourselves against the fire, which is prepared for the disbelievers,
- 3:132. And obey Allah and the Messenger; that you may attain mercy.
- 3:133. Hasten towards forgiveness from your Lord and a garden as vast as the heavens and the earth, which is prepared for the pious,
- 3:134. Those who spend in times of both ease and hardship, who control their anger, and pardon people, for Allah loves those who do good;
- 3:135. And those who, if they do something shameful or wrong themselves, remember Allah and ask for forgiveness for their sins – for who can forgive sins except Allah? – and do not knowingly persist in what they have done.
- 3:136. For such their reward is forgiveness from their Lord, and gardens through which rivers flow, to abide therein forever; how excellent a reward for those who work [and strive]!

We have seen above, in the introduction to this tafseer, that each person should pay attention to enjoining what is good and forbidding what is bad to himself and to others, and that when Allah (ﷻ) issues a command, it becomes incumbent upon him – first of all – to understand when and how it is to be done, and what is enjoined upon him, so that he can fulfil the command. Once he understands that, he must strive and seek Allah's help to put it into practice himself and enjoin others to do so, as much as he is able. Similarly, if he is told not to do something, he must understand when and how this applies, and what it does and does not include, then he should strive hard, seeking the help of his Lord, to refrain from it. This is what he must do with regard to all the divine commands and prohibitions.

In these verses, Allah issues some commands and describes some good characteristics that He enjoins and urges us to attain, and tells us of the reward of those who do these things. He also mentions some prohibitions and urges us to keep away from those things.

It may be – and Allah knows best – that the reason why these verses come in the context of the story of Uḥud is that Allah (ﷻ) had previously promised His believing slaves that, if they remained steadfast and feared Him, He would grant them victory over their enemies and He would weaken their enemies' resolve against them, as He said: ﴿But if you remain steadfast and fear Allah, not the least harm will their scheming do to you﴾ (3: 120) and ﴿Indeed, if you remain steadfast and are mindful of Allah, even if the enemy should attack you suddenly, your Lord will [immediately] help you...﴾ (3: 125).

It is as if the listener would be keen to know what these qualities are that bring fear of Allah, by means of which victory, success and happiness may be attained. Hence in these verses Allah mentions the most important characteristics of fear of Him which, if a person attains them, he will be more likely to attain others.

This is proven by the fact that Allah mentions the word taqwā (meaning piety or fear of Him) three times in this passage, once in absolute terms (without mentioning Who or what is to be feared or to Whom piety is to be directed): ﴿which is prepared for the pious﴾ (3: 133); and twice in conjunction with mention of Who is to be feared or what is to be guarded against: ﴿Fear Allah﴾ (3: 130) and ﴿Guard yourselves against the fire﴾ (3: 131).

﴿O you who believe﴾ every time this phrase appears in the Qur'an, saying ﴿O you who believe﴾, do such and such or do not do such and such, it indicates that faith is the reason that makes one abide by these commands and avoid what is prohibited, because faith means believing in everything that one is required to believe in, which has an impact on one's deeds. Here Allah forbids them to devour usury, doubled and multiplied. This is what the people of the jāhiliyah, and those who did not care about the commands of Sharia, were used to, namely that when debt became due from one who was in financial difficulty, they would say to him: Either pay what you owe us, or we will extend the deadline and increase what you owe. The poor man would be forced to accept this condition in order to get the lender off his back, trying to find temporary relief from this trouble, but it increased what he owed, doubled and multiplied, without any benefit to him.

The words ﴿doubled and multiplied﴾ highlight the harshness and abhorrent nature of this condition, and point to the wisdom behind the prohibition thereof. Allah forbade usury because of the injustice it involves; Allah instructs the lender to give respite to the one who is in difficulty and leave the amount owed as it is, without increasing it. Forcing the borrower to pay more than he owes is multiple wrongdoing, which the pious believer must refrain from and not go near it, because forsaking it is one of the requirements of piety or fear of Allah.

Success depends on piety or fear of Allah, therefore He said: ﴿Fear Allah, that you may prosper. Guard yourselves against the fire, which is prepared for the disbelievers﴾ by giving up that which leads to entering it, namely disbelief and sins of varying degrees. All sins – especially major sins – lead to disbelief; in fact they are among the characteristics of disbelief. Allah has prepared the fire for those who do these things, therefore giving up sin will save one from the fire and protect one from the wrath of Allah. Doing good deeds and acts of obedience lead to attaining the pleasure of the Most Merciful, entering paradise and attaining mercy. Therefore Allah says:

﴿And obey Allah and the Messenger﴾ by doing what He commands and avoiding what He forbids
 ﴿that you may attain mercy﴾; obeying Allah and obeying His Messenger (ﷺ) are means of attaining mercy, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿...My mercy encompasses all things; I shall ordain it for those who fear Me, and give zakâh...﴾ (al-A'raf 7: 156)

Then Allah commanded them to hasten towards His forgiveness and His paradise, as vast as the heavens and the earth, which Allah has prepared for the pious who fear Him, for they are its people and acts of piety are what bring one to it.

Then He describes the pious and their deeds:

﴿Those who spend in times of both ease and hardship﴾ that is, at times of difficulty or ease. When things are easy, they spend a great deal and when things are hard they do not think of any deed of kindness as being too little.

﴿who control their anger﴾ that is, if someone else harms them in a way that makes them angry – which refers to the heart being filled with rage and the desire to take revenge in word and deed – they do not act in accordance with human nature; rather they suppress the anger in their hearts and show patience in refraining from treating the offender in the same manner.

﴿and pardon people﴾ – pardoning people includes pardoning everyone who mistreats you in word or deed. Pardon is superior to suppressing anger because pardon means not holding it against the one who mistreated you and forgiving the offender. This can only come from one who has attained praiseworthy characteristics and has given up bad characteristics, and who is thinking of the reward of Allah, so he forgives the slaves of Allah out of compassion and kindness towards them, because he does not want to hurt them, and so that Allah will forgive him and his reward will be with his generous Lord, not with His helpless slave, as Allah says:

Then Allah tells us about a quality that is more comprehensive, better and more sublime, which is doing good (ihsân):

﴿for Allah loves those who do good﴾. Doing good refers to two things: doing well in worshipping the Creator and doing good to other people. The Prophet (ﷺ) described doing well in worshipping the Creator as: «...worshipping Allah as if you can see Him, for if you do not see Him, He sees you.» (Muslim)

Doing good to other people means trying to help or benefit them in both spiritual and worldly terms, and warding off harm from them in both spiritual and worldly terms. That includes enjoining them to do good and forbidding them to do bad, teaching those who are ignorant, admonishing those who are heedless, offering sincere advice to the common folk and prominent figures, striving to bring them together, giving them charity, and spending on them in ways that are obligatory or encouraged, according to their situation and needs.

That includes being generous and helpful, refraining from annoying them, and putting up with their annoyance, as Allah described the pious in these verses. Whoever does these things has done his duty towards Allah and towards His slaves.

Then Allah tells us how they apologise to their Lord for their sins: ﴿And those who, if they do something shameful or wrong themselves﴾ that is, if they do bad deeds, whether they are major sins or of a lesser degree, they hasten to repent and seek forgiveness, and they remember their Lord and His warning to those who are disobedient and His promise to those who fear Him. So they ask for forgiveness for their sins and concealment for their faults; at the same time, they give up their sins and regret them. Hence Allah says: ﴿and [they] do not knowingly persist in what they have done﴾.

﴿For such﴾ that is, for those who are described in these terms ﴿their reward is forgiveness from their Lord﴾ that removes the burden of sin that forms an impediment to reaching paradise ﴿and gardens through which rivers flow﴾ in which there is eternal blessing, delight, happiness, well-being, goodness, happiness, palaces, lofty and elegant dwellings, beautiful and fruitful trees, and rivers flowing through that splendid abode.

﴿to abide therein forever﴾ – they will never leave it; they will never want anything else and its delights will never change.

﴿how excellent a reward for those who work [and strive]﴾. They strove a little for the sake of Allah and were rewarded with much. Those who push themselves to travel by night will, in the morning, be glad that they made that effort, and at the time of reward, the one who strove hard will find his reward paid in full.

These verses are among the texts quoted by ahl as-Sunnah wal-jamâ'ah as evidence that deeds are part of faith, which is unlike the view of the Murjites.

To prove this, we quote the following verse from Soorat al-Hadeed, which is akin to this passage in Âl 'Imrân:

﴿Race towards forgiveness from your Lord and paradise which is as wide as the heavens and the earth, prepared for those who believe in Allah and His Messengers...﴾ (al-Hadeed 57: 21)

The verse in Soorat al-Hadeed only refers to believing in Allah and His Messengers, and the verse here in Soorat Âl 'Imrân (3: 133) says that paradise is prepared for the pious.

Then Allah describes the pious in terms of financial and physical actions, which indicates that these pious people who are described in these terms are the same as those who are mentioned in Soorat al-Hadeed as believers (in Allah and His Messenger ﷺ).

﴿قَدْ خَلَتْ مِنْ قَبْلِكُمْ سُنَنٌ فَسِيرُوا فِي الْأَرْضِ فَانظُرُوا كَيْفَ كَانَ عِقَابُ الْمُكَذِّبِينَ﴾

﴿هَذَا بَيَانٌ لِلنَّاسِ وَهُدًى وَمَوْعِظَةٌ لِلْمُتَّقِينَ﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٣٧ - ١٣٨)

3:137. There were many nations before you; travel through the earth, and see what was the fate of those who disbelieved.

3:138. This is a clarification for all humankind, a guidance and admonition to those who fear Allah.

In these verses and those that follow them, discussing the story of Uḥud, Allah (ﷻ) offered consolation to His believing slaves and told them that there had been many nations before them who were tested, and Allah tried the believers among them by causing them to fight the disbelievers, and the struggle continued with no decisive outcome until Allah decreed that the ultimate victory should be for His pious, believing slaves, and in the end the disbelievers were defeated; Allah humiliated them by granting victory to His Messengers and their followers.

﴿travel through the earth﴾ that is, travel physically and contemplate ﴿and see what was the fate of those who disbelieved﴾ for you will not find that there was any other outcome for them but all kinds of worldly punishments. Their habitations are empty, and the loss of their power and sovereignty, and the disappearance of their extravagance and pride, are clear to everyone. Is this not the greatest proof for the truth of what the Messengers brought?

The divine wisdom behind the trials that Allah sends to His slaves is to distinguish those who are sincere from those who are lying. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿This is a clarification for all humankind﴾ that is, a clear explanation that shows people truth from falsehood, those who are blessed from those who are doomed. This refers to those whom Allah punishes.

﴿a guidance and admonition to those who fear Allah﴾ because they are the ones who benefit from the revelation, which guides them to the straight path, and admonishes them and deters them from following the path of misguidance. As for other people, it is a clarification for them by means of which Allah establishes proof against them, that those who died might die after proof had been established against them.

It may be that what is referred to in the words «This is a clarification for all humankind» is the Holy Qur'an and that it is a clarification for people in general, and guidance and admonition for those who fear Allah in particular. Both meanings are correct.

﴿وَلَا تَهِنُوا وَلَا تَحْزَنُوا وَأَنْتُمْ الْأَعْلَوْنَ إِنْ كُنْتُمْ مُؤْمِنِينَ ﴿١٣٩﴾ إِنْ يَمَسُّكُمْ فَرَحٌ فَقَدْ مَسَّ الْقَوْمَ فَرَحٌ مِثْلُهُ وَتِلْكَ الْأَيَّامُ نُدَاوِلُهَا بَيْنَ النَّاسِ وَلِيَعْلَمَ اللَّهُ الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا وَيَتَّخِذَ مِنْكُمْ شُهَدَاءَ ۗ وَاللَّهُ لَا يُحِبُّ الظَّالِمِينَ ﴿١٤٠﴾ وَلِيَمِصَّ اللَّهُ الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا وَيَمْحَقَ الْكَافِرِينَ ﴿١٤١﴾ أَمْ حَسِبْتُمْ أَنْ تُدْخَلُوا الْجَنَّةَ وَلَمَّا يَعْلَمِ اللَّهُ الَّذِينَ جَاهَدُوا مِنْكُمْ وَيَعْلَمَ الصَّابِرِينَ ﴿١٤٢﴾ وَلَقَدْ كُنْتُمْ تَمَنَّوْنَ الْمَوْتَ مِنْ قَبْلِ أَنْ تَلْقَوْهُ فَقَدْ رَأَيْتُمُوهُ وَأَنْتُمْ نَظُرُونَ ﴿١٤٣﴾﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٣٩-١٤٣)

- 3:139. So do not lose heart nor grieve, for you will overcome if you are [truly] believers.
- 3:140. If you have suffered a blow, the [disbelieving] people have suffered a blow like it. Such days [of varying fortunes] We give to people by turns, so that Allah may know those who believe and so that He may choose martyrs from among you. And Allah does not love the wrongdoers.
- 3:141. And so that Allah may purify the believers and destroy the disbelievers.
- 3:142. Did you think that you would enter paradise when Allah has not yet seen who among you will strive hard [in jihad] and has not seen who will remain steadfast?

3:143. You did indeed wish for death before you met it; now you have seen it with your own eyes.

Allah (ﷻ) says, encouraging His believing slaves, strengthening their resolve and raising their spirits:

﴿So do not lose heart nor grieve﴾ that is, do not weaken physically, and do not let your hearts be filled with grief because of the calamity that has befallen you and the trial you have gone through. Grief in the heart and physical weakness will only make the calamity worse for you and give your enemy an advantage over you. Rather you should be of good courage and be steadfast, ward off grief and strengthen your resolve to fight your enemy.

Here Allah tells them that it is not appropriate or befitting for them to lose heart and feel grief when they will overcome by virtue of their faith and hope of the support and reward of Allah. The believer who is certain of what Allah has promised of reward in this world and the hereafter should not feel like that. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿for you will overcome if you are [truly] believers﴾.

Then He consoles them for what they suffered of defeat and explains the great wisdom that resulted in that:

﴿If you have suffered a blow, the [disbelieving] people have suffered a blow like it﴾ so you and they are equal in terms of blows suffered, but you have hope in Allah that they do not have, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿...If you are suffering hardships, they are also suffering hardships; but you hope for something from Allah that they cannot hope for...﴾
(an-Nisâ' 4: 104)

One of the lessons that we learn from that is that Allah may give worldly comforts to both believers and disbelievers, those who are righteous and those who are evildoers, and Allah alternates the fortunes of people, one day for this group and one day for the other group, because this world will come to an end, unlike the hereafter, which is only for those who believe.

﴿so that Allah may know those who believe﴾ this is another lesson: Allah tests His slaves with defeat and trials in order to distinguish the believer from the hypocrite, because if the believers were always victorious in all battles, people would enter Islam without really wanting it. But if various kinds of trials occur in some battles, those believers who truly want Islam in good times and bad, in ease and in hardship, will become distinct from those who are not like that.

﴿and so that He may choose martyrs from among you﴾. This is another lesson, because martyrdom is one of the highest statuses before Allah, and there is no way of attaining it without the means that lead to it. By His mercy towards His believing slaves, He has made available means of attaining it even though it is hard for them, so that they may attain what they want of high status and eternal blessing.

﴿And Allah does not love the wrongdoers﴾ who wrong themselves and refrain from fighting in His cause. It is as if this is an implicit criticism of the hypocrites, stating that they are hated by Allah, and that is why He held them back from joining the fight in His cause.

﴿If they had truly wanted to go forth, they would surely have made preparations to do so, but Allah disliked their going forth, so He made them lag behind, and it was said to them: Stay behind with those who are staying behind.﴾ (at-Tawbah 9: 46)

﴿And so that Allah may purify the believers﴾. This is another lesson, that Allah purifies the believers thereby from their sins. This indicates that martyrdom and fighting in Allah's cause expiate sins, and Allah also makes the believers distinct from the hypocrites, so that they may rid themselves of them and know the believer from the hypocrite.

Another lesson we learn is that Allah decrees that in order to destroy the disbelievers; in other words, it is a means of eradicating them through (divine) punishment, because if they prevail they will go to extremes and increase in wrongdoing, which will make them deserving of an expedited punishment. This is out of mercy towards His believing slaves.

Then Allah says: ﴿Did you think that you would enter paradise when Allah has not yet seen who among you will strive hard [in jihad] and has not seen who will remain steadfast?﴾. This appears in the form of a question but serves as a statement that it is not as you think. In other words, do not think, and do not let it cross your mind, that you will enter paradise without facing hardship and putting up with difficulties in the cause of Allah and seeking His pleasure. For paradise is the highest of aspirations and the best thing for which people compete. The greater the goal, the greater the means of attaining it and the deeds by which one reaches it. The life of ease and comfort (in the hereafter) cannot be attained except by giving up a life of ease and comfort (in this world).

But if a person prepares himself and trains himself to face the hardships of this world that one may go through for the sake of Allah, bearing the end result in mind, these trials – for those who have insight – will turn into gifts at which he feels joy and does not worry. This is the grace of Allah that He bestows upon whomever He wills.

Then Allah (ﷻ) rebukes them for not being steadfast with regard to what they wished for and hoped would take place:

﴿You did indeed wish for death before you met it﴾. That was because many of the Companions (رضي الله عنهم) had missed the Battle of Badr, and they wished that Allah would cause them to witness a battle so that they could do their utmost. Allah said to them: ﴿now you have seen it with your own eyes﴾ so why did you not remain steadfast? This is not appropriate and it is not good, especially for one who wished for that and got what he wished for. What he should have done is strive his utmost.

This verse indicates that there is nothing wrong with wishing for martyrdom, because Allah (ﷻ) approved of their wishes and did not criticise them for that; rather He criticised them for not acting upon their wishes. And Allah knows best.

﴿وَمَا مُحَمَّدٌ إِلَّا رَسُولٌ قَدْ خَلَتْ مِنْ قَبْلِهِ الرُّسُلُ أَفَإِنْ مَاتَ أَوْ قُتِلَ انْقَلَبْتُمْ عَلَى أَعْقَابِكُمْ وَمَنْ يَنْقَلِبْ عَلَى عَقْبَيْهِ فَلَنْ يَضُرَّ اللَّهَ شَيْئًا وَسَيَجْزِي اللَّهُ الشَّاكِرِينَ﴾
 ﴿وَمَا كَانَ لِنَفْسٍ أَنْ تَمُوتَ إِلَّا بِإِذْنِ اللَّهِ كِنْنًا مُوَجَّلًا وَمَنْ يُرِدْ ثَوَابَ الدُّنْيَا نُؤْتِهِ مِنْهَا وَمَنْ يُرِدْ ثَوَابَ الْآخِرَةِ نُؤْتِهِ مِنْهَا وَسَيَجْزِي الشَّاكِرِينَ﴾

- 3:144. Muhammad is no more than a Messenger, and [other] Messengers passed away before him. If he dies or is slain, will you then turn on your heels? Those who turn on their heels do not harm Allah in the slightest, but Allah will reward those who are grateful.
- 3:145. No soul can die except by Allah's leave, and at an appointed time. Whoever desires the reward of this world, We will give him thereof, and whoever desires the reward of the hereafter, We will give him thereof. And We will reward those who are grateful.

«Muhammad is no more than a Messenger, and [other] Messengers passed away before him» that is, he is not the first of the Messengers; rather he is like the Messengers who came before him, whose job was to convey the messages of their Lord and carry out His commands. They are not immortal and their remaining alive is not a condition of obeying the commands of Allah; rather what people are required to do is worship their Lord at all times and in all circumstances. Hence

He said: «If he dies or is slain, will you then turn on your heels?» by abandoning what he brought of faith or jihad and the like.

«Those who turn on their heels do not harm Allah in the slightest»; rather they only harm themselves and Allah has no need of them. He will cause His religion to prevail and will grant victory to His believing slaves. When Allah (ﷻ) rebuked those who turned on their heels, He praised those who remained steadfast with His Messenger (ﷺ) and obeyed the command of their Lord: «but Allah will reward those who are grateful». Gratitude can only be by being a true slave of Allah in all circumstances.

In this verse Allah (ﷻ) gives instructions to His slaves that they should be in such a state that their faith cannot be shaken and they should not lose their resolve to adhere to some of its requirements because of the loss of a leader, even if he was great. That state can only be attained by making preparations in all matters of their religion, by having many qualified people who could step in so that if one is lost, another can take his place. The aim of ordinary people should be to establish the religion of Allah and strive in His cause as much as possible, and they should not be too attached to one leader rather than another. Thus their affairs will be in order and they will be in good shape.

This verse also offers the greatest proofs of the virtue of the greatest ṣiddeeq, Abu Bakr, and his companions who fought the apostates after the death of the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ), because they were foremost among those who are grateful.

Then Allah (ﷻ) tells us that all souls have an appointed time of death, by Allah's leave and in accordance with His will and decree. If it is decreed for a person to die, he will die even if that is with no apparent cause, and if He wills that a person will live, even if he is exposed to all causes of death, nothing will harm him before he reaches his appointed time (of death). That is because Allah has willed and decreed that he should live until the appointed time:

﴿..when their appointed time comes, they will not be able to delay it for a single moment or bring it forward.﴾ (al-A'raf 7: 34)

Then Allah tells us that He will give reward to people in this world and in the hereafter, according to what they hope for:

﴿Whoever desires the reward of this world, We will give him thereof, and whoever desires the reward of the hereafter, We will give him thereof﴾.

And Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿On all – both the latter and the former – We bestow of the bounty of your Lord. Verily, the bounty of your Lord is not denied [to anyone]. See how We have bestowed more on some than on others [in this world], but verily the hereafter will have higher ranks and greater degrees of excellence for some over others﴾ (al-Isrâ' 17: 20-21)

﴿And We will reward those who are grateful﴾. Allah does not mention what their reward is, to indicate how great and abundant it will be, and so that it will be known that the reward will be commensurate with the level of gratitude.

- 3:146. How many of the Prophets fought [in Allah's cause], and multitudes of devout men fought alongside them, but they never lost heart because of the suffering they endured in Allah's cause, nor did they weaken [in resolve] nor yield. And Allah loves those who are steadfast.

- 3:147. All they said was: Our Lord, forgive us our sins and our excesses in our conduct, make firm our foothold and grant us victory against the disbelievers.
- 3:148. So Allah gave them reward in this world and the excellent reward of the hereafter. For Allah loves those who do good.

This passage offers consolation to the believers and encourages others to follow their example and do as they did. This is something that has happened before, and it is the way of Allah that could happen again.

﴿How many of the Prophets fought [in Allah's cause], and multitudes of devout men fought alongside them﴾ that is, large numbers of their followers, in whose hearts the Prophets had instilled faith that led them to do righteous deeds, and they suffered death, injuries and so on.

﴿but they never lost heart because of the suffering they endured in Allah's cause, nor did they weaken [in resolve] nor yield﴾ that is, their courage never weakened and they did not tire physically or yield, that is, they did not give in to their enemies. Rather they remained patient and steadfast, pulling themselves together and carrying on. Hence Allah says: ﴿And Allah loves those who are steadfast﴾.

Then He mentions what they said, seeking victory from their Lord: ﴿All they said﴾ in those difficult circumstances ﴿was: Our Lord, forgive us our sins and our excesses in our conduct﴾. Excess means overstepping the mark and doing what is forbidden. They realised that sins and excesses are among the main causes of troubles, and that ridding themselves of these sins was one of the main means of attaining victory, so they asked their Lord to forgive them.

Moreover, they did not rely on their efforts to keep them steadfast; rather they relied on Allah and asked Him to make their foothold firm when meeting the disbelieving enemies in battle, and to grant them victory. Thus they combined patience and steadfastness, and avoided the opposite thereof, in addition to repenting, seeking forgiveness and asking their Lord to grant them victory. So it is no wonder that Allah granted them victory and caused them ultimately to prevail, in this world and in the hereafter. Hence He said:

﴿So Allah gave them reward in this world﴾ in the form of victory and booty

﴿and the excellent reward of the hereafter﴾, which is attaining the pleasure of their Lord and eternal bliss that is free of anything that might spoil it. That is only because they strove their utmost for His sake, so He granted them the best reward. Hence Allah says:

﴿For Allah loves those who do good﴾ and do their best in worshipping their Creator and interacting with people. Part of doing good is to act like those who are described here when striving in jihad against the enemy.

﴿يَتَابِعُهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا إِن تَطِيعُوا الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا يَرُدُّوكُمْ عَلَىٰ
أَعْقَابِكُمْ فَتَنْقَلِبُوا خَاسِرِينَ ﴿١٤٩﴾ بَلِ اللَّهُ مَوْلَاكُمْ وَهُوَ خَيْرُ النَّاصِرِينَ
﴿١٥٠﴾ سَنُلْقِي فِي قُلُوبِ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا الرُّعْبَ بِمَا أَشْرَكُوا بِاللَّهِ مَا لَمْ يُنَزَّلْ
بِهِ سُلْطَانًا وَمَأْوَاهُمُ النَّارُ وَبِئْسَ مَثْوَى الظَّالِمِينَ ﴿١٥١﴾﴾ (سورة آل

عمران: ١٤٩-١٥١)

- 3:149. O you who believe! If you obey those who disbelieve, they will make you turn on your heels, and thus you will turn back as losers.
- 3:150. Nay, Allah is your Protector, and He is the best of helpers.
- 3:151. Soon will We cast dread into the hearts of the disbelievers, because they ascribed partners to Allah, for which He had not sent down any authority; their abode will be the fire, and wretched is the abode of the wrongdoers!

---

Here Allah forbids the believers to obey the disbelievers, whether they be hypocrites or polytheists, for if they do so, they intend only to do them harm; their goal is to bring them back to disbelief, which leads only to doom and loss.

Then Allah states that He is their protector and helper; this is glad tidings that He will take care of them by His kindness and protect them from all kinds of evil.

This provides encouragement for them to take Him alone as protector and helper, to the exclusion of all others. One aspect of His protection and help is that He promised them that He would cast dread into the hearts of their enemies among the disbelievers; this refers to great fear that would prevent them from achieving many of their goals. And He did indeed do that: when the polytheists departed after the battle of Uḥud, they discussed amongst themselves, saying: How could we have left after killing whom we killed and defeating them without eradicating them? They thought of going back, but Allah instilled dread in their hearts, so they left disappointed.

Undoubtedly this was the greatest help, because, as mentioned above, Allah helps His believing slaves in one of two ways: either He cuts down a section of the disbelievers or He disgraces them, so that they retreat in utter disappointment. In this case, the latter is applicable.

Then Allah mentions the reason why dread was cast into the hearts of the disbelievers:

﴿because they ascribed partners to Allah, for which He had not sent down any authority﴾ that is, it was because of the rivals and idols they took as gods instead of Him, which they did on the basis of their evil ulterior motives, with no proof or evidence, and they no longer sought protection from the One, the Most Merciful.

Hence the polytheists were in dread of the believers, and they had no strong support, and no one to turn to at times of hardship and distress. This was the situation in this world, and the hereafter is worse. Hence Allah said: ﴿and wretched is the abode of the wrongdoers﴾; because of their wrongdoing and transgression, the fire will become their final abode.

- 3:152. Allah did indeed fulfil His promise to you when you, with His permission, were killing them, until you faltered and quarrelled among yourselves about the [Prophet's] orders, and disobeyed after He had shown you what you desired [of booty]. Among you are some that seek worldly gains and some that seek rewards in the hereafter. Then He made you flee from them in order to test you but He forgave you, for Allah is most gracious to the believers.

﴿Allah did indeed fulfil His promise to you﴾ of help; He helped you against them until they began to flee, and you started killing them, then you caused trouble for yourselves and helped your enemy against you, when you faltered

﴿and quarrelled among yourselves about the [Prophet's] orders﴾ and thus ignored Allah's command to be united and not disagree. But you disagreed. Some said: We should remain in our positions where the Prophet (ﷺ) stationed us; but others said: Why should we stay when the enemy has started to flee and there is no longer any danger? Thus you disobeyed the Messenger (ﷺ) and ignored his instructions after Allah had shown you that which you love, namely the putting to flight of your enemies. What is required of the one whom Allah blesses with that which he loves is greater than that which is required of others, and in this particular case what was required was something specific; however, in general terms what is required is obedience to the commands of Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ).

﴿Among you are some that seek worldly gains﴾; they are the ones who caused all these troubles

﴿and some that seek rewards in the hereafter﴾; they are the ones who adhered to the instructions of the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) and remained where they had been ordered to stay.

﴿Then He made you flee from them﴾ that is, after you did these things, Allah caused you to flee from them. The course of events turned in the enemy's favour, as a test and trial from Allah to you, in order to distinguish between the believer and the disbeliever, the obedient and the disobedient, and so that by means of this calamity Allah might expiate for you that which you had brought about. Hence Allah said: ﴿but He forgave you, for Allah is most gracious to the believers﴾ that is, He is most gracious to them, as He blessed them with Islam, guided them to His religion, forgave them their bad deeds and made them steadfast at the time of calamity.

By His grace towards the believers, He does not decree for them any good or any calamity but it is ultimately good for them. If something good happens to them, they give thanks and He grants them the reward of those who are grateful; if something bad happens to them, they bear it with patience and He grants them the reward of those who are patient.

﴿إِذْ تَصْعِدُونَ وَلَا تَكْلُونَ عَلَىٰ أَحَدٍ مِنَ الرُّسُلِ يَدْعُوكُمْ

- 3:153. [Remember] when you were fleeing, paying no heed to anyone, and the Messenger at your rear was calling you back. So Allah gave you distress upon distress by way of requital, so that you should not grieve for what you missed or for what befell you. For Allah is well aware of what you do.
- 3:154. After that distress, He sent down calm on a group of you who were overcome with slumber, while another group cared only about themselves, harbouring thoughts about Allah that were untrue – thoughts of ignorance. They said: Do we have any say in the matter? Say: All matters belong to Allah. They conceal in their hearts what they do not disclose to you. They say: If we had had any say in the matter, we would not have been killed here. Say: Even if you had remained in your homes, those for whom death was decreed would certainly have gone forth to the place of their death; but [all this happened] so that Allah might test and purify what is in your hearts. For Allah knows well what is in [your] hearts.

Here Allah (ﷻ) reminds them of the state they were in at the time when they fled from the battle, and He rebukes them for that:

﴿[Remember] when you were fleeing, paying no heed to anyone﴾ that is, no one among you cared about anyone else or looked at him; rather your only concern was to flee and save yourselves from the battle.

But in fact there was no great danger, because you were not the closest of the people to the enemy or in the battlefield. Rather ﴿the Messenger at your rear was calling you back﴾. He was the closest to the enemy, and he was saying:

«Come to me, O slaves of Allah!» (A very odd hadith recorded by Ibn Katheer and Ibn Hajar)

But you did not pay attention to him or respond to his call. Fleeing in and of itself is blameworthy, but failing to respond to the call of the Messenger (ﷺ), to whom you should give precedence over yourselves, is even worse.

﴿So Allah gave you distress upon distress﴾ that is, the distress of missing out on victory and booty, the distress of fleeing, and that distress which made you forget all others, which was hearing that Muhammad (ﷺ) had been killed.

﴿by way of requital﴾ that is, requital for your deeds.

But Allah, by His grace and kindness towards His slaves, caused all of these things to be good for His believing slaves, as He said: ﴿so that you should not grieve for what you missed﴾ of victory and booty ﴿or for what befell you﴾ of defeat, killing and wounding. When you realised that the Messenger (ﷺ) had not been killed, all of these calamities became insignificant in your eyes, and you rejoiced in his survival, which was a consolation for all calamities and trials. How great are the hidden benefits and wisdom in calamities and trials.

All of that is based on His knowledge and complete awareness of your actions, both visible and hidden. Hence He said: ﴿For Allah is well aware of what you do﴾.

It may be that what is meant by the words: ﴿so that you should not grieve for what you missed or for what befell you﴾ is: He decreed that this distress and calamity should befall you, so that you would get used to it and become accustomed to being patient and steadfast at the time of calamities, and it would become easier for you to bear hardship.

﴿After that distress﴾ that befell you
﴿He sent down calm on a group of you who were overcome with slumber﴾.

Undoubtedly this was mercy and kindness towards them, that brought reassurance to their hearts and made them feel at peace, because one who is in a state of fear cannot be overtaken by slumber, because of the fear in his heart. But when the fear is removed from his heart, then it becomes possible for him to slumber.

This group whom Allah blessed with slumber were the believers who had no concern other than establishing the religion of Allah, attaining the pleasure of Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ), and acting in the interests of their Muslim brothers.

As for the other group, who ﴿cared only about themselves﴾, they had no other concern, because of their hypocrisy or the weakness of their faith. Hence slumber did not overtake them as it did others. ﴿They said: Do we have any say in the matter?﴾ This is a question that expresses disapproval; in other words they were expressing despair, thinking that victory would never be attained at all. They thought negatively of their Lord and His religion and Prophet (ﷺ); they thought that Allah could not cause His religion and His Messenger (ﷺ) to prevail, and that this defeat was the final blow to the religion of Allah.

Allah said in response to them:

﴿Say: All matters belong to Allah﴾; this includes what He decrees and what He prescribes; all things are subject to the will and decree of Allah, and ultimate victory will be for His close friends and those who obey Him, no matter what setbacks they may face.

﴿They﴾ that is, the hypocrites ﴿conceal in their hearts what they do not disclose to you﴾. Then Allah describes what it is that they are concealing:

﴿They say: If we had had any say in the matter﴾ that is, if our opinion concerning this battle had been listened to, ﴿we would not have been killed here﴾.

This is criticism on their part, and disbelief in the will and decree of Allah; it also shows that they regarded the opinion of the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ), and that of his Companions, as foolish, and that they thought highly of themselves. But Allah responded to them by saying: ﴿Say: Even if you had remained in your homes﴾, which were far away from the places of killing, ﴿those for whom death was decreed would certainly have gone forth to the place of their death﴾. Measures taken to protect oneself – no matter how great they may be – are only of benefit if they are not opposed by the divine will and decree. If they are opposed by the divine decree, they will be of no benefit at all; rather the decree of Allah concerning life and death, which is written in al-Lawh al-Mahfoodh, will inevitably come to pass.

﴿but [all this happened] so that Allah might test and purify what is in your hearts﴾ that is, so that He might test what is in them of hypocrisy, faith or weakness of faith, and purify them of the whispers of the Shaytân and the bad characteristics that stem therefrom.

﴿For Allah knows well what is in [your] hearts﴾ and what you conceal. His knowledge and wisdom dictate that He should decree events by means of which what is hidden in people's hearts will become apparent.

﴿إِنَّ الَّذِينَ تَوَلَّوْا مِنْكُمْ يَوْمَ الْتَقَى الْجَمْعَانِ إِنَّمَا اسْتَزَلَّهُمُ الشَّيْطَانُ بِبَعْضِ مَا كَسَبُوا وَلَقَدْ عَفَا اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ إِنَّ اللَّهَ غَفُورٌ حَلِيمٌ﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٥٥)

3:155. As for those of you who fled on the day the two armies met, it was only because the Shayṭān made them slip, on account of some of their deeds. But Allah has pardoned them, for Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Forbearing.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us about those who fled on the day of Uḥud and what caused them to flee; it was because of the whisper of the Shayṭān, who gained control over them because of some of their sins. Hence they are the ones who let him have control and power over them, because of the sins they committed; sins are his vehicle and the passage by which he enters. If they had remained obedient to their Lord, he would not have had any power over them. Allah says elsewhere:

Then Allah tells us that He has pardoned them, after they had committed actions for which they could be held accountable, otherwise if He had brought them to account, He could have eradicated them. ﴿for Allah is Oft-Forgiving﴾ to the sinners, by means of guiding them to repent and seek forgiveness, and by means of calamities that expiate sin.

﴿Most Forbearing﴾; He does not hasten their punishment for one who disobeys Him; rather He gives him respite and calls him to repent and turn to Him. Then if he repents and turns to Him, He accepts it from him and makes him like one who did not commit any sin. To Him be praise for His kindness.

- 3:156. O you who believe, do not be like the disbelievers, who say of their brethren, when they are travelling through the earth or go forth on a military campaign: If they had stayed with us, they would not have died, or been slain, for Allah will make such thoughts a source of anguish in their hearts. It is Allah Who gives life and death, and Allah sees well all that you do.
- 3:157. And if you are slain in the cause of Allah, or die, forgiveness and mercy from Allah are far better than all they could accumulate.
- 3:158. And if you die, or are slain, it is unto Allah that you will be gathered.

Here Allah forbids His believing slaves to be like the disbelievers who do not believe in their Lord or in His will and decree, whether they are the hypocrites or others.

He forbids them to be like them in any respect, especially in this particular matter, which is that they say to their brothers in faith or in blood, ﴿when they are travelling through the earth﴾ that is, travelling for the purpose of trade ﴿or go forth on a military campaign﴾, and it so happens that some of them are killed or die, they say something contrary to the concept of the divine decree: ﴿If they had stayed with us, they would not have died, or been slain﴾. This is a lie on their part, because Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿Say: Even if you had remained in your homes, those for whom death was decreed would certainly have gone forth to the place of their death﴾ (3: 154).

But this lie is not going to benefit them; rather Allah will cause this statement and this belief to be a source of anguish in their hearts, which will lead to the calamities having a greater impact on them. As for those who believe in Allah, they realise that this is the will of Allah, so they believe and submit to His will, and Allah guides their hearts and makes them steadfast, which reduces the impact of the calamity for them.

Allah says, refuting them: ﴿It is Allah Who gives life and death﴾ that is, He is the only One Who does that, and no precaution can ward off the divine decree.

﴿and Allah sees well all that you do﴾, and He will requite you for your deeds and your disbelief (in the divine decree).

Then Allah (ﷻ) tells us that there is nothing wrong with, and there should be no reservations about, being killed or dying in His cause; rather it is something for which people should compete, because it is a means that leads to forgiveness and mercy from Allah, which is better than what people accumulate of worldly gains. If people die or are killed, no matter how it happens, their return is to Allah and He will requite each person for his deeds.

So where can people flee except to Allah, and what do people have to hold on to except the rope of Allah?

﴿فِيمَا رَحِمَهُ مِنَ اللَّهِ لَنْتَ لَهُمْ وَلَوْ كُنْتَ فَظًّا غَلِيظَ الْقَلْبِ لَانْفَضُّوا مِنْ حَوْلِكَ فَاعْفُ عَنْهُمْ وَاسْتَغْفِرْ لَهُمْ وَشَاوِرْهُمْ فِي الْأَمْرِ فَإِذَا عَزَمْتَ فَتَوَكَّلْ عَلَى اللَّهِ إِنَّ اللَّهَ يُحِبُّ الْمُتَوَكِّلِينَ﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٥٩)

- 3:159. It is by the mercy of Allah that you deal gently with them. If you had been harsh or hard-hearted, they would have dispersed from around you. So pardon them, and ask for [Allah's] forgiveness for them; and consult them in matters of importance. Then, when you have taken a decision, put your trust in Allah, for Allah loves those who put their trust [in Him].

That is, by Allah's mercy to you and your Companions, He has blessed you in that you have been gentle with them and humble and kind towards them, and you showed a good attitude towards them, so they rallied around you and loved you, and they followed your commands.

﴿If you had been harsh﴾ that is, if you had shown a bad attitude or hard-hearted, they would have dispersed from around you because this would have put them off and would have made them dislike the one who had a bad attitude.

A good attitude in a religious leader attracts people to the religion of Allah, in addition to what this leader himself will attain of praise and reward from Allah. In contrast, a bad attitude in a religious leader will put people off their religion and make them hate it, in addition to what the leader will incur of blame and punishment from Allah. If Allah says this about this infallible Messenger (ﷺ), then how about anyone else?

Is it not of the utmost necessity and importance to follow the example of his noble attitude and to treat people as he treated them, with gentleness, a good attitude and a soft approach, following the commands of Allah and attracting the slaves of Allah to the religion of Allah?

Then Allah (ﷻ) instructs him to pardon them for what they did and their shortcomings with regard to him, and to ask for forgiveness for them for their shortcomings with regard to the rights of Allah, thus combining pardon with kind treatment.

﴿and consult them in matters of importance﴾ that is, in matters that require consultation and thinking. The benefits of consultation in both religious and worldly matters are unlimited and include the following:

- Consultation is an act of worship that brings one closer to Allah.

- It is an act of gentleness that makes people feel part of the decision-making process and removes any (negative) thought that could cross their minds when serious decisions need to be made. If one who has a position of authority gathers together people of prominence and wisdom, and consults them concerning some event or incident, that will make them feel at ease and make them love him, and they will realise that he is not some sort of tyrant; rather his main focus is on the general interests of all. Thus they will spare no effort and will do their utmost in obeying him, because they will realise that he is striving to serve the interests of all. This is in contrast to those who are not like that, because it is unlikely that they will be sincere in loving or obey him willingly; if they do obey him, it will be insincere and incomplete.
- Consultation sheds light on new ideas, because it brings many minds together to make the right decision.
- Consultation usually leads to the right decision; the leader who consults others in decision-making will hardly ever reach the wrong conclusion. Even if a wrong decision is made or the goal is not met, he will not be to blame (because it will have been a collective decision). If Allah says to His Messenger (ﷺ) – who is the most perfect of people in reasoning, has the most abundant knowledge and is the smartest – ﴿and consult them in matters of importance﴾, then how about others?

Then Allah says: ﴿Then, when you have taken a decision﴾ that is, when you have decided upon something after consulting others, if consultation is needed,

﴿put your trust in Allah﴾ that is, rely on the power and strength of Allah, not on your own strength and power

﴿for Allah loves those who put their trust [in Him]﴾ and turn to Him.

﴿إِنْ يَنْصُرْكُمُ اللَّهُ فَلَا غَالِبَ لَكُمْ وَإِنْ يَخْذَلْكُمْ فَمَنْ ذَا الَّذِي يَنْصُرُكُمْ مِنْ بَعْدِهِ ۗ وَعَلَى اللَّهِ فَلْيَتَوَكَّلِ الْمُؤْمِنُونَ﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٦٠)

3:160. If Allah helps you, none can overcome you; if He forsakes you, who is there, after that, who can help you? In Allah, then, let the believers put their trust.

That is, if Allah sends to you His support and help, ﴿none can overcome you﴾, even if they gather against you all the people of earth, with all their numbers and weapons, because no one can overcome Allah; He has subjugated all people and has taken hold of their forelocks, so no living being moves or stands still except by His leave.

﴿if He forsakes you﴾ and leaves you to your own devices ﴿who is there, after that, who can help you?﴾ You will inevitably be defeated, even if all people help you. In this there is an implicit command to seek the help of Allah and rely on Him, and to admit that you have no strength and power of your own. Hence Allah says: ﴿In Allah, then, let the believers put their trust﴾. The fact that Allah is mentioned at the beginning of this phrase indicates that they should put their trust in Him alone and in no one else, because it is known that He is the only supporter, so relying on Him is indicative of belief in His oneness which will help you reach your goal, whereas putting your trust in anything else is a kind of associating others with Him which is of no benefit at all, rather it is harmful.

In this verse is a command to put one's trust in Allah alone, and the level of trust will be commensurate with the level of the individual's faith.

﴿وَمَا كَانَ لِنَبِيٍّ أَنْ يَغُلَّ وَمَنْ يَغْلُلْ يَأْتِ بِمَا غَلَّ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ ثُمَّ تُوَفَّى كُلُّ نَفْسٍ مَّا كَسَبَتْ وَهُمْ لَا يُظْلَمُونَ﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٦١)

- 3:161. It is inconceivable that a Prophet would ever misappropriate anything from the war booty. Anyone who does so will carry it with him on the Day of Resurrection. Then every soul will be paid in full what it has earned and no one will be wronged.

The word translated here as misappropriation, or taking things by stealth, from the war booty may also refer to dishonesty in any position of authority. It is haram according to scholarly consensus; in fact it is a major sin, as indicated by this verse and other texts. Allah (ﷻ) tells us that it is not appropriate or befitting for a Prophet to misappropriate anything, because misappropriation – as is well known – is one of the gravest of sins and the most shameful behaviour. Allah (ﷻ) protected His Prophets from committing any action that might cause shame or undermine their status, and He made them the best of people in manners and attitude, the purest in soul and the best; He made them free of any shameful deeds and made them fit to receive His message and learn His wisdom.

As soon as a person learns of any of them, he will be certain that they are free of anything that could be a source of shame or criticism, and he will not need to examine what was said about them by their enemies, because knowing that they are Prophets requires one to reject anything bad that is attributed to them. Hence the wording of the verse indicates that it is impossible that they could do such a thing:

﴿It is inconceivable that a Prophet would ever misappropriate anything from the war booty﴾ that is, it is not possible; that is impossible for one whom Allah has chosen to be His Prophet (ﷺ).

This is followed by the warning to anyone who misappropriates anything from the war booty:

﴿Anyone who does so will carry it with him on the Day of Resurrection﴾ that is, he will come carrying it on his back, whether it was an animal or goods or anything else, so that it will be a cause of punishment to him on the Day of Resurrection.

﴿Then every soul will be paid in full what it has earned﴾, whether it was misappropriation of the war booty or anything else; each person will be given his reward or punishment in full, according to his earnings

﴿and no one will be wronged﴾ that is, nothing will be added to their bad deeds and nothing will be detracted from their good deeds.

Look at the careful wording in this verse. When Allah speaks of the punishment for misappropriation of war booty, and says that the person will come on the Day of Resurrection carrying what he stole, mentioning requital in full for the misappropriation of war booty on its own may give the wrong impression that those who commit other sins may not be requited in full; therefore, He mentioned requital in full in general terms, as being applicable both to the one who misappropriates war booty and others (who commit other sins).

﴿أَفَمَن أَتَّبَعَ رِضْوَانُ اللَّهِ كَمَن بَاءَ بِسَخَطٍ مِّنَ اللَّهِ وَمَأْوَاهُ جَهَنَّمُ وَتِسَ الْمَصِيرُ هُم دَرَجَتٌ عِندَ اللَّهِ وَاللَّهُ بَصِيرٌ بِمَا يَعْمَلُونَ﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٦٢-١٦٣)

- 3:162. Is the one who seeks the good pleasure of Allah like the one who incurs the wrath of Allah, and whose abode is hell, a hapless journey's end?
- 3:163. They vary greatly in rank in the sight of Allah, and Allah sees well all that they do.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that the one whose aim is to please his Lord and who strives hard to do so and the one who does not do that and who persists in sin and incurs the wrath of his Lord are not equal. They are not equal according to His judgement and wisdom, and according to people's common sense.

﴿Is one who is a believer like one who is an evildoer? They are not equal.﴾ (as-Sajdah 32: 18)

Hence Allah says here: ﴿They vary greatly in rank in the sight of Allah﴾ that is, all of them vary in rank and status, according to the differences in their deeds.

Those who seek the pleasure of Allah and strive to attain high status and lofty positions, Allah will grant them reward by His grace and generosity, commensurate with their deeds. But those who seek that which displeases Allah and strive to go down to the lowest level will be requited according to their deeds. Allah (ﷻ) sees all that they do and nothing is hidden from Him; rather He knows it and it is recorded in al-Lawḥ al-Maḥfoodh. He has appointed His noble, trustworthy angels to record it and preserve it accurately.

﴿لَقَدْ مَنَّ اللَّهُ عَلَى الْمُؤْمِنِينَ إِذْ بَعَثَ فِيهِمْ رَسُولًا مِّنْ أَنفُسِهِمْ يَتْلُوا عَلَيْهِمْ ءَايَاتِهِ
وَيُزَكِّيهِمْ وَيُعَلِّمُهُمُ الْكِتَابَ وَالْحِسَابَ وَإِن كَانُوا مِن قَبْلِ لَقِي ضَلَالٍ

مُبِينٍ ﴿١٦٤﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٦٤)

3:164. Allah conferred grace upon the believers when He sent among them a Messenger from among themselves, reciting unto them His revelations, purifying them, and teaching them the Book and wisdom, although before that they had been in manifest error.

This grace that Allah has bestowed upon His slaves is the greatest blessing; indeed it is the basis of all blessings. This refers to His blessing them with this noble Messenger (ﷺ) through whom Allah saved them from misguidance and protected them from doom, as He says:

«Allah conferred grace upon the believers when He sent among them a Messenger from among themselves», whose lineage, character and language they knew; he was one of their own people and tribe, sincere and compassionate towards them, reciting to them the revelations of Allah, teaching them the words and meanings

«purifying them» of polytheism, sin, bad characteristics and all bad manners.

«and teaching them the Book» – either the Qur'an itself is what is meant by «the Book», or what is meant by «the Book» here is literacy, thus He has blessed them by teaching them how to read and write, by means of which one may acquire knowledge.

«and wisdom» that is, the Sunnah, which is the twin of the Qur'an; or it may refer to saying and doing the right thing at the right time, and understanding the subtleties of Sharia. Thus Allah combined for them the learning of the rulings and the means of implementing them with the means of attaining the benefits and fruits of the rulings. Thus they superseded everyone else by virtue of these great blessings, and they were devout and knowledgeable people.

«although before that» that is, before the sending of this Messenger (ﷺ) «they had been in manifest error», not knowing the path that would lead them to their Lord or how to cleanse and purify their souls; rather whatever appeared attractive to them in their ignorance, they did it, even if that contradicted the rational thinking of the world.

﴿أَوَلَمْ أَصْغَبْكُمْ مُصِيبَةً قَدْ أَصْغَبْتُمْ مِثْلَهَا قُلْتُمْ أَنْ هَذَا قُلٌ هُوَ مِنْ عِنْدِ أَنْفُسِكُمْ إِنَّ اللَّهَ عَلَى كُلِّ شَيْءٍ قَدِيرٌ ﴿١٦٥﴾ وَمَا أَصْغَبَكُمْ يَوْمَ التَّنَعُّمِ الْجَمْعَانِ فَيَا ذِي اللَّهِ وَلَيَعْلَمَ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ ﴿١٦٦﴾ وَلَيَعْلَمَ الَّذِينَ نَافَقُوا وَقِيلَ لَهُمْ تَعَالَوْا قَاتِلُوا فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ أَوْ ادْفَعُوا قَالُوا لَوْ نَعْلَمُ قِتَالًا لَاتَّبَعْنَاكُمْ هُمْ لِلْكَافِرِينَ يَوْمِئِذٍ اقْرَبُ مِنْهُمْ لِلْإِيمَانِ يَقُولُونَ بِأَفْوَاهِهِمْ مَا لَيْسَ فِي قُلُوبِهِمْ وَاللَّهُ أَعْلَمُ بِمَا يَكْتُمُونَ ﴿١٦٧﴾ الَّذِينَ قَالُوا لِأَخْوَاهِهِمْ وَقَعَدُوا لَوْ أَطَاعُونَا مَا قَاتَلُوا قُلٌ فَادْرَأُوا عَنْ أَنْفُسِكُمُ الْمَوْتَ إِنْ كُنْتُمْ صَادِقِينَ ﴿١٦٨﴾﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٦٥-١٦٨)

- 3:165. How is it that, when a calamity befalls you whilst you had inflicted twice as much [on your enemy], you say: Where has this come from? Say [to them]: It has come from your own selves. Verily Allah has power over all things.
- 3:166. What befell you on the day the two armies met happened by Allah's leave, in order that He might test the believers,
- 3:167. and in order to know those who are hypocrites. They were told: Come, fight in the cause of Allah, or at least defend yourselves. They said: If we knew there was going to be fighting, we would certainly follow you. They were that day nearer to disbelief than to faith, saying with their lips that which was not in their hearts, but Allah has full knowledge of all they conceal.
- 3:168. [They are] the ones that said of their [slain] brethren, while they themselves stayed behind: If only they had listened to us they would not have been slain. Say: Avert death from your own selves, if what you say is true.

This is consolation from Allah to His believing slaves, when calamity befell them on the day of Uhud and approximately seventy of them were killed. Allah said: ﴿you had inflicted twice as much [on your enemy]» that is, on the day of Badr, when you killed seventy of their prominent figures and captured seventy more. That should make it easier for you and reduce the impact of the calamity, even though you and they are not equal, for your slain are in paradise and their slain are in hell.

«you say: Where has this come from?» That is, where did this calamity and defeat come from?

«Say [to them]: It has come from your own selves» when you disputed and disobeyed after He showed you what you desired (of booty), so you only have yourselves to blame; beware of doing that which may lead to your doom.

«Verily Allah has power over all things», so avoid thinking negatively of Allah, for He is able to grant them victory, but He has perfect wisdom in testing you.

«...Thus [are you commanded]. If Allah had so willed, He could have exacted retribution upon them [without you fighting], but He [commands you to fight] in order to test some of you by means of others...» (Muhammad 47: 4)

Then Allah states that what befell them of killing and defeat on the day the two armies, the Muslim army and the polytheist army, met at Uḥud, happened by His leave and in accordance with His will and decree that cannot be avoided and must inevitably come to pass.

When the divine decree comes to pass, there is no option but to submit to it and accept it, for there is great wisdom behind His decree and it brings great benefit, and it is ordained so that the believers might be made distinct from the hypocrites who were commanded to fight and were told: «Come, fight in the cause of Allah» that is, to defend and protect the religion of Allah, seeking His pleasure «or at least defend yourselves» and your families and city, even if you do not have any good intentions.

But they refused to do that, and gave excuses, saying: «If we knew there was going to be fighting, we would certainly follow you» that is, if we knew that there would be fighting between you and them, we would follow you. But this was a lie; they knew and were certain, as was everyone else, that these polytheists were filled with hatred and rage towards the believers because of what the believers had inflicted on them (at Badr), and that they had spent a great deal of wealth and gathered all they could of men and weapons, and had come with a huge army, intending to attack the believers in their city, and they were very eager to fight them.

When such is the case, how could it be imagined that there would not be any fighting between them and the believers, especially when the Muslims had come out of Madinah to face them? This is impossible, but the hypocrites thought that this excuse would fool the believers.

﴿They were that day﴾ that is, at that time when they failed to come out with the believers

﴿nearer to disbelief than to faith, saying with their lips that which was not in their hearts﴾. This applies in particular to the hypocrites, who say and do what they think is the opposite of what is in their hearts. For example, they said: ﴿If we knew there was going to be fighting, we would certainly follow you﴾. But they did indeed know that there would be fighting.

This verse is quoted as evidence for the principle of “doing the lesser of two evils so as to ward off the greater, and doing that which serves a lesser interest when it is not possible to do that which serves a greater interest.” The hypocrites were commanded to fight for the sake of the religion, but if they could not do that, then they should at least defend their families and city.

﴿but Allah has full knowledge of all they conceal﴾ and He will cause it to be shown to His believing slaves and He will punish them for it.

﴿[They are] the ones that said of their [slain] brethren, while they themselves stayed behind: If only they had listened to us they would not have been slain» that is, they combine staying behind from jihad with objecting to and disbelieving in the will and decree of Allah. Allah said in response to them: «Say: Avert» that is, ward off «death from your own selves, if what you say is true», that if they had listened to you, they would not have been killed. But you are not able to do that and you cannot do it.

This passage indicates that a person may have some characteristics of disbelief and some of faith, and he may be closer to one than the other.

﴿وَلَا تَحْسَبَنَّ الَّذِينَ قُتِلُوا فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ أَمْوَاتًا بَلْ أَحْيَاءُ عِنْدَ رَبِّهِمْ يُرْزَقُونَ ﴿١٦٩﴾
فَرِحِينَ بِمَا آتَاهُمُ اللَّهُ مِنْ فَضْلِهِ ۚ وَهُمْ لَا يَحْزَنُونَ ﴿١٧٠﴾
يَسْتَبْشِرُونَ بِالَّذِينَ لَمْ يَلْحَقُوا بِهِمْ مِنْ خَلْفِهِمْ أَلَّا
خَوْفٌ عَلَيْهِمْ وَلَا هُمْ يَحْزَنُونَ ﴿١٧١﴾﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٦٩-١٧١)

- 3:169. Do not think of those who are slain in Allah's cause as dead. Nay, they are alive with their Lord, receiving provision,
- 3:170. rejoicing in what Allah has bestowed upon them out of His bounty, sharing glad tidings that for those who have yet to join them, of those whom they left behind, they will have no fear, nor will they grieve;
- 3:171. Rejoicing in the favours and bounties of Allah, and at the awareness that Allah will not cause the reward of the believers to be lost.

These verses speak of the virtue and honour of the martyrs, and what Allah has blessed them with of His grace and kindness. They also offer consolation to the living for the loss of those who were slain and motivation to fight for the cause of Allah and offer themselves for martyrdom.

«Do not think of those who are slain in Allah's cause» that is, in jihad against the enemies of Islam, seeking thereby to make the word of Allah supreme

«as dead» that is, it should not enter your mind that they are dead and lost, and that they are no longer enjoying the pleasures of the life of this world that those who are too cowardly to fight and have no desire for martyrdom may be worried about losing.

«Nay» they have attained something greater than that for which people in this world compete, for «they are alive with their Lord» in the realm of honour. The phrase «with their Lord» is indicative of their high status and their closeness to their Lord «receiving provision» of various kinds of delights that cannot be known or described, except by the One Who blessed them with it.

Moreover, they are «rejoicing in what Allah has bestowed upon them out of His bounty» that is, they are very happy with it, delighted with it and rejoicing in it. That is because it is so beautiful, abundant and great, and there is immense joy when attaining it and there is nothing to spoil that joy.

For them, Allah combined the physical joy of the provision and the spiritual joy, with the joy of that which He bestows upon them out of His bounty. Thus their joy and happiness is complete, and they are «sharing glad tidings that for those who have yet to join them, of those whom they left behind» – that is, they give one another the glad tidings that their brothers who have not yet joined them will come and will attain the same as they did.

«they will have no fear, nor will they grieve» that is, they rejoice that they will have nothing to worry about for themselves or their brothers, which is a sign of perfect joy

«Rejoicing in the favours and bounties of Allah» that is, congratulating one another for the greatest thing for which congratulations may be given, namely the blessings, grace and kindness of their Lord «and at the awareness that Allah will not cause the reward of the believers to be lost»; rather He causes it to grow and appreciates it, and He increases it by His grace to an extent that their efforts did not reach.

These verses affirm the blessings in al-barzakh and confirm that the martyrs enjoy the highest status with their Lord; in al-barzakh the souls of good people meet one another and visit one another, giving glad tidings to one another.

فَزَادَهُمْ إِيمَانًا وَقَالُوا حَسْبُنَا اللَّهُ وَنِعْمَ الْوَكِيلُ ﴿١٧٣﴾ فَأَنْقَلَبُوا بِنِعْمَةٍ مِنَ اللَّهِ
وَفَضْلٍ لَمْ يَنْتَسِبْهُمْ سُوءٌ وَاتَّبَعُوا رِضْوَانَ اللَّهِ وَاللَّهُ ذُو فَضْلٍ عَظِيمٍ ﴿١٧٤﴾ إِنَّمَا ذَلِكُمُ
الشَّيْطَانُ يُخَوِّفُ أَوْلِيَائِهِ. فَلَا تَخَافُوهُمْ وَخَافُوا اللَّهَ إِنْ كُنْتُمْ مُؤْمِنِينَ ﴿١٧٥﴾﴾ (سورة آل عمران:

(١٧٥-١٧٢)

- 3:172. Those who answered the call of Allah and the Messenger, even after sustaining injuries, those who do good and fear Allah will have an immense reward;
- 3:173. those to whom people said: The people have gathered against you, so fear them. But it [only] increased them in faith. They said: Allah is Sufficient for us, and He is the best disposer of affairs.

- 3:174. And they returned with grace and bounty from Allah, and no harm touched them, for they pursued the pleasure of Allah. And Allah is the Possessor of abundant grace.
- 3:175. It is only the Shayṭân who instils fear in [the hearts of] his followers. Do not fear them, but fear Me, if you are [true] believers.

When the Prophet (ﷺ) came back from Uḥud to Madinah, and heard that Abu Sufyân and the polytheists with him were thinking of coming back to Madinah, he called on his Companions to go out, so they went out, despite the injuries they had sustained, in response to the call of Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ), and in obedience to Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ). When they reached Ḥamra' al-Asad, some people came to them and told them: «The people have gathered against you» and are thinking of eradicating you. They said this in order to scare them and cause alarm, but that only increased them in faith and trust in Allah.

«They said: Allah is Sufficient for us» that is, He is the One Who will protect us from all that is causing us concern
 «and He is the best disposer of affairs» that is, He is the One Who is in control of His slaves' affairs and looks after their interests.

«And they returned with grace and bounty from Allah, and no harm touched them». News reached the polytheists that the Messenger (ﷺ) and his Companions had come out to pursue them, and some of those who had stayed behind (from Uḥud) regretted it (and had now joined the Prophet [ﷺ]). Thus Allah instilled dread in the polytheists' hearts, and they continued on their way back to Makkah, while the believers returned with grace and bounty from Allah, as He blessed them by inspiring them to go out despite the state they were in (having sustained injuries in the battle) and to put their trust in their Lord. Moreover, He had decreed for them the reward of a complete campaign, because of their doing their best in obedience to their Lord and refraining from sin. Thus they attained great reward, and that was by Allah's grace towards them.

﴿It is only the Shayṭân who instils fear in [the hearts of] his followers﴾ that is, the one who tried to scare (the believers) by instilling fear of the polytheists, and telling them that the polytheists had gathered against them, was no more than one of the callers of the Shayṭân, who ended up scaring his own followers among those who lacked faith or were weak in faith.

﴿Do not fear them, but fear Me, if you are [true] believers﴾ that is, do not be afraid of the polytheists who are followers of the Shayṭân, for their forelocks are in the Hand of Allah and they cannot do anything but by His decree. Rather you should fear Allah Who supports His friends who fear Him and respond to His call.

This verse speaks of the obligation to fear Allah alone, and tells us that this is one of the requirements of faith. A person's fear of Allah will be commensurate with the level of his faith; this is the praiseworthy kind of fear that deters a person from doing that which Allah has forbidden.

- 3:176. Do not be saddened by those who rush into disbelief; not the least harm will they do to Allah. It is Allah's will that they will have no share in the hereafter; theirs will be a grievous punishment.
- 3:177. Those who purchase disbelief at the cost of faith; not the least harm will they do to Allah, but theirs will be a painful punishment.

The Prophet (ﷺ) cared deeply about people and strove hard to guide them, and he would be saddened if they did not follow guidance. Hence Allah (ﷻ) said:

﴿Do not be saddened by those who rush into disbelief﴾ because of their great love for it and their eagerness to attain it.

﴿not the least harm will they do to Allah﴾ for Allah will support His religion and His Messenger (ﷺ), and His will and decree will come to pass despite them. So do not worry about them or be concerned about them; rather they are only harming and striving to harm themselves, by missing out on faith in this world and incurring the painful punishment in the hereafter. They have become insignificant in Allah's sight and it is His will that they should have no share of His reward in the hereafter. He has forsaken them, so He did not guide them to that to which He guided His close friends and those for whom He willed good, by His justice and wisdom, because of His knowledge that they were not fit to be guided and were not receptive to guidance, because of their bad attitude and intentions.

Then Allah tells us concerning those who chose disbelief over faith, and desired it like one who desires something he likes and gives his wealth to buy the thing he desires:

﴿not the least harm will they do to Allah﴾; rather their action backfires and harms them. Hence He said:

﴿but theirs will be a painful punishment﴾. How could they harm Allah in the slightest, when they have no interest at all in faith but they have the strongest desire to disbelieve in the Most Merciful? Allah has no need of them.

Allah has prepared for His religion people other than them among His righteous slaves, and He has prepared for His religion – among those with whom He is pleased with to support His religion – people of deep insight and reason, strong-willed men. Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Say: Believe in it, or do not believe. Verily, those who were given knowledge before it,<sup>4</sup> when it is recited to them, fall down on their faces in prostration.﴾ (al-Isrā' 17: 107)

3:178. Those who disbelieve should not think that the respite We give them is good for them. We only grant them respite so that they may increase in sinfulness; theirs will be a humiliating punishment.

Those who disbelieved in their Lord, rejected His religion and fought His Messenger (ﷺ) should not think that Our leaving them alone in this world, not destroying them, and giving them respite is good for them or is because of Our love for them. No, that is not the case at all. It is not as they claim; rather that is for something bad that Allah wills for them, and it serves to increase their punishment in addition to the original punishment. Hence Allah says: ﴿We only grant them respite so that they may increase in sinfulness; theirs will be a humiliating punishment﴾. Allah (ﷻ) gives the wrongdoer respite so that he may increase in his transgression and go further in his ingratitude, so that when Allah seizes him, it will be the seizing of One Who is Almighty, All-Powerful (cf. 54: 42). So the wrongdoers should beware of this respite, and not think that they can escape the Great, the Most High.

- 3:179. On no account will Allah leave the believers in the condition in which they are now, until He distinguishes the evil from the good, nor will He disclose to you the secrets of the unseen. But Allah chooses of His Messengers whom He will [to receive knowledge thereof]. So believe in Allah and His Messengers: And if you believe and guard against evil, you will have an immense reward.

By His wisdom, Allah does not leave the believers as they are, mixed with the hypocrites, with no distinction between the two groups; rather He distinguishes the evil from the good, the believer from the hypocrite, the sincere from the insincere.

Nor is it in accordance with His wisdom to disclose to His slaves matters of the unseen concerning what He knows about them. His great wisdom dictated that He should test His slaves with various trials which will distinguish the evil from the good. So Allah sent His Messengers and enjoined people to obey them, follow them and believe in them, and He promised them a great reward in return for believing and guarding against evil. Thus people are divided, according to whether they follow the Messengers, into two groups: obedient and disobedient, believers and hypocrites, Muslims and disbelievers, so that on this basis they will be rewarded or punished, and so as to make manifest His justice, grace and wisdom to His creation.

- 3:180. Those who covetously withhold what Allah has granted them by His grace should not think that it is good for them; rather it is bad for them, for the things which they covetously withheld will be hung around their necks on the Day of Resurrection. To Allah belongs the inheritance of the heavens and the earth; and Allah is well aware of what you do.

This refers to those who covetously withhold that which Allah has given to them by His grace of wealth, status, knowledge and other blessings, and commanded them to give some of it to His slaves in a manner that does not harm them, but they withheld it and kept it for themselves, and were too miserly to give to the slaves of Allah; they thought that it was better for them, when in fact it was bad for them in both spiritual and worldly terms, in this world and in the hereafter.

«for the things which they covetously withheld will be hung around their necks on the Day of Resurrection» that is, what they withheld will be made like a collar on their necks, with which they will be punished, as it says in the ṣaḥeeḥ hadith:

«The miser's wealth will appear to him on the Day of Resurrection in the form of a bald-headed venomous snake with two fangs in its mouth which will hold him with its jaws, then it will say: I am your wealth, I am your treasure.» (Muslim)

Then the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) recited this verse in confirmation of that. These people who thought that their miserliness would benefit them and help them will find that it will turn out to be the opposite, and it will become one of the greatest causes of harm and punishment for them.

﴿To Allah belongs the inheritance of the heavens and the earth﴾ that is, Allah (ﷻ) is the Lord of all dominion, and all dominions will be returned to their real Lord. All people will leave this world without having any dirham or dinar, or any other possessions. Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿Verily, it is We Who will inherit the earth and all who are upon it, and to Us they will be brought back.﴾ (Maryam 19: 40)

Think about how Allah mentions the initial reason (not to be miserly) and the ultimate reason, both of which should make one refrain from withholding that which Allah has given him.

First of all, He said that what a person has in his possession or in his hands is from Allah and His blessing. It does not belong to the individual; rather, were it not for the grace and kindness of Allah towards him, he could not have gained any of it. Thus his withholding of it is tantamount to withholding the bounty and kindness of Allah; Allah's kindness to him dictates that he should be kind to other people, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...Be good to others, as Allah has been good to you...﴾ (al-Qasas 28: 77)

Whoever realises that whatever he possesses is by the grace of Allah will not withhold that which is surplus to his needs and that it will not harm him to give; rather he will benefit (from giving) both spiritually and financially, his faith will increase and he will be protected from troubles and problems.

Secondly, He says that what is in people's hands will all return to Allah; He will inherit it all, and He is the best of inheritors. Therefore there is no reason to withhold anything when it is going to be removed from your possession and go to someone else.

Thirdly, Allah mentions the reason that has to do with the requital, as He says: ﴿and Allah is well aware of what you do﴾. So if He is aware of all your deeds – which implies that He will reward for good deeds and punish for bad deeds – no one in whose heart is an atom's weight of faith will refuse to give, because giving will be requited with reward, and he would not be happy to withhold it, because that leads to punishment.

﴿لَقَدْ سَمِعَ اللَّهُ قَوْلَ الَّذِينَ قَالُوا إِنَّ اللَّهَ فَقِيرٌ وَنَحْنُ أَغْنِيَاءُ سَنَكْتُبُ مَا قَالُوا وَقَتْلَهُمُ الْأَنْبِيَاءَ بِغَيْرِ حَقٍّ وَنَقُولُ ذُوقُوا عَذَابَ الْحَرِيقِ﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٨١-١٨٢)

3:181. Allah has heard the words of those who say: Truly, Allah is poor and we are rich! We shall certainly record their words and their killing the Prophets unjustly, and We shall say: Taste the punishment of the scorching fire!

3:182. This is because of what your hands sent on ahead. For Allah is never unjust to [His] slaves.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us about the words of those evildoers, who said the most abhorrent and stupid things. He states that He has heard what they said, He will record it along with their evil deeds, namely the killing of the sincere Prophets, and He will punish them in the most severe manner, and it will be said to them, in response to their saying that Allah is poor and we are rich: ﴿Taste the punishment of the scorching fire﴾, which will burn and penetrate from the outside of the body to the inside. This punishment is not injustice from Allah towards them, for He ﴿is never unjust to [His] slaves﴾; rather He declares Himself to be above that.

Rather this is the return for what their hands sent on ahead of shameful and evil deeds that lead to them deserving punishment and being deprived of reward.

The commentators stated that this verse was revealed concerning some of the Jews who said these words, and mentioned that one of them was Finhâş ibn 'Âzoorâ', one of the leading Jewish scholars of Madinah. When he heard the words of Allah:

﴿Who is he that will lend to Allah a goodly loan?...﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 245)

– and:

﴿...and lend to Allah a goodly loan...﴾ (al-Hadeed 57: 18)

– he said these words, by way of arrogance and audacity, may Allah curse him. Hence He mentioned what they had said, and stated that this was not something new on their part; rather they had done similar evil deeds before, namely ﴿their killing the Prophets unjustly﴾ (3: 181). What is meant by describing that deed as unjust is that they had the audacity to kill the Prophets even though they were well aware of the abhorrent nature of the deed. They did not do it out of ignorance and misguidance; rather it was out of rebelliousness and stubbornness.

﴿الَّذِينَ قَالُوا إِنَّ اللَّهَ عَهِدَ إِلَيْنَا أَلاَّ نُؤْمِنَ لِرَسُولٍ حَتَّىٰ يَأْتِينَا بَقُرْبَانٍ تَأْكُلُهُ النَّارُ ۚ قُلْ قَدْ جَاءَكُمْ رَسُولٌ مِّن قَبْلِي بِالْبَيِّنَاتِ وَبِالَّذِي قُلْتُمْ فَلِمَ قَتَلْتُمُوهُمْ إِن كُنْتُمْ صَادِقِينَ ﴿١٨٣﴾ فَإِنْ كَذَّبُوكَ فَقَدْ كَذَّبَ رَسُولٌ مِّن قَبْلِكَ جَاءُوا بِالْبَيِّنَاتِ وَالزُّبُرِ ۖ وَالْكِتَابِ الْمُنِيرِ ﴿١٨٤﴾﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٨٣-١٨٤)

- 3:183. They [also] said: Allah has commanded us not to believe in any Messenger until he makes an offering that the fire [from heaven] will consume. Say: There came to you Messengers before me, with clear signs and with the sign you have mentioned. Why then did you kill them, if you are telling the truth?

3:184. Then if they reject you, Messengers before you were also rejected, even though they came with clear signs, the scriptures, and the Book of Enlightenment.

Here Allah tells us about these liars who said: «Allah has commanded us» that is, He has given us instructions «not to believe in any Messenger until he makes an offering that the fire [from heaven] will consume». Thus they combined telling lies about Allah and limiting the sign of the Messengers to that which they suggested of this obvious fabrication, whilst stating that if they did not believe in a Messenger who did not make an offering that would be consumed by fire (from heaven), then by doing so they would be obeying their Lord and adhering to His command. It is known that Allah supported every Messenger He sent with signs and proofs on the basis of which people would believe in him, and He did not limit it to what they suggested, yet despite that they said something false that they did not adhere to or act upon.

Hence Allah commanded His Messenger (ﷺ) to say to them: «Say: There came to you Messengers before me, with clear signs» that proved their truthfulness «and with the sign you have mentioned», of making an offering that the fire (from heaven) consumed. «Why then did you kill them, if you are telling the truth?» that is, in their claim that they would believe in a Messenger who made an offering that the fire (from heaven) consumed. Thus it becomes clear that they were lying, being stubborn and contradicting themselves.

Then Allah consoles His Messenger (ﷺ), and says: «Then if they reject you, Messengers before you were also rejected» that is, this is normal on the part of the wrongdoers; it is their custom to disbelieve in Allah and reject the Messengers of Allah. Their rejection of the Messengers of Allah is not because of any defect or shortcoming in what they brought, or because the proof was not clear. Rather the

Messengers ﴿came with clear signs﴾ that is, rational evidence and scriptural proof

﴿the scriptures﴾ that is, the Books that were sent down from heaven, that could not be brought by anyone but the Messengers

﴿and the Book of Enlightenment﴾, that sheds light on the rulings ordained by Allah and explains what they contain of rational and beautiful teaching. It also sheds light on true events. But this was their way, to not believe in the Messengers who were like this, so do not be saddened by them and do not worry about them.

- 3:185. Every soul will taste death, and only on the Day of Resurrection will you be requited in full [for your deeds]. Whoever is saved from the fire and admitted to paradise will have triumphed, for the life of this world is nothing but a fleeting vanity.

This verse highlights the reality of this world in order to put people off being overly concerned with it because of its transient nature, for it is a fleeting vanity that dazzles with its adornment and deceives with its ostentatious displays, but it will come to an end and people will pass on to the realm of eternity, when they will be requited for what they did in this world, good or bad.

﴿Whoever is saved﴾ that is, brought out ﴿from the fire and admitted to paradise will have triumphed﴾ that is, he will have attained the greatest victory of escaping from the eternal punishment and reaching the gardens of delight in which there is that which no eye has seen, no ear has heard, nor has it ever entered the mind of man. What this verse means is that whoever is not saved from the fire and admitted to paradise has not triumphed; rather he is doomed to eternal misery and suffering.

This verse contains a subtle reference to joy and punishment in al-barzakh, and that people will be partially requited therein for what they did, and they will taste the reward or punishment of what they did in this world. This may be understood from the words «and only on the Day of Resurrection will you be requited in full [for your deeds]». In other words, requital in full for one's deeds will only come on the Day of Resurrection; before that, (there will be some degree of requital) in al-barzakh, and even in this world, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere: «We will surely cause them to taste a lesser punishment before the greater punishment...» (as-Sajdah 32: 21)

﴿ تَتَّبَلُّونَ فِي أَمْوَالِكُمْ وَأَنْفُسِكُمْ وَلَتَسْمَعُنَّ مِنَ الَّذِينَ أُوتُوا
الْكِتَابَ مِنْ قَبْلِكُمْ وَمِنَ الَّذِينَ أَشْرَكُوا أَذًى كَثِيراً وَإِنْ تَصْبِرُوا
وَتَتَّقُوا فَإِنَّ ذَلِكَ مِنْ عَزْمِ الْأُمُورِ ﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٨٦)

3:186. You will certainly be tried and tested in your possessions and in your persons; and you will certainly hear much that is hurtful, from those who were given the Book before you and from those who ascribe partners to Allah. But if you are patient and fear Allah, that is something that must be adhered to [as it is enjoined by Allah].

Here Allah addresses the believers, and tells them that they will be tested with regard to their possessions or wealth, in terms of obligatory and encouraged spending, and that their wealth will be exposed to being used up in Allah's cause; they will also be tested with regard to their persons, by being required to carry burdens that are too heavy for many people, such as jihad in Allah's cause, in which they may be exposed to exhaustion or being killed or captured; or by being faced with sickness that may affect a person himself or those whom he loves.

﴿and you will certainly hear much that is hurtful, from those who were given the Book before you and from those who ascribe partners to Allah﴾, such as impugning you and your religion, your Book and your Messenger.

There are a number of benefits in Allah's telling His believing slaves of that, such as the following:

- His wisdom dictates that these things should happen, in order to distinguish the sincere believer from others.
- Allah (ﷻ) decrees these things for them because of what He wills of good for them, in order to raise them in status, expiate their bad deeds, and increase them in faith and certainty. When He told them of that and it came to pass as He said:
﴿...they said: This is what Allah and his Messenger had promised us, and the promise of Allah and His Messenger is true. And it only increased them in faith and submission.﴾
(al-Aḥzâb 33: 22)
- Allah told them about that in order to make them get used to such things happening and to bear it with patience if they did happen, because then they would be prepared for it happening, which would make it easier to bear. This would make them better able to cope with it and would prompt them to resort to patience and fear of Allah. Hence He said: ﴿But if you are patient and fear Allah﴾ that is, if you bear with patience whatever trials and tests befall you with regard to your possessions and your persons, and whatever hurtful words the wrongdoers address to you, and you be mindful of Allah whilst being patient, by intending it for His sake and hoping to draw close to Him, without going to extremes or overstepping the mark in showing patience, such as showing patience in situations where it is not appropriate to do so and in which your role is to wreak vengeance upon the enemies of Allah, then ﴿that is something that must be adhered to [as it is enjoined by Allah]﴾ that is, it is one of the things that one must adhere to and compete in, and no one is helped to attain it except people of strong resolve and high ambition, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿But none can attain that except those who are patient, and none can attain it except one who is blessed with a great share of good and righteousness.﴾ (Fussilat 41: 35)

﴿وَإِذْ أَخَذَ اللَّهُ مِيثَاقَ الَّذِينَ أُوتُوا الْكِتَابَ لَتُبَيِّنُنَّهُ لِلنَّاسِ وَلَا تَكْتُمُونَهُ، فَنَبَذُوهُ وَرَاءَ ظُهُورِهِمْ وَأَشْرَوْا بِهِ، ثَمَنًا قَلِيلًا ۖ فَبِئْسَ مَا يَشْتَرُونَ ﴿١٨٧﴾ لَا تَحْسَبَنَّ الَّذِينَ يَفْرَحُونَ بِمَا أُوتُوا وَيُحِبُّونَ أَنْ يُحْمَدُوا بِمَا لَمْ يَفْعَلُوا فَلَا تَحْسَبَنَّهُمْ بِمَفَازٍ مِنَ الْعَذَابِ ۖ وَلَهُمْ عَذَابٌ أَلِيمٌ ﴿١٨٨﴾﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٨٧-١٨٨)

- 3:187. And [remember] when Allah took a covenant from those who were given the scripture, that they should make it known and clear to humankind, and not conceal it; but they cast it behind their backs, and sold it for a small price; what a wretched trade they made!
- 3:188. Do not think that those who rejoice in what they have done, and love to be praised for what they have not done – do not think that they can escape the punishment. Theirs will be a painful punishment.

The covenant is a confirmed, binding promise. Allah (ﷻ) took this covenant from everyone to whom He gave the scriptures and taught knowledge, that they should teach the people whatever they need of what Allah taught them, and they should not conceal that from them or withhold it, especially if the people ask for it or if something happens that necessitates teaching them, because everyone who has knowledge must, in that case, disclose it and explain that which distinguishes truth from falsehood.

Those who were guided fulfilled that duty properly and taught the people some of that which Allah had taught them, seeking the pleasure of their Lord and out of compassion towards other people, and for fear of committing the sin of concealing it.

As for those who were given the scripture, the Jews, Christians and others like them, they cast these covenants behind their backs and did not care about them. Thus they concealed the truth and made falsehood manifest, out of audacity and carelessness in transgressing the limits set by Allah, and out of negligence concerning the rights of Allah and the rights of other people. But all they got in return for that concealment was a small price, which is what they obtained of positions of leadership and a miserable amount of wealth from the foolish ones who follow their whims and desires and give precedence to their desires over the truth.

«what a wretched trade they made» because it is the most miserable and cheap trade; what they gave away in this exchange – which was explaining the truth which leads to eternal happiness and serves people's interests, both spiritual and worldly – is the most important and greatest of aims. They only chose that which is vile and base, and gave up that which is sublime and precious, because of their misfortune and insignificance, and because they were not fit for anything other than that for which they were created.

Then Allah says: «Do not think that those who rejoice in what they have done» of evil actions and falsehood in word and deed

﴿and love to be praised for what they have not done﴾ that is, for the good things that they have not done and the truth that they have not spoken. Thus they combined doing and saying evil things, and rejoicing therein, with love of being praised for good things that they have not done.

﴿do not think that they can escape the punishment﴾ that is, they are not in any position to be saved from it; rather they deserve it and it will inevitably befall them. Hence Allah says: ﴿Theirs will be a painful punishment﴾.

This verse includes the People of the Book who rejoiced in the knowledge that they had, but they did not follow the Messenger (ﷺ), and they claimed that they were in the right in everything they did and said. The same applies to everyone who follows innovation in word or deed, rejoicing in it, calling others to it and claiming that they are in the right whilst others are in the wrong, as the innovators do.

This verse indicates that if the one who likes to be praised for what he does of good deeds and following the truth does not have the aim of showing off and enhancing his reputation, then he is not to be blamed. Rather this is something that one may seek, and He may reward in this manner those who do and say good things for His sake. Allah grants this reward to people of special standing who ask Him for that, as Ibrâheem (عليه السلام) said:

﴿And grant me an honourable renown among the later nations.﴾ (ash-Shu'arâ 26: 84)

And Allah says:

﴿Peace be upon Nooh among all nations. Thus do We reward those who do good.﴾ (aş-Sâffât 37: 79-80)

And the worshippers of the Most Merciful say:

﴿...and make us good examples for those who fear You.﴾ (al-Furqân 25: 74)

This is one of the blessings that Allah bestows upon His slaves, and one of His favours for which thanks must be given.

﴿وَلِلَّهِ مُلْكُ السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ ۖ وَاللَّهُ عَلَىٰ كُلِّ شَيْءٍ قَدِيرٌ﴾ (سورة آل عمران:

(۱۸۹)

3:189. To Allah belongs the dominion of the heavens and the earth; and Allah has power over all things.

That is, He is the Sovereign of the heavens and the earth, and all that is in them of all types of creatures; He controls them with perfect might and power, so no one can resist Him or frustrate Him.

﴿إِنَّ فِي خَلْقِ السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ وَاخْتِلَافِ اللَّيْلِ وَالنَّهَارِ لَآيَاتٍ لِّأُولِي الْأَلْبَابِ ۚ الَّذِينَ يَذْكُرُونَ اللَّهَ قِيَمًا وَقُعُودًا وَعَلَىٰ جُنُوبِهِمْ وَيَتَفَكَّرُونَ فِي خَلْقِ السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ رَبَّنَا مَا خَلَقْتَ هَذَا بَطْلًا سُبْحَنَكَ فَقِنَا عَذَابَ النَّارِ﴾ رَبَّنَا إِنَّكَ مَن تَدْخِلِ النَّارَ فَقَدْ أَخْرَجْتَهُ، وَمَا لِلظَّالِمِينَ مِن أَنْصَارٍ ﴿۱۹۰﴾ رَبَّنَا إِنَّا سَجَعْنَا مُنَادِيًا يُنَادِي لِلْإِيمَانِ أَنْ ءَامِنُوا بِرَبِّكُمْ فَتَأْمَنَّا رَبَّنَا فَاغْفِرْ لَنَا ذُنُوبَنَا وَكَفِّرْ عَنَّا سَيِّئَاتِنَا وَتَوَفَّنَا مَعَ الْأَبْرَارِ ﴿۱۹۱﴾ رَبَّنَا وَءَاثِنَا مَا وَعَدْتَنَا عَلَىٰ رُسُلِكَ وَلَا تُخْزِنَا يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ إِنَّكَ لَا تُخْلِفُ الْمِيعَادَ﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ۱۹۰-۱۹۴)

3:190. Verily in the creation of the heavens and the earth, and the alternation of night and day, there are indeed signs for people of understanding,

3:191. People who remember Allah, standing, sitting, and lying down on their sides, and reflect upon the creation of the heavens and the earth, [with the thought]: Our Lord, You have not created all this in vain. Glory be to You! Save us from the punishment of the fire.

- 3:192. Our Lord, whomever You cause to enter the fire, You have surely brought to disgrace, and the wrongdoers will have no helpers.
- 3:193. Our Lord! We have heard a caller calling [us] to faith, [saying]: Believe in the Lord, and we have believed. Our Lord, forgive us our sins, expiate our bad deeds, and cause us to die in the company of the righteous.
- 3:194. Our Lord, grant us what You have promised to us through Your Messengers, and do not disgrace us on the Day of Resurrection, for You never break Your promise.

Here Allah tells us that ﴿Verily in the creation of the heavens and the earth, and the alternation of night and day, there are indeed signs for people of understanding﴾. This encourages people to think deeply, examine these signs and contemplate the creation. He left the word ﴿signs﴾ ambiguous, and did not state explicitly what it points to, as an indication of the great number and ubiquitous nature of those signs. That is because in creation there are amazing signs that dazzle those who look upon them, convince those who ponder them, attract the hearts of those who are sincere and strengthen the faith of people of understanding.

But the details of what these signs contain are impossible for any person to list or even comprehend some of them. In conclusion, what we see in them of greatness, the vastness and order in the movement of heavenly bodies, point to the greatness of their Creator and His power, which encompasses all things. Their perfection, precision and beauty point to the wisdom of Allah, His control over all things and the vastness of His knowledge. The benefits they bring to people are indicative of the vastness of Allah's mercy, the all-encompassing nature of His grace and kindness, and the necessity of being grateful to Him.

All of that indicates that the heart should only be attached to its Creator and originator, and should do its utmost to seek His pleasure, and not associate with Him any of those who have not even an atom's weight of power over themselves or others on earth or in heaven.

Allah has intended these signs only for people of understanding, namely the people of reason, because they are the ones who benefit from that and who contemplate the signs with reason, and do not merely look at them with their eyes.

Then Allah describes the people of understanding as being: ﴿People who remember Allah﴾ in all circumstances, ﴿standing, sitting, and lying down on their sides﴾. This includes all types of remembrance of Allah, both verbal and in the heart. That includes praying standing; if that is not possible, then sitting; and if that is not possible then lying on one's side.

﴿and reflect upon the creation of the heavens and the earth﴾ that is, so that they may reach the conclusion intended (that there is a great Creator). This indicates that reflection is an act of worship, and is one of the characteristics of the close friends of Allah. When they reflect upon these things, they realise that Allah did not create them in vain, and they say:

﴿Our Lord, You have not created all this in vain. Glory be to You﴾ and exalted be You above all that is not befitting to Your Majesty; rather You created it in truth, for truth, and including truth.

﴿Save us from the punishment of the fire﴾ by protecting us from doing bad deeds, and helping us to do righteous deeds, so that we might attain thereby salvation from the fire. This is an implicit prayer for paradise, because – if Allah protects them from the punishment of the fire – they will attain paradise. But as this fear is entrenched in their hearts, they call upon Allah referring to that which most concerns them.

﴿Our Lord, whomever You cause to enter the fire, You have surely brought to disgrace﴾ that is, because he has incurred the wrath of Allah and of His angels and close friends, and has become subject to inescapable shame.

Hence Allah says: ﴿and the wrongdoers will have no helpers﴾ to save them from His punishment. This indicates that they will enter it because of their wrongdoing.

﴿Our Lord! We have heard a caller calling [us] to faith﴾, namely Muhammad (ﷺ). What is meant is: he is calling the people to faith, and encouraging them to believe in the major and minor matters of faith

﴿and we have believed﴾ that is, we hastened to respond to him. This is an acknowledgement on their part of the blessings that Allah has bestowed upon them, and an expression of joy in that blessing, asking Him by virtue thereof to forgive their sins and expiate their bad deeds, because good deeds erase bad deeds. The One Who blessed them with faith will bless them with complete security (on the Day of Resurrection).

﴿and cause us to die in the company of the righteous﴾. This supplication implies guidance to do good and refrain from evil, by virtue of which one will become one of the righteous and will continue in that path and remain steadfast until death.

When they mentioned Allah's guiding them to faith and beseeched Him to complete His favour, they asked Him to reward them for that, and to fulfil what He had promised to them on the lips of His Messengers, of victory in this world and the attainment of Allah's pleasure and paradise in the hereafter, for Allah (ﷻ) does not break His promise. Allah answered their prayer and accepted their request, hence He says:

﴿فَاسْتَجَابَ لَهُمْ رَبُّهُمْ أَنِّي لَا أُضِيعُ عَمَلَ عَمِلٍ مِنْكُمْ مِنْ ذَكَرٍ أَوْ أُنْثَىٰ بَعْضُكُمْ مِنْ بَعْضٍ ۖ فَالَّذِينَ هَاجَرُوا وَأُخْرِجُوا مِنْ دِيَارِهِمْ وَأُودُوا فِي سَبِيلِي وَقُتِلُوا وَقَتِلُوا لِأَكْفُرَنَّ عَنْهُمْ سَيِّئَاتِهِمْ وَلَا أَذْخُلَنَّاهُمْ جَنَّتٍ بَحْرِيٍّ مِنْ تَحْتِهَا الْأَنْهَارُ ثَوَابًا مِّنْ عِنْدِ اللَّهِ ۗ وَاللَّهُ عِنْدَهُ حُسْنُ الثَّوَابِ ﴿١٩٥﴾﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٩٥)

- 3:195. Their Lord has answered them: Never will I allow to be lost the work of any of you, be he male or female; you are both the same in that respect. Those who have left their homes, and been driven out therefrom, and suffered harm for My sake, and fought and been slain, verily, I will expiate their bad deeds, and admit them to gardens through which rivers flow, a reward from Allah; with Allah is the best reward.

That is, Allah answered their supplication (du'a) and said: I will not allow the work of any of you, male or female, to be lost; each of you will receive the reward of his or her deeds in full.

﴿you are both the same in that respect﴾ that is, all of you are equal in terms of reward and punishment.

﴿Those who have left their homes, and been driven out therefrom, and suffered harm for My sake, and fought and been slain﴾: they combined faith and migration, leaving behind what one loves of homeland and property, seeking the pleasure of their Lord and striving in the cause of Allah.

﴿verily, I will expiate their bad deeds, and admit them into gardens through which rivers flow, a reward from Allah﴾, Who grants abundant reward to His slave for little effort.

﴿with Allah is the best reward﴾ such as no eye has seen, no ear has heard, nor has it ever entered the mind of man. Whoever wants that, let him ask Allah for it by virtue of his obedience, and strive to draw close to Him by whatever means he can.

﴿لَا يَغْرَنَكَ تَقَلُّبُ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا فِي الْبِلَادِ ﴿١٩٦﴾ مَتَّعٌ قَلِيلٌ ثُمَّ مَا لَهُمْ جَهَنَّمَ
وَيْسَ الْمِهَادُ ﴿١٩٧﴾ لَكِنَّ الَّذِينَ اتَّخَذُوا إِلَهُهُمْ هُمْ جَنَّاتٌ تَجْرَى مِنْ تَحْتِهَا الْأَنْهَارُ
خَالِدِينَ فِيهَا نَزَّلَا مِنَ عِنْدِ اللَّهِ وَمَا عِنْدَ اللَّهِ خَيْرٌ لِلْأَبْرَارِ ﴿١٩٨﴾﴾ (سورة آل عمران:

(196-198)

- 3:196. Do not be deceived by the [uninhibited] movement of the disbelievers throughout the land:
- 3:197. It is only a brief enjoyment; their ultimate abode is hell, what a wretched resting-place!
- 3:198. But for those who fear their Lord are gardens, through which rivers flow, to abide therein forever, a welcoming gift from Allah; and that which is with Allah is best for the righteous.

These verses offer consolation (to the believers) for what the disbelievers have of pleasure and enjoyment in this world, and freedom of movement for the purposes of trade, earning a living and leisure, and different kinds of power and prevalence at various times. All of that is ﴿only a brief enjoyment﴾ that will not last; rather they will enjoy it for a while, then they will be punished for it for a long time. This is the best state that the disbeliever may be in, and you see how it will end.

As for those who fear their Lord and believe in Him – in addition to attaining honour and joy in this world, they will have: ﴿gardens, through which rivers flow, to abide therein forever﴾.

If it so happens that in this world they encounter misery, hardship, suffering and difficulties, that will be insignificant in comparison to eternal delight, good living, happiness and joy (in the hereafter); it will be a gift in the form of a trial. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿that which is with Allah is best for the righteous﴾. The righteous are those whose hearts, words and deeds are righteous. The Most Magnificent, Most Merciful will grant them an immense reward and eternal victory, by His grace.

﴿ وَإِنَّ مِنْ أَهْلِ الْكِتَابِ لَمَنْ يُؤْمِنُ بِاللَّهِ وَمَا أُنْزِلَ إِلَيْكُمْ وَمَا أُنْزِلَ إِلَيْهِمْ خَشِعِينَ لِلَّهِ لَا يَشْتَرُونَ بِعَايَتِ اللَّهِ ثَمَنًا قَلِيلًا ۖ أُولَٰئِكَ لَهُمْ أَجْرُهُمْ عِنْدَ رَبِّهِمْ ۚ إِنَّ اللَّهَ سَرِيعُ الْحِسَابِ ﴾ (سورة آل عمران: ١٩٩-٢٠٠)

- 3:199. Verily, among the People of the Book, there are those who believe in Allah, and in what has been sent down to you and what was sent down to them, humbling themselves before Allah. They do not sell the revelations of Allah for a small price. These will have their reward with their Lord; verily Allah is swift in reckoning.
- 3:200. O you who believe, be steadfast and stand firm, be on the alert, and fear Allah; that you may prosper.

That is, some of the People of the Book are guided to goodness; they believe in Allah and they believe in what has been sent down to you and what has been sent down to them. This is the faith that is beneficial; it is not like the faith of one who believes in some of the Messengers and Books, and rejects others.

Hence – because their belief was comprehensive and real – it became beneficial for them, which led them to humble themselves before Allah and submit to His Majesty, which made them follow His commands, heed His prohibitions and adhere to His limits.

These are People of the Book and knowledge in the true sense, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿...Among His slaves, only those who have knowledge truly fear Allah...﴾ (Fâtir 35: 28)

A sign of their complete humility before Allah is that they ﴿do not sell the revelations of Allah for a small price﴾. So they do not give precedence to worldly interests over religious interests, as is done by the deviant people who conceal that which Allah revealed and sell it for a small price.

These people have come to know the truth of the matter and realised that it is the greatest loss to be content with that which is cheap and inferior, and to give it precedence over religious commitment, or to focus on some base desires of the nafs and overlook the truth, which is the greatest gain and triumph in this world and the hereafter; thus they give precedence to the truth, explain it, call others to it and warn against falsehood. Therefore Allah rewards them for that; He promised them a great reward and told them that it is near and that He is swift in reckoning, so that they will not think that what Allah promised them is slow in coming, because whatever is coming and there is no doubt about it is in fact near.

Then Allah urges the believers to do that which will bring them to prosperity, which is victory, happiness and success. The way to attain that is to adhere to patience, which means disciplining oneself to do that which one finds hard, such as refraining from sin, being steadfast at the time of calamity and adhering to commands that one finds burdensome. So Allah commands them to be patient in all these cases. Standing firm means being patient and steadfast, and resisting the enemy in all circumstances.

Being on the alert means staying in the place where there is a fear the enemy could reach, keeping a lookout for the enemy and preventing them from reaching their goals, so that they (the believers) may prosper, attain what they want in both religious and worldly terms and in the hereafter, and be safe from that which they fear.

Thus we learn that there is no way to attain prosperity without being steadfast, standing firm, and being on the alert as mentioned. Those who prosper only do so by means of these things, and people only miss out on prosperity because they overlook these things or some of them.

This is the end of the commentary on Soorat Al 'Imrân.

All praise and thanks are for Allah, and may the blessings and peace of Allah be upon Prophet Muhammad (ﷺ), his family, and his Companions abundantly until the Day of Judgement.

بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ

*In the name of Allah,
the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful*

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ اتَّقُوا رَبَّكُمُ الَّذِي خَلَقَكُمْ مِنْ نَفْسٍ وَاحِدَةٍ وَخَلَقَ مِنْهَا زَوْجَهَا وَبَثَّ مِنْهُمَا رِجَالًا
كَثِيرًا وَنِسَاءً ۚ وَاتَّقُوا اللَّهَ الَّذِي تَسَاءَلُونَ بِهِ وَالْأَرْحَامَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ كَانَ عَلَيْكُمْ رَقِيبًا﴾ (سورة
النساء: ١)

- 4:1. O humankind, fear your Lord, Who created you from a single soul, and from it created its mate, and from the pair of them spread countless men and women far and wide. Fear Allah, in Whose name you demand your mutual [rights], and be mindful of your ties of kinship, for Allah is always watching you.

---

This soorah begins with the command to fear Allah and worship Him, and to uphold ties of kinship. We are urged to do these things, and in this soorah Allah explains the reason for all of that, and why we should fear Him.

﴿your Lord, Who created you﴾, provided for you and bestowed great blessings upon you, which includes His creation of you ﴿from a single soul, and from it created its mate﴾ so that there would be compatibility between them and that he may find comfort in her, thus the blessing will be completed and joy will be attained.

There is also another reason to fear Him, which is that you demand your mutual rights in His name, and venerate Him by doing so, in that when you want your needs to be met and your goals fulfilled, you try to get it by asking for it in the name of Allah. So the one who wants that says to another person: I ask you by Allah to do such and such. That is because he knows what the other person has in his heart of veneration towards Allah, which will make him not reject anyone who asks him by Allah. So just as you venerate Him by doing that, you should also venerate Him by worshipping Him and fearing Him.

Similarly, Allah tells us that He is always watching; in other words, He can see his slaves in all that they do, in secret and in public, for He is always watching them. This should prompt us to remember that He is always watching, and thus feel shy before Him, by constantly fearing Him.

By telling us that He created them from a single soul and that He spread them throughout the earth, even though they have one origin, this should make them compassionate and kind towards one another. Alongside the command to fear Him comes the command to be mindful of ties of kinship and the prohibition on severing these ties. This serves to affirm the importance of upholding ties of kinship: just as it is obligatory to fulfil duties towards Allah, it is also essential to fulfil duties towards other people, especially relatives. In fact doing one's duty towards them is part of doing one's duty to Allah, that Allah has enjoined.

Think about how this soorah begins with the command to fear Allah and be mindful of ties of kinship and spouses in general. Then after that, these factors are explained fully, in detail, from the beginning of the soorah to the end. It is as if the entire soorah focuses on these issues, as it goes on to explain in detail and clarify what is mentioned in brief here.

The words ﴿and from it created its mate﴾ emphasise paying attention to the rights of husbands and wives, and fulfilling them, because wives are created from husbands, so the closest connections, ties and relationships exist between them.

﴿وَمَا اتُوا إِلَىٰ ذِي الْأَرْثَالِ مِنْهُنَّ بِمَا يَكُونُ لَهَا مِنْ مَّوَالِيهَا وَلَا تَتَّبِعُوا الْأَمْوَالَ الْيَتَامَىٰ بِالطَّيِّبِ وَلَا تَأْكُلُوا أَمْوَالَهُمْ إِلَىٰ أَمْوَالِكُمْ إِنَّهُ كَانَ حُوبًا كَبِيرًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ٢)

- 4:2. Give orphans their property, and do not exchange the bad for the good, nor consume their wealth by mixing it with your own, for this is indeed a great sin.

This is the first issue with regard to the rights of people in this soorah. This refers to orphans who have lost their fathers, who had been taking care of them, when they are still small and vulnerable, unable to take care of themselves. So the Most Compassionate, Most Merciful enjoined His slaves to treat orphans well and not to come near their wealth except in the best manner, and to give their wealth back to them when they reach adulthood and become mature.

Also, He instructed them not to ﴿exchange the bad﴾, which refers to consuming the orphan's wealth unlawfully ﴿for the good﴾, which refers to that which is permissible and with which there is nothing wrong ﴿nor consume their wealth by mixing it with your own﴾.

This verse highlights the abhorrent nature of consuming their wealth in this case, when the provision that Allah has granted him should mean that there is no need to take their wealth. Whoever transgresses the limits in this case has committed «a great sin» that is, a grievous sin. Another type of exchanging bad for good is when the guardian takes what is precious from the orphan's wealth and replaces it with what is inferior of his own wealth. This verse proves the validity of guardianship over orphans, because the implication of giving orphans their wealth is that the one who gives them their property is their guardian. It also instructs guardians to take proper care of orphans' property, because giving him his wealth properly requires taking care of it and doing that which will keep it safe and make it grow, and not exposing it to danger.

- 4:3. If you fear that you will not be able to deal fairly with orphan girls, you may marry other women who seem good to you, two or three or four; but if you fear that you will not be equitable, then marry only one, or any slave-girls you may own. That is more likely to keep you from committing an injustice.
- 4:4. And give the women [on marriage] their dowry graciously; but if they, of their own accord, choose to give up to you a part of it, you may enjoy it with a clear conscience.

That is, if you fear that you will not be fair or just to female orphans who are under your guardianship and care, and you fear that you will not fulfil their rights because you do not feel attracted to them, then choose from among other women, and marry «other women who seem good to you» that is, those whom you choose of women who are religiously committed, wealthy, beautiful, of good lineage or good social standing, and other qualities that make them desirable for marriage, so choose as you see fit.

Out of all these qualities, the best you can choose is the quality of religious commitment, as the Prophet (ﷺ) said:

«Women may be married for four things: their wealth, their lineage, their beauty and their religious commitment. Choose the one who is religiously-committed, may your hands be rubbed with dust (that is, may you prosper).» (Bukhari and Muslim)

This verse indicates that the man should find out about the woman he wants to marry; indeed it is permissible for him to look at the one he wants to marry, so that he will choose one he thinks is suitable for him and he will be certain that he likes her.

Then Allah states the number of women whom it is permissible to marry: «two or three or four» that is, whoever wants to take two wives may do so, and if he wants to take three or four, he may do so, but no more than that, according to scholarly consensus.

That is because a man's desire may not be satisfied with just one wife, so it is permitted for him to take one after another, until he reaches four, because four is enough for anyone, except in rare cases. However, that is only permitted on condition that he is certain that he will be able to avoid injustice and mistreatment and he is confident that he will be able to give them their rights.

But if he fears that he will not be able to be fair and just in any way, then he must limit it to one, or to slave women, because he is not obliged to give equal shares to slave women.

«That» namely limiting it to one wife or to slave women «is more likely to keep you from committing an injustice» that is, being unfair to any of them.

This indicates that for a person to put himself in a situation in which he fears that he may be unjust or unfair, or not carry out his duties – even if it is permissible in principle – is not appropriate; rather he must err on the side of caution and protect his religious commitment, because keeping his religious commitment intact is for the best.

Because many men mistreat women and deny them their rights – especially the mahr or dowry, which is usually a large amount that is paid in one go, therefore the husband may find it difficult to give it to the wife – here Allah commands and urges men to give wives ﴿their dowry﴾ or mahr ﴿graciously﴾ that is, with goodwill and with peace of mind, and not to delay it or deduct anything from it. This indicates that the mahr is to be given to the woman if she has reached the age of accountability, and that it becomes her property as soon as a marriage contract is done, because it is described as belonging to the woman (﴿their [that is, women's] dowry﴾), which implies that it is their property.

﴿but if they, of their own accord, choose to give up to you a part of it﴾ that is, of the dowry. What is meant is: if they give it up to you willingly and by their own choice, by waiving part of it, or accepting delays or substitutions ﴿you may enjoy it with a clear conscience﴾ that is, there is no blame on you for that, and there are no consequences.

This indicates that the woman has the right to dispose of her wealth, even by giving it freely, if she is mature. If she is not mature, then her giving it is not valid. We also learn that her guardian is not entitled to any part of her dowry, unless she gives it willingly.

The words ﴿you may marry other women, who seem good to you﴾ indicate that marriage to bad women is not enjoined; in fact it is forbidden, such as polytheist women or immoral women, as Allah says elsewhere:

«Do not marry the polytheist women until they believe...» (al-Baqarah 2: 221)

«...and a woman who fornicates may only marry a man who fornicates or who is a polytheist...» (an-Noor 24: 3)

﴿وَلَا تُؤْتُوا السُّفَهَاءَ أَمْوَالَكُمُ الَّتِي جَعَلَ اللَّهُ لَكُمْ فِيهَا أَرْزُقُوهُمْ فِيهَا وَاكْسُوهُمْ وَقُولُوا لَهُمْ قَوْلًا مَعْرُوفًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ٥)

- 4:5. Do not entrust your property to the feeble-minded, which Allah has made a means of support for you, but feed and clothe them from it, and speak to them with kind words.

The word translated here as «feeble-minded» refers to one who does not dispose of wealth in the proper manner either because he is lacking in mental capacity, such as one who is insane or has an intellectual disability, or because he is not mature, such as minors and those who are reckless. Allah forbids the guardians to give them their wealth, lest they spoil it or waste it, because Allah has made wealth a means of support for His slaves, to serve their religious and worldly interests, but these people cannot look after it properly or protect it.

So He instructs guardians not to give it to them; rather they should feed and clothe them from it and spend from it on their necessities and things they need for their spiritual and physical well-being, and they should speak kind words to them by promising them – if they ask for it – that they will give it to them after they reach the age of maturity and the like. And they should speak kindly to them so that they will feel reassured.

The fact that Allah (ﷻ) attributes the wealth to the guardians («your property») indicates that they must handle the property of these feeble-minded or immature ones as they handle their own property, by protecting it, disposing of it properly and not exposing it to danger.

This verse indicates that expenses for the maintenance of the insane, minors and the feeble-minded should come from their own wealth, if they have any wealth, because Allah says: ﴿but feed and clothe them from it﴾. This indicates that the word of the guardian is acceptable in whatever claims he makes of having spent on their maintenance and clothing, if it sounds plausible, because Allah has entrusted him with their wealth, and the word of the trustee must be accepted.

- 4:6. Test the orphans until they reach a marriageable age. Then, if you find that they have sound judgement, hand over their property to them. Do not consume it unlawfully or hastily before they come of age [and demand it]. If the guardian is well-off, let him abstain entirely [from the orphan's property], but if he is poor, let him consume thereof according to what is reasonable. When you hand over their property to them, call in witnesses. And Allah is sufficient in taking account.

Testing is done by giving the orphan who is approaching maturity and is expected to be of sound judgement a small amount of his wealth, to see if he handles it properly as befits his situation; thus it will become clear whether he is of sound judgement or foolish. If he continues to mishandle it, then his wealth is not to be handed over to him even if he grows very old, because he is persisting in foolishness.

If it becomes clear that he is of sound judgement and fit to handle his own wealth, and he has reached a marriageable age, ﴿hand over their property to them﴾ in full.

﴿Do not consume it unlawfully﴾ that is, by overstepping the mark of what is permissible, namely what Allah has permitted to you of your own wealth, and transgressing upon that which Allah has forbidden to you of their wealth.

﴿or hastily before they come of age [and demand it]﴾ that is, do not consume it when they are small and unable to take it from you or prevent you from consuming it, rushing to do that before they grow up and become able to take it from you or keep you away from it. This is something that actually happens a great deal on the part of guardians who do not fear Allah and do not have any compassion or love for the orphans under their care; they regard this situation as an opportunity, so they take advantage of it and hasten to do that which Allah has forbidden to them. Hence Allah (ﷻ) forbids such actions in this particular case.

﴿لِّلرِّجَالِ نَصِيبٌ مِّمَّا تَرَكَ الْوَالِدَانِ وَالْأَقْرَبُونَ وَلِلنِّسَاءِ نَصِيبٌ مِّمَّا تَرَكَ الْوَالِدَانِ وَالْأَقْرَبُونَ مِمَّا قَلَّ مِنْهُ أَوْ كَثُرَ نَصِيبًا مَّفْرُوضًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ٧)

- 4:7. Men have a share in what parents and relatives leave behind, and women have a share in what parents and relatives leave behind, whether it be little or much; this is ordained [by Allah].

During the jāhiliyah, because of their cruelty and hardheartedness, the Arabs did not permit the weak, such as women and children, to inherit and they made inheritance for strong men only, because such men – according to their way of thinking – were people of war and fighting who could plunder and seize booty. But the Most Wise, Most Merciful Lord wanted to ordain laws for His slaves in which men and women, strong and weak, would be equal. As a precursor to that, He revealed general principles so that they could get used to the idea, then the details came after the general principle had become established, people were prepared to receive it and they would feel no resentment such as might have stemmed from these abhorrent customs. Hence Allah said:

﴿Men have a share﴾ that is, a portion
 ﴿in what parents﴾ that is, mothers and fathers ﴿and relatives﴾ in general ﴿leave behind, and women have a share in what parents and relatives leave behind﴾.

It is as if there was a question: is this share to be based on custom and tradition, and may they give them whatever they want to give, or is it something of a specified amount? Hence Allah (ﷻ) said: ﴿this is ordained [by Allah]﴾ that is, the All-Knowing, Most Wise has ordained it, and we will discuss the size of the portions below, in shâ' Allâh.

Moreover, there may be another misconception, which is that women and children have no share except in cases where the wealth is abundant, so Allah dispelled that notion by saying: ﴿whether it be little or much﴾. Blessed be Allah, the best prescriber of laws.

﴿وَإِذَا حَضَرَ الْقِسْمَةَ أُولُو الْقُرْبَىٰ وَالْيَتَامَىٰ وَالْمَسْكِينُ فَأَرْزُقُوهُمْ مِنْهُ وَقُولُوا لَهُمْ قَوْلًا مَعْرُوفًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ٨)

- 4:8. But if at the time of division [other] relatives, or orphans or those in need, are present, give them something from it, and speak to them with kind words.

This is a beautiful and sublime teaching, and a kind gesture. Allah says: ﴿But if at the time of division﴾ that is, division of the estate ﴿[other] relatives﴾ who are not designated heirs ﴿or orphans or those in need﴾ that is, deserving cases among the poor ﴿are present, give them something from it﴾ that is, give them something that you can afford from this wealth that has come to you without any effort or trouble on your part, for they are eager to have something of it, so give them something, as a kind gesture, in such a way that will not affect you yet will benefit them.

From this we learn that if anyone shows interest or hopes for some of that which you have in front of you, you should give him something of it, as the Prophet (ﷺ) said:

«If the servant of one of you brings him his food, let him make him sit with him, and if he does not make him sit with him, then let him give him a morsel or two.» (Bukhari)

When the first fruits of their trees appeared, the Companions (رضي الله عنهم) would bring it to the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) for him to pray for blessing for it; he would look for the youngest child present, and give it to him, knowing that he was most eager to have it. All of this applies if it is possible to give something; if that is not possible, because there are others who are more deserving of it, then let them say to them ﴿kind words﴾ and turn them away gently, by saying something kind, not insulting or offensive.

﴿وَلْيَخْشَ الَّذِينَ لَوْ تَرَكَوْا مِنْ خَلْفِهِمْ ذُرِّيَّةً ضِعَافًا خَافُوا عَلَيْهِمْ فَلْيَتَّقُوا اللَّهَ﴾
 وَلْيَقُولُوا قَوْلًا سَدِيدًا ﴿٩﴾ إِنَّ الَّذِينَ يَأْكُلُونَ أَمْوَالَ الْيَتَامَى ظُلْمًا إِنَّمَا يَأْكُلُونَ
 فِي بُطُونِهِمْ نَارًا وَسَيَصْلَوْنَ سَعِيرًا ﴿١٠﴾ (سورة النساء: ٩-١٠)

- 4:9. And let those be careful who, if they were to leave behind vulnerable children, would be concerned for them; let them fear Allah and say what is appropriate.
- 4:10. Verily, those who devour the property of orphans unjustly take nothing into their bellies but fire. Soon they will burn in a raging fire.

It was said that this is addressed to those who are present when a person is dying; if he shows some unfairness in his bequests, they should tell him to be just and fair in his bequests, based on the words: ﴿let [them]...say what is appropriate﴾ that is, what is in accordance with fairness and what is right. So they should advise the one who wants to make a bequest to minimise it out of compassion for his own children (so that there will be more wealth left for them); their advice should be based on what they would want for their own children after they are gone.

According to other commentators, this is addressed to the guardians of those who are feeble-minded, such as the insane, minors and those who are poor in judgement; they should treat them with regard to their religious and worldly affairs in the way they would like those who come after them to treat their own vulnerable children, ﴿let them fear Allah﴾ in their guardianship of others; in other words, let them treat them in a manner that reflects fear of Allah, without humiliating them, and let them take care of them and raise them to fear Allah.

When He enjoined that upon them, He warned them not to devour the wealth of orphans, and promised a severe punishment for doing so: ﴿Verily, those who devour the property of orphans unjustly﴾ that is, unlawfully; this excludes what is mentioned above, about it being permissible for one who is poor to consume it in accordance with what is reasonable, and its being permissible to mix their food with the orphans' food.

But those who devour it unjustly ﴿take nothing into their bellies but fire﴾ that is, what they are devouring is fire that is raging inside them, and they are the ones who put it in their own bellies.

﴿Soon they will burn in a raging fire﴾ that is, a fire that is stoked and burning fiercely. This is the most severe warning that is mentioned concerning sins, which is indicative of how abhorrent and terrible devouring orphans' wealth is, and that it deserves admittance to hell. This indicates that it is one of the worst of major sins. We ask Allah to keep us safe and sound.

- 4:11. Allah instructs you concerning [the inheritance of] your children: to the male, a portion equal to that of two females; if there are only daughters, more than two, their share is two-thirds of the estate; if there is only one [daughter], her share is a half. For parents, a sixth share of the estate goes to each, if the deceased left children; if [he left] no children, and the parents are the [only] heirs, the mother has a third, but if the deceased left siblings, the mother has a sixth. [The distribution in all cases is] after the payment of bequests and debts. With regard to your parents and your children, you do not know which of them is going to benefit you more. [These fixed shares] are ordained by Allah; and Allah is All-Knowing, Most Wise.
- 4:12. Your share of your wives' estate is a half, if they leave no child; but if they leave a child, you have a fourth, after payment of bequests and debts. Their share of your estate is a fourth, if you leave no child; but if you leave a child, they have an eighth of the estate, after payment of bequests and debts. If a man or woman leaves neither ascendants nor descendants, but has left a brother or a sister, each one of the two has a sixth; but if they are more than two, they share in a third, after payment of bequests and debts, without prejudice to the rights of the heirs. This is an instruction from Allah; and Allah is All-Knowing, Most Forbearing.

These verses, and the verse at the end of the soorah, are the verses that discuss the division of the estate. They – along with the hadith of 'Abdullâh ibn 'Abbâs that is proven in Ṣaḥeeḥ al-Bukhâri:

«Give the fixed shares (of inheritance) to those who are entitled to them, and whatever is left over goes to the closest male relative (on the father's side).» (Bukhari and Muslim) – include most of the rulings on the fixed shares of inheritance, if not all of them, as we shall see below, apart from the shares of grandmothers, which are not mentioned in these texts.

But it is proven in as-Sunan from al-Mugheerah ibn Shu'bah and Muhammad ibn Maslamah that the Prophet (ﷺ) gave the grandmother one-sixth and, moreover, there is scholarly consensus on this point.

﴿Allah instructs you concerning [the inheritance of] your children﴾ that is, your children – O parents – are entrusted to you and Allah has instructed you to look after them, take care of their affairs both spiritual and worldly, teach them, discipline them, restrain them from committing evil, and enjoin them to obey Allah and to fear Him at all times, as He says elsewhere:

﴿O you who believe, guard yourselves and your families against a fire whose fuel is men and stones...﴾ (at-Tahreem 66: 6)

So children are entrusted to the care of their parents, who either fulfil the obligations of this trust, in which case they will have a great reward, or they neglect it, in which case they deserve warning and punishment. This indicates that Allah (ﷻ) is more merciful to His slaves than parents, as He instructed parents – even though they are compassionate towards their children – to take care of them.

Then Allah describes the manner in which they inherit, as He says: ﴿to the male, a portion equal to that of two females﴾. This refers to the deceased's own children, and the children of his son; the son has a portion or share equal to that of two females, if there is no other heir who is entitled to a fixed share; whatever is left after giving to others who are entitled to a fixed share is also given to the children and divided in the same manner.

The scholars are unanimously agreed on that, and that if the deceased has children, the inheritance goes to them, and the children of a son do not get anything when there are children of the deceased, male or female; this applies when there are both males and females. There are also two other scenarios: when there are only males, which we will discuss below, and when there are only females, which is mentioned here:

﴿if there are only daughters, more than two﴾ that is, daughters of the deceased or daughters of his son, three or more
 ﴿their share is two-thirds of the estate; if there is only one [daughter]﴾ that is, a daughter or the daughter of a son
 ﴿her share is a half﴾. There is scholarly consensus on this point.

But it remains to be asked: Where do we get the ruling that if there are two daughters, they may take two-thirds, as there is consensus on this point?

The answer is that we learn it from the words ﴿if there is only one [daughter], her share is a half﴾. This implies that if there is more than one daughter, the fixed share will change from one half, and there is nothing more than one half except two-thirds.

Moreover, the words ﴿to the male, a portion equal to that of two females﴾ mean that if he leaves behind a son and a daughter, then the son gets the two-thirds. Allah has told us that he gets the share of two females, which indicates that two daughters get two-thirds. Moreover, if the daughter takes one-third alongside her brother, when he affects her share more than her sister, then her taking it (one-third), when her sister is with her, is more appropriate or more expected. Furthermore, the words of Allah concerning two sisters: ﴿If there are two sisters [or more], they will have two-thirds of the estate [between them]﴾ (4: 176) is a statement about two sisters. If two sisters – even though they are not as closely related as daughters – take two-thirds, then it is more appropriate that two daughters – who are more closely related – should take two-thirds. The Prophet (ﷺ) gave two-thirds to the two daughters of Sa'd, as it says in as-Saheeh.

It remains to be asked: What is the point of the phrase ﴿more than two﴾?

The answer is that the point – and Allah knows best – is so that it may be known that the fixed share, which is two-thirds, does not increase if the number of daughters is greater than two; rather it is fixed for two or more daughters.

The verse indicates that if there is one daughter and a daughter of a son or daughters of a son, then the daughter gets half; what is then left of the two-thirds ordained by Allah for daughters or son's daughters is one-sixth, which is to be given to the son's daughter or daughters. Hence this one-sixth is called the completion of the two-thirds. A similar scenario is applicable to one daughter of a son with granddaughters of a son, who are more distantly related to the deceased.

This verse also indicates that once a daughter or son's daughter has taken the two-thirds of the estate, those who are further down the line of descent of the son's daughters (or granddaughters) do not get anything, because Allah only allocated two-thirds to them and it has been taken already. If they were not excluded from inheritance, that would mean that this group would take more than two-thirds, which is contrary to the text. There is consensus among the scholars on all of these rulings, praise be to Allah.

The words «of the estate» (lit. of what he leaves behind) indicate that the heirs inherit everything that the deceased left behind of property, furniture, gold, silver, and so on, including even the diyah that only becomes due after his death and even debts that are owed to him.

Then Allah mentions the parents' share of inheritance: «For parents» that is, his father and mother «a sixth share of the estate goes to each, if the deceased left children» – this refers to his own children or his son's children, whether they are male or female, one or several. The mother gets no more than one-sixth if there are any children. In the case of the father, if there are male children, he cannot take more than one-sixth; if the children are female, one or more, and there is nothing left after dividing the estate according to fixed shares – such as those of parents and two daughters – there will be nothing left to be given to the closest male relative. But if there is anything left after the fixed shares of the daughter or daughters have been given, then the father will receive his fixed share of one-sixth, and what is left over also goes to the father, because he is the closest male relative; we have given the fixed shares to all those who are entitled to them, so what is left goes to the closest male relative, and the father is closer than a brother or paternal uncle and the like.

«if [he left] no children, and the parents are the [only] heirs, the mother has a third» that is, and the remainder goes to the father, because the only heirs are the parents, and the mother's share is stated (as one-third), which implies that the remainder goes to the father.

Hence it is known that if there are no children, the father has no fixed share; rather, on the basis of being the closest male relative, he inherits all the wealth, or whatever is left after the fixed shares have been allocated. But if there is a spouse as well as parents, then the husband or wife takes his or her fixed share, the mother takes one-third of what is left, and the rest goes to the father.

This is indicated by the words of Allah: «...and the parents are the [only] heirs, the mother has a third» that is, one-third of what the parents inherit. This occurs in the following two scenarios: either one-sixth if there is a husband, mother and father; or one-fourth if there is a wife, mother and father. The verse does not indicate that the mother inherits one-third of the entire estate when there are no children, so there is no need to say that these two scenarios are an exception.

This may be explained by noting that the share taken by the husband or wife is similar to that which is taken by creditors, thus it should come from the entire estate (before it is divided), and what is left is to be shared between the parents.

Moreover, if we give the mother one-third of the wealth (before giving the fixed share to the spouse) that will lead to her taking more than the father if it is the husband (of the deceased) who is still alive, or the father would take more than half of the one-sixth of the mother, if it is the wife (of the deceased) who is still alive. But there is no reference to this type of scenario, because the regular scenario is either that the mother takes a share equal to that of the father, or the father takes double what the mother takes.

«if the deceased left siblings, the mother has a sixth». This refers to full siblings or siblings through the father or through the mother, whether they are male or female, heirs (with a fixed share) or blocked (from inheriting) by the presence of the father or grandfather. But it may be said that it does not appear from the phrase «if the deceased left siblings» that this includes those who have no rights to a fixed share of inheritance. Therefore the presence of the siblings should not reduce the mother's share (from one-third to one-sixth) unless the siblings have the right to a fixed share. This is supported by the argument that they would reduce her share from one-third (to one-sixth), so that there will be some wealth available for them. And Allah knows best.

However, this applies provided that they are two or more. But some may find that problematic, on the basis that the word ikhwah (siblings) is used, which is the plural form. The response to that is that what is meant is having more than one.

Based on that, if he leaves behind a mother, a father and siblings, the mother receives one-sixth and the rest goes to the father. Thus the siblings reduce the mother's share from one-third (to one-sixth), despite the fact that the father blocks them from having any share (except in the other possible interpretation, in which the mother receives one-third and the rest goes to the father).

Then Allah (ﷻ) says: «[The distribution in all cases is] after the payment of bequests and debts». That is, these fixed shares of inheritance become due and are to be distributed after paying off any debts that the deceased owed to Allah (such as zakâh) or to other people, and after fulfilling any bequests that the deceased had made before he died. After that, whatever is left is the estate to which the heirs are entitled.

The bequest comes first, even though it is not as important as debt, in order to highlight its importance, because fulfilling bequests may be difficult for the heirs; otherwise, debts take precedence over bequests and must be paid from the estate (before the fixed shares are allocated).

The bequest is only valid with regard to one-third or less of the estate, if it is given to a non-relative who is not an heir. Otherwise, if it is more than that, the bequest cannot be executed except with approval from all the heirs.

«With regard to your parents and your children, you do not know which of them is going to benefit you more». If dividing the estate were left to be worked out according to your reasoning and choice, it would result in harm, of which only Allah knows the extent, because people are lacking in reason and do not know what is best and more appropriate at any time or in any place. No person knows which, out of their children and their parents, will be more beneficial to them and more helpful in attaining their aims, both religious and worldly.

«[These fixed shares] are ordained by Allah; and Allah is All-Knowing, Most Wise» that is, they have been enjoined by Allah, Whose knowledge encompasses all things, Whose prescription of laws and regulations is precise and perfect, and whatever He decrees, He decrees it in the best way, and human minds cannot produce anything close to His sound rulings and regulations that are suitable for all times, places and situations.

«Your share», O husbands, «of your wives' estate is a half, if they leave no child; but if they leave a child, you have a fourth, after payment of bequests and debts. Their share of your estate is a fourth, if you leave no child; but if you leave a child, they have an eighth of the estate, after payment of bequests and debts» included under the same heading as a son or child, whose presence or absence affects the ruling, are her (the deceased wife's) own children or the children, whether male or female, one or more, of her son from this husband or from a previous husband. The children of daughters are excluded from this, according to scholarly consensus.

«If a man or woman leaves neither ascendants nor descendants, but has left a brother or a sister» that is, through the mother, as it appears in some modes of recitation. The scholars are unanimously agreed that what is meant by siblings here is siblings through the mother. If the deceased left neither ascendants nor descendants, that is he left no parent or child, no father or grandfather, no son, no son's son, no daughter, no son's daughter, no matter how far the line of descent reaches, this is called kalâlah (the case in which the deceased leaves neither ascendants nor descendants). This is how it was explained by Abu Bakr aṣ-Ṣiddeeq (رضي الله عنه), and there is scholarly agreement on this point, praise be to Allah.

«each one of the two» that is, of the brother and sister «has a sixth».

«but if they are more than two, they share in a third» that is, they do not get any more than one-third, even if they are more than two. The words «they share in a third» indicate that both male and females get equal shares in this case, because the word translated here as «share» indicates equal shares.

The word kalâlah, paraphrased here as «[leaving] neither ascendants nor descendants» refers to descendants, no matter how far the line of descent extends, and male ascendants, no matter how far the line of ascent extends. They cancel the share of siblings through the mother, because Allah did not give the latter a share of inheritance except in the case of kalâlah; were it not for kalâlah, they would not inherit anything at all, according to scholarly consensus.

The words «they share in a third» indicate that full siblings have no allocated share in the case where there is a husband, mother, siblings through the mother and full siblings. The husband receives half, the mother receives one-sixth, and the siblings through the mother receive (the remaining) third; in this case the full siblings do not receive anything, because Allah allocated one-third to the siblings through the mother. If the full siblings had a share, that would include something that Allah did not include in His ruling. Moreover, the siblings through the mother have a fixed share, whereas full siblings would inherit (what is left after distribution of the fixed shares) on the basis of being male relatives through the father.

The Prophet (ﷺ) said:

«Give the fixed shares to those to whom they are due, and whatever is left should go to the closest male relative.» (Bukhari and Muslim)

Those to whom fixed shares are due are those whose shares were allocated by Allah, and in this case (mentioned above – kalâlah), there is nothing left after the fixed shares have been distributed. Therefore the full siblings do not receive anything. This is the correct view concerning this matter.

With regard to the inheritance of siblings, full sisters or sisters through the father, that is mentioned in the verse in which Allah says: ﴿They ask you for a ruling. Say: Allah gives you a ruling concerning those who die leaving neither ascendants nor descendants﴾ (4: 176).

If there is (only) one sister, whether she is a full sister or a sister through the father, she receives half of the estate; if there are (only) two sisters, they receive two-thirds. If there is one full sister with a sister or sisters through the father, she (the full sister) receives half and the rest of the two-thirds goes to the sister or sisters through the father. This is the one-sixth that completes the two-thirds. If the full sisters took all of the two-thirds, then the sisters through the father do not receive anything, as was stated above in the case of daughters and son's daughters. If the siblings are both men and women, then the males each receive a portion or share equal to that of two females.

If it is asked: Can we work out from the Qur'an the ruling on the inheritance of a killer, a slave, a relative who follows a different religion, a partially manumitted slave, a hermaphrodite, a grandfather in the presence of siblings from a different mother, al-'awl (where the sum of fixed shares exceeds one hundred per cent and there is a shortfall), ar-radd (where the sum of fixed shares is less than one hundred per cent and there is something left over), dhuwil arhām (distant relatives), other relatives, sisters from a different mother in the presence of daughters or son's daughter, or not?

The answer is: Yes, all of the cases mentioned are referred to in an implicit and subtle manner, which may be difficult to understand except for the one who examines the matter thoroughly. In the case of the killer and a relative who follows a different religion, it is known that they do not inherit, because Allah has already explained that the distribution of wealth to the heirs is based on the closeness of blood ties and how beneficial they are in religious and worldly terms.

Allah (ﷻ) refers to this wisdom in the words: ﴿you do not know which of them is going to benefit you more﴾ (4: 11). It is known that the killer has caused the greatest harm to the one from whom he would have inherited, so the reason for him to inherit cannot be compared to the harm caused by killing, which is opposite to the benefit which is the reason for inheritance. Thus it is known that killing is the greatest impediment to inheritance and it is a severing of the ties of kinship of which Allah says:

﴿...And kindred by blood are nearer to one another [regarding inheritance], according to the decree ordained by Allah...﴾ (al-Aḥzāb 33: 6)

Although this is an established principle of Sharia, the one who tries to expedite something before its time is punished by being deprived of it.

Similarly, we may conclude that the one who is of a different religion to the deceased does not inherit from him, because there is an impediment to the reason for inheritance. Ties of blood dictate inheritance, but the impediment of the difference in religion dictates that all ties that would strengthen this impediment be severed. Thus the reason for inheritance, namely blood ties, is rendered invalid because of this impediment. This is explained by the fact that Allah (ﷻ) has ordained that the rights of Muslims take priority over the worldly rights of relatives who are disbelievers. If a Muslim dies, his wealth is transferred to those who are closest to him and most entitled to it. The words of Allah, ﴿And kindred by blood are nearer to one another [regarding inheritance], according to the decree ordained by Allah﴾, are applicable if they have the same religion, but if they are of different religions, then the brotherhood of faith takes precedence over the brotherhood of blood.

Ibn al-Qayyim said in Jalā' al-Afhām:

Think about this meaning of the verse of inheritance, in which Allah made mutual inheritance conditional upon the word wife [zawjah], not woman [imra'ah, which may also mean wife], as He said: ﴿Your share of your wives' estate is a half﴾ (4: 12), to indicate that this mutual inheritance is only because of being spouses, which is indicative of similarities and of one being part of the other. But there is no similarity between the believer and the disbeliever, and the one cannot be part of the other. Therefore there is no inheritance between them. The subtle meanings of the words and phrases of the Qur'an are above the comprehension of humankind.

In the case of the slave, he does not inherit and he cannot be inherited from. With regard to his not being inherited from, this is clear, because he does not own anything that could be inherited from him; rather everything he owns belongs to his master. With regard to his not inheriting, that is because he cannot own anything; all that he owns belongs to his master, and he is not related to the deceased. Thus we conclude that the words of Allah, ﴿to the male, a portion equal to that of two females﴾, ﴿Your share of your wives' estate is a half﴾, ﴿each one of the two has a sixth﴾ and so on, apply only to those who may own property. The slave, however, cannot own anything, thus it is known that he cannot inherit anything.

As for the slave who is partially manumitted, the rulings concerning him are applied partially; to the extent that he is free, he is entitled to what Allah has allocated to him of inheritance, because he may own property commensurate with the degree to which he has been manumitted, whilst the proportion that is still enslaved does not come under that ruling. So the partially manumitted slave may inherit or be inherited from, and his presence may block others from inheriting, commensurate with the extent to which he is free.

With regard to the hermaphrodite, he must be either clearly masculine or feminine, or ambiguous. If he is clearly of one gender or the other, then the matter is clear.

If male, then he comes under the same ruling as males and the text that speaks of males applies to him. If female, then she comes under the same rulings as females, and the text that speaks of females applies to her.

If ambiguous, then in cases where there is no difference in inheritance between males and females – as in the case of siblings through the mother – then the matter is clear.

In cases where the share of inheritance differs according to gender, and we have no way of knowing that, we cannot give him the higher share, because of the possibility that that may lead to injustice to the other heirs, but we cannot give him the lower share either, because of the possibility that that may lead to injustice to him. So we must follow a middle path between the two, and do what is most just, because Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...Be just; that is nearer to true piety...﴾ (al-Mā'idah 5: 8)

– and there is no way we can be just in this case except by following what is suggested above, which is to adopt a middle path.

﴿Allah does not place on any soul a burden greater than it can bear...﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 286)

﴿So fear Allah as best you can...﴾ (at-Taghābun 64: 16)

With regard to the inheritance of the grandfather when there are also full siblings or siblings through the father, do they inherit as well as him or not? The Book of Allah supports the opinion of Abu Bakr aş-Şiddeeq (رضي الله عنه), that the grandfather blocks the full siblings or siblings through the father or mother, just as the father does.

The reason for that is that the grandfather is referred to as a father in many places in the Qur'an, such as the following:

﴿Or were you present when death came to Ya'qoob? He said to his sons: What will you worship after I am gone? They said: We will worship your God and the God of your fathers, of Ibrâheem, Ismâ'eel and Is-hâq...﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 133)

Yoosuf (عليه السلام) said:

﴿I follow the religion of my fathers, of Ibrâheem, Is-hâq and Ya'qoob...﴾ (Yoosuf 12: 38)

Thus we see that Allah described the grandfather and the father's grandfather as a father, which indicates that the grandfather is of the same status as the father; he inherits what the father inherits and he blocks those whom the father blocks.

As the scholars are unanimously agreed that the grandfather comes under the same rulings as the father when the father is not alive, and takes his share of inheritance alongside the children and others, such as the children of siblings (nephews and nieces), paternal uncles and their children, and other rulings of inheritance, he should also come under the same rulings with regard to blocking siblings from a different mother.

As the son's son is of the same status as the deceased's own son, why should the grandfather not be of the same status as the father? If there is a grandfather of the father as well as the son of a brother, then the scholars are unanimously agreed that the grandfather blocks the nephew, so why should the grandfather of the deceased not block his brother? Those scholars who allocate a share of inheritance to siblings when the grandfather is present have no text to support their view, and no indication, hint or sound analogy.

With regard to the issue of al-‘awl (where the sum of fixed shares exceeds one hundred per cent and there is a shortfall), the ruling is referred to in the Qur’an. Allah (ﷻ) has allocated fixed shares to those who are entitled to inherit, which leads to one of two scenarios: either some of them block others, or they do not.

If some of them block others, those who are blocked are dismissed and are not entitled to anything. If they do not block one another, then either the fixed shares will not use up all of the estate (and there will be something left over), or they will use it all up without anything being left over or any shortfall, or the sum of the fixed shares will be greater than the estate. In the first two cases, each heir will be able to take his fixed share in full, but in the last case – in which the sum of the fixed shares is greater than the estate – there will be two possible solutions:

In the first possible solution, some of the fixed shares that have been ordained by Allah will be reduced, whilst others receive their shares in full, which is an action for which there is no evidence, and it is not appropriate to give some less than their fixed share but not others. Therefore there is only the second option, which is to give each one as close to his allocated share as possible, and we must work out a way of making the loss of each heir commensurate with his or her share of the inheritance, as is done with debts owed to lenders, if the total debt is greater than the debtor’s wealth. There is no way to do that except through al-‘awl; thus it is known that Allah has explained al-‘awl in the fixed shares of inheritance in His Book.

The exact opposite of this scenario is called ar-radd (where the sum of fixed shares is less than one hundred per cent and there is something left over). If the fixed shares do not use up the entire estate, and there is something left over to which no relatives on the father’s side, whether closely or distantly related, are entitled, there is no evidence to support giving it to one of the heirs, and giving it to someone else who is not related to the deceased is unjust and unfair, and is contrary to the words of Allah:

﴿...But kindred by blood are nearer to one another [regarding inheritance] according to the decree ordained by Allah...﴾ (al-Anfāl 8: 75)

Therefore the only option is to share out the surplus among the heirs who are entitled to fixed shares, commensurate with the share of each one.

Therefore, because the relationship between the spouses is not one of blood ties, they are not entitled to the extra portion commensurate with their fixed share. This is according to those scholars who say that spouses do not inherit from anything that is left over after the fixed shares of inheritance have been distributed; they are the majority of those who say that what is left over is to be divided among the heirs (ar-radd). Based on that, the guideline for dividing the surplus is that the one who is entitled to a fixed share is a relative. According to the other view, spouses are like others who are entitled to fixed shares, thus they have the right to a portion of what is left over of the estate. As their share is decreased when there is a shortfall (al-‘awl), it should be increased when there is a surplus, like that of others. The reason, according to this view, is that (the spouse) is an heir who is entitled to a fixed share, (therefore he is also entitled to a share of the surplus). This is the correct view as indicated by the Qur'an and Sunnah, and by sound analogy. And Allah knows best.

Similarly, we also learn about the inheritance of dhawil-arḥâm (distant relatives). If the deceased did not leave behind anyone who is entitled to a fixed share, or any relatives on his father's side, then either his wealth will go to the bayt al-mâl (treasury of the Islamic state), to the benefit of non-relatives, or his wealth will go to those relatives who are connected to those who would have been entitled to fixed shares if they were still alive. This is indicated by the verse in which Allah (ﷻ) says:

«...But kindred by blood are nearer to one another [regarding inheritance] according to the decree ordained by Allah...» (al-Anfāl 8: 75)

Giving it to people other than them in this case is depriving those who are more entitled than others; thus we learn that dhawil-arḥām may inherit.

Even though it is known that they may inherit, we know that they have no fixed share that is allocated to them in the Book of Allah, and that there are intermediaries between them and the deceased, because of whom they become relatives; hence they take the place of those through whom they are connected to the deceased. And Allah knows best.

With regard to giving what is left to relatives on the father's side, such as sons, brothers and their sons, and paternal uncles and their sons, and so on, the Prophet (ﷺ) said:

«Give the fixed shares to those who are entitled to them, and whatever is left over goes to the closest male relatives.» (Bukhari and Muslim)

Allah (ﷻ) says: «We have appointed heirs for everything that parents and close relatives leave behind» (4: 33).

So if we have given the fixed shares to those who are entitled to them, and there is nothing left, the relatives on the father's side are not entitled to anything; if there is anything left, then it goes to the closest relatives on the father's side, depending on the type and level of relationship.

There are five types of connection on the father's side: sons, then fathers (including grandfathers), then brothers and their sons, then paternal uncles and their sons, then freed slaves (of the deceased). Priority should be given to the most closely related. If they are all of the same degree, then it goes to the one with the strongest connection, which is the full brother. If they are all equal in that regard, then they share it. And Allah knows best.

As far as sisters from a different mother are concerned, alongside daughters (of the deceased) or daughters of the son (of the deceased), with regard to the fact that they may be treated like male relatives on the father's side and may take what is left after the fixed shares are distributed, that is because there is nothing in the Qur'an to indicate that sisters should be blocked by the presence of daughters.

As that is the case, if there is anything left after the daughters have taken their fixed shares, then what is left is to be given to the sisters, and should not be given to any relatives on the father's side who are more distantly related than them, such as a brother's son or paternal uncle, or anyone who is even more distantly related than that. And Allah knows best.

﴿تِلْكَ حُدُودُ اللَّهِ ۚ وَمَنْ يُطِيعِ اللَّهَ وَرَسُولَهُ يُدْخِلْهُ جَنَّاتٍ تَجْرَى مِنْ تَحْتِهَا الْأَنْهَارُ خَالِدِينَ فِيهَا ۚ وَذَٰلِكَ الْفَوْزُ الْعَظِيمُ ﴿١٣﴾ وَمَنْ يَعُصِ اللَّهَ وَرَسُولَهُ وَيَتَعَدَّ حُدُودَهُ يُدْخِلْهُ نَارًا خَالِدًا فِيهَا وَلَهُ عَذَابٌ مُهِينٌ ﴿١٤﴾﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٣-١٤)

- 4:13. These are the limits [set by] Allah. Whoever obeys Allah and His Messenger, [Allah] will admit him to gardens through which rivers flow, to abide therein forever, and that will be the supreme triumph.
- 4:14. But whoever disobeys Allah and His Messenger and transgresses His limits, [Allah] will admit him to a fire, to abide therein forever. And his will be a humiliating punishment.

The details that have been mentioned concerning inheritance are the limits of Allah that must be adhered to; we must not transgress them or fall short of them. This indicates that bequests to heirs are abrogated, as Allah (ﷻ) has decreed the fixed shares of the heirs.

«These are the limits [set by] Allah». Therefore bequeathing to an heir more than he is entitled to comes under the heading of this transgression. Moreover, the Prophet (ﷺ) said:

«There is no bequest to an heir.» (Recorded by Aḥmad, Abu Dâwood, at-Tirmidhi, and Ibn Mâjah; according to Aḥmad and at-Tirmidhi, the hadith is reliable)

Then mention is made of obedience versus disobedience to Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ) in general terms, which includes adhering to and falling short of the limits set by Allah with regard to the fixed shares of inheritance.

«Whoever obeys Allah and His Messenger» by obeying their commands, the most important of which has to do with affirming the oneness of Allah (tawḥeed), then other commands of various types, and heeding their prohibitions, the most important of which has to do with associating others with Allah (shirk), then other sins of various types

«[Allah] will admit him to gardens through which rivers flow, to abide therein forever».

So whoever carries out the commands and heeds the prohibitions will inevitably be admitted to paradise and saved from hell.

«and that will be the supreme triumph» by which he will attain salvation from His wrath and punishment, and will attain His reward and pleasure, and eternal bliss that cannot be described.

«But whoever disobeys Allah and His Messenger and transgresses His limits, [Allah] will admit him to a fire, to abide therein forever. And his will be a humiliating punishment». Disobedience includes disbelief and other, lesser sins. Therefore understanding this leaves no room for the specious argument of the Kharijites, who say that sinners become disbelievers (by virtue of their sin). Allah (ﷻ) has made admittance to paradise conditional upon obedience to Him and to His Messenger (ﷺ), and He has made admittance to hell conditional upon disobedience to Him and His Messenger (ﷺ). Whoever obeys Him completely will enter paradise without being punished, and whoever disobeys Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ) completely, which includes association of others with Him and other, lesser sins, will enter hell and abide therein forever. The one who combines disobedience and obedience will be subject to reward and punishment commensurate with the extent of his obedience and disobedience. The mutawâtir texts indicate that those who are obedient with regard to belief in the oneness of Allah will not abide forever in hell, because what they have of belief in His oneness will prevent them abiding therein forever.

- 4:15. If any of your women are guilty of immoral conduct, take the evidence of four [reliable] witnesses from amongst you against them, and if they testify, confine them in their homes until death takes them, or Allah ordains for them some [other] way.
- 4:16. If two among you are guilty of [immoral conduct], punish them both. Then if they repent and mend their ways, leave them alone, for Allah is ever Accepting of repentance, Most Merciful.

This refers to women who ﴿are guilty of immoral conduct﴾, namely fornication, which is described as immoral conduct because of its abhorrent nature.

﴿take the evidence of four [reliable] witnesses from amongst you against them﴾ that is, believing men of good character ﴿and if they testify, confine them in their homes﴾ and prevent them from that type of going out which leads to suspicion; this confinement is also a kind of punishment

﴿until death takes them﴾ which would be the end of their confinement or detention

﴿or Allah ordains for them some [other] way﴾ that is, a way other than confinement in their houses. This verse has not been abrogated; rather this was a temporary solution. This is how it was at the beginning of Islam, until Allah ordained another way for them, which is stoning for one who was previously married and flogging for one who was not previously married.

Similarly, ﴿If two among you﴾ men or women, ﴿are guilty of [immoral conduct], punish them both﴾, with harsh words, rebuke, shaming and beating, as a deterrent from such immoral conduct. Based on that, if men are guilty of immoral conduct, they are to be punished, and women who do that are to be confined and punished.

Confinement will end with death, and punishment will end with repentance and mending one's ways. Hence Allah says: ﴿Then if they repent﴾ that is, give up the sins they have committed, regret it and resolve not to do it again

﴿and mend their ways﴾ by doing things that are indicative of sincere repentance

﴿leave them alone﴾ and do not punish them

﴿for Allah is ever Accepting of repentance, Most Merciful﴾ that is, He always accepts the repentance of sinners, and He is extremely merciful and kind; by His kindness He helps them to repent, accepts it from them, and pardons them for what they have done.

From these two verses we understand that proof of fornication must be given by four believing men, and it is more appropriate that they should be of good character, because Allah has ordained strict conditions for proving this immoral action, so as to protect the dignity of His slaves. Hence the testimony of women on their own, or of both men and women, or of less than four men, is not acceptable.

It is also essential that the testimony be delivered clearly, as indicated by the ṣaḥeeḥ hadiths and as referred to in this verse, where Allah says: ﴿take the evidence of four [reliable] witnesses from amongst you against them﴾. But He did not stop there; rather He said ﴿and if they testify﴾ that is, there must be clear testimony on the part of eyewitnesses, and it should be spoken bluntly, without hints or metaphors.

From these two verses we understand that punishment in the form of harsh words and actions, and confinement, is prescribed by Allah as a disciplinary punishment because of the nature of the sin, so that this punishment may serve as a deterrent.

﴿إِنَّمَا التَّوْبَةُ عَلَى اللَّهِ لِلَّذِينَ يَعْمَلُونَ السُّوءَ بِجَهَالَةٍ ثُمَّ يَتُوبُونَ مِنْ قَرِيبٍ فَأُولَٰئِكَ يَتُوبُ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِمْ وَكَانَ اللَّهُ عَلِيمًا حَكِيمًا ۝ وَلَيْسَ التَّوْبَةُ لِلَّذِينَ يَعْمَلُونَ السَّيِّئَاتِ حَتَّىٰ إِذَا حَضَرَ أَحَدَهُمُ الْمَوْتُ قَالَ إِنِّي تُبْتُ ۚ أَلَنَنْ وَلَا الَّذِينَ يَمُوتُونَ وَهُمْ كُفَّارٌ ۚ أُولَٰئِكَ أَعْتَدْنَا لَهُمْ عَذَابًا أَلِيمًا

- 4:17. Allah only accepts the repentance of those who do evil in ignorance and repent soon afterwards; to them will Allah turn in mercy, for Allah is All-Knowing, Most Wise.

- 4:18. But of no avail is the repentance of those who continue to do evil until, when death approaches any one of them, he says: Now I repent, nor [the repentance] of those who die as disbelievers; for them have We prepared a painful punishment.

Allah's mercy to His slaves includes guidance to repent and acceptance thereof after the individual repents. Here He tells us that the repentance that Allah has promised to accept, which is a promise that He took upon Himself out of kindness and generosity on His part, is the repentance of the one who does evil, that is he commits sin ﴿in ignorance﴾, because he is ignorant of the consequences and does not know that it will incur the wrath and punishment of Allah; he is also unaware that Allah is constantly watching him, and he does not know what it leads to of diminishing or erasing faith. Everyone who disobeys Allah is ignorant in this sense, even if he is aware of the prohibition of that sin; in fact awareness of the prohibition is a condition of an action being a sin and punishable.

﴿and repent soon afterwards﴾. This may be understood as meaning: then they repent before death comes to them, for Allah will definitely accept the repentance of His slave if he repents before he sees death and the punishment. However, after death comes, no repentance will be accepted from the sinners and no acknowledgement of the truth will be accepted from the disbelievers, as Allah says:

﴿...until, when he [Pharaoh] was about to drown, he said: I believe that there is no god but He in Whom the Children of Israel believe...﴾
(Yoonus 10: 90)

﴿But when they saw Our punishment, they said: We believe in Allah alone, and we reject that which we used to associate with Him. But their believing after they had seen Our punishment could not benefit them at all. Such has always been the way of Allah in dealing with His slaves...﴾ (Ghāfir 40: 84-85)

Here, Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿But of no avail is the repentance of those who continue to do evil﴾ that is, sins that are of a lesser degree than disbelief.

﴿until, when death approaches any one of them, he says: Now I repent; nor [the repentance] of those who die as disbelievers; for them have We prepared a painful punishment﴾. That is because, in this case, repentance is due to compulsion, and will not benefit the one who repents. Repentance only benefits the one who repents by choice.

Or it may be that what is meant by the words ﴿and repent soon afterwards﴾ is: soon after committing the sin for which repentance is required. In this case what is meant is: the one who hastens to give up sin as soon as he has committed it, and turns to Allah in repentance, regretting what he has done, Allah will accept his repentance, unlike the one who persists in his sins until sinfulness becomes entrenched in him, then it becomes difficult for him to fulfil the conditions required for complete repentance. Such a person is not usually guided or inspired to repent, and the means that lead to repentance are not usually made available to him, such as the one who does evil despite full and certain knowledge that it is wrong, but he is heedless and does not care that Allah is watching him; in that case he has barred the way of mercy for himself.

Yes, Allah may guide one who persists in committing the sin deliberately, with full awareness of what he is doing, in such a manner that his repentance is acceptable, by means of which Allah will erase his previous sins and offences, but mercy and guidance to repent are more likely in the former case. Hence the first verse ends with the phrase ﴿for Allah is All-Knowing, Most Wise﴾; part of His knowledge is knowing who is sincere and who is not, and He will requite each of them in the manner he deserves, according to His wisdom. His wisdom also dictates that He should guide those who His wisdom and mercy dictate should be guided to repent, and that He should forsake those who His mercy and justice dictate should not be guided (to repent).

And Allah knows best.

﴿يَتَّيِّبُهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا لَا يَحِلُّ لَكُمْ أَنْ تَرِثُوا النِّسَاءَ كَرْهًا وَلَا تَعْضُلُوهُنَّ لِيَذْهَبُوا بِبَعْضِ مَا ءَاتَيْتُمُوهُنَّ إِلَّا أَنْ يَأْتِيَنَّ بِفَحِشَةٍ مُبَيِّنَةٍ وَعَاشِرُوهُنَّ بِالْمَعْرُوفِ فَإِنْ كَرِهْتُمُوهُنَّ فَعَسَى أَنْ تَكْرَهُوا شَيْئًا وَيَجْعَلَ اللَّهُ فِيهِ خَيْرًا كَثِيرًا ﴿٢٠﴾ وَإِنْ أَرَدْتُمْ اسْتِبْدَالَ زَوْجٍ مَكَاتٍ زَوْجٍ وَءَاتَيْتُمْ إِيَّاهُنَّ قِنْطَارًا فَلَا تَأْخُذُوا مِنْهُ شَيْئًا أَتَأْخُذُونَهُ بُهْتَنًا وَإِنَّمَا مُبِينًا ﴿٢١﴾ وَكَيْفَ تَأْخُذُونَهُ وَقَدْ أَفْضَى بَعْضُكُمْ إِلَى بَعْضٍ وَأَخَذْتُمْ مِنْكُمْ مِيثَاقًا غَلِيظًا

- 4:19. O you who believe, it is not lawful for you to inherit women against their will, nor to hinder them from marrying others, in order to take away some of what you have given them, unless they are guilty of brazenly immoral conduct; but live with them in kindness. If you take a dislike to them it may be that you dislike a thing, and Allah brings about through it a great deal of good.
- 4:20. But if you decide to replace one wife with another, even if you had given one of them a heap of gold, do not take the least bit of it back. Would you take it wrongfully and sinfully?
- 4:21. And how could you take it when you have been intimate with one another, and they have taken from you a solemn covenant?

During the jāhiliyah, if a man died and left his wife behind, his relative, such as his brother or cousin and so on, thought that he had more right to claim her than anyone else, and he would keep her away from everyone else whether she liked that or not. If he liked her, he would marry her for a dowry of whatever amount he wanted, without consulting her, and if he did not like her, he would hinder her from marrying anyone else, and she would not be able to marry anyone except someone whom he chose; he might even refuse to let her get married until she gave him some of his (deceased) relative's estate or some of her (original) dowry. A man would also hinder his wife, if he disliked her, so that he could take back some of that which he had given her. Hence Allah forbade the believers to do any of these things, except in two cases: if she agreed and chose to marry her first husband's relative, as we understand from the phrase «against her will»; or if she was guilty of brazenly immoral conduct, such as fornication, obscene speech or harming her husband. In this case it is permissible for him to hinder her, as a punishment to her for her action, so that she may ransom herself from him if his hindering was justifiable.

«but live with them in kindness». This includes interactions in word and deed. The husband is obliged to live with his wife in kindness, which includes keeping her company in a good manner, not annoying or harming her, and showing kindness and treating her with respect. That also includes maintenance, clothing and so on. The husband is obliged to treat his wife in the manner that is expected of a man of his calibre towards a woman of her calibre, in that particular time and place; this differs from one situation to another.

«If you take a dislike to them it may be that you dislike a thing, and Allah brings about through it a great deal of good» that is, you – O husbands – should keep your wives even if you dislike them, for there is a great deal of good in that, such as obedience to the command of Allah and accepting His advice, which leads to happiness in this world and the hereafter.

So the husband should force himself – even if he does not love her – to strive to develop a good attitude so that he can treat her kindly; perhaps his dislike of her will disappear, to be replaced by love, as usually happens; or perhaps Allah will bless him with a righteous child from her, who will benefit his (or her) parents in this world and the hereafter. All of that applies if it is possible to keep her without transgressing the limits. Then if there is no option but to separate, and there is no way he can keep her, in that case keeping her is not a must, rather ﴿if you decide to replace one wife with another﴾, that is by divorcing one wife and marrying another, there is no sin and no blame on you for doing that. But even if ﴿you had given one of them﴾ that is, the one you are leaving or the one you are marrying ﴿a heap of gold﴾ that is, a great deal of wealth, ﴿do not take the least bit of it back﴾; rather give it in full and do not delay payment.

This verse indicates that it is not prohibited to give a large mahr (dowry), even though it is better and more appropriate to follow the example of the Prophet (ﷺ) in giving a moderate dowry. This may be understood as meaning that Allah is referring to something that people do, without denouncing it, which indicates that it is not prohibited.

But giving a large amount may be disallowed, if it leads to mischief and undermining some religious principles, without serving any significant interest.

﴿And how could you take it when you have been intimate with one another, and they have taken from you a solemn covenant?﴾ What this means is: before the marriage contract, the wife was forbidden to the husband, and she would not accept becoming permissible for him except by means of this dowry that he pays to her. Then once he has consummated the marriage with her, been intimate with her and touched her in a manner that was previously forbidden and which she would not have accepted without that compensation, he has taken his part of the deal, and the mahr (dowry) is now due from him. So how can he take his part of the deal, then after that take her part of it (namely the dowry). This is the worst kind of injustice. Moreover, Allah took a solemn covenant from husbands by means of the marriage contract, that they should fulfil their duties towards their wives.

﴿وَلَا تَنْكِحُوا مَا نَكَحَ آبَاؤُكُمْ مِنَ النِّسَاءِ إِلَّا مَا قَدْ سَلَفَ إِنَّهُ كَانَ فَجِشَةً وَمَقْتًا وَسَاءَ سَبِيلًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ٢٢)

4:22. Do not marry women whom your fathers married, except what is already past: It was shameful and odious, an abominable custom indeed.

That is, do not marry women whom your fathers or forefathers married

﴿It was shameful﴾ that is, it was extremely abhorrent

﴿and odious﴾ that is, hateful to Allah and to people; indeed because of that, a son may hate a father and a father may hate a son, at the time when the son is enjoined to be kind to his father.

﴿an abominable custom indeed﴾ that is because this is one of the customs of the jāhiliyah (time of ignorance) which Islam came to disavow.

﴿حُرِّمَتْ عَلَيْكُمْ أُمَّهَاتُكُمْ وَبَنَاتُكُمْ وَأَخَوَاتُكُمْ وَعَمَّاتُكُمْ وَخَالَاتُكُمْ وَبَنَاتُ الْأَخِ وَبَنَاتُ الْأُخْتِ وَأُمَّهَاتُكُمْ أَلَّتِي أَرْضَعْنَكُمْ وَأَخَوَاتُكُمْ مِمَّنْ أَرْضَعْتُمْ وَأُمَّهَاتُ نِسَائِكُمْ وَرَبِّبَاتُكُمْ أَلَّتِي فِي حُجُورِكُمْ مِنْ نِسَائِكُمْ أَلَّتِي دَخَلْتُمْ بِهِنَّ فَإِنْ لَمْ تَكُونُوا دَخَلْتُمْ بِهِنَّ فَلَا جُنَاحَ عَلَيْكُمْ وَحَلَائِلُ أَبْنَائِكُمُ الَّذِينَ مِنْ أَصْلَابِكُمْ وَأَنْ تَجْمَعُوا بَيْنَ الْأُخْتَيْنِ إِلَّا مَا قَدْ سَلَفَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ كَانَ غَفُورًا رَحِيمًا﴾ ﴿٢٣﴾ وَالْمُحْصَنَاتُ مِنَ النِّسَاءِ إِلَّا مَا مَلَكَتْ أَيْمَنُكُمْ كَانَتْ غَفُورًا رَحِيمًا ﴿٢٤﴾ وَأَحِلَّ لَكُمْ مَا وَرَاءَ ذَلِكَ أَنْ تَبْتَغُوا بِأَمْوَالِكُمْ مُحْصِنِينَ غَيْرَ

- 4:23. Prohibited to you [for marriage] are: your mothers, your daughters, your sisters; your paternal aunts, your maternal aunts; your brother's daughters, your sister's daughters; your foster mothers, your foster sisters; your wives' mothers; your stepdaughters under your guardianship, born of your wives with whom you have consummated the marriage – and there will be no blame on you [if you marry the daughters] of [ex-wives] with whom you did not consummate the marriage; [those who have been] wives of your sons who are from your own loins; and two sisters in wedlock at the same time, except for what is past, for Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful;
- 4:24. Also [prohibited are] women already married, except any slave-girls you may own. This is Allah's ordinance, binding upon you. All women other than these are lawful for you, so that you may seek them with your wealth in honest wedlock, not fornication. When you consummate your marriage with them, give the dowries due to them. There is no sin on you in what you mutually agree upon [of changes] after the [initial] agreement. And Allah is All-Knowing, Most Wise.<sup>5</sup>

These verses include those who are mahram (prohibited for marriage) through blood ties, through breastfeeding (from a foster-mother) and through marriage, as well as combinations of relatives to whom marriage at the same time is prohibited. They also describe which women are permissible for marriage.

<sup>5</sup> v. 24 is actually the first verse of Juz' 5, but as the author treated vv. 23-24 as a single passage, we included it in Juz' 4. (Translator)

Those who are prohibited for marriage through blood ties are seven whom Allah mentions here: the mother, which includes anyone who is connected to you through having given birth, no matter how far the line extends; the daughter, which includes anyone who has been born from you; sisters, which includes full sisters and half-sisters through either the father or mother; paternal aunts, which includes any sister of your father or grandfather, no matter how far the line of ascent extends; maternal aunts, which includes any sister of your mother or grandmother, no matter how far the line of ascent extends, whether she is an heir or not; daughters of brothers and daughters of sisters, no matter how far the line of descent extends.

These are the maḥrams or women to whom marriage is prohibited because of blood ties, according to scholarly consensus, as stated in this verse. All others, apart from these, are included in the words: ﴿All women other than these are lawful for you﴾ (4: 24), such as daughters of paternal aunts and uncles, and daughters of maternal aunts and uncles.

Those who are prohibited through breastfeeding by a foster mother, whom Allah mentions here, are the (foster) mother and (foster) sister. This indicates that the foster mother is prohibited for marriage even though the milk does not belong to her; rather it belongs to her husband (the father of the child whose birth is the cause of the milk supply being available). Pointing this out indicates that the owner of the milk (that is, the husband of the foster mother) is a father to the infant who is nursed by the foster mother. Once it is established that the foster mother is a mother to the infant and her husband is a father to him, anyone connected to them is also proven to be a maḥram or prohibited for marriage to the person who is breastfed by that foster mother, such as their siblings and their ascendants and descendants.

The Prophet (ﷺ) said:

«What becomes maḥram (forbidden for marriage) through breastfeeding is that which becomes maḥram through blood ties.»
(Recorded by Abu Dâwood; al-Albâni graded it as sound)

Thus the prohibition will spread from the foster mother and from the owner of the milk to their relatives; however it only affects the offspring of the individual who was breastfed. That is on condition that five full breastfeedings occur during the first two years of life, as explained in the Sunnah.

Those who are prohibited through ties of marriage are four: the wives of one's father or grandfather, no matter how far the line of ascent extends; the wives of one's sons or grandsons, no matter how far the line of descent extends, whether they are heirs or blocked from inheriting; the mother or grandmothers of one's wife, no matter how far the line of ascent extends – these three become mahrams as soon as a marriage contract is done.

The fourth is the stepdaughter, that is the daughter or granddaughter of one's wife, no matter how far the line of descent extends. She does not become a mahram until he consummates the marriage with his wife, as Allah says here: ﴿your stepdaughters under your guardianship, born of your wives with whom you have consummated the marriage﴾.

The majority of scholars say that the words ﴿under your guardianship﴾ refer to what is usually the case, and is not to be regarded as a condition of the stepdaughter becoming a mahram. The stepdaughter becomes a mahram even if she is not under his guardianship, but there are two benefits of mentioning this description:

- 1- It highlights the wisdom behind prohibiting the stepdaughter for marriage, which is that she is like a daughter, so it is abhorrent to permit marriage to her;
- 2- It indicates that it is permissible to be alone with a stepdaughter, and she is like others who are under his care, such as his own daughter and so on. And Allah knows best.

With regard to combinations of relatives to whom marriage at the same time is prohibited, Allah mentioned being married to two sisters at the same time, and forbade it. The Prophet (ﷺ) forbade being married to a woman and her paternal aunt, or maternal aunt, at the same time. Any two women between whom are ties of kinship, and if one of them was male and the other female, she would be prohibited for marriage to him, it is prohibited to be married to both of them at the same time. That is because this may be a cause of severing ties of kinship.

Also prohibited for marriage are «women already married», that is those who have husbands. It is prohibited to marry them so long as they are still married, unless they are divorced and have completed the 'iddah.

«except any slave-girls you may own» that is, those who have been captured in war. If a disbelieving woman who is married is captured in war, she becomes permissible for the Muslims after one menstrual cycle has passed (which serves to establish that she is not pregnant). But if a married slave woman is sold or given, her marriage is not invalidated because the second owner is in the same position as the previous owner, and because of the story of Bareerah,<sup>6</sup> when the Prophet (ﷺ) gave her the choice.

«This is Allah's ordinance, binding upon you» that is, you must adhere to following its guidance, because in it is healing and light, and the explanation of what is permitted and what is prohibited.

«All women other than these are lawful for you» – this refers to all of those who are not mentioned in this verse; they are permissible and good. Thus what is prohibited is limited, but there is no limit to or restriction on that which is permitted. This is the kindness and mercy of Allah, and is intended to make things easy for people.

﴿so that you may seek them with your wealth﴾ that is, so that you may seek those whom you have seen and chosen from among those whom Allah has permitted to you, provided that your aim is ﴿honest wedlock﴾ that is, provided that you are seeking chastity, avoiding fornication and seeking to help your women remain chaste too.

﴿not fornication﴾. The one who commits fornication is not keeping his wife chaste, because he is fulfilling his desires in a prohibited manner, so his desire for permissible sex is weakened, and thus he is failing to keep his wife chaste. This indicates that no one should marry a person who is not chaste, because Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿A man who fornicates may only marry a woman who fornicates or who is a polytheist, and a woman who fornicates may only marry a man who fornicates or who is a polytheist. Such marriages are forbidden to the believers.﴾ (an-Noor 24: 3)

﴿When you consummate your marriage with them, give the dowries due to them﴾ that is, in return for intimacy. Hence when the husband consummates the marriage with his wife, the dowry becomes due.

﴿due to them﴾ that is, giving the dowry to them is a duty enjoined by Allah upon you; it is not something optional that if the man wishes he may give it and if he wishes he may withhold it. Or it may be that what is meant by the words ﴿due to them﴾ is: the sum that you agreed to, therefore it becomes binding upon you, so do not detract anything from it.

﴿There is no sin on you in what you mutually agree upon [of changes] after the [initial] agreement﴾ that is, anything extra that is given by the husband, or anything that the wife waives willingly. This is the view of many of the commentators. Many of them said: this verse was revealed concerning temporary marriage (mut'ah) with women, which was permissible at the beginning of Islam, then the Prophet (ﷺ) forbade it; the verse states that one should set a time limit (for the temporary marriage) and agree on payment, then once the time has ended, if they mutually agree to increase or decrease the amount of payment, there is no blame on them. And Allah knows best.

﴿And Allah is All-Knowing, Most Wise﴾ that is, He has perfect and vast knowledge, and perfect wisdom. By His knowledge and wisdom He has decreed these laws for you and set these limits that separate what is permissible from what is forbidden.

﴿وَمَنْ لَّمْ يَسْتَطِعْ مِنْكُمْ طَوْلًا أَنْ يَنْكَحَ الْمُحْصَنَاتِ الْمُؤْمِنَاتِ فَمِنْ مَّا مَلَكَتْ أَيْمَانُكُمْ مِنْ فِتْيَائِكُمُ الْمُؤْمِنَاتِ ۚ وَاللَّهُ أَعْلَمُ بِإِيمَانِكُمْ بَعْضُكُمْ مِنْ بَعْضٍ ۚ فَانْكِحُوهُنَّ بِإِذْنِ أَهْلِهِنَّ وَآتُوهُنَّ أُجُورَهُنَّ بِالْمَعْرُوفِ مُحْصَنَاتٍ غَيْرَ مُسْفَحَاتٍ وَلَا مُتَّخِذَاتِ أَخْدَانٍ ۚ فَإِذَا أُحْصِنَ فَإِنَّ أَتَيْنَ بِفَاحِشَةٍ فَعَلَيْهِنَّ نِصْفُ مَا عَلَى الْمُحْصَنَاتِ مِنَ الْعَذَابِ ۚ ذَلِكَ لِمَنْ خَشِيَ الْعَنَتَ مِنْكُمْ وَأَنْ تَصْبِرُوا خَيْرٌ لَكُمْ وَاللَّهُ غَفُورٌ رَحِيمٌ﴾ (سورة النساء: ٢٥)

- 4:25. If any of you does not have the means to marry free believing women, he may marry believing women from among the slave women whom you own and Allah knows best about your faith; you belong to one another. Marry them with the permission of their masters, and give them their dowries, according to what is reasonable. They should be chaste, not given to committing fornication or having illicit relationships. When they are married, if they commit adultery, their punishment shall be half that of free women. This is for those of you who fear that you will sin; but if you practise self-restraint, that is better for you. And Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.<sup>7</sup>

<sup>7</sup> Juz' 5 actually begins with v. 24, but as the author treated vv. 23-24 as a single passage, we included it in Juz' 4. (Translator)

That is, if anyone cannot afford the mahr to marry free believing women, and fears that he may fall into sin, namely fornication, or suffer a great deal of hardship, then it is permissible for him to marry believing slave women. These women are to be judged according to what appears to be the case, and Allah knows best who is a sincere believer and who is not. Worldly matters are to be judged on the basis of outward appearance, and in the hereafter matters will be judged on the basis of what is hidden in people's hearts.

«Marry them», namely (believing) slave women
 «with the permission of their masters», whether the slave woman has one master or several.
 «and give them their dowries, according to what is reasonable» that is, even if they are slave women, just as it is obligatory to give the mahr to a free woman, it is also obligatory to give it to a slave woman.

But it is not permissible to marry slave women unless they are «chaste» that is, they refrain from immoral behaviour; «not given to committing fornication» openly «or having illicit relationships» that is, taking lovers in secret.

The point is that it is not permissible for a free Muslim man to marry a slave woman, unless four conditions, as stipulated by Allah, are met: they should be believers; they should be chaste in a real sense and sincerely; the man should not be able to afford to marry a free woman; and he should be afraid of falling into sin or suffering extreme hardship. If these conditions are met, then it is permissible for him to marry a slave woman.

Nevertheless, refraining from marrying them is better, because it will expose his children to slavery and it is not a dignified option. This applies if it is possible to restrain oneself; if a person cannot restrain himself from committing haram actions except by marrying slave women, then it becomes a must. Hence Allah says: «but if you practise self-restraint, that is better for you. And Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful».

«When they are married» that is, if they – namely slave women – get married, «their punishment shall be half that of free women». This applies to that which may be halved, namely flogging. So they are to be given fifty lashes. With regard to stoning, there is no stoning for slave women, because it cannot be halved. Therefore if they are not married (and they commit fornication), there is no ḥadd punishment for them, according to some scholars; rather they are to be given a disciplinary punishment (ta'zeer), in order to deter them from immoral conduct. However, according to other scholars, if non-Muslim slave women commit immoral actions, they should also be given a disciplinary punishment.

This verse ends with these two names of Allah: Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful, because these rulings are a mercy and kindness to people. These rulings do not place constraints on them; rather they make things very easy. Mentioning forgiveness after mention of the ḥadd punishment indicates that the ḥadd punishment is expiation, by means of which Allah forgives the sins of His slaves, as it states in the hadith. The ruling on a male slave with regard to the ḥadd punishment mentioned is the same as the ruling on a female slave, because there is no difference between them.

﴿يُرِيدُ اللَّهُ لِيُذْهِبَ عَنْكُمُ الرِّيبَ الَّتِي فِيكُمْ وَيُبَيِّنَ لَكُمْ سُنْنَ الَّذِينَ مِنْ قَبْلِكُمْ وَيَتُوبَ عَلَيْكُمْ وَاللَّهُ عَلِيمٌ حَكِيمٌ ﴿٢٦﴾ وَاللَّهُ يُرِيدُ أَنْ يَتُوبَ عَلَيْكُمْ وَيُرِيدُ الَّذِينَ يَتَّبِعُونَ الشَّهَوَاتِ أَنْ لَا يَمْلِكُوا مِثْلًا عَظِيمًا ﴿٢٧﴾ يُرِيدُ اللَّهُ أَنْ يُخَفِّفَ عَنْكُمْ وَخُلِقَ الْإِنْسَانُ ضَعِيفًا ﴿٢٨﴾﴾ (سورة النساء: ٢٦-٢٨)

- 4:26. Allah wants to make things clear to you and to guide you to the [righteous] ways of those who came before you; and [He wants to] turn to you in mercy; and Allah is All-Knowing, Most Wise.

4:27. Allah wants to turn to you in mercy, but those who follow their lusts want you to drift far away from the right path.

4:28. Allah wants to lighten your burdens, for man was created weak.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us of His great blessing and gift, and He highlights His care for His believing slaves and how easy His religion is.

﴿Allah wants to make things clear to you﴾ that is, everything you need to know about truth and falsehood, halal and haram.

﴿and to guide you to the [righteous] ways of those who came before you﴾ that is, those whom Allah blessed of the Prophets and their followers, in their praiseworthy conduct, righteous deeds, perfect characteristics and guided ways. Therefore He did what He wanted and explained to you what He explained to those who came before you, and He guided you to the right path in knowledge and in deeds.

﴿and [He wants to] turn to you in mercy﴾ that is, He shows mercy to you in all your situations and in all that He prescribes for you, so that you will be aware of the limits of Allah and be content with what He has permitted; then your sins will be reduced because of what Allah has made easy for you. This is by His mercy towards His slaves. By His mercy towards them, if they commit sin, He opens the gates of mercy to them and makes their hearts incline towards repentance to Him, so that they stand in humility before Him, then He turns in mercy towards them and accepts what He enabled them to do. To Him be praise and thanks for that.

﴿and Allah is All-Knowing, Most Wise﴾ that is, His knowledge is perfect and all-encompassing, and His wisdom is perfect. By His knowledge, He taught you that which you did not know, including these things and limits. By His wisdom, He accepts the repentance of those who His mercy and wisdom dictate that their repentance should be accepted, and He forsakes those who His wisdom and justice dictate should not be fit for repentance.

﴿Allah wants to turn to you in mercy﴾ that is, by means of repentance that helps you to start anew, fills your hearts with peace and brings you closer to Allah.

﴿but those who follow their lusts﴾ that is, those who go along with their whims and desires wherever they lead them, and give precedence to that over that which pleases Allah; they worship their whims and desires. (This refers to) all types of disbelievers, sinners and those who give precedence to their whims and desires over obedience to their Lord.

These people ﴿want you to drift far away from the right path﴾ that is, they want you to deviate from the straight path and follow the path of those with whom Allah is angry and those who have gone astray. They want to divert you from obedience to the Most Merciful to obedience to the Shayṭān, from adherence to the guidelines that lead to happiness by obeying His commands to following the one whose way leads to utter misery.

Once you realise that Allah (ﷻ) enjoins upon you that which is in your best interests and will lead to success and happiness, and that those who follow their whims and desires are enjoining upon you that which will lead to the utmost loss and misery, then choose for yourselves the better of the two callers and choose the better of the two paths.

﴿Allah wants to lighten your burdens﴾ that is, by making what is enjoined upon you easy and making it easy to refrain from what He has forbidden. Then when there is some difficulty in adhering to some of the laws that He prescribes, He permits to you that which is dictated by your deeds, such as eating dead meat, blood and the like, for the one who is in desperate need (and has no other option), or marrying slave women, for a free man, if he meets the conditions mentioned above. That is by His perfect mercy and kindness, and His wisdom and knowledge of man's weakness in all aspects, physical weakness, weakness of will and resolve, weakness of faith and lack of patience. Because of all of that, Allah reduces for him that which he is too weak to bear and that which his faith, patience and strength are unable to cope with.

﴿يَتَايَهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا لَا تَأْكُلُوا أَمْوَالَكُمْ بَيْنَكُمْ بِالْبَاطِلِ إِلَّا أَنْ تَكُونَ تِجَارَةً عَنْ رَاضٍ مِّنْكُمْ وَلَا تَقْتُلُوا أَنْفُسَكُمْ إِنَّ اللَّهَ كَانَ بِكُمْ رَحِيمًا ﴿٢٩﴾ وَمَنْ يَفْعَلْ ذَلِكَ عَدُوًّا وَظَلَمًا فَسَوْفَ نُصْلِيهِ نَارًا وَكَانَ ذَلِكَ عَلَى اللَّهِ يَسِيرًا ﴿٣٠﴾﴾ (سورة النساء: ٢٩-٣٠)

- 4:29. O you who believe, do not consume one another's property by unjust means, unless it is trade conducted with your mutual consent. And do not kill yourselves [or one another], for verily Allah has been Most Merciful to you.
- 4:30. Whoever does that maliciously and wrongfully, We will cast him into fire; and that is easy for Allah.

Allah (ﷻ) forbids His believing slaves to consume one another's wealth unlawfully. This includes taking it by force, stealing, taking it by means of gambling, or by other evil means. Indeed it may also include consuming one's own wealth in vanity and extravagance, because that is also unlawful and is not right.

Moreover, when Allah (ﷻ) forbids consuming it unlawfully, He permits them to consume it by means of trade and other ways of earning that are free of anything objectionable and that fulfil the conditions of mutual consent and so on.

﴿And do not kill yourselves [or one another]﴾ that is, do not kill one another, and no one should kill himself. This includes throwing oneself into risky activities or dangers that may lead to harm or death.

«for verily Allah has been Most Merciful to you» and by His mercy He protects you and your wealth, forbids you to waste it or destroy it, and He has ordained consequences for that in the form of hudood punishments.

«do not consume one another's property... And do not kill yourselves [or one another]». In the original Arabic, it refers to "you" in the plural. This eloquently and concisely conveys the idea that it is not permissible to consume your own wealth or that of others, or to kill oneself or others.

Moreover, saying "your wealth" and "your property", to the believers as a whole, indicates that all believers, in their mutual love, compassion, mercy and interests are like one body, as faith unites them to achieve their religious and worldly interests.

When Allah (ﷻ) forbade consuming wealth unlawfully, which will result in the greatest harm for the one who consumes it and the one whose wealth was consumed, He permitted that which serves their interests of different ways of earning a livelihood, such as trade, crafts, professions and rentals:

«unless it is trade conducted with your mutual consent», in which case it is permissible for you.

Mutual consent is stipulated – even though it is a trade – in order to highlight that it is essential that the contract should not be usurious, because usury is not trade; rather it is contrary to the aims of trade. It is essential that each party give consent and enter into it willingly. Part of fulfilling the condition of mutual consent is that the item that is the subject of the transaction should be clearly known, because if it is not known, it is impossible to give consent. It should also be possible to deliver it, because if it is not possible to deliver an item, then it is akin to gambling. There can be no consent in any types of ambiguous transactions, therefore such transactions are invalid.

This verse also indicates that transactions are done by words or deeds indicative of consent, because Allah stipulated that there be mutual consent. Therefore in whatever way consent is indicated, the transaction becomes valid thereby.

Then Allah concludes the verse with the words: ﴿for verily Allah has been Most Merciful to you﴾. By His mercy, He protected your lives and your wealth, and He forbade any transgression against them.

﴿Whoever does that﴾ namely consumes wealth unlawfully and kills people,

﴿maliciously and wrongfully﴾ that is, not out of ignorance or by mistake

﴿We will cast him into fire﴾ that is, a huge fire; in the original Arabic, this word appears in the indefinite, which indicates that it is huge.

﴿and that is easy for Allah﴾.

﴿إِنْ تَجْتَنِبُوا كَبَائِرَ مَا تُنْهَوْنَ عَنْهُ نُكَفِّرْ عَنْكُمْ سَيِّئَاتِكُمْ وَنُدْخِلَكُمْ
مُدْخَلَ كَرِيمٍ﴾ (سورة النساء: ٣١)

- 4:31. If you abstain from the major [sins] out of what you have been forbidden to do, We will erase your [minor] sins for you and admit you to a place of honour [paradise].

This is by the grace and kindness of Allah to His believing slaves; He promises them that if they avoid major sins, He will forgive all their (minor) sins or bad deeds, and He will admit them to a place of honour, a place of much good, namely paradise in which there is that which no eye has seen, no ear has heard, and it has never entered the mind of man.

Avoiding major sins includes doing the obligatory duties, omission of which constitutes a major sin, such as the five daily prayers, Jumu'ah (Friday prayer) and fasting Ramadan. As the Prophet (ﷺ) said: «The five (daily) prayers, one Jumu'ah to another, and one Ramadan to another, expiate whatever (sins) come in between them, so long as major sins are avoided.» (Muslim)

The best definition I have found for major sins is that the major sin is that for which there is prescription of a hadd punishment in this world or warning of punishment in the hereafter, or it is described as being contrary to faith, resulting in being cursed or incurring divine wrath.

﴿وَلَا تَنَمَنُوا مَا فَضَّلَ اللَّهُ بِهِ بَعْضَكُمْ عَلَى بَعْضٍ ۚ لِلرِّجَالِ نَصِيبٌ مِّمَّا اكْتَسَبُوا وَلِلنِّسَاءِ نَصِيبٌ مِّمَّا اكْتَسَبْنَ ۚ وَسَأَلُوا اللَّهَ مِنْ فَضْلِهِ ۗ إِنَّ اللَّهَ كَانَ بِكُلِّ شَيْءٍ عَلِيمًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ٣٢)

- 4:32. Do not covet the bounties which Allah has bestowed more abundantly on some of you than on others. Men will have the reward for what they earn, and women will have the reward for what they earn. Ask Allah of His bounty. Verily Allah has knowledge of all things.

Allah (ﷻ) instructs the believers that no one should covet that which Allah has given more of to others, whether that is things that it is possible for them to acquire or things that it is not possible for them to acquire. Hence women should not covet the characteristics of men, by means of which men have an advantage over women; the one who is poor or has some imperfections or shortcomings should not merely wish to be like one who is rich or perfect, because that is the very essence of envy, which is to wish for the blessing that Allah bestowed upon someone else to be taken from him and given to you.

Moreover, such wishes are indicative of displeasure with the decree of Allah and being content with laziness and wishful thinking, unaccompanied by any effort or earning. Rather what is praiseworthy is two things: to strive to the best of one's ability and to do that which will benefit one's religious and worldly interests, asking Allah for His bounty, and not relying on oneself or anyone other than one's Lord. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿Men will have the reward for what they earn﴾ that is, of their deeds that will lead to the desired results.

﴿and women will have the reward for what they earn﴾ – so each of them will not attain anything but that which he or she has earned and worked hard for.

﴿Ask Allah of His bounty﴾ that is, for everything that has to do with your religious or worldly affairs. Doing so is a sign of wisdom and of being blessed, in contrast to the one who fails to strive or relies on himself, not acknowledging his need of his Lord; or those who do both, in which case they are forsaken and are losers.

﴿Verily Allah has knowledge of all things﴾, therefore He gives to the one who He knows deserves it, and He withholds it from the one who He knows does not deserve it.

﴿وَلِكُلِّ جَعَلْنَا مَوْلَىٰ مِمَّا تَرَكَ الْوَالِدَانِ وَالْأَقْرَبُونَ ۚ وَالَّذِينَ عَقَدَتْ
أَيْمَنُكُمْ فَأَتَوْهُمْ بِخَبْرٍ ۖ إِنَّ اللَّهَ كَانَ عَلَىٰ كُلِّ شَيْءٍ شَهِيدًا ۝﴾

(سورة النساء: ٣٣)

- 4:33. We have made for everyone helpers and supporters of those whom parents and close relatives leave behind. As for those with whom you have made a solemn covenant, give them their dues. Verily Allah is witness to all things.

﴿We have made for everyone﴾ that is, for all people ﴿helpers and supporters﴾ who support him and help him, and cooperate with him in different issues ﴿of those whom parents and close relatives leave behind﴾. This includes all relatives, ascendants and descendants, siblings and their children. These are helpers and supporters among one's relatives.

Then Allah mentions another type of helpers: ﴿As for those with whom you have made a solemn covenant﴾ that is, those with whom you have entered into an agreement to help and support one another, to share wealth, and so on. All of that is the blessing that Allah bestows upon His slaves, so that helpers and supporters cooperate in matters that some of them could not do alone.

﴿give them their dues﴾ that is, give helpers and supporters their dues that you are obliged to give of your help and support in whatever does not involve disobedience towards Allah, and give what is due of shares of inheritance to the relatives who are described as helpers and supporters.

﴿Verily Allah is witness to all things﴾ that is, He sees everything, by means of His knowledge of all things; He sees the movements of His slaves and hears all their voices.

﴿الرِّجَالُ قَوَّامُونَ عَلَى النِّسَاءِ بِمَا فَضَّلَ اللَّهُ بَعْضَهُمْ عَلَى بَعْضٍ وَبِمَا أَنْفَقُوا مِنْ أَمْوَالِهِمْ ۚ فَالصَّالِحَاتُ قَنِينَتٌ ۖ حَافِظَاتٌ لِّلْغَيْبِ بِمَا حَفِظَ اللَّهُ ۚ وَاللَّي تَخَافُونَ نُشُوزَهُنَّ ۚ فَعِظُوهُنَّ ۚ وَاهْجُرُوهُنَّ فِي الْمَضَاجِعِ وَاصْرَبُوهُنَّ ۚ فَإِنْ

أَطَعْنَكُمْ فَلَا تَبْغُوا عَلَيْهِنَّ سَبِيلًا إِنَّ اللَّهَ كَانَ عَلِيمًا كَبِيرًا ﴿٣٤﴾ (سورة

4:34. Men are in charge of women, because Allah has made one of them excel the other, and because they spend of their wealth [on them]. Therefore the righteous women are obedient, and guard in [the husband's] absence what Allah would have them guard. As for those women on whose part you fear defiant disobedience, [first] admonish them, [next] refuse to share their beds, [and last] hit them [lightly]. Then if they obey you, take no further action against them. Verily Allah is Most High, Great.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that: ﴿Men are in charge of women﴾ that is, they are in charge with regard to making sure that they are doing their duties towards Allah (ﷻ), by keeping up with obligatory duties and restraining them from committing evil; men are obliged to make sure that they (women) adhere to that. They are also in charge of them in terms of spending on them, clothing them, and providing accommodation to them.

Then He states the reason why men are in charge of women: ﴿because Allah has made one of them excel the other, and because they spend of their wealth [on them]﴾ that is, because of the superiority of men over women; men are superior to women in many ways; for example, positions of political authority are only for men, as is prophethood and messengerhood. Moreover, men are singled out, to the exclusion of women, for many acts of worship, such as jihad and Eid and Jumu'ah prayers.

It is also because of what Allah has bestowed exclusively on them of wisdom, mature thinking, patience and perseverance, the like of which women do not have. Men also have the exclusive obligation of spending on their wives; moreover, there are many types of spending that are demanded exclusively of men, by which they are distinct from women.

Perhaps this is the reason why Allah says ﴿and because they spend of their wealth [on them]﴾. No mention is made of those on whom they are to spend, so as to indicate spending in a general sense. Thus it is known that a man is like a guardian and a master to his wife, and she is like a prisoner and servant to him. Therefore his role is to do his duty towards that which Allah has put him in charge of.

The woman's role is to obey her Lord and obey her husband. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿Therefore the righteous women are obedient﴾ to Allah ﴿and guard in [the husband's] absence what Allah would have them guard﴾ that is, they obey their husbands even in their absence; the wife guards her husband with regard to herself and his wealth. That is because Allah has enjoined upon them to guard themselves, and He has guided them to that; they could not do it without His help, because the human soul is inclined to evil. But whoever puts his trust in Allah, He will suffice him and take care of everything that worries him of his religious and worldly affairs.

﴿As for those women on whose part you fear defiant disobedience﴾ that is, their refusal to obey their husbands, such as disobeying them in word and deed. In that case a husband may discipline his wife, starting with the mildest of measures.

﴿[first] admonish them﴾ that is, explain the ruling of Allah with regard to obedience and disobedience to the husband, encourage them to be obedient, and warn them against being disobedient. If the wife stops, then that is the desired result. Otherwise, the husband should refuse to share her bed, and not sleep with her or have intimate relations with her, to the extent that will achieve the desired aim. If that does not succeed, then he may hit her in a manner that does not cause pain.

If one of these means is successful and they (wives) obey you (husbands), «take no further action against them» that is, you have got what you wanted, so stop rebuking her for what happened in the past, and stop looking for faults, because that will cause harm and stir up dispute.

«Verily Allah is Most High, Great» that is, He is absolutely exalted in all aspects, in His essence, in status and in might; He is great and nothing is greater than Him or more majestic or more mighty; He is great in His essence and attributes.

﴿وَإِنْ خِفْتُمْ شِقَاقَ بَيْنِهِمَا فَابْعَثُوا حَكَمًا مِّنْ أَهْلِهِ وَحَكَمًا مِّنْ أَهْلِهَا إِنْ يُرِيدَا إِصْلَاحًا يُوَفِّقِ اللَّهُ بَيْنَهُمَا إِنَّ اللَّهَ كَانَ عَلِيمًا حَكِيمًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ٣٥)

4:35. If you fear a breach between them, appoint an arbitrator from his family and another from hers; if they both want to put things right, Allah will bring about reconciliation between them. Verily Allah is All-Knowing, All-Aware.

That is, if you fear a breach between the spouses, and that they will keep away from one another, «appoint an arbitrator from his family and another from hers» that is, two men who are accountable, Muslims, of good character and wise, who are both aware of the problem. All of these qualities may be understood from the word hakam (translated here as «arbitrator»); no one is fit to be an arbitrator except one who possesses these attributes. They should examine the objection of each spouse against the other, then tell each one what he or she must do. Then if one of them is not able to adhere to that, they should advise the other spouse to be content with whatever is available of provision and accept whatever is the attitude of the other spouse.

Whenever it is possible to bring about reconciliation and set things straight, they should not turn to the other option.

If the matter reaches a point where it is not possible to keep them together and set things straight between them, except in a way of enmity, hostility and disobedience to Allah, and they realise that separation is better for them, the arbitrators may decide to separate them. In that case the consent of the husband is not essential, as is indicated here, because Allah called them hakam (translated here as {arbitrators}), which implies having the authority to issue a ruling or verdict which must be accepted, even if the one against whom it is issued is not happy with it.

Hence Allah says: {if they both want to put things right, Allah will bring about reconciliation between them} that is, by means of sound advice and gentle words that soften the hearts and bring about harmony between the spouses.

{Verily Allah is All-Knowing, All-Aware} that is, He knows all that is visible and hidden and is aware of subtleties and secrets. By means of His knowledge and awareness, He prescribes these sublime rulings and guidelines for you.

﴿وَأَعْبُدُوا اللَّهَ وَلَا تُشْرِكُوا بِهِ شَيْئًا ۚ وَاللَّوْلَدَيْنِ إِحْسَنًا ۚ وَبِذِي الْقُرْبَىٰ
وَالْيَتَامَىٰ وَالْمَسْكِينِ وَالْجَارِ ذِي الْقُرْبَىٰ وَالْجَارِ الْجَبِ وَالصَّاحِبِ
بِالْجَنِّ وَابْنِ السَّبِيلِ وَمَا مَلَكَتْ أَيْمَانُكُمْ ۚ إِنَّ اللَّهَ لَا يُحِبُّ مَنْ كَانَ مُخْتَلًا
فَخُورًا ﴿٣٦﴾ الَّذِينَ يَبْخُلُونَ وَيَأْمُرُونَ النَّاسَ بِالْبُخْلِ وَيَكْتُمُونَ
مَا آتَاهُمُ اللَّهُ مِنْ فَضْلِهِ ۚ وَأَعْتَدْنَا لِلْكَافِرِينَ عَذَابًا مُهِينًا ﴿٣٧﴾ وَالَّذِينَ
يُنْفِقُونَ أَمْوَالَهُمْ رِثَاءَ النَّاسِ وَلَا يُؤْمِنُونَ بِاللَّهِ وَلَا بِالْيَوْمِ الْآخِرِ ۚ وَمَنْ يَكُنِ
الشَّيْطَانُ لَهُ قَرِينًا فَسَاءَ قَرِينًا ﴿٣٨﴾﴾ (سورة النساء: ٣٦-٣٨)

- 4:36. Worship Allah, and do not ascribe any partner to Him. Be kind to parents, relatives, orphans, those in need, neighbours who are related to you and neighbours who are not related to you, the companion by your side, the wayfarer, and what you own of slaves. For Allah does not love those who are arrogant and boastful,
- 4:37. Those who are stingy, and exhort people to stinginess, and conceal what Allah has bestowed on them of His bounty – for We have prepared for disbelievers a humiliating punishment –
- 4:38. And those who spend their wealth to show off to people, but do not believe in Allah and the Last Day. If anyone has the Shayṭān as a companion, what an evil companion he is!

Here Allah commands His slaves to worship Him alone and not associate anything with Him. This means declaring complete servitude to Him, submitting to His commands and prohibitions out of love, humility and sincerity towards Him, in all acts of worship, both apparent and hidden. He forbids the association of anything with Him, whether that is in a major or minor sense, and whether the so-called partner is an angel, a Prophet, a “saint” (wali), or any other created beings that have no power to bring benefit or ward off harm from themselves, to cause death or give life or resurrect. Rather what is obligatory is to direct one’s worship sincerely to the One Who has absolute perfection in all ways and Who has absolute control which no one shares with Him or helps him in the control He has. Then after enjoining worship of Him alone and fulfilment of His rights, He enjoins fulfilling duties towards other people, the closest then the next closest:

﴿Be kind to parents﴾ that is, treat them kindly and speak decent words to them, addressing them gently, doing good deeds for them, obeying their instructions, avoiding what they forbid you to do, spending on them, honouring anyone who has a connection to them, and upholding ties of kinship, for you have no ties of kinship except through them.

Kindness has two opposites, bad treatment and failure to show kindness. Both are forbidden.

﴿relatives﴾ – we should also show kindness to relatives. This includes all relatives, close or distant. We should treat them well in word and deed and not sever ties of kinship in word or deed.

﴿orphans﴾ that is, those who have lost their fathers when they are small. They have rights over the Muslims, whether they are relatives or not, who should sponsor them, be kind to them, console them, discipline them and give them a good upbringing, and take care of their religious and worldly affairs.

﴿those in need﴾ – they are the ones who are not able to earn enough to meet their needs or the needs of those they are in charge of. Therefore Allah (ﷻ) has enjoined showing kindness to them by meeting their needs and helping them to ward off poverty, and encouraging others to do so, and doing that as much as one can.

﴿neighbours who are related to you﴾ that is, the neighbour who is related to you has two rights: the rights of a neighbour and the rights of a relative. He has the right that his neighbour should treat him kindly, in line with what is customarily regarded as kindness.

﴿and﴾ likewise ﴿neighbours who are not related to you﴾. The closer the neighbour's door is to yours, the greater his rights over you. So we should take care of neighbours by giving them gifts and charity, inviting them over, being kind in word and deed, and not annoying them in word or deed.

﴿the companion by your side﴾ – it was said that this refers to a travelling companion, a wife or companions in general, which is most likely to be the correct meaning, because it includes companions at home and when travelling, and it also includes the wife.

A person's companion has rights over him more than the rights dictated by the fact that he is a Muslim with regard to helping him in his religious and worldly affairs, and being sincere and honest with him in good times and bad, and regardless of whether one feels energetic or reluctant. He should love for him what he loves for himself and hate for him what he hates for himself. The longer the companionship lasts, the more the mutual rights are confirmed and emphasised.

﴿the wayfarer﴾ – this refers to a stranger who is in need in a foreign land, or even if he is not in need. He has rights over the Muslims because of his need and because of the fact that he is in a strange land; they should help him to reach his destination or help him partway, and they should honour him and offer him comfort.

﴿and what you own of slaves﴾ – this phrase (lit. “what your right hands possess”) may also include livestock and beasts of burden; kindness to them includes making sure that they have enough, not overburdening them, helping them with whatever tasks they are assigned, and disciplining them in a way that is in their best interests. The one who does these things as enjoined is the one who is truly submitting to his Lord, showing humility towards the slaves of Allah and adhering to the commands and laws of Allah. This is the one who deserves the great reward and praise. The one who does not do that is a person who is turning away from his Lord, failing to submit to His commands and is not showing humility towards other people; rather his attitude is one of arrogance towards the slaves of Allah, and he is filled with self-admiration and boasting about what he says. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿For Allah does not love those who are arrogant﴾ that is, those who are filled with self-pride and who look down upon people, ﴿and boastful﴾ that is, they praise themselves by way of pride and vanity towards the slaves of Allah.

Their arrogance and vanity prevent them from carrying out their duties; hence Allah criticises them for that, as He says:

﴿Those who are stingy﴾ that is, they refuse to spend as they are obliged to

﴿and exhort people to stinginess﴾ by their words and deeds.

﴿and conceal what Allah has bestowed on them of His bounty﴾ that is, of knowledge by means of which those who have gone astray and the ignorant could be guided. They conceal it from them and teach them falsehood that prevents them from learning the truth. Thus they combine stinginess with regard to wealth and stinginess with regard to knowledge with striving for their own perdition and the doom of others. This is the quality of the disbelievers, hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿for We have prepared for disbelievers a humiliating punishment﴾ that is, as they were arrogant towards the slaves of Allah and withheld the rights of Allah and caused others to also withhold what they owed to Allah, as a result of being stingy and not being guided, Allah will humiliate them with a painful punishment and eternal disgrace. We seek refuge with You, O Allah, from all evil.

Then Allah tells us about the spending that is motivated by the desire to show off and gain a reputation, and is not based on faith:

﴿And those who spend their wealth to show off to people﴾ that is, so that they will see them, praise them and respect them.

﴿but do not believe in Allah and the Last Day﴾ that is, their spending is not motivated by sincerity and faith in Allah, and the hope of His reward; therefore this comes under the heading of the footsteps of the Shayṭān and his works, to which he calls his followers, so that they will be inhabitants of hell. They do these deeds because they are his companions and he is pushing them in that direction. Hence Allah says:

﴿If anyone has the Shayṭān as a companion, what an evil companion he is!﴾ That is, what an evil companion is the one who seeks the doom of his companion and strives hard to achieve that.

Just as the one who withholds what Allah has bestowed upon him and conceals the knowledge with which Allah has blessed him is a sinner and offender who is in opposition to his Lord, the one who is motivated by something other than seeking the pleasure of Allah in his spending and worship is also a sinner who is disobeying his Lord, and thus deserves punishment, because Allah only enjoined obedience to Him and adherence to His commands to be done in a sincere manner, as He says:

«Although they were enjoined only to worship Allah with sincere devotion to Him, being true in faith to Him alone, and to establish prayer and give zakâh, and that is the true religion...» (al-Bayinah 98: 5)

This is the type of acceptable deeds for which a person deserves to be praised and this is what Allah encourages people to base their deeds on, as He says:

﴿وَمَاذَا عَلَيْهِمْ لَوْ ءَامَنُوا بِاللّٰهِ وَالْيَوْمِ الْآخِرِ وَأَنفَقُوا مِمَّا رَزَقَهُمُ اللّٰهُ وَكَانَ اللّٰهُ بِهِمْ عَلِيمًا ۝٣٩﴾ (سورة النساء: ٣٩)

4:39. What harm would it do them to believe in Allah and in the Last Day, and to spend out of what Allah has bestowed upon them? For Allah has full knowledge of them.

That is, what harm would it do them, and what trouble or hardship would befall them, if they had faith in Allah that is based on sincerity and they spent from the wealth that Allah has bestowed upon them and with which He has blessed them, thus combining sincerity and spending (for His sake)?

Because sincerity is something secret between a person and his Lord, and no one sees it except Allah, He states that He has knowledge of all their situations: «For Allah has full knowledge of them».

﴿إِنَّ اللَّهَ لَا يَظْلِمُ مِثْقَالَ ذَرَّةٍ وَإِنْ تَكَ حَسَنَةً يُّضَاعِفْهَا وَيُؤْتِ مِنْ لَدُنْهُ أَجْرًا عَظِيمًا﴾ (٤٠) فَكَيْفَ إِذَا جِئْنَا مِنْ كُلِّ أُمَّةٍ بِشَهِيدٍ وَجِئْنَا بِكَ عَلَى هَؤُلَاءِ شَهِيدًا (٤١) يَوْمَئِذٍ يَوَدُّ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا وَعَصَوُا الرَّسُولَ لَوْ تُسَوَّى بِهِمُ الْأَرْضُ وَلَا يَكْتُمُونَ اللَّهَ حَدِيثًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ٤٠-٤٢)

- 4:40. Verily, Allah does not wrong anyone by as much as the weight of a speck of dust. And if there is a good deed Allah will multiply it, and give an immense reward of His own.
- 4:41. How will it be when We bring a witness from every nation and bring you [O Muhammad] as a witness against them?
- 4:42. On that day, those who disbelieved and disobeyed the Messenger will wish that the earth could be levelled over them. But they will not be able to conceal anything from Allah.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us of the perfect nature of His justice and grace, and that He is above the opposites of that, such as injustice great or small.

﴿Verily, Allah does not wrong anyone by as much as the weight of a speck of dust﴾ that is, He does not detract from a person's good deeds or increase his bad deeds in the slightest, as He says elsewhere: ﴿So whoever does an atom's weight of good will see it, and whoever does an atom's weight of evil will see it.﴾ (az-Zalzalah 99: 7-8)

﴿And if there is a good deed Allah will multiply it﴾ that is, He will multiply it tenfold or more, according to the nature of the deed and how beneficial it was, and according to the situation of the doer in terms of sincerity, love and righteousness.

﴿and give an immense reward of His own﴾ that is, in addition to the reward for the deed itself, such as enabling him to do more righteous deeds, or to give more charity, or to show more kindness.

Then Allah (ﷻ) says:

«How will it be when We bring a witness from every nation and bring you [O Muhammad] as a witness against them?» That is, how will it be, how will the great judgement be, when the judgement in which the One Who will judge has perfect knowledge, perfect justice and perfect wisdom is combined with the testimony of the best of humankind, namely the Messengers who will testify against their nations, along with the confession of those against whom judgement is passed? This, by Allah, is the most comprehensive judgement, the most just and the greatest.

Then those against whom judgement will be passed will confirm the perfect grace and justice of Allah, and will utter words of praise. At that point, some people will be blessed with triumph, success and honour, and others will be doomed to disgrace, shame and the humiliating punishment.

Hence Allah says: «On that day, those who disbelieved and disobeyed the Messenger» that is, those who combine disbelief in Allah and His Messenger with disobedience towards the Messenger «will wish that the earth could be levelled over them» that is, that it would swallow them and they would become dust and become nothing, as Allah (ﷻ) tells us that they will say:

«...and the disbeliever will say: Would that I were mere dust!» (an-Naba' 78: 40)

«But they will not be able to conceal anything from Allah» that is, rather they will admit to Him what they did, and their own tongues, hands and feet will testify against them, speaking of what they used to do. On that day, Allah will give them in full their due recompense and they will know that Allah is indeed the Truth Who makes manifest (the true nature of all things) (cf. 24: 25).

With regard to what was narrated about how the disbelievers will conceal their disbelief and deny their evil deeds, that will happen at some stages of the Day of Resurrection, when they think that their denial will avail them against the punishment of Allah. Then when they realise the true nature of their situation and their faculties testify against them, at that point things will become clear and there will be no reason to conceal anything, and there will be no benefit in doing so.

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا لَا تَقْرَبُوا الصَّلَاةَ وَأَنْتُمْ سُكَرَىٰ حَتَّىٰ تَعْلَمُوا مَا تَقُولُونَ وَلَا جُنُبًا إِلَّا عَابِرِي سَبِيلٍ حَتَّىٰ تَغْتَسِلُوا وَإِنْ كُنْتُمْ مَرَضَىٰ أَوْ عَلَىٰ سَفَرٍ أَوْ جَاءَ أَحَدٌ مِنْكُمْ مِنَ الْغَائِطِ أَوْ لَمَسْتُمُ النِّسَاءَ فَلَمْ يَجِدُوا مَاءً فَتَيَمَّمُوا صَعِيدًا طَيِّبًا فَامْسَحُوا بِرُءُوسِكُمْ وَأَيْدِيكُمْ إِنَّ اللَّهَ كَانَ عَفُوًّا غَفُورًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ٤٣)

- 4:43. O you who believe, do not approach the prayer when you are intoxicated, until you know what you are saying, nor in a state of major impurity [janābah] – except while passing through – until you have washed yourselves completely [ghusl]. If you are ill, or on a journey, or have relieved yourselves, or you have touched women, and cannot find water, then find some clean earth, and wipe your faces and hands with it [tayammum]. For Allah is Ever-Pardoning, Forgiving.

Here Allah (ﷻ) forbids His believing slaves to come near prayer when they are intoxicated, until they know what they are saying. This includes coming near places of prayer, such as the mosque, which the one who is intoxicated should not be allowed to enter, as well as the prayer itself. It is not permissible for one who is intoxicated to pray or do any act of worship, because his mind is confused and he does not know what he is saying. Hence Allah defined the times when such a person may pray and told him to postpone it until he knows what he is saying. This verse was abrogated by the complete prohibition of intoxicants. In the beginning intoxicants were not prohibited, then Allah (ﷻ) hinted to His slaves that they would be prohibited, as He said:

﴿They ask you about intoxicants and gambling. Say: In them is great sin, and some benefit for people; but the sin is greater than the benefit...﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 219)

Then He forbade being intoxicated when attending prayers, as in this verse. Then He forbade intoxicants altogether, at all times, as He said:

﴿O you who believe, intoxicants, gambling, idols and divining arrows are an abomination, of Shayṭân's handiwork; therefore avoid such [abomination]...﴾ (al-Mā'idah 5: 90)

Moreover, that becomes more emphatically prohibited at the time of attending the prayer, because of what it leads to of this evil situation, which is not being able to achieve the purpose of prayer, that which is its soul and essence, namely proper focus and presence of mind, because intoxicants befog the mind and prevent one from remembering Allah and from focusing on prayer. We may also understand from the meaning of the verse that it is not allowed to start praying when one is extremely drowsy, to the point that he is not aware of what he is saying and doing. Indeed it may indicate that the one who wants to pray should deal with anything that is distracting him, such as resisting the urge to urinate or defecate, or when one wants to eat, and so on, as is mentioned in the ṣaḥeeḥ hadiths.

Then Allah says: ﴿nor in a state of major impurity [janâbah] – except while passing through﴾ that is, do not come near prayer when one of you is in a state of janâbah (impurity following sexual activity), except in this case, which is when one is passing through the mosque and not staying in it.

﴿until you have washed yourselves completely [ghusl]﴾ that is, when you have done ghusl and removed the reason why it was disallowed to approach the prayer, then it becomes permissible to approach the prayer. But it is permissible for the one who is in a state of janâbah to pass through the mosque only.

﴿If you are ill, or on a journey, or have relieved yourselves, or you have touched women, and cannot find water, then find some clean earth, and wipe your faces and hands with it [tayammum]﴾. Tayammum (“dry ablution”) is permissible for the one who is sick in general terms, whether water is available or not; the reason for that is sickness that makes it difficult to use water. The same ruling applies when travelling, because that is when water may be scarce. So if a traveller has no water, but he only has enough to meet his needs for drinking and so on, it is permissible for him to do tayammum.

The same applies if a person invalidates his wuḍoo' by urinating or defecating, or touching women. It is permissible for him to do tayammum if he cannot find water, whether he is travelling or not, as is indicated by the general meaning of the verse.

In conclusion, Allah (ﷻ) has permitted tayammum in two cases: when there is no water, which applies whether one is travelling or not, and when it is too difficult to use water, because of sickness and the like.

The commentators differed concerning the meaning of the words ﴿or you have touched women﴾: does this refer to intercourse, in which case the meaning of the verse is that it is permissible for one who is in a state of janâbah to do tayammum, and there are many ṣaḥeeḥ hadiths to support this view, or does it mean simply touching with the hand; this applies if there is the possibility of madhy being produced, which refers to touching with desire – thus this verse indicates that wuḍoo' is invalidated in this case?

The fuqahâ' quoted the words ﴿and cannot find water﴾ as supporting the view that it is obligatory to look for water when the time for prayer begins. They said: That is because we cannot say,

“he did not find water” if he did not look for it; rather we can only say that after looking for it. They also quoted that as evidence for the view that it is permissible to use water that has been changed by any pure substance; in fact one must use it to purify oneself, because that is included in the phrase ﴿and cannot find water﴾, because this is still water. Others disagreed with that.

This verse prescribes this great ruling with which Allah has blessed this Ummah, namely the prescription of tayammum, and all scholars are agreed on that, praise be to Allah.

Tayammum must be done with clean earth, which refers to anything that protrudes from the surface of the earth, whether it has dust on it or not. It may refer specifically to that which has dust, because Allah says: ﴿and wipe your faces and hands with it﴾, and one cannot wipe with that which does not have any dust on it.

﴿and wipe your faces and hands with it﴾ – these are the places to be wiped in tayammum: the entire face and the arms up to the elbows, as is indicated by the ṣaḥeeḥ hadiths. It is recommended to strike the clean dust once, as is indicated by the hadith of ‘Ammâr, which indicates that tayammum in the case of janâbah is the same as tayammum in other cases, namely wiping the face and arms.

Note:

It should be noted that the main aims of medicine focus on three principles: protecting health from what may harm it, getting rid of harmful things and prescribing an appropriate diet. Allah has referred to all of them in His Book.

With regard to protecting health from that which may harm it, He has instructed us to eat and drink but not to go to excess in doing so; He has permitted the traveller and the one who is sick to refrain from fasting, so as to protect their health, by using that which will help the body to keep going in a reasonable manner; and protecting the sick person from that which may harm him.

With regard to getting rid of harmful things, Allah (ﷻ) has permitted the pilgrim in ihram who has an ailment in his scalp to shave his head. This may indicate that one should get rid of that which is more serious than that, such as urine, stools, vomit, maniy (semen), blood and other things, as pointed out by Ibn al-Qayyim (may Allah have mercy on him).

This verse indicates that it is obligatory to wipe the entire face and arms, and that it is permissible to do tayammum even if the time left for prayer is not short; the individual is not to seek water except when there is a reason to do so. And Allah knows best.

Then the verse ends with the words: ﴿For Allah is Ever-Pardoning, Forgiving﴾ that is, He pardons a great deal and forgives His believing slaves by making things very easy for them, as it is not difficult for a person to obey His commands, so that he will not go through hardship.

By His pardon and forgiveness, He had mercy on this Ummah and prescribed purification with dust instead of water, when it is not possible to use water.

By His pardon and forgiveness, He has opened the gate of repentance to the sinners, and He invites them to turn to Him, and He promises forgiveness of sins.

By His pardon and forgiveness, if the believer brought an earthful of sins, then was to meet Him not associating anything with Him, He will grant him forgiveness as great as it.

﴿أَلَمْ تَرَ إِلَى الَّذِينَ أُوتُوا نَصِيبًا مِّنَ الْكِتَابِ يَشَرُّونَ الصَّلَاةَ وَيُرِيدُونَ أَن تَضِلُّوا السَّبِيلَ ۚ وَاللَّهُ يَعْلَمُ بِأَعْدَائِكُمْ ۚ وَكَفَى بِاللَّهِ وَلِيًّا وَكَفَى بِاللَّهِ نَصِيرًا ۝﴾ مِّنَ الَّذِينَ هَادُوا يُحَرِّفُونَ الْكَلِمَ عَنْ مَوَاضِعِهِ، وَيَقُولُونَ سَمِعْنَا وَعَصَيْنَا وَأَسْمَعُ غَيْرَ مُسْمِعٍ وَرَعَيْنَا لِيَّا بِأَلْسِنَتِهِمْ وَطَعْنًا فِي الدِّينِ ۚ وَلَوْ أَنَّهُمْ قَالُوا سَمِعْنَا وَأَطَعْنَا وَأَسْمَعُ وَأَنْظُرْ مَا كَانَ

﴿سورة النساء﴾ خَيْرًا لَهُمْ وَأَقْوَمَ وَلَكِنْ لَعَنَهُمُ اللَّهُ بِكُفْرِهِمْ فَلَا يُؤْمِنُونَ إِلَّا قَلِيلًا ﴿٤٤﴾

(٤٤-٤٤)

- 4:44. Have you not seen those who were given a portion of the scripture? They purchase misguidance and want you to lose your way.
- 4:45. But Allah knows best who your enemies are. Allah is sufficient as a protector, and Allah is sufficient as a helper.
- 4:46. Among the Jews are some who distort the meaning of [revealed] words, and say: We hear and we disobey, and: Listen, may you not hear, and: Râ'inâ,<sup>8</sup> with a twist of their tongues so as to disparage religion. If only they had said: We hear and we obey, and: Listen, and: Undhurnâ, it would have been better for them, and more proper. But Allah has cursed them for their disbelief, and only a few of them will believe.

This is a criticism of ﴿those who were given a portion of the scripture﴾ and implies a warning not to be deceived by them or fall into their traps. Here Allah tells us that they ﴿purchase misguidance﴾ that is, they love it a great deal and give it precedence like one who spends a great deal of money to get what he loves. Thus they prefer misguidance to guidance, disbelief to faith, and wretchedness to happiness, yet despite that they also ﴿want you to lose your way﴾.

Thus they are very keen that you should be misguided and they are trying their utmost to achieve that, but as Allah has been protecting His believing slaves and helping them, He explains to them how these people are misguided and how they are misguiding others. Hence He says: ﴿Allah is sufficient as a protector﴾ that is, He takes charge of His slaves' affairs and bestows His grace upon them in all their affairs, and guides them to that which will lead them to happiness and prosperity.

﴿and Allah is sufficient as a helper﴾; He helps them against their enemies and explains to them what they should be cautious of with regard to the enemy, and what could help them against them. His protection leads to good and His help keeps them away from evil.

Then Allah explains the extent of their misguidance and stubbornness, and how they prefer falsehood to truth:

﴿Among the Jews﴾ that is, some of the Jews, namely the misguided scholars among them

﴿are some who distort the meaning of [revealed] words﴾ either by changing the words or the meaning, or both. An example of their distortion is how they distorted the description given in their Books, that could not be truly applicable to anyone but Muhammad (ﷺ); they suggested that it referred to someone else and that he was not the one who was meant, and they concealed it.

This is how they dealt with knowledge, in the worst manner, by turning ideas upside down and applying the true description to someone else falsely, thus denying that truth. With regard to how they act in terms of deeds and submission, ﴿[they] say: We hear and we disobey﴾ that is, we hear what you say and we disobey your command. This is the utmost disbelief, stubbornness and turning away from submission.

Likewise, they addressed the Messenger (ﷺ) in the most offensive and impolite manner, by saying ﴿Listen, may you not hear﴾ meaning: listen to us, and you will not hear what you like; rather you will hear what you dislike.

﴿and: Rā'inā﴾ what they meant by this word was something offensive. They thought that because this word could be understood as meaning something other than what they meant, they would be able to trick Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ). By using this word, with a twist of the tongue, their intention was to disparage the religion and cast aspersions upon the Messenger (ﷺ), and they stated that intention clearly to one another when they were alone. Hence Allah says: ﴿with a twist of their tongues so as to disparage religion﴾.

Then He guided them to something that would be better for them than that, by saying: ﴿If only they had said: We hear and we obey, and: Listen, and: Undhurnâ, it would have been better for them, and more proper﴾. That is because these words sound better and they reflect a sublime etiquette when addressing the Messenger (ﷺ), show obedience to Allah and submission to His command, and demonstrate the use of kind words when seeking knowledge, so that the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) would listen to their questions and pay attention to them.

This is how their behaviour and attitude should have been, but because their nature was not good, they turned away from that and Allah cast them away from His mercy because of their disbelief and stubbornness. Hence He said: ﴿But Allah has cursed them for their disbelief, and only a few of them will believe﴾.

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ أُوتُوا الْكِتَابَ ءَامِنُوا بِمَا نَزَّلْنَا مُصَدِّقًا لِّمَا مَعَكُمْ مِّن قَبْلِ أَن نَّطْمِسَ وُجُوهًا فَنَرُدَّهَا عَلَىٰ أَدْبَارِهَا أَوْ نَلْعَنَهُمْ كَمَا لَعَنَّا أَصْحَابَ السَّبْتِ ؕ وَكَانَ أَمْرُ اللَّهِ مَفْعُولًا ۝﴾ (سورة النساء: ٤٧)

- 4:47. O you who have been given the scripture, believe in what We have revealed [to Muhammad], confirming what is with you, before We obliterate faces and turn them backwards, or curse them as We cursed those who broke the Sabbath. Allah's will is always done.

Here Allah (ﷻ) instructs the People of the Book, the Jews and Christians, to believe in His Messenger Muhammad (ﷺ) and in what Allah has revealed to him of the Holy Qur'an, which determines what is true in the previous Books that it confirmed because the previous Books foretold his coming, so when what was foretold came to pass, that was a confirmation of that foretelling.

Moreover, if they disbelieve in this Qur'an, that would mean that they disbelieved their own Books, because the Books of Allah confirm one another and are in harmony with one another. Hence the claim to believe in some of them but not others is a false claim that cannot be true.

﴿believe in what We have revealed [to Muhammad], confirming what is with you﴾. This is encouraging them and informing them that they, of all people, should be the first to hasten to believe in the Qur'an, because of the knowledge with which Allah has blessed them and the Book which dictates that their responsibility is greater than that of others. Hence He warned them against failing to believe. ﴿before We obliterate faces and turn them backwards﴾. This is a requital that is in accordance with their deeds, because they abandoned the truth and preferred falsehood, and turned the facts upside down, regarding falsehood as truth and truth as falsehood. Therefore their requital would be along similar lines: their faces would be obliterated as they had obliterated the truth, and their faces were to be turned backwards, so that their faces would be on the back of their heads, and this is the worst punishment.

﴿or curse them as We cursed those who broke the Sabbath﴾, by casting them far away from His mercy and punishing them by turning them into apes, as was done to their brethren who transgressed the Sabbath:

﴿...whereupon We said to them: Be apes, despised and rejected.﴾
(al-Baqarah 2: 65)

«Allah's will is always done». This is like the verse in which He says:

«His way, when He decrees a matter, is merely to say to it, 'Be!' and it is.» (Yâ Seen 36: 82)

﴿إِنَّ اللَّهَ لَا يَغْفِرُ أَنْ يُشْرَكَ بِهِ وَيَغْفِرُ مَا دُونَ ذَلِكَ لِمَنْ يَشَاءُ وَمَنْ يُشْرِكْ بِاللَّهِ فَقَدْ افْتَرَىٰ إِثْمًا عَظِيمًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ٤٨)

- 4:48. Allah does not forgive the ascription of partners to Him, but He forgives any lesser sin to whomever He wills. Whoever ascribes partners to Allah has indeed devised a heinous sin.

Here Allah tells us that He will not forgive the sins of one who ascribes partners to Him, but He will forgive lesser sins, whether minor or major, according to His will, if forgiveness is dictated by His wisdom.

For sins that are less grave than ascribing partners to Him, Allah has ordained many means of attaining forgiveness, such as good deeds that erase sin and suffering calamities and pain that expiate for sin, in this world, in al-barzakh and on the Day of Resurrection; He has also ordained other ways, such as the supplication of the believers for one another, the intercession of those who will intercede and, over and above all that, His mercy of which those who believe and affirm His oneness are the most deserving.

In direct contrast to that is the ascription of partners to Him (shirk), for the one who ascribes partners to Him has closed to himself the gates of forgiveness and has barred the gates of mercy. So no act of worship and obedience will be of any benefit to him if it is lacking affirmation of Allah's oneness, and no calamity will benefit him at all, and on the Day of Resurrection he will have:

﴿...no one to intercede for us and no caring friend.﴾ (ash-Shu'arā' 26: 100-101)

Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿Whoever ascribes partners to Allah has indeed devised a heinous sin﴾ that is, he has committed a serious offense. What transgression can be greater than that of one who makes one who was created from dust, is lacking in all aspects and inherently dependent in all aspects, and has no power to benefit or harm himself – let alone the one who worships him – and no power to cause death, grant life or resurrect, equal with the Creator of all things, Who is perfect in all aspects and independent in and of Himself, with no need for any of His creation, in Whose Hand is the power to benefit or harm, give or withhold, and no blessing comes to His creation but it is from Him. Is there any worse transgression than that?

Hence He has made it inevitable that the one who commits this transgression will be punished eternally and deprived of reward.

﴿...Whoever ascribes partners to Allah, then Allah has forbidden paradise for him, and the fire will be his abode...﴾ (al-Mā'idah 5: 72)

This applies to the one who does not repent.

But for the one who repents, his ascription of partners to Allah, as well as his lesser sins, will be forgiven as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Say [Allah says]: O My slaves who have transgressed against themselves [by sinning greatly], do not despair of the mercy of Allah, for verily Allah forgives all sins...﴾ (az-Zumar 39: 53)

That is, for the one who repents to Him.

﴿أَلَمْ تَرَ إِلَى الَّذِينَ يَزْكُونَ أَنْفُسَهُمْ ۖ بَلِ اللَّهُ يُزَكِّي مَن يَشَاءُ وَلَا يُظْلَمُونَ فَتِيلًا ۝١١﴾
 ﴿أَنْظُرْ كَيْفَ يَقْتَرُونَ عَلَى اللَّهِ الْكَذِبَ وَكَفَى بِهِ إِثْمًا مُّبِينًا ۝٥﴾ (سورة النساء: ٤٩-٥٠)

4:49. Have you not seen those who claim purity for themselves? Nay, Allah purifies whomever He wills. They will never be wronged even by as much as the thread in the groove of a date stone.

4:50. Look how they fabricate lies against Allah! This in itself is a flagrant sin.

---

Here Allah expresses amazement concerning His slaves and rebukes those among the Jews and Christians who claim purity for themselves and others of their ilk, saying that they are good and pure, praising themselves for something that is not true. That is because the Jews and Christians say:

﴿...We are children of Allah, and His beloved ones...﴾ (al-Mā'idah 5: 18)

– and:

﴿...No one will enter paradise unless he is a Jew or a Christian...﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 111)

But this is a mere claim for which there is no proof; rather proof is what the Qur'an says:

﴿Nay, whoever submits himself [completely] to Allah and is a doer of good will have his reward with his Lord; they will have no fear, nor will they grieve.﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 112)

These are the ones whom Allah praises; hence He says here: ﴿Nay, Allah purifies whomever He wills﴾ that is, for their faith and righteous deeds, and for their ridding themselves of bad attitudes and acquiring good attitudes.

As for those people (the Jews, Christians and others) – even if they praise themselves by claiming that they are pure and that they are following something good, and that the reward will be theirs alone – they are lying; they have no share of the attributes of the pure because of their wrongdoing and disbelief, not because of any injustice on Allah's part. Hence He says: ﴿They will never be wronged even by as much as the thread in the groove of a date stone». This is in general terms; that is, they will not be wronged at all, and not even by as much as the thread in the groove of a date stone.

«Look how they fabricate lies against Allah» that is, by praising themselves and saying that they are pure. This is one of the greatest kinds of fabricating lies against Allah, because the implication of their self-praise is the idea that Allah has made what they are following true and what the believing Muslims are following false, and this is one of the worst kinds of lie, which turns facts upside down by regarding truth as falsehood and falsehood as truth. Hence Allah says: «This in itself is a flagrant sin» that is, it is blatant and obvious, and it deserves a far-reaching and painful punishment.

﴿أَلَمْ تَرَ إِلَى الَّذِينَ أَوْتُوا نَصِيبًا مِّنَ الْكِتَابِ يُؤْمِنُونَ بِالْكِتَابِ وَأَلْبَسُوا

This passage refers to some of the bad attitudes of the Jews and their envy of the Prophet (ﷺ) and the believers. The bad attitude and evil inclinations prompted them to give up belief in Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ) and replace it with belief in jibt and ṭāghoot, which refers to believing in worship of anything other than Allah or ruling according to a system other than Islamic Sharia.

<sup>9</sup> Jibt and ṭāghoot: these words may refer to everything that is worshipped instead of or alongside Allah, whether it is an idol, a stone, a grave, a devil or a human being; they may also refer to sorcery or witchcraft.

That includes magic, sorcery, worship of anything other than Allah, and obedience to the Shayṭān. All of that comes under the heading of jibt and ṭāghoot. Similarly, their disbelief and envy prompted them to prefer the way of those who disbelieve in Allah – the idol worshippers – to the path of the believers.

﴿and they say to the disbelievers﴾ that is, to appease them and flatter them, and out of hatred towards faith ﴿that they are more rightly guided than the believers as to the way﴾ that is, as to the path they follow. How foolish and stubborn they are, and how lacking in reason!

How could they follow this blameworthy path?

Do they think that this will be acceptable to any wise person or even that it would convince any ignorant person?

How could anyone prefer a religion based on idol worship and on the prohibition of good things and the allowing of evil and prohibited things, a religion that spreads injustice among people, regards the Creator as equal to created beings, and promotes disbelief in Allah and His messages and Books, over a religion that is based on worship of the Most Merciful and sincerity towards Allah in private and in public; rejection of anything that is worshipped besides Him, such as idols, rivals and liars; upholding ties of kinship; showing kindness to all of creation, including animals; establishing equity and fairness among people; prohibition of everything that is evil and unjust; and being honest in all words and deeds? Can this be anything but sheer insanity?

The one who has this preference is either one of the most ignorant of people and the most lacking in reason, or he is one of the most rebellious and stubborn in rejection of the truth.

These are the facts of the matter; hence Allah (ﷻ) says concerning them: ﴿Those are the ones whom Allah has cursed﴾ that is, He has expelled them from His mercy and sent His punishment upon them.

﴿and whomever Allah curses, you will not find any helper for him﴾ that is, anyone to take care of him, be in charge of his affairs and protect him from harm. This is the utmost loss.

﴿Or do they have a share in dominion?﴾ Such that they could give precedence to some over others, as they wish, on the basis of mere whims and desires. In that case they would be partners with Allah in running the affairs of His dominion. If they were like that, they would be miserly and stingy in the worst manner. Hence Allah says: ﴿Even if [that were so], they would not give people as much as the speck on a date stone﴾ that is, they would not give them anything, not even a little. This is a description of their extreme miserliness, assuming that they had a share in the dominion of Allah. This is said by way of a question to which the answer is clear, as it is well established in everyone's mind that they have no such share.

﴿Or do they envy [other] people for what Allah has given them of His bounty?﴾ Is the motive for saying what they say their belief that they are partners with Allah and thus they give preference to whomever they will? Or is their motive envy of the Messenger (ﷺ) and the believers for what Allah has given them of His bounty, although His bestowal of that bounty is nothing out of the ordinary? ﴿But We gave the family of Ibrâheem the scripture and wisdom, and gave them a great kingdom﴾. This refers to what Allah bestowed upon Ibrâheem and his descendants of prophethood, scripture and kingship that He bestowed upon some of His Prophets, such as Dâwood and Sulaymân, and His blessing is still bestowed upon His believing slaves. So how could they resent His bestowal of prophethood, support and power upon Muhammad (ﷺ), the best of creation, the greatest, the one who knew Allah the most and feared Him the most?

﴿Some of them believed in him﴾ that is, in Muhammad (ﷺ), and thus attained happiness in this world and success in the hereafter

﴿and some of them turned away from him﴾ out of stubbornness, resentment and envy; thus they were afflicted with suffering and calamities in this world, as a result of some of their sins.

﴿[For (them)] hell will suffice as a raging fire﴾ – it will rage around the one who disbelieves in Allah and denies the prophethood of His Prophets, be they Jews, Christians or other disbelievers.

Hence Allah says: ﴿[As for] those who reject Our revelations, We will cast them into fire﴾ which burns intensely and is extremely hot. ﴿as often as their skins are burnt through, We will replace them with fresh skins, so that they may continue to taste the punishment﴾ that is in order to make their pain and suffering reach a high level; as their disbelief and stubbornness occurred repeatedly until they became second nature to them, the punishment will be repeated accordingly, as a fair recompense. Hence Allah says: ﴿Verily, Allah is Almighty, Most Wise﴾ that is, He has great power and wisdom in His creation and command, reward and punishment.

﴿But [as for] those who believe﴾ in Allah, and in what they are obliged to believe

﴿and do righteous deeds﴾ both obligatory and encouraged (mustahabb)

﴿We will admit them to gardens through which rivers flow, to abide therein forever. There they will have pure spouses﴾ that is, they are free of bad attitudes and bad conduct and whatever may be found in the women of this world of impurity and defects

﴿and We shall admit them to cool refreshing shade﴾.

﴿إِنَّ اللَّهَ يَأْمُرُكُمْ أَنْ تُؤَدُّوا الْأَمَانَاتِ إِلَىٰ أَهْلِهَا وَإِذَا حَكَمْتُمْ بَيْنَ النَّاسِ أَنْ تَحْكُمُوا بِالْعَدْلِ إِنَّ اللَّهَ نِعِمَّا يَعِظُكُمْ بِهِ إِنَّ اللَّهَ كَانَ سَمِيعًا بَصِيرًا﴾ ﴿٥٨﴾ يَأْتِيهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا أَطِيعُوا اللَّهَ

وَأَطِيعُوا الرَّسُولَ وَأُولَى الْأَمْرِ مِنْكُمْ فَإِنْ تَنَازَعْتُمْ فِي شَيْءٍ فَرُدُّوهُ إِلَى اللَّهِ وَالرَّسُولِ إِنْ كُنْتُمْ تُؤْمِنُونَ بِاللَّهِ وَالْيَوْمِ الْآخِرِ ذَلِكَ خَيْرٌ وَأَحْسَنُ تَأْوِيلًا ﴿٥٨﴾ (سورة النساء: ٥٨-٥٩)

- 4:58. Verily Allah commands you to render back trusts to those to whom they are due, and when you judge between people, to judge with justice. How excellent is the exhortation Allah gives you! Verily Allah is All-Hearing, All-Seeing.
- 4:59. O you who believe, obey Allah, and obey the Messenger, and those of you who are in authority. If you are in dispute over any matter, refer it to Allah and His Messenger, if you [truly] believe in Allah and the Last Day; that is better and more seemly in the end.

What is meant by «trusts» is anything with which a person is entrusted and enjoined to take care of it. Allah instructs His slaves to render back those trusts, that is, to fulfil them completely and faithfully, and not to detract from them in any way or delay their return. These trusts include positions of authority, wealth and property, secrets, and matters which no one sees except Allah.

The fuqahâ' have stated that whoever is entrusted with something is obliged to protect it by keeping it in a place where such things are usually kept. They said that this is because it is not possible to fulfil that trust and return that thing when required except by keeping it safe; hence doing so is obligatory.

The phrase «to those to whom they are due» indicates that the thing entrusted should not be given to anyone other than the one who entrusted it to him, and his appointed deputy is of the same standing as him. If he gives it to someone other than its rightful owner then he is not being honest with regard to that with which he was entrusted. «and when you judge between people, to judge with justice» – this includes judging between them in cases of blood (murder or injury), wealth or property, and honour, whether the matter is great or small, and whether the people involved are relatives or otherwise, righteous or evil, friends or enemies. What is meant by the justice with which Allah enjoins us to judge is that which He has prescribed on the lips of His Messenger (ﷺ) of limits and rulings. This requires knowledge of the principles of justice in order to judge thereby. Because these are good and just commands, Allah says: ﴿How excellent is the exhortation Allah gives you! Verily Allah is All-Hearing, All-Seeing﴾. Here Allah is praising His commands and prohibitions, because they bring benefits and ward off harm, both in this world and in the hereafter, for the One Who prescribed them is the All-Hearing, All-Seeing, from Whom nothing is hidden, and He knows what is in the best interests of His slaves better than they do.

Then Allah instructs us to obey Him and to obey His Messenger (ﷺ), by doing that which they command, doing what is obligatory and encouraged, and avoiding that which they prohibit. He also instructs us to obey those in authority, such as rulers, governors and scholars, because people's religious and worldly affairs cannot be put in order except by obeying those who are in authority, in obedience to Allah and seeking that which is with Him. But that is on condition that they do not enjoin disobedience to Allah; if they do so, then there should not be any obedience to any created being if it involves disobedience towards the Creator. Perhaps this is the reason why the verb ('obey') is not repeated with regard to those who are in authority, but it is mentioned with regard to the Messenger (ﷺ). That is because the Messenger (ﷺ) only enjoins obedience to Allah, and whoever obeys him has obeyed Allah; but when it comes to those who are in authority, the command to obey them is stipulated on condition that it does not involve any sin.

Then Allah instructs us to refer anything concerning which people dispute, of major or minor matters of religion, to Allah and to His Messenger (ﷺ); in other words, to the Book of Allah and the Sunnah of His Messenger (ﷺ), for in them are final, decisive answers to all matters of dispute, either in a clear and specific text, or on the basis of the general meaning of the text, or on the basis of a hint or indication, or of a concept or a general principle to which analogy may be made for similar cases. That is because the Book of Allah and the Sunnah of His Messenger (ﷺ) form the basis of the religion and faith cannot be sound unless it is based on both. Hence referring to both is a condition of faith, and this is why Allah says «if you [truly] believe in Allah and the Last Day». This indicates that whoever does not refer to them concerning controversial matters is not really a believer; rather he is a believer in laghoot, as mentioned in the following verse.

«that», namely referring to Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ) «is better and more seemly in the end», because the ruling of Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ) is the best and most just of rulings, and is in the best interests of people in their religious and worldly affairs and in the hereafter.

﴿أَلَمْ تَرَ إِلَى الَّذِينَ يَزْعُمُونَ أَنَّهُمْ ءَامَنُوا بِمَا أُنْزِلَ إِلَيْكَ وَمَا أُنْزِلَ مِنْ قَبْلِكَ يُرِيدُونَ أَنْ يَتَحَاكَمُوا إِلَى الطَّاغُوتِ وَقَدْ أُمِرُوا أَنْ يَكْفُرُوا بِهِ وَيُرِيدُ الشَّيْطَانُ أَنْ يُضِلَّهُمْ ضَلَالًا بَعِيدًا ﴿٦٠﴾ وَإِذَا قِيلَ لَهُمْ تَعَالَوْا إِلَى مَا أَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ وَإِلَى الرَّسُولِ رَأَيْتَ الْمُنْتَفِقِينَ يُصَدُّونَ عَنْكَ صُدُودًا ﴿٦١﴾ فَكَيْفَ إِذَا أَحْبَبْتَهُمْ مُعْصِيَةً بِمَا قَدَّمْتَ أَيْدِيهِمْ ثُمَّ جَاءُوكَ يَخْلِفُونَ بِاللَّهِ إِنْ أَرَدْنَا إِلَّا إِحْسَانًا وَتَوْفِيقًا ﴿٦٢﴾ أُولَئِكَ الَّذِينَ يَعْلَمُ اللَّهُ مَا فِي قُلُوبِهِمْ فَأَعْرِضْ عَنْهُمْ وَعِظْهُمْ وَقُلْ لَهُمْ فِي أَنْفُسِهِمْ قَوْلًا بَلِيغًا ﴿٦٣﴾﴾ (سورة النساء: ٦٠-٦٣)

- 4:60. Have you not seen those who claim to believe in the Revelation sent down to you [O Muhammad], and in that which was sent down before your time, yet they want to refer for judgement to tāghoot,<sup>10</sup> even though they were commanded to reject it? Shayṭān wants to lead them far astray.

4:61. When it is said to them: Come to the Revelation that Allah has sent down, and to the Messenger, – you see the hypocrites turn away from you with aversion.

4:62. How will it be, if calamity befalls them because of the deeds which their own hands have sent forth? Then they will come to you, swearing by Allah: We only wanted to do good and bring about reconciliation!

4:63. Those are the ones of whom Allah knows what is in their hearts; so turn away from them, but admonish them, and speak to them a word to reach their very souls.

Here Allah tells His slaves how strange the situation of the hypocrites is, «those who claim» to believe in that which the Messenger (ﷺ) has brought and what came before it, yet despite that, «they want to refer for judgement to tāghoot». This word refers to anyone who judges by something other than that which Allah has revealed. This is at the time when «they were commanded to reject it», so how can this be reconciled with faith? For faith requires submission to the laws of Allah and acceptance of His ruling in all affairs. Hence the one who claims to be a believer, but chooses the ruling of tāghoot over the ruling of Allah, is lying. This is one of the ways in which the Shayṭān misguides them; hence Allah says: «Shayṭān wants to lead them far astray» from the truth.

«How» will the situation of these misguided ones be «if calamity befalls them because of the deeds which their own hands have sent forth», namely their sins, which include referring for judgement to tāghoot?

<sup>10</sup> In this context, tāghoot refers to any set of laws or legislation other than Islamic Sharia.

«Then they will come to you» apologising for what they have done, saying: «We only wanted to do good and bring about reconciliation!» that is, our only intention in doing that was to be kind to both disputing parties and bring about reconciliation between them. But they are lying, because the best of good deeds is to refer to Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ) for judgement.

«...But who could be better in judgement than Allah, for a people who are certain in faith?» (al-Mā'idah 5: 50)

Hence Allah says: «Those are the ones of whom Allah knows what is in their hearts» of hypocrisy and bad intentions
 «so turn away from them» that is, do not worry about them and do not react to anything that they do or say
 «but admonish them» that is, explain to them the ruling of Allah (ﷻ), encourage them to submit to Him and warn them against not doing so
 «and speak to them a word to reach their very souls» that is, advise them in private, between you and them, for that is more likely to succeed, and be extremely emphatic in rebuking them and stopping them from what they are doing. This indicates that the one who commits sins, even if he is to be overlooked publicly, is to be admonished privately in the sternest terms, in whatever manner is thought most likely to achieve the goal.

(٦٥-٦٤)

- 4:64. We did not send any Messenger except to be obeyed by Allah's leave. If only they had, when they wronged themselves, come to you and asked Allah for forgiveness, and the Messenger had asked for forgiveness for them, they would have found Allah indeed Accepting of repentance, Most Merciful.
- 4:65. But no, by your Lord, they will not [truly] believe until they make you [O Muhammad] judge in all disputes between them, then find in their hearts no reservations about your verdicts, but accept them wholeheartedly.

Here Allah is making a statement which includes the command and encouragement to obey the Messenger (ﷺ), and explains that the purpose behind sending the Messengers was that they should be obeyed; those to whom they were sent should obey them in all that they enjoin and forbid, and respect them as one who obeys respects the one whom he obeys.

This is confirmation of the infallibility of the Messengers with regard to that which they convey from Allah, and in all that they enjoin and forbid, because Allah has enjoined obedience to them in general terms. Were it not for the fact that they are infallible and do not enjoin anything wrong, obedience to them would not have been prescribed in general terms.

«{by Allah's leave}» that is, the obedience of the one who obeys comes about by the will and decree of Allah. This is an affirmation of the divine will and decree, and encouragement to seek the help of Allah. It also tells us that no one can obey the Messenger (ﷺ) unless Allah helps him.

Then Allah tells us of His great generosity and munificence, and His call to the one who commits evil deeds to admit it, repent and seek the forgiveness of Allah.

«{If only they had, when they wronged themselves, come to you}» that is, admitting their sins with humility

ﷺ and asked Allah for forgiveness, and the Messenger had asked for forgiveness for them, they would have found Allah indeed Accepting of repentance, Most Merciful ﴿٦٥﴾ that is, He would have accepted their repentance and forgiven their wrongdoing; He would have shown them mercy by accepting their repentance, enabling them to repent and rewarding them for doing so. This coming to the Messenger (ﷺ) was applicable only during his lifetime, because this is what is indicated by the context; the Messenger's prayers for forgiveness could only happen as long as he was alive. After his death he is not to be asked for anything; in fact that comes under the heading of ascribing a partner to Allah (shirk).

Then Allah swears by His divine Self that they will not be believers until they refer for judgement to His Messenger (ﷺ) in all their disputes, that is in all matters concerning which there is disagreement. This is unlike matters concerning which there is consensus, because consensus can only be based on Qur'an and Sunnah. Moreover, referring matters to the judgement of Sharia cannot be sufficient until there are no reservations whatsoever in their hearts and they refer to it in a state of full submission. Furthermore, that cannot be sufficient until they accept His ruling wholeheartedly, willingly and with submission both outward and inward.

Referring to the rule of Sharia reflects the soundness of one's commitment to Islam; having no reservations about it reflects the soundness of one's faith; and acceptance of it reflects the soundness of one's ihsân. Whoever attains soundness in all these matters, his commitment to religion is sound in all aspects; whoever turns away from this ruling, not accepting it, is a disbeliever; and whoever turns away even though he accepts it in principle, comes under the same rulings as other sinners like him.

﴿وَلَوْ أَنَّا كَتَبْنَا عَلَيْهِمْ أَنْ اقْتُلُوا أَنْفُسَكُمْ أَوْ أَخْرِجُوا مِنْ دِيَارِكُمْ مَا فَعَلُوهُ إِلَّا قَلِيلٌ مِنْهُمْ وَلَوْ أَنَّهُمْ فَعَلُوا مَا يُوعَظُونَ لَكَانَ خَيْرًا لَهُمْ وَأَشَدَّ تَثْبِيثًا ۖ وَإِذَا لَا تَأْتِيَنَّهُمْ مِنْ لَدُنَّا أَجْرًا عَظِيمًا ۖ وَلَهْدَيْنَهُمْ صِرَاطًا مُسْتَقِيمًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ٦٦-٦٨)

- 4:66. If We were to instruct them: Kill yourselves, or: Leave your homes, they would not do so, except for a few of them. But if they did what they were instructed to do, it would indeed be better for them, and would increase them in steadfastness;
- 4:67. And then We would indeed grant them an immense reward of Our own;
- 4:68. and We would indeed guide them to a straight path.

Here Allah tells us that if He were to instruct them to do something that people find very difficult, such as killing themselves or leaving their homes, none would do it except a few of them. Therefore they should be grateful to Him that what He has instructed them to do is easy for everyone, and is not difficult to do.

This indicates that one should think of the hardships and difficulties that He could have put him through, so that he will realise that the enjoined acts of worship are in fact very easy, and this will increase him in praise and gratitude to his Lord.

Then Allah states that they should do what they are exhorted to do, which is what is enjoined as a regular practice at various times, focusing on it properly and doing their best to carry it out perfectly, not letting themselves be distracted by other issues that are out of reach and are not expected of them. So each individual should focus on what he is expected to do here and now, and strive to do it perfectly; then gradually he will advance until he reaches the level of knowledge and action that is decreed for him in both his spiritual and worldly affairs. This is in contrast to the one who aspires to a level that is beyond his reach and that is not yet enjoined upon him, for he will hardly be able to reach that level because he lacks focus, is lazy and does not have the necessary energy. Then Allah tells us that four good consequences will result from doing what they are instructed to do:

- 1- Attaining goodness or that which is better: ﴿it would indeed be better for them﴾ that is, then they would be among the people who acquire those good qualities by doing the good deeds that they are instructed to do, by means of which they will avoid the qualities of bad people, because the affirmation of a thing is the negation of its opposite.
- 2- Becoming steadfast and increasing in steadfastness. Allah makes those who believe steadfast because of the faith they have, which prompts them to do what they are instructed and exhorted to do. Thus He makes them steadfast in the life of this world, when there arise confusion and discouragement regarding the commands and prohibitions, as well as calamities. Hence they become steadfast and are helped and guided to do that which is enjoined and to refrain from that which is forbidden, which is what is required of them. And at times of calamity, which it is hard for people to go through, they will be guided and helped to be steadfast and patient, and to accept (the divine decree) or show gratitude.

Help from Allah will come down to enable them achieve that and to make them steadfast in adhering to their religion, at the time of death, and in the grave.

Moreover, the one who does that which is enjoined upon him keeps training himself to adhere to the teachings of Islam until that becomes second nature to him, and it becomes something very dear to him. That will also help him to be steadfast in doing acts of worship and obedience.

- 3- ﴿And then We would indeed grant them an immense reward of Our own﴾ that is, in this world and in the hereafter, both spiritual and physical, as well as the everlasting delights of paradise, which no eye has ever seen, no ear has heard, and it has not crossed the mind of any human.
- 4- Guidance to the straight path: this is a general statement after having mentioned something specific, because of the virtue of guidance to the straight path, which includes knowledge of the truth, love thereof, giving it precedence and acting upon it. All happiness and success depends on that, so the one who is guided to the straight path has been helped to do all that is good and has been protected from every kind of evil.

﴿وَمَنْ يُطِيعِ اللَّهَ وَالرَّسُولَ فَأُولَٰئِكَ مَعَ الَّذِينَ أَنْعَمَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِمْ مِنَ النَّبِيِّينَ وَالصِّدِّيقِينَ وَالشُّهَدَاءِ وَالصَّالِحِينَ وَحَسُنَ أُولَٰئِكَ رَفِيقًا ۚ﴾ (٦٩) ذَلِكَ الْفَضْلُ مِنَ اللَّهِ وَكَفَىٰ بِاللَّهِ عَلِيمًا ﴿٧٠﴾ (سورة النساء: ٦٩-٧٠)

- 4:69. Those who obey Allah and the Messenger are the ones who will be with those whom Allah has blessed of the Prophets, the strong and true in faith, the martyrs and the righteous; what excellent companions these are!
- 4:70. That grace is from Allah; and sufficient is Allah as Knower.<sup>11</sup>

That is, everyone – male or female, young or old – who obeys Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ), according to his situation and what is required of him, these ﴿are the ones who will be with those whom Allah has blessed﴾. This refers to the great blessing which leads to perfection, success and happiness

<sup>11</sup> As He knows who is deserving of reward and the extent thereof.

«of the Prophets» to whom Allah gave precedence by means of His revelation and by sending them as Messengers to His creation to call them to Allah (ﷻ).

«the strong and true in faith» – they are the ones who reached the highest level of belief in that which the Messengers brought; they recognised the truth and were certain of it, and they acted in accordance with it in word and deed, in attitude, and in calling others to Allah
 «the martyrs» who fought in Allah's cause so that the word of Allah would be supreme, and were killed

«and the righteous» – those who were righteous both outwardly and inwardly, thus their deeds became righteous. Anyone who obeys Allah (ﷻ) will be with these people and one of their number

«what excellent companions these are!» And how excellent it will be to be with them in the gardens of bliss, and to have the joy of their company, in nearness to the Lord of the worlds.

«That grace» which they attain «is from Allah», for He is the One Who guided them to that, helped them to attain it, and granted them reward far greater than their deeds deserve

«and sufficient is Allah as Knower» – He knows the condition of His slaves and who among them is deserving of this great reward because of the righteous deeds that he did with all sincerity.

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا خُذُوا حِذْرَكُمْ فَانْفِرُوا ثُبَاتٍ أَوْ اَنْفِرُوا جَمِيعًا ۖ وَإِنَّ مِنْكُمْ لَمَنْ لَّيَبْطُلَنَّ فَإِنْ أَصَابَكُمْ مُصِيبَةٌ قَالْ قَدْ أَنْعَمَ اللَّهُ عَلَيَّ إِذْ لَمْ أَكُنْ مَعَهُمْ شَهِيدًا ۚ وَلَئِنْ أَصَابَكُمْ فَضْلٌ مِّنَ اللَّهِ لَيَقُولَنَّ كَأَن لَّمْ تَكُنْ بَيْنَكُمْ وَبَيْنَهُ مَوَدَّةٌ يَلْبِسَنِي كُنْتُ مَعَهُمْ فَأَفُوزَ فَوْزًا عَظِيمًا ۖ﴾ ﴿٧٩﴾ ﴿فَلْيَقْتَتِلْ فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ﴾

الَّذِينَ يَشْرُونَ الْحَيَاةَ الدُّنْيَا بِالْآخِرَةِ وَمَنْ يُقَاتِلْ فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ فَيُقْتَلْ
 أَوْ يَغْلِبْ فَسَوْفَ نُؤْتِيهِ أَجْرًا عَظِيمًا ﴿٧١﴾ (سورة النساء: ٧١-٧٤)

- 4:71. O you who believe! Take your precautions, then either go forth [on military expeditions] in small groups or go forth all together.
- 4:72. There is certainly among you he who would lag behind [and not join the expedition], then if calamity strikes you, he will say: Allah has blessed me in that I was not present with them.
- 4:73. And if some bounty comes to you from Allah, he will certainly say – as if there had never been any friendship between you and him: Would that I had been with them; I would have made great gains!
- 4:74. Let those fight in the cause of Allah who sell the life of this world for the hereafter. For the one who fights in the cause of Allah, whether he is slain or attains victory, soon We will grant him an immense reward.

Here Allah (ﷻ) instructs His believing slaves to take precautions against their disbelieving enemies. That includes using all means that will help them to fight them and ward off their attacks, such as: constructing fortifications and ditches; learning how to shoot and ride; learning other skills that will help to achieve that; learning all means of finding out about their comings and goings and their plans; and mobilising in Allah's cause.

Hence He says: ﴿then either go forth [on military expeditions] in small groups﴾ that is, separately, so that one company or battalion goes out and others stay behind ﴿or go forth all together﴾. All of that is to be determined according to what will best achieve the purpose, lead to the defeat of the enemy and support the Muslims and their religion. This is like the verse in which Allah (ﷻ) says:

(al-Anfâl 8: 60)

Then He speaks of those who are weak in faith and reluctant to engage in jihad: ﴿There is certainly among you﴾, O believers, ﴿he who would lag behind﴾ this refers to those who lack energy and motivation to engage in jihad in Allah's cause because of weakness, lethargy and cowardice. This is the correct interpretation.

It was also suggested that the Arabic wording of this phrase may mean that they cause others to lag behind; in other words, they discourage others from fighting. This refers to the hypocrites. However, the former view is more likely to be correct, for two reasons:

- 1- The phrase ﴿among you﴾; this is addressed to the believers.
- 2- In the following verse, Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿as if there had never been any friendship between you and him﴾. Allah has severed any bond of friendship between the disbelievers, both polytheists and hypocrites, and the believers. Moreover, this reflects reality, because the believers fall into two groups: (i) those who are sincere in their faith, whose sincerity stemmed from strong belief and was proven in jihad; and (ii) those who were weak, who had entered Islam but their faith was weak and they were not strong enough to engage in jihad, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿The Bedouin say: We believe. Say: You have not [yet] believed. Rather you should say: We have submitted [in Islam], for faith has not yet entered your hearts. But if you obey Allah and His Messenger, He will not detract from the reward of any of your deeds...﴾ (al-Hujurât 49: 14)

Then He mentions the aims of these people who are reluctant to join in jihad and what they care about most; their main aim is worldly interests and accumulation of wealth.

﴿then if calamity﴾ namely defeat and being slain, and the enemy gaining the upper hand in some situations, for reasons known only to Allah ﴿strikes you, he﴾ that is, the one who lags behind, ﴿will say: Allah has blessed me in that I was not present with them﴾. Because of their lack of reason and weakness of faith, they think that staying behind and not taking part in the jihad in which this calamity occurred is a blessing; they do not realise that the true blessing is being guided and helped to do this great act of obedience by means of which faith is strengthened, and the individual is saved from punishment and loss, attains great reward and earns the good pleasure of Allah, the Most Generous, the Bestower. As for lagging behind, even if it does bring a little ease, it will be followed by lengthy toil and great pain, and will lead to missing out on that which is attained by those who engage in jihad.

﴿And if some bounty comes to you from Allah﴾ that is, victory and booty

﴿he will certainly say – as if there had never been any friendship between you and him: Would that I had been with them; I would have made great gains!﴾ That is, he will wish that he had been present so that he could have gotten some of the booty; he has no other desire or aim apart from that. It is as if he was not one of you, O believers, and between you and him there is no friendship based on faith, the nature of which dictates that the believers should be united in all that is in their best interests and will ward off harm from them; they rejoice when their aims are attained, even if that happens at the hands of other brothers in faith, and they feel pain when that does not happen; they strive all together in any effort that is aimed at achieving their interests, both religious and worldly. But this one who wishes only for worldly gain does not have that spirit of faith.

By His kindness towards His slaves, Allah does not cut them off completely from His mercy and He does not close that door to them; rather in the case of one who behaves in a manner that is not befitting, He calls him to make up for his shortcomings and mend his ways. Hence He instructed these people to be sincere and to go out and strive in His cause: ﴿Let those fight in the cause of Allah who sell the life of this world for the hereafter﴾. This is one of the opinions concerning the meaning of this verse, and it is the soundest opinion.

It was also suggested that what is meant is: let the believers whose faith is complete and sincere strive in the cause of Allah, namely ﴿those ... who sell the life of this world for the hereafter﴾ that is, they sell this world and turn away from it, seeking the hereafter instead.

These are the ones to whom these words are addressed, because they are the ones who have prepared themselves and are ready to strive in jihad against the enemy, because of the perfect faith which prompts them to do that.

As for those who lag behind, no one should worry about them, whether they go out or stay behind, because this is like the verse in which Allah says:

﴿Say: Believe in it, or do not believe. Verily, those who were given knowledge before it,<sup>12</sup> when it is recited to them, fall down on their faces in prostration.﴾ (al-Isrā' 17: 107)

﴿...If these people [the Makkans] disbelieve therein, then We have entrusted it to a people who do not disbelieve therein.﴾ (al-An'ām 6: 89)

﴿For the one who fights in the cause of Allah﴾, on condition that it is a type of jihad that is enjoined by Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ), and that the individual's intention is sincerely for the sake of Allah alone, seeking His Countenance,

﴿whether he is slain or attains victory, soon We will grant him an immense reward﴾ namely increased faith and religious commitment, booty, being highly spoken of, and the reward of those who strive in jihad in Allah's cause that Allah has prepared for them in paradise, which no eye has seen, no ear has heard, nor has it crossed the mind of man.

﴿وَمَا لَكُمْ لَا تُقَاتِلُونَ فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ وَالْمُسْتَضْعَفِينَ مِنَ الرِّجَالِ وَالنِّسَاءِ وَالْوِلْدَانِ الَّذِينَ يَقُولُونَ رَبَّنَا أَخْرِجْنَا مِنْ هَذِهِ الْقَرْيَةِ الظَّالِمِ أَهْلُهَا وَاجْعَل لَّنَا مِن لَّدُنكَ وَلِيًّا وَاجْعَل لَّنَا مِن لَّدُنكَ نَصِيرًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ٧٥)

4:75. And why should you not fight in the cause of Allah and for the oppressed men, women, and children who say: Our Lord! Bring us forth from this city, whose people are wrongdoers; give us by Your grace a protector and give us by Your grace a helper?

Here Allah encourages His believing slaves to fight in His cause and informs them that this is an individual obligation for them, and He criticises heavily those among them who refrain from doing that, as He says ﴿And why should you not fight in the cause of Allah﴾ at the time when the oppressed men, women and children, who have no means in their power and do not know where to go (cf. 4: 98), have suffered the greatest oppression from their enemies as a result.

So they (the oppressed believers) are calling upon Allah to bring them out of this city whose people are wronging themselves by disbelieving and ascribing partners to Allah, and they are wronging the believers by persecuting them, trying to bar them from the path of Allah, and preventing them from calling others to their religion and migrating. And they are calling upon Allah to give them a supporter and helper, to save them from this city whose people are wrongdoers. Because of this situation, their jihad is one of fighting and defending their families, children and relatives; it is not a jihad initiated by the Muslims for the purpose of defeating the disbelievers. Even though there is great virtue in that, and the one who stays behind from that jihad is to be rebuked in the strongest terms, jihad that is aimed at saving the oppressed is greater in reward and is more beneficial, because it is warding off the enemy.

﴿الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا يُقَاتِلُونَ فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ وَالَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا يُقَاتِلُونَ فِي سَبِيلِ الطَّاغُوتِ فَقَاتِلُوا
أَوْلِيَاءَ الشَّيْطَانِ إِنَّ كَيْدَ الشَّيْطَانِ كَانَ ضَعِيفًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ٧٦)

4:76. Those who believe fight in the cause of Allah, and those who disbelieve fight in the cause of ṭāghoot.<sup>13</sup> So fight against the allies of Shayṭān; feeble indeed is the scheming of Shayṭān.

Here Allah tells us that the believers fight in His cause, ﴿and those who disbelieve fight in the cause of ṭāghoot﴾ that is, the Shayṭān. We learn a number of lessons from this:

- The individual's participation in jihad is commensurate with his level of faith in Allah, sincerity and commitment. Jihad in Allah's cause is one of the signs, requirements and results of faith, just as fighting in the cause of ṭāghoot is one of the branches and results of disbelief.
- The one who fights in Allah's cause is expected to show patience and perseverance to a degree that others do not have. If the supporters of Shayṭān can persevere with patience and fight, even though they follow falsehood, then it is more appropriate that the people of truth should do that, as Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿If you are suffering hardships, they are also suffering hardships; but you hope for something from Allah that they cannot hope for» (4: 104).

- The one who fights in Allah's cause is relying on a strong foundation, for he has truth on his side and he puts his trust in Allah. The one who is in a position of power and has a strong support is expected to persevere with patience and energy in a manner that is not expected of one who fights to defend falsehood that has no basis in reality and for which no good outcome can be expected. Hence Allah says: «So fight against the allies of Shayṭān; feeble indeed is the scheming of Shayṭān».

The word translated here as «scheming» refers to using hidden ways to harm the enemy. But no matter how far the scheming of the Shayṭān may go, it is ultimately weak, as it cannot stand up to anything of the truth or to the support of Allah for His believing slaves.

﴿أَلَمْ تَرَ إِلَى الَّذِينَ قِيلَ لَهُمْ كُفُّوا أَيْدِيَكُمْ وَأَقِيمُوا الصَّلَاةَ وَآتُوا الزَّكَاةَ فَلَمَّا كُتِبَ عَلَيْهِمُ الْقِتَالُ إِذَا فَرِيقٌ مِنْهُمْ يَخْشَوْنَ النَّاسَ كَخَشْيَةِ اللَّهِ أَوْ أَشَدَّ خَشْيَةً وَقَالُوا رَبَّنَا لِمَ كُتِبَ عَلَيْنَا الْقِتَالُ لَوْلَا أَخَّرْتَنَا إِلَى أَجَلٍ قَرِيبٍ قُلْ مَتَى الدُّنْيَا قَلِيلٌ وَالْآخِرَةُ خَيْرٌ لِمَنِ اتَّقَى وَلَا يُظْلَمُونَ فَتِيلًا ﴿٧٧﴾ أَيْنَمَا تَكُونُوا يُدْرِكَكُمُ الْمَوْتُ وَلَوْ كُنْتُمْ فِي بُرُوجٍ مُشِيدَةٍ...﴾ (سورة

- 4:77. Have you not seen those to whom it was said: Restrain your hands [from fighting], establish regular prayer and give zakāh? But then when fighting was ordained for them, some of them feared men as much as they feared Allah or even more. They said: Our Lord! Why have You ordained fighting for us? Could You not have given us a brief respite? Say: The enjoyment of this world is short-lived; the hereafter will be better for one who fears Allah. You will never be wronged even by as much as the thread in the groove of a date stone.

4:78. Wherever you are, death will overtake you, even if you are in fortified towers!...

When the Muslims were in Makkah, they were instructed to pray and give zakâh in the sense of helping the poor, not the well-known zakâh that becomes due when a minimum threshold of wealth is reached and its conditions are met; that zakâh was not enjoined until after they migrated to Madinah. Also, they were not instructed to fight in jihâd against their enemies, for a number of reasons:

- By His wisdom, Allah (ﷻ) prescribed laws and acts of worship for His slaves in a way that would not be difficult for them; so He started with the most important then the next most important, and the easiest then the next easiest.
- If He had enjoined them to fight when they were few in number and lacking resources, whilst their enemies were numerous, that would have led to the destruction of Islam. Therefore the greatest interest of Islam was given precedence over lesser interests; and there were others reasons.

Some of the believers wished that fighting would be enjoined upon them at that stage, but it was not appropriate at that time. Rather what was appropriate was to do what they were instructed to do at that time, such as affirming the oneness of Allah, praying, giving charity and so on, as Allah (ﷻ) said: ﴿But if they did what they were instructed to do, it would indeed be better for them, and would increase them in steadfastness﴾ (4: 66).

Then when they migrated to Madinah and Islam grew stronger, fighting was prescribed for them at the appropriate time.

Some of those who had wanted to hasten the matter of fighting before that said, out of fear of the people and weakness: ﴿Our Lord! Why have You ordained fighting for us?﴾. This was an expression of their resentment towards the ruling of jihad and their objection to Allah. It is as if they should have done the opposite of that, namely submitting to the command of Allah and showing patience in heeding His commands. But (when it was prescribed) they did the opposite of what was required of them and said: «Could You not have given us a brief respite?». That is, why was the command to fight not delayed until some other time? This is the attitude of many people who are not mature in their way of thinking and tend to be hasty, but are most likely not to be able to show patience when the time comes and are unable to shoulder responsibility; rather they are lacking in patience.

Then Allah admonishes them not to adopt such an attitude which leads to them staying behind and not joining the fight: «Say: The enjoyment of this world is short-lived; the hereafter will be better for one who fears Allah» that is, the time for enjoying pleasure and ease in this world is short; putting up with some difficulty in doing acts of worship and obedience to Allah for a short time is something that is easy to do, because if you know that the difficulty you are facing will not last for long, that makes it easier to bear. So how about if you compare this world and the hereafter? For the hereafter is better than this world in and of itself, and with regard to its pleasures and how long it will endure.

In and of itself, it is as the Prophet (ﷺ) said in the sound hadith: «A space the size of a whip in paradise is better than this world and everything in it.» (Bukhari and Muslim)

In and of itself, it is pure and free of any annoyance. Whatever pleasure of any kind that may cross one's mind, the pleasure of paradise is superior to it, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

«No soul knows what is kept hidden in store for them of delight as a reward for what they used to do.» (as-Sajdah 32: 17)

And Allah said on the lips of His Prophet (ﷺ):

«I have prepared for My righteous slaves that which no eye has seen, no ear has heard, nor has it ever crossed the mind of man.» (Bukhari and Muslim)

As for the pleasures of this world, they are mixed with all kinds of annoyances and troubles which, if you compare the pleasures of this world with what accompanies them of pain, worry and distress, you will find that the distress outweighs the pleasure.

With regard to time, this world will come to an end and man's lifespan – in comparison to this world – is very short. But the hereafter is eternal bliss in which its people will abide forever. If the wise person thinks about these two realms and envisages them properly, he will realise which should take precedence, and which he should seek and strive for. Hence Allah says: «the hereafter will be better for one who fears Allah» that is, one who avoids ascribing partners to Him and all other prohibited actions.

«You will never be wronged even by as much as the thread in the groove of a date stone» that is, what you did of striving for the hereafter you will find complete, with nothing missing from it.

Then Allah tells us that erring on the side of caution will not save you from what He has decreed, and that staying behind will not ward off any harm (that is decreed):

«Wherever you are, death will overtake you» that is, at any time and in any place

«even if you are in fortified towers» that is, strong fortresses and high places.

All of this is to encourage striving in jihad in Allah's cause, sometimes by highlighting its virtues and reward, sometimes by warning about the punishment for not doing it, sometimes by pointing out that those who stayed behind will not benefit from doing so, and sometimes by making it easy to do it.

- 4:78. ... If some good befalls them, they say: This is from Allah; but if misfortune befalls them, they say: This is from you [O Muhammad]. Say: All things are from Allah. But what is the matter with these people, that they can hardly understand a word?
- 4:79. Whatever good befalls you is from Allah; but whatever misfortune befalls you is from yourself. We have sent you [O Muhammad] to humankind as a Messenger. And sufficient is Allah as a witness.

Here Allah tells us about those who do not know, those who turn away from what the Messengers brought and oppose them: if something good comes to them, such as a good harvest, abundant wealth, many offspring and good health, they say: «This is from Allah». But if something bad befalls them, such as drought, poverty, sickness, or the death of their children and loved ones, they say: «This is from you [O Muhammad]» that is, because of that which you have brought us, O Muhammad (ﷺ).

They regarded the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) as 'inauspicious' or an 'evil omen', just as others of their ilk did with the previous Messengers of Allah. Allah tells us that the people of Pharaoh said to Moosâ:

﴿Whenever good fortune came their way, they said: This is our due. But when bad fortune befell them, they ascribed it to the evil auspices of Moosâ and those who were with him...﴾ (al-A'râf 7: 131)

The people of Şâlih said:

﴿... We regard you and those who are with you as an evil omen...﴾ (an-Naml 27: 47)

The people mentioned in Soorat Yâ Seen said to their Messengers:

﴿... We regard you as an evil omen. If you do not desist, we will surely stone you...﴾ (Yâ Seen 36: 18)

Because they shared a common disbelief, their words and deeds were similar. All those who attributed the occurrence of bad things or the disappearance of good things to that which the Messengers brought, or part of it, were included in this stern rebuke.

In response to them, Allah said: ﴿Say: All things﴾ both good and bad, ﴿are from Allah﴾ that is, they happen by His will and decree, and His power of creation.

﴿But what is the matter with these people﴾ that is those who uttered these false words

﴿that they can hardly understand a word?﴾ That is, they do not understand anything at all and they do not even come close to understanding it, or they only have a little understanding of it.

Whatever the case, this is a criticism and a rebuke addressed to them for their failure to understand what Allah and His Messenger say. That is because of their disbelief and turning away. This is implicit praise for the one who does understand what Allah and His Messenger say, and it is encouragement to do so and to look for means that will help to achieve that, such as focusing on their words and pondering them, and taking measures to understand them. If they had understood what Allah said, they would have realised that both good and bad, good deeds and bad deeds, all come about by the will and decree of Allah, and no one is excluded from that; the Messengers are not the cause of anything bad and neither is the message they brought, because they were sent for the good of people in this world and the hereafter, and for the good of their religious commitment.

﴿Whatever good befalls you﴾ in terms of both spiritual and worldly interests

﴿is from Allah﴾ it is He Who blesses with it and makes means of attaining it easy.

﴿but whatever misfortune befalls you﴾ in terms of both spiritual and worldly interests

﴿is from yourself﴾ that is, because of your sins and what you have earned, but what Allah forgives is far greater.

Allah (ﷻ) has opened the gates of kindness to His slaves, and He has commanded them to implement the means that will lead to His bounty and grace. He informs them that sins form an impediment to His grace, so if a person commits sins, he has no one to blame but himself, because he is preventing himself from attaining the bounty and grace of Allah.

Then Allah tells us of the universal nature of the message of His Messenger Muhammad (ﷺ):

﴿We have sent you [O Muhammad] to humankind as a Messenger. And sufficient is Allah as a witness﴾ that you are indeed the Messenger of Allah (ﷻ), because of what He has given you of His support, powerful miracles and clear proof. This is the greatest testimony of all, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿Say: Whose testimony carries the most weight? Say: It is Allah's; He is witness between me and you...﴾ (al-An'âm 6: 19)

Thus we realise that Allah (ﷻ) is perfect in knowledge, perfect in power, and great in wisdom; Allah supported His Messenger (ﷺ) and granted him great victories, by virtue of which we may be certain that he is the Messenger of Allah (ﷻ).

﴿مَنْ يُطِيعِ الرَّسُولَ فَقَدْ أَطَاعَ اللَّهَ ۖ وَمَنْ تَوَلَّىٰ فَمَا أَرْسَلْنَاكَ عَلَيْهِمْ حَفِظًا ۚ﴾
 ﴿٨٠﴾ وَيَقُولُونَ طَاعَةٌ فَإِذَا بَرَزُوا مِنْ عِنْدِكَ بَيَّتَ طَائِفَةٌ مِنْهُمْ غَيْرَ الَّذِي تَقُولُ
 وَاللَّهُ يَكْتُبُ مَا يُنِيسُونَ فَأَعْرِضْ عَنْهُمْ وَتَوَكَّلْ عَلَى اللَّهِ وَكَفَىٰ بِاللَّهِ وَكِيلًا ﴿٨١﴾ (سورة

النساء: ٨٠-٨١)

- 4:80. Whoever obeys the Messenger has obeyed Allah. But if any turn away, We have not sent you to be their keeper.
- 4:81. They profess obedience, but as soon as they leave you, some of them plot in secret something other than what you advocate. Allah records all their plots, so ignore them, and put your trust in Allah. And sufficient is Allah as a disposer of affairs.

That is, everyone who obeys the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) with regard to what he enjoins and what he prohibits «has obeyed Allah», because the Messenger (ﷺ) does not enjoin anything or forbid anything except in accordance with the commands, laws, inspiration and Revelation of Allah. This proves that the Messenger (ﷺ) is infallible, because Allah has enjoined obedience to him in all cases; were it not that he is infallible in all that he conveys from Allah, Allah would not have enjoined us to obey him in all cases and praised him for that.

This is one of the rights that are shared by Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ). There are three types of rights: rights of Allah (ﷻ) alone, which are not shared with any of His creation, namely worshipping Allah alone, turning to Him alone, and so on; rights which belong exclusively to the Messenger (ﷺ), such as respecting him, honouring him and helping him; and rights that are shared by both, such as believing in Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ), loving them both and obeying them both, as Allah mentioned in the verse:

﴿So that you [O people] may believe in Allah and His Messenger, and support and honour him, and glorify Allah morning and afternoon.﴾
(al-Fath 48: 9)

So whoever obeys the Messenger (ﷺ) has obeyed Allah, and he will have the reward that results from obedience to Allah.

﴿But if any turn away﴾ from obedience to Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ), he harms only himself and he does not harm Allah in the slightest
﴿We have not sent you to be their keeper﴾ that is, to record their deeds and condition; rather We have sent you to convey, explain and give sincere advice. You have done what was required of you and your reward is due from Allah, whether they are guided or not, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿So admonish [O Muhammad], for you are but sent to admonish; you have no power over them.﴾ (al-Ghāshiyah 88: 21-22)

It is essential that obedience to Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ) be both outward and inward, in the presence of the Prophet (ﷺ) and otherwise. If anyone makes an outward show of obedience and commitment in his presence, then when he is on his own or with others of his ilk, he fails to be obedient and does the opposite, then the outward obedience that he shows is of no benefit whatsoever, and he is more like those of whom Allah says: ﴿They profess obedience﴾ that is, they make an outward display of obedience when they are with you (O Prophet ﷺ),

﴿but as soon as they leave you﴾ that is, depart and go somewhere where no one can see them,

﴿some of them plot in secret something other than what you advocate﴾ that is, they plan in secret something contrary to obedience to you; in that case it can be nothing other than disobedience and sin.

﴿some of them plot in secret something other than what you advocate﴾ – these words indicate that what they have decided to do is something other than obedience, because they are planning in secret to do something that they have already decided upon.

Then Allah issues a warning to those who do that: «Allah records all their plots» that is, He is recording it against them and He will requite them for it in full. This is a warning to them.

Then He instructs His Messenger (ﷺ) to respond by ignoring them and not to rebuke them, for they will not harm him in the slightest if he puts his trust in Allah and seeks His help in supporting His religion and establishing His laws. Hence He says: «so ignore them, and put your trust in Allah. And sufficient is Allah as a disposer of affairs».

﴿ أَفَلَا يَتَذَكَّرُونَ الْقُرْآنَ ۚ وَلَوْ كَانَ مِنْ عِنْدِ غَيْرِ اللَّهِ لَوَجَدُوا فِيهِ اخْتِلَافًا كَثِيرًا ﴾

(سورة النساء: ٨٢)

- 4:82. Will they not then ponder on the Qur'an? If it had been from anyone other than Allah, they would surely have found therein many contradictions.

Here Allah enjoins pondering His Book, which means contemplating the meaning and studying its principles and lessons intensely, along with whatever helps to achieve that aim. Pondering the Book of Allah is the key to knowledge, and all that is good and all types of knowledge may be found therein. By doing that, faith will increase and become deeply rooted in the heart.

For the Qur'an teaches us about the Lord whom we worship, and His attributes of perfection, and that He is to be declared above all shortcomings. It sets out for us the route that leads to Him and describes the characteristics of the people who follow it, and what they will attain when they come to Him. It informs us of our real enemy and tells us of the path that will lead to punishment, and describes the characteristics of the people who follow it and how they will be dealt with when there is a reason for which they should be punished.

The more we ponder the Book, the more we will increase in knowledge, good deeds and insight. Hence Allah has enjoined and encouraged doing so, and He tells us that this is the purpose for which the Qur'an was revealed, as He says elsewhere:

﴿This is a blessed Book that We have sent down to you, so that they may ponder its verses, and so that people of understanding may pay heed.﴾ (Sād 38: 29)

– and:

﴿Will they not then ponder on the Qur'an, or are there locks on their hearts?﴾ (Muhammad 47: 24)

One of the benefits of pondering over the Book of Allah is that it causes the individual to become certain in faith and knowledge that it is the words of Allah, because parts of it confirm other parts, and its parts are in harmony with one another. Hence you will see rulings, stories and narratives repeated in several places in the Qur'an, all of them in harmony, confirming one another and not contradicting one another. Thus it is known that the Qur'an is perfect and that it comes from One Whose knowledge encompasses all things. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿If it had been from anyone other than Allah, they would surely have found therein many contradictions﴾ that is, because it comes from Allah, there are no contradictions in it at all.

﴿وَإِذَا جَاءَهُمْ أَمْرٌ مِّنَ الْأَمْنِ أَوِ الْخَوْفِ أَذَاعُوا بِهِ وَلَوْ رَدُّوهُ إِلَى الرَّسُولِ وَإِلَى أُولَى الْأَمْرِ مِنْهُمْ لَعَلِمَهُ الَّذِينَ يَسْتَنبِطُونَهُ مِنْهُمْ وَلَوْلَا فَضْلُ اللَّهِ عَلَيْكُمْ وَرَحْمَتُهُ لَاتَّبَعْتُمُ الشَّيْطَانَ إِلَّا قَلِيلًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ٨٣)

- 4:83. When they hear any news, whether it is of a reassuring or disquieting nature, they make it known to all and sundry, whereas if they referred it to the Messenger and those in authority among them, those who sought news could learn it from them. Were it not for the grace and mercy of Allah towards you, all but a few of you would have followed Shayṭān.

Here Allah chides His slaves for doing something that is not befitting, and teaches them that when news comes to them of any important matter and any matter that affects the public interest and has to do with reassurance and the joy of the believers, or some disquieting matter that may signal bad news, they must verify it and not hasten to spread that news. Rather they must refer to the Messenger (ﷺ) and to the people in authority, people of wisdom, knowledge, sincerity, reason and maturity, who know about things and what is and is not in the public interest.

Then if it is determined that there is some interest to be served by broadcasting the news, and that it will encourage the believers and make them happy, or it will alert the Muslims to some plot of their enemies, in that case they may go ahead and broadcast the news. But if they determine that there is no interest to be served, or that there is some slight interest but the harm it will cause outweighs that interest, then they should not broadcast it. Hence Allah says: ﴿those who sought news could learn it from them﴾ that is, because they will be learning it from those who have examined the matter on the basis of their mature thinking and knowledge.

This points to a basic principle of manners and attitude, which is that if there is to be a discussion concerning any matter, it should be referred to those who are qualified to discuss it, and no one should try to pre-empt them, because this is more likely to develop the right understanding of the issue and to lead to sound decision-making and avoidance of error. It also indicates that it is not allowed to be hasty in spreading news as soon as it is heard; rather what is enjoined is to think about it and see whether it is beneficial, in which case one may go ahead and broadcast it, otherwise one should refrain from doing so.

Then Allah says: «Were it not for the grace and mercy of Allah towards you» that is, in guiding you, and teaching you proper etiquette, and teaching you that which you did not know, «all but a few of you would have followed Shaytân» because man by nature is prone to wrongdoing and ignorance, and his own self only prompts him to do evil. But if he turns to his Lord, seeks His protection and strives hard in doing so, his Lord will be kind to him, guide him to all that is good and protect him from the accursed Shaytân.

﴿فَقَاتِلْ فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ لَا تُكَلَّفُ إِلَّا نَفْسَكَ وَحَرِّضِ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ عَسَى اللَّهُ أَنْ يَكْفِ بِأَسْ
الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا وَاللَّهُ أَشَدُّ بِأَسْوَأَشَدَّ تَنْكِيلًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ٨٤)

4:84. So fight [O Muhammad] in Allah's cause; you are accountable only for yourself. But urge the believers [to fight]. It may be that Allah will curb the might of those who disbelieve; for Allah is strongest in might and severest in punishment.

This is the best state that a person can be in, when he strives to make himself comply with the commands of Allah concerning jihad and otherwise, and to urge others to do likewise. A person may not be able to achieve one or both of these things, hence Allah says to His Messenger (ﷺ): «So fight [O Muhammad] in Allah's cause; you are accountable only for yourself» that is, you have no power over anyone else, so you will never be held accountable for the deeds of anyone else.

«But urge the believers» to fight. This includes everything that encourages the believers to be active and strengthens their resolve, by highlighting their strength and telling them that the enemy is weak and bound to fail, as well as reminding them of what Allah has prepared of reward for those who fight, and the punishment incurred by those who lag behind. All of these matters and others are part of encouraging the believers to fight.

﴿It may be that Allah will curb the might of those who disbelieve﴾ that is, by means of your fighting them in Allah's cause and urging one another to do so.

﴿for Allah is strongest in might﴾ that is, in power and strength and severest in punishment of the sinner; He punishes the sinner himself so that he will be a lesson for others. If He had so willed, He could have defeated the disbelievers by his might and power, and not left a trace of them. But by His wisdom He tests some of His slaves by means of others, so that the principle of jihad will be established and beneficial faith will flourish thereby, that faith which is based on choice, not that which is based on coercion and force, which is of no benefit at all.

﴿مَنْ يَشْفَعْ شَفْعَةً حَسَنَةً يَكُنْ لَهُ نَصِيبٌ مِّنْهَا وَمَنْ يَشْفَعْ شَفْعَةً سَيِّئَةً يَكُنْ لَهُ كِفْلٌ مِّنْهَا وَكَانَ اللَّهُ عَلَى كُلِّ شَيْءٍ مُّقِيمًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ٨٥)

- 4:85. Whoever mediates in a good cause will have a share in the reward thereof, but whoever mediates in a bad cause will have a share in the burden of sin thereof. And Allah has control over all things.

What is meant by mediation here is helping in some matter. Whoever joins another person and they both strive in some good cause – which includes mediating for the oppressed with the one who is oppressing them – will have a share in the reward thereof, according to his efforts, striving and results, without that detracting anything from the reward of the one who initiated the matter or took it upon himself. But whoever helps someone else in doing evil will have a burden of sin commensurate with what he did and helped with. This offers a great deal of encouragement to cooperate in righteousness and piety, and it is a stern warning against cooperating in sin and transgression. This is affirmed by the words of Allah: ﴿And Allah has control over all things﴾ that is, He is a witness Who is always watching, taking careful account of these deeds and He will requite each person as he deserves.

﴿وَإِذَا حُيِّتُمْ بِنَحِيَةٍ فَحِوْا بِأَحْسَنَ مِنْهَا أَوْ رُدُّوهَا إِنَّ اللَّهَ كَانَ عَلَى كُلِّ شَيْءٍ حَسِيبًا﴾

(سورة النساء: ٨٦)

- 4:86. When you are given a greeting, respond with a better greeting, or [at least] with the like thereof. Verily, Allah takes careful account of all things.

The greeting is that which is spoken by one of the two who meet one another, by way of honouring and praying for the other, along with what accompanies that of smiles and so on.

The best and most sublime of greetings is that which is taught by Islam of initiating and returning the greeting of salâm. Allah (ﷻ) instructs the believers that when they are greeted in any manner, they should give a response that is better than it in terms of wording, smiles and so on. What we may understand from this is that it is not allowed to refrain from returning the greeting altogether or to return it with something less than it.

From this verse we learn that initiating the greeting of salâm is encouraged on the basis of two things:

- 1- Allah instructs us to respond to the greeting with something better than it or (at least) equal to it. This implies that initiating the greeting is required according to Islamic teaching.

- 2- The fact that it refers to something better indicates that participating in giving then returning the greeting is a good thing.

However there is an exception to the general meaning of the verse, which is when someone greets another in a situation where it is not enjoined to return the greeting, such as if that person is busy reading Qur'an, listening to a khutbah, praying, and the like; in that case he is not required to respond to the greeting. A similar exception is made in the case of one whom the Lawgiver has instructed us to shun and not greet, namely the repentant sinner who may be deterred by shunning. He is to be shunned and not greeted, and his greeting is not to be returned, because doing so would undermine the general interest that may be achieved by shunning him.

Returning the greeting includes every greeting that is customary among the people and is not forbidden according to Islamic teachings; we are enjoined to return such greetings with a greeting that is equal to or better than it.

Then Allah (ﷻ) issues promises and warnings connected to doing good deeds or bad deeds respectively, as He says: ﴿Verily, Allah takes careful account of all things﴾, so He records all people's deeds, both good and bad, small and great, then He will requite them as dictated by His grace, justice and rulings.

﴿اللَّهُ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا هُوَ لِيَجْمَعَ بَيْنَكُمْ إِلَى يَوْمِ الْقِيَمَةِ لَا رَيْبَ فِيهِ وَمَنْ أَصْدَقُ مِنَ اللَّهِ

حَدِيثًا ﴿٨٧﴾ (سورة النساء: ٨٧)

- 4:87. Allah: there is no god but He. He will surely gather you all together on the Day of Resurrection, of which there is no doubt. Who is truer in word than Allah?

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that He is One and that there is no god or object of worship except Him, because He is perfect in His essence and attributes, and because the power of creation and control is exclusively His, and all blessings, both apparent and hidden, come from Him alone.

This requires that one should worship Him and to draw near to Him by means of all kinds of servitude to Him, because He alone is deserving of that and He is the One Who will requite His slaves for what they do or do not do of submitting themselves to Him. Hence He swore that this requital will indeed come to pass, and on the Day of Resurrection, as He says: ﴿He will surely gather you all together﴾ that is, the first of you and the last of you, in one place.

﴿on the Day of Resurrection, of which there is no doubt﴾ that is, there is no doubt concerning it whatsoever, on the basis of both rational and textual evidence. Rational evidence is found in what we witness of the revival of the earth after it was dead, and from the initial creation of the universe, and its recreation will be easier. In terms of wisdom, Allah definitely did not create anything in vain, for no reason, merely to live and then die. As for textual evidence, it is the fact that the Most Truthful One tells us of that, and indeed swears to it. Hence He says: ﴿Who is truer in word than Allah?﴾

Similarly, He instructed His Messenger (ﷺ) to swear to that in more than one place in the Qur'an, as in the verse in which He says: ﴿Those who disbelieve claim that that they will never be resurrected. Say: Yes indeed, by my Lord, you will surely be resurrected, then you will surely be informed of all that you have done. And that is easy for Allah.﴾ (at-Taghâbun 64: 7)

﴿Who is truer in word than Allah?﴾ – Here Allah tells us that His word is of the highest level of truth. Anything that is said concerning belief, knowledge and deeds that is contrary to what Allah has told us is false, because it goes against the true and certain text, hence it cannot be true.

﴿ فَمَا لَكُمْ فِي الْمُنَافِقِينَ فِتْنَةٍ وَاللَّهُ أَرَكَّهُمْ بِمَا كَسَبُوا أَن يَرِيدُونَ أَن تَهْدُوا مَنَ أَضَلَّ اللَّهُ وَمَن يُضِلِلِ اللَّهُ فَلَن تَجِدَ لَهُ سَبِيلًا ﴾ ﴿٨٨﴾ وَدُّوا لَوْ تَكْفُرُونَ كَمَا كَفَرُوا فَتَكُونُونَ سَوَاءً فَلَا تَتَّخِذُوا مِنْهُمْ أَوْلِيَاءَ حَتَّىٰ يَهَاجِرُوا فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ فَإِن تَوَلَّوْا فُخِّدُوهُمْ وَأَقْتُلُوهُمْ حَيْثُ وَجَدْتُمُوهُمْ وَلَا تَتَّخِذُوا مِنْهُمْ وَلِيًّا وَلَا نَصِيرًا ﴾ ﴿٨٩﴾ إِلَّا الَّذِينَ يَصِلُونَ إِلَىٰ قَوْمٍ بَيْنَكُمْ وَبَيْنَهُمْ مِّيثَاقٌ أَوْ جَاءَوكُم حَصَرْتُمْ صُدُّوهُمْ أَنَّ يَقْتُلُوكُمْ أَوْ يَقْتُلُوكُمْ قَوْمُهُمْ وَلَوْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ لَسَلَّطَهُمْ عَلَيْكُمْ فَلَقَتْلُوكُمْ فَإِنِ اعْتَرَلُوكُمْ فَلَمْ يُقْتِلُوكُمْ وَأَلْقَوْا إِلَيْكُمُ السَّلَامَ فَمَا جَعَلَ اللَّهُ لَكُمْ عَلَيْهِمْ سَبِيلًا ﴾ ﴿٩٠﴾ سَتَجِدُونَ ءَاخِرِينَ يَرِيدُونَ أَن يَأْمَنُوكُمْ وَيَأْمَنُوا قَوْمَهُمْ كُلٌّ مَا رَدُّوا إِلَى الْفِتْنَةِ أُرْكَسُوا فِيهَا فَإِن لَّمْ يَعتَرِلُوكُمْ وَيَلْقُوا إِلَيْكُمُ السَّلَامَ وَيَكْفُوا أَيْدِيَهُمْ فُخِّدُوهُمْ وَأَقْتُلُوهُمْ حَيْثُ تَقِفْتُمُوهُمْ وَأُولَئِكَ جَعَلْنَا لَكُمْ عَلَيْهِمْ سُلْطَانًا مُّبِينًا ﴾ ﴿٩١﴾ (سورة النساء: ٨٨-٩١)

- 4:88. What is the matter with you, that you are divided into two parties regarding the hypocrites, when Allah has cast them back [to disbelief] on account of their misdeeds? Do you seek to guide those whom Allah has caused to go astray? For those whom Allah has caused to go astray, you will never find a way [to guide them].
- 4:89. They wish that you would disbelieve as they have disbelieved, so that you will be all alike. Therefore do not take any of them as allies [or friends] until they migrate for the sake of Allah. But if they turn away [from Islam], seize them and slay them wherever you find them; and take neither protectors nor helpers from among them.

- 4:90. Except those who join a people between whom and you there is a treaty [of peace], or come to you with their hearts feeling discomfort at the prospect of fighting either you or their own people. If Allah had willed, He could have given them resolve and they would have fought you. Therefore if they let you be and do not fight you, and offer you peace, then Allah has not granted you any reason [to fight] against them.
- 4:91. Others you will find who want to be safe from you and safe from their own people, but whenever they are faced anew with temptation to evil, plunge into it headlong. Therefore if they do not let you be and do not offer you peace, and do not restrain their hands [from fighting you], then seize them and slay them wherever you encounter them, for Allah has given you a clear reason [to fight] against them.

What is meant by the hypocrites mentioned in these verses is the hypocrites who appeared outwardly to be Muslims but did not migrate, in addition to being disbelievers. Some confusion about their situation had arisen among the Companions (رضي الله عنهم): some of them felt uneasy about fighting them and severing ties with them because of what they showed of apparent faith, whilst others were aware of their true nature on the basis of their deeds, thus they deemed them disbelievers.

Hence Allah (ﷻ) told them that they should not be confused about them or have any doubt; rather their situation was quite clear and there was nothing confusing about it. They were hypocrites who had repeatedly shown their disbelief and – in addition to their disbelief – they wish that you would disbelieve and become like them. Once you understand that this is how they are, ﴿Therefore do not take any of them as allies [or friends]﴾. This requires that you should not love them, because alliances and friendships can only stem from love.

It also requires that you should hate them and regard them as enemies, because the prohibition on anything is a command to do the opposite. This command was something temporary, until they migrated; if they migrated, they were to be treated like all other Muslims, as the Prophet (ﷺ) applied the rulings of Islam to everyone who had been with him and migrated with him, whether they were truly believers or only making an outward show of faith.

But if they did not migrate and they refused to do so, ﴿seize them and slay them wherever you find them﴾ that is, at any time, in any place. This is part of the evidence which indicates that the prohibition on fighting during the sacred months had been abrogated, as is the view of the majority of scholars. Those who disagree say that these are general texts and are to be interpreted as being subject to the prohibition on fighting during the sacred months.

Then Allah made an exception from fighting the hypocrites, in the case of three groups, two of whom he was instructed to leave alone, and that instruction was confirmed.

The first group was those who joined a people with whom the Muslims had a treaty according to which they would not fight them. Those who joined that group would come under the same ruling as them and thus their lives and property would be protected.

The second group was people whose ﴿hearts [felt] discomfort at the prospect of fighting either you or their own people﴾ that is, they remain as they were and cannot let themselves fight you or fight their own people; they want to refrain from fighting both groups. Allah commanded (the Muslims) not to fight these people either, and He explained the wisdom behind that: ﴿If Allah had willed, He could have given them resolve and they would have fought you﴾. So there were three possibilities: either they would be with you and fight your enemies, which was not possible in the case of these people, so there remained only the possibility of fighting you alongside their own people or not fighting either side, which is the lesser of two evils as far as you are concerned, for Allah could have given them that resolve to fight against you. So you should accept this blessing and praise your Lord Who restrained them from fighting you when they could have done so. Therefore if these people ﴿let you be and do not fight you, and offer you peace, then Allah has not granted you any reason [to fight] against them﴾.

The third group is people who care only for their own interests and they have no respect for you. These are the ones of whom Allah says: ﴿Others﴾ among these hypocrites ﴿you will find who want to be safe from you﴾ because they are afraid of you ﴿and safe from their own people, but whenever they are faced anew with temptation to evil, plunge into it headlong﴾ that is, they are still persisting in their disbelief and hypocrisy.

So whenever anything happens to them of turmoil and trouble, it blinds them and causes them to rush headlong into trouble, increasing their disbelief and hypocrisy. These people appear outwardly to be like the second group, but in fact they are different from them, because the second group refrains from fighting the believers out of respect towards them, not out of fear for themselves. But this group refrains from fighting them out of fear, not out of respect; rather if they had the opportunity to fight the believers, they would be ready to make the most of it. If they do not show any sign of wanting to refrain from fighting, then they should be fought. Hence Allah says: ﴿Therefore if they do not let you be and do not offer you peace, and do not restrain their hands [from fighting you], then seize them and slay them wherever you encounter them, for Allah has given you a clear reason [to fight] against them﴾ that is: He has given you clear proof that they are transgressing against you and are not seeking peace, so they have no one to blame but themselves.

﴿وَمَا كَانَ لِمُؤْمِنٍ أَنْ يَقْتُلَ مُؤْمِنًا إِلَّا خَطَاً وَمَنْ قَتَلَ مُؤْمِنًا خَطَاً فَتَحْرِيرُ رَقَبَةٍ مُؤْمِنَةٍ وَدِيَّةٌ مُسْلَمَةٌ إِلَى أَهْلِهِ إِلَّا أَنْ يَصَدَّقُوا فَإِنْ كَانِ مِنْ

قَوْمٍ عَدُوٍّ لَّكُمْ وَهُوَ مُؤْمِنٌ فَتَحْرِيرُ رَقَبَةٍ مُّؤْمِنَةٍ وَإِنْ كَانَ مِنْ قَوْمٍ
 بَيْنَكُمْ وَبَيْنَهُمْ مِيثَاقٌ فَدِيَةٌ مُّسَلَّمَةٌ إِلَىٰ أَهْلِهِ وَتَحْرِيرُ رَقَبَةٍ
 مُّؤْمِنَةٍ فَمَنْ لَّمْ يَجِدْ فَصِيَامُ شَهْرَيْنِ مُتَتَابِعَيْنِ تَوْبَةً مِّنَ اللَّهِ وَكَانَ
 اللَّهُ عَلِيمًا حَكِيمًا ﴿٩٢﴾ (سورة النساء: ٩٢)

- 4:92. Never should a believer kill a believer, unless it be by mistake. Whoever kills a believer by mistake must free a believing slave and pay blood money to the deceased's family, unless they forgo it as an act of charity. If the deceased belonged to a people at war with you, and he was a believer, then the freeing of a believing slave [is enough]. If he belonged to a people between whom and you there is a treaty [of peace], then the blood money should be paid to his family and a believing slave be freed. Anyone who lacks the means to do this must fast for two consecutive months by way of repentance to Allah. Allah is All-Knowing, Most Wise.

The wording of the original Arabic indicates that this should never happen; that is, it could not happen and it is not possible that a believer could kill another believer deliberately. This tells us that this prohibition is very serious and that this action is diametrically opposed to faith. Indeed, such a thing can only be done by a disbeliever or an evil doer whose faith is sorely lacking and for whom there is the fear of something even worse than that (namely losing his faith altogether).

True faith prevents the believer from killing his brother with whom Allah has ordained the brotherhood of faith, which involves loving him, taking him as a close friend and ally, and protecting his brother from any harm; what harm could be greater than killing? This is confirmed by the words of the Prophet (ﷺ):

«Do not go back to being disbelievers after I am gone, striking one another's necks.» (Bukhari and Muslim)

Thus it is known that killing is an act of disbelief and is the gravest of major sins after ascribing partners to Allah.

Because the words «Never should a believer kill a believer» are general in meaning and include all situations, and because killing should not be committed by a believer against his brother under any circumstances, Allah (ﷻ) makes an exception in the case of killing by mistake:

«unless it be by mistake» – the one who made a mistake and did not intend to kill is not a sinner and has not transgressed the limits set by Allah. But because he has done a terrible deed which is enough to make the act abhorrent even though he did not intend to do it, Allah (ﷻ) has ordained that he must offer expiation and pay the diyah (blood money), as He says:

«Whoever kills a believer by mistake», whether the killer was male or female, free or slave, young or old, of sound mind or insane, Muslim or disbeliever – this may be understood from the word 'man' (translated here as «Whoever»), which is general in meaning. And that applies whether the person killed was male or female, young or old, as may be understood. The killer must «free a believing slave» as expiation for his act, from his own wealth. The slave may be young or old, male or female, healthy or otherwise, according to the view of some of the scholars.

However wisdom dictates that it should not be valid to free a slave who has a physical defect as expiation, because the purpose behind freeing the slave is to benefit the freed slave and put him in control of his own affairs. If he will lose out by being manumitted, and remaining a slave is more beneficial for him, then it is not valid to free him as expiation. Moreover the words «free a slave» may imply that he should be physically sound, because freeing him is for his own benefit, as he will no longer be working for the benefit of someone else. But if he is unable to do beneficial work because of his physical problems, then there is no point in freeing him. Think about it and it will become clear.

With regard to the diyah (blood money), it must be paid by the 'âqilah (male relatives on the father's side) of the killer in cases of accidental killing and quasi-intentional killing.

«to the deceased's family» as consolation to them. What is meant by his family here is his heirs, because the heirs inherit what the deceased has left behind, and the blood money is included in what he has left behind. There are many details concerning the blood money, which are discussed in the books of fiqh.

«unless they forgo it as an act of charity» that is, unless the heirs of the deceased give charity by letting the killer off, in which case the blood money is waived. This is encouragement to them to pardon the killer, because Allah describes that as charity, and charity is required at all times.

«If the deceased belonged to a people at war with you» that is, disbelievers who are in a state of war against you

«and he was a believer, then the freeing of a believing slave [is enough]» and you do not have to pay blood money to his family, and there is no consideration of their lives and property (because they are at war with the Muslims).

«If he» that is, the victim «belonged to a people between whom and you there is a treaty [of peace], then the blood money should be paid to his family and a believing slave be freed». That is out of consideration for his family, because they come under the treaty.

«Anyone who lacks the means to do this» that is, he does not own a slave or have sufficient funds to purchase one, because he is going through financial hardship and does not have any wealth surplus to his maintenance and basic needs from which to ransom a slave

«must fast for two consecutive months» that is, he cannot break the fast during this period without an excuse; if he breaks the fast because he does have an excuse, then that does not affect the continuity of his fasting, as in the case of sickness, menses and the like. But if he breaks the fast without an excuse, that does interrupt the continuity of his fasting, and he must start fasting all over again.

﴿by way of repentance to Allah﴾ that is, as expiation that Allah has enjoined upon the killer as a way of seeking forgiveness that He has ordained for His slaves, out of mercy towards them, and as a means of expiating for what may have happened of shortcomings and carelessness on their parts, as often happens in the case of accidental killing.

﴿Allah is All-Knowing, Most Wise﴾ that is, His knowledge is complete and His wisdom is perfect; nothing the size of a speck of dust, or anything smaller or greater than that, is hidden from Him on earth or in heaven, at any time or in any place. Everything is subject to His wisdom in terms of what He has created and the laws that He has ordained. In fact everything that He has created or prescribed is based on utmost wisdom. By His knowledge and wisdom He has enjoined that the killer must offer expiation that is appropriate to his action; because he was the cause of the loss of a life that was protected according to Allah's laws, it is appropriate that he should free a slave and liberate him from the bond of servitude to people, so that he may enjoy complete freedom. If he cannot afford to free a slave, then he must fast for two consecutive months, thus freeing himself from enslavement to physical desires and pleasures that prevent a person from attaining eternal bliss, so that he can worship Allah (ﷻ) by giving up those desires and drawing closer to Allah.

Allah has made this fasting period so lengthy and difficult, and has required that it be done consecutively, and He has not prescribed feeding the poor in this case, because the latter is not appropriate here. This is in contrast to the expiation for dhihâr (a jâhili form of divorce in which a man said to his wife, "You are to me as my mother's back"), which will be discussed in due course, in shâ' Allâh.

By His wisdom, Allah enjoined blood money for any killing, even if it is by mistake, to serve as a deterrent and prevent similar cases of killing, by using appropriate means to prevent it.

By His wisdom, He enjoined the 'âqilah to pay the blood money in the case of accidental killing, according to scholarly consensus, because the killer was not at fault and it is difficult for him to bear the cost of this expensive blood money. Therefore it is appropriate that this should be done by those with whom he has ties of mutual help and support, in order to achieve the public interest and ward off harm from people. (Perhaps this is a motive that would prompt the 'âqilah to prevent the one whom they have to help with payment of blood money from killing, for fear that they will be burdened with this payment). It also serves to reduce the burden because it is shared by all of them, each according to his means. The payment is also made easier in that it may be spread over three years.

By His wisdom and knowledge, He decreed that the family of the victim should be compensated for their calamity by means of the blood money, which is enjoined upon the family of the killer.

﴿وَمَنْ يَقْتُلْ مُؤْمِنًا مُتَعَمِّدًا فَجَزَاؤُهُ جَهَنَّمُ خَالِدًا فِيهَا وَعَظِبَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَلَعَنَهُ وَأَعَدَّ لَهُ عَذَابًا عَظِيمًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ٩٣)

- 4:93. But whoever kills a believer deliberately, his punishment will be hell, to abide therein forever; Allah will be angry with him, and will curse him, and will prepare for him a grievous punishment.

Before this, Allah stated that no deliberate killing of the believer can be done by another believer, and that such killing is an act of disbelief. Here He mentions the warning to the one who kills deliberately; it is a warning that makes the heart tremble and causes great distress to people who understand.

There is no greater warning with regard to other major sins, or even anything like it. It is a warning that the recompense for the deed is hell; in other words, this major sin on its own dictates that the one who commits it should be requited in hell, with all its severe punishments, utter humiliation, divine wrath, missing out on triumph and success, and ending up with loss and doom. May Allah protect us from everything that takes us away from His mercy.

The leading scholars (may Allah have mercy on them) differed concerning the interpretation of this verse, although they were all agreed on the falseness of the Kharijite and Mutazilite view, according to which those who commit this act will abide in hell for eternity, even if they affirm the oneness of Allah. The correct interpretation is that given by the great scholar Shams ad-Deen ibn al-Qayyim (may Allah have mercy on him) in al-Madârij. After mentioning the other interpretations and critically examining them, he said:

One group said: This and similar texts, which mention a punishment that fits the crime, do not necessarily mean that the punishment will automatically be carried out if the crime is committed, because for any ruling to be implemented there are conditions that must be met and impediments that must be absent. All that these texts tell us is that such a punishment fits a certain crime or sin.

Furthermore, there is proof of impediments, some of which are based on scholarly consensus and others on texts. Repentance is an impediment [to punishment] according to scholarly consensus, as is affirmation of the oneness of Allah, on the basis of mutawâtir texts that no one can ignore. Other impediments include great deeds that erase sin, major calamities that expiate sin, and carrying out of the hudood punishments in this world, according to the texts. There is no way that we can ignore these texts and proofs; therefore we have no choice but to accept all the texts together from both angles. That is why both good and bad deeds are compared, so as to work out whether a person deserves to be punished or not, so that his destiny is based on whichever outweighs the other.

They said: Weighing up what is good or bad in this world and in the hereafter is the basis of shar'î rulings and the decrees of Allah. This is the basis on which the entire creation is ruled and on which the connection between cause and effect is established, both in the natural laws governing the universe and the laws of Sharia.

Allah has created for everything its opposite, which resists it and wards it off, and the stronger will ultimately prevail.

Strength is based on sound health and physical well-being, and an imbalance of the humours resists the natural function of the body that would lead to strength, and whichever is stronger will prevail. Similarly in the conflict between medicine and sickness, there are things in the body that are inclined to be healthy and other things that are inclined to be sick; the one tries to prevent the other from having a full effect and tries to resist it. If one prevails over the other, its effect will have the greatest impact.

Hence we know that people are of different categories. Some will enter paradise and not enter hell, and vice versa. Some will enter hell but will come out of it, and the length of his stay therein will be commensurate with the cause of his entering it, which will determine whether he will exit it quickly or after some time. Whoever has deep insight will see everything of which Allah has informed us in His Book, of the hereafter and its details; he will envisage it clearly as if he can see it.

This is certainty of faith which will burn up bad deeds as fire burns up wood. For one who has that level of certainty, it is impossible to persist in evil deeds, and if he does such a thing and does a lot of it, what he has of light of faith will force him to renew his repentance every time, by turning back to Allah in constant repentance. Such a person is one of the dearest of creation to Allah.

May Allah reward him (Ibn al-Qayyim) with good on behalf of Islam and Muslims.

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا إِذَا ضَرَبْتُمْ فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ فَتَيَّبُوا وَلَا تَقُولُوا لِمَن أَلْقَى إِلَيْكُمُ السَّلَامَ لَسْتَ مُؤْمِنًا تَبْتَغُونَ عَرَضَ الْحَيَاةِ الدُّنْيَا فَعِندَ اللَّهِ مَفَاةٌ كَثِيرَةٌ كَذَلِكَ كُنْتُمْ مِن قَبْلُ فَمَنَّ اللَّهُ عَلَيْكُمْ فَتَبَيَّنُوا إِنَّ اللَّهَ كَانَ بِمَا تَعْمَلُونَ خَبِيرًا ﴿٩٤﴾﴾ (سورة النساء: ٩٤)

- 4:94. O you who believe, when you go forth [to fight] in the cause of Allah, use your discernment, and do not say to one who offers you the greeting of peace: You are not a believer, out of a desire for the fleeting gains of this worldly life. For with Allah are abundant gains. You yourselves were in the same position before, then Allah bestowed His grace upon you. Therefore use your discernment, for Allah is well aware of all that you do.

Here Allah (ﷻ) instructs His believing slaves, when they go out to engage in jihad in His cause and seeking His pleasure, to use their discernment and examine all ambiguous matters, for matters are of two types: those that are clear and those that are unclear.

As for those that are clear, there is no need for further clarification, because there is no need to prove what is clear.

As for those that are ambiguous or unclear, one needs to examine them and clarify them in order to find out whether to go ahead with them or not. This examination in order to reach certainty leads to many benefits and prevents many evils, through which the extent of an individual's religious commitment, wisdom and maturity may be determined, in contrast to the one who rushes into things without taking time to think about them and before the issue and its connected rulings become clear to him; that leads to undesirable consequences, as happened to those whom Allah rebuked in this verse, because they did not examine and verify the situation, and they killed the one who greeted them with salâms, who had with him booty that belonged to him or the property of someone else, because they thought that this would be acceptable. But that was a mistake, hence Allah rebuked them in this verse: ﴿and do not say to one who offers you the greeting of peace: You are not a believer, out of a desire for the fleeting gains of this worldly life. For with Allah are abundant gains﴾. In other words: do not let small fleeting gains lead you to commit inappropriate actions and thus miss out on what there is with Allah of immense and lasting reward, for that which is with Allah is better and more lasting.

This indicates that the individual should, if he finds himself inclined to something that is in harmony with his whims and desires – and it is harmful – remind himself of what Allah has promised to the one who restrains himself and avoids following whims and desires, and who gives precedence to pleasing Allah over pleasing himself. This will motivate him to follow the command of Allah, even if that is difficult for him.

Then Allah (ﷻ) says, reminding them of their previous situation, before they were guided to Islam: ﴿You yourselves were in the same position before, then Allah bestowed His grace upon you﴾ that is, just as He guided you after you had been astray, He may also guide others; just as guidance was a gradual process for you, it may also be like that for others.

So the one who is perfect should look at how he was before he was perfect, and think about how he should deal with those who are still like that, on the basis of what he knows about how he was before, and he should call them with wisdom and beautiful preaching. This is one of the most effective ways in which he may benefit himself and others, hence the command to examine and verify is repeated once more: ﴿Therefore use your discernment﴾.

If he is one of those who have gone out to fight in jihad in Allah's cause and to fight the enemies of Allah, and he has made all sorts of preparations to harm them, then he is instructed to verify and examine the one who greets him with salâms. If there is a strong indication that that person only did that in order to protect himself from being killed, or out of fear for his life, then this indicates that the instruction to verify and check is something that is applicable in all situations where there could be some ambiguity. So things should be verified and examined until the matter becomes clear.

﴿for Allah is well aware of all that you do﴾ and He will requite each one for his deeds and intentions, in accordance with what He knows of His slaves' circumstances and intentions.

﴿لَا يَسْتَوِي الْقَاعِدُونَ مِنَ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ غَيْرُ أُولِي الضَّرَرِ وَالْمُجَاهِدُونَ فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ بِأَمْوَالِهِمْ وَأَنْفُسِهِمْ فَضَّلَ اللَّهُ الْمُجَاهِدِينَ بِأَمْوَالِهِمْ وَأَنْفُسِهِمْ عَلَى الْقَاعِدِينَ دَرَجَةً وَكُلًّا وَعَدَ اللَّهُ الْحُسْنَىٰ وَفَضَّلَ اللَّهُ الْمُجَاهِدِينَ عَلَى الْقَاعِدِينَ أَجْرًا عَظِيمًا ﴿٩٥﴾ دَرَجَتٍ مِنْهُ وَمَغْفِرَةً وَرَحْمَةً وَكَانَ اللَّهُ غَفُورًا رَحِيمًا ﴿٩٦﴾﴾ (سورة النساء: ٩٥-٩٦)

- 4:95. Not equal are those believers who stay at home, apart from those forced by necessity, and those who strive and fight in the cause of Allah, offering their wealth and their lives. Allah has given a rank higher to those who strive and fight, offering their wealth and their lives, than to those who stay at home. To each Allah has promised the ultimate good, but Allah favours those who strive and fight, over those who stay at home, with an immense reward,

4:96. ranks specially bestowed by Him, and forgiveness and mercy.
For Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.

That is, the believer who engages in jihad, offering his life and his wealth, and the one who does not go out for jihad and does not fight the enemies of Allah, are not equal. This is encouragement to go out for jihad and a warning against being lazy and staying behind with no excuse.

With regard to people who have physical issues, such as the sick, the blind, the lame, and those who do not have the means to equip themselves, they are not like those who stay at home with no excuse. Whoever has a physical problem and is content to stay at home, and has no intention of going out for the sake of Allah, even if he did not have that problem that prevented him from doing so, and did not think about it, is of the same status as one who stayed behind with no excuse.

Whoever would definitely have gone out in the cause of Allah were it not for this impediment, wishes that he could do that and thinks about this matter to himself, is of the same status as one who went out for jihad, because the definite intention, if it is accompanied by doing as much as one can in word or deed, means that one has attained the same status as the one who actually does it.

Then Allah (ﷻ) states that the mujâhideen are of a higher rank or status. This is a differentiation in general terms, then He states that in more detail and promises them forgiveness from their Lord, and mercy that encompasses all that is good and wards off all that is evil. These ranks were explained by the Prophet (ﷺ) in the ṣaḥeeḥ hadith narrated from him in aṣ-Ṣaḥeeḥayn (the two authentic Hadith collections of Imam Bukhari and Imam Muslim), in which he told us that in paradise there are one hundred levels, and the distance between each two levels is like the distance between heaven and earth; Allah has prepared it for those who engage in jihad for His sake.

Allah has connected this reward to jihad; this is like the verse in Soorat as-Şaff in which He says:

﴿O you who believe, shall I tell you about a deal that will save you from a painful punishment? Believe in Allah and His Messenger, and strive and fight, offering your wealth and your lives in the cause of Allah. That is better for you, if only you knew. [If you do that] He will forgive you your sins and admit you to gardens through which rivers flow and fine dwellings in gardens of perpetual abode; that is the supreme triumph.﴾ (as-Şaff 61: 10-12)

Think about the way in which the idea of superiority is expressed in these verses, as it states first of all that the mujâhid and others are not equal, then it states clearly that the mujâhid is superior by one rank to the one who stays behind, then it moves on to the idea of his being favoured with forgiveness, mercy and high status.

This gradual approach from one rank to another in the context of praise, or going from one status to one that is lower than it in the context of condemnation, is more eloquent and has a greater impact.

This is how it is when one category of people is favoured over another, and each of them has its own virtues; Allah mentions the good characteristics that they have in common lest anyone think that the one of lesser standing is being condemned. For this reason Allah says here: ﴿To each Allah has promised the ultimate good﴾.

Similarly, Allah says in the passage from Soorat as-Şaff referred to above:

﴿...And give these glad tidings to the believers.﴾ (as-Şaff 61: 13)

And Allah (ﷻ) also says:

﴿...Not equal among you are those who spent and fought before the conquest of Makkah [and those who did not]...﴾ (al-Hadeed 57: 10)

Then He says: ﴿To each Allah has promised the ultimate good﴾, as He says elsewhere:

﴿We guided Sulaymān to the right verdict, and to each of them We gave wisdom and knowledge...﴾ (al-Anbiyā' 21: 79)

The one who wants to highlight the contrast between individuals and groups and deeds may pay attention to this point.

Similarly, if he wants to speak in the context of criticising people or opinions, he may mention what they have in common when contrasting them to one another, lest anyone think that the preferred one is perfect. For example, if it is said that the Christian is better than the Magian (Zoroastrian), let him add: although both are disbelievers.

Because the promise to the mujāhideen of forgiveness and mercy is derived from two of His noble names, ﴿Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful﴾, this verse ends with them, as He says: ﴿For Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful﴾.

(٩٩-٩٧)

- 4:97. Verily, when the angels take [in death] the souls of those who have wronged themselves, they ask them: What was the matter with you? They reply: We were weak and oppressed in the land. They say: Was Allah's earth not spacious enough for you to migrate to some other place? For those, their ultimate abode is hell, an evil journey's end.

- 4:98. Except those who are [really] weak and oppressed – men, women, and children – who have no means in their power and do not know where to go.
- 4:99. For these, there is hope that Allah will forgive them, for Allah is Pardoning, Oft-Forgiving.

---

This is a stern warning to those who did not migrate when they were able to, until they died. The angels who seize their souls rebuke them with these harsh words and say: ﴿What was the matter with you?﴾ In other words: what was your situation? How did you make yourself distinct from the polytheists? In fact you increased their numbers and perhaps you supported them against the believers, and you missed out on a lot of righteous deeds, jihad with Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) and being with the Muslims, helping them against their enemies.

﴿They reply: We were weak and oppressed in the land﴾ that is, weak, downtrodden and oppressed; we had no means of migrating. But they are not speaking the truth when they say that, because Allah rebuked them and warned them, and Allah does not burden any soul with more than it can bear.

Then an exception is made for those who were genuinely weak and oppressed; hence the angels say to them: ﴿Was Allah's earth not spacious enough for you to migrate to some other place?﴾ This is a question that is asked to establish a fact. In other words it is well established in the minds of everyone that the land of Allah is spacious and whenever a person is in a place where he is not able to practise his religion openly, then he has other places on earth and a way out to a land where he will be able to worship Allah, as Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿O My slaves who believe, verily My earth is spacious, so worship Me alone.﴾ (al-'Ankaboot 29: 56)

Allah (ﷻ) says of these people who have no excuse: ﴿For those, their ultimate abode is hell, an evil journey's end﴾. This, as stated above, mentions the reasons that led to that; on the Day of Judgement this is what will happen, if all conditions are fulfilled and there are no impediments; but there may be impediments that could prevent that fate.

This verse indicates that migration is one of the greatest obligations, and failing to do it is forbidden; in fact it is one of the gravest major sins. This verse indicates that everyone who dies has taken in full all that was decreed for him of provision, lifespan and deeds. This understanding is based on the phrase translated here as ﴿take [in death]﴾, which comes from a root that has the meaning of taking in full, because if there was anything left for him to take, his soul would not be taken in death.

This verse highlights belief in the angels and praises them, because Allah mentions them by way of confirming His approval of them.

Then an exception is made for those who are truly weak and oppressed, who have no means of migrating at all, ﴿and do not know where to go﴾.

Allah says concerning these people: ﴿For these, there is hope that Allah will forgive them, for Allah is Pardoning, Oft-Forgiving﴾. The word 'asa' (translated here as ﴿there is hope that﴾), when used in reference to Allah, indicates that it will inevitably happen, because of His generosity and kindness. When the Qur'an says that there is hope of reward for the one who does some deeds, this means that the reward will not be due unless the deed is done in the proper manner. If it is not done in the proper manner, then the individual has fallen short and does not deserve that reward. And Allah knows best.

This verse indicates that the one who is unable to do what he is instructed of an obligatory duty or otherwise is excused, as Allah (ﷻ) says concerning those who are unable to engage in jihad:

«There is no blame on the blind nor any blame on the lame nor any blame on the sick [if they do not go forth to fight]...» (al-Fath 48: 17)

And Allah says of the commands in general:

«So fear Allah as best you can...» (at-Taghâbun 64: 16)

The Prophet (ﷺ) said:

«If I instruct you to do something, then do as much of it as you can.» (Muslim)

But there is no excuse for a person unless he tries his best then is not able to do it, because Allah (ﷻ) says: «who have no means in their power». This verse indicates that having a guide in Hajj and 'umrah, and similar matters where travel is required, is one of the conditions of being able to do it.

﴿وَمَنْ يُهَاجِرْ فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ يَجِدْ فِي الْأَرْضِ مُرَافِقًا كَثِيرًا وَسَعَةً وَمَنْ يَخْرُجْ مِنْ بَيْتِهِ مُهَاجِرًا إِلَى اللَّهِ وَرَسُولِهِ ثُمَّ يُدْرِكُهُ الْمَوْتُ فَقَدْ وَقَعَ أَجْرُهُ عَلَى اللَّهِ وَكَانَ اللَّهُ غَفُورًا رَحِيمًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٠٠)

- 4:100. He who migrates for the sake of Allah will find in the earth many places of refuge and abundant provision. Whoever leaves his home migrating for the cause of Allah and His Messenger, and death overtakes him, his reward is then incumbent upon Allah. And Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.

This is encouraging people to migrate, and explaining the interests that will be served by it. Allah promises – and His promise is true – that whoever migrates for His sake, seeking His pleasure, will find many places of refuge on earth, and abundant provision. The many places of refuge refers to that which will help to serve the interests of one's religious commitment, and abundant provision refers to some worldly interests. That is because many people think that if they migrate, they will be unsettled after having been settled, they will be poor after having been rich, they will be humiliated after having been proud, and they will go through hardship after having had a life of ease.

But that is not the case. So long as the believer remains among the polytheists, he will fall far short with regard to his religious duties, both in acts of worship that he may do alone, such as prayer and the like, as well as other acts of worship which must be done by joining others, such as jihad in word and deed, and matters that are connected to that, because he is not able to do that. He will always be under threat and will drift away from his religion (because of persecution and fear), especially if he is weak and oppressed.

But if he migrates for the sake of Allah, he will be able to establish the religion of Allah, and engage in jihad against the enemies of Allah and oppose them in word and deed. Moreover, he will have an opportunity to increase his provision. And indeed it came to pass as Allah (ﷻ) foretold.

The best example of that is the Ṣaḥābah (رضي الله عنهم), when they migrated for the sake of Allah, leaving their homes, children and property for His sake. Their faith was completed thereby and they attained perfect faith; they were able to engage in jihad and support the religion of Allah in such a way that they became an example to follow for those who came after them. They also attained that which usually results from that of great victories and a great deal of booty, as a result of which they became the richest of people. Similarly, anyone who does what they did will attain the same results as they did, and this will remain so until the Day of Resurrection.

Then Allah says: ﴿Whoever leaves his home migrating for the cause of Allah and His Messenger﴾ that is, migrating for the sake of his Lord and His pleasure, out of love for His Messenger (ﷺ) and in support of the religion of Allah, not for any other purpose

﴿and death overtakes him﴾ by being killed or otherwise
 ﴿his reward is then incumbent upon Allah﴾ that is, he will attain the reward of the muhājir (migrant) who achieved his goal of migration by being guaranteed (a complete reward) by Allah. That is because he intended and decided, and he took the first step and started to take action. By Allah's mercy towards him and others like him, He will give them the reward in full, even if they did not complete the action, and He will forgive them for whatever shortcomings occurred in terms of migration and otherwise.

Hence this verse ends with these two noble names of Allah, as He says: ﴿And Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful﴾ – He forgives the believers what they commit of errors, especially those who repent and turn back to their Lord.

﴿Most Merciful﴾ to all of His creation; by His mercy he brought them into existence, granted them physical well-being, and bestowed upon them wealth, children, power and so on. And He is Most Merciful to the believers, as He guided them to faith and taught them knowledge by means of which they may attain certainty; He made easy for them the means of attaining happiness and success, and that by means of which they will attain the highest reward and will see, by His mercy and grace, that which no eye has seen, no ear has heard, and it has not entered the mind of man. We ask Allah not to deprive us of His bounty because of our evil deeds.

- 4:101. When you are travelling in the land, there is no blame on you if you shorten your prayers, if you fear the disbelievers may harm you, for the disbelievers are unto you avowed enemies.
- 4:102. When you [O Messenger] are with the believers and lead them in prayer, let one group of them stand [in prayer] with you, taking their weapons with them. When they have finished their prostrations, let them take their position in the rear. Then let the other group, who have not yet prayed, come and pray with you, taking all precautions, and also taking their weapons with them. Those who disbelieve wish that you would neglect your weapons and your baggage, then they would swoop down on you all at once. But there is no blame on you if you put away your weapons because of the inconvenience of rain or because you are ill; but take all precautions for yourselves. Verily Allah has prepared for the disbelievers a humiliating punishment.

These two verses are the basis for the concession allowing shortening of the prayers (when travelling) and the fear prayer. Allah (ﷻ) says ﴿When you are travelling in the land﴾. The apparent meaning of the verse indicates that the concession is applicable to any type of travel, even if it is for sinful purposes, as is the view of Abu Ḥaneefah (may Allah have mercy on him). However the majority of scholars, including the other three imams and others, do not allow the concession if the travel is for sinful purposes. The concession is a kind of mercy granted by Allah to make things easier for His slaves, so when they travel they may shorten their prayers and break the fast. But when the sinner travels, the purpose of his journey makes it inappropriate for any concession to be granted to him.

«there is no blame on you if you shorten your prayers» that is, there is nothing wrong with it and there is no sin on you. This does not contradict the fact that shortening the prayers is preferable (when travelling), because stating that there is no blame or sin is aimed at removing any doubt that may arise. Moreover it does not contradict the fact that it (shortening the prayer when travelling) may be obligatory. This is similar to the verse in Soorat al-Baqarah, in which Allah (ﷻ) says:

«Verily Şafā and Marwah are among the symbols of Allah. So whoever comes to the House for Hajj or 'umrah, there is no blame on him for going back and forth between them. And whoever does good of his own accord, then verily Allah is Appreciative, All-Knowing.»
(al-Baqarah 2: 158)<sup>14</sup>

The reason for removing doubt in this case is obvious; it is because it is well established in the Muslims' minds that prayer is obligatory and is to be offered in the complete form, and nothing could remove any doubt about the permissibility of shortening the prayer except a clear statement that there is no sin or blame on the one who does that.

The fact that it is preferable to shorten the prayers rather than offer them in full (when travelling) is indicated by the fact that the Prophet (ﷺ) shortened his prayers on all his journeys and this comes under the heading of flexibility, concession and mercy towards people. Allah (ﷻ) loves people to avail themselves of His concessions just as He hates them to disobey Him.

«if you shorten your prayers» – a literal translation would be “shorten from the prayers”. The use of the preposition min (from) indicates two things:

<sup>14</sup> In this verse, the statement that there is no blame on the one who goes back and forth between Şafā and Marwah (sa'iy) does not contradict the fact that doing so is obligatory in Hajj and 'umrah.

- 1- If the preposition was not present, then there would not be any guideline on how much to shorten the prayer by, as a result of which some people may think that most of the prayer may be omitted and that making it only one rak'ah would be sufficient. Therefore the phrase used is min aṣ-ṣalāh (literally, from the prayer), to indicate that this shortening should be in accordance with specific guidelines, as established by the teachings and practice of the Prophet (ﷺ) and his Companions.
- 2- The word min (from) implies some, not all. Thus it is known that shortening refers to some of the obligatory prayers, not all of them, because fajr and maghrib are not shortened; rather what are shortened are the four-raka'āt prayers, which are shortened from four to two raka'āt.

Once it is established that shortening of the prayers when travelling is a concession, we should note that the commentators differed concerning this condition, namely: «if you fear the disbelievers may harm you». The apparent meaning suggests that shortening prayers is only permissible when those two factors are present: travel and fear. The difference of opinion boils down to whether what is meant by the words «if you shorten» is shortening the number (of raka'āt) only, or shortening the number and the way in which it is done. The ambiguity has to do with the former, that is, concerning the number only.

Ameer al-Mu'mineen 'Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb (رضي الله عنه) was not sure about this matter until he asked the Prophet (ﷺ) about it.

«He said: O Messenger of Allah, why are we still shortening the prayers now, after we have become safe, when Allah says: «if you fear the disbelievers may harm you»?»

The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said: It is a charity that Allah has bestowed upon you, so accept His charity.» (Muslim, Ibn Mājah, and an-Nasā'i)

Based on that, this condition (of fear) is mentioned because this was the usual case faced by the Prophet (ﷺ) and his Companions, as most of their journeys were for the purpose of jihad.

We also learn something else which is the wisdom behind the granting of this concession of shortening the prayers, and the interest served thereby. In this verse, Allah explains the reason behind it, namely what is expected of hardship which makes granting a concession appropriate, namely the combination of travel and fear. That does not necessarily mean that shortening of the prayers should not be done in the case of travel alone (without the element of fear), which is usually accompanied by hardship.

The second opinion with regard to what is meant by shortening the prayer has to do with the number and the way in which it is done. In that case, the condition is to be understood as follows: If there is both travel and fear, then it is permissible to reduce the number and shorten the way it is done. If there is travel only, it is permissible to reduce the number of raka'ât only. If there is fear only, it is permissible to shorten the way in which it is done.

Therefore Allah describes the fear prayer after that, as He says: ﴿When you [O Messenger] are with the believers and lead them in prayer﴾. That is: when you lead them in the prayer that you establish, and do it in the proper manner as required, then teach them what is appropriate for them to do in these circumstances.

Then He explains that by saying: ﴿let one group of them stand [in prayer] with you﴾ that is, and let another group stand facing the enemy, as is indicated by the following: ﴿When they have finished their prostrations﴾ that is, when those who are with you have completed their prayer. Prayer is referred to as prostration in order to highlight the virtue of prostration and the fact that it is one of the pillars or essential parts of the prayer; in fact it is the greatest of its essential parts.

﴿let them take their position in the rear. Then let the other group, who have not yet prayed﴾, this is the group that had stood facing the enemy

﴿come and pray with you﴾. This indicates that the imam should remain after the first group leaves, waiting for the other group to come. When they come, the imam should lead them in the remainder of his prayer, then he sits and waits for them to complete their prayer, then he should lead them in saying the salām. This is one of the ways in which the fear prayer may be done. Other ways of doing the fear prayer have been narrated from the Prophet (ﷺ) in ṣaḥeeḥ reports with many isnād, all of which are permissible.

This verse indicates that prayer in congregation is an individual obligation for two reasons:

- 1- Allah (ﷻ) enjoined it in these difficult circumstances, at a time of intense fear when the possibility of an enemy attack was very high. If it is enjoined in these difficult circumstances, then it is more appropriate that it should be made obligatory at times of peace and safety.
- 2- The fact that in the fear prayer, the worshippers omit a lot of the conditions and essentials of the prayer, and many actions that would ordinarily render the prayer invalid are overlooked, only serves to emphasise the obligatory nature of praying in congregation. If it were not obligatory, it would not be permissible to omit these essentials for the sake of praying in congregation.

This verse indicates that it is preferable to pray behind one imam, even if that means not doing properly things that could have been done properly if they were to pray behind several imams. That is for the sake of uniting the Muslims and creating harmony among them, and preventing division, because that is more effective in instilling fear in the hearts of the enemy. Allah (ﷻ) also instructed them to take their weapons with them and to be cautious when offering the fear prayer.

Even though this involves movements and distractions whilst praying, it serves a clear interest, which is combining the prayer and jihad, and taking precautions against the enemy who are extremely keen to cause harm to the Muslims and swoop down on them and their baggage all at once. Hence Allah says: ﴿Those who disbelieve wish that you would neglect your weapons and your baggage, then they would swoop down on you all at once﴾.

Then Allah accepts the excuses of those who have an excuse, such as sickness or rain, allowing them to put away their weapons, but they should still take precautions, as He says: ﴿But there is no blame on you if you put away your weapons because of the inconvenience of rain or because you are ill; but take all precautions for yourselves. Verily Allah has prepared for the disbelievers a humiliating punishment﴾.

One of the humiliating punishments is that which Allah instructed His believing party and the monotheistic supporters of His religion to carry out, namely killing them and fighting them wherever they found them, capturing them, besieging them, lying in wait for them on every route, taking precautions against them at all times, and not letting down their guard lest the disbelievers achieve some of their goals concerning them. To Allah be much praise for having blessed the believers and supported them with His help, and for His teachings by which, if they had followed them properly, they would never have been defeated in any battle and the enemy would never have prevailed over them at any time.

﴿When they have finished their prostrations, let them take their position in the rear﴾ – This phrase indicates that this group should complete all of their prayer before going to the place where the guards are, and that the Messenger (ﷺ) remained where he was, waiting for the other group to come before saying the salâm, because first He said that the group should stand with him, which indicates that they should follow him in the prayer. Then after that the action is attributed to them, not to the Messenger (ﷺ), which supports what we say.

«Then let the other group, who have not yet prayed, come and pray with you» – This indicates that the first group have finished praying, and that the entire prayer of the second group is to be with the imam in a true sense in the first rak'ah, and virtually in the second rak'ah (that is, not actually following the imam). This requires the imam to wait for them until they have completed their prayer, then he is to say the salām with them. This is clear to one who ponders and reflects.

﴿إِذَا قَضَيْتُمُ الصَّلَاةَ فَادْكُرُوا اللَّهَ قِيَمًا وَقُعُودًا وَعَلَىٰ جُنُوبِكُمْ ۚ فَإِذَا اطْمَأْنَنْتُمْ فَأَقِيمُوا الصَّلَاةَ ۚ إِنَّ الصَّلَاةَ كَانَتْ عَلَى الْمُؤْمِنِينَ كِتَابًا مَوْقُوتًا

4:103. When you have finished the prayer, remember Allah, standing, sitting, or lying down on your sides. Then when you are safe again, establish prayer [in the regular prescribed manner]. Prayer is prescribed for the believers at specific times.

That is, when you have finished your prayer, whether it is the fear prayer or otherwise, then remember Allah in all situations and circumstances. But the fear prayer is singled out for mention for several reasons, including the following:

- Soundness of the heart, and its prosperity and joy is to be attained by turning to Allah (ﷻ) with love, filling the heart with remembrance of Him and praising Him. This goal may be achieved mainly through prayer, which is essentially a connection between the slave and his Lord.
- Prayer increases one's understanding and certainty of faith, which is the reason why Allah has enjoined it upon His slaves every day and night. It is well known that the fear prayer does not achieve these aims because of mental and physical distraction and fear, so Allah instructs the believers to make up for that by remembering Him (dhikr) after the prayer.

- Fear leads to anxiety, which could lead to weakness of the heart, and if the heart is weakened the body will be weakened and unable to resist the enemy. Remembering Allah, and remembering Him a great deal, is one of the greatest means of strengthening the heart.
- Remembrance of Allah (ﷻ) – along with patience and steadfastness – means success and prevailing against the enemy, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿O you who believe, when you meet an [enemy] troop, stand firm and remember Allah much, so that you may triumph.﴾

(al-Anfāl 8: 45)

Allah instructed them to remember Him a great deal in this situation; and there are other rulings.

﴿Then when you are safe again, establish prayer [in the regular prescribed manner]﴾ that is, when you are safe from fear and your minds and bodies are at ease, then complete the prayer in the proper manner, outwardly and inwardly, doing all essential parts, fulfilling its conditions, focusing with proper humility (khushoo'), and other things that perfect it.

﴿Prayer is prescribed for the believers at specific times﴾ that is, it is enjoined at its proper time; this indicates that it is obligatory and that it has a certain time, and it is not valid unless it is offered at that time. These times are well known and well established among the Muslims, young and old, knowledgeable and ignorant; they learned that from their Prophet Muhammad (ﷺ), who said:

«Pray as you have seen me praying.» (Bukhari)

The words «prescribed for the believers» indicate that the prayer is a measure of faith; as a person's faith is, so will his prayer be, with regard to perfection and completion. This indicates that the disbelievers – even if they comply with the Muslim rulings, as in the case of ahl adh-dhimmah – are not expected to follow the minor issues of religion such as prayer, because that is not addressed to them and they are not to be enjoined to do it. Rather if they do it, it is not valid, so long as they are still disbelievers, even though they will be punished in the hereafter for not doing it and for not adhering to all other rulings.

﴿وَلَا تَهِنُوا فِي ابْتِغَاءِ الْقَوْمِ إِنْ تَكُونُوا تَأْلَمُونَ فَإِنَّهُمْ يَأْلَمُونَ كَمَا تَأْلَمُونَ ۖ وَتَرْجُونَ مِنَ اللَّهِ مَا لَا يَرْجُونَ ۗ وَكَانَ اللَّهُ عَلِيمًا حَكِيمًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٠٤)

4:104. Do not weaken in pursuit of the enemy. If you are suffering hardships, they are also suffering hardships; but you hope for something from Allah that they cannot hope for. And Allah is All-Knowing, Most Wise.

That is, do not falter or lose heart in pursuit of the disbelievers, and in waging jihad against them and persisting in that, for if the heart grows weary, it will lead to physical weakness and that in turn will weaken the resolve to resist the enemy; rather that you should be strong and active in fighting them. Then Allah mentions two things that will strengthen the hearts of the believers:

- 1- What befalls you of hardship, exhaustion, injuries and so on, for it also befalls your enemies. So it is not appropriate, on the basis of human dignity and Islamic chivalry, to be weaker than them when you have equal portions of pain and suffering, because what usually happens is that no one would feel too weak except one whose pain and suffering persists and his enemy constantly overwhelms him, not the one who has the upper hand sometimes and is overwhelmed at other times.

- 2- You hope for something from Allah that they cannot hope for, for you hope to attain His reward and be safe from His punishment. Moreover, the elite among the believers have other sublime aims and noble aspirations, namely supporting the religion of Allah, establishing His law (Sharia), expanding the reach of Islam, guiding the lost and suppressing the enemies of the faith.

These matters give extra strength to the sincere believer, increase his energy and make him more courageous, because when a person fights and is patient in attaining worldly glory, even if he attains it, he will not be like the one who strives to attain happiness in both this world and the hereafter, and to attain the pleasure of Allah and paradise. Glory be to the One Who created people to be so far apart in aspirations, and differentiated between them on the basis of His knowledge and wisdom. For this reason He says here: ﴿And Allah is All-Knowing, Most Wise﴾; He is perfect in His knowledge and wisdom.

﴿إِنَّا أَنْزَلْنَا إِلَيْكَ الْكِتَابَ بِالْحَقِّ لِتَحْكُمَ بَيْنَ النَّاسِ بِمَا أَرَاكَ اللَّهُ وَلَا تَكُنْ لِلْخَائِبِينَ خَصِيمًا ١٥﴾ وَأَسْتَغْفِرُ اللَّهَ ۖ إِنَّ اللَّهَ كَانَ غَفُورًا رَحِيمًا ١٦ وَلَا تُجَادِلْ عَنِ الَّذِينَ يَخْتَفُونَ أَنْفُسُهُمْ ۚ إِنَّ اللَّهَ لَا يُحِبُّ مَنْ كَانَ خَوَافًا أَثِيمًا ١٧ يَسْتَخْفُونَ مِنَ النَّاسِ وَلَا يَسْتَخْفُونَ مِنَ اللَّهِ وَهُوَ مَعَهُمْ إِذْ يُبَيِّنُونَ مَا لَا يَرْضَى مِنَ الْقَوْلِ ۚ وَكَانَ اللَّهُ بِمَا يَعْمَلُونَ مُحِيطًا ١٨ هَآؤُنَّ أَهْوَآءُهُمْ ۖ جَدَلْتُمْ عَنْهُمْ فِي الْحَيَاةِ الدُّنْيَا فَمَنْ يُجَادِلُ اللَّهَ عَنْهُمْ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ أَمْ مَنْ يَكُونُ عَلَيْهِمْ وَكِيلًا ١٩ وَمَنْ يَعْمَلْ سُوءًا أَوْ يَظْلِمْ نَفْسَهُ ثُمَّ يَسْتَغْفِرِ اللَّهَ يَجِدِ اللَّهَ غَفُورًا رَحِيمًا ٢٠ وَمَنْ يَكْسِبْ إِثْمًا فَإِنَّمَا يَكْسِبُهُ عَلَى نَفْسِهِ ۚ وَكَانَ اللَّهُ عَلِيمًا حَكِيمًا ٢١ وَمَنْ يَكْسِبْ خَطِيئَةً أَوْ إِثْمًا ثُمَّ يَرْمِ بِهِ بَرِيئًا فَقَدِ احْتَمَلَ بُهْتَانًا وَإِثْمًا

مُبِينًا ﴿١١٣﴾ وَلَوْلَا فَضْلُ اللَّهِ عَلَيْكَ وَرَحْمَتُهُ لَهَمَّتْ طَائِفَةٌ مِنْهُمْ أَنْ يُضِلُّوكَ وَمَا يُضِلُّونَ إِلَّا أَنْفُسَهُمْ وَمَا يَضُرُّونَكَ مِنْ شَيْءٍ وَأَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْكَ الْكِتَابَ وَالْحِكْمَةَ وَعَلَّمَكَ مَا لَمْ تَكُنْ تَعْلَمُ وَكَانَ فَضْلُ اللَّهِ عَلَيْكَ عَظِيمًا ﴿١١٤﴾

(سورة النساء: ١٠٥-١١٣)

- 4:105. Verily We have sent down to you [O Muhammad] the Book in truth, so that you may judge between people, in accordance with what Allah has taught you. So do not be an advocate for the deceitful.
- 4:106. But seek the forgiveness of Allah; for Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.
- 4:107. Do not plead on behalf of those who betray their own souls, for Allah does not love one who is treacherous and sinful.
- 4:108. They seek to hide from people but they do not seek to hide from Allah, for He is with them [by His knowledge] when they make plans to say things that are not pleasing to Him. Verily Allah encompasses [with His knowledge] all that they do.
- 4:109. There you are, arguing on their behalf in the life of this world, but who will argue with Allah on their behalf on the Day of Resurrection? Or who will be their defender?
- 4:110. Yet whoever does evil or wrongs his own soul but thereafter asks Allah for forgiveness will find Allah Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.
- 4:111. And whoever earns sin, earns it only against his own soul. And Allah is All-Knowing, Most Wise.
- 4:112. But whoever commits an offence or a sin, then blames it on an innocent person, will bear the guilt of slander and manifest sin.
- 4:113. Were it not for Allah's grace towards you [O Muhammad], and His mercy, a party of them would have tried to lead you astray. But they only lead themselves astray, and they cannot harm you in the least. For Allah has sent down to you the Book and wisdom, and has taught you what you did not know. And the grace of Allah toward you is great indeed.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that He sent to His slave and Messenger (ﷺ) the Book in truth; that is, protected from the devils as it was sent down, lest they insert any falsehood into it. Indeed, it has been sent down in truth, containing truth; what it tells us is true and its commands and prohibitions are just.

﴿The word of your Lord is perfect in truth and justice...﴾ (al-An'ām 6: 115)

And He tells us that He sent it down in order to judge between people.

Elsewhere He says:

﴿...and We have sent down to you the Reminder [the Qur'an], so that you may explain to the people what has been sent down to them...﴾ (an-Nahl 16: 44)

Therefore it may be that this verse (4: 105) is referring to judging between people concerning disputes and differences, whereas the verse in Soorat an-Nahl refers to explaining the entire religion, both fundamentals and minor issues, or it may be that both verses have the same meaning, and thus judging between people in this case includes judging between them in cases of physical harm (murder and injury), slander against their honour, financial matters and all other rights, as well as explaining beliefs and all other rulings.

﴿in accordance with what Allah has taught you﴾ that is, not on the basis of your whims and desires; rather on the basis of what Allah has taught you and inspired in you. This is like the verse in which Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Nor does he speak of his own accord.﴾ (an-Najm 53: 3)

This indicates that the Prophet (ﷺ) is infallible in what he conveys from Allah, rulings and otherwise. It also indicates that it is essential that a judge be qualified in terms of knowledge and justice, because Allah says ﴿in accordance with what Allah has taught you﴾; He did not say “in accordance with your own opinion”.

Judging between people must also be based on knowledge of the Book. Just as Allah ordained that judging between people must be done on the basis of justice and fairness, He also forbade judging on the basis of injustice and inequity, which is the opposite of justice.

Therefore He said: ﴿So do not be an advocate for the deceitful﴾ that is, do not plead on behalf of one who you know to be deceitful, one who claims something that is not his or denies something that he owes, whether the judge is certain of that or he thinks it is likely to be the case.

This indicates that it is prohibited to dispute or speak on behalf of someone who is in the wrong when disputing religious matters or worldly rights and dues. The meaning of the verse indicates that it is permissible to get involved in disputes on behalf of a person who is not known to have done any wrong.

﴿But seek the forgiveness of Allah; for Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful﴾ that is, He forgives major sins for the one who seeks His forgiveness, repents to Him and turns to Him, and He will help him to do righteous deeds after that, which will earn His reward and ward off His punishment.

﴿Do not plead on behalf of those who betray their own souls﴾ in the sense of committing offences against their own souls. That includes the prohibition on speaking on behalf of one who has committed sin for which the punishment is now due, whether it is a hadd punishment (specified in Sharia) or a ta'zeer punishment (a disciplinary punishment meted out at the judge's discretion). So he should not plead on his behalf by trying to prove that he did not do it, or try to ward off the resulting punishment as dictated by Sharia.

﴿for Allah does not love one who is treacherous and sinful﴾ that is, one who is habitually treacherous and sinful. Stating that Allah does not love someone implies the opposite, which is that He hates such a person. This is like the reason why what is mentioned above should not be done.

Then Allah tells us about these treacherous people: ﴿They seek to hide from people but they do not seek to hide from Allah, for He is with them [by His knowledge] when they make plans to say things that are not pleasing to Him﴾. This is indicative of their lack of faith and certainty, as a result of which their fear of people is greater than their fear of Allah, for they are very keen to use all means, whether permissible or prohibited, to avoid exposure and scandal in front of people, whilst at the same time they show their audacity towards Allah by committing grievous sins, not caring that He is watching them.

He is with them by His knowledge in all situations, especially when they are making plans to say things that are not pleasing to Him, such as claiming that an offender is innocent, accusing an innocent person of an offence, and striving to convey that to the Messenger (ﷺ) so that he will do what they intend he should do.

Thus they combined a number of offences, and they did not remember that the Lord of heaven and earth, the One Who sees what is in their hearts, was watching them. Hence Allah (ﷻ) warns them by saying: ﴿Allah encompasses [with His knowledge] all that they do﴾ that is, He encompasses that with His knowledge, yet He did not hasten to punish them; rather He gave them respite, allowed them the opportunity to repent, and warned them that persisting in their sin would incur a severe punishment.

﴿There you are, arguing on their behalf in the life of this world, but who will argue with Allah on their behalf on the Day of Resurrection? Or who will be their defender?﴾ That is, even if you try to defend them in the life of this world and if your argument wards off some of that which you were concerned about of shame and disgrace before the people, how can that help and benefit them? Who will argue with Allah on their behalf on the Day of Resurrection, when proof is established against them and their own tongues, hands and feet testify against them concerning what they used to do?

﴿On that day, Allah will give them in full their due recompense and they will know that Allah is indeed the Truth Who makes manifest [the true nature of all things].﴾ (an-Noor 24: 25)

Who could argue in their defence before the One Who knows what is secret and what is yet more hidden, the One Who will bring witnesses against them whose testimony cannot be refuted?

This verse points out the importance of highlighting the contrast between what one may imagine of attaining worldly interests by forsaking the commands of Allah or doing what He forbids, and what one would miss out on of reward in the hereafter or be subjected to of punishment. Hence the one whose nafs prompts him not to obey Allah should say to himself: There you are, failing to obey His command out of laziness and carelessness; what benefits have you attained thereby? What have you missed out on of the reward of the hereafter? What results from this failure of misery, deprivation, loss and perdition? Similarly, if his nafs feels inclined to do that which is prohibited, he should say to himself: There you are, you did what you wanted, but this pleasure will come to an end and will be followed by stress, distress, loss, missing out on reward and exposure to punishment, some of which on its own is enough to make a wise man refrain from (following his whims and desires).

This is one of the most beneficial things that a person may reflect upon. This is the character of the truly wise man, unlike the one who claims to have reason when that is not the case, for he – because of his ignorance and wrongdoing – gives precedence to immediate pleasure and comfort, regardless of the consequences. And Allah is the One Whose help we seek.

Then Allah says: ﴿Yet whoever does evil or wrongs his own soul but thereafter asks Allah for forgiveness will find Allah Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful﴾ that is, whoever has the audacity to commit sin and transgression, then seeks forgiveness from Allah sincerely and in the proper manner, which requires admitting the sin, regretting it, giving it up and resolving not to go back to it, has a promise from the One Who does not break His promise of forgiveness and mercy. He will forgive the sin that he has committed and will erase its consequences of shortcomings and faults; He will restore to him what he had done of righteous deeds and will guide him in what remains of his lifespan; He will not make his sin a barrier to divine help, for He has already forgiven him, and if He has forgiven him, He will cancel the consequences that result from it.

It should be understood that evil deeds in general include all acts of disobedience, small and great. Similarly, wronging oneself in general includes wronging oneself by ascribing partners to Allah as well as lesser sins. But when the two are mentioned together, each is to be explained in the light of the other. So in this case evil deeds are understood as being wrongdoing that offends people, which means wronging them with regard to their physical well-being, wealth and honour.

Wronging oneself is to be understood as wrongdoing and sin that is between Allah and His slave. It is called wronging oneself because the person's nafs (self) is not his property, such that he may dispose of it as he wishes; rather it is the property of Allah (ﷻ) Who has made it a trust with which He has entrusted His slave and enjoined him to keep it (his nafs) on the straight path in word and deed. So he should strive to teach himself as he has been enjoined and strive to do what is required. Striving to follow any other path is wronging himself, betraying himself, and diverging himself from justice and fairness, the opposite of which is injustice and wrongdoing.

﴿And whoever earns sin, earns it only against his own soul﴾ – this includes everything that is a sin, small or great. Whoever does evil, the punishment for that in this world and the hereafter will fall upon him, and it will not go beyond him to anyone else, as Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿No bearer of burdens can bear the burden of another...﴾ (Fâṭir 35: 18)

But if evil deeds become prevalent and no one objects to them, then the punishment will become widespread and the burden of sin will encompass everyone. That does not contradict the rulings of this verse, because the one who fails to object to and denounce sin as he is required to do has earned sin.

This highlights the justice and wisdom of Allah, for He does not punish anyone for the sin of another, nor does He mete out a punishment any greater than that which is befitting to the sin. Hence He says: ﴿And Allah is All-Knowing, Most Wise﴾ that is, His is perfect knowledge and perfect wisdom.

By His knowledge and wisdom He knows about the sin and what results from it, what prompted it and the punishment that is due for it. He knows the situation of the sinner and that if he commits the sin because of the evil inclination of his nafs, even though most of the time he is obedient to Allah, He will forgive him and enable him to repent.

But if he commits the sin out of recklessness, not caring that his Lord is watching and not worrying about the punishment, then forgiveness is unlikely and it is unlikely that he will be helped to repent.

﴿But whoever commits an offence﴾ that is, commits a major sin
 ﴿or a sin﴾ that is, a lesser sin
 ﴿then blames it on an innocent person﴾ that is, he accuses someone else of this sin that he committed who is innocent of that, even though he may have committed other sins ﴿will bear the guilt of slander and manifest sin﴾ that is, he has taken upon himself the burden of accusing an innocent person and of manifest sin. This indicates that this (false accusation) is a major sin that incurs punishment.

That is because he has combined a number of evils: he has incurred a burden of sin; then he accused one who did not do it of doing it; then he uttered a foul lie by declaring himself innocent and accusing an innocent person; then that led to punishment in this world which was warded off from the one who deserved it and was carried out on the one who did not deserve it; it also led to people talking about one who was innocent. And there are other evil consequences; we ask Allah to keep us safe from them and from all evils.

Then Allah mentions His blessing that He bestowed upon His Messenger (ﷺ) by protecting him from those who wanted to lead him astray:

﴿Were it not for Allah's grace towards you [O Muhammad], and His mercy, a party of them would have tried to lead you astray﴾. The commentators stated that the reason for revelation of these verses was that a family stole in Madinah, then when their theft was discovered, they feared scandal, so they took the stolen items and threw them into the house of someone who was innocent of that crime, and the thief asked his people to help him by going to the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) and asking him to declare their companion innocent before the people. They said: He did not steal; rather the one who did that is the one in whose house the item is found, and he (our companion) is innocent. The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) thought about declaring their companion innocent, then Allah revealed these verses as a reminder, explaining what really happened and warning the Messenger (ﷺ) against defending the treacherous, because defending the one who is in the wrong is misguidance. Misguidance is of two types: misguidance that results from lack of knowledge, which is ignorance of the truth; and misguidance in actions, which is doing something other than what one is obliged to do. Thus Allah protected His Messenger (ﷺ) from the type of misguidance that results from lack of knowledge (just as He protected him from misguidance in the sense of doing something other than what he ought to do).

Here Allah tells us that their schemes and tricks backfired on them, as is the case with every treacherous person.

﴿But they only lead themselves astray﴾ because that trickery and treachery did not lead them to attain their goal, and they did not gain anything from it but loss, deprivation and sin.

This was a great blessing to His Messenger (ﷺ), namely the blessing of doing the right thing, being guided to do what must be done and being protected from every evil action.

Then Allah mentions the blessing of knowledge that He bestowed upon him: ﴿For Allah has sent down to you the Book and wisdom﴾ that is, He has sent down to you this Holy Qur'an and the wise reminder, in which there is an explanation of all things and knowledge of the first and the last.

﴿wisdom﴾ either refers to the Sunnah, of which some of the early generations said: The Sunnah was revealed to him just as the Qur'an was revealed to him; or it refers to knowledge of the subtle realities and issues of Sharia, over and above knowledge of its rulings, seeing things properly and acting appropriately, and giving each thing priority according to its level of importance.

﴿and has taught you what you did not know﴾. This includes everything that Allah (ﷻ) taught him, because he, before prophethood came to him, was as Allah (ﷻ) described him:

﴿... You knew nothing of the scripture or matters of faith...﴾ (ash-Shoorâ 42: 52)

﴿Did He not find you unaware [of the path of truth]<sup>15</sup> and guide you?﴾ (ad-Duhâ 93: 7)

<sup>15</sup> The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) always believed in the oneness of Allah (tawhîd), even before his prophethood began, but he was unaware of the path of Islam, and its rulings and teachings, until Allah guided him to it through revelation. (ash-Shawkâni; az-Zamakhshari; Ibn 'Âshoor).

Then Allah kept sending the revelation to him, teaching him and leading him in the way of perfection, until he reached a level of knowledge that could not be attained by anyone else among the earlier and later generations.

Thus he became the most knowledgeable of all people, acquired the most perfect qualities, good manners and character. Hence Allah said: «And the grace of Allah toward you is great indeed» (4: 113). His grace towards the Messenger Muhammad (ﷺ) is greater than His grace towards all other creatures.

The kinds of grace and blessings that Allah bestowed upon him cannot all be known or listed.

﴿لَا خَيْرَ فِي كَثِيرٍ مِّنْ نُّجْوَاهُمْ إِلَّا مَنْ أَمَرَ بِصَدَقَةٍ أَوْ مَعْرُوفٍ أَوْ إِصْلَاحٍ
بَيْنَ النَّاسِ ۚ وَمَن يَفْعَلْ ذَلِكَ ابْتِغَاءَ مَرْضَاتِ اللَّهِ فَسَوْفَ نُؤْتِيهِ أَجْرًا عَظِيمًا﴾
(سورة النساء: ١١٤)

- 4:114. There is no good in much of their private conversations, except for one who enjoins charity and good deeds, or seeks to bring about reconciliation between people. For the one who does that, seeking the pleasure of Allah, We will give him an immense reward.

That is, there is nothing good in much of what people talk about. If there is nothing good in it, then it is either talking in which there is no benefit, such as empty talk that is permissible, or it is purely evil and harmful, such as all kinds of prohibited talk.

Then Allah (ﷻ) makes an exception, and says: «except for one who enjoins charity», whether that is in terms of wealth or knowledge, or any beneficial thing. In fact it may also include acts of worship, such as tasbeeh or tahmeed, and so on.

The Prophet (ﷺ) said:

«Every tasbeeh is a charity, every takbeer is a charity, every tahleel is a charity, enjoining what is good is a charity, forbidding what is evil is a charity, and the intimacy of one of you (with his wife) is a charity...» (Muslim)

«and good deeds» – this refers to kindness and acts of worship, and everything that is known to be good according to both Sharia and common sense. When enjoining what is good is mentioned on its own, without mentioning forbidding what is wrong, then it includes forbidding what is wrong. That is because giving up evil is part of doing good, and doing what is good cannot be complete without giving up evil.

But when the two are mentioned together, then what is good refers to what is enjoined, and what is evil refers to what is forbidden.

«or seeks to bring about reconciliation between people» reconciliation can only be between two disputing parties. Conflict, disputes and mutual resentment lead to unlimited evil and division. Hence the Lawgiver enjoined bringing about reconciliation between people with regard to matters of blood, wealth and honour, and even when there are differences of religion, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere: «And hold fast, all together, to the rope of Allah, and do not be divided among yourselves...» (Āl 'Imrān 3: 103)

«If two groups among the believers fight one another, then make peace between them. If one of them transgresses against the other [and rejects all efforts to make peace], then fight [all of you] against the one that transgresses, until it complies with the command of Allah...» (al-Hujurāt 49: 9)

«reconciliation is better» (4: 128). The one who strives to bring about reconciliation between people is better than one who stands in prayer, fasts and gives in charity. Allah will inevitably support him in his efforts and striving.

By the same token, Allah will not support the efforts of the one who strives to cause trouble among people, and he will not achieve his goal, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...verily Allah does not allow the work of the mischief-makers to thrive.﴾ (Yoonus 10: 81)

So when these things are done, it is good, as is indicated by this exception (to their private conversations).

But the completion and perfection of the reward will be in accordance with the level of one's intentions and sincerity. Hence Allah says: ﴿For the one who does that, seeking the pleasure of Allah, We will give him an immense reward﴾.

For this reason one should be sincere to Allah (ﷻ) in one's actions at all times and in everything good, so as to attain that great reward and get used to being sincere. Thus he will attain the reward in full, whether he fulfils his goal or not, because he has succeeded in forming the right intention and accompanied that with whatever effort he was able to make.

(سورة النساء: ١١٥-١١٦)

- 4:115. But whoever opposes the Messenger after guidance has become clear to him, and follows a path other than that of the believers, We will leave him to that which he himself has chosen and cast him into hell – an evil journey's end.

4:116. Allah does not forgive the ascription of partners to Him, but He forgives anything other than that to whomever He wills; whoever ascribes partners to Allah has indeed gone far astray.

That is, whoever opposes the Messenger (ﷺ) and stubbornly rejects the message he has brought, after guidance has become clear to him through Qur'anic evidence and prophetic proof, and follows a path other than that of the believers – their path is their way of beliefs and actions

We will leave him to that which he himself has chosen that is, what he has chosen for himself, and We will forsake him and not lead him to goodness, because he saw the truth and recognised it, but he rejected it. His recompense from Allah is just and fair: He will leave him confused in his misguidance and will increase his misguidance further, as He says elsewhere:

...So when they chose to deviate [from the truth], Allah caused their hearts to deviate [from right guidance]... (aṣ-Ṣaff 61: 5)

– and:

We will turn their hearts and eyes away [from the truth], since they refused to believe in it the first time... (al-An'ām 6: 110)

The meaning of these two verses indicates that whoever does not oppose the Messenger and follows the path of the believers, in the sense that his goal is to seek the Countenance of Allah, follow His Messenger (ﷺ) and adhere to the main body of the Muslims, then he commits sin or thinks of it, motivated by whims and desires and overwhelmed by his human nature, Allah will not abandon him to his own self and his shayṭān; rather He will rescue him by means of His kindness, bless him with His divine protection and protect him from evil, as Allah (ﷻ) said concerning Yoosuf:

...Thus We averted from him evil and shameful deeds. Verily, he was one of Our chosen slaves. (Yoosuf 12: 24)

– that is, because of his sincerity, We averted evil from him. The same applies to everyone who is sincere, as is indicated by the fact that the reason for protection is explained in general terms.

﴿and cast him into hell﴾ that is, We will punish him greatly therein
 ﴿an evil journey's end﴾ that is, final destination and eternal abode.

This threat for opposing the Prophet (ﷺ) and following a path other than that of the believers refers to various levels of punishment, according to the degree of opposition to the Prophet (ﷺ) and following a path other than that of the believers, and according to the degree of sin, minor or major – and no one knows the extent of that except Allah. Some of them will deserve to spend eternity in hell and will deserve all kinds of humiliation; others will deserve something less than that. Perhaps the second verse gives more details of this general statement.

The second verse tells us that Allah (ﷻ) will not forgive the sin of ascribing partners to Him, because this is a grave insult to the Lord of the worlds and a denial of His oneness; it implies regarding the created being who possesses no power to ward off harm from, or benefit, himself as equal to the One Who is in control and possesses the power to bring benefit or cause harm, the only One from Whom blessings come, and no one can ward off harm but He; He is utterly perfect in all aspects and completely independent of all needs.

One of the gravest kinds of wrongdoing and misguidance is not devoting worship to the One Who is like that and is so great, and directing any kind of devotion to a created being, who possesses none of the attributes of perfection or independence, and in fact without Allah is nothing, for he would not exist; he is imperfect, lacks independence and is in need in all respects.

Sins that are less than ascribing partners to Allah are subject to the divine will. If Allah wills, He will forgive them by His mercy and wisdom, and if He wills, He will punish for them by His justice and wisdom. This verse is quoted as proof for that on which this Ummah is unanimously agreed, and it is protected from agreeing on something wrong.

The explanation for that is that Allah warned the one who forsakes the path of the believers of humiliation and hell. The path of the believers refers to everything that the believers adhere to of beliefs and actions.

If they agree on something being obligatory or encouraged or prohibited or disliked or permissible, then this is their path, and whoever goes against them in any of that, after consensus has been established among them concerning it, has followed a path other than theirs. This is indicated in the verse in which Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿You are the best community ever brought forth for [the benefit of] humankind; you enjoin what is right, and forbid what is wrong...﴾
(Al 'Imrân 3: 110)

The point is that Allah (ﷻ) stated that the believers of this Ummah do not enjoin anything but that which is right, so if they all agree that something is obligatory or recommended, then it is part of that which they enjoin. Therefore, based on this text, what they enjoin must be right and there is nothing beyond what is right except that which is wrong. Similarly, if they agree that something is forbidden, then it is something that they forbid, so it cannot be anything but wrong.

An example of that is the verse in which Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Thus We have made of you an Ummah [nation, community] justly balanced, that you might be witnesses over humankind...﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 143)

In this verse Allah tells us that He has made this Ummah justly balanced – that is, just and good – so that they might be witnesses over humankind in all things. So if they testify that some matter has been enjoined by Allah or forbidden by Him, or permitted, then their testimony is infallible and cannot be wrong, because they have knowledge of what they testify to and are fair in their testimony. If it were otherwise, they would not be fair in their testimony and they would not have knowledge of it.

Another example is the verse in which Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿If you are in dispute over any matter, refer it to Allah and His Messenger﴾ (4: 59).

From this we may understand that with regard to matters concerning which they did not dispute, rather they were agreed upon them, they are not instructed to refer them to the Qur'an and Sunnah, because what they agree upon cannot be but in accordance with the Qur'an and Sunnah, so they cannot be contrary to them.

This verse and similar verses definitively prove that the consensus of this Ummah counts as binding evidence. Hence Allah describes the misguidance of the polytheists as reprehensible, as He says:

﴿إِنْ يَدْعُونَ مِنْ دُونِهِ إِلَّا إِنَا وَإِنْ يَدْعُونَ إِلَّا شَيْطَانًا مَرِيدًا ۝١١٧ لَعَنَهُ اللَّهُ وَقَالَ لَأَتَّخِذَنَّ مِنْ عِبَادِكَ نَصِيبًا مَفْرُوضًا ۝١١٨ وَلَا مُمِينَهُمْ وَلَا تُرْسِنَهُمْ فَلْيَبْتَئِكُنَّ ءَازِدَ الْآفَاقِ وَلَا مُرْسِمَهُمْ فَلْيَغْيِرْ بَ خَلْقِ اللَّهِ ۚ وَمَنْ يَتَّخِذِ الشَّيْطَانَ وَلِيًّا مِنْ دُونِ اللَّهِ فَقَدْ خَسِرَ خُسْرَانًا مُبِينًا ۝١١٩ يَبْعِدُهُمْ وَيُخَيِّبُهُمْ وَمَا يَعِدُهُمُ الشَّيْطَانُ إِلَّا غُرُورًا ۝١٢٠ أُولَٰئِكَ مَأْوَاهُمْ جَهَنَّمُ وَلَا يَجِدُونَ عَنْهَا مَحِيصًا ۝١٢١﴾ (سورة النساء: ١١٧-١٢١)

- 4:117. Instead of Him, they call upon none but female [deities]; they call upon none but a rebellious devil
- 4:118. whom Allah cursed, and he said: I will certainly take a designated portion of Your slaves,
- 4:119. And I will certainly lead them astray and fill them with false hopes. I will certainly order them to slit the ears of livestock and I will certainly order them to change the creation of Allah.

Whoever takes the Shayṭān as a protector [and helper] instead of Allah has indeed suffered a manifest loss.

4:120. [Shayṭān] makes promises to them and fills them with false hopes; but Shayṭān makes promises to them only in order to deceive them.

4:121. For these, their abode shall be hell, and they will find no escape from it.

That is, what these polytheists call upon instead of Allah is only female, namely the idols which were given female names such as al-‘Uzzâ and Manât, and so on. It is well known that the name is indicative of the nature of the thing named, so if these idols were given imperfect, female names, that must indicate that the things that were called by those names must be imperfect and lacking in attributes of perfection. Allah tells us in more than one place in His Book that they neither create nor grant provision, and they do not protect their worshippers; in fact they cannot bring benefit to or ward off harm from themselves, and they cannot help themselves against anyone who intends ill towards them. They cannot hear or see, and they have no intellect. So how can one that is like this be worshipped, and devotion not be focused on the One to Whom belong the most beautiful names, sublime attributes, praise, perfection, glory, majesty, might, beauty, mercy, kindness and generosity, Who is unique in His power to create and control, and is supremely wise in all that He commands and decrees?

Can this be anything but the worst of the worst, indicative of the shortcomings of the one who does that and of his having reached the vilest of lows, more ignoble than can be imagined or described? Moreover, they are only worshipping the images of these imperfect idols; in reality they are worshipping nothing but the Shayṭān, who is their enemy and is seeking to destroy them, doing all that he can to achieve that. He is furthest removed from Allah; Allah has cursed him and cast him far away from His mercy. Because Allah has cast him far away from His mercy, he is striving to cause people to be cast out from the mercy of Allah too.

﴿Verily, the Shayṭān is an enemy to you, so take him as an enemy. He only calls his followers so that they may become inhabitants of the raging fire.﴾ (Fāfir 35: 6)

Hence Allah tells us of the Shayṭān's efforts to deceive people and how he makes evil and mischief fair-seeming to them, for he said to his Lord, swearing an oath: ﴿I will certainly take a designated portion of Your slaves﴾. The accursed one knew that he would not be able to deceive all the slaves of Allah, and that he would have no power over the sincere slaves of Allah; rather his power would be over those who take him as a friend and prefer to obey him rather than to obey their Lord.

Elsewhere he swore to deceive them and said:

﴿...I will certainly mislead them all, except Your chosen [and sincere] slaves among them.﴾ (Sād 38: 82-83)

This is what the evil one wanted and was certain of. Allah (ﷻ) told us that it would take place when He said:

﴿Iblees found his expectations<sup>16</sup> concerning them to be correct, for they all followed him, except for a group of believers.﴾ (Saba' 34: 20)

Concerning this designated portion that he swore to Allah he would take, he stated what he wanted to do with them and what his plan was for them when he said: ﴿And I will certainly lead them astray﴾ that is, from the straight path – misguidance in terms of knowledge and misguidance in terms of deeds.

---

<sup>16</sup> That is, he had expected that he would be able to mislead them, as he said:

﴿...I will certainly mislead them all, except Your chosen [and sincere] slaves among them.﴾ (Sād 38: 82-83)

﴿and fill them with false hopes﴾ that is, in addition to leading them astray, I shall make them wish to attain that which those who are rightly guided will attain. This is the essence of deception: he was not content merely to lead them astray; rather he went further and made the misguidance they followed appear fair-seeming to them. He made them go further in the way of evil until they did the deeds of the people of hell which are deserving of punishment, but they thought that they were deserving of paradise. This is applicable to the Jews, Christians and others, for they are as Allah tells us about them:

﴿And they say: No one will enter paradise unless he is a Jew or a Christian. That is their own wishful thinking...﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 111)

﴿...Thus We have made fair-seeming to every nation its actions...﴾ (al-An'ām 6: 108)

﴿Say: Shall we tell you who will be the greatest losers in terms of deeds those whose efforts in the life of this world are wasted, while they think that what they do is right?﴾ (al-Kahf 18: 103-4)

Allah (ﷻ) tells us about the hypocrites, that on the Day of Resurrection they will say to the believers:

﴿...Were we not with you? They will say: Yes, but you gave in to confusion and temptation, you kept waiting [for some misfortune to befall us], you doubted, and you were deceived by false hopes, until the decree of Allah came to pass. Thus [Shayṭān] the deceiver deceived you concerning Allah.﴾ (al-Hadeed 57: 14)

﴿I will certainly order them to slit the ears of livestock﴾ that is, to cut the ears, as in the case of the baḥeerah, sā'ibah, waṣeelah and ḥām.<sup>17</sup> Here some of the animals concerned are mentioned, to refer to

<sup>17</sup> These words refer to certain categories of camels to which certain taboos were applied during the jāhiliyah.

Baḥeerah: a she-camel whose milk was dedicated to the idols.

Sā'ibah: a she-camel that was let loose for the sake of their false gods and no load was to be carried on it. = all of them. This is a kind of misguidance which implies prohibiting that which Allah has permitted, or permitting that which Allah has prohibited. That includes false beliefs and unjust rulings, which are among the worst types of misguidance.

﴿and I will certainly order them to change the creation of Allah﴾. That includes changing the outward appearance by means of tattooing, plucking eyebrows, filing the teeth for the purpose of beautification, and other things by means of which Shayṭān deceived them, so they changed and altered the creation of Allah (ﷻ).

This implies that the one who does such actions is discontent with Allah's creation, doubts His wisdom, and believes that what they do with their hands is better than the creation of the Most Merciful, and that they are not content with His decree and creation. That also includes changing the inner creation (that is, what one naturally believes). Allah (ﷻ) has created His slaves as inherently monotheist, with a natural inclination to accept and prefer the truth, but then the devils come to them and lead them away from that beautiful inclination, and make evil, ascription of partners to Allah, disbelief, immorality and disobedience appear fair-seeming to them.

Every infant is born in a state of fiṭrah (sound human nature) but his parents make him a Jew or a Christian or a Magian and so on, changing thereby the natural inclination that Allah has created in people to affirm His oneness, love Him and know Him. The devils attack them in this regard as scavengers and wolves attack the lost sheep.

Were it not for Allah's kindness and generosity towards His sincere believing slaves, the same thing would happen to them as happened

= Waṣeelah: a she-camel that produced female offspring the first and second times she gave birth, with no male offspring in between; she was also let loose for the sake of the idols.

Hām: a stallion camel that was let loose for the sake of the idols after siring a particular number of offspring, and was not required to carry any load.

to these who were led astray. This is what happened to them because of their turning away from their Lord and Creator, and taking as a friend the enemy who intends ill towards them in all ways. Thus they became losers in this world and in the hereafter, and they ended up with regret and sorrow, having lost out. For this reason Allah says: ﴿Whoever takes the Shayṭân as a protector [and helper] instead of Allah has indeed suffered a manifest loss﴾. What loss can be clearer and greater than that of the one who loses in terms of his religious and worldly well-being, and whose sins cause his doom? Therefore he incurs eternal misery and misses out on eternal bliss.

On the other hand, the one who takes his Lord as his friend and gives precedence to pleasing Him gains the most and succeeds immensely; he earns happiness in this world and the hereafter, and he will become content with that which Allah blesses him with. O Allah, no one can withhold what You give, and no one can give what You withhold. O Allah, take care of us among those of whom You take care, and pardon us among those whom You pardon.

Then Allah says: ﴿[Shayṭân] makes promises to them and fills them with false hopes﴾ that is, Shayṭân makes promises to those whom he strives to lead astray, but these promises also imply warnings, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿The Shayṭân threatens you with poverty...﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 268)

He threatens them that if they spend in Allah's cause, they will become poor, and he scares them by telling them that if they strive in jihad they will be killed, and so on, as Allah (ﷻ) tells us:

﴿That was only the Shayṭân, who tries to instil [in you] fear of his followers...﴾ (Âl 'Imrân 3: 175)

He tries to instil fear in them when they give precedence to pleasing Allah, by telling them of everything that may happen and everything that is not possible; he brainwashes them until they feel reluctant to do good. In like manner, he fills their minds with false hopes which, in reality, are like mirages which contain nothing real. Hence He says: ﴿but Shayṭān makes promises to them only in order to deceive them. For these, their abode shall be hell﴾ that is, whoever follows the Shayṭān and turns away from his Lord, and becomes one of the followers and party of Iblees, his final abode will be hell ﴿and they will find no escape from it﴾ that is, no one to save them and no refuge; rather they will abide therein for ever and ever.

After mentioning the final destination of the friends of the Shayṭān, who are doomed, Allah then mentions the final destination of His close friends, who are the blessed:

وَالَّذِينَ آمَنُوا وَعَمِلُوا الصَّالِحَاتِ سَنُدْخِلُهُمْ جَنَّاتٍ تَجْرَى مِنْ تَحْتِهَا الْأَنْهَارُ خَالِدِينَ فِيهَا أَبَدًا وَعْدَ اللَّهِ حَقًّا وَمَنْ أَصْدَقُ مِنَ اللَّهِ قِيلًا ﴿١٢٢﴾

(سورة النساء: ١٢٢)

- 4:122. But those who believe and do righteous deeds, We will admit them to gardens through which rivers flow, to abide therein forever. [This is] a true promise from Allah, and who is truer in word than Allah?

﴿those who believe﴾ in Allah, His angels, His Books, His Messengers, the Last Day, and the divine decree, both good and bad, in the manner in which they are instructed to believe in them, by understanding them, believing in them and affirming them ﴿and do righteous deeds﴾ that stem from faith.

That includes all enjoined deeds, both obligatory and encouraged, including beliefs, words and physical actions. Each deed brings a set reward, according to one's situation, attitude and intention, and the extent to which it complements faith and righteous deeds.

The individual will miss out on that set reward according to the degree to which he is lacking in faith and righteous deeds. This is in accordance with what is known of the wisdom and mercy of Allah and it is in accordance with His true promise, which is known to anyone who studies the Book of Allah and the Sunnah of His Messenger (ﷺ).

Hence He mentions the set reward for that: ﴿We will admit them to gardens through which rivers flow﴾, in which there is that which no eye has seen, no ear has heard, nor has it ever entered the mind of man, of all kinds of delicious food and drink, wondrous scenes, beautiful spouses, palaces, adorned chambers, amazing trees with low-hanging fruit, beautiful voices, and abundant blessings, where people will visit one another and remember the past, all of that in the gardens of paradise. And over and above all that will be Allah's being pleased with them, and their souls having the joy of being near to Him, seeing Him and listening to Him, which will make them forget all delights and pleasures, and were it not that Allah keeps them steadfast, they would soar and die with joy and happiness.

How sweet this blessing is, and how great is that which the Most Generous Lord has bestowed upon them. What happened to them of all goodness and joy is indescribable, and what makes it perfect and complete is the fact that they will abide for all eternity in those lofty abodes. Hence Allah says: ﴿to abide therein forever. [This is] a true promise from Allah, and who is truer in word than Allah?﴾ Almighty Allah speaks the truth, and His words and statements are of the utmost truthfulness, because His word is true and what it indicates is exactly what will happen; all that is indicated by His words will inevitably come to pass. The same is true of the words of His Messenger (ﷺ), because he does not say anything except by His command and does not utter anything except by His inspiration.

﴿لَيْسَ بِأَمَانِيكُمْ وَلَا أَمَانِي أَهْلِ الْكِتَابِ مَنْ يَعْمَلْ سُوءًا يُجْزَ بِهِ، وَلَا يَجِدْ لَهُ مِنْ دُونِ اللَّهِ وَلِيًّا وَلَا نَصِيرًا﴾ (١٢٣) وَمَنْ يَعْمَلْ مِنَ الصَّالِحَاتِ مِنْ ذَكَرٍ أَوْ أَنْتَى وَهُوَ مُؤْمِنٌ فَأُولَئِكَ يَدْخُلُونَ الْجَنَّةَ وَلَا يُظْلَمُونَ نَقِيرًا ﴿١٢٤﴾

(سورة النساء: ١٢٣-١٢٤)

- 4:123. It will not be in accordance with your wishes or the wishes of the People of the Book; whoever does evil will be requited for it, and he will not find, besides Allah, any protector or helper.
- 4:124. Whoever does righteous deeds, whether male or female, and is a believer – those will enter paradise, and they will not be wronged by even as much as the speck on a date stone.

﴿It﴾ that is, the matter of your salvation and purification ﴿will not be in accordance with your wishes or the wishes of the People of the Book﴾. “Wishes” refers to self-talk that is not based on actions, and which is accompanied by mere claims; if one wished the opposite, it would be all the same. This is general in meaning and applies to all matters, so how about if it applies to the issues of faith and eternal happiness?

Allah has told us of the wishes of the People of the Book, and that they said:

﴿...No one will enter paradise unless he is a Jew or a Christian. That is their own wishful thinking...﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 111)

And this is even more applicable in the case of those who have no Book or Messenger.

That also includes all those who claim to be Muslims, as is dictated by perfect justice and fairness. Merely claiming to belong to a religion, regardless of what it is, is of no use at all if the individual does not produce any evidence to support his claim. His deeds either confirm that claim or demonstrate that it is false. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿whoever does evil will be requited for it﴾. This includes all those who do evil, because evil includes all kinds of sin, both minor and major sins. This also includes all kinds of requital, small or great, in this world or in the hereafter.

In this regard people are of differing levels, which no one knows except Allah. Some do few bad deeds and some do many. One whose deeds are all evil cannot be anything but a disbeliever, and if he dies without having repented, he will be requited with eternal, painful punishment. If a person's deeds are righteous and he is steadfast in following the straight path most of the time, but he sometimes commits some minor sins, then whatever befalls him of worry, distress, harm and some pains – whether they are physical or emotional, or caused by the loss of a loved one or wealth and so on – will be an expiation for (some of) his sins. This is also part of the requital for his (bad) deeds. Allah has ordained this out of kindness to His slaves, and there are many different degrees between these two cases (the one whose deeds are all good and the one whose deeds are all evil).

This requital for evil deeds in general is limited to those who do not repent, for the one who repents is like the one who did not commit sin, as is indicated by the texts.

﴿and he will not find, besides Allah, any protector or helper﴾ these words dispel any idea that may arise that the one who deserves punishment for his deeds could have a protector, helper or intercessor to avert from him that which he deserves (of punishment). Allah (ﷻ) tells us that this is not the case; he has no friend who can get him what he wants, and no protector who could ward off from him that which he fears, except his Lord and Sovereign.

﴿Whoever does righteous deeds﴾ – that includes all actions, including thoughts, ideas and beliefs, as well as physical actions. It also includes every doer of deeds, human or jinn, young or old, male or female. Hence Allah says: ﴿whether male or female, and is a believer». Faith is the required condition for all deeds. No deed can be righteous or acceptable, or lead to reward, or ward off punishment, unless it is based on faith.

Deeds without faith are like the branches of a tree that was cut off from the root, or like a structure built on waves. Faith is the root and foundation, and the basis on which everything is built. This condition must be borne in mind whenever any good deed is mentioned in general terms: it should be understood that the reward for that deed is subject to the condition that it be based on faith.

«(those) that is, the ones who combine faith and righteous deeds «will enter paradise» which includes everything that one's heart may desire and that will delight one's eyes «and they will not be wronged by even as much as the speck on a date stone» that is, they will not be wronged to any degree, small or great, for what they did of good deeds; rather they will find it complete and multiplied greatly.

﴿وَمَنْ أَحْسَنُ دِينًا مِمَّنْ أَسْلَمَ وَجْهَهُ لِلَّهِ وَهُوَ مُحْسِنٌ وَاتَّبَعَ مِلَّةَ إِبْرَاهِيمَ حَنِيفًا وَاتَّخَذَ اللَّهُ إِبْرَاهِيمَ خَلِيلًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٢٥)

- 4:125. Who can be better in religion than one who submits himself [completely] to Allah, is a doer of good, and follows the religion of Ibrâheem, the monotheist? For Allah did take Ibrâheem as a close friend.

That is, nothing is better than the way of one who combines sincerity to Allah with submitting himself to Him, which is indicative of full submission to Allah both inwardly and outwardly, turning to Him and being devoted to Him, body and soul.

﴿is a doer of good﴾ that is, in addition to this devotion and submission, he follows the teachings of Sharia and the rulings with which Allah sent His Messenger (ﷺ) and that He revealed in His Books, and made them a way to be followed by the elite of His creation and their followers.

﴿and follows the religion of Ibrâheem﴾ that is, his teachings and path

﴿the monotheist [haneef﴾ that is, inclining<sup>18</sup> away from polytheism towards monotheism, and away from created beings in order to focus and devote himself to the Creator.

﴿For Allah did take Ibrâheem as a close friend﴾. Close friendship is the highest level of love; this is the status that was obtained by the two close friends (khaleels) of Allah: Muhammad and Ibrâheem (blessings and peace of Allah be upon them both). Allah's love is for all the believers; Allah only took Ibrâheem as a close friend because he fulfilled the command that was enjoined upon him and he passed the test. Therefore Allah made him a leader of humankind, took him as His close friend and made him renowned among all people.

﴿وَلِلّٰهِ مَا فِي السَّمٰوٰتِ وَمَا فِي الْاَرْضِ وَكَانَ اللّٰهُ بِكُلِّ شَيْءٍ مُّحِيطًا﴾

(سورة النساء: ١٢٦)

4:126. To Allah belongs all that is in the heavens and on earth; verily Allah encompasses all things.

This verse highlights the fact that Allah (ﷻ) encompasses all things, hence He tells us that to Him belongs ﴿all that is in the heavens and on earth» that is, all creatures are His property and His slaves, and He is the only Master Who controls them. His knowledge encompasses all that may be known, His vision encompasses all that can be seen, His hearing encompasses all that may be heard, His will and decree control all that exists and His mercy encompasses the inhabitants of heaven and earth. Every creature is subject to His might and power, and all things submit to Him.

﴿وَسْتَفْتُونَكَ فِي النِّسَاءِ ۖ قُلِ اللَّهُ يُفْتِيكُمْ فِيهِنَّ وَمَا يُتْلَىٰ عَلَيْكُمْ فِي الْكِتَابِ فِي يَتِمَىٰ النِّسَاءِ الَّتِي لَا تَوْلُونَهُنَّ مَا كُتِبَ لَهُنَّ وَرَغِبُونَ أَنْ تَنْكِحُوهُنَّ وَالْمُسْتَضْعِفِينَ مِنَ الْوِلْدَانِ وَأَنْ تَقُومُوا لِلْيَتَامَىٰ بِالْقِسْطِ ۚ وَمَا تَفْعَلُوا مِنْ خَيْرٍ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ كَانَ بِهِ عَلِيمًا ۝﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٢٧)

- 4:127. They ask you [O Muhammad] for a ruling concerning women. Say: Allah gives you a ruling concerning them, [as does] that which is recited to you in the Book concerning female orphans to whom you do not give what is prescribed for them [of mahr and inheritance], yet you desire to marry them, and concerning helpless children, that you should treat orphans equitably. Whatever you do of good deeds, Allah has full knowledge of it.

Asking for a ruling is a request for an explanation of the Islamic verdict concerning the matter asked about. Allah tells us that the believers asked the Messenger (ﷺ) about the ruling on women that has to do with them, and Allah (ﷻ) answered this question Himself. He said: «{Say: Allah gives you a ruling concerning them}», so act in accordance with the ruling He gives you in all affairs pertaining to women, namely giving them their rights, not mistreating them in general terms and in specific cases.

This command is general in meaning and includes all that Allah has ordained, both commands and prohibitions, with regard to women, wives and others, young and old.

Then after making a general statement, Allah refers specifically to the instruction to be kind to the weak, namely orphans and children, out of concern for them and warning against neglecting their rights, as He says:

﴿[as does] that which is recited to you in the Book concerning female orphans﴾ that is, He also explains to you through that which is recited to you in the Book concerning female orphans

﴿to whom you do not give what is prescribed for them﴾. This highlights the situation that really existed at that time. If a female orphan was under the care of a man, he would undermine her rights and mistreat her, either by devouring her wealth, all or some of it, or by preventing her from getting married so that he could benefit from her wealth, for fear of losing her wealth to her husband; or he would take some of her mahr that was given to her when she got married, by stipulating a condition or otherwise. This was the case if he was not interested in marrying her, but if he did want to marry her and she was beautiful and had wealth, he would not be fair with regard to her mahr; rather he would give her less than she deserved. All of these things come under the heading of injustice and wrongdoing mentioned in this text. Hence Allah said:

﴿yet you desire to marry them﴾ – the original Arabic may mean either you desire to marry them or you do not desire to marry them. Both cases are discussed above.

﴿and concerning helpless children﴾ – Allah also gives you a ruling concerning helpless small children: you should give them their rights, of inheritance and otherwise, and you should not seize their wealth unlawfully and wrongfully.

﴿that you should treat orphans equitably﴾ that is, with complete justice. That includes paying attention to the way in which you raise them, by making them adhere to the commands of Allah and what He has enjoined upon His slaves. Guardians are responsible for that, for making them adhere to that which Allah has made obligatory.

The Arabic term translated above as treating (equitably) may also mean taking care of their worldly interests by tending their wealth and looking for the best way to invest it for them, and handling it only in the best manner. At the same time they should not do favours to their friends or anyone else at the expense of the orphans, such as giving a girl in their care in marriage to a friend, and so on, in such a way that undermines their rights. This highlights Allah's mercy towards His slaves, as He instructs them to look after the interests of those who cannot take care of themselves because they are in a weak position and have lost their father.

Then Allah encourages kindness in general terms, as He says: ﴿Whatever you do of good deeds﴾ to orphans and others, ﴿Allah has full knowledge of it﴾ that is, His knowledge encompasses the deeds of those who do good, whether they are few or many, good or the opposite, and He will requite each person in accordance with his deeds.

﴿وَإِنْ أَمْرَأَةٌ خَافَتْ مِنْ بَعْلِهَا نُشُوزًا أَوْ إِعْرَاضًا فَلَا جُنَاحَ عَلَيْهِمَا أَنْ يُصْلِحَا بَيْنَهُمَا صُلْحًا وَالصُّلْحُ خَيْرٌ وَأُحْضِرَتِ الْأَنْفُسُ الشُّحَّ وَإِنْ تُحْسِنُوا وَتَتَّقُوا فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ كَانَ بِمَا تَعْمَلُونَ خَبِيرًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٢٨)

4:128. If a woman fears ill treatment or indifference on her husband's part, there is no blame on them if they settle the matter amicably between themselves [by compromising on their rights], for reconciliation is better, even though avarice is ever-present in human souls. If you do good and practise self-restraint, Allah is well aware of all that you do.

That is, if a woman fears ill treatment from her husband, meaning that he will look down at her, have no desire for her and be indifferent to her, then in this case it is better to bring about reconciliation between them, by means of the woman giving up some of her Islamically-affirmed rights to her husband, so that she could remain with him. This may be done by her agreeing to less than she is entitled to in terms of either maintenance, clothing, accommodation or a share of his time, by waiving some of her rights, or she may give her day and night to her husband or her co-wife.

If they both agree to that, there is nothing wrong with it and there is no blame on them in that regard, either on her or her husband. In that case it is permissible for her husband to stay with her according to these terms, and this is better than separation. Hence Allah says: ﴿for reconciliation is better﴾. From the general meaning of this phrase it may be understood that reconciliation between two parties who have rights over one another or between whom there is a dispute on any matter is better than each party insisting on his or her full rights, because doing so brings about reconciliation, preserves harmony and creates an atmosphere of tolerance.

Reconciliation is permissible in all matters, unless it permits something that is prohibited or prohibits something that is permissible, in which case it is not reconciliation; rather it is injustice.

It should be noted that no ruling can be implemented or carried out unless there is a reason for doing so and there are no impediments to doing so. That includes this important ruling, namely reconciliation. Allah (ﷻ) mentioned the reason for that, by pointing out that it is better, and what is better is something sought by every rational person. Moreover, Allah has enjoined it and encouraged it, therefore the believer should be more eager to seek it and attain it.

The impediment is mentioned in the words: ﴿even though avarice is ever-present in human souls﴾ that is, human souls are created with an inclination towards avarice, which makes the individual reluctant to give what is due to others and makes him keen to demand his own rights. Souls are naturally inclined towards that, so you should strive to rid yourself of this bad characteristic and replace it with its opposite, which is tolerance and an easy-going nature. That means giving what is due to others and being content with some of that to which you are entitled.

When a person is helped and guided to acquire this good characteristic, it then becomes easy for him to reconcile with his opponent, and that paves the way to reaching the goal more easily. This is in contrast to the one who does not strive to remove avarice from his heart, so it becomes difficult for him to reach an agreement and reconcile with others, because he will not be content unless he gets all of his dues, and he will not be content to give all that he is required to give to others. And if the other party is also like him, the problem will become worse.

Then Allah says: ﴿If you do good and practise self-restraint﴾ that is, do good in worshipping the Creator, which means worshipping your Lord as if you can see Him, for even though you cannot see Him, He sees you; and do good to other people in all ways, benefiting them with one's wealth, knowledge or status, or in other ways ﴿and practise self-restraint﴾ and fear Allah by doing all that is enjoined and refraining from all that is prohibited, or do good by doing what is enjoined and fear Allah by refraining from that which is prohibited. ﴿Allah is well aware of all that you do﴾ – He encompasses it with His knowledge, both as it outwardly appears to be and what is hidden of intentions; He records it and will requite you for it in full.

﴿وَلَنْ تَسْتَطِيعُوا أَنْ تَمْدِلُوا بَيْنَ الْإِنْسَاءِ وَلَوْ حَرَصْتُمْ فَلَا تَمِيلُوا كُلَّ الْمِيلِ فَتَدْرُوهَا كَالْمُعَلَّقَةِ وَإِنْ تُصْلِحُوا وَتَتَّقُوا فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ كَانَ عَفُورًا رَحِيمًا﴾

4:129. You will never be able to treat your wives with absolute equity, however much you may desire to do so. But do not incline too much to one of them so as to leave the other hanging. If you do what is right and refrain from injustice, verily Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.

Here Allah (ﷻ) states that husbands will not be able to be fully equitable between their wives, because equity requires equal love and being inclined equally to all of them, and then acting accordingly, and this is simply not possible. Therefore Allah forgives that which cannot be done, and forbids that which is possible (of inequity), as He says: ﴿But do not incline too much to one of them so as to leave the other hanging﴾ that is, do not incline in such a way that you do not fulfil their obligatory rights; rather do what you can to treat them equitably.

Therefore with regard to maintenance, clothing, sharing one's time between them and so on, you must be fair and treat them equitably. This is in contrast to love, intercourse and so on. If the husband fails to give his wife her rights, then she will be left hanging, unlike the one who has no husband, so she is certain of her situation and can prepare to find a husband and get married, and also unlike the one who has a husband who gives her her rights.

﴿If you do what is right﴾ with regard to the relationship between you and your wives, by forcing yourself to do that which you may not be inclined to do, seeking reward thereby and doing your duty towards your wife, and also reconcile with other people concerning disputes that you may have with them. This indicates that it is encouraged to follow every path that may lead to reconciliation, as mentioned above.

﴿and refrain from injustice﴾ that is, by doing what is enjoined, refraining from what is forbidden, and accepting with patience what is decreed

﴿verily Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful﴾ – He will forgive whatever you have done of sins and falling short in your obligatory duties, and He will have mercy on you as you have been kind to your wives and shown them compassion.

﴿وَإِنْ يَفْرَقَا يَغْنِ اللَّهُ كِلَا مِنْ سَعَتِهِ ۚ وَكَانَ اللَّهُ وَاسِعًا حَكِيمًا﴾ (سورة

النساء: ١٣٠)

4:130. But if they separate, Allah will compensate both out of His abundance, for Allah is All-Encompassing, Most Wise.

This is a third option for spouses: if it is not possible to bring about reconciliation, then there is nothing wrong with separating.

﴿But if they separate﴾ by means of talâq, annulment of the marriage, khul', or otherwise

﴿Allah will compensate both﴾ spouses ﴿out of His abundance﴾ that is, out of His bounty and His vast and all-encompassing kindness. He will compensate the husband with a wife who is better for him than her, and He will make her independent of means by His grace and bounty. If her share of provision stops coming from her husband, then her provision will come from the One Who guarantees the provision of all and takes care of their interests, and perhaps Allah will bless her with a husband who is better than him.

﴿for Allah is All-Encompassing﴾ that is, His grace is immense and His mercy is vast. His mercy and kindness reach as far as His knowledge reaches.

But in addition to that, He is also ﴿Most Wise﴾ that is, He bestows His grace and mercy, or withholds them, on the basis of wisdom. If His wisdom dictates that He should withhold His kindness from some of His slaves, because of some deeds on their part due to which they do not deserve His kindness, He will withhold it from them on the basis of justice and mercy.

- 4:131. To Allah belongs all that is in the heavens and all that is on earth. We have instructed those who were given the scripture before you, as well as you [O Muslims], to fear Allah. But if you disbelieve, then surely to Allah belongs all that is in the heavens and on earth, and Allah is Self-Sufficient, Worthy of all praise.
- 4:132. To Allah belongs all that is in the heavens and all that is on earth, and sufficient is Allah as a disposer of affairs.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us how vast and great is His sovereignty, which means that He is in control of all things and ordains all things, through His Sharia and by His will and decree.

Through His Sharia, Allah instructed the earlier and later generations, the people of the previous and later Books, to fear Him by following His commands and heeding His prohibitions. He also issued laws and regulations, rewarding those who follow His instructions, and punishing those who neglect them and overlook them with the most painful punishment. Hence He says: ﴿But if you disbelieve﴾ by failing to fear Allah and by associating with Allah that for which He has not sent any authority down to you, then you are only harming yourselves; you are not harming Allah in the slightest or diminishing His sovereignty. He has slaves who are better, greater and more numerous than you, who obey Him and submit to His command. Therefore He refers to that when He says: ﴿But if you disbelieve, then surely to Allah belongs all that is in the heavens and on earth, and Allah is Self-Sufficient, Worthy of all praise». He is Most Generous and Most Kind. He bestows His bounty from the vast reserves of His mercy, which are never diminished by His spending, which continues all day and all night. If the people of the heavens and the people of the earth, the first and last of them, were all to come together and each one of them was to ask for all that he wishes for, that would not detract in the slightest from His sovereignty. He is generous and possessed of abundant wealth, and His giving and His punishing take just one word; His command, when He wills something, is merely to say, 'Be!' and it is.

By virtue of His being completely self-sufficient He is perfect in all attributes, because if there were to be any shortcomings or imperfections in Him, that would be a kind of need for that quality (in order to perfect it). But He possesses all the attributes of perfection, and in each attribute He has the highest level of perfection. One of the aspects of His self-sufficiency is that He has no wife or child, and no partner in His sovereignty, and no supporter or helper in His running the affairs of His dominion. Another aspect of His self-sufficiency is that the inhabitants of the upper and lower realms are in need of Him in all their situations and affairs, and they ask of Him for all their needs, small and great. Allah (ﷻ) is in charge of all their needs and requests; He meets their needs, honours them, bestows His favour upon them out of kindness, and guides them.

«Worthy of all praise» – (al-Hameed) is one of the majestic names of Allah (ﷻ), which indicates that He alone is the One Who deserves all praise, love and honour, because of what He possesses of the attributes of praise, namely the attributes of beauty and majesty, and because of what He bestows upon His creation of immense blessings. Therefore He is praiseworthy in all ways.

How beautiful is this pairing of these two noble names: «Self-Sufficient, Worthy of all praise», for He is independent of means and praiseworthy. He is perfect in His self-sufficiency and He is perfect in His praiseworthiness, and He is perfect for having both of these attributes together.

Then He repeats that His sovereignty encompasses all that is in the heavens and all that is on earth, and that He is in charge of all things. In other words, He knows all things and is running the affairs of all things on the basis of His wisdom, and that is part of being in charge of things in the most perfect sense. Being in charge of things requires knowledge of what one is in charge of, as well as strength and the ability to do the job and run affairs. That running of affairs should be based on wisdom and what serves the best interests, for any shortcoming is indicative of shortcomings in the one who is in charge of things, and Allah (ﷻ) is far above having any shortcomings.

﴿إِنْ يَشَأْ يُذْهِبْكُمْ أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ وَيَأْتِ بِآخَرِينَ ۚ وَكَانَ اللَّهُ عَلَىٰ ذَٰلِكَ قَدِيرًا
 ﴿١٣٣﴾ مَن كَانَ يُرِيدُ ثَوَابَ الدُّنْيَا فَعِندَ اللَّهِ ثَوَابُ الدُّنْيَا وَالْآخِرَةِ ۚ وَكَانَ اللَّهُ سَمِيعًا
 بَصِيرًا ﴿١٣٤﴾﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٣٣-١٣٤)

- 4:133. If He so willed, He could destroy you, O people, and bring others [in your stead], for He has power to do that.
- 4:134. Whoever seeks the reward of this world, then with Allah is the reward of this world and of the hereafter. Allah is All-Hearing, All-Seeing.

That is, He is Self-Sufficient, Worthy of all praise, the One Who is possessed of complete power and you are subject to His will.

﴿If He so willed, He could destroy you, O people, and bring others [in your stead]﴾ that is, other people who would be more obedient to Allah than you and better than you. This is a warning to the people against persisting in disbelief and turning away from their Lord. Allah does not care about them if they do not obey Him; He may give them respite and allow them to get carried away, but He will not leave them alone for ever (and He is always aware of them).

Then Allah tells us that in the case of one whose main focus and ambition is low, and does not go beyond the reward of this world, and he does not care about the hereafter, his efforts are falling short and he is short-sighted, yet despite that he will not get anything of the reward of this world except what Allah has decreed for him. For He is the Sovereign of all things, in His command is the reward of this world and the hereafter. Therefore they are to be sought from Him and His help is to be sought to acquire both, for that which is with Him cannot be attained except by means of obedience to Him, and both religious and worldly aims can only be achieved by seeking His help and always demonstrating one's need of Him.

He is supremely wise in guiding and helping those whom He guides and helps, and in forsaking those Whom he forsakes, and in His giving and withholding. Hence He says: «Allah is All-Hearing, All-Seeing».

Then Allah (ﷻ) says:

يٰۤاَيُّهَا الَّذِيْنَ ءٰمَنُوْا كُوْنُوْا قَوَّٰمِيْنَ بِالْقِسْطِ شٰهَدَآءَ لِلّٰهِ وَلَوْ عَلٰى اَنْفُسِكُمْ اَوْ
اَلْوٰلِدِيْنَ وَالْاَقْرَبِيْنَ اِنْ يَكُنْ غَنِيًّا اَوْ فَقِيْرًا ۗ فَاَللّٰهُ اَوَّلٰى بِمَا ۙ فَلَا تَتَّبِعُوا الْهَوٰى اَنْ
تَعْدِلُوْا ۚ وَاِنْ تَلَوْا اَوْ نَعَرَضُوْا ۖ فَاِنَّ اللّٰهَ كَانَ بِمَا تَعْمَلُوْنَ خَبِيْرًا ﴿١٣٥﴾ (سورة النساء:

(١٣٥)

- 4:135. O you who believe, be steadfast in justice and bear true witness for the sake of Allah, even if it is against yourselves, your parents, or your kinsfolk. Whether he is rich or poor, Allah can best take care of both. So do not follow your emotions, lest you swerve from justice. If you distort your testimony or decline to give it, then verily Allah is well aware of all that you do.

---

---

Here Allah instructs His believing slaves to ﴿be steadfast in justice and bear true witness for the sake of Allah﴾. The word qawwām (translated here as ﴿steadfast﴾) is an intensive form of the word. What is meant is: in all your affairs, be steadfast in standing up for justice, which means being just with regard to the dues of Allah and the dues of His slaves. Justice with regard to the dues of Allah means not using His blessings as a means to disobey Him; rather they should be used as a means to do righteous deeds.

Justice with regard to the dues of other people means paying all dues that you owe to others, just as you demand your own dues. So you must spend on obligatory maintenance, pay debts, and treat others with a good attitude as you would like to be treated.

One of the greatest types of justice is justice with regard to views and opinions, and those who hold those views. So you should not judge in favour of one of two views, or one of two disputants, because of his affiliation or because of your inclination towards one of the two. Rather you should make it your aim to judge between them on the basis of justice and fairness. Another aspect of justice is giving testimony of what you know, regardless of the way in which you know it, even if that is against loved ones or against oneself. Hence Allah says: ﴿and bear true witness for the sake of Allah, even if it is against yourselves, your parents, or your kinsfolk. Whether he is rich or poor, Allah can best take care of both﴾. That is: do not favour the rich man because of his wealth, or the poor man out of mercy towards him – or so you claim; rather you should give testimony on the basis of truth, regardless of who may be affected.

Being steadfast in justice is one of the most important matters, and is one of the most indicative of the religious commitment, piety and status in Islam of the one who is just. The one who is sincere to himself or wants to save himself must pay the utmost attention to justice, make it his focus, resolve to attain it, and strive to rid himself of all obstacles and barriers that prevent him from adhering to justice and acting accordingly.

The greatest barrier to that is following whims and desires. Hence Allah (ﷻ) points out the importance of ridding oneself of this barrier, as He says: ﴿So do not follow your emotions﴾ that is, do not follow your own emotions, whims and desires that are contrary to the truth, lest – by doing so – you swerve from the right path and are not guided to justice, for whims and desires will either make a person blind, so that he sees the truth as false and falsehood as true, or he may recognise the truth but fail to follow it because of his whims and desires. The one who is saved from his whims and desires has been guided to the truth and to the straight path.

When Allah stated that it is essential to be steadfast in justice, He also forbade the opposite of that, which is distorting one's testimony and the like, twisting one's words in order to avoid stating the truth in all aspects or in some aspects. That includes distorting one's testimony and not giving it in full, or applying one's testimony to a different issue. All of that comes under the heading of distorting testimony, because it is a deviation from the truth.

﴿or decline to give it﴾ that is, fail to be just as you are enjoined to be, such as the witness withholding his testimony, or the judge not giving his verdict that he should give.

﴿then verily Allah is well aware of all that you do﴾ that is, He encompasses with His knowledge all that you do, both in secret and openly. This is a stern warning to the one who distorts his testimony or declines to give it. It is more appropriate that this be addressed to the one who judges on the basis of falsehood or gives false testimony, because his offence is greater; the former only failed to do what is right, but the latter fails to do what is right and also does what is wrong.

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا ءَامِنُوا بِاللّٰهِ وَرَسُولِهِ ؕ وَالْكِتَٰبِ الَّذِى نَزَّلَ عَلَىٰ رَسُولِهِ ؕ وَالْكِتَٰبِ الَّذِى أَنزَلَ مِن قَبْلُ ۚ وَمَن يَكْفُرْ بِاللّٰهِ وَمَلَٰئِكَتِهِ وَكُتُبِهِ وَرُسُلِهِ ؕ وَالْيَوْمِ الْآخِرِ فَقَدْ ضَلَّ ضَلَالًا بَعِيدًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٣٦)

4:136. O you who believe, believe in Allah and His Messenger, and the Book which He has sent down to His Messenger and the Books which He sent down before. Whoever disbelieves in Allah, His angels, His Books, His Messengers, and the Last Day, has indeed gone far astray.

It should be noted that commands and instructions are either addressed to the person who is not doing something, so this is an instruction to start doing it, such as the command addressed to those who do not believe, telling them to believe, as in the verse in which Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿O you who have been given the scripture, believe in what We have revealed [to Muhammad], confirming what is with you...﴾ (an-Nisâ' 4: 47)

– or they are addressed to the one who has started to do something; in this case it is an instruction to correct what he is doing and to go further and do what he is not already doing. An example of that is what Allah says in this verse, instructing the believers to believe. That is an implicit instruction to do that which will correct their faith on the basis of sincerity, to avoid that which may spoil it, and to repent from anything that may undermine faith.

This is also an implicit instruction to do that which the believer is lacking of attaining Islamic knowledge and doing righteous deeds.

Every time any text reaches him and he understands its meaning and believes it, that is part of the belief which is enjoined. The same applies to all inward and outward actions: they are all part of faith, as is indicated by many texts and as the early generations of the Ummah were unanimously agreed.

Then one should continue in that way and remain steadfast until death, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿O you who believe, fear Allah as He should be feared, and do not die except as Muslims.﴾ (Āl 'Imrān 3: 102)

Here Allah instructs us to believe in Him and in His Messenger (ﷺ), the Qur'an, and the previous Books. All of this is part of the obligatory faith, without which a person cannot be a believer; he should believe in general terms with regard to that which he does not know the details of, and in detail with regard to that of which he comes to know in detail. The one who believes as enjoined in this manner has indeed been guided and will succeed.

﴿Whoever disbelieves in Allah, His angels, His Books, His Messengers, and the Last Day, has indeed gone far astray﴾ – and what misguidance can be greater than the misguidance of one who forsakes the straight path of guidance and follows the path that leads to the painful punishment?

It should be understood that disbelieving in any of these things is like disbelieving in all of them, because they are interconnected and it is not possible to believe in some of them without believing in others.

Then Allah says:

﴿إِنَّ الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا ثُمَّ كَفَرُوا ثُمَّ ءَامَنُوا ثُمَّ كَفَرُوا ثُمَّ ءَزَادُوا كُفْرًا لَّيْكَنَ اللَّهُ يُغَيِّرُ

لَهُمْ وَلَا لِيُهْدِيَهُمْ سَبِيلًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٣٧)

4:137. Those who believe, then disbelieve, then believe [again], then disbelieve [again], and thereafter grow hardened in their disbelief – Allah will not forgive them nor guide them to any path [that leads to truth].

That is, the one who repeatedly disbelieves after having believed, so he is guided and then misguided, and he sees then he becomes blind, and he believes then he disbelieves and persists and increases in his disbelief, is far removed from divine help and guidance to the straight path, and he is far removed from forgiveness, because he has produced the greatest impediment to attaining it. His disbelief is a punishment and becomes part of his nature that will not disappear, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...So when they chose to deviate [from the truth], Allah caused their hearts to deviate [from right guidance]...﴾ (as-Saff 61: 5)

﴿We will turn their hearts and eyes away [from the truth], since they refused to believe in it the first time...﴾ (al-An'ām 6: 110)

This verse indicates that if they do not increase in disbelief, rather they come back to faith and give up what they were following of misguidance, then Allah will forgive them, even if they apostatised repeatedly. If this is the case with regard to disbelief, then it is more appropriate that in the case of other sins that are less grave than disbelief, if a person commits them repeatedly then turns back to Allah and repents, Allah will forgive him again.

﴿بَشِّرِ الْمُنَافِقِينَ بِأَنَّ لَهُمْ عَذَابًا أَلِيمًا ﴿١٣٨﴾ الَّذِينَ يَتَّخِذُونَ الْكَافِرِينَ أَوْلِيَاءَ مِنْ دُونِ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ أَبِئِنَّهُمْ عِنْدَهُمُ الْغَرَّةُ فَإِنَّ الْغَرَّةَ لِلَّهِ جَمِيعًا ﴿١٣٩﴾﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٣٨-١٣٩)

- 4:138. Give tidings to the hypocrites, that theirs will be a painful punishment.
- 4:139. [As for] those who take the disbelievers as allies<sup>19</sup> rather than the believers, are they seeking power with them? Verily all power belongs to Allah.

The word translated here as «tidings» is usually used to refer to good, but may sometimes refer to evil, as in this verse. Allah says: «Give tidings to the hypocrites» that is, those who make an outward display of being Muslims, whilst concealing disbelief; give them the worst tidings, namely tidings of the painful punishment, because of their love for the disbelievers, and their taking them as allies and supporting them, and their failing to take the believers as allies. What made them do that? Are they seeking power with them?

This is how the hypocrites really are. They think negatively of Allah and they lack certain faith that Allah will help His believing slaves. They focus on some means of power that the disbelievers have and they fail to look beyond that, so they take the disbelievers as allies, seeking power with them and seeking their help.

But in fact all power belongs to Allah; the forelocks of all people are in His Hand and His will concerning them is always done. He has guaranteed to support His religion and His believing slaves, even if that is after some tests for His believing slaves and after causing the enemy to prevail over them temporarily. The ultimate outcome is always in favour of the believers.

In this verse there is a stern warning against taking the disbelievers as allies and failing to take the believers as allies, because that is one of the characteristics of the hypocrites. Faith dictates that we should love the believers and take them as allies, and hate the disbelievers and regard them as enemies.

<sup>19</sup> The word awliyā', translated here as «allies», may also mean protectors, supporters, close friends, and so on.

﴿وَقَدْ نَزَّلَ عَلَيْكُمْ فِي الْكِتَابِ أَنْ إِذَا سَمِعْتُمْ آيَاتَ اللَّهِ يُكْفَرُ بِهَا وَيُسْتَهْزَأُ بِهَا فَلَا تَقْعُدُوا مَعَهُمْ حَتَّى يَخُوضُوا فِي حَدِيثٍ غَيْرِهِ ۚ إِنَّكُمْ إِذَا مِثْلُهُمْ إِنَّ اللَّهَ جَامِعُ الْمُنَافِقِينَ وَالْكَافِرِينَ فِي جَهَنَّمَ جَمِيعًا ۝١٤٠﴾ الَّذِينَ يَرَبُّصُونَ بِكُمْ فَإِنْ كَانَ لَكُمْ فَتْحٌ مِنَ اللَّهِ قَالُوا أَلَمْ تَكُنْ مَعَكُمْ وَإِنْ كَانَ لِلْكَافِرِينَ نَصِيبٌ قَالُوا أَلَمْ نَسْتَوْذْ عَلَيْكُمْ وَنَمْنَعَكُمْ مِنَ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ ۚ فَاللَّهُ يَحْكُمُ بَيْنَكُمْ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ ۚ وَلَنْ يَجْعَلَ اللَّهُ لِلْكَافِرِينَ عَلَى الْمُؤْمِنِينَ سَبِيلًا ۝١٤١﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٤٠-١٤١)

- 4:140. He has already revealed to you in the Book that when you hear the revelations of Allah being rejected and ridiculed, do not sit with them until they begin to talk of other things; otherwise, you would be like them. Verily Allah will gather all the hypocrites and disbelievers together in hell.
- 4:141. [The hypocrites are] those who are waiting and watching to see what happens to you. If Allah grants you a victory, they say: Were we not with you? But if the disbelievers meet with a success, they say [to them]: Did we not help you win, and protect you from the believers? But Allah will judge between you on the Day of Resurrection. Allah will not grant the disbelievers means to prevail over the believers.

Allah has explained to you – in what He has revealed to you – that His shar‘i rulings are to be followed when attending gatherings in which disbelief and sin are present:

﴿He has already revealed to you in the Book that when you hear the revelations of Allah being rejected and ridiculed﴾ that is, being belittled. That is because what is required of every accountable person with regard to the revelations of Allah is to believe in them, then venerate them and respect them. That is the purpose for which they were revealed, and it is the purpose for which Allah created His creation. The opposite of belief is rejection of them, and the opposite of respecting them is mocking them and scorning them. That includes the arguments that the disbelievers and hypocrites may come up with to invalidate the revelations of Allah and support their disbelief.

The same also applies to innovators of various types. Their argument in support of their falsehood implies disrespect towards the revelations of Allah, because the revelation only supports the truth, and does not contain anything but truth. And in fact this also applies to attending gatherings of sin and immorality, in which the commands and prohibitions of Allah are flouted and the limits that He has set for His slaves are transgressed. This ruling also includes the prohibition on sitting with them, ﴿until they begin to talk of other things﴾ that is, things other than disbelief in the revelations of Allah and ridiculing them.

﴿otherwise﴾ that is, if you sit with them in the situation mentioned, ﴿you would be like them﴾ because then you would be approving of their disbelief and ridicule, and the one who approves of sin is like the one who does it. The point is that whoever attends a gathering in which Allah is disobeyed is obliged to object to them if he is able to, or to get up and leave if he is not able to do so.

﴿Verily Allah will gather all the hypocrites and disbelievers together in hell﴾ just as they came together as allies in their disbelief. The fact that they outwardly appeared to be with the believers will not benefit the disbelievers (or hypocrites), as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿On that day, the hypocrite men and hypocrite women will say to the believers: Wait for us, so that we may have some of your light...﴾
(al-Hadeed 57: 13)

Then Allah highlights how the hypocrites take the disbelievers as allies and show enmity towards the believers:

﴿[The hypocrites are] those who are waiting and watching to see what happens to you﴾ that is, they are waiting to see how you will end up, and whether the outcome will be good or bad for you; they have prepared a response in either case, according to their hypocrisy.

﴿If Allah grants you a victory, they say: Were we not with you?﴾ They pretend that they were with the believers both outwardly and inwardly, so that they will be safe from criticism and aspersions, and so that they will have a share of the booty and fay’, and so that they will be able to ask for help.

﴿But if the disbelievers meet with a success﴾. He did not say victory, because they do not attain victory in the sense of permanently prevailing; rather it is just a success that does not mean the end of the matter, by the wisdom of Allah.

If that happens, ﴿they say [to them]: Did we not help you win, and protect you from the believers?﴾, trying to show them how much they care about them by not having fought them when they were able to, and how they tried to prevent the believers by all possible means from fighting the disbelievers, such as weakening them, discouraging them from fighting, supporting the enemy against them, and other means for which they are well known.

﴿But Allah will judge between you on the Day of Resurrection﴾ that is, He will reward the believers both inwardly and outwardly in paradise, and He will punish the hypocrites and polytheists, both men and women.

﴿Allah will not grant the disbelievers means to prevail over the believers﴾ that is, He will not grant them authority or power over them; rather a group of the believers will continue to adhere to the truth, receiving divine support, and they will not be harmed by those who forsake them or oppose them.

Allah still grants the believers the means of victory and protection against the disbelievers, as is well known. Even though some Muslims are ruled by disbelieving groups, they are still treated with respect and are not persecuted for their religion, and they are not regarded as insignificant by them. Rather they have full support from Allah, to Him be praise first and last, outwardly and inwardly.

﴿إِنَّ الْمُنَافِقِينَ يُخَادِعُونَ اللَّهَ وَهُوَ خَدِيعُهُمْ وَإِذَا قَامُوا إِلَى الصَّلَاةِ قَامُوا كَسَالَىٰ
رِءَاءِ النَّاسِ وَلَا يَذْكُرُونَ اللَّهَ إِلَّا قَلِيلًا﴾ ﴿١٤٢﴾ مُذَبِّدِينَ بَيْنَ ذَلِكَ لَا إِلَىٰ هَؤُلَاءِ وَلَا
إِلَىٰ هَؤُلَاءِ وَمَنْ يُضِلِلِ اللَّهُ فَلَنْ تَجِدَ لَهُ سَبِيلًا﴾ ﴿١٤٣﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٤٢-١٤٣)

- 4:142. The hypocrites seek to outwit Allah but it is He Who outwits them. When they stand up to pray, they stand up reluctantly, only to be seen by people, and they remember Allah only a little,
- 4:143. Wavering in between, belonging neither to these nor those. For those whom Allah has caused to go astray, you will never find a way [to guide them].

Here Allah tells us about how the hypocrites were with regard to their abhorrent characteristics and conduct, and how they tried to outwit Allah (ﷻ) by making an outward display of faith whilst concealing their disbelief, thinking that this would deceive Allah and that He would not know of it or expose their tricks to His slaves. But in fact Allah outwitted them, because merely by being like that and behaving in this manner they were fooling themselves. What deceit can be greater than that of one who strives to do something which then backfires on him and brings him disgrace, humiliation and deprivation? That on its own is indicative of a lack of maturity, because in addition to it being a sin, they thought that it was something good, and they thought that it was a sign of smartness and cunning. This is what ignorance and misguidance do to a person!

With regard to His outwitting them on the Day of Resurrection, Allah says:

﴿On that day, the hypocrite men and hypocrite women will say to the believers: Wait for us, so that we may have some of your light. It will be said: Go back and seek light elsewhere. Then a wall will be set up between them, which will have a gate, on the inside of which there will be mercy and on the outside there will be punishment. The hypocrites will call out to the believers: Were we not with you?...﴾
(al-Hadeed 57: 13-14)

One of their characteristics is that ﴿When they stand up to pray﴾ – if they do so at all – which is the most important physical act of worship

﴿they stand up reluctantly﴾, finding it burdensome and resenting having to do it. Reluctance only stems from a lack of interest in their hearts. Were it not that their hearts are devoid of longing for Allah and for that which is with Him, and are lacking in faith, they would not be so reluctant.

﴿only to be seen by people﴾ – this is what is hidden in their hearts and this is the motive for their deeds: to be seen by people. They want people to see them and respect and honour them, and they are not acting out of sincerity towards Allah. Hence ﴿they remember Allah only a little﴾, because their hearts are filled with the desire to show off. Remembrance of Allah and persistence therein can only come from a believer whose heart is filled with love and reverence for Allah.

﴿Wavering in between, belonging neither to these nor those﴾ that is, they wander between the believers and the disbelievers; they are not believers both outwardly and inwardly, and they are not disbelievers both outwardly and inwardly. Deep in their hearts they are with the disbelievers, but outwardly they are with the believers, and this is the worst possible misguidance. Hence Allah says: ﴿For those whom Allah has caused to go astray, you will never find a way [to guide them]﴾ and you will never make him give up his way of misguidance, because the door of mercy has been closed to him and has been replaced with wrath.

These blameworthy characteristics indicate that the believers are possessed of the opposite, namely sincerity and truthfulness, both outward and inward. There is no mystery as to what they are; they are enthusiastic in prayer and worship, and they remember Allah (ﷻ) a great deal, because Allah has guided them to the straight path. So let the wise person think about these two groups and choose whichever of them he wants. And Allah is the source of strength.

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا لَا تَتَّخِذُوا الْكَافِرِينَ أَوْلِيَاءَ مِنْ دُونِ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ أُرِيدُونَ أَنْ
يَجْعَلُوا اللَّهَ عَلَيْهِمْ سُلْطَانًا مُبِينًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٤٤)

4:144. O you who believe, do not take the disbelievers as allies rather than the believers. Do you want to give Allah a clear case against you?

Having stated that one of the characteristics of the hypocrites is that they take the disbelievers as allies instead of the believers, Allah then forbids His believing slaves to have this abhorrent characteristic, and to resemble the hypocrites, because that would inevitably ﴿give Allah a clear case against you﴾. In other words, it would constitute clear proof that you should be punished, because We have warned against it and We have stated that taking the disbelievers as allies leads to negative consequences, so doing that after receiving this warning deserves punishment.

This verse is indicative of the perfect justice of Allah and highlights the fact that Allah does not punish anyone before establishing proof against him. This is also a warning against sin, because Allah has a clear case against the one who commits sin.

﴿ إِنَّ الْمُنَافِقِينَ فِي الدَّرَكِ الْأَسْفَلِ مِنَ النَّارِ وَلَنْ يَجِدَ لَهُمْ نَصِيرًا ﴾ (١٤٥) إِلَّا
الَّذِينَ تَابُوا وَأَصْلَحُوا وَاعْتَصَمُوا بِاللَّهِ وَأَخْلَصُوا دِينَهُمْ لِلَّهِ فَأُولَٰئِكَ مَعَ
الْمُؤْمِنِينَ ۖ وَسَوْفَ يُؤْتِي اللَّهُ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ أَجْرًا عَظِيمًا ﴿١٤٦﴾ مَا يَفْعَلُ اللَّهُ
بِعَذَابِكُمْ إِنْ شَكَرْتُمْ وَءَامَنْتُمْ ۚ وَكَانَ اللَّهُ شَاكِرًا عَلِيمًا ﴿١٤٧﴾ (سورة النساء)

(١٤٧-١٤٥)

- 4:145. The hypocrites will be in the lowest depths of the fire; you will not find any helper for them,
- 4:146. Except those who repent and mend their ways, hold fast to Allah and become sincere in their devotion to Allah [alone]; then they will be with the believers. And Allah will give the believers an immense reward.
- 4:147. Why would Allah punish you, if you are grateful and believe? Allah is Appreciative, All-Knowing.

Here Allah tells us of the ultimate destination of the hypocrites: they will be in the lowest depths of hell and theirs will be the worst punishment. They will be below other disbelievers, because they shared their disbelief in Allah and opposition to His Messengers, but in addition to that they engaged in trickery and deceit. They planned to oppose the believers in many subtle and unnoticed ways, arranging all of that in such a way that they would still be regarded as Muslims and thus acquire that which they were not entitled to. For this and other reasons they are deserving of the worst punishment; no one can save them from Allah's punishment and no helper can ward off any part of His punishment. This is general in meaning and applies to every hypocrite, except those among them whom Allah blessed by enabling them to repent from evil deeds and ﴿mend their ways﴾ for the sake of Allah, both outwardly and inwardly

﴿hold fast to Allah﴾ and seek His help to bring them benefits and ward off harm from them

﴿and become sincere in their devotion to Allah [alone]﴾ – this refers to sincerity in submission to Allah (Islam), faith and ihsân.<sup>20</sup>

Thus they sought the Countenance of Allah in their deeds, both outward and inward, and were saved from showing off and hypocrisy. Those who have these characteristics ﴿will be with the believers﴾ that is, in this world, in al-barzakh, and on the Day of Resurrection ﴿And Allah will give the believers an immense reward﴾, the nature of which no one knows except Allah; it is something that no eye has seen, no ear has heard and it has not crossed the mind of man.

Contemplate how Allah singled out for mention holding fast and sincerity, even though these are implied in the words ﴿mend their ways﴾, because holding fast and being sincere are part of mending one's ways and there is a great need for both, especially in this critical situation where hypocrisy is deeply entrenched in people's hearts, and nothing can remove it except holding fast to Allah and constantly turning to Him and expressing one's need of His help in order to ward off hypocrisy. Sincerity is diametrically opposed to hypocrisy, hence Allah mentions both it and holding fast to Him because of the virtue of these two deeds and because of the fact that all deeds, both outward and inward, are based on them and there is a profound need for them in this context.

Contemplate how, when Allah refers to the hypocrites alongside the believers, He did not say "and He will give them a great reward", even though the context is talking about the hypocrites. Rather He said ﴿And Allah will give the believers an immense reward﴾. That is because this is a general principle which Allah repeats frequently

<sup>20</sup> Ihsân, as described in the well-known hadith narrated by Bukhari and Muslim, means:

«...to worship Allah as if you can see Him, for although you cannot see Him, He can see you.»

in the Qur'an. If the context is discussing some minor issues, and Allah wants to refer to some reward or punishment connected to the minor issues, and that minor issue comes under the same general heading, He connects the reward to that general heading under which that minor issue and others come, so that no one would think that the ruling is limited only to this minor issue. This is one of the brilliant subtleties of the Qur'an. Thus the former hypocrite who repents is included with the believers and will have the same reward as them.

Then Allah (ﷻ) tells us of the perfect nature of His self-sufficiency and the vastness of His forbearing, mercy and kindness: ﴿Why would Allah punish you, if you are grateful and believe?﴾. Because Allah is Appreciative and All-Knowing, He will give those who carry the heavy burden of commitment for His sake and persist in doing righteous deeds an immense reward and abundant kindness. Whoever gives up something for the sake of Allah, Allah will give him something better than it.

Furthermore, He knows how you appear outwardly and what is in your hearts, and He knows what you do and what it is based on, be it sincerity or the opposite. He wants you to repent and turn back to Him, then if you turn to Him, why should He punish you? He does not find any joy in punishing you and He does not benefit from punishing you; rather the sinner only harms himself, just as the deed of one who is obedient is to his own benefit.

Gratitude is humility in the heart and acknowledgement of Allah's blessings, utterance of thanks to the Bestower of those blessings, and physical acts of obedience to Him; it also means not making use of His blessings to disobey Him.

﴿لَا يُحِبُّ اللَّهُ الْجَهْرَ بِالسُّوءِ مِنَ الْقَوْلِ إِلَّا مَنْ ظَلِمَ وَكَانَ اللَّهُ سَمِيعًا عَلِيمًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٤٩)

النساء: ١٤٨-١٤٩

- 4:148. Allah does not like anyone to speak ill [of others] in public, except the one who has been wronged. Allah is All-Hearing, All-Knowing.
- 4:149. If you do good openly or conceal it or pardon a wrong [done to you], then verily Allah is Pardoning, Omnipotent.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that He does not like anyone to speak ill (of others) in public; in other words, He dislikes and hates that, and will punish for it. That includes all bad words that cause offence and upset others, such as insulting, slandering, reviling and so on. All of that is forbidden and is hateful to Allah.

This indicates that He loves good words such as dhikr and kind and gentle words.

«except the one who has been wronged» that is, it is permissible for him to pray against the one who has wronged him, to complain about him and to say bad things back to the one who said it to him, without lying about it, going beyond the level of wrong that was done to him, or overstepping the mark and reviling anyone else. Yet it is better to pardon him and not to respond in kind, as Allah says (ﷻ):

«...but whoever forgives and reconciles, his reward is with Allah...» (ash-Shoorâ 42: 40)

«Allah is All-Hearing, All-Knowing» because the verse refers to words, whether they be bad, good or permissible. Allah tells us that He is All-Hearing and hears what you say, so beware of speaking of anything that angers your Lord, lest He punish you for that. This is also encouragement to say good words.

﴿All-Knowing﴾ and He knows your intentions and the motives behind what you say.

Then Allah says: ﴿If you do good openly or conceal it﴾ this includes good in word and deed, open or hidden, obligatory or recommended ﴿or pardon a wrong [done to you]﴾ that is, if you pardon someone who mistreated you physically, financially, or by impugning your honour, and you forgive him, the reward is commensurate with the type of deed. If a person forgives for the sake of Allah, Allah will forgive him; if he shows kindness, Allah will be kind to him. Hence Allah says: ﴿then verily Allah is Pardoning, Omnipotent﴾ that is, He forgives the mistakes of His slaves and their grave sins, so He conceals their errors, then He grants them His perfect forgiveness that stems from His might and power.

From this verse we learn the meanings of the names and attributes of Allah, and that His is the creation and the command (7: 54); this is the implication of His names. Therefore the rulings are connected to His beautiful names, as in this verse.

When He mentioned doing good and pardoning wrongs, He made a connection between that and learning about His names; that is sufficient and there is no need to mention the specific reward.

﴿إِنَّ الَّذِينَ يَكْفُرُونَ بِاللَّهِ وَرُسُلِهِ وَيُرِيدُونَ أَنْ يُفَرِّقُوا بَيْنَ اللَّهِ وَرُسُلِهِ وَيَقُولُوا نُؤْمِنُ بِبَعْضٍ وَنَكْفُرُ بِبَعْضٍ وَيُرِيدُونَ أَنْ يَتَّخِذُوا بَيْنَ ذَلِكَ سَبِيلًا ۖ أُولَٰئِكَ هُمُ الْكَافِرُونَ حَقًّا وَأَعْتَدْنَا لِلْكَافِرِينَ عَذَابًا مُهِينًا ۖ وَالَّذِينَ آمَنُوا بِاللَّهِ وَرُسُلِهِ وَلَمْ يُفَرِّقُوا بَيْنَ أَحَدٍ مِنْهُمْ أُولَٰئِكَ سَوْفَ يُؤْتِيهِمْ أَجْرَهُمْ ۖ وَكَانَ اللَّهُ غَفُورًا رَحِيمًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٥٠-١٥٢)

- 4:150. Those who disbelieve in Allah and His Messengers, and want to make a distinction between [belief in] Allah and [belief in] His Messengers, and say: We believe in some and disbelieve in others, and seek to adopt a way in between,
- 4:151. it is they who are indeed disbelievers, and We have prepared for the disbelievers a humiliating punishment.
- 4:152. To those who believe in Allah and His Messengers, and make no distinction between [belief in] any of them, He will give their [due] rewards. For Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.

These are two categories that are clear to everyone: the believer who believes in Allah, all of His Messengers and His Books, and the disbeliever who disbelieves in all of that.

But there is a third category, which is the one who claims to believe in some of the Messengers but not others, and thinks that this way will save him from the punishment of Allah. But this is no more than wishful thinking, because these people want to make a distinction between Allah and His Messengers.

The one who believes in Allah in the true sense will believe in all of His Messengers, because that is part of perfect belief. The one who opposes any of His Messengers has in fact opposed Allah and opposed all of His Messengers, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Whoever is an enemy to Allah and His angels and Messengers, to Jibreel and Meekâl [Meekâ'eel], – then indeed, Allah is an enemy to the disbelievers.﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 98)

Similarly, the one who disbelieves in any Messenger has disbelieved in all of the Messengers, even the Messenger in whom he claims to believe. Hence Allah says: ﴿it is they who are indeed disbelievers﴾. That is lest anyone imagine that their position is a kind of middle way between faith and disbelief.

The reason why they are disbelievers – even in that in which they claim to believe – is that for every proof that led them to believe in the Messengers in whom they do believe, there is the same or equally strong or even stronger evidence for the Prophet in whom they disbelieve, and for every specious argument that they use to undermine the Prophet in whom they disbelieve, there is an equal or stronger argument to undermine the one in whom they do believe.

After establishing the above, there is nothing left except whims and desires, and nothing but mere claims that anyone could counter with a similar claim. As the Qur'an states that these people are indeed disbelievers, it then refers to a punishment that applies to them and to all disbelievers: ﴿and We have prepared for the disbelievers a humiliating punishment﴾. Just as they were too arrogant to believe in Allah, He will humiliate them with a painful punishment and disgrace.

﴿To those who believe in Allah and His Messengers﴾ – this includes belief in all that Allah has told us about Himself and all that the Messengers brought of stories of the past and rulings ﴿and make no distinction between [belief in] any of them﴾ that is, the Messengers; rather they believe in all of them. This is true faith and certainty that is based on proof.

﴿He will give their [due] rewards﴾ that is, as a reward for their faith and what resulted from that of righteous deeds, good words and good attitudes, each according to his situation. Perhaps this is the reason why the reward is described as being theirs

﴿For Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful﴾ – He forgives bad deeds and accepts good deeds.

﴿يَسْأَلُكَ أَهْلُ الْكِتَابِ أَنْ تُنَزِّلَ عَلَيْهِمْ كِتَابًا مِنَ السَّمَاءِ فَقَدْ سَأَلُوا مُوسَىٰ أَكْبَرَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ فَقَالُوا أَرِنَا اللَّهَ جَهْرَةً فَأَخَذَتْهُمُ الصَّاعِقَةُ بِظُلْمِهِمْ ثُمَّ اتَّخَذُوا الْعِجْلَ مِنْ

- 4:156. [And We punished them] because of their disbelief and their uttering a terrible slander against Maryam.
- 4:157. And because of their saying: We slew the Messiah 'Eesâ son of Maryam, the Messenger of Allah. But they did not slay him or crucify him; rather [another man] was made to resemble him to them [and that man was crucified]. Those who differ concerning this matter are in doubt concerning it, with no [certain] knowledge, but only conjecture to follow. But they certainly did not slay him.
- 4:158. Rather Allah took him up to Himself; and Allah is Almighty, Most Wise.
- 4:159. There is none among the People of the Book but will believe in him before his death; and on the Day of Resurrection he will be a witness against them.
- 4:160. Because of the wrongdoing of the Jews, We forbade to them certain good things that had [previously] been permitted to them; and because of their barring many from the path of Allah,
- 4:161. and because of their taking usury, even though it had been forbidden to them, and because of their devouring people's wealth wrongfully. We have prepared for the disbelievers among them a painful punishment.

---

This demand from the People of the Book to the Messenger Muhammad (ﷺ) was due to stubbornness and was an audacious suggestion. They made this request a condition of their believing or otherwise. They asked him to bring down the Qur'an to them all at once, as the Torah and Gospel had come down. This was the utmost wrongdoing and ignorance on their part, because the Messenger (ﷺ) was a human being, a slave under the command of Allah who had no power to do anything. Rather all matters are under the control of Allah and it is He Who sends and reveals whatever He will to His slaves, as Allah tells us about the Messenger (ﷺ), when mentioning the signs that the polytheists suggested to Muhammad (ﷺ):

﴿...Say: Glory be to my Lord! Am I anything but a man, sent as a Messenger?﴾ (al-Isrā' 17: 93)

The same applies to their making the criterion between truth and falsehood nothing more than the matter of whether the Book is sent down all at once or piecemeal. This is simply an idea of theirs for which there is no proof and no reason, or even any weak argument to support it. Where do we find in the story of the prophethood of any of the Prophets that if a Messenger brings to you a Book that was revealed piecemeal, then you should not believe in him or accept him?

Rather the fact that the Qur'an was revealed piecemeal, according to the circumstances, is one of the indications of its greatness and Allah's care for the one to whom it was sent down, as He says:

﴿Those who disbelieve say: Why was the Qur'an not sent down to him all at once? [It has been revealed] thus so that We may strengthen your heart thereby, and We have imparted it to you by gradual revelation. Whenever they come to you [O Muhammad] with an argument, We reveal to you the truth and the best explanation.﴾ (al-Furqān 25: 32-33)

When Allah mentioned their invalid objections, He pointed out that there is nothing strange in their attitude, because in the past there has been a suggestion of something even more reprehensible to the Messenger in whom they claimed to believe, when they asked him to let them see Allah with their own eyes, and they took the calf as a god and worshipped it, after they had seen signs with their own eyes that no one else had seen.

They also refused to accept the rulings of their own Book, namely the Torah, until the mountain was raised above their heads and they were threatened that if they did not believe, it would fall on them. So they accepted that reluctantly, as they had no choice but to believe.

They also refused to enter the gates of the town which they were commanded to enter bowing down in humility and seeking forgiveness, but they went against that in word and deed, and some of them also transgressed the Sabbath, therefore Allah has sent that horrible punishment upon them.

When Allah took from them a solemn covenant, they cast it behind their backs, rejected the revelations of Allah and killed His Messengers unlawfully. Moreover, they said that they killed the Messiah 'Eesâ and crucified him, when in fact they did not kill him or crucify him; rather (another man) was made to resemble him to them, and they killed and crucified that man.

They claimed that their hearts were impenetrably wrapped and could not understand what was said to them, and they barred people from the path of Allah, so they were barred from the truth. They called people to their way of misguidance and transgression, and devouring unlawful earnings and usury, even though Allah had issued a stern prohibition against their doing that. So it comes as no surprise that the people who did these deeds would ask the Messenger Muhammad (ﷺ) to bring down to them a Book from heaven.

This is the best way to counter arguments that are founded on an invalid basis. If the other person produces a false argument that becomes a source of confusion to him and others and is the cause of them rejecting the truth, we should highlight his evil characteristics and some of his misdeeds that are among the worst of what he did, so that everyone will know that this objection comes from this ignoble man, and that he has previous misdeeds along with this invalid argument of his.

Similarly, any argument they may present to cast aspersions on the prophethood of Muhammad (ﷺ) may be countered by a similar or stronger argument about the prophethood of those in whom they claim to believe, so as to ward off their evil thereby and suppress their falsehood.

For every argument they present to affirm the prophethood of those in whom they believe, there is a similar or stronger argument to prove and affirm prophethood of Muhammad (ﷺ).

Because the aim of listing their evil actions was to establish this argument, Allah did not discuss them in detail here. Rather He referred to them here, and discussed them in detail elsewhere, where it was appropriate to do so.

«There is none among the People of the Book but will believe in him before his death» – it may be that the pronoun in the phrase «before his death» refers to the People of the Book. According to this view, every individual Jew or Christian will believe in 'Eesâ (ﷺ) when death approaches and the truth becomes clear to him, but that faith will be of no benefit because it will be faith by compulsion. This is an implicit threat and warning to them that they should not continue as they are, for they will regret it before death; so how will they be on the day when they are gathered and resurrected?

Or it may be that the pronoun in the phrase «before his death» refers to 'Eesâ (ﷺ). In that case, what is meant is: there is no one among the People of the Book but he will surely believe in the Messiah (ﷺ) before the Messiah's death. That will be when the Hour approaches and its major signs appear. There are numerous ṣaḥeeḥ hadiths which speak of his descent at the end of this Ummah; he will kill the Dajjāl and abolish the jizyah, and the People of the Book will believe in him along with the believers. On the Day of Resurrection, 'Eesâ (ﷺ) will be a witness against them and will testify concerning their deeds and whether or not they were in accordance with the laws of Allah.

On that day he will only testify to the falseness of everything they believed and did that was contrary to the teachings of the Qur'an and the message of Muhammad (ﷺ). We know that because we know about the perfect justice and sincerity of the Messiah (ﷺ) and that he will testify only to that which is true. That which was brought by Muhammad (ﷺ) is true and everything other than that is misguidance and falsehood.

Then Allah (ﷻ) tells us that He forbade to the People of the Book many good things that had previously been permissible for them. This prohibition was a punishment because of their wrongdoing and transgression, their barring people from the path of Allah, their preventing them from following true guidance, and their consuming ribā when they had been forbidden to do so. Hence Allah gave them a fitting punishment by withholding from them many of the good things that were originally permitted, even though they are good. In the case of the things that are prohibited to this Ummah, this prohibition is to keep them away from unclean things that are detrimental to their spiritual and worldly interests.

﴿لَكِنَّ الرَّاسِخُونَ فِي الْعِلْمِ مِنْهُمْ وَالْمُؤْمِنُونَ بِمَا أُنزِلَ إِلَيْكَ وَمَا أُنزِلَ مِنْ قَبْلِكَ
وَالْمُقِيمِينَ الصَّلَاةَ وَالْمُؤْتُونَ الزَّكَاةَ وَالْمُؤْمِنُونَ بِاللَّهِ وَالْيَوْمِ الْآخِرِ أُولَٰئِكَ
سَنُؤْتِيهِمْ أَجْرًا عَظِيمًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٦٢)

4:162. But those among them who are firmly grounded in knowledge, and the believers, believe in what has been sent down to you [O Muhammad], and what was sent down before you; who establish regular prayer and give zakāh, and who believe in Allah and the Last Day – to these We will grant an immense reward.

Having mentioned the bad characteristics of the People of the Book, Allah then mentions those among them who are praiseworthy, as He says: ﴿But those among them who are firmly grounded in knowledge» that is, those in whose hearts knowledge is deeply entrenched and faith is firmly rooted. That resulted in them having complete faith «in what has been sent down to you [O Muhammad], and what was sent down before you». It also resulted in them doing righteous deeds, namely establishing prayer and giving zakâh, which are the best of deeds, for they include sincerity towards Allah and kindness towards people. They also believed in the Last Day, hence they feared punishment and hoped for the promised reward.

«to these We will grant an immense reward» because they combined knowledge, faith and righteous deeds with belief in the earlier and later Books and Messengers.

﴿إِنَّا أَوْحَيْنَا إِلَيْكَ كَمَا أَوْحَيْنَا إِلَى نُوحٍ وَالنَّبِيِّينَ مِنْ بَعْدِهِ وَأَوْحَيْنَا إِلَى إِبْرَاهِيمَ وَإِسْمَاعِيلَ وَإِسْحَاقَ وَيَعْقُوبَ وَالْأَسْبَاطِ وَعِيسَى وَأَيُّوبَ وَيُوشَعَ وَهَارُونَ وَسُلَيْمَانَ وَآتَيْنَا دَاوُدَ زَبُورًا﴾ (١٦٣) ﴿وَرُسُلًا قَدْ قَصَصْنَاهُمْ عَلَيْكَ مِنْ قَبْلُ وَرُسُلًا لَمْ نَقْصُصْهُمْ عَلَيْكَ﴾ (١٦٤) ﴿وَكَلَّمَ اللَّهُ مُوسَى تَكْلِيمًا﴾ (١٦٥) ﴿رُسُلًا مُبَشِّرِينَ وَمُنذِرِينَ لِئَلَّا يَكُونَ لِلنَّاسِ عَلَى اللَّهِ حُجَّةٌ بَعْدَ الرُّسُلِ وَكَانَ اللَّهُ عَزِيزًا حَكِيمًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٦٣-١٦٥)

- 4:163. We have sent revelation to you [O Muhammad], as We sent it to Nooh and the Prophets after him; We sent revelation to Ibrâheem, Ismâ'eel, Is-hâq, Ya'qoob and his sons, to 'Eesâ, Ayyoob, Yoonus, Hâroon, and Sulaymân, and to Dâwood We gave the Zaboor [Psalms].
- 4:164. And [We sent revelation to] Messengers of whom We have told you, and other Messengers of whom We have not told you. And Allah spoke directly to Moosâ.

4:165. Messengers sent as bearers of glad tidings and as warners, so that humankind would have no excuse before Allah, after the [coming of the] Messengers. For Allah is Almighty, Most Wise.

Here Allah tells us that He revealed to His slave and Messenger (ﷺ) great teachings and laws, and true news of the past, such as He revealed to these earlier Prophets. From this we learn a number of things:

- That Muhammad (ﷺ) is not a new phenomenon among the Messengers. Before him Allah sent many Messengers, so there is no reason to find his being sent strange except ignorance or stubbornness.
- That he received revelation as they did concerning the fundamentals of faith and enjoining of justice, on which all the Messengers are agreed; they confirmed one another and their messages were in harmony.
- That he comes under the same category as those Messengers, so people should think of him as a brother to them, for his call is the same as theirs and their attitudes are in harmony. The source of their message is one and their aims are one. He is not mentioned alongside unknown figures or liars or unjust kings.
- That listing these Messengers is by way of praising and commending them and describing their character, which strengthens the believers' belief in them and love for them, and their desire to emulate them, follow their path and learn more about them. This is a confirmation of the verses in which Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Peace be upon Nooh among all nations.﴾ (aṣ-Ṣaffât 37: 79)

﴿Peace be upon Ibrâheem.﴾ (aṣ-Ṣaffât 37: 109)

﴿Peace be upon Moosâ and Hâroon.﴾ (aṣ-Ṣaffât 37: 120)

﴿Peace be upon Ilyâs. Thus do We reward those who do good.﴾ (aṣ-Ṣaffât 37: 130-131)

Every doer of good is praised by people commensurate with his good deeds, and the Messengers – especially those named – attained the highest level of doing good.

As Allah referred to what they have in common (which is that they all received revelation), He then mentions how some of them were singled out for particular blessings. He tells us that He gave Dâwood the Zaboor (Psalms), which is the well-known scripture. Allah gave it especially to Dâwood (ﷺ) because of his virtue and high and honourable status. He spoke directly to Moosâ, with no intermediary, and Moosâ became well known for that among all humankind and is known as “Moosâ to whom the Most Gracious spoke directly.”

Allah tells us that He has told His Messenger (ﷺ) about some of the Messengers, and there are others about whom He has not told him. This indicates that they are many and that Allah sent them with glad tidings, to those who obey Allah and follow them, of happiness in this world and in the hereafter, and with a warning, to those who disobeyed Allah and opposed them, of misfortune in both realms, so that people would have no excuse before Allah, after the coming of the Messengers, and they would not be able to say:

﴿...No bearer of glad tidings and no warner ever came to us. But now there has come to you a bearer of glad tidings and a warner...﴾
(al-Mâ'idah 5: 19)

So people no longer have any excuse before Allah, because He sent the Messengers one after another to explain to them matters of religion and what pleases and displeases their Lord, and the paths that lead to paradise and those that lead to hell. So whoever disbelieves after that has no one to blame but himself.

This is indicative of the perfect might and wisdom of Allah (ﷻ), that He sent the Messengers to them and sent down the Books to them. This also happened by His grace and kindness, because people are in the greatest and most desperate need of the Prophets. So Allah met this need, to Him be praise and thanks and we ask Him, as He blessed them initially by sending them, to complete His blessing by enabling them to follow their path, for He is most generous and kind.

﴿لَكِنَّ اللَّهَ يَشْهَدُ بِمَا أَنْزَلَ إِلَيْكَ أَنْزَلَهُ بِعِلْمِهِ وَالْمَلَكُ يَشْهَدُونَ وَكَفَى بِاللَّهِ شَهِيدًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٦٦)

4:166. But Allah bears witness to the truth of what He has sent to you, as He has sent it with His knowledge, and the angels bear witness; and sufficient is Allah as a witness.

Having mentioned that He sent revelation to His Messenger Muhammad (ﷺ) as He sent revelation to his fellow Messengers, Allah tells us here of His testimony to the truth of his mission and the soundness of the message he brought, and He tells us that «He has sent it with His knowledge». It may be that what is meant is that He has sent it down containing His knowledge; in other words, it contains divine knowledge, Islamic rulings and news of the unseen, which is part of the knowledge of Allah (ﷻ) that He has taught to His slaves.

Or it may be that what is meant is that He sent it down knowingly, and this is by way of testifying to it. In other words, He sent down this Qur'an, containing commands and prohibitions, knowing that and knowing the character of the one to whom He sent it down, and that he (the Prophet [ﷺ]) called the people to it. So whoever responds and believes is His ally, and whoever disbelieves and is hostile is His enemy. Allah (ﷻ) will give support to His Prophet (ﷺ), grant him victory after victory, answer his prayers, defeat his enemies and help his supporters.

Is there any testimony greater than this?

It is not possible to doubt this testimony, except by doubting the knowledge, might and wisdom of Allah.

Allah (ﷻ) also tells us of the testimony of the angels in support of what He has sent down to His Messenger (ﷺ), because of their perfect faith and the importance of the thing witnessed. None can testify about important matters but the elites, as Allah (ﷻ) says concerning testimony to His oneness:

﴿Allah bears witness that there is no god but He, as do His angels and people of knowledge; He is the upholder of justice. There is no god but He, the Almighty, the Most Wise.﴾ (Āl 'Imrān 3: 18)

And Allah is sufficient as Witness.

Allah tells us about the message of the Messengers whom He sent (blessings and peace of Allah be upon them), and He tells us about the message of the final one, Muhammad (ﷺ). He testifies in its favour and the angels also testify. This indicates that the matter in question is to be affirmed and it is true and sound, so we must believe in them (the Prophets), accept their message and follow them.

Then Allah warns us against disbelieving in them:

﴿إِنَّ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا وَصَدُّوا عَنْ سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ قَدْ ضَلُّوا ضَلَالًا بَعِيدًا ۖ إِنَّ
الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا وَظَلَمُوا لَمْ يَكُنِ اللَّهُ لِيَغْفِرْ لَهُمْ وَلَا يَهْدِيَهُمْ طَرِيقًا إِلَّا طَرِيقَ
جَهَنَّمَ خَالِدِينَ فِيهَا أَبَدًا وَكَانَ ذَٰلِكَ عَلَى اللَّهِ يَسِيرًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٦٧-١٦٩)

- 4:167. Verily those who disbelieve and bar others from the path of Allah have indeed gone far astray.
- 4:168. Those who disbelieve and do wrong, Allah will not forgive them nor guide them to any path,
- 4:169. except the path that leads to hell, to abide therein forever. And that is easy for Allah.

﴿Verily those who disbelieve and bar others from the path of Allah﴾ that is, they combine their own disbelief with barring others from the path of Allah. This refers to the leaders of disbelief and the proponents of misguidance.

﴿have indeed gone far astray﴾ and what misguidance can be greater than that of one who goes astray himself and leads others astray? He carries the burden of two sins and incurs two losses, and he misses out on guidance twice (his own guidance and that of those whom he leads astray). Hence Allah says:

﴿Those who disbelieve and do wrong﴾ – this wrongdoing is in addition to their disbelief; when wrongdoing (dhulm) is mentioned on its own, it includes disbelief.

What is meant by wrongdoing here is the deeds of disbelief and getting carried away in them. These people are far removed from forgiveness and guidance to the straight path. Hence Allah says:

﴿Allah will not forgive them nor guide them to any path, except the path that leads to hell﴾.

It is not possible for them to be forgiven or guided, because they persisted in transgression and increased in disbelief. So a seal has been placed on their hearts and the ways of guidance have been barred to them, because of what they have earned.

﴿...And your Lord is never unjust to His slaves.﴾ (Fussilat 41: 46)

﴿And that is easy for Allah﴾ that is, Allah does not care about them and is not concerned with them, because they are fit for nothing good, and nothing suits them but the way they chose for themselves.

﴿يَأْتِيهَا النَّاسُ قَدْ جَاءَكُمُ الرَّسُولُ بِالْحَقِّ مِنْ رَبِّكُمْ فَآمَنُوا خَيْرًا لَكُمْ وَإِنْ تَكْفُرُوا فَإِنَّ لِلَّهِ مَا فِي السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ وَكَانَ اللَّهُ عَلِيمًا حَكِيمًا ﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٧٠)

4:170. O humankind, the Messenger has come to you with the truth from your Lord, so believe, for it is better for you. But if you disbelieve, then surely to Allah belongs all that is in the heavens and on earth, and Allah is All-Knowing, Most Wise.

Here Allah commands all people to believe in His slave and Messenger Muhammad (ﷺ), and He mentions the reason why they should believe in him, the benefits of believing in him, and the harm that results from not believing in him. The reason is, as He tells us, that he brought the truth to them; in other words, his coming as a Messenger in and of itself is true, and the teachings that he brought are true.

The wise person would realise that for people to continue wandering blindly in ignorance and disbelief, without receiving any message for a long time, is not in accordance with the wisdom and mercy of Allah. The sending of the Messenger (ﷺ) is in itself part of His great wisdom and mercy, and is aimed at showing them guidance away from misguidance. Simply looking at his message offers definitive proof of the soundness of his claim to prophethood.

The same may be said of looking at the great message he brought and the straight path. His message tells us about matters of the unseen, in the past and in the future, and about Allah and the Last Day; these matters cannot be known except through revelation and the sending of Messengers. Islam enjoins all that is good and righteous, wisdom, justice, kindness, truthfulness, righteousness, upholding of ties and good attitudes, and it prohibits evil, corruption, transgression, injustice, bad attitudes, lying, and disobedience to parents. All of this offers definitive proof that it comes from Allah. The more a person increases in knowledge of the message, the stronger his faith and certainty become. This is the reason for believing.

As for the benefits of faith, Allah says that it is good for us, and good is the opposite of evil. So faith is good for the believers, physically, mentally and spiritually, in this world and in the hereafter. That is because of what results from faith of interests and benefits, and rewards in this world and in the hereafter. The fruits of faith include divine help, guidance, knowledge, righteous deeds, happiness, joy and paradise with all that it contains of delights. All of that results from faith. By the same token, misery in this world and the hereafter stems from a lack of faith or a deficiency therein.

With regard to the harm of not believing in the Prophet (ﷺ), that is known from the opposite of what results from believing in him. The individual only harms himself, for Allah (ﷻ) has no need of him; the sin of the sinners does not harm him in the slightest. Hence He said: ﴿then surely to Allah belongs all that is in the heavens and on earth﴾ that is, He created everything and everything belongs to Him and is subject to His control.

﴿and Allah is All-Knowing﴾ – He knows everything
 ﴿Most Wise﴾ in what He creates and commands.

Thus He knows who is deserving of guidance or misguidance, and is wise in His allocation of both.

﴿يَا أَهْلَ الْكِتَابِ لَا تَغْلُوا فِي دِينِكُمْ وَلَا تَقُولُوا عَلَى اللَّهِ إِلَّا الْحَقَّ إِنَّمَا الْمَسِيحُ عِيسَى ابْنُ مَرْيَمَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ وَكَلِمَتُهُ أَلْقَاهَا إِلَى مَرْيَمَ وَرُوحٌ مِنْهُ فَآمِنُوا بِاللَّهِ وَرُسُلِهِ وَلَا تَقُولُوا ثَلَاثَةٌ أَنْتَهُمَا خَيْرٌ لَكُمْ إِنَّمَا اللَّهُ إِلَهٌ وَحْدٌ سُبْحَانَهُ أَنْ يَكُونَ لَهُ وَلَدٌ لَهُ مَا فِي السَّمَوَاتِ وَمَا فِي الْأَرْضِ وَكَفَى بِاللَّهِ وَكِيلًا ﴿١٧١﴾﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٧١)

- 4:171. O People of the Book, do not exceed the bounds [of truth] in your religion, and do not say anything about Allah except the truth. The Messiah 'Eesā son of Maryam was [no more than] a Messenger of Allah, and His word, which He bestowed upon Maryam, and a soul created by Him. So believe in Allah and His Messengers. Do not say: Three [trinity]; desist, for that will be better for you. Allah is indeed only one God. Glory be to Him, [far exalted is He] above having a son. To Allah belongs all that is in the heavens and all that is on earth, and sufficient is Allah as a disposer of affairs.

Here Allah (ﷻ) forbids the People of the Book to exaggerate in matters of religion, which means overstepping the mark and going beyond the prescribed limit, and doing something which is not prescribed. This is what the Christians did when they exaggerated about 'Eesâ (ﷺ), and raised him from the status of a Prophet and Messenger to the status of divinity which is not befitting for any but Allah.

Just as falling short and being heedless is prohibited, so too is exaggeration. Hence Allah says: ﴿and do not say anything about Allah except the truth﴾. These words imply three things, two of which are prohibitions: it is forbidden to tell lies about Allah and to speak without knowledge about His names, attributes, deeds, religion and Messengers. The third thing is a command, which is to speak the truth in all matters.

Because this principle is universal, and the context here has to do with 'Eesâ (ﷺ), the verse states that one must speak the truth about him, which is contrary to what the Jews and Christians say. Allah says: ﴿The Messiah 'Eesâ son of Maryam was [no more than] a Messenger of Allah﴾ that is, the most that the Messiah (ﷺ) can be, and the highest level of perfection he can reach – which is the highest level any created being can reach – is the level of being a Messenger of Allah, which is the highest status and brings the greatest reward.

﴿and﴾ he is ﴿His word, which He bestowed upon Maryam﴾ that is, a word which Allah spoke and 'Eesâ came into being thereby. He was not that word per se; rather he came into being by means of that word. Describing him as His word is by way of honour and respect (and is not to be taken literally, as the Christians do).

The same applies to the phrase ﴿and a soul created by Him﴾, that is, one of the souls that He created, and He perfected it by bestowing upon it attributes of virtue and perfection. Allah sent Jibreel (ﷺ), who breathed into the womb of Maryam, and she became pregnant, by Allah's leave, with 'Eesā (ﷺ).

Having explained the true nature of 'Eesā (ﷺ), Allah then commands the People of the Book to believe in Him and His Messengers, and He forbids them to describe Allah as "the third of three", which is what the Christians say, and how wrong is what they suggest.

Allah instructs them to desist, and tells them that this will be better for them, because it is the only way to salvation; any other way only leads to doom. Then He declares himself to be above having any partner or child, as He says: ﴿Allah is indeed only one God﴾ that is, He is the only divine being, and it is not appropriate to worship any but Him.

﴿Glory be to Him﴾ – this is a declaration of His Highness and holiness

﴿[far exalted is He] above having a son﴾ because ﴿To Allah belongs all that is in the heavens and all that is on earth﴾. Everything belongs to Him and is in need of Him, so it is impossible for Him to have a partner or child among them.

Then Allah tells us that He is the owner of the higher and lower realms, and that He is taking care of their interests in this world and in the hereafter, He is watching over them, and He will requite them accordingly.

﴿لَنْ يَسْتَنْكِفَ الْمَسِيحُ أَنْ يَكُونَ عَبْدًا لِلَّهِ وَلَا الْمَلَائِكَةُ الْمُقَرَّبُونَ وَمَنْ يَسْتَنْكِفْ عَنْ عِبَادَتِهِ وَيَسْتَكْبِرْ فَسَيَحْشُرُهُمْ إِلَيْهِ جَمِيعًا﴾ (١٧٢) ﴿فَأَمَّا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا وَعَمِلُوا الصَّالِحَاتِ فَيُوَفِّيهِمْ أُجُورَهُمْ وَيَزِيدُهُمْ مِنْ فَضْلِهِ وَأَمَّا الَّذِينَ اسْتَنكَفُوا وَاسْتَكْبَرُوا فَيُعَذِّبُهُمْ عَذَابًا أَلِيمًا وَلَا يَجِدُونَ لَهُمْ مِنْ دُونِ اللَّهِ وَلِيًّا وَلَا نَصِيرًا﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٧٢-١٧٣)

- 4:172. The Messiah would never disdain to be a slave to Allah, nor would the angels who are close to Him. Whosoever disdains His worship and is arrogant, then surely Allah will gather them all before Him.
- 4:173. Then, as for those who believe and do righteous deeds, He [Allah] will give them their reward in full, and will give them yet more out of His bounty. But as for those who are disdainful and arrogant, He will give them a painful punishment, and they will not find for themselves, besides Allah, any protector or helper.

Having mentioned the exaggeration of the Christians about 'Eesâ (ﷺ) and having affirmed that he is His slave and Messenger, Allah tells us here that 'Eesâ would never disdain to worship his Lord. In other words, he would not refuse to worship Him out of resentment. Neither he nor... the angels who are close to Him would show such disdain. Thus Allah declares them to be above having such an attitude, so it is more appropriate that they should be above arrogance. Negating a thing affirms its opposite, hence we know that 'Eesâ and the angels who are close to Allah worship their Lord willingly and they love to strive hard in doing so, each according to his circumstances. Hence they deserve that great honour and triumph, for they did not disdain to be slaves and acknowledge His Lordship and divinity.

Rather they realised that their need for that was greater than their need for anything else.

No one should think of 'Eesâ or anyone else being above the position that Allah gave him or think that raising him above the status of being a slave is a kind of ascribing perfection to him; rather it is the essence of imperfection and is something blameworthy and punishable. Hence Allah says: ﴿Whosoever disdains His worship and is arrogant, then surely Allah will gather them all before Him﴾ that is, He will gather all people before Him, those who were disdainful and arrogant, as well as His believing slaves. He will judge between them with justice and requite them decisively.

Then Allah gives more details of His judgement concerning them: ﴿Then, as for those who believe and do righteous deeds﴾ that is, they combine faith as enjoined with righteous deeds, both obligatory and encouraged, with regard to the rights of Allah and the rights of His slaves.

﴿He [Allah] will give them their reward in full﴾ that is, the rewards that He connected to good deeds, each according to his level of faith and action

﴿and will give them yet more out of His bounty﴾ of reward that is not earned by their deeds and which never crossed their minds. This includes everything that there is in paradise of food, drink, marriage, scenery, happiness, joy, comfort and physical pleasure. It also includes all good things, both spiritual and worldly, that are connected to faith and righteous deeds.

﴿But as for those who are disdainful and arrogant﴾ that is, they are too arrogant to worship Allah (﴿﴾

﴿He will give them a painful punishment﴾ which is the wrath and anger of Allah, and the kindled fire that leaps up to the hearts

﴿and they will not find for themselves, besides Allah, any protector or helper﴾ that is, they will not find anyone among humanity to protect them and help them to get what they want, or to help them and ward off what they fear. Rather they will be abandoned by the Most Merciful of those who show mercy, and He will leave them to their eternal punishment. Whatever Allah (ﷻ) decrees, none can put back His decree and none can change His will.

﴿يَأْتِيهَا النَّاسُ قَدْ جَاءَكُم بُرْهَانٌ مِّن رَّبِّكُمْ وَأَنزَلْنَا إِلَيْكُمْ نُورًا مُّبِينًا﴾ (١٧٤) فَأَمَّا
الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا بِاللَّهِ وَاعْتَصَمُوا بِهِ، فَسَيُدْخِلُهُمْ فِي رَحْمَةٍ مِّنْهُ وَفَضْلٍ
وَيَهْدِيهِمْ إِلَى صِرَاطٍ مُسْتَقِيمًا﴾ (١٧٥) (سورة النساء: ١٧٤-١٧٥)

- 4:174. O humankind, proof has come to you from your Lord, and We have sent down to you a manifest light.
- 4:175. As for those who believe in Allah and hold fast to Him, He will admit them to His mercy and grace, and guide them to Him on a straight path.

Here Allah (ﷻ) reminds all people of what He has shown them of definitive proof and manifest light, thus establishing proof against them and making the path clear to them, as He says: ﴿O humankind, proof has come to you from your Lord﴾ that is, definitive proof of the truth and clarification of truth and its opposite. This includes both rational and textual evidence, and the signs in every region of the earth and in people themselves:

﴿We will show them Our signs in the universe and in their own selves, until it becomes clear to them that it [the Qur'an] is the truth...﴾
(Fussilat 41: 53)

The words ﴿from your Lord﴾ indicate how great and honourable this proof is, as it comes from your Lord, Who is guiding you in your religious and worldly affairs. Part of His guidance for which He should be praised and thanked, is that He has sent you proof in order to guide you thereby to the straight path, so that you might reach paradise.

«and We have sent down to you a manifest light», which is this Holy Qur'an, which includes all branches of knowledge attained by the earlier and later generations; true and beneficial information; prescription of everything that is fair, sublime and good; and prohibition of everything that is wrong and evil. People will remain in darkness unless they seek its light, and they will remain in deep misery unless they are guided by it.

But the people are divided – according to their belief in the Qur'an and the extent to which they benefit from it – into two categories:

«As for those who believe in Allah» that is, they acknowledge His existence, ascribe all attributes of perfection to Him, and believe that He is above all shortcomings and faults

«and hold fast to Him» that is, they turn to Allah, rely upon Him, acknowledge their own lack of power and strength, and seek the help of their Lord

«He will admit them to His mercy and grace» that is, He will shower them with a special kind of mercy, guide them to that which is good, reward them abundantly and ward off from them calamities and harm.

«and guide them to Him on a straight path» that is, He will enable them to acquire knowledge and do good deeds, and to recognise the truth and act upon it.

In other words, whoever does not believe in Allah, hold fast to Him and adhere to His Book, He will deprive them of His mercy and grace, and He will leave them to their own devices. Hence they will not be guided; rather they will go far astray, as a punishment to them for not believing. Therefore all they will gain is doom and loss. We ask Allah (ﷻ) to keep us safe and sound, and to forgive us.

﴿يَسْتَفْتُونَكَ قُلِ اللَّهُ يُفْتِيكُمْ فِي الْكَلَالَةِ إِنِ امْرُؤٌ هَلَكَ لَيْسَ لَهُ وَلَدٌ وَلَهُ أُخْتٌ فَلَهَا نِصْفُ مَا تَرَكَ وَهُوَ يَرِثُهَا إِن لَّمْ يَكُنْ لَهَا وَلَدٌ فَإِن كَانَتَا اثْنَتَيْنِ فَلَهُمَا الشُّلُّانُ

مِمَّا تَرَكَ وَإِنْ كَانُوا إِخْوَةً رِجَالًا وَنِسَاءً فَلِلَّذَكَرِ مِثْلُ حَظِّ الْأُنثَيَيْنِ يُبَيِّنُ اللَّهُ لَكُمْ
 أَنْ تَضِلُّوا وَاللَّهُ بِكُلِّ شَيْءٍ عَلِيمٌ ﴿١٧٦﴾ (سورة النساء: ١٧٦)

- 4:176. They ask you for a ruling. Say: Allah gives you a ruling concerning those who die leaving neither ascendants nor descendants. If it is a man that dies, leaving a sister but no child [or surviving parent], she will have half of the estate. If [the deceased] is a woman who left no child [or surviving parent], her brother will have the [entire] estate. If there are two sisters [or more], they will have two-thirds of the estate [between them]. If there are brothers and sisters, [they will share the estate], each male having a portion equal to that of two females. Allah explains things to you lest you go astray. And Allah has knowledge of all things

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that the people asked His Messenger (ﷺ) about cases in which a person dies, leaving neither ascendants nor descendants, as He says «Say: Allah gives you a ruling concerning those who die leaving neither ascendants nor descendants». This refers to one who dies leaving behind no child of his own, and no grandchild, father or grandfather. Hence Allah says: «If it is a man that dies, leaving a sister but no child» that is, neither male nor female, and neither a child of his own nor a grandchild.

He also leaves behind no father, based on the fact that the share of inheritance is to be given to his siblings; according to scholarly consensus, siblings do not inherit if there is a father. But if a person dies and he leaves behind no son or father, but he leaves «a sister», that is, a full sister or a half-sister through the father – not through the mother; the ruling on the latter case has been mentioned above.

«she will have half of the estate» that is, half of what her brother left behind of cash, real estate, furniture and so on, after debts have been settled and bequests have been carried out, as mentioned above.

﴿If [the deceased] is a woman who left no child [or surviving parent], her brother will have the [entire] estate﴾ that is, her full brother or her half-brother through the father will inherit from her. There is no mention of how much he will take, because he is 'âṣib, that is, a male relative on the father's side, so he will take all of her wealth, if there is no one else who has an allocated share, or some other male relative to share it with him, or what is left after giving the allocated shares.

﴿If there are two sisters [or more], they will have two-thirds of the estate [between them]. If there are brothers and sisters﴾ that is, if there are both males and females, siblings from different mothers ﴿[they will share the estate], each male having a portion equal to that of two females﴾ thus the allocated share of the females is waived and the estate is divided among the siblings.

﴿Allah explains things to you lest you go astray﴾ that is, He explains to you in detail the rulings that you need to know, as a favour and kindness on His part, so that you will be guided by His explanation and will act upon His rulings, lest you go astray from the straight path because of your ignorance and lack of knowledge.

﴿And Allah has knowledge of all things﴾ that is, He has knowledge of the unseen and the seen, the past and the future; He knows that you need explanations and to learn, so He teaches you from His knowledge that which will benefit you always, in all times and places.

This is the end of the commentary on Soorat an-Nisâ'.

All praise and thanks are for Allah, and may the blessings and peace of Allah be upon Prophet Muhammad (ﷺ), his family, and his Companions abundantly until the Day of Judgement.

Soorat al-Mâ'idah

(Ma'dani)

---

بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ

*In the name of Allah,
the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful*

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا أَوْفُوا بِالْعُقُودِ ۖ أُحِلَّتْ لَكُم بَهِيمَةُ الْأَنْعَامِ إِلَّا مَا يُتَنَّى عَلَيْكُمْ غَيْرَ مُحِلِّي الصَّيْدِ وَأَنْتُمْ حُرْمٌ ۚ إِنَّ اللَّهَ يَحْكُمُ مَا يُرِيدُ﴾ (سورة المائدة: ١)

5:1. O you who believe, fulfil your covenants. Lawful to you [for food] are all livestock animals, with the exception of that which is hereby announced to you. But you are forbidden to kill game while you are in the state of iḥrām [for Hajj or 'umrah]. Verily Allah ordains what He wills.

This is a command from Allah (ﷻ) to His believing slaves, telling them what faith requires of fulfilling covenants, which is that one should adhere to them properly and completely, and not break them or fall short in fulfilling them.

That includes all covenants between the individual and his Lord, which require one to be a true slave to Him and to do one's duty properly, without falling short therein. It also includes the covenant between the individual and the Messenger (ﷺ), and the duty to obey him and follow him; the covenant between the individual and his parents and relatives, which requires him to honour them and uphold ties with them, and not to sever those ties; the covenant between the individual and his companions, which requires him to uphold the ties of companionship in times of wealth and of poverty, in times of ease and of hardship; the covenant between the individual and other people, in transactions such as buying and selling, renting, and so on, and covenants that involve giving something for free, such as gifts and the like. It also requires the individual to fulfil the rights of the Muslims which Allah has established among them when He said:

«The believers are but brothers...» (al-Hujurât 49: 10)

So they should support one another in adhering to the truth, co-operate in doing so, establish loving ties of friendship among the Muslims, and not sever ties with one another.

This issue includes both the fundamentals of Islam and the minor issues; all of them are part of the covenants which Allah enjoins us to fulfil.

Then Allah reminds His slaves of His blessings to them: «Lawful to you [for food]» as a mercy to you «are all livestock animals» – the word an'âm (translated here as «livestock animals») includes camels, cattle and sheep. It may also include wild animals such as gazelles, onagers (wild asses) and other animals that are hunted.

Some of the Şaḥābah quoted this verse as evidence for it being permissible to eat the foetus that dies in the womb after its mother is slaughtered in the prescribed manner.

«with the exception of that which is hereby announced to you» that is, the prohibition thereof is announced to you in the subsequent verse: «Forbidden to you [for food] are: the meat of animals found dead, blood, the flesh of swine... ﴿5: 3﴾ the things mentioned in that verse, even if they are livestock animals, are prohibited.

Because the permissibility of livestock animals is general and is applicable in all circumstances and at all times, an exception is made in the case of hunting whilst in iḥrām, as Allah says:

﴿But you are forbidden to kill game while you are in the state of iḥrām [for Hajj or 'umrah]﴾ that is, livestock animals are permissible to you in all circumstances, except when you are in a state in which hunting is not permissible, which is when you are in iḥrām. At that time you should not transgress the limit by killing such animals when you are in the state of iḥrām and within the limits of the Ḥaram (sanctuary) zone. Doing so is not permissible for you if the animal is game, such as gazelles and the like. "Game" refers to wild animals that may be eaten.

﴿Verily Allah ordains what He wills﴾ that is, whatever Allah (ﷻ) wills, He ordains it in accordance with His wisdom, just as He instructed you to fulfil your covenants in order to attain your best interests and to ward off harm from you.

He has permitted livestock animals to you out of mercy and compassion towards you, and He has prohibited to you exceptions from that, such as meat found dead and the like, so as to protect you from harm, and He has prohibited hunting whilst in iḥrām, out of respect for the state of iḥrām.

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا لَا تَحِلُّوا شَعْتِمَ اللَّهِ وَلَا الشَّهْرَ الْحَرَامَ وَلَا الْهَدْيَ وَلَا الْقَلَائِدَ وَلَا أَمْثِلَ الْبَيْتِ الْحَرَامِ يَبْتَغُونَ فَضْلًا مِّن رَّبِّهِمْ وَرِضْوَانًا وَإِذَا حَلَلْتُمْ فَاصْطَادُوا وَلَا يَجْرِمَنَّكُمْ شَنَاٰنُ قَوْمٍ أَن صَدُّوكُمْ عَنِ الْمَسْجِدِ الْحَرَامِ أَن تَعْتَدُوا وَتَعَاوَنُوا عَلَى الْبِرِّ وَالتَّقْوَىٰ وَلَا تَعَاوَنُوا عَلَى الْإِثْمِ وَالْعُدْوَانِ وَاتَّقُوا اللَّهَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ شَدِيدُ الْعِقَابِ

- 5:2. O you who believe, do not violate the sanctity of the rites of Allah, or of the sacred month, or of the animals brought for sacrifice, or the garlands that mark out such animals, or those who are travelling to the Sacred House, seeking bounty from their Lord and to please Him. But when you come out of iḥrām [following Hajj or 'umrah], then you may hunt. Do not let your hatred of those who prevented you from reaching the Sacred Mosque lead you to transgress. Help one another in righteousness and piety, but do not help one another in sin and transgression. Fear Allah, for Allah is severe in punishment.

Here Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿O you who believe, do not violate the sanctity of the rites of Allah﴾ that is, do not transgress the sacred limits that He has instructed you to respect or do that which He has told you not to do. This prohibition includes both doing it and believing that it is permissible to do it. That includes the prohibition on doing an evil action and believing it is permissible.

It also includes the prohibition on doing the things that are forbidden when in the state of iḥrām and when in the Ḥaram (sanctuary) zone.

﴿or of the sacred month﴾ that is, do not violate the sanctity thereof by fighting during those months, or committing other kinds of wrongdoing, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Verily, the number of months with Allah is twelve, as ordained by Allah on the day He created the heavens and the earth, of which four are sacred. This is the correct calculation. So do not wrong yourselves during them...﴾ (at-Tawbah 9: 36)

The majority of scholars are of the view that the prohibition on fighting during the sacred months was abrogated by the verse in which Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Then when the sacred months are over, slay the polytheists<sup>21</sup> wherever you find them...﴾ (at-Tawbah 9: 5)

<sup>21</sup> This refers only to the polytheists who had broken their treaty with the Muslims and supported their enemies against them.

And there are other texts which speak of slaying the disbelievers in general terms, and which warn against refraining from fighting them in general terms. The Prophet (ﷺ) fought the people of Taif during Dhul-Qa'dah, which was one of the sacred months.

Others said: The prohibition on fighting during the sacred months was not abrogated by this verse or others, because the prohibition was mentioned in specific terms, and the permissibility was mentioned in general terms, and what is mentioned in general terms is to be understood in light of what is mentioned in specific terms.

Some of them explained the matter by saying that it is not permissible to initiate fighting during the sacred months, but in the case of continuing and completing the fight, if it began during other months, that is permissible.

They interpreted the Prophet's fighting the people of Taif on that basis, because that fight started at Hunayn during Shawwāl.

In all cases, this has to do with fighting that is not for the purpose of defence. In the case of defensive fighting, if the disbelievers initiated the fight with the Muslims, then it is permissible for the Muslims to fight in order to defend themselves during the sacred months or otherwise, according to scholarly consensus.

﴿or of the animals brought for sacrifice, or the garlands that mark out such animals﴾ that is, do not violate the sanctity of the sacrificial animals that have been brought to the House of Allah during Hajj or 'umrah or otherwise. Do not prevent them from reaching their place of sacrifice, do not seize them by theft or otherwise, and do not mistreat them or make them carry burdens greater than they can bear, lest they die before reaching their place of sacrifice. Rather you should respect them and respect the people who brought them.

﴿or the garlands that mark out such animals﴾. This refers to a special type of sacrificial animal, which is the one for which strings have been twisted or tied into knots, then placed on its neck as a manifestation of the rituals of Allah, and to encourage people to follow this example and to teach them the Sunnah; this is also done so that it will be known that this is a sacrificial animal and should be respected as such. Hence putting a garland on the sacrificial animal is Sunnah.

﴿or those who are travelling to the Sacred House﴾ that is, heading towards it ﴿seeking bounty from their Lord and to please Him﴾. This refers to those who are heading towards the Sacred House, seeking Allah's bounty by means of trade and permissible earnings, or to attain the pleasure of Allah by means of performing Hajj or 'umrah, circumambulating the House, praying and doing other acts of worship. Do not mistreat them or humiliate them; rather you should honour them and respect those who are coming to visit the House of their Lord.

This carries an implicit instruction to make safe the roads that lead to the House of Allah, and to make those who are coming to it feel safe and at ease, not fearing for their lives or other kinds of harm, or fearing that their wealth may be subjected to unjust taxes, plunder and the like.

This verse excludes those who are mentioned in another verse, namely:

﴿O you who believe, truly the polytheists are impure, so do not let them come near the Sacred Mosque after this [final] year of theirs...﴾

(at-Tawbah 9: 28)

– the polytheists should no longer be allowed to enter the H̥aram zone.

The restriction in this verse, which prohibits disturbing those who are headed to the Kaaba, seeking bounty from their Lord and to please Him, indicates that if someone is travelling there for the purpose of committing sin in that place, then part of respecting the sanctuary is to prevent anyone with such intentions from transgressing the sanctity of the House of Allah, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...and any who intend to profane it by deliberate evildoing, We will cause them to taste a painful penalty.﴾ (al-Hajj 22: 25)

Because He had forbidden them to hunt whilst in the state of iḥrām, Allah then says: ﴿But when you come out of iḥrām [following Hajj or 'umrah], then you may hunt﴾ that is, when you exit iḥrām after completing Hajj or 'umrah, and you go out of the Ḥaram zone, it becomes permissible for you to hunt, and the prohibition no longer applies. This command after the prohibition serves to restore things to the way they were before.

﴿Do not let your hatred of those who prevented you from reaching the Sacred Mosque lead you to transgress﴾ that is, do not let your hatred and enmity towards some people, and their previous aggression against you when they prevented you from reaching the mosque, cause you to transgress against them, seeking revenge. One must adhere to the command of Allah and follow the path of justice, even when one has been wronged or mistreated or subjected to aggression. It is not permissible to tell lies about the one who lied about him, or to betray the one who betrayed him.

﴿Help one another in righteousness and piety﴾ that is, help one another to be righteous. The word birr (translated here as ﴿righteousness﴾) includes everything that Allah loves and that pleases Him of actions both outward and inward, having to do with the rights of Allah and the rights of other people.

In this context, the word taqwā (translated here as ﴿piety﴾) includes refraining from everything that Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ) hate, of actions both outward and inward.

Thus it is commanded to do every deed that is regarded as good, and it is commanded to refrain from every deed that is regarded as evil. The individual is enjoined to do that himself and to cooperate with his fellow believers in saying and doing everything that will motivate and encourage people to do that.

﴿but do not help one another in sin﴾ that is, overstepping the mark by doing acts of disobedience that incur a burden of sin and may be a cause of unease and embarrassment

﴿and transgression﴾ that is, transgressing against people with regard to their blood, wealth and honour. One must refrain from acts of sin and wrongdoing, and help others to refrain also.

﴿Fear Allah, for Allah is severe in punishment﴾ towards those who disobey Him and transgress His sacred limits. So respect the limits, lest punishment befall you in this world and the hereafter.

﴿حُرِّمَتْ عَلَيْكُمُ الْمَيْتَةُ وَالْدَّمُ وَلَحْمُ الْخِنْزِيرِ وَمَا أُهْلَ لِغَيْرِ اللَّهِ بِهِ وَالْمُنْخَنِقَةُ وَالْمَوْقُوذَةُ وَالْمُتَرَدِّيَةُ وَالنَّطِيحَةُ وَمَا أَكَلَ السَّبُعُ إِلَّا مَا ذَكَّيْتُمْ وَمَا ذُبِحَ عَلَى النُّصُبِ وَأَنْ تَسْقُوا بِأَيْدِيكُمْ فَتَبْلُغُوا ذَلِكُمْ فَمَنْ فُتِقَ...﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٣)

- 5:3. Forbidden to you [for food] are: the meat of animals found dead, blood, the flesh of swine, and that on which [a name] other than that of Allah has been invoked [at the time of slaughter]; that which has been killed by strangling, or by a violent blow, or by a headlong fall, or by being gored to death; that which has been [partly] eaten by a wild animal – unless you are able to slaughter it [in the prescribed manner, before it dies]; and that which is sacrificed on stone [altars]. [Also forbidden] is making decisions by means of divining arrows. All of that is an abomination. ...

This is what was referred to in the first verse, in which Allah said: ﴿with the exception of that which is hereby announced to you﴾. It should be understood that Allah only prohibited what He prohibited in order to protect His slaves from the harm that is present in that which is prohibited, and which He may or may not explain to His slaves.

Here Allah tells us that He has prohibited ﴿the meat of animals found dead﴾. What is meant by the meat of animals found dead is meat from an animal that lost its life without being slaughtered in the prescribed manner. It is prohibited because it is harmful, as its blood is still retained inside its body and its flesh is harmful to the one who eats it. In such cases the animal often dies because of some disease that killed it, so it would be harmful to the one who eats it. An exception to this prohibition is made in the case of locusts and fish found dead, which are permissible.

﴿blood﴾ that is, blood that has been shed or poured forth, as is stated in another verse.

﴿the flesh of swine﴾ that includes all parts of the pig. Allah mentioned swine out of all other impure wild animals, because some of the People of the Book, namely the Christians, claim that Allah permitted it to them. So what is meant here is: do not be deceived by them, because it is prohibited and is included among those things which are impure.

﴿and that on which [a name] other than that of Allah has been invoked [at the time of slaughter]﴾ that is, the name of something other than Allah was mentioned over it, such as the names of idols, the awliyâ' ("saints"), stars and other created things. Just as invoking the name of Allah over it at the time of slaughter makes it good and permissible, invoking the name of anything other than Him over it makes it impure, because it is associating something else with Allah (ﷻ).

﴿that which has been killed by strangling﴾, whether that was done by hand or with a rope, or putting its head into something tight from which it could not escape until it died.

﴿or by a violent blow﴾ that is, it died because of being hit with a stick or a rock or a piece of wood, or something fell on it, whether that was done intentionally or otherwise.

﴿or by a headlong fall﴾ that is, it fell from a height such as a mountain, wall or roof and the like, and died as a result.

﴿or by being gored to death﴾ – this refers to an animal that was gored by another and died.

﴿that which has been [partly] eaten by a wild animal﴾ such as a wolf, lion, tiger or birds of prey. If it dies as a result of being eaten by a wild animal, it is not permissible.

The phrase ﴿unless you are able to slaughter it [in the prescribed manner, before it dies]﴾ refers to all of these cases, namely strangling, a violent blow, a headlong fall, being gored and being eaten by a wild animal; if it is slaughtered in the prescribed manner while it is still alive and its survival is feasible, so that it is possible to slaughter it in the prescribed manner. Hence the fuqahā' said: If the wild animal or whatever took out its stomach or cut its throat, even if it is still alive, it is regarded as having been found dead, because there is no benefit in slaughtering it in the prescribed manner. (Others only pay attention to the issue of whether it is still alive; if it is slaughtered in the prescribed manner when it is still alive then it becomes permissible, even if its stomach has been taken out, and this is the apparent meaning of the verse.)

﴿[Also forbidden] is making decisions by means of divining arrows﴾ This refers to three arrows that were used during the jāhilyah. Written on one of them was the word "Do [it]"; on the second was written "Do not do [it]", and nothing was written on the third.

If one of them was thinking of travelling or getting married and so on, he would mix those three arrows that were equal in size, then he would take out one of them. If he took out the one on which was written "Do [it]", he would go ahead with his plans. If he took out the one on which was written "Do not do [it]", he would not go ahead with his plans. If he took out the one on which nothing was written, he would repeat the procedure until he took out one of the other two arrows, then he would act upon it. Allah forbade them to do this and similar things, and he gave them an alternative in the form of istikhârah by means of which they could ask their Lord for guidance in all decisions.

﴿All of that is an abomination﴾ this refers to all the prohibited things mentioned above, which Allah has prohibited in order to protect His slaves. They are ﴿an abomination﴾ that is, disobedience to Him and obedience to the Shayṭān.

Then He reminds His slaves of His favours:

﴿... الْيَوْمَ يَسِّرُ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا مِنْ دِينِكُمْ فَلَا تَخْشَوْهُمْ وَاخْشَوْنِ الْيَوْمَ أَكْمَلْتُ لَكُمْ دِينَكُمْ وَأَتِمَمْتُ عَلَيْكُمْ نِعْمَتِي وَرَضِيتُ لَكُمُ الْإِسْلَامَ دِينًا فَمَنِ اضْطُرَّ فِي مَخِصَّةٍ غَيْرِ مَتَجَانِفٍ لِإِثْمٍ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ عَفُورٌ رَحِيمٌ﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٣)

5:3. ... This day have those who disbelieve given up all hope of you deviating from your religion. So do not fear them, but fear Me. This day have I perfected your religion for you, completed My blessing upon you, and have chosen for you Islam as your religion. But if any is forced by [severe] hunger [to eat that which is forbidden], with no intention of sinning, Allah is indeed Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.

The day referred to here is the Day of 'Arafah, when Allah perfected His religion, and granted victory to His slave and Messenger (ﷺ), and the polytheists were defeated completely after having been very keen to turn the believers away from their religion and had been hoping to achieve that.

When they saw the victory and triumph of Islam, they despaired utterly of the believers ever returning to their (the polytheists') religion, and they began to fear them. Hence in the year in which the Prophet (ﷺ) performed Hajj (10 AH), which was his Farewell Pilgrimage, no polytheist performed Hajj and no one circumambulated the Kaaba naked.

Hence Allah said: ﴿So do not fear them, but fear Me﴾ that is, do not be afraid of the polytheists; rather fear Allah, Who has granted you victory over them and defeated them, and caused their plot to backfire.

﴿This day have I perfected your religion for you﴾ by completing the victory and perfecting all laws and teachings that have to do with both outward and inward matters, fundamentals and minor issues. Hence the Qur'an and Sunnah are completely sufficient with regard to the rulings of Islam, both fundamental and minor issues.

Anyone who tries to be smart by claiming that the people have no choice, in learning their beliefs and rulings, but to refer to other branches of knowledge apart from knowledge of the Qur'an and Sunnah, such as "Islamic philosophy" ('ilm al-kalâm), is ignorant and his call is false, because it is an implicit claim that Islam cannot be complete without that which he is promoting. This is one of the worst kinds of wrongdoing and is an accusation of ignorance against Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ).

﴿completed My blessing upon you﴾, both visible and invisible ﴿and have chosen for you Islam as your religion﴾ that is, I have chosen it and selected it for you as your religion, and am pleased with it for you. Therefore you should adhere to it out of gratitude to your Lord, and praise the One Who has blessed you with the best, noblest and most perfect of religions.

﴿But if any is forced﴾ that is, if he resorts out of necessity to eating any of the prohibited things mentioned above, at the beginning of the verse,
﴿by [severe] hunger﴾ that is, starvation

﴿with no intention of sinning﴾ that is, without any inclination towards sin, because he would not eat it unless he had no other option, and he does not eat more than is sufficient

﴿Allah is indeed Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful﴾ as He has made it permissible for him to eat in this situation, and He has shown mercy by allowing him to eat enough to keep him going, without that affecting his religious commitment.

﴿يَسْأَلُونَكَ مَاذَا أُحِلَّ لَهُمْ قُلْ أُحِلَّ لَكُمُ الطَّيِّبَاتُ وَمَا عَلَّمْتُم مِّنَ الْجَوَارِحِ مُكَلِّينَ تُعَلِّمُونَهُنَّ مِمَّا عَلَّمَكُمُ اللَّهُ فَكُلُوا مِمَّا أَمْسَكْنَ عَلَيْكُمْ وَاذْكُرُوا اسْمَ اللَّهِ عَلَيْهِ وَانْقُوا اللَّهَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ سَرِيعُ الْحِسَابِ﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٤)

- 5:4. They ask you [O Muhammad] what is lawful to them [as food].
Say: Lawful to you are [all] good things, as well as that which you have taught your hunting animals to catch, training them as Allah has taught you. Eat what they catch for you, but pronounce the name of Allah over it [when releasing the hunting animal].
And fear Allah; for Allah is swift in reckoning.

Here Allah (ﷻ) says to His Prophet Muhammad (ﷺ): ﴿They ask you [O Muhammad] what is lawful to them﴾ of food.

﴿Say: Lawful to you are [all] good things﴾ – this refers to everything that is beneficial or tastes good, without causing physical or mental harm. That includes all kinds of grains and fruits that grow in towns and in the wilderness, as well as all sea animals and all land animals, apart from the exceptions made by the Lawgiver, such as carnivorous animals and impure things.

Hence the verse indicates that impure things are prohibited, as is stated clearly elsewhere:

﴿...he makes good things lawful to them and bad things unlawful...﴾
(al-A'raf 7: 157)

﴿as well as that which you have taught your hunting animals to catch﴾ that is, He has permitted to you that which you have trained your hunting animals to catch.

This verse indicates several things:

- 1- Allah's kindness and mercy to His slaves, as He has given them many ways of obtaining permissible food, and He has permitted to them what they do not slaughter in the prescribed manner of that which is caught by their hunting animals. What is meant by hunting animals is dogs, falcons and the like, which hunt with fangs or talons.
- 2- Allah stipulated that these hunting animals should be taught or trained, in the manner that is customarily regarded as training, so that the animal will run when released and stop when told to stop, and when it catches the prey it will not eat it. Hence He says: ﴿training them as Allah has taught you. Eat what they catch for you﴾ that is, what they catch of prey for you. Whatever the hunting animal eats, it is not known whether he caught it for his master for himself; he may have caught it for himself.
- 3- It is stipulated that the dog or bird should cause a wound to the prey, because the word used here is jawâriḥ (translated as ﴿hunting animals﴾; the root meaning of this word means to wound). Moreover, the previous verse mentions the prohibition on eating animals that have been strangled. Therefore if the dog or other hunting animal were to strangle the prey or kill it by its weight, it would not be permissible. (This is on the basis that the word jawâriḥ refers to hunting animals that wound the prey with fangs or talons. However the well-known view is that the word jawâriḥ has the meaning of "collectors" and refers to those who collect the prey or catch up with it, in which case this condition is not applicable. And Allah knows best.)

- 4- It is permissible to keep a hunting dog, as is mentioned in the ṣaḥeeḥ hadith, even though keeping dogs is prohibited, because what is implied by the permissibility of hunting with the dog and training it is that it is permissible to keep it.
- 5- The prey that is caught by the dog's mouth is pure (tāhir), because Allah permitted it and did not state that it must be washed, which indicates that it is pure.
- 6- This points to the virtue of teaching and training, because prey caught by the hunting animal that has knowledge by virtue of being trained is permissible, whereas that caught by one which is ignorant and untrained is not permissible.
- 7- Spending time in training the dog or bird, or other hunting animal, is not blameworthy and does not come under the heading of idle pursuits; rather it is something that serves the purpose, because it is a means of making the animal's prey permissible and benefiting from it.
- 8- This verse offers evidence for those who regard it as permissible to sell hunting dogs, because they cannot be acquired otherwise.
- 9- It is stipulated to invoke the name of Allah when releasing the hunting animal; if the hunter deliberately omits to invoke the name of Allah, whatever is killed by the hunting animal is not permissible.
- 10- It is permissible to eat what the hunting animal catches, whether the hunting animal kills it or not. If the owner catches up with it and the prey is still alive, it is not permissible to eat it unless it is slaughtered in the prescribed manner.

Then Allah (ﷻ) urges us to fear Him, and He warns us about the coming of the reckoning on the Day of Resurrection, and that this is close at hand, as He says: ﴿And fear Allah; for Allah is swift in reckoning﴾.

﴿الْيَوْمَ أُحِلَّ لَكُمُ الطَّيِّبَاتُ وَطَعَامُ الَّذِينَ أُوتُوا الْكِتَابَ حِلٌّ لَكُمْ وَطَعَامُكُمْ حِلٌّ لَهُمْ
وَالْمُحْصَنَاتُ مِنَ الْمُؤْمِنَاتِ وَالْمُحْصَنَاتُ مِنَ الَّذِينَ أُوتُوا الْكِتَابَ مِنْ قَبْلِكُمْ إِذَا
ءَاتَيْتُمُوهُنَّ أَجُورَهُنَّ مُحْصِنِينَ غَيْرَ مُسْفِحِينَ وَلَا مَتَّخِذِي أَخْدَانٍ وَمَنْ يَكْفُرْ
بِالْإِيمَانِ فَقَدْ حَبِطَ عَمَلُهُ وَهُوَ فِي الْآخِرَةِ مِنَ الْخَاسِرِينَ﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٥)

- 5:5. This day all good things are made lawful to you. The food of the People of the Book is lawful to you and your food is lawful to them. [Lawful to you in marriage] are chaste women who are believers and chaste women among those who were given the scripture before you, provided that you give them their dowries, taking them in honest wedlock, not in fornication or illicit relationships. Whoever denies the faith, his deeds will come to nothing and in the hereafter he will be among the losers.

Here Allah repeats the permissibility of good things in order to highlight His favour and call His slaves to give thanks to Him and remember Him a great deal, for He has permitted to them all good things that will meet their needs and will be beneficial to them.

«The food of the People of the Book is lawful to you» that is, meat slaughtered by the Jews and Christians is permissible for you – O Muslims – but not that slaughtered by other disbelievers; their meat is not permissible for the Muslims. That is because the People of the Book claim to follow the Prophets and scriptures, and all the Messengers were agreed that the meat of animals slaughtered for anyone other than Allah is prohibited, because that is associating others with Him (shirk). It is part of the teachings of the Jews and the Christians that the meat of animals slaughtered for anyone other than Allah is prohibited, hence their meat is lawful whilst that slaughtered by others is not.

The evidence that what is meant by the food here is the meat is the fact that with regard to food other than meat, such as grains and fruits, there is nothing special about the People of the Book in this regard; rather these things are permissible even if it is the food of people who follow other religions. Moreover, the food is described as being theirs (﴿the food of the People of the Book﴾), which refers to meat slaughtered by them, not food they own, because the issue of legitimate ownership applies equally to both People of the Book and Muslims.<sup>22</sup>

﴿and your food﴾ O Muslims ﴿is lawful to them﴾ that is, it is permissible for you to give it to them.

﴿[Lawful to you in marriage] are chaste women﴾ that is, women who are free (not slaves) and chaste ﴿who are believers﴾ ﴿and chaste women﴾ who are free (not slaves) ﴿among those who were given the scripture before you﴾ that is, Jews and Christians.

This is an exception from what is mentioned elsewhere:

﴿Do not marry the polytheist women until they believe...﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 221)

What this verse means is that it is not permissible for free men to marry believing female slaves, and that is the case.

With regard to unchaste women who do not refrain from illicit sex, it is not permissible to marry them, whether they are Muslims or from the People of the Book, until they repent, because Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿A man who fornicates may only marry a woman who fornicates or who is a polytheist...﴾ (an-Noor 24: 3)

﴿provided that you give them their dowries﴾ this indicates that it is made permissible to marry them, provided that you give them their dowries. If anyone intends not to give the woman her dowry, then she is not permissible for him. Allah has enjoined giving her the dowry

<sup>22</sup> That is because food acquired by unlawful means is haram regardless of the religious affiliation of the person in whose possession it is.

if she is mature and fit to receive it, otherwise the husband should give it to her guardian.

Attributing the dowry to them (﴿their dowries﴾) indicates that the woman owns all of her dowry; it is hers and no one is entitled to anything of it, unless she willingly gives it to her husband, guardian or anyone else.

﴿taking them in honest wedlock﴾ that is, your intention – O husbands – is to keep your wives chaste by keeping yourselves chaste, by refraining from illicit relationships with any other women.

﴿not in fornication﴾ that is, committing zinā with anyone (numerous partners)

﴿or illicit relationships﴾ that is, zinā with a lover (one partner). During the jāhiliyah, some people would commit zinā with anyone, whereas others would do so with a particular lover. Allah (ﷻ) tells us that this is contrary to chastity and that one of the conditions of marriage is that the man should be chaste and refrain from zinā.

﴿Whoever denies the faith﴾ that is, whoever disbelieves in Allah (ﷻ) and what faith requires of also believing in His Books and His Messengers, or any of the teachings of Islam, his deeds will come to nothing, if he dies in a state of disbelief, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿...And if any of you turn back from their faith and die as disbelievers, their deeds will come to nothing in this world and in the hereafter...﴾

(al-Baqarah 2: 217)

﴿and in the hereafter he will be among the losers﴾ that is, he will be among those who lose their souls, their wealth and their families on the Day of Resurrection and incur eternal misery.

يَتَأْتِيهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا إِذَا قُمْتُمْ إِلَى الصَّلَاةِ فَاغْسِلُوا وُجُوهَكُمْ وَأَيْدِيَكُمْ
إِلَى الْمَرَافِقِ وَامْسَحُوا بِرُءُوسِكُمْ وَأَرْجُلَكُمْ إِلَى الْكَعْبَيْنِ وَإِنْ كُنْتُمْ جُنُبًا

فَاطْهَرُوا وَإِنْ كُنْتُمْ مَرْضَىٰ أَوْ عَلَىٰ سَفَرٍ أَوْ جَاءَ أَحَدٌ مِنْكُم مِّنَ الْغَايِطِ أَوْ لَسْتُمْ
النِّسَاءَ فَلَمْ تَجِدُوا مَاءً فَتَيَمَّمُوا صَعِيدًا طَيِّبًا فَامْسَحُوا بِوُجُوْهِكُمْ وَأَيْدِيكُمْ
مِّنْهُ مَا يُرِيدُ اللَّهُ لِيَجْعَلَ عَلَيْكُمْ مِنْ حَرَجٍ وَلَكِنْ يُرِيدُ لِيُطَهِّرَكُمْ
وَلِيُنِزِلَ نِعْمَتَهُ عَلَيْكُمْ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَشْكُرُونَ ﴿٦﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٦)

- 5:6. O you who believe, when you prepare for prayer, wash your faces, and your hands [and arms] to the elbows; wipe over your heads [with wet hands]; and [wash] your feet to the ankles. If you are in a state of major impurity [janâbah], then purify yourselves [ghusl]. If you are ill, or on a journey, or have relieved yourselves, or you have touched women, and cannot find water, then find some clean earth, and wipe your faces and hands with it [tayammum]. Allah does not wish to impose any hardship on you, but to purify you, and complete His favour to you, so that you may give thanks.

This verse includes many rulings, of which we will mention those that Allah enables us to:

- 1- What is mentioned here, and complying with it and acting upon it, is among the requirements of faith without which faith is not complete, because the verse begins with the words ﴿O you who believe...﴾. What is meant is: O you who believe, do what your faith requires, and what has been prescribed for you.
- 2- The command to establish prayer, because Allah says: ﴿when you prepare for prayer﴾.
- 3- The command to form the intention to pray, because Allah says: ﴿when you prepare for prayer﴾, that is, with the aim and intention of praying.
- 4- Being in a state of purification is stipulated in order for the prayer to be valid, because Allah enjoins it when preparing to pray, and the basic meaning of enjoining is that something is obligatory.

- 5- Purification does not become obligatory when the time for prayer begins; rather it becomes obligatory when one wants to pray.
- 6- In the case of everything that may be called prayer – whether it is obligatory or supererogatory, a communal obligation, or the funeral prayer – it is stipulated that one should be in a state of purity. This even applies to prostration on its own, according to many scholars, such as the prostration when reading Qur'an and the prostration of gratitude.
- 7- The command to wash the face, from the regular hairline to the jawline and chin lengthwise, and from ear to ear.
That includes rinsing the mouth and nose, as stated in the Sunnah, as well as hair on the face; if the facial hair is light, the water must reach the skin, but if it is thick, it is sufficient to wet the surface of the hair.
- 8- The command to wash the hands (and arms), up to the elbow. According to the majority of commentators, ilā (the word translated here as «up to»)) means “with”, because what is required cannot be completed except by washing the entire elbow.
- 9- The command to wipe the head.
- 10- It is obligatory to wipe the entire head (as is indicated by the grammatical structure of the original Arabic text).
- 11- It is sufficient to wipe the head in any manner, with one or both hands, or with a cloth or a piece of wood and the like, because Allah mentioned wiping in general terms and did not specify what is to be used to do it, which indicates that any manner of doing it is acceptable.
- 12- What is required is to wipe the head. If someone were to wash his head, without wiping the hand over the head, that would not be acceptable, because it would not be doing what Allah had enjoined.

- 13- The command to wash the feet up to the ankles; something similar may be said concerning this as was said concerning the arms.
- 14- This is a refutation of the Râfiḍis, because the majority of scholars read the word arjulakum (﴿your feet﴾) in the accusative (that is, the object of the verb ﴿wash﴾); it is not permissible to wipe them so long as they are uncovered.
- 15- This verse may be taken as an indication that it is permissible to wipe over the khuffayn (leather slippers), according to a variant recitation (arjulikum), which would connect it to the act of wiping over the head. In that case the feet may be wiped over if they are covered with the khuffayn. Each recitation may have its own meaning: according to the first recitation (arjulakum), the feet are to be washed if they are uncovered; according to the second recitation (arjulikum), the feet are to be wiped over if they are covered with the khuffayn.
- 16- It is enjoined to follow a particular order when doing wuḍoo', because Allah mentions the actions of wuḍoo' in a particular order, and because He mentioned something that is to be wiped – namely the head – in between two things that are to be washed, and there would be no point in doing so except to emphasise a particular order.
- 17- That particular order has to do with the four main parts of the body mentioned in this verse. With regard to the order of rinsing the mouth and nose and washing the face, or washing the right and left in the case of the arms and feet, doing these things in a particular order is not obligatory. Rather it is mustaḥabb to rinse the mouth and nose before washing the face, to start with the right before the left when washing the arms and feet, and to wipe the head before the ears.
- 18- The command to renew wuḍoo' for each prayer, so as to do it exactly as enjoined.

- 19- The command to wash oneself in the case of janâbah (impurity following sexual activity).
- 20- It is obligatory to ensure that water reaches all parts of the body when doing ghusl, because Allah mentions purifying of the body, without specifying some particular parts to the exclusion of others.
- 21- The command to wash the hair thoroughly when purifying oneself from janâbah.
- 22- Purification from minor impurity may be included in purification from major impurity; if both are applicable, it is sufficient to intend to form the intention of purification, then wash the entire body, because Allah only said to purify oneself, and He did not say that one should repeat wuḍoo'.
- 23- The word junub (one who is in a state of janâbah) is applicable to anyone who has emitted mani, whether awake or asleep, or who has had intercourse, whether he ejaculated or not.
- 24- The one who remembers having a wet dream but does not find any wetness does not have to do ghusl, because in that case he is not junub.
- 25- A reminder of Allah's blessing to His slaves, as He prescribed tayammum for them.
- 26- One of the reasons for tayammum being permissible is sickness which will be worsened by washing with water; in that case it is permissible to do tayammum.
- 27- One of the reasons for tayammum being permissible is travelling and having relieved oneself by urinating or defecating, if no water is available. Thus sickness makes tayammum permissible even if water is available, because of the harm that would result from using it. The other reasons make tayammum permissible when there is no water available, even if one is not travelling.
- 28- Emissions from the front and back passages, of urine and stools respectively, invalidate wuḍoo'

- 29- This verse is quoted as evidence by those who say that wuḍoo' is only invalidated by these two things (relieving oneself or touching women), not by touching the private part and so on.
- 30- It is mustahabb to use euphemisms in order to avoid using foul language, because Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿or have relieved yourselves﴾.
- 31- Touching a woman with desire and pleasure invalidates wuḍoo'.
- 32- It is stipulated that no water be available in order for tayammum to be valid.
- 33- When water becomes available, even if that is whilst praying, tayammum becomes invalid, because Allah only permitted it when water is not available.
- 34- If the time for prayer begins and a person does not have water with him, he must look for it where he is staying, and nearby, because it cannot be said that he could not find water if he did not look for it.
- 35- If a person finds water but it is not sufficient for him to purify himself completely, then he must use it up, then do tayammum after that.
- 36- If water is altered by halal, pure substances, using it takes precedence over tayammum, because water that has been changed is still water, so it is included in the words ﴿and cannot find water﴾.
- 37- It is essential to form the intention of tayammum, as may be understood from the original Arabic text, because the Arabic word tayammum means to aim and intend to do something.
- 38- Anything that accumulates on the face of the earth is valid for tayammum, such as dust and the like. Based on that, the words ﴿and wipe your faces and hands with it﴾ either refer to what is usually the case, as one will usually have dust available with which one may wipe, and it will stick to the face and hands, or this is indicating the better way, and that if it is possible to use earth in which there is dust, this is preferable.

- 39- It is not valid to do tayammum with impure earth, because it is not pure and clean; rather it is impure.
- 40- What is to be wiped in the case of tayammum is the face and hands only, and not other parts of the body.
- 41- The words «your faces», include the entire face, and indicate that all of it is to be wiped, but one is excused from having to insert dust into the mouth and nose, or make it reach the skin that is beneath facial hair, even if said hair is thin.
- 42- The hands are to be wiped up to the wrists only, because when the word yadayn (hands) is used in a general sense, what is meant is the hands.

If it were required that the wiping reach up to the forearms, Allah would have specified that as He did in the case of wuḍoo'.

- 43- The verse is general in meaning and indicates that tayammum is permissible for all types of impurity, both major and minor; in fact it is also permissible in the case of impurities on the body, because Allah has made it an alternative to purification with water and has mentioned it in general terms in this verse, and has not restricted it. (It may be said that impurities on the body are not included in the ruling on tayammum, because the context speaks of impurity [in the sense of minor or major impurity]. This is the view of the majority of scholars.)
- 44- The places of tayammum are the same in the case of both minor and major impurity, namely the face and hands.
- 45- If a person intends to do tayammum to purify himself from both types of impurity, this is acceptable, based on the general meaning of the verse.
- 46- It is sufficient to wipe with anything, with the hand or otherwise, because Allah said «and wipe», but He did not say what is to be used for wiping. This indicates that it may be done with anything.

- 47- It is stipulated that things be done in a certain order when purifying oneself with tayammum, as is also stipulated in the case of wuḍoo'; moreover, Allah started with mention of wiping the face, before wiping the hands.
- 48- In the rulings that He has prescribed for us, Allah (ﷻ) has not caused us any hardship or difficulty. Rather it is mercy from Him towards His slaves, to purify them and complete His favour upon them.
- 49- Outward purification with water or dust is meant to be complementary to inward purification which is attained by affirming the oneness of Allah (tawḥeed) and repenting sincerely.
- 50- Even though there is no visible sign of purification in the case of tayammum, it is still an intangible, spiritual purification that comes about as a result of complying with the command of Allah (ﷻ).
- 51- One should reflect upon the wisdom behind the laws that Allah has ordained with regard to purification and other matters, so as to increase in knowledge and in gratitude and love for Allah, for what He has prescribed of rulings that enable one to reach a high status.

﴿وَاذْكُرُوا نِعْمَةَ اللَّهِ عَلَيْكُمْ وَمِيثَاقَهُ الَّذِي وَاثَقَكُمْ بِهِ إِذْ قُلْتُمْ سَمِعْنَا وَأَطَعْنَا وَأَتَقُوا اللَّهَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ عَلِيمٌ بِذَاتِ الصُّدُورِ﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٧)

- 5:7. And remember the favour that Allah bestowed upon you, and His covenant that He made with you, when you said: We hear and we obey. And fear Allah, for Allah knows well what is in [your] hearts.

Here Allah (ﷻ) instructs His slaves to remember His spiritual and worldly blessings, in their hearts and verbally, because always remembering will motivate one to give thanks to Allah (ﷻ) and to love Him, and one's heart will be filled with gratitude to Him.

This dispels self-admiration with regard to acquiring spiritual blessings, and leads one to attribute everything to the bounty and generosity of Allah.

﴿and His covenant﴾ that is, and remember His covenant ﴿that He made with you﴾.

This does not mean that they spoke words and uttered the covenant verbally; rather what is meant is that by believing in Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ), they committed themselves to obeying both of them. Hence Allah says ﴿when you said: We hear and we obey﴾ that is, we hear what You have called us to of Your Qur'anic revelations and universal signs, hearing in the sense of understanding, complying and following, and we obey by complying with what You have enjoined us to do and by avoiding what You have forbidden us to do. This includes all the laws of Islam, both outwardly and inwardly.

The believers remember thereby the covenant of Allah that He made with them, and they bear it in mind and are eager to carry out what they have been instructed to do in full, not falling short.

﴿And fear Allah﴾ in all circumstances
 ﴿for Allah knows well what is in [your] hearts﴾ that is, what the hearts contain of ideas, secrets and passing thoughts; so beware lest He see in your heart that which is not pleasing to Him, or there come out of you that which He dislikes. Build your hearts with knowledge of Him, love for Him and sincerity towards His slaves, for – if you do that – He will forgive your bad deeds and multiply the reward for your good deeds, because He knows the sound condition of your hearts.

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا كُونُوا قَوَّامِينَ لِلَّهِ شُهَدَاءَ بِالْقِسْطِ وَلَا يَجْرِمَنَّكُمْ
شَتَنَانُ قَوْمٍ عَلَىٰ أَلَّا تَعْدِلُوا أَعْدِلُوا هُوَ أَقْرَبُ لِلتَّقْوَىٰ وَاتَّقُوا اللَّهَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ
خَبِيرٌ بِمَا تَعْمَلُونَ ﴿٨﴾﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٨)

5:8. O you who believe! Be steadfast in your devotion to Allah, bearing true witness impartially. Do not let your hatred of some people lead you away from justice. Be just; that is nearer to true piety. And fear Allah, for Allah is well aware of what you do.

«O you who believe» in what you are enjoined to believe in, carry out the requirements of your faith, by «bearing true witness impartially», and strive to be impartial and fair, both inwardly and outwardly. This effort should be for the sake of Allah alone, and not for any worldly purpose. You should aim for justice, which is equity, neither going to extremes nor falling short in your words or deeds; and you should do that with regard to relatives and strangers, friends and enemies.

«Do not let your hatred of some people lead you away from justice» That is, do not let your hatred make you fail to be just, as is done by those who are not just and fair. Rather, just as you would testify in your friend's favour, you should also testify against him, and just as you would testify against your enemy, you should also testify in his favour, even if he is a disbeliever or an innovator. You must treat him fairly and accept what he has of truth, because it is true, not because he says it. And you should not reject the truth because of what he said, because this is unfair towards the truth.

«Be just; that is nearer to true piety» that is, the more keen you are to be just and the more you strive to act accordingly, the closer that will be to true piety in your hearts, because perfect justice leads to perfect piety.

﴿for Allah is well aware of what you do﴾ and He will requite you for your deeds, both good and bad, small and great, in this world and in the hereafter.

﴿وَعَدَ اللَّهُ الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا وَعَمِلُوا الصَّالِحَاتِ لَهُمْ مَغْفِرَةٌ وَأَجْرٌ عَظِيمٌ ﴿٩﴾
وَالَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا وَكَذَّبُوا بِآيَاتِنَا أُولَٰئِكَ أَصْحَابُ الْحَرِيمِ ﴿١٠﴾﴾ (سورة

المائدة: ٩-١٠)

- 5:9. Allah has promised those who believe and do righteous deeds forgiveness and an immense reward.
- 5:10. As for those who disbelieve and deny Our revelations, they will be inhabitants of the blazing fire.

That is, Allah, Who does not break His promise and is the most truthful in word, has promised to those who believe in Him and in His Books, His Messengers and the Last Day, ﴿and do righteous deeds﴾, both obligatory and encouraged, forgiveness of their sins, by pardoning them and protecting them from the consequences thereof, and He has promised a great reward, the greatness of which no one knows but Allah.

﴿No soul knows what is kept hidden in store for them of delight as a reward for what they used to do.﴾ (as-Sajdah 32: 17)

﴿As for those who disbelieve and deny Our revelations﴾ which point to the clear truth, and they disbelieve in them after the facts has become clear

﴿they will be inhabitants of the blazing fire﴾ to abide therein forever.

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا اذْكُرُوا نِعْمَتَ اللَّهِ عَلَيْكُمْ إِذْ هُمْ قَوْمٌ ءَن يَسُطُوا
إِلَيْكُمْ أَيْدِيَهُمْ فَكَفَّ أَيْدِيَهُمْ عَنْكُمْ ۖ وَاتَّقُوا اللَّهَ ۚ وَعَلَى اللَّهِ فَلْيَتَوَكَّلِ
الْمُؤْمِنُونَ﴾ (سورة المائدة: ١١)

- 5:11. O you who believe, remember the favour that Allah bestowed upon you when certain people decided to raise their hands against you and He held back their hands from you. So fear Allah, and in Allah let the believers put their trust.

Here Allah reminds His believing slaves of His great favour, and urges them to remember those blessings in their hearts and verbally. Just as they regard their killing of their enemies and seizing their wealth, land and captives as a blessing, they should also remember His other blessings, whereby He restrained the disbelievers and prevented them from harming them, and caused their plot to fail – this was also a blessing, because the enemy planned something and thought that they would be able to do it, but when they were not able to do what they wanted to the believers, that was by the help of Allah to His believing slaves. So they should give thanks to Allah for that, and worship Him and remember Him. This includes everyone who intended harm to the believers, whether he was a disbeliever, a hypocrite or a transgressor whose evil Allah warded off from the Muslims. All of that is included in this verse.

Then Allah instructs them to do that which will help them to prevail over their enemies and help them in all their affairs, as He says: ﴿and in Allah let the believers put their trust﴾ that is, let them depend on Him to achieve their interests, both spiritual and worldly; let them declare that they have no power or strength in themselves; and let them trust Allah to help them achieve what they want, according to each person's level of faith and degree of reliance. This is one of the obligations of the heart on which there is consensus.

﴿ وَلَقَدْ أَخَذَ اللَّهُ مِيثَاقَ بَنِي إِسْرَءِيلَ وَبَعَثْنَا مِنْهُمُ اثْنَيْ عَشَرَ نَقِيبًا وَقَالَ اللَّهُ إِنِّي مَعَكُمْ لَئِنْ أَقَمْتُمُ الصَّلَاةَ وَآتَيْتُمُ الزَّكَاةَ وَءَامَنْتُمْ بِرُسُلِي وَعَزَّرْتُمُوهُمْ وَأَقْرَضْتُمُ اللَّهَ قَرْضًا حَسَنًا لَأُكَفِّرَنَّ عَنْكُمْ سَيِّئَاتِكُمْ وَلَأُدْخِلَنَّكُمْ جَنَّاتٍ تَجْرِي مِنْ تَحْتِهَا الْأَنْهَارُ فَمَنْ كَفَرَ بَعْدَ ذَلِكَ مِنْكُمْ فَقَدْ ضَلَّ سَوَاءَ السَّبِيلِ ﴿١٢﴾ فِيمَا نَقَضْتُمْ مِيثَاقَهُمْ لَعَنَّاهُمْ وَجَعَلْنَا قُلُوبَهُمْ قَلْبًا عِصْيًا يَحَافُونَ الْكَلِمَ عَنْ مَوَاضِعِهِ وَتَسُوا حَظًّا مِمَّا ذُكِّرُوا بِهِ وَلَا تَزَالُ تَطَّلِعُ عَلَى خَائِنَةٍ مِنْهُمْ إِلَّا قَلِيلًا مِنْهُمْ فَأَعْفُ عَنْهُمْ وَاصْفَحْ إِنَّ اللَّهَ يُحِبُّ الْمُحْسِنِينَ ﴿١٣﴾ ﴾ (سورة المائدة: ١٢-١٣)

- 5:12. Allah took a covenant from the Children of Israel, and We appointed twelve leaders from among them. And Allah said: I am with you; if you establish prayer, give zakâh, believe in My Messengers and support them, and lend to Allah a goodly loan, I will surely expiate your bad deeds for you, and admit you to gardens through which rivers flow. But if any of you, after this, disbelieves, he will indeed have strayed from the right path.
- 5:13. But because of their breaking of their covenant, We cursed them, and made their hearts grow hard. They distort the meaning of [revealed] words and have forgotten a portion of what was enjoined upon them. You will not cease to discover treachery from all save a few of them. So pardon them, and overlook [their misdeeds], for Allah loves those who do good.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that He took a solemn and binding oath from the Children of Israel, and He mentions the nature of that oath, their reward if they fulfil it, and their punishment if they fail to do so. Then He tells us that they did not fulfil it, and He describes how He punished them for that.

﴿Allah took a covenant from the Children of Israel﴾ that is, a solemn and binding pledge from them

﴿and We appointed twelve leaders from among them﴾ that is, chiefs who were leaders of those under them, whose role was to be in charge of them and urge them to do what they were instructed to do.

﴿And Allah said﴾ to the twelve leaders who took on the burdens of leadership

﴿I am with you﴾ that is, by My help and support, for help is commensurate with the size of the burden.

Then Allah tells us the terms of their covenant with them:

﴿if you establish prayer﴾ both outwardly and inwardly, by performing the prayer correctly with proper focus of mind, doing what is required in the manner in which it should be done, and persisting in that

﴿give zakâh﴾ to those who are entitled to it

﴿believe in My Messengers﴾ – all of them, the best and most perfect of whom is Muhammad (ﷺ)

﴿and support them﴾ and respect them, and do your duty towards them by honouring and obeying them

﴿and lend to Allah a goodly loan﴾ which is charity and kindness that stem from sincerity, given from permissible earnings.

If you do that, ﴿I will surely expiate your bad deeds for you, and admit you to gardens through which rivers flow﴾. Thus He will combine for them attaining that which they want of paradise with all the delights it contains and warding off that which they dislike by expiating bad deeds and warding off what results from them of punishments.

﴿But if any of you, after this﴾ covenant that is confirmed by oaths and pledges, accompanied by encouragement by way of mentioning the reward

﴿disbelieves, he will indeed have strayed from the right path﴾ that is, deliberately and knowingly, so he will deserve what those who go astray deserve of being deprived of the reward and being punished. It is as if one may ask, at the end of the verse: I wonder what they did (after all these warnings); did they fulfil the covenant that they made with Allah, or did they break it?

Thus in the following verse, Allah explains that they broke the covenant, as He says:

﴿But because of their breaking of their covenant﴾ that is, because of that, they received a number of punishments:

- 1- ﴿We cursed them﴾ that is, We expelled them and cast them far away from Our mercy, as they closed the gates of mercy to themselves, and did not fulfil the covenant that was taken from them, which is the main reason for the curse.
- 2- ﴿and made their hearts grow hard﴾ that is, harsh and tough, so that no exhortation had any impact on them, and they did not benefit from the signs and warnings; they were not encouraged by mention of rewards and they were not deterred by warnings of the consequences. This is one of the greatest punishments a person may receive, for his heart to become like this, with the result that reminders of guidance and goodness only make him persist in evil.
- 3- ﴿They distort the meaning of [revealed] words﴾ that is, they indulged in the sin of changing and altering the scriptures, so they changed the meanings of words to something other than what was intended by Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ).
- 4- ﴿and have forgotten a portion of what was enjoined upon them﴾. They were enjoined to follow the Torah and what Allah revealed to Moosâ, but they forgot a portion of it. This includes forgetting the knowledge, for they forgot it and it was lost to them, and much of what Allah caused them to forget no longer exists, as a punishment to them. It also includes forgetting to act upon it, which means failing to do it. They were not enabled to do that which they had been instructed to do. This is an argument that may be used against the People of the Book, when they deny some of that which was mentioned in their Books or that took place during their time; it is part of what they have forgotten (as indicated in the verse).

- 5- Ongoing treachery: ﴿You will not cease to discover treachery from all save a few of them﴾ that is, treachery towards Allah and towards His believing slaves.

One of the greatest betrayals on their part is their concealing the truth from those to whom they give religious teaching and those who think positively of them, thus causing them to remain disbelievers. This is a serious betrayal and blameworthy characteristic which is applicable to everyone who is like them. Anyone who does not do what Allah has enjoined and taken a pledge from him to do has a share in the curse and hardness of heart, and is indulging in the sin of distorting (revealed) words. He is not going to be guided to the correct path, he will forget a portion of that which was enjoined upon him, and it is inevitable that he will commit acts of betrayal. We ask Allah to keep us safe and sound.

﴿all save a few of them﴾ that is, who did fulfil what they pledged to do in their covenant with Allah, so He helped them and guided them to the straight path.

﴿So pardon them﴾ that is, do not take them to task for what they have done of harm, which implies that they should be pardoned and forgiven, for that is part of doing good, and ﴿Allah loves those who do good﴾. Ihsân (translated here as doing good) means that you worship Allah as if you can see Him, for even though you cannot see Him, He sees you. Ihsân with regard to people means trying to benefit them in spiritual and worldly terms.

﴿وَمِنَ الَّذِينَ قَالُوا إِنَّا نَصْرِي أَخَذْنَا مِيثَاقَهُمْ فَنَسُوا حَظًّا مِمَّا
ذُكِّرُوا بِهِ فَأَغْرَيْنَا بَيْنَهُمُ الْعَدَاوَةَ وَالْبَغْضَاءَ إِلَى يَوْمِ الْقِيَمَةِ وَسَوْفَ
يُنَبِّئُهُمُ اللَّهُ بِمَا كَانُوا يَصْنَعُونَ﴾ (سورة المائدة: ١٤)

- 5:14. From those who call themselves Christians, We also took a covenant, but they too forgot a portion of what was enjoined upon them. So We have stirred up enmity and hatred among them until the Day of Resurrection. And soon Allah will inform them of what they used to do.

That is, just as We took a covenant from the Jews, We also took a covenant from «those who call themselves Christians» that is, followers of ‘Eesâ ibn Maryam, and they purified themselves by believing in Allah and His Messengers and what they brought. But then they broke the covenant and «forgot a portion of what was enjoined upon them»; they forgot knowledge of it and they forgot how to act upon it.

«So We have stirred up enmity and hatred among them until the Day of Resurrection» that is, We turned them against one another, and troubles and conflicts arose among them which generated hatred and enmity towards one another, which will last until the Day of Resurrection. This is something that we see, for the Christians are still, and will continue to be, in a state of mutual hatred, enmity and division.

«And soon Allah will inform them of what they used to do» and punish them for it.

﴿يَا أَهْلَ الْكِتَابِ قَدْ جَاءَكُمْ رَسُولُنَا يُبَيِّنُ لَكُمْ كَثِيرًا مِمَّا كُنْتُمْ تُخْفُونَ مِنَ الْكِتَابِ وَيَعْفُو عَنْ كَثِيرٍ قَدْ جَاءَكُمْ مِنَ اللَّهِ نُورٌ وَكِتَابٌ مُبِينٌ ﴿٥﴾ يَهْدِي بِهِ اللَّهُ مَنِ اتَّبَعَ رِضْوَانَهُ سُبُلَ السَّلَامِ وَيُخْرِجُهُم مِّنَ الظُّلُمَاتِ إِلَى النُّورِ بِإِذْنِهِ وَيَهْدِيهِمْ إِلَى صِرَاطٍ مُسْتَقِيمٍ ﴿٦﴾﴾ (سورة المائدة: ١٥-١٦)

- 5:15. O People of the Book, there has come to you our Messenger, disclosing to you much of what you have been concealing of the scripture, and overlooking much. There has come to you from Allah a light and a clear Book,
- 5:16. with which Allah guides all who seek His good pleasure to ways of peace and safety, and leads them out of the depths of darkness to the light, by His leave, and guides them to a straight path.

Having mentioned the covenant that He took from the People of the Book, namely the Jews and Christians, and having stated that they broke that covenant, all save a few of them, Allah commands them all to believe in Muhammad (ﷺ), and presents them with definitive proof of the truthfulness of his prophethood, which is: He discloses to them much of that which they were concealing from the people, even from the common folk among their co-religionists, as they were the ones who were known to have knowledge, and no one had knowledge at that time except what they had. Therefore the one who was eager to acquire knowledge had no means of doing so except from them. The fact that the Messenger (ﷺ) brought this great Qur'an which disclosed that which they had been concealing amongst themselves – when he was unlettered and could neither read nor write – is one of the clearest proofs of the truthfulness of his message. (The matters that they were concealing include) the description of Muhammad

(ﷺ) in their Books, the foretelling of his coming in their Books, the verse on stoning, and so on.

﴿and overlooking much﴾ that is, He did not disclose that which there was no reason to disclose.

﴿There has come to you from Allah a light﴾ which is the Qur'an, which illuminates the darkness of ignorance and the blindness of misguidance.

﴿and a clear Book﴾ which explains everything that people need to know of religious and worldly matters, such as knowledge of Allah, His names, His attributes and His actions, as well as knowledge of the rulings of Sharia.

Then Allah mentions the one who is guided by this Qur'an, and the reason why he attains that, as He says: ﴿with which Allah guides all who seek His good pleasure to ways of peace and safety﴾ that is, He guides thereby the one who strives and is keen to attain the pleasure of Allah, and whose intention is good, to ways of peace and safety that will save him from punishment and enable him to reach paradise. This refers to knowledge of the truth and acting upon it, in general and in detail.

﴿and leads them out of the depths of darkness﴾ that is, the darkness of disbelief, innovation, sin, ignorance and heedlessness, to the light of faith, the Sunnah, obedience, knowledge and remembrance of Allah.

All of this guidance is by Allah's leave; whatever He wills happens and whatever He does not will does not happen. ﴿and guides them to a straight path﴾

﴿لَقَدْ كَفَرَ الَّذِينَ قَالُوا إِنَّ اللَّهَ هُوَ الْمَسِيحُ ابْنُ مَرْيَمَ ۚ قُلْ فَمَنْ يَمْلِكُ مِنَ اللَّهِ شَيْئًا إِنْ أَرَادَ أَنْ يُهْلِكَ الْمَسِيحُ ابْنُ مَرْيَمَ وَأُمُّهُ

وَمَنْ فِي الْأَرْضِ جَمِيعًا ۖ وَلِلَّهِ مُلْكُ السَّمٰوٰتِ وَالْأَرْضِ وَمَا بَيْنَهُمَا ۚ يَخْلُقُ مَا يَشَاءُ ۚ وَاللَّهُ عَلَىٰ كُلِّ شَيْءٍ قَدِيرٌ ﴿١٧﴾ وَقَالَتِ الْيَهُودُ وَالنَّصْرٰتِي نَحْنُ أَبْنَاؤُ اللَّهِ وَأَحِبُّوهُمْ ۖ قُلْ فَلِمَ يُعَذِّبُكُمْ بِذُنُوبِكُمْ ۖ بَلْ أَنْتُمْ بَشَرٌ مِّمَّنْ خَلَقَ ۚ يَغْفِرُ لِمَن يَشَاءُ وَيُعَذِّبُ مَن يَشَاءُ ۚ وَلِلَّهِ مُلْكُ السَّمٰوٰتِ وَالْأَرْضِ وَمَا بَيْنَهُمَا ۚ وَإِلَيْهِ الْمَصِيرُ ﴿١٨﴾ (سورة المائدة: ١٧-١٨)

- 5:17. They indeed have disbelieved who say that Allah is the Messiah, the son of Maryam. Say: Who could prevent Allah, if He so willed, from destroying the Messiah, the son of Maryam, his mother, and all the people of the earth? To Allah belongs the dominion of the heavens and the earth, and all that is between them. He creates whatever He wills, and Allah has power over all things.
- 5:18. The Jews and the Christians say: We are children of Allah, and His beloved ones. Say: Why then does He punish you for your sins? Nay, you are but human beings among those He has created. He forgives whomever He wills, and He punishes whomever He wills. To Allah belongs the dominion of the heavens and the earth, and all that is between them, and unto Him is the return [of all].

Having mentioned His covenant with the people of the two Books, and that they did not adhere to it – rather they broke it – Allah (ﷻ) then tells us of their abhorrent beliefs.

He tells us of the Christian belief, which no one but they believed in, namely the belief that God is the Messiah, the son of Maryam. The basis for their specious argument is the fact that he was born without a father, so they devised this false belief concerning him, despite the fact that he had a counterpart in Hawwâ', who was created without a mother; and Adam is an even stronger example, as he was created without a father or a mother. So why did they not claim that they (Adam and Ḥawwâ') were divine, as they claimed with regard to the Messiah?

This indicates that their belief was the result of following whims and desires, without any proof and without any reason to do so. But Allah refuted them with clear, rational evidence, as He said: ﴿Say: Who could prevent Allah, if He so willed, from destroying the Messiah, the son of Maryam, his mother, and all the people of the earth?﴾ If those mentioned above have no power to save themselves, if it were Allah's will to destroy them, and they have no ability to prevent that, this is indicative of the falseness of the claim of divinity for one who cannot protect himself from being destroyed and has no power to escape from divine control. Furthermore, ﴿To Allah﴾ alone ﴿belongs the dominion of the heavens and the earth﴾; He controls them and everything is subject to His control in every way. So is it appropriate to suggest that a poor, dependent slave could be a deity who is independent of means in all ways? This is utterly impossible.

There is no reason for their finding it amazing that the Messiah 'Eesâ ibn Maryam was created without a father, for Allah ﴿creates whatever He wills﴾ – if He wills, (He creates a human) from a mother and father, like all the sons of Adam; or if He wills, He creates a human from a father, without a mother, like Ḥawwâ', or from a mother without a father, like 'Eesâ, or without a father or a mother, like Adam. Allah (ﷻ) varies His creation according to His will, which is always done, and nothing is too difficult for Him. Hence He says: ﴿and Allah has power over all things﴾.

Another thing that the Jews and Christians say is that both of them make false claims and praise themselves, as each group says: ﴿We are children of Allah, and His beloved ones﴾.

In their language, the word "son" means "beloved"; they do not mean sons in a literal sense, because this is not their belief; rather that is what the Christians believe about the Messiah.

Allah says, refuting them and the claim they made without proof: ﴿Say: Why then does He punish you for your sins?﴾ If you were His beloved ones, He would not have punished you, because Allah does not love anyone except the one who does deeds that are pleasing to Him.

﴿Nay, you are but human beings among those He has created﴾, and you are subject to the rulings of justice and grace.

﴿He forgives whomever He wills, and He punishes whomever He wills﴾ if they take the steps that lead to forgiveness or to punishment.

﴿To Allah belongs the dominion of the heavens and the earth, and all that is between them, and unto Him is the return [of all]﴾ that is, how is it that you acquired this virtue (of being the “children of God”) when you are among that dominion and are among those who will be returned to Allah in the hereafter, and He will requite you for your deeds?

﴿يَا أَهْلَ الْكِتَابِ قَدْ جَاءَكُمْ رَسُولُنَا يُبَيِّنُ لَكُمْ عَلَى فَتْرَةٍ مِنَ الرُّسُلِ أَنْ تَقُولُوا مَا جَاءَنَا مِنْ بَشِيرٍ وَلَا نَذِيرٍ فَقَدْ جَاءَكُمْ بَشِيرٌ وَنَذِيرٌ ۗ وَاللَّهُ عَلَى كُلِّ شَيْءٍ قَدِيرٌ ﴿١٩﴾﴾

(سورة المائدة: ١٩)

5:19. O People of the Book, there has come to you our Messenger, making things clear to you, after an interval in which there were no Messengers, lest you should say: No bearer of glad tidings and no warner ever came to us. But now there has come to you a bearer of glad tidings and a warner. And Allah has power over all things.

Here Allah (ﷻ) calls the People of the Book – because of what He blessed them with of His scripture – to believe in His Messenger

Muhammad (ﷺ) and to give thanks to Allah (ﷻ) Who sent him to them ﴿after an interval in which there were no Messengers﴾, at a time when there was a great need for him.

This (their need for him and the long interval since the coming of any Messenger) is what should prompt them to believe in him, for he explains to them everything that Allah requires of them and the rulings of Sharia. By doing this, Allah left them with no excuses, so they cannot say: ﴿No bearer of glad tidings and no warner ever came to us. But now there has come to you a bearer of glad tidings and a warner﴾ giving glad tidings of reward in this world and in the hereafter, describing the deeds that will lead to that and the characteristics of the people who do those deeds, and warning of punishment in this world and in the hereafter, describing the deeds that will lead to that and the characteristics of the people who do those deeds.

﴿And Allah has power over all things﴾ – all things submit willingly to His power, so nothing can go beyond His power and control. Among the signs of His power is the fact that He sends the Messengers and reveals the Books, and He rewards those who obey Him and punishes those who disobey Him.

﴿وَإِذْ قَالَ مُوسَىٰ لِقَوْمِهِ ۖ يَتَقَوَّمُوا عَلَىٰ نِعْمَةِ اللَّهِ عَلَيْكُمْ إِذْ جَعَلَ فِيكُمْ أَنْبِيَاءَ وَجَعَلَكُمْ مُلُوكًا وَءَاتَاكُمْ مَّا لَمْ يُوْت أَحَدًا مِنَ الْعَالَمِينَ ﴿٢٠﴾ يَتَقَوَّمُوا أَدْخُلُوا الْأَرْضَ الْمُقَدَّسَةَ الَّتِي كَتَبَ اللَّهُ لَكُمْ وَلَا تَرْتَدُّوا عَلَىٰ أَدْبَارِكُمْ فَتَنْقَلِبُوا خَاسِرِينَ ﴿٢١﴾ قَالُوا يَمُوسَىٰ إِنَّ فِيهَا قَوْمًا جَبَّارِينَ وَإِنَّا لَنَنْدْخُلُهَا حَتَّىٰ يَخْرُجُوا مِنهَا فَإِنَّا دَاخِلُونَ ﴿٢٢﴾﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٢٠-٢٢)

- 5:20. And [remember] when Moosâ said to his people: O my people, remember the favour that Allah bestowed upon you, when He appointed Prophets among you, made you kings, and granted you what He had not granted to any other nation in the world.

5:21. O my people, enter the holy land which Allah has assigned to you, and do not turn back, lest you return as losers.

5:22. They said: O Moosâ, in this land are a ferocious people; we will never enter it until they leave it, then if they leave, we will enter it.

When Allah blessed Moosâ and his people by saving them from Pharaoh and his people, and from captivity and enslavement to them, they left and headed towards their homeland, which was Jerusalem and its environs. Allah had enjoined them to strive in jihad against the enemy in order to expel them from their lands. So when they approached Jerusalem, Moosâ (ﷺ) exhorted them and reminded them to go forward for jihad, and said to them: ﴿remember the favour that Allah bestowed upon you﴾ that is, remember it in your hearts and verbally, for remembering it will increase you in love for Allah (ﷻ) and motivate you to worship Him

﴿when He appointed Prophets among you﴾ who called you to true guidance, warned you against following the path of doom, urged you to strive for your eternal happiness and taught you that which you do not know

﴿made you kings﴾, in charge of your own affairs, as He liberated you from enslavement to your enemies, so that you became in charge of your own affairs and were able to practise your religion.

﴿and granted you﴾ spiritual and worldly blessings that ﴿He had not granted to any other nation in the world﴾ – for at that time they were the best of humanity and the dearest of them to Allah, and He had bestowed upon them blessings that had not been given to anyone else.

Moosâ reminded them of spiritual and worldly blessings that should have increased them in steadfastness of faith and steadfastness in jihad and willingness to engage therein. Hence he said: ﴿O my people, enter the holy» that is, purified «land which Allah has assigned to you». Thus he told them something that would put their minds at rest, if they truly believed, by telling them that Allah had decreed that they would enter this land and would prevail over their enemies.

«and do not turn back» that is, retreat «lest you return as losers», as you would have lost out in this world by missing out on victory over your enemies and regaining your land; you would also lose out in the hereafter because of what you would miss out on of reward and because of what you would bring upon yourselves of punishment because of your sin.

But they said something that was indicative of their lack of resolve and their lack of due respect towards Allah and His Messenger. «They said: O Moosâ, in this land are a ferocious people» that is, powerful and courageous, and this is an impediment which prevents us from entering the land.

«we will never enter it until they leave it, then if they leave, we will enter it» this stems from cowardice and lack of certain faith; otherwise, if they were mature, they would have realised that they were all descendants of Adam and that the strong one is the one whom Allah helps with strength from Him, for there is no power and no strength except with Allah. They would also have realised that they would be granted victory over them, because Allah had given them a special promise to that effect.

﴿ قَالَ رَجُلَانِ مِنَ الَّذِينَ يَخَافُونَ أَنْعَمَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِمَا ادْخُلُوا عَلَيْهِمُ الْبَابَ فَإِذَا دَخَلْتُمُوهُ فَإِنَّكُمْ عَلَيْهِمْ ۖ وَعَلَى اللَّهِ فَتَوَكَّلُوا إِنْ كُنْتُمْ مُؤْمِنِينَ ﴿٢٣﴾ قَالُوا يَمْوَسَّىٰ إِنَّا لَنَدْخُلُهَا أَبَدًا مَا دَامُوا فِيهَا فَاذْهَبْ أَنْتَ وَرَبُّكَ فَقَتِلَا إِنَّا هَاهُنَا قَاعِدُونَ ﴿٢٤﴾ قَالَ رَبِّ إِنِّي لَا أَمْلِكُ إِلَّا نَفْسِي وَأَخِي ۖ فَافْرُقْ بَيْنَنَا وَبَيْنَ الْقَوْمِ

الْفَاسِقِينَ ﴿٢٥﴾ قَالَ فَإِنَّهَا مُحَرَّمَةٌ عَلَيْهِمْ أَرْبَعِينَ سَنَةً يَذِيهُونَ فِي الْأَرْضِ فَلَا تَأْسَ عَلَى الْقَوْمِ الْفَاسِقِينَ ﴿٢٦﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٢٣-٢٦)

- 5:23. Two men among those who feared Allah, and whom Allah had blessed, said: Enter upon them through the gate! Once you enter it, you will surely be victorious. And in Allah put your trust, if you are [truly] believers.
- 5:24. They said: O Moosâ, we will never enter it so long as they are there. Go, you and your Lord, and fight, and we will stay here.
- 5:25. He said: O my Lord, I have control only over myself and my brother, so distinguish us from these rebellious people!
- 5:26. [Allah said:] Then, verily, this [land] will be forbidden to them for forty years, while they wander on earth, bewildered, to and fro. So do not grieve over these rebellious people.

«Two men among those who feared Allah» spoke up to encourage their people and motivate them to find their enemy and occupy their land

«and whom Allah had blessed» with divine help and the ability to speak the truth in this situation which required such words, and He blessed them with patience and certain faith.

«said: Enter upon them through the gate! Once you enter it, you will surely be victorious» that is, there is nothing standing between you and victory over them except your moving to attack them and enter upon them through the gate; when you do so, they will be defeated.

Then they instructed them to equip themselves with the strongest of weapons, as they said: «And in Allah put your trust, if you are [truly] believers», for by putting one's trust in Allah, especially in this situation, things will be made easier and you will be helped to prevail over your enemies. This indicates that putting one's trust in Allah is obligatory, and a person's level of trust will be commensurate with his level of faith.

But these words did not meet with success and blaming them was of no benefit, for they said, like people who have no pride or dignity: «O Moosâ, we will never enter it so long as they are there. Go, you and your Lord, and fight, and we will stay here.» How abhorrent are the words they spoke and their attitude towards their Prophet in this difficult and critical situation, which required them to support their Prophet and maintain their dignity.

This and similar stories highlight the difference between all other nations and the Ummah of Muhammad (ﷺ), as the Şahâbah said to the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) – when he consulted them about fighting on the day of Badr, even though he did not make it a must that they should fight: O Messenger of Allah, if you were to go through this sea, we would go through it with you, and if you were to lead us to Bark al-Ghamâd, no one would stay behind. We will not say as the people of Moosâ said to him, «Go, you and your Lord, and fight, and we will stay here». Rather go, you and your Lord, and fight, and we will fight with you, in front of you and behind you, on your right and on your left.

When Moosâ saw how stubborn they were towards him, «He said: O my Lord, I have control only over myself and my brother» that is, we have no power to fight them, and I do not have any control over these people.

«so distinguish us from these rebellious people» that is, judge between us and them, by sending upon them punishment as Your wisdom dictates. This indicates that what they said and did constituted major sins that were tantamount to evil-doing.

Allah said in response to Moosâ's prayer: «Then, verily, this [land] will be forbidden to them for forty years, while they wander on earth, bewildered, to and fro» that is, as part of their punishment, We will forbid them to enter this town which Allah had decreed should be theirs, for a period of forty years. During that period, they would also wander to and fro on earth, and would not find their way or be settled and at peace. This was a worldly punishment, by means of which Allah (ﷻ) may have expiated their sin and warded off a greater punishment. This indicates that punishment for sin may take the form of the removal of a blessing. Perhaps the wisdom behind making the punishment last for this length of time was that most of those would die who had said these things and had not been patient and steadfast; rather they had become accustomed to enslavement to their enemies, and had no aspirations that would motivate them to do that which would lead to acquiring a high status. Thus a new generation would appear that would develop aspirations of defeating their enemy and not being enslaved, and would be far removed from accepting humiliation that poses an impediment to happiness.

When Allah (ﷻ) saw that His slave Moosâ was very compassionate towards people, especially his own people, and that he might feel sorry for them, and his compassion would cause him to feel sorry for them because of this punishment or pray for it to be removed, even though Allah had decreed that it should happen, He said: «So do not grieve over these rebellious people» that is, do not feel sorry for them or feel sad, because they have rebelled and their rebellion dictates that what befell them should befall them; it does not stem from injustice on Our part.

﴿وَاتْلُ عَلَيْهِمْ نَبَأَ آدَمَ بِالْحَقِّ إِذْ قَرَّبَا قُرْبَانًا فَتُقْبِلَ مِنْ أَحَدِهِمَا وَلَمْ يُنْقَبَلْ مِنَ الْآخَرِ قَالَ لَا قُنْتُكَ قَالَ إِنَّمَا يَتَقَبَّلُ اللَّهُ مِنَ الْمُتَّقِينَ ﴿٧٧﴾ لَئِنْ بَطَلْتَ إِلَيَّ يَدُكَ لِتَقْتُلَنِي مَا أَنَا بِبَاسِطِ يَدَيَّ إِلَيْكَ لِأَقْتُلَكَ إِنِّي أَخَافُ اللَّهَ رَبَّ الْعَالَمِينَ ﴿٧٨﴾ إِنِّي أُرِيدُ أَنْ تَبُوءَ بِإِثْمِي وَإِثْمِكَ فَتَكُونَ مِنْ أَصْحَابِ النَّارِ وَذَلِكَ جَزَاءُ الظَّالِمِينَ ﴿٧٩﴾ فَطَوَّعَتْ لَهُ نَفْسُهُ قَتْلَ أَخِيهِ فَقَتَلَهُ فَأَصْبَحَ مِنَ الْخَاسِرِينَ ﴿٨٠﴾﴾

فَبَعَثَ اللَّهُ غُرَابًا يَبْحَثُ فِي الْأَرْضِ لِيُرِيَهُ كَيْفَ يُورِي سَوْءَ أَخِيهِ قَالَ يُوتِلَقِ
 أَعْجَرْتُ أَنْ أَكُونَ مِثْلَ هَذَا الْفَرَابِ فَأُورِي سَوْءَ أَخِي فَأَصْبَحَ مِنَ النَّادِمِينَ
 ﴿سورة المائدة: ٢٧-٣١﴾

- 5:27. Recount to them the story of the two sons of Adam in truth, when each offered a sacrifice [to Allah]. It was accepted from one, but not from the other. [The latter] said: I will surely kill you. [The former] said: Verily, Allah only accepts from those who fear Him.
- 5:28. Even if you raise your hand against me to kill me, I will not raise my hand against you to kill you, for I fear Allah, the Lord of the worlds,
- 5:29. and I would rather you were burdened with your sin against me as well as your own sins and thus became one of the inhabitants of the fire; such is the recompense of the wrongdoers.
- 5:30. But he was prompted by his evil inclinations to kill his brother. So he killed him, and thus became one of the losers.
- 5:31. Then Allah sent a crow which scratched at the earth to show him how to conceal his brother's corpse. He said: Woe is me! Could I not have been like this crow, and covered up my brother's corpse? And he became one of the remorseful.

That is: tell the people about what happened between the two sons of Adam in truth, so that people will reflect and learn from it, because it is true and is not a lie; it is serious and is not a joke. What appears to be the case is that the two sons of Adam were his own sons, as is indicated by the apparent meaning and context of the verse. This is the view of the majority of commentators. In other words: tell them the story of what happened when they offered a sacrifice, which led to the situation described here.

﴿when each offered a sacrifice [to Allah]﴾ that is, each of them set aside some part of his wealth in order to draw closer to Allah

﴿It was accepted from one, but not from the other﴾ – this was known either through revelation from heaven or through the custom that prevailed among earlier nations: the sign of Allah's acceptance of a sacrifice was that fire would come down from heaven and consume it.

﴿[The latter] said﴾ that is, the son whose sacrifice was not accepted said to the other, out of envy and resentment:

﴿I will surely kill you﴾. His brother said to him, trying to speak gently to him: ﴿Verily, Allah only accepts from those who fear Him﴾; what sin or offence have I committed that would dictate that you should kill me, apart from the fact that I feared Allah (ﷻ), and fearing Him is obligatory for both you and me, and for everyone? The more correct view concerning the meaning of fearing Allah here is that what is referred to is those who show the quality of fearing Allah in doing that action (of sacrifice), in the sense that their action is done sincerely for the sake of Allah, following the Sunnah of the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ).

Then he told him that he did not want to kill him, either on his own initiative or in self-defence, as he said: ﴿Even if you raise your hand against me to kill me, I will not raise my hand against you to kill you﴾ and this is not cowardice or incapability on my part; rather it is because ﴿I fear Allah, the Lord of the worlds﴾, and the one who fears Allah does not commit sins, especially major sins.

This is aimed at warding off one who wants to kill, telling him: You should fear Allah.

﴿and I would rather you were burdened with﴾ that is, that you should end up carrying ﴿your sin against me as well as your own sins﴾ that is, if there is a choice between being killing you or being killed by you, then I would prefer that you should kill me and thus be burdened with the sins of us both

﴿and thus became one of the inhabitants of the fire; such is the recompense of the wrongdoers﴾. This indicates that murder is a major sin and that the one who commits it deserves to enter hell.

But the offender was not deterred by that, and he was still determined to go ahead with his action. So he responded to his evil inclinations and killed his brother, whom he should have respected according to the laws of Allah and of nature.

«So he killed him, and thus became one of the losers» who lose out in this world and in the hereafter, and thus he set a precedent for every killer.

«Whoever sets a bad precedent will have the burden of that sin and a burden like that of everyone who does likewise until the Day of Resurrection.» (Recorded by at-Ṭabarâni)

Hence it is stated in the ṣaḥeeḥ hadith that:

«No one kills another person but the first son of Adam will have a share of the guilt, because he was the first one to set the precedent of killing.» (Bukhari and Muslim)

When he killed his brother, he did not know what to do with him, because he was the first of the sons of Adam to die.

«Then Allah sent a crow which scratched at the earth» that is, it dug a hole to bury another crow that had died

«to show him» thereby «how to conceal his brother's corpse» that is, his body, because the body of the deceased is something that is to be covered ( 'awrah).

«And he became one of the remorseful». Such is the consequence of sin: regret and loss.

﴿مِنْ أَجْلِ ذَلِكَ كَتَبْنَا عَلَىٰ بَنِي إِسْرَءِيلَ أَنَّهُ مَن قَتَلَ نَفْسًا بِغَيْرِ نَفْسٍ أَوْ فَسَادٍ فِي الْأَرْضِ فَكَأَنَّمَا قَتَلَ النَّاسَ جَمِيعًا وَمَنْ أَحْيَاهَا فَكَأَنَّمَا أَحْيَا النَّاسَ جَمِيعًا وَلَقَدْ جَاءَ نَهُمْ رَسُولُنَا بِالْبَيِّنَاتِ ثُمَّ إِنَّ كَثِيرًا مِنْهُمْ بَعْدَ ذَلِكَ فِي الْأَرْضِ لَمُسْرِفُونَ﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٣٢)

5:32. Because of that We ordained for the Children of Israel that if anyone killed a person – unless it be [in punishment] for murder or for spreading mischief in the land – it would be as if he killed all humankind, and if anyone saved a life, it would be as if he saved the life of all humankind. Our Messengers came to them with clear signs, yet even after that, many of them continued to exceed the limits in the land.

«Because of that» that is, what is mentioned above of the story of the two sons of Adam and how one of them killed the other, thus setting a precedent of murder for those who came after him, and in order to show that the punishment for murder is serious and leads to loss in this world and the hereafter

«We ordained for the Children of Israel» that is, the people of the divinely revealed Books

«that if anyone killed a person – unless it be [in punishment] for murder or for spreading mischief in the land» that is, if anyone killed a person unlawfully

«it would be as if he killed all humankind», because he had no legitimate reason to do so, and no one should kill another person unless he has a legitimate reason to do so. If a person has the audacity to kill someone who did not deserve to be killed, it means that he does not differentiate between the one whom he killed and anyone else; rather he would do that every time his soul that is inclined towards evil prompts him to do so. Therefore his audacity in killing is as if he killed all of humankind.

By the same token if a person saves a life – that is, he lets him live and does not kill him even though his evil inclinations prompt him to do so, because his fear of Allah (ﷻ) prevents him from doing that, this is as if he saved the life of all of humankind, because the fear of Allah that he has prevents him from killing anyone who does not deserve to be killed. This verse indicates that execution is permissible in two cases: when someone has killed a person unlawfully and deliberately, in which case it is permissible to execute him, if the murderer is accountable; or if he is spreading mischief in the land, trying to make the people doubt their religion or causing them physical harm or posing a danger to their property, such as apostate disbelievers, enemy combatants and promoters of innovation whose evil cannot be warded off except by executing them. The same applies to bandits and the like who attack people, killing them or taking their wealth.

﴿Our Messengers came to them with clear signs﴾ after which no one can have any argument

﴿yet even after that﴾ that is, even after that clear, definitive proof that would show the way in which people should conduct themselves on earth

﴿many of them continued to exceed the limits﴾ by committing sins and opposing the Messengers who brought clear signs and proof.

(سورة المائدة: ٣٣-٣٤)

- 5:33. The recompense of those who wage war against Allah and His Messenger, and strive to spread mischief in the land, is that they should be executed, or crucified, or their hands and feet cut off from opposite sides, or banished from the land. That is their disgrace in this world, and in the hereafter, theirs will be a grievous punishment.

---

5:34. Except for those who repent before you overpower them; in that case, know that Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.

---

Those who wage war against Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ) are those who have declared their enmity and spread mischief in the land, by disbelieving, murdering, taking people's wealth and terrorising people on the road (banditry).

It is well known that this verse speaks of the rulings on bandits, those who attack people in the cities and the desert, seizing their wealth, killing them and scaring them, so that people refrain from taking the route where they are.

Allah tells us that the recompense and punishment – when the ḥadd punishment is carried out on them – is for one of these things to be done to them.

The commentators differed as to whether that is the matter of choice, and whether the ruler or his deputy may do to each bandit whatever he sees fit of the things mentioned, which is the apparent meaning of the wording, or whether the punishment should be according to the level of the crime, so that for each crime there is a fitting punishment, as is indicated by the meaning of the verse, which is in accordance with the wisdom of Allah (ﷻ). (According to this view), if the bandits kill people and take their wealth, then they must be killed and crucified, so that everyone will know about that and will be deterred. If they kill but do not take wealth, then they must be executed only. If they take wealth but do not kill, then their hands and feet on opposite sides – the right hand and the left foot – are to be cut off. If they terrorise people but do not kill or take wealth, then they are to be banished from the land, and they should not be left to find refuge in any city, unless they repent openly. This is the view of Ibn 'Abbās and many leading scholars, with some differences concerning some of the details.

«That» namely this punishment «is their disgrace» that is, scandal and shame «in this world, and in the hereafter, theirs will be a grievous punishment». This indicates that banditry is one of the major sins that incur disgrace in this world and punishment in the hereafter, and that the one who engages in it is waging war against Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ). As this is the extent of the seriousness of this crime, it is known that purifying the land of evildoers and making the roads safe from killing, seizing wealth and scaring people, is one of the greatest of good deeds, and that it comes under the heading of spreading peace in the land, the opposite of which is spreading mischief in the land.

«Except for those who repent before you overpower them» that is, they repent from committing these crimes against the public.

«in that case, know that Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful» that is, the punishment for the sin that he committed against Allah will be waived, with regard to having to be killed or crucified, or to have his hand and foot cut off, or be banished from the land; the sin he committed against other people will also be waived, if the aggressor (bandit) was a disbeliever then became Muslim. But if the aggressor (bandit) is a Muslim, then the rights that he owes to other people are not waived, if he murdered and took wealth. The verse indicates that the repentance of an aggressor (bandit) – after he has been overpowered – does not waive any of the obligations he has. The wisdom behind that is quite clear.

But if his repentance comes before he is overpowered, then the ḥadd punishment for waging war against Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ), or other ḥadd punishment, is waived – if he repents from his deed before being overpowered.

﴿يَتَّيِبَهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا اتَّقُوا اللَّهَ وَابْتَغُوا إِلَيْهِ الْوَسِيلَةَ وَجَاهِدُوا فِي سَبِيلِهِ لَعَلَّكُمْ تُفْلِحُونَ﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٣٥)

5:35. O you who believe, fear Allah, seek the means of drawing closer to Him, and strive hard in His cause, so that you may prosper.

This is a command from Allah to His believing slaves to do what faith requires of fearing Allah and being cautious to avoid incurring His wrath and anger, by striving hard in doing one's utmost to avoid sins of the heart, tongue and physical faculties, both outward and inward, and seeking Allah's help to avoid these things, in order to save oneself from the wrath and punishment of Allah.

﴿seek the means of drawing closer to Him﴾ that is, the means of nearness to Him and endearing yourselves to him, by doing obligatory spiritual deeds, such as loving Him and loving for His sake, fear and hope, turning to Him and putting one's trust in Him, as well as physical deeds such as zakâh and Hajj. That also includes actions that are both spiritual and physical, such as prayer, reading Qur'an and remembering Allah (dhikr), as well as showing kindness to people by financial means, sharing knowledge, using one's position or status to help, and being sincere towards the slaves of Allah.

All of these deeds bring one closer to Allah, and a person will continue drawing closer to Allah by means of them, until Allah loves him, and when He loves him, He will be his hearing with which he hears, his vision with which he sees, his hand with which he strikes and his foot with which he walks, and Allah will answer his supplications.

Then Allah (ﷻ) singles out from among acts of worship that bring one closer to Him: jihad in His cause, which means striving to fight the disbelievers with one's wealth and life, by planning, speaking and striving to support the religion of Allah with all means at one's disposal, because this is one of the best acts of worship that bring one closer to Allah. That is because the one who does that is more likely to do other things too.

﴿so that you may prosper﴾ – if you fear Allah by avoiding sin, seek means of nearness to Allah by doing acts of worship, and strive in His cause, seeking His pleasure.

Prosperity means triumph, attaining all that one seeks and hopes for, and being saved from all that one fears. What it really means is eternal happiness and everlasting joy.

﴿إِنَّ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا لَوْ أَنَّهُمْ مَا فِي الْأَرْضِ جَمِيعًا وَمِثْلَهُ مَعَهُ لَيَفْتَدُوا بِهِ مِنْ عَذَابِ يَوْمِ الْقِيَمَةِ مَا نَقُولُ مِنْهُمْ وَلَهُمْ عَذَابٌ أَلِيمٌ ﴿٣٦﴾ يُرِيدُونَ أَن يُخْرَجُوا مِنَ النَّارِ وَمَا هُمْ بِخَارِجِينَ مِنْهَا وَلَهُمْ عَذَابٌ مُّقِيمٌ ﴿٣٧﴾﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٣٦-٣٧)

(٣٧-٣٦)

5:36. As for those who disbelieve, even if they had everything on earth, and as much again with it, to offer as their ransom from the punishment of the Day of Resurrection, it would not be accepted from them, and theirs will be a painful punishment.

5:37. They will wish to get out of the fire, but never will they get out of it. Theirs will be an everlasting punishment.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us of the terrible condition of the disbelievers before Allah on the Day of Resurrection, and their awful fate, and that even if they were to offer an earthful of gold and as much again as ransom from the punishment of Allah, it will not be accepted from them and it will not benefit them, because the time for ransom will be over and there will be nothing left but the painful punishment and eternal suffering from which they will never escape; rather they will abide therein for ever.

﴿وَالسَّارِقُ وَالسَّارِقَةُ فَاقْطَعُوا أَيْدِيَهُمَا جَزَاءً بِمَا كَسَبَا نَكَالًا مِّنَ اللَّهِ وَاللَّهُ عَزِيزٌ حَكِيمٌ ﴿٣٨﴾ مَن تَابَ مِن بَعْدِ ظُلْمِهِ وَأَصْلَحَ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ يَتُوبُ عَلَيْهِ إِنَّ اللَّهَ عَفُورٌ رَّحِيمٌ ﴿٣٩﴾ أَلَمْ تَعْلَمْ أَنَّ اللَّهَ لَهُ مُلْكُ السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ يُعَذِّبُ مَن يَشَاءُ وَيَغْفِرُ لِمَن يَشَاءُ وَاللَّهُ عَلَى كُلِّ شَيْءٍ قَدِيرٌ ﴿٤٠﴾﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٣٨-٤٠)

- 5:38. As for the thief, male or female, cut off their hands as a recompense for what they have done, and as an exemplary punishment ordained by Allah. Allah is Almighty, Most Wise.
- 5:39. But whoever repents after having thus done wrong and mends his ways, Allah will accept his repentance, for Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.
- 5:40. Do you not know that to Allah belongs the dominion of the heavens and the earth? He punishes whomever He will, and He forgives whomever He will, and Allah has power over all things.

The thief is the one who takes another person's property that is protected by Sharia, in a surreptitious manner, without the owner's consent. It is one of the major sins that dictate a severe punishment, which is amputation of the right hand, as is specified in the recitation of some of the Ṣaḥābah.

The ḥadd punishment entails cutting off their hands from the wrist. If a person steals, his hand is to be cut off from the wrist, then the bleeding is to be stopped by cauterising it with hot oil. This is the punishment mentioned in general terms in the Qur'an, but the Sunnah restricts the general meaning of this verse in a number of ways:

- That the stolen item should have been taken from the place where such items are usually kept safe; if it is stolen from some place other than that, then the thief's hand is not to be cut off.
- That there should be a minimum value for the stolen property, which is one quarter of a dinar or three dirhams, or whatever is equivalent to either of them. If the stolen property is of less value than that, then the thief's hand is not to be cut off.

This may be understood from the word as-sariqah (theft) and its meanings. This word refers to taking an item in such a way that it is not possible to protect against. This applies if it is stored properly; if it is not stored properly and is taken, this is not theft per se according to Sharia.

Wisdom also dictates that the hand should not be cut off for theft of a trivial item. As there must be a set definition of what is valuable, the shar'i texts make clear the minimum value.

The wisdom behind cutting off the hand as a punishment for theft is so that this will protect people's property, as people will be cautious lest the limb that committed the crime be cut off. If the thief steals again, his left foot is to be cut off. If he does it again, it was suggested that his left hand be cut off, then his right foot, or that he be detained until he dies.

﴿as a recompense for what they have done﴾ that is, this cutting off of their hands is the recompense to the thief for what he stole of people's property

﴿and as an exemplary punishment ordained by Allah﴾ that is, to make an example of him and to deter the thief and others, if they know that their hands will be cut off if they steal.

﴿Allah is Almighty, Most Wise﴾ – because He is Almighty, Most Wise, He ordained that the hand of the thief is to be cut off.

﴿But whoever repents after having thus done wrong and mends his ways, Allah will accept his repentance, for Allah is Oft-Forgiving,

Most Merciful» so He will forgive the one who repents and gives up sin, and mends his ways and reforms himself. That is because Allah is the Sovereign of the heavens and the earth, and He decrees concerning them however He wills; He decrees what will happen and He ordains laws, and He decrees forgiveness or punishment according to His wisdom and vast mercy.

﴿يَأْتِيهَا الرُّسُولُ لَا يَحْزَنكَ الَّذِينَ يُسْكِرُونَ فِي الْكَفْرِ مِنَ الَّذِينَ قَالُوا آمَنَّا بِأَفْوَاهِهِمْ وَلَمْ تُؤْمِنْ قُلُوبُهُمْ وَمِنَ الَّذِينَ هَادُوا سَمَّعُوا لِلْكَذِبِ سَمْعًا لِقَوْمٍ آخَرِينَ لَمْ يَأْتُوكَ يُخَرِّفُونَ الْكَلِمَ مِنْ بَعْدِ مَوَاضِعِهِ يَقُولُونَ إِنْ أُوتِيتُمْ هَذَا فَخُذُوهُ وَإِنْ لَمْ تُؤْتَوْهُ فَاحْذَرُوا وَمَنْ يُرِدِ اللَّهُ فِتْنَتَهُ فَلَنْ تَمْلِكَ لَهُ مِنْ اللَّهِ شَيْئًا أُولَئِكَ الَّذِينَ لَمْ يُرِدِ اللَّهُ أَنْ يُطَهِّرْ قُلُوبَهُمْ لَهُمْ فِي الدُّنْيَا خِزْيٌ وَلَهُمْ فِي الْآخِرَةِ عَذَابٌ عَظِيمٌ ﴿٤١﴾ سَمَّعُوا لِلْكَذِبِ أَكْثَلُونَ لِلْحَقِّ فَإِنْ جَاءُوكَ فَاحْكُم بَيْنَهُمْ أَوْ أَعْرِضْ عَنْهُمْ وَإِنْ تُعْرِضْ عَنْهُمْ فَلَنْ يَضُرُّوكَ شَيْئًا وَإِنْ حَكَمْتَ فَاحْكُم بَيْنَهُمْ بِالْقِسْطِ إِنَّ اللَّهَ يُحِبُّ الْمُقْسِطِينَ ﴿٤٢﴾ وَكَيْفَ يُحْكِمُونَكَ وَعِنْدَهُمُ التَّوْرَةُ فِيهَا حُكْمُ اللَّهِ ثُمَّ يَتَوَلَّوْنَ مِنْ بَعْدِ ذَلِكَ وَمَا أُولَئِكَ بِالْمُؤْمِنِينَ ﴿٤٣﴾ إِنَّا أَنْزَلْنَا التَّوْرَةَ فِيهَا هُدًى وَنُورٌ يُحْكُمُ بِهَا النَّبِيُّونَ الَّذِينَ أَسْلَمُوا لِلَّذِينَ هَادُوا وَالرَّبَّانِيُّونَ وَالْأَحْبَارُ بِمَا اسْتُحْفِظُوا مِنْ كِتَابِ اللَّهِ وَكَانُوا عَلَيْهِ شُهَدَاءَ فَلَا تَخْشَوُا النَّاسَ وَآخِشُوا وَلَا تَشْتَرُوا بِإِيتَانِي ثَمَنًا قَلِيلًا وَمَنْ لَمْ يَحْكَمْ بِمَا أَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ فَأُولَئِكَ هُمُ الْكَافِرُونَ ﴿٤٤﴾﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٤١-٤٤)

5:41. O Messenger, do not be saddened by those who rush into disbelief, those who say with their mouths: We believe, but have no faith in their hearts, or those among the Jews who eagerly listen to lies and to those who have not even come to you. They distort the meaning of [revealed] words and say: If you are given this [ruling], accept it, but if you are not, then beware! Whoever Allah wills should be misguided, you cannot help him against Allah in any way. Those are the ones for whom it is not Allah's will to purify their hearts. For them there is disgrace in this world, and in the hereafter theirs will be a grievous punishment.

- 5:42. They eagerly listen to lies and devour what is unlawful. If they do come to you [O Muhammad], either judge between them or turn away from them. If you turn away from them, not the least harm will they do to you, and if you judge, then judge with justice between them, for Allah loves those who are just.
- 5:43. But how is it that they ask you for judgement when they have the Torah which contains Allah's judgement, and they still turn away? Such people are not [truly] believers.
- 5:44. Verily We revealed the Torah, in which was guidance and light. By it the Prophets who submitted [to Allah] judged the Jews, as did the rabbis and scholars, for to them was entrusted the protection of the scripture of Allah, and they were witnesses thereto. So do not fear people, but fear Me, and do not sell My revelations for a small price. And whoever does not judge according to what Allah has revealed, such are disbelievers.

Because the Messenger (ﷺ) was so concerned for people, he would feel very sad when someone made an outward display of faith, then returned to disbelief. Therefore Allah (ﷻ) instructed him not to feel sad or grieved for such people, because such people were not worth it; if they are present they contribute nothing and if they are absent, no one misses them.

Therefore Allah said, explaining the reason why he should not grieve for them: ﴿those who say with their mouths: We believe, but have no faith in their hearts﴾. Rather those for whom one should feel concerned are those who were counted as believers and were indeed believers both outwardly and inwardly. It is very unlikely that these people would recant their religion and apostatise, for when faith becomes entrenched in the heart, the individual would not regard anything else as equal to it, nor would he want to replace it with anything else.

﴿or those among the Jews who eagerly listen to lies and to those who have not even come to you﴾ that is, they follow in the footsteps of their leaders whose affair is based on lies, misguidance and wrongdoing. Those leaders ﴿have not even come to you﴾; rather they turned away from you and rejoiced in what they had of falsehood, which is based on distorting the meaning of (revealed) words, that is, explaining the meanings in a way that Allah did not intend in order to misguide people and ward off the truth. These are the ones who are following the callers of misguidance, who fabricate all kinds of lies, and are lacking in reason and aspirations. So do not worry about them if they do not follow you, because they are seriously flawed, and no attention should be paid to one who is flawed.

﴿and say: If you are given this [ruling], accept it, but if you are not, then beware!﴾ That is, this is what they say when they refer to you for judgement, and their only aim is to follow their whims and desires. They say to one another: If Muhammad (ﷺ) rules in your favour and it is in accordance with your whims and desires, then accept his ruling, but if he does not rule in your favour, then beware of following him in that. This is giving into temptation and following the whims and desires of the nafs.

﴿Whoever Allah wills should be misguided, you cannot help him against Allah in any way﴾. This is akin to the verse in which Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Verily, you [O Muhammad] cannot guide whomever you like, but Allah guides whomever He wills...﴾ (al-Qaṣaṣ 28: 56)

«Those are the ones for whom it is not Allah's will to purify their hearts» that is, therefore they did what they did. This indicates that in the case of one whose intention in referring for judgement to Sharia is to follow his whims and desires, and if the verdict is in his favour he will accept it, but if it is not then he will resent it, that is because his heart is not purified. By the same token, if a person refers his opponent to Sharia, and he accepts the verdict whether it suits him or not, then this is a sign of purity of the heart. This indicates that purity of heart is a means of attaining all that is good, and it is the main reason for all good words and righteous deeds.

«For them there is disgrace in this world» that is, shame and scandal

«and in the hereafter theirs will be a grievous punishment» namely hell and divine wrath.

«They eagerly listen to lies» – listening here means accepting and taking to heart, which is due to their lack of religious commitment and reason; hence they respond to the one who calls them to falsehood.

«and devour what is unlawful» that is, haram wealth, because of what they take unlawfully from their common folk of set fees and charges. Thus they combine following falsehood and consuming that which is prohibited.

«If they do come to you [O Muhammad], either judge between them or turn away from them» – it is your choice. This was not abrogated; rather if this type of people referred to him for judgement, he had the choice between judging between them or refraining from doing so, because they had no intention of adhering to the rule of Sharia, unless it was in accordance with their whims and desires.

Based on that, if it is known that the one who is asking a scholar for an Islamic verdict or for a judgement between him and his opponent will not accept it if the verdict is against him, then the scholar is not obliged to give a ruling or verdict, but if he does judge between them, then he is obliged to judge fairly. Hence Allah says: ﴿If you turn away from them, not the least harm will they do to you, and if you judge, then judge with justice between them, for Allah loves those who are just﴾. Even if they are wrongdoers or enemies, that should not prevent you from being fair when judging between them.

This highlights the virtue of justice and fairness when judging between people, which Allah (ﷻ) loves. Then Allah says, expressing astonishment at their attitude: ﴿But how is it that they ask you for judgement when they have the Torah which contains Allah's judgement, and they still turn away? Such people are not [truly] believers﴾ – the reason being that if they were truly believers acting upon what faith requires, they would not have turned away from the judgement of Allah which is mentioned in the Torah that they have before them, in hope of finding a ruling that was in accordance with their whims and desires.

When you (O Prophet ﷺ) judged between them according to the ruling of Allah, which is also in accordance with what they have in their scriptures, they did not like it; rather they turned away from it and did not accept it.

﴿Such people﴾ that is, the ones who did this
 ﴿are not [truly] believers﴾ that is, this is not the way of the believers, and they do not deserve to be called believers, because they take as their gods their own desires (cf. 25: 43), and they regard the rulings of faith as being subject to their whims and desires.

﴿Verily We revealed the Torah﴾ to Moosâ ibn 'Imrân (ﷺ)
 ﴿in which was guidance﴾ as it guided people to faith and truth, and protected against misguidance
 ﴿and light﴾ to illuminate the darkness of ignorance, confusion, doubt, specious arguments, and whims and desires, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿Verily, We gave to Moosâ and Hâroon the criterion [between right and wrong – the Torah], and a light, and admonition for the pious.﴾
(al-Anbiyâ' 21: 48)

﴿By it the Prophets who submitted [to Allah]﴾ and complied with His commands, whose submission to Him was greater than that of others, and they were the elite chosen by Allah from among His slaves ﴿judged the Jews﴾ concerning cases of dispute and questions about religious rulings. If this is the case with regard to these noble Prophets and leaders of humankind, that they followed the teachings and guidance of the Torah, then what is preventing these ignoble people among the Jews from following it? What made them cast aside the noblest idea in it, namely believing in Muhammad (ﷺ), without belief in whom no deed, visible or hidden, is accepted? Did they have a leader in that (path of misguidance)? Yes, they had leaders whose main focus was to distort the text of the Torah and establish themselves as leaders among people, and to earn a living by concealing the truth and making falsehood manifest. These are the leaders of misguidance who called people to the fire.

﴿as did the rabbis and scholars﴾ that is, the religious leaders of the Jews ruled on the basis of the Torah. The word translated here as ﴿rabbis﴾ refers to knowledgeable people who act upon their knowledge and teach others in the best way, and they follow the path of the compassionate Prophets in their dealings with the people.

The word translated here as ﴿scholars﴾ refers to the senior scholars whose teachings people emulate and follow, and among their people they are known for devotion and sincerity.

This ruling on their part, which is in accordance with the truth, is because ﴿to them was entrusted the protection of the scripture of Allah, and they were witnesses thereto﴾ that is, because Allah entrusted the protection of His Book to them, and made them trustees in whose keeping it was placed, and He enjoined them to protect it from additions, subtractions and concealment, and to teach it to those who do not know it.

Therefore they are witnesses over it, as they became the reference point regarding it and matters that were not clear in people's minds. Allah (ﷻ) gives responsibility to the people of knowledge that He does not give to those who are ignorant. Therefore they were required to shoulder that burden of responsibility and not to follow the example of the ignorant by resorting to idleness and laziness. Therefore they should not limit themselves to individual acts of worship, such as various kinds of dhikr, prayer, zakâh, Hajj, fasting and other matters by which, if those who have no knowledge do them, they will be fine and will be saved.

But in the case of those who have knowledge, just as they are required to fulfil their individual duties, they are also required to teach the people and point out to them that which they need to know of religious matters, especially the fundamental matters and issues that often arise. They should not fear people; rather they should fear their Lord. Hence He says: ﴿So do not fear people, but fear Me, and do not sell My revelations for a small price﴾, for then you would be concealing the truth and making falsehood manifest for the sake of insignificant worldly gain. If the scholar is free of these faults, then that is by the help and guidance of Allah and His blessing, because He has caused his focus to be on acquiring knowledge and teaching people, and he knows that Allah has entrusted to his keeping what he has of knowledge and is a witness thereto. So he should fear his Lord, and not let fear of people prevent him from doing what is required of him or give precedence to worldly matters over religious matters.

By the same token, the sign of a scholar being doomed is that he is content to be idle and not do anything, and he does not care about what he has been entrusted with. He neglects it for he has sold his religious commitment for worldly gain and taken bribes for his verdicts; thus he took money for his fatwas and did not teach the slaves of Allah anything unless it was in return for a fee.

Allah has blessed such a person immensely, but he was ungrateful for it and he rejected that great good fortune of which others are deprived. We ask Allah for beneficial knowledge and accepted deeds; may He bless us with pardon and protection from all calamities.

﴿And whoever does not judge according to what Allah has revealed﴾ of clear truth, and he knowingly rules according to falsehood for some invalid purpose, ﴿such are disbelievers﴾. Judging or ruling according to something other than that which Allah has revealed is the action of the disbelievers, and it may put one beyond the pale of Islam, if he believes that doing so is permissible, or it may be a major sin and an act of disbelief, for which the one who does it deserves a severe punishment.

﴿وَكُنَّا عَلَيْهِمْ فِيهَا أَنَّ النَّفْسَ بِالنَّفْسِ وَالْعَيْنَ بِالْعَيْنِ وَالْأَنفَ بِالْأَنفِ
وَالْأُذُنَ بِالْأُذُنِ وَالسِّنَّ بِالسِّنِّ وَالْجُرُوحَ قِصَاصٌ فَمَن تَصَدَّقَ بِهِ
فَهُوَ كَفَّارَةٌ لَهُ وَمَن لَّمْ يَحْكَمْ بِمَا أَنزَلَ اللَّهُ فَأُولَٰئِكَ هُمُ الظَّالِمُونَ ﴿٤٥﴾﴾

(سورة المائدة: ٤٥)

- 5:45. We ordained therein for them: A life for a life, an eye for an eye, a nose for a nose, an ear for an ear, a tooth for a tooth, and wounds equal for equal. But if anyone remits the retaliation by way of charity, it will be an expiation for him. And whoever does not judge according to what Allah has revealed, such are wrongdoers.

These rulings are among the rulings mentioned in the Torah, the rulings by which the Prophets who submitted (to Allah) judged the Jews, as did the rabbis and scholars. Allah enjoined upon them that a person – if he killed someone – was to be executed for that act of murder – on condition that the act was deliberate. An eye was to be put out in retaliation for an eye, an ear was to be removed in retaliation for an ear, and a tooth for a tooth, and so on with regard to physical faculties for which retribution is possible without going to extremes.

﴿and wounds equal for equal﴾ – retribution means that the same is done to the perpetrator as he did to the victim. If a person wounds another deliberately, then retribution is exacted by inflicting a similar wound upon him, in the same location and of similar dimensions, as a hadd punishment. It should be noted that laws prescribed for the nations that came before us are also prescribed for us, unless Islamic Sharia ordains otherwise.

﴿But if anyone remits the retaliation﴾ in cases of murder or lesser offences causing loss of physical faculties or wounds, by forgiving the one who committed the offence

﴿it will be an expiation for him﴾ that is, expiation for the offender, because the human has waived his rights, and it is more befitting that Allah should waive what is due to Him. It is also expiation for the one who remits it; just as he pardoned a transgression against him or against his next of kin, Allah will pardon his mistakes and offences.

﴿And whoever does not judge according to what Allah has revealed, such are wrongdoers﴾. Ibn 'Abbās said:

[That is,] a lesser form of disbelief, a lesser form of wrongdoing and a lesser form of evildoing. The wrongdoing is greater if the perpetrator regards it as permissible, and it is a major sin if he does it without thinking that it is permissible.

﴿وَقَفَّيْنَا عَلَىٰ آثَرِهِمْ بِعِيسَى ابْنِ مَرْيَمَ مُصَدِّقًا لِّمَا بَيْنَ يَدَيْهِ مِنَ التَّوْرَةِ ۖ وَإِتَيْنَاهُ الْإِنْجِيلَ فِيهِ هُدًى وَنُورٌ ۖ وَمُصَدِّقًا لِّمَا بَيْنَ يَدَيْهِ مِنَ التَّوْرَةِ ۖ وَهُدًى وَمَوْعِظَةٌ لِّلْمُتَّقِينَ﴾

﴿٤٦﴾ وَلَيَحْكُمَ أَهْلُ الْإِنجِيلِ بِمَا أَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ فِيهِ وَمَنْ لَمْ يَحْكَمْ بِمَا أَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ فَأُولَٰئِكَ هُمُ الْفَاسِقُونَ ﴿٤٧﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٤٦-٤٧)

- 5:46. And in their footsteps We sent 'Eesâ son of Maryam, confirming what came before him of the Torah, and We gave him the Gospel, in which was guidance and light, and confirmation of what came before it of the Torah; a guidance and admonition for those who fear Allah.
- 5:47. Let the people of the Gospel judge according to what Allah revealed therein. And whoever does not judge according to what Allah has revealed, such are evildoers.

That is, We followed the sending of these Prophets and Messengers, who judged in accordance with the Torah, by sending Our slave and Messenger 'Eesâ ibn Maryam, a soul created by Allah and His word that He bestowed upon Maryam. Allah sent him to confirm what came before him of the Torah. So he was a witness who testified in favour of Moosâ and what he brought of the Torah, in truth. He supported his call and judged in accordance with his laws, agreeing and concurring with him in most legal matters.

'Eesâ (ﷺ) may have been more lenient with regard to some rulings, as Allah (ﷻ) tells us that he said to the Children of Israel:

﴿[I have come] to confirm that which came before me of the Torah, and to make lawful to you some of the things which had been forbidden to you...﴾ (Al 'Imrân 3: 50)

﴿and We gave him the Gospel﴾, the great Book which complemented the Torah

﴿in which was guidance and light﴾, to guide people to the straight path and distinguish truth from falsehood

﴿and confirmation of what came before it of the Torah﴾ by confirming it, testifying for it and agreeing with it

«a guidance and admonition for those who fear Allah» for they are the ones who benefit from guidance, pay heed to admonition and are deterred from that which is not appropriate.

«Let the people of the Gospel judge according to what Allah revealed therein» that is, it is obligatory for them to adhere to their scripture, and it is not permissible for them to turn away from it
«And whoever does not judge according to what Allah has revealed, such are evildoers».

﴿وَأَنْزَلْنَا إِلَيْكَ الْكِتَابَ بِالْحَقِّ مُصَدِّقًا لِمَا بَيْنَ يَدَيْهِ مِنَ الْكِتَابِ وَمُهَيِّمًا عَلَيْهِ فَاحْكُم بَيْنَهُم بِمَا أَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ وَلَا تَتَّبِعْ أَهْوَاءَهُمْ عَمَّا جَاءَكَ مِنَ الْحَقِّ لِكُلِّ جَعَلْنَا مِنْكُمْ شِرْعَةً وَمِنْهَاجًا وَلَوْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ لَجَعَلَكُمْ أُمَّةً وَاحِدَةً وَلَكِنْ لِيَبْلُوَكُمْ فِي مَا آتَاكُمْ فَاسْتَبِقُوا الْخَيْرَاتِ إِلَى اللَّهِ مَرْجِعُكُمْ جَمِيعًا فَيُنَبِّئُكُمْ بِمَا كُنْتُمْ فِيهِ تَخْتَلِفُونَ ﴿٥٨﴾ وَأِنْ أَحْكَمْتُمْ بَيْنَهُمْ بِمَا أَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ وَلَا تَتَّبِعْ أَهْوَاءَهُمْ وَاحْذَرْهُمْ أَنْ يَفْتِنُوكَ عَنْ بَعْضِ مَا أَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ إِلَيْكَ فَإِنْ تَوَلَّوْا فَاعْلَمُوا أَنَّهُ يَرِيذُ اللَّهُ أَنْ يَصِيبَهُمْ بَعْضُ ذُنُوبِهِمْ وَإِنْ كَثِيرًا مِنَ النَّاسِ لَفَاسِقُونَ ﴿٥٩﴾ أَفَحُكْمَ الْجَاهِلِيَّةِ يَبْغُونَ وَمَنْ أَحْسَنُ مِنَ اللَّهِ حُكْمًا لِقَوْمٍ يُوقِنُونَ ﴿٦٠﴾﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٤٨-٥٠)

- 5:48. And We have sent down to you [O Muhammad] the Book in truth, confirming the scripture that came before it and superseding it. So judge between them according to what Allah has revealed, and do not follow their desires by turning away from the truth that has come to you. To each [community] among you, We have prescribed a law and a clear way. If Allah had so willed, He would have made you a single community, but [He willed it otherwise] in order to test you in what He has given you. So hasten to do good deeds. To Allah you will all return, then

He will inform you about the matters concerning which you differed.

5:49. So judge [O Muhammad] between them according to what Allah has revealed, and do not follow their desires; but beware lest they lure you away from any part of that which Allah has sent down to you. And if they turn away, then know that it is Allah's will to punish them for some of their sins. And verily many people are indeed rebellious.

5:50. Is it then the judgement of [the times of] ignorance<sup>23</sup> that they seek? But who could be better in judgement than Allah, for a people who are certain in faith?

﴿And We have sent down to you [O Muhammad] the Book﴾ namely the Holy Qur'an, the best and greatest of scriptures ﴿in truth﴾ that is, revealed in truth and containing truth in its stories, commands and prohibitions ﴿confirming the scripture that came before it﴾ because it testifies for it and is in harmony with it; its stories match and its major laws are the same. The previous scriptures foretold it, so the existence of the Qur'an is a confirmation of the previous scriptures

﴿and superseding it﴾ that is, it includes what the previous scriptures contained, and with regard to additional divine instructions and promotion of good morals and attitudes, it is the Book which contains everything true that was mentioned and enjoined in previous scriptures; it approached the same issues from different angles.

It is the Book which contains news of the earlier and later generations. It is the Book which contains judgement, wisdom and rulings; the Book by which all previous scriptures are judged. Whatever it testifies is true is to be accepted, and whatever it testifies is false is to be rejected, as it has been affected by distortion and alteration, otherwise if it were really from Allah, it would not contradict what is in the Qur'an.

﴿So judge between them according to what Allah has revealed﴾ that is, the rules of Sharia that Allah has revealed to you.

﴿and do not follow their desires by turning away from the truth that has come to you﴾ that is, do not follow their corrupt whims and desires that are contrary to the truth, instead of the truth that has come to you, thus exchanging what is better for what is inferior

﴿To each [community] among you﴾, O nations, ﴿We have prescribed a law and a clear way﴾ or path. This refers to sets of laws that differ from one nation to another, according to changes in times and circumstances, but all of them were based on fairness at the time when they were ordained. As for the basic principles which are in people's best interests and based on wisdom at all times, they do not change; thus you find them prescribed in all sets of laws.

﴿If Allah had so willed, He would have made you a single community﴾, following one set of laws, and the laws that came later would not differ from those that came earlier.

﴿but [He willed it otherwise] in order to test you in what He has given you﴾. So He tests you to see what you will do, and He tests each nation according to what His wisdom dictates, giving each one whatever is appropriate for it. He also tests them so as to bring about competition between the nations, for each nation will be keen to compete with others and surpass them. Hence Allah says: ﴿So hasten to do good deeds﴾ that is, hasten to do them properly. ﴿good deeds﴾ include every deed that is obligatory or recommended, whether it pertains to the rights of Allah or those of His slaves. The one who does them is not regarded as being ahead of others unless he does two things: hastening to do the good deed, making the most of the opportunity when the time for it comes and it is due, and striving hard to do it properly as enjoined. This verse indicates that the individual should hasten to offer the prayer and do other deeds when the time for them begins, and that he should not limit himself only to that which makes the deed acceptable in the case of prayer and other obligatory acts of worship; rather he should strive to do whatever he is able to of all actions that are recommended, so as to complete and perfect his deeds and attain the position of being ahead of others.

﴿To Allah you will all return﴾ – the earlier and later nations; Allah will gather them together on a day concerning which there is no doubt ﴿then He will inform you about the matters concerning which you differed﴾ of laws and deeds. Then He will reward those who followed the truth and did righteous deeds, and He will punish those who followed falsehood and did evil deeds.

﴿So judge [O Muhammad] between them according to what Allah has revealed﴾. It was said that this verse abrogates the verse in which Allah says: ﴿either judge between them or turn away from them﴾ (5: 42).

However the correct view is that it does not abrogate it, and that this verse indicates that the Prophet (ﷺ) did have the choice between judging between them and not doing so; that was because their intention was not to seek a fair and truth-based judgement.

This verse indicates that if he did judge between them, then he was to judge between them in accordance with what Allah had sent down of the Book and the Sunnah. This is the justice that Allah previously referred to: ﴿and if you judge, then judge with justice between them﴾ (5: 42). This indicates that what is meant by justice, and the basis thereof, is that which Allah has ordained of rulings. This includes the utmost justice and fairness, and anything contrary to that is unjust and unfair.

﴿and do not follow their desires﴾. This prohibition on following their whims and desires is repeated so as to emphasise the warning against doing so. The first time this phrase appears is in the context of giving a ruling and verdict, which is broader in scope; here it appears in the context of giving rulings only. In either case it is essential to avoid following their whims and desires that are contrary to the truth. Hence Allah says: ﴿but beware lest they lure you away from any part of that which Allah has sent down to you﴾ that is, beware of being deceived by them, lest they confuse you and make you turn away from some of that which Allah has sent down to you, in which case following their whims and desires would be a cause that led to your abandoning the truth that must be followed.

﴿And if they turn away﴾ from following you and following the truth

﴿then know﴾ that this is a punishment to them, and that it is Allah's will ﴿to punish them for some of their sins﴾. There are punishments for sin in this world and in the hereafter; one of the harshest of punishments is when it becomes fair-seeming to stop following the Messenger (ﷺ). This is because of the individual's sin, ﴿And verily many people are indeed rebellious﴾ that is, their nature is to rebel and to refuse to obey Allah or follow His Messenger (ﷺ).

﴿Is it then the judgement of [the times of] ignorance<sup>24</sup> that they seek?﴾ That is, by turning away and objecting to you, are they seeking the judgement of the times of ignorance, which refers to any ruling that is contrary to that which Allah sent down to His Messenger (ﷺ). There is nothing but either the ruling of Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ) or the ruling of the times of ignorance. Whoever turns away from the former will fall into the latter, which is based on ignorance, injustice and transgression. Hence Allah described it as ignorance. As for the ruling of Allah (ﷻ), it is based on knowledge, justice, fairness, light and guidance.

﴿But who could be better in judgement than Allah, for a people who are certain in faith?﴾ The one who is certain in faith is the one who knows the difference between the two types of judgement and recognises – on the basis of his certain faith – the beauty and brilliance of Allah's judgement, and he knows that it is obligatory – on the basis of reason and Islamic teachings – to follow it. Certainty of faith is based on perfect knowledge that prompts one to act upon it.

﴿يَأَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا لَا تَتَّخِذُوا الْيَهُودَ وَالنَّصَارَىٰ أَوْلِيَاءَ ۚ بَعْضُهُمْ أَوْلِيَاءُ بَعْضٍ ۚ وَمَن يَتَوَلَّهُمْ مِنكُمْ فَإِنَّهُ مِنهُمْ ۗ إِنَّ اللَّهَ لَا يَهْدِي الْقَوْمَ الظَّالِمِينَ ﴿٥١﴾ فَتَرَى الَّذِينَ فِي قُلُوبِهِم مَّرَضٌ يُسْرِعُونَ فِيهِمْ يَقُولُونَ نَخْشَىٰ أَن تُصِيبَنَا دَآئِرَةٌ ۚ فَعَسَىٰ اللَّهُ أَن يَأْتِيَ بِالْفَتْحِ أَوْ أَمْرٍ مِّنْ عِندِهِ ۖ فَيُصْبِحُوا عَلَىٰ مَا أَسْرَوْا فِي أَنفُسِهِمْ نَادِمِينَ ﴿٥٢﴾ وَيَقُولُ الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا أَهَؤُلَاءِ الَّذِينَ أَقْسَمُوا بِاللَّهِ جَهْدَ أَيْمَانِهِمْ ۖ إِنَّهُمْ لَمَعَكُمْ حَبِطَتِ أَعْمَالُهُمْ فَأَصْبَحُوا خَاسِرِينَ ﴿٥٣﴾﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٥١-٥٣)

- 5:51. O you who believe, do not take the Jews and Christians as allies;<sup>25</sup> for they are allies of one another. Whoever among you takes them as allies is indeed one of them. Verily Allah does not guide the wrongdoing people.
- 5:52. You see those in whose hearts is a disease hastening towards them, saying: We are afraid lest fortune turn against us. It may be that Allah will bring about victory or some other event by His decree. Then they will regret what they had kept hidden in their hearts.
- 5:53. And those who believe say: Are these the men who swore their most solemn oaths by Allah, that they were with you? Their deeds have come to nothing and they find themselves losers.

<sup>25</sup> The word awliyā', translated here as "allies", may also mean protectors, supporters, close friends, and so on.

Here Allah (ﷻ) instructs His believing slaves, when He describes to them the situation of the Jews and the Christians, and their displeasing attributes, that they should not take them as allies, for they are allies of one another, who support one another and are united against others. You should not take them as allies, for in fact they are enemies who do not care what befalls you. Rather they would not spare any effort to mislead you. Hence no one takes them as allies except one who is like them. For this reason, Allah says: ﴿Whoever among you takes them as allies is indeed one of them﴾, because taking them as allies, in a complete sense, dictates joining them in their religion, and taking them as allies on a small scale could lead to taking them as allies on a large scale, then the individual would get closer to them, step-by-step, until he becomes one of them.

﴿Verily Allah does not guide the wrongdoing people﴾ that is, those who have the quality of wrongdoing, for whom it is second nature. Even if you brought all signs to them, they would not follow you.

When Allah instructed the believers not to take them as allies, He stated that among some of those who claim to be believers there is a group that takes the enemy as allies. Allah says:

﴿You see those in whose hearts is a disease﴾ such as doubt, hypocrisy and weakness of faith. They say: We take them as allies now because we may have need of them

﴿We are afraid lest fortune turn against us﴾ that is, in case things go in favour of the Jews and Christians, for if they have the upper hand, and we are already on good terms with them, they will reward us for that. This is negative thinking of Islam on their part. Allah says in response to their negative thinking:

﴿It may be that Allah will bring about victory﴾ that is, Allah may cause Islam to prevail over the Jews and Christians, so that the Muslims will defeat them

﴿or some other event by His decree﴾ that would lead to the hypocrites despairing of the disbelievers – be they Jews or others – ever prevailing

﴿Then they will regret what they had kept hidden﴾ that is, concealed ﴿in their hearts﴾; they will regret what they did and the harm they caused, but it will be to no benefit. The victory that Allah granted to Islam and the Muslims came to pass and disbelief and the disbelievers were brought low; as a result they were filled with regret and sorrow to an extent that only Allah knows.

﴿And those who believe say﴾ in astonishment at the state of these people in whose hearts there is sickness: ﴿Are these the men who swore their most solemn oaths by Allah, that they were with you?﴾ That is: they swore solemnly and went to extremes in trying to give assurances that they were your fellow believers with all that that implies of support, love and friendship.

But what they were concealing was made manifest and their plot and what they intended to do to Islam and its followers came to nothing; thus their plot was foiled and ﴿their deeds﴾ were rendered invalid in this world and ﴿they find themselves losers﴾ as they failed to attain their goal and will have no escape from misery and punishment.

﴿يَتَأَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا مَنْ يَرْتَدَّ مِنْكُمْ عَنْ دِينِهِ فَسَوْفَ يَأْتِي اللَّهَ بِقَوْمٍ يُحِبُّهُمْ وَيُحِبُّونَهُ أَذِلَّةٌ عَلَى الْمُؤْمِنِينَ أَعِزَّةٌ عَلَى الْكَافِرِينَ يُجَاهِدُونَ فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ وَلَا يَخَافُونَ لَوْمَةَ لَائِمٍ ذَلِكَ فَضْلُ اللَّهِ يُؤْتِيهِ مَنْ يَشَاءُ وَاللَّهُ وَاسِعٌ عَلِيمٌ ﴿٥٤﴾﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٥٤)

- 5:54. O you who believe, whoever among you renounces his faith, Allah will bring forth [in their stead] people whom He loves and who love Him, humble towards the believers and stern towards the disbelievers, striving in the cause of Allah, and not fearing the reproach of any reproacher. That is the grace of Allah, which He bestows upon whomever He will. And Allah is All-Encompassing, All-Knowing.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that He has no need of His creation, and that whoever apostatises from His religion will never harm Him at all; rather he only harms himself. Allah has sincere slaves whom the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful has guaranteed to guide and has promised that He will bring forth, and that they will be the most perfect of humanity in characteristics, the strongest at heart and the best in attitude. The greatest of their characteristics is that Allah loves them and they love Him. Allah's love for a person is the greatest blessing that He may bestow upon him, and the greatest virtue with which Allah may favour him. If Allah loves a person, He makes things easy for him and enables him to do good deeds and refrain from evil deeds; He also causes His slaves to love that person.

One of the requirements of a person's love for his Lord is that he has no choice but to follow the Messenger (ﷺ) both outwardly and inwardly, in word and deed, in all circumstances, as Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿Say: If you love Allah then follow me; Allah will love you...﴾ (Āl 'Imrān 3: 31)

One of the prerequisites of Allah loving a person is that he does a lot of deeds to draw near to Allah, both obligatory and supererogatory actions, as the Prophet (ﷺ) said in the ṣaḥeeḥ hadith which tells us that Allah says:

«My slave does not draw near to Me with anything more beloved to Me than what which I have enjoined upon him (of obligatory duties), and My slave continues to draw near to Me with supererogatory deeds so that I will love him. When I love him I am his hearing with which he hears, his seeing with which he sees, his hand with which he strikes and his foot with which he walks. Were he to ask (something) of Me, I would surely give it to him, and were he to ask Me for refuge, I would surely grant him it.» (Bukhari)

Another of the prerequisites of Allah loving a person is knowing Him and remembering Him a great deal, for love without knowing

Allah is sorely lacking; indeed it is non-existent, even if one claims that it is there. The one who loves Allah remembers Him a great deal, and when Allah loves a person, He will accept a little of good deeds from him and will forgive a great deal of mistakes on his part.

Another of their characteristics is that they are humble towards the believers and stern towards the disbelievers. With the believers, they are humble out of love, sincerity, gentleness, kindness, compassion and mercy towards them, and they are easy going with them. But with those who disbelieve in Allah, stubbornly reject His revelations and disbelieve in His Messengers, they are stern and resolved to oppose them and to do their utmost by all available means to prevail over them. Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Make ready against them all that you can of [military] power and steeds of war, to strike fear into the hearts of the enemies of Allah and your enemies...﴾ (al-Anfāl 8: 60)

– and:

﴿...firm and unyielding towards the disbelievers, compassionate towards one another...﴾ (al-Fath 48: 29)

Being forceful and stern against the enemies of Allah is something that brings one nearer to Allah and is a means by which the person is in harmony with his Lord in His wrath towards them. The idea of being stern towards them does not mean that we cannot call them to Islam in the manner that is best, thus combining sternness towards them with gentleness in calling them to Islam. Both are in their best interests and will benefit them.

﴿striving in the cause of Allah﴾, offering their wealth and their lives, striving in word and deed

﴿and not fearing the reproach of any reproacher﴾; rather they give precedence to pleasing their Lord and fearing His disapproval over fearing the reproach of other people. This is indicative of the strength of their aspirations and resolve, for weakness of heart and lack of resolve when faced with reproach weaken one's resolve further and lead to him losing strength when he is told off; that is a kind of servitude to something other than Allah, the degree of which is commensurate with the extent to which they pay attention to other people and give precedence to pleasing them and avoiding their reproach over complying with the command of Allah. A person's heart is not free of servitude to anyone other than Allah until he reaches a point where he does not fear the reproach of any reproacher for the sake of Allah.

Having praised them for that which He blessed them with of noble and sublime characteristics, which are indicative of righteous deeds not mentioned, Allah then tells us that this is by His grace and kindness towards them, lest they be filled with self-admiration and so that they will give thanks to the One Who blessed them with that. Furthermore, He will bestow more of His grace upon them and others will understand that there is no barrier to the grace of Allah (ﷻ):

﴿That is the grace of Allah, which He bestows upon whomever He will. And Allah is All-Encompassing, All-Knowing﴾ that is, He is abundant in grace and kindness, and bestows immense blessings. His mercy encompasses all things and He gives abundantly to His close friends in a way that He does not give to others. He knows best who is deserving of grace, and He gives it to him.

﴿Allah knows best where to place His message﴾ (al-An'âm 6: 124)

– in terms of the Messengers and those who convey the message from them.

﴿إِنَّمَا وَلِيُّكُمُ اللَّهُ وَرَسُولُهُ وَالَّذِينَ آمَنُوا الَّذِينَ يُقِيمُونَ الصَّلَاةَ وَيُؤْتُونَ الزَّكَاةَ وَهُمْ رَاكِعُونَ وَمَنْ يَتَوَلَّ اللَّهَ وَرَسُولَهُ وَالَّذِينَ آمَنُوا فَإِنَّ حِزْبَ اللَّهِ هُمُ الْغَالِبُونَ﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٥٦)

- 5:55. Your only allies are Allah, His Messenger, and the believers, those who establish prayer and give zakāh, with humble submission.
- 5:56. Whoever takes Allah, His Messenger, and the believers as allies, it is the party of Allah that will certainly be triumphant.

Having forbidden us to take the disbelievers – Jews, Christians and others – as allies and stated that the ultimate fate of those who take them as allies is clear loss, Allah (ﷻ) then tells us who the believers should take as allies, and He mentions the benefits and interests served by doing so:

﴿Your only allies are Allah, His Messenger﴾ – taking Allah as an ally means believing in Him and fearing Him. Everyone who believes and fears Allah is an ally of His, and whoever is an ally of Allah is also an ally of His Messenger (ﷺ). A result of that is taking as an ally everyone who takes Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ) as allies, namely the believers who establish faith both outwardly and inwardly, and show sincere devotion to Allah by establishing prayer, fulfilling all its conditions and doing all obligatory and optional parts thereof, treating people kindly and giving zakāh from their wealth to those among them who are entitled to it.

﴿with humble submission﴾ that is, they are humble towards Allah

The word ﴿only﴾ in the phrase ﴿Your only allies are Allah, His Messenger, and the believers﴾ indicates that being an ally only to those mentioned, and disavowing any alliance to anyone else, is obligatory.

Then Allah mentions the benefit of this alliance: ﴿Whoever takes Allah, His Messenger, and the believers as allies, it is the party of Allah that will certainly be triumphant﴾ that is, he belongs to the party that is described as belonging to Allah by way of servitude and alliance, and His party is the one which will prevail, and for whom there will be a good end in this world and in the hereafter, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿And it is surely Our troops who will be the victors.﴾ (as-Saffât 37: 173)

These are glad tidings for anyone who follows the command of Allah and becomes one of His party and those who support His cause: that he will prevail, even if he is defeated sometimes for a reason that Allah (ﷻ) wills. Ultimately he will prevail and be victorious, for who could be truer in his promise than Allah?

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا لَا تَتَّخِذُوا الَّذِينَ اتَّخَذُوا دِينَكُمْ هُزُوءًا وَلَعِبًا مِّنَ الَّذِينَ أُوتُوا الْكِتَابَ مِن قَبْلِكُمْ وَالْكَافِرَ أَوْلِيَاءَ وَاتَّقُوا اللَّهَ إِنَّ كُنتُم مُّؤْمِنِينَ ﴿٥٧﴾ وَإِذَا نَادَيْتُمْ إِلَى الصَّلَاةِ اتَّخَذُوهَا هُزُوءًا وَلَعِبًا ذَٰلِكَ يَأْتِيهِمْ قَوْمٌ لَا يَفْقَهُونَ ﴿٥٨﴾﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٥٧-٥٨)

5:57. O you who believe, do not take as allies<sup>26</sup> those who ridicule your religion and make fun of it, whether they are among those who were given the scripture before you or the disbelievers. Fear Allah, if you are [truly] believers.

5:58. When you give the call to prayer, they ridicule it and make fun of it; that is because they are a people who do not understand.

Here Allah forbids His believing slaves to take as allies the People of the Book, namely the Jews and Christians, and all other disbelievers, loving them, regarding them as friends, disclosing the secrets of the believers to them and helping them in some of their affairs that will adversely affect Islam and the Muslims. The faith that the believers have dictates that they should not take them as allies and it encourages them to regard them as enemies.

Similarly, their duty to fear Allah, which means complying with His commands and avoiding that which He prohibits, requires them to regard them as enemies.

There were also other polytheists and disbelievers who opposed the Muslims, attacking their religion, making fun of it, belittling it and looking down on it, especially the prayer which is the most prominent characteristic of the Muslims and the noblest of their acts of worship. When the Muslims gave the call to prayer, they mocked it because of their immaturity and great ignorance. Otherwise, if they were possessed of any reason, they would have submitted to it and would have realised that it is better than all righteous deeds that a person could do.

If you – O believers – realise how the disbelievers really are and the extent of their hostility towards you and your religion, then anyone who does not resent and oppose them does not truly appreciate Islam.

How can you claim that you have a good religion, and that it is the religion of truth and all others are false, yet you accept to take as allies those foolish and ignorant people who make fun of Islam and mock it and its people? This comes under the heading of inciting enmity towards their enemies, which is very clear to anyone who has the slightest understanding.

﴿قُلْ يٰٓأَهْلَ الْكِتٰبِ هَلْ تَتَّقُوْنَ مِّنَآ اِلَّا اَنْ ءَامَنَّا بِاللّٰهِ وَمَآ اُنزِلَ اِلَيْنَا وَمَآ اُنزِلَ مِنۢ قَبْلُ وَاَنْ اَكْثَرَكُمْ فَاسِقُوْنَ ۝٥٩ قُلْ هَلْ اُنَبِّئُكُمْ بِشَرٍّ مِّنۢ ذٰلِكَ مَثُوْبَةٌ عِنْدَ اللّٰهِ مَنۢ لَّعَنَهُ اللّٰهُ وَغَضِبَ عَلَيْهِ وَجَعَلَ مِنْهُمْ الْفِرْدَۃَ وَالْخٰنٰزِرَ وَعَبَدَ الطَّاغُوْتَ ؕ اُوْلٰٓئِكَ شَرٌّ مَّكَانًا وَّاَضَلُّ عَنۢ سَوَآءِ السَّبِيْلِ ۝٦٠ وَاِذَا جَآءَ وَكُمۡ قَالُوْٓا ءَامَنَّا وَقَدْ دَخَلُوْٓا بِالْكَفْرِ وَهُمْ قَدْ خَرَجُوْٓا بِهٖ ؕ وَاللّٰهُ اَعْلَمُ بِمَا

 لِيَسْ مَا كَانُوا يَصْنَعُونَ ﴿١٣﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٥٩-٦٣)

- 5:59. Say: O People of the Book, do you resent us for any reason other than that we believe in Allah, and in [the revelation] that has been sent down to us, and in that which was sent down before, and that most of you are evildoers?
- 5:60. Say: Shall I tell you who deserves a worse recompense from Allah [than that which you think we will receive]? Those whom Allah cursed and was angry with, some of whom He turned into apes and swine, and worshippers of false gods. They are in a worse position and are further astray from the right path.
- 5:61. And when they come to you, they say: We believe, but in fact they come with disbelief [in their hearts] and they depart with disbelief, and Allah knows all that they conceal [in their hearts].
- 5:62. You see many of them rushing into sin and transgression, and devouring unlawful earnings. Wretched indeed is what they have been doing.
- 5:63. Why do the rabbis and scholars not forbid them to utter sinful words and devour unlawful earnings? Wretched indeed is what they have been failing to do.<sup>27</sup>

That is: ﴿Say﴾ O Messenger (ﷺ): ﴿O People of the Book﴾ affirming to them that Islam is the true religion and that their criticism of it is criticising something that should be praised.

﴿do you resent us for any reason other than that we believe in Allah, and in [the revelation] that has been sent down to us, and in that which was sent down before, and that most of you are evildoers?﴾ That is, do you have anything against us except the fact that we believe in

<sup>27</sup> That is, by not forbidding them to do those things.

Allah and in His earlier and later Books, and His earlier and later Prophets, and that we are certain that whoever does not believe in this manner is a disbeliever and an evildoer? Do you resent us for any reason other than that we believe in this which is the most obligatory duty of all who are accountable?

Most of them are evildoers; that is, they fail to obey Allah and they blatantly disobey Him.

Because their criticism of the believers implies that they think that they are following an evil path, Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿Say﴾ to them, informing them of the abhorrent nature of what they follow:

﴿Shall I tell you who deserves a worse recompense from Allah [than that which you think we will receive]?﴾ that is, worse than that for which you resent us – this is said for argument's sake.

﴿Those whom Allah cursed﴾ that is, cast far away from His mercy and was angry with﴾ and punished them in this world and the hereafter

﴿some of whom He turned into apes and swine, and worshippers of false gods﴾ – the word ṭāghoot, translated here as ﴿false gods﴾, refers to the Shayṭān. Everything that is worshipped instead of Allah is ṭāghoot.

﴿They﴾ that is, those who are mentioned as having these reprehensible characteristics

﴿are in a worse position﴾ than the believers to whom the mercy of Allah is near, and Allah is pleased with them and rewards them in this world and in the hereafter, because they are sincere in their devotion to Him. This is a kind of comparison, without inferring that both are bad. ﴿and are further astray from the right path﴾ that is, they are far away from the straight path.

﴿And when they come to you, they say: We believe﴾ by way of hypocrisy and trickery

﴿but in fact they come with disbelief [in their hearts] and they depart with disbelief﴾ that is, they come and go with disbelief in their hearts even though they claim to be believers; can there be anyone worse than these people or in a more appalling state?

﴿and Allah knows all that they conceal [in their hearts]﴾ and He will requite them for their deeds, both good and evil.

Then Allah (ﷻ) carries on listing their faults, in retaliation for their criticism of His believing slaves: ﴿You see many of them﴾ that is, the Jews ﴿rushing into sin and transgression﴾ that is, they are eager and hasten to commit sins that have to do with the rights of the Creator and transgression against other people.

﴿and devouring unlawful earnings﴾ that is, what is haram. Allah did not stop at telling us that they do this; rather He tells us that they rush into it, which is indicative of their evil, and shows us that it is second nature to them to love sin and wrongdoing, yet they claim for themselves a high status.

﴿Wretched indeed is what they have been doing﴾ – this is the utmost criticism and condemnation of them.

﴿Why do the rabbis and scholars not forbid them to utter sinful words and devour unlawful earnings?﴾ That is, why do the scholars – who take it upon themselves to benefit the people and whom Allah has blessed with knowledge and wisdom – not forbid them to do those sins that come from them, so that the people will rid themselves of ignorance and proof will be established against them?

The scholars are obliged to enjoin upon people what is right and to forbid what is wrong, to show the people the right path, encourage them to do all that is good and warn them against all that is evil.

﴿Wretched indeed is what they have been failing to do﴾.

﴿وَقَالَتِ الْيَهُودُ يَدُ اللَّهِ مَغْلُولَةٌ غُلَّتْ أَيْدِيهِمْ وَلَعِنُوا بِمَا قَالُوا بَلْ يَدَاهُ مَبْسُوطَتَانِ يُنْفِقُ كَيْفَ يَشَاءُ وَلَئِنْ زِدْتُمْ كَثِيرًا مِنْهُمْ مَا أُنْزِلَ إِلَيْكَ مِنْ رَبِّكَ طُغْيَانًا وَكُفْرًا ۖ وَالْقِتْنَا بَيْنَهُمُ الْعَدَاوَةَ

وَكَثِيرٌ مِنْهُمْ سَاءَ مَا يَحْكُمُونَ ﴿٦٦﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٦٤-٦٦)

- 5:64. The Jews say: Allah's Hand is tied up. May their hands be tied up and may they be cursed for what they say. Rather His two Hands are outstretched; He bestows [His bounty] as He wills. The [revelation] that has come down to you from your Lord will surely increase many of them in obstinate rebellion and disbelief, and We have cast among them enmity and hatred until the Day of Resurrection. Every time they kindle the fire of war, Allah extinguishes it. They strive to spread mischief in the land, and Allah does not love those who spread mischief.
- 5:65. If the People of the Book had believed and feared Allah, We would surely have expiated their sins from them, and admitted them to gardens of delight.
- 5:66. If they had been steadfast [in adhering to] the Torah and the Gospel, and that which was revealed to them from their Lord, they would surely have been given provision from above them and from beneath their feet. Among them are some who are fair-minded, but many of them do evil deeds.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us of the abhorrent words of the Jews and their dreadful belief:

«The Jews say: Allah's Hand is tied up» that is, unable to do good and bestow kindness.

«May their hands be tied up and may they be cursed for what they say». This is a supplication against them of similar nature to what they said, because their words implicitly describe Allah, the Most Generous, as being miserly and not kind. Hence He requited them by making this description suit them.

They were the most miserly of people and the least generous and kind, and they thought of Allah in the most negative terms. Therefore He cast them far away from His mercy which encompasses all things and reaches all regions of the upper and lower realms. Hence He said: «Rather His two Hands are outstretched; He bestows [His bounty] as He wills», with no restrictions on Him and no impediment to prevent Him doing what He wills. His generosity is far reaching and His kindness encompasses the spiritual and the physical. He enjoins His slaves to make the most of the seasons when He bestows His grace abundantly and not to close to themselves the gates of His kindness by committing sin.

His Hands are giving by night and by day, and His bounty pours forth abundantly at all times, relieving distress, removing hardship, enriching the poor, ransoming the captive, consoling the afflicted, giving to those who are in need, answering the cry of the desperate, responding to those who ask, bestowing blessings even upon those who do not ask, granting well-being to those who seek it and never depriving any sinner of His bounty. Indeed His bounty is enjoyed by righteous and evildoers alike, but He shows further kindness to His close friends by helping them to do righteous deeds. Then He praises them and attributes their righteous deeds to them, by His grace, and He rewards them for those deeds in this world and in the hereafter, a reward that cannot be described and has not crossed the mind of man. He takes care of them in all their affairs, bestows His blessings upon them and wards off harm from them, much of which they are unaware of. Glory be to the One from Whom all blessings come and to Whom they turn to ward off harm. Blessed be the One Whom no one can praise as He deserves; rather He is as He has praised Himself. Exalted be the One of Whose generosity people are never deprived, not even for the blink of an eye; rather they cannot exist or survive except by His grace.

May Allah doom the one who in his ignorance thinks that he can do without his Lord and who ascribes to Him that which is not befitting to His Majesty. Rather if Allah were to take to task the Jews who said that or others of their ilk, for some of what they say, they would have been destroyed and doomed in this world. But they say these things, and Allah (ﷻ) shows forbearance, overlooks and gives respite, but He never forgets about them.

﴿The [revelation] that has come down to you from your Lord will surely increase many of them in obstinate rebellion and disbelief﴾. This is the worst punishment that may befall a person, whereby the message that Allah has sent down to His Messenger (ﷺ), which brings life to the heart and soul, and brings happiness in this world and the hereafter, and success in both realms, which is the greatest blessing that Allah has bestowed upon His slaves, that they should hasten to accept and submit to Allah by doing so, and give thanks to Allah for it – that such a thing could increase them in transgression, obstinate rebellion and disbelief. That is because of their turning away from it, rejecting it, stubbornly opposing it and producing false arguments to undermine it.

﴿and We have cast among them enmity and hatred until the Day of Resurrection﴾ so there will be no harmony among them, they will not support one another, and they will not agree on any issue that serves any of their interests; rather they will bear mutual grudges in their hearts and oppose one another until the Day of Resurrection.

﴿Every time they kindle the fire of war﴾ to attack Islam and its people, or they start something or try to repeat it, and they amass their military power, ﴿Allah extinguishes it﴾ by causing them to fail, causing their troops to scatter and granting the Muslims victory over them.

﴿They strive to spread mischief in the land﴾ that is, they try hard and do their utmost, but by spreading mischief in the land they are committing sin and promoting their false religion, and preventing people from entering Islam.

﴿and Allah does not love those who spread mischief﴾; rather He hates them intensely and will requite them for that.

﴿If the People of the Book had believed and feared Allah, We would surely have expiated their sins from them, and admitted them to gardens of delight﴾. This is by His grace and bounty; having mentioned the evil deeds, faults and false arguments of the People of the Book, He calls them to repent, and tells them that if they believe in Allah, His angels, all of His Books and all of His Messengers, and avoid sin, their bad deeds will be expiated, no matter what they are, and He would admit them to gardens of delight, where there will be all that their souls could desire, all that their eyes could delight in (cf. 43: 71).

﴿If they had been steadfast [in adhering to] the Torah and the Gospel, and that which was revealed to them from their Lord﴾ that is, if they had adhered to the commands and prohibitions contained therein, as Allah instructed them and urged them to do, part of which is believing in Muhammad (ﷺ) and the Qur'an – if they had been steadfast in adhering to this great blessing which their Lord had revealed to them for their sakes and for their own benefit,

﴿they would surely have been given provision from above them and from beneath their feet﴾ that is, Allah would have sent abundant provision to them; He would have sent down rain upon them and brought forth vegetation for them from the earth, as He says elsewhere:

﴿If only the people of the cities had believed and feared Allah, We would indeed have opened up for them blessings from heaven and earth...﴾ (al-A'raf 7: 96)

﴿Among them﴾ that is, among the People of the Book

﴿are some who are fair-minded﴾ that is, they act in accordance with the Torah and Gospel

﴿but many of them do evil deeds﴾ that is, the evildoers among them are many; as for those who strive to adhere to the teachings, how few they are.

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا الرُّسُولُ بَلِّغْ مَا أُنْزِلَ إِلَيْكَ مِنْ رَبِّكَ وَإِنْ لَمْ تَفْعَلْ مَا بَلَّغْتَ رِسَالَتَهُ ۚ وَاللَّهُ يَعْصِمُكَ مِنَ النَّاسِ ۚ إِنَّ اللَّهَ لَا يَهْدِي الْقَوْمَ الْكَافِرِينَ﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٦٧)

5:67. O Messenger, convey all that has been sent down to you from your Lord. If you do not do that, you will not have conveyed it [at all]. Allah will protect you from humankind. Verily Allah does not guide the disbelieving people.

This is a command from Allah to His Messenger Muhammad (ﷺ), the greatest and most significant of His commands, which is to convey that which Allah sent down to him. That includes everything that the Ummah learned from him of beliefs, deeds, words, shar'i rulings and other divine injunctions. He conveyed it in the most perfect manner; he called people, warned them, give them glad tidings, made things easy and taught the ignorant and unlettered, until they became learned scholars. He conveyed the message through his words, deeds, letters and envoys. He did not omit anything good but he told his Ummah about it, and he did not leave anything evil but he warned them against it. The most prominent figures among his Ummah testified to his having conveyed the message, among his Companions and, after them, from among the leading scholars of the faith, and the Muslims in general.

﴿If you do not do that﴾ that is, if you do not convey what has been sent down to you from your Lord,

﴿you will not have conveyed it [at all]﴾ that is, you will not have complied with His command.

﴿Allah will protect you from humankind﴾ – this is protection against people granted by Allah to His Messenger (ﷺ), so you should be keen to teach and convey the message, and you should not be deterred by fear of some people, for their forelocks are in the Hand of Allah (that is, He has full control over them) and He has guaranteed to protect you. So all you have to do is convey the message clearly, then whoever is guided, it is for his own benefit. As for the disbelievers whose only aim is to follow their whims and desires, Allah will not guide them or help them to do good, because of their disbelief.

﴿قُلْ يٰٓأَهْلَ ٱلْكِتَآبِ لَسْتُمْ عَلَىٰ شَيْءٍ حَتَّىٰ تُقِيمُوا ٱلتَّوْرَةَ وَٱلْإِنْجِيلَ وَمَآ أُنزِلَ إِلَيْكُمْ مِن رَّبِّكُمْ وَلَيَزِيدَنَّ كَثِيرًا مِّنْهُمْ مَّا أُنزِلَ إِلَيْكَ مِن رَّبِّكَ طُغْيَٰنًا وَكُفْرًا فَلَا تَأْسَ عَلَى ٱلْقَوْمِ ٱلْكَافِرِينَ﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٦٨)

5:68. Say: O People of the Book, you have naught [of guidance] unless you are steadfast [in adhering to] the Torah and the Gospel and that which was revealed to you from your Lord. The [revelation] that has come down to you [O Muhammad] from your Lord will surely increase many of them in obstinate rebellion and disbelief. So do not grieve over these disbelieving people.

That is, say to the People of the Book, declaring their misguidance and highlighting their falsehood: ﴿you have naught [of guidance]﴾ that is, you have nothing of religious teachings, for you do not believe in the Qur'an or Muhammad (ﷺ), and you do not adhere to any truth, and you have no foundation on which to base your arguments

﴿unless you are steadfast [in adhering to] the Torah and the Gospel﴾ that is, unless you adhere to them by believing in them and following them, and following everything to which they call you ﴿and﴾ in adhering to ﴿that which was revealed to you from your Lord﴾ Who is taking care of you and has blessed you, and has made the greatest blessing the sending down of scriptures to you. So what you should do is give thanks to Allah, adhere to the rulings of Allah and fulfil the trust and covenant that Allah has given you.

﴿The [revelation] that has come down to you [O Muhammad] from your Lord will surely increase many of them in obstinate rebellion and disbelief. So do not grieve over these disbelieving people.﴾

﴿إِنَّ الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا وَالَّذِينَ هَادُوا وَالصَّابِئُونَ وَالنَّصْرَانِي مَن ءَامَرَ بِاللّٰهِ وَالْيَوْمِ
الْآخِرِ وَعَمِلَ صَالِحًا فَلَا خَوْفٌ عَلَيْهِمْ وَلَا هُمْ يَحْزَنُونَ﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٦٩)

- 5:69. Those who believe [in the Prophet (ﷺ)], and those who are Jews, and the Sabians and the Christians, whoever [among them] believed in Allah and the Last Day, and did righteous deeds, will have no fear, nor will they grieve.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us about the People of the Book, the followers of the Qur'an, Torah and Gospel, that their happiness and salvation is by following one path and one principle, which is to believe in Allah and the Last Day, and to do righteous deeds. Whoever among them believes in Allah and the Last Day, and does righteous deeds, will be saved and will have no fear of what they will face in the future of frightening matters, nor will they grieve for what they have left behind. This ruling is applicable to all times.

﴿لَقَدْ أَخَذْنَا مِيثَاقَ بَنِي إِسْرَءِيلَ وَأَرْسَلْنَا إِلَيْهِمُ رُسُلًا كَلَّمَا جَاءَهُمْ رَسُولٌ بِمَا لَا تَهْوَىٰ أَنفُسُهُمْ فَرِيقًا كَذَّبُوا وَفَرِيقًا يَقْتُلُونَ ﴿٧٠﴾ وَحَسِبُوا أَنَّا لَنَكُونَ فَتَنَةً فَعَمُوا وَصَمُوا ثُمَّ تَابَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِمْ ثُمَّ عَمُوا وَصَمُوا كَثِيرٌ مِّنْهُمْ وَاللَّهُ بِصِيرٍ بِمَا يَكْمُلُونَ ﴿٧١﴾﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٧٠-٧١)

- 5:70. We took the covenant of the Children of Israel, and sent Messengers to them. But whenever there came to them a Messenger with something that was not in accordance with their desires, some they disbelieved, and others they killed.
- 5:71. They thought there would be no punishment, so they became blind and deaf [to the truth]. Then Allah turned to them in mercy, but then again many of them became blind and deaf. And Allah sees well all that they do.

﴿We took the covenant of the Children of Israel﴾ that is, their solemn pledge to believe in Allah and carry out their duties to Him, as mentioned above (in 5: 12 onwards): ﴿Allah took a covenant from the Children of Israel, and We appointed twelve leaders from among them...﴾.

﴿and sent Messengers to them﴾ coming one after another with the call of truth, to lead them in the way of guidance. But that was to no avail and was of no benefit, because ﴿whenever there came to them a Messenger with something﴾ of the truth ﴿that was not in accordance with their desires﴾, they disbelieved him and stubbornly rejected it, and they treated the Messenger (ﷺ) in the worst manner.

﴿some they disbelieved, and others they killed. They thought there would be no punishment﴾ that is, they thought that their sin and rejection would not incur any punishment or consequences, and they persisted in their falsehood

﴿so they became blind and deaf [to the truth]. Then﴾ Allah showed them grace and ﴿turned to them in mercy﴾ when they repented to Him ﴿but then﴾ they did not continue in that path; rather most of them turned back to their reprehensible ways, when ﴿again many of them became blind and deaf﴾, and few of them persisted in their repentance and faith.

﴿And Allah sees well all that they do﴾ and He will requite each person for his deeds; if they were good then he will be rewarded and if they were evil then he will be punished.

﴿لَقَدْ كَفَرَ الَّذِينَ قَالُوا إِنَّ اللَّهَ هُوَ الْمَسِيحُ ابْنُ مَرْيَمَ وَقَالَ الْمَسِيحُ يَبْنِي

﴿٧٥﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٧٢-٧٥)

- 5:72. They indeed have disbelieved who say that Allah is the Messiah, the son of Maryam. But the Messiah said: O Children of Israel, worship Allah, my Lord and your Lord. Whoever ascribes partners to Allah, then Allah has forbidden paradise for him, and the fire will be his abode. For the wrongdoers there will be no helpers.

- 5:73. They indeed have disbelieved who say that Allah is one of three, for there is no god except One God. If they do not desist from what they say, a painful punishment will certainly befall those of them who disbelieve.
- 5:74. Will they not then turn to Allah in repentance and seek His forgiveness? For Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.
- 5:75. The Messiah son of Maryam was no more than a Messenger, and [other] Messengers passed away before him. His mother was a woman strong and true in faith, and they both ate food. See how We make Our signs clear to them, then see how they are turned away [from the truth]!

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us of the disbelief of the Christians when they said ﴿that Allah is the Messiah, the son of Maryam﴾ on the basis of the specious argument that he came from a mother without a father, and thus was born in a manner different from the regular ordained manner decreed by Allah.

In fact 'Eesâ (ﷺ) rejected this claim when he said to them: ﴿O Children of Israel, worship Allah, my Lord and your Lord﴾. Thus he affirmed his own total servitude and confirmed that his Lord is the Lord of all created beings.

﴿Whoever ascribes partners to Allah﴾ that is, associated any created being, 'Eesâ or anyone else, with Allah, ﴿then Allah has forbidden paradise for him, and the fire will be his abode﴾. That is because he has regarded the creation as being equal with the Creator and he has diverted the purpose for which Allah created him – which is worship of Allah alone – to one who is not deserving of it, and thus he deserves to abide in hell for eternity.

﴿For the wrongdoers there will be no helpers﴾ to save them from the punishment of Allah or to ward off from them some of that which will befall them.

﴿They indeed have disbelieved who say that Allah is one of three﴾ this is the view of the Manşoor Christian group, who said that God was one of three: God, Jesus and Mary. Exalted be Allah far above what they say.

This is the greatest evidence of the Christians' lack of reason. How could they accept this abhorrent belief? How could they confuse the Creator with His creation? How could it not be clear to them who is the Lord of the worlds?

Allah (ﷻ) says, refuting them and their ilk: ﴿for there is no god except One God﴾ Who possesses all the attributes of perfection and is far above any shortcomings; He alone possesses the power of creation and control, for people have no blessing except from Him. So how can it be believed that there is another god besides Him? Exalted be Allah far above what the wrongdoers say.

Then He warns them: ﴿If they do not desist from what they say, a painful punishment will certainly befall those of them who disbelieve﴾; then He calls them to repent from what they have said, and He states clearly that He accepts repentance from His slaves: ﴿Will they not then turn to Allah﴾ that is, will they not turn back to that which He loves and is pleased with, namely affirming the oneness of Allah and affirming that 'Eesâ is the slave and Messenger of Allah, and turn away from what they say?

﴿and seek His forgiveness﴾ from what they have done ﴿For Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful﴾ that is, He forgives the sins of the penitent, even if they were to reach the clouds of the sky, and He bestows mercy upon them by accepting their repentance and replacing their bad deeds with good deeds.

The call to repentance begins with a very gentle approach, as Allah says: ﴿Will they not then turn to Allah in repentance...?﴾

Then He mentions the reality of the Messiah and his mother, which is the truth, as He says: ﴿The Messiah son of Maryam was no more than a Messenger, and [other] Messengers passed away before him» that is, this is the most that may be said concerning him, that He was one of the slaves of Allah, one of those who were sent as Messengers, who had no power to introduce commands or laws, except those with which Allah sent them. He is just like the Messengers who came before him, with no advantage over them that would put him beyond the human level and make him divine.

«His mother» Maryam «was a woman strong and true in faith» that is, this too is the most that may be said concerning her, that she was one of those who are strong and true in faith (şiddeeq), those who are the highest of humanity in status after the Prophets. The status of şiddeeq is one of beneficial knowledge that leads to certainty of faith and righteous deeds. This is proof that Maryam was not a prophetess; rather the most that may be said of her is that she attained the level of being a şiddeeqah, and that is sufficient virtue and honour.

Similarly, there was no prophetess among women, because Allah (ﷻ) has ordained that prophethood should be bestowed only upon the more perfect of the two genders, namely men, as He says:

«We did not send before you any but men to whom We gave revelation...» (Yoosuf 12: 109)

As 'Eesâ (ﷺ) was like the Prophets and Messengers who came before him, and his mother was a şiddeeqah, why did the Christians take them as two gods besides Allah?

«and they both ate food» – this clearly indicates that they were weak slaves who needed the same as all other children of Adam, namely food and drink. If they had been gods, they would have had no need of food and drink, or anything else, because the true God is the One Who is independent of means, praiseworthy.

Having established this proof, Allah (ﷻ) says: «See how We make Our signs clear to them», signs which highlight the truth and establish certainty. Yet despite that it is of no use to them; rather they persist in their sin, lies and fabrications. This is stubborn wrongdoing on their part.

﴿قُلْ أَعْبُدُوا مِن دُونِ اللَّهِ مَا لَا يَمْلِكُ لَكُم ضَرًّا وَلَا نَفْعًا وَاللَّهُ هُوَ السَّمِيعُ الْعَلِيمُ﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٧٦)

5:76. Say: Do you worship, besides Allah, that which has no power either to harm or benefit you, when it is Allah [alone] Who is the All-Hearing, All-Knowing?

﴿Say﴾ to them, O Messenger

﴿Do you worship, besides Allah﴾, among created beings who are dependent and needy

﴿that which has no power either to harm or benefit you﴾, and you ignore the only One Who has the power to harm or benefit, to give or withhold?

﴿when it is Allah [alone] Who is the All-Hearing﴾, who hears all voices

﴿All-Knowing﴾ who knows all things, outward and inward, unseen and seen, past and future. The Perfect One (ﷻ) Who possesses these attributes is the only One Who is deserving of all kinds of worship and devotion.

﴿قُلْ يٰٓأَهْلَ الْكِتٰبِ لَا تَغْلُوا فِي دِينِكُمْ غَيْرَ الْحَقِّ وَلَا تَتَّبِعُوا أَهْوَاءَ قَوْمٍ قَدْ ضَلُّوا مِن قَبْلُ وَأَضَلُّوا كَثِيرًا وَضَلُّوا عَن سَوَاءِ السَّبِيلِ﴾ (٧٦) لُعَبَ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا مِن بَنِي إِسْرَءِيلَ عَلَى لِسَانِ دَاوُدَ وَعِيسَى ابْنِ مَرْيَمَ ذَلِكَ بِمَا

عَصُوا وَكَانُوا يَعْتَدُونَ ﴿٧٨﴾ كَانُوا لَا يَتَنَاهَوْنَ عَنْ مُنْكَرٍ فَعَلُوهُ لَبِئْسَ مَا كَانُوا يَفْعَلُونَ ﴿٧٩﴾ تَرَى كَثِيرًا مِنْهُمْ يَتَوَلَّوْنَ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا لَبِئْسَ مَا قَدَّمَتْ لَهُمْ أَنْفُسُهُمْ أَنْ سَخِطَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِمْ وَفِي الْعَذَابِ هُمْ خَالِدُونَ ﴿٨٠﴾ وَلَوْ كَانُوا يُؤْمِنُونَ بِاللَّهِ وَالنَّبِيِّ وَمَا أُنْزِلَ إِلَيْهِ مَا اتَّخَذُوا آلَ إِبْرَاهِيمَ كَثِيرًا مِنْهُمْ فَلَيُسْفَوْنَ ﴿٨١﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٧٧-٨١)

- 5:77. Say: O People of the Book, do not exceed the bounds of truth in your religion, nor follow the desires of people who went astray before, led many others astray and [themselves] strayed from the straight path.
- 5:78. Those who disbelieved among the Children of Israel were cursed on the lips of Dāwood and 'Eesā ibn Maryam; that was because of their disobedience and persistence in transgression.
- 5:79. They would not forbid one another to do any of the evil deeds they did. Wretched indeed were their deeds.
- 5:80. You see many of them taking those who disbelieve as allies.<sup>28</sup> Wretched indeed is that which they themselves have sent on before them, for they have incurred the wrath of Allah and in torment they will abide forever.
- 5:81. If they had believed in Allah, in the Prophet and in what has been sent down to him, they would never have taken them as allies, but most of them are rebellious evildoers.

Here Allah (ﷻ) says to His Prophet (ﷺ): ﴿Say: O People of the Book, do not exceed the bounds of truth in your religion﴾ that is, do not overstep the mark and go beyond the bounds of truth to falsehood, such as their views concerning the Messiah that are mentioned above, or their exaggeration about some of their religious leaders, following ﴿the desires of people who went astray before﴾ and ﴿led many others astray﴾ by calling them to the religion that they were following ﴿and [themselves] strayed from the straight path﴾ that is, the path of truth. Thus they combined going astray themselves with leading other people astray. This refers to the leaders of misguidance; Allah warns against them and against following their whims and desires that lead to doom, or their misleading views.

Then Allah says: ﴿Those who disbelieved among the Children of Israel were cursed﴾ that is, they were expelled and cast far away from the mercy of Allah ﴿on the lips of Dâwood and 'Eesâ ibn Maryam﴾ that is, by means of their testimony and affirmation that proof was established but they (the disbelievers) stubbornly rejected it ﴿that﴾ namely that disbelief and curse ﴿was because of their disobedience and persistence in transgression﴾ that is, they disobeyed Allah and they transgressed against the slaves of Allah, and that became the cause of their disbelief and being far from the mercy of Allah, because sins and wrongdoing have consequences.

Among the sins that brought upon them exemplary punishments was the fact that ﴿They would not forbid one another to do any of the evil deeds they did﴾. In other words, they used to do evil deeds, and they did not tell one another not to do that. Thus those who directly committed the evil actions and others, who kept quiet and did not speak out against evil when they were able to do so, became partners in sin.

That was indicative of their carelessness with regard to the command of Allah, and that the matter of disobedience to Allah was something insignificant to them. If they had had any respect for their Lord, they would have been careful lest His sacred limits be transgressed and they would have become angry at that which incurs

His anger. Keeping quiet when one is able to speak out against evil results in punishment, because it has grave consequences, such as the following:

- Merely keeping quiet is an act of sin in itself, even if one is not directly involved in the sin. Just as it is essential to avoid sin, it is also essential to denounce the one who does sinful acts.
- As mentioned above, it is indicative of carelessness with regard to sin and of a lack of concern about committing sin.
- It makes sinners audacious and leads to an increase in sinful actions, if people are not deterred from sin. Thus evil increases, leading to greater trouble in both religious and worldly affairs, as the evildoers gain the upper hand, after which good people become too weak to resist evil people, to the extent that they become unable to do what they used to do before.
- When evil is not denounced, knowledge diminishes and ignorance prevails, because when sin is committed repeatedly by many people, and is not denounced by people of religious commitment and knowledge, some people may no longer see it as sin and it may be regarded by the ignorant as a good act of worship. What evil can be greater than regarding as permissible that which Allah has forbidden, turning facts upside-down in people's minds and seeing falsehood as truth?
- Keeping quiet about sin may lead to sin becoming fair-seeming in people's minds, thus they will follow one another's examples, because man is prone to following the example of his peers.

Because keeping quiet about evil is such a serious matter, Allah (ﷻ) tells us that He cursed the disbelievers among the Israelites for their sin and transgression, among which He singled out a particularly grave offence: ﴿Wretched indeed were their deeds. You see many of them taking those who disbelieve as allies﴾, loving them, taking them as friends and giving them help and support.

«Wretched indeed is that which they themselves have sent on before them». This is a losing deal, because of which they incur the wrath of Allah, and thus the wrath of all things, and eternal punishment. They have wronged themselves, for they have brought this bad fate upon themselves, which causes them to miss out on eternal bliss.

«If they had believed in Allah, in the Prophet and in what has been sent down to him, they would never have taken them as allies». Faith in Allah and belief in the Prophet (ﷺ) and that which has been sent down to him requires the individual to take as allies his Lord and His allies, and to oppose those who disbelieve in Him, oppose Him and disobey Him. Taking Allah as one's ally and believing in Him dictates that one must not take the enemies of Allah as one's allies. These people failed to meet this condition.

«but most of them are rebellious evildoers» that is, they do not obey Allah or believe in Him or His Prophet (ﷺ). Part of their rebellious evildoing is that they take as allies the enemies of Allah.

﴿ لَتَجِدَنَّ أَشَدَّ النَّاسِ عَدُوًّا لِلَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا إِلَيْهِمْ وَالَّذِينَ أَشْرَكُوا ۚ

- 5:82. You will surely find that the bitterest among people in enmity towards the believers are the Jews and those who ascribe partners to Allah; and you will surely find that the closest among them to the believers in affection are those who say: We are Christians. That is because among them are scholars and ascetics, and they are not arrogant.<sup>1,2</sup>

<sup>2</sup> v. 82 is the last verse in juz' 6 but as the author included it in the passage quoted below, we have included it in juz' 7. (Translator)

- 5:83. When they hear what has been sent down to the Messenger, you see their eyes overflowing with tears, because of what they recognise as truth therein. They say: Our Lord, we believe; so record us among those who bear witness [to the truth].
- 5:84. Why would we not believe in Allah and in the truth that has come to us, when we hope that our Lord will include us among the righteous people?
- 5:85. Allah will reward them for their words with gardens through which rivers flow, to abide therein forever. Such is the reward of those who do good.
- 5:86. But as for those who disbelieve and deny Our revelations, they will be inhabitants of the blazing fire.

Here Allah (Subhânahu wa Ta'âlâ – Glorified and Exalted is He) tells us of the closer of the two groups to the Muslims and the most likely to be friendly towards them and like them, and those who are least likely to be like that.

﴿You will surely find that the bitterest among people in enmity towards the believers are the Jews and those who ascribe partners to Allah﴾. These two groups in general are the most hostile towards Islam and the Muslims, and are the ones who try the hardest to cause harm to them, because of their enmity towards them, which is based on spite, envy, stubbornness and disbelief.

﴿and you will surely find that the closest among them to the believers in affection are those who say: We are Christians﴾. Allah mentions a number of reasons for that:

- ﴿among them are scholars and ascetics﴾ that is, ascetic scholars and devoted worshippers in hermitages. Knowledge, asceticism and worship are things that soften the heart and remove hardness and harshness. Hence the harshness of the Jews and the polytheists is not found among the Christians.

- ﴿and they are not arrogant﴾ that is, there is no arrogance and conceit, or stubborn refusal to accept the truth, among them. That is what makes them closer to the Muslims and to loving them, because the one who is humble is closer to goodness than the one who is arrogant.
- ﴿When they hear what has been sent down to the Messenger﴾ Muhammad (ﷺ) – blessings and peace be upon him), that had an impact on their hearts, and they felt awed and their eyes overflowed with tears because of what they heard of the truth of which they were certain. Hence they believed and confirmed that it was true, and they said: ﴿Our Lord, we believe; so record us among those who bear witness [to the truth]﴾ – namely the Ummah of Muhammad (ﷺ). They testify to the oneness of Allah and to the truth of the message that the Messengers brought, and they testify for or against previous nations who either believed or disbelieved.

They are honest and their testimony is to be accepted, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿Thus We have made of you an Ummah [nation, community] justly balanced, that you might be witnesses over humankind, and the Messenger might be a witness over you...﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 143)

It is as if they were blamed for hastening to believe, so they said: ﴿Why would we not believe in Allah and in the truth that has come to us, when we hope that our Lord will include us among the righteous people?﴾ In other words: what is to prevent us from believing in Allah, when the truth has come to us from our Lord, concerning which there is no doubt, and if we believe and follow the truth, we hope that Allah will admit us to paradise with the righteous people, so what is there to prevent us? Is this not a reason to hasten to believe and not hold back?

﴿Allah will reward them for their words﴾ that is, for the words of faith that they spoke and for their verbal affirmation of the truth ﴿with gardens through which rivers flow, to abide therein forever. Such is the reward of those who do good﴾.

These verses were revealed concerning the Christians who believed in Muhammad (ﷺ), such as the Negus and others.

There are still among them those who choose the religion of Islam when it becomes clear to them that what they are following is false. They are closer to Islam than the Jews and the polytheists.

Having mentioned the doers of good, Allah then mentions the punishment of the evildoers: ﴿But as for those who disbelieve and deny Our revelations, they will be inhabitants of the blazing fire﴾, because they disbelieved in Allah and they rejected His revelations which clearly highlight the truth.

يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا لَا تَحْزَمُوا طَيِّبَاتِ مَا أَحَلَّ اللَّهُ لَكُمْ وَلَا تَعْتَدُوا إِنَّ اللَّهَ لَا يُحِبُّ الْمُعْتَدِينَ ﴿٨٧﴾ وَكُلُوا مِمَّا رَزَقَكُمُ اللَّهُ حَلَالًا طَيِّبًا وَاتَّقُوا اللَّهَ الَّذِي أَنْتُمْ بِهِ مُؤْمِنُونَ ﴿٨٨﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٨٧-٨٨)

- 5:87. O you who believe, do not forbid [to yourselves] the good things that Allah has made lawful for you, and do not overstep the limits; for Allah does not love those who overstep the limits.
- 5:88. Eat of that which Allah has provided for you, lawful and good; and fear Allah, in Whom you believe.

﴿O you who believe, do not forbid [to yourselves] the good things that Allah has made lawful for you﴾ of food and drink, for they are blessings that Allah has bestowed upon you. So you should praise Him because He has permitted them to you; you should give thanks to Him and not respond to His blessing with ingratitude, failure to accept it or belief that it is prohibited, because by doing so you combine lying about Allah with ingratitude for His blessings and believing that that which is permissible and good is prohibited and impure, and this is overstepping the mark.

Allah has prohibited overstepping the mark, as He says: ﴿and do not overstep the limits; for Allah does not love those who overstep the limits﴾; rather He hates that and punishes for it.

Then He enjoins the opposite of what the polytheists do, who prohibited that which Allah has made permissible:

﴿Eat of that which Allah has provided for you, lawful and good﴾ that is, eat of the provision that Allah has bestowed upon you and made available by whatever means He has ordained, if it is permissible and has not been stolen, usurped or otherwise unlawfully appropriated.

What is permitted is also good, which means that it contains nothing impure.

﴿and fear Allah﴾ by obeying His commands and heeding His prohibitions.

﴿in Whom you believe﴾, for your belief in Allah requires you to fear Him and pay attention to His rights over you, for your faith is not complete otherwise. This verse indicates that if a person forbids to himself anything that is permissible for him, be it food, drink, or anything else, that thing does not become haram as a result of him forbidding it to himself, but if he does that, then he must offer an expiation for breaking an oath, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿O Prophet, why do you prohibit [for yourself] that which Allah has made lawful for you...?﴾ (at-Tahreem 66: 1)

But if a man prohibits his wife to himself, he must offer a specific expiation (that of dhihâr)<sup>3, 4</sup>

This verse also indicates that it is not permissible to avoid good things or prohibit them to oneself; rather one should consume them, thus helping oneself to obey and worship Allah.

﴿لَا يُؤَاخِذُكُمُ اللَّهُ بِاللَّغْوِ فِي أَيْمَانِكُمْ وَلَكِنْ يُؤَاخِذُكُمْ بِمَا عَقَّدْتُمُ الْأَيْمَانَ فَكَفَّرتُهَا بِطَعَامٍ عَشْرَةِ مَسْكِينٍ مِنْ أَوْسَطِ مَا تُطْعَمُونَ أَهْلِيكُمْ أَوْ كِسْوَتُهُمْ أَوْ تَحْرِيرُ رَقَبَةٍ ۖ فَمَنْ لَمْ يَجِدْ فَصِيَامُ ثَلَاثَةِ أَيَّامٍ ۚ ذَلِكَ كَفَرَةُ أَيْمَانِكُمْ إِذَا حَلَفْتُمْ ۚ وَاحْفَظُوا أَيْمَانَكُمْ ۚ كَذَلِكَ يُبَيِّنُ اللَّهُ لَكُمْ آيَاتِهِ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَشْكُرُونَ﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٨٩)

- 5:89. Allah will not call you to account for that which is unintentional in your oaths, but He will call you to account for the oaths which you swear in earnest. The expiation thereof is to feed ten poor persons with the average type of food that you give to your own families, or to clothe them, or to free a slave. If that is beyond your means, then fast for three days. That is the expiation for the oaths you have sworn. But fulfil your oaths. Thus Allah makes clear to you His revelations, so that you may give thanks.

<sup>3</sup> Dhihâr is a jâhili (pre-Islamic) form of divorce in which the husband says to his wife, "You are to me as my mother's back" that is, haram. Expiation for dhihâr is to free a believing slave. If that is not possible, then he must fast for two consecutive months. If he is not able to do that, then he should feed sixty poor persons, giving thirty *ṣā'*s of wheat, half a ṣā' for each poor person.

<sup>4</sup> Wherever possible, Arabic terms have been translated into English. In cases where we have chosen to retain the Arabic, the transliterated word or phrase is shown in italics the first time it appears in the text. The term is also defined in the glossary found at the end of this book. (Editor)

﴿Allah will not call you to account for that which is unintentional in your oaths﴾ that is, what you say without really meaning it in your idle talk. This refers to oaths that a person may utter without intending to, or he did that thinking that what he said was the truth, then he realised that it was not.

﴿but He will call you to account for the oaths which you swear in earnest﴾ that is, what you really intended to swear to, meaning it in your hearts. This is like the verse in which Allah says:

﴿...but He will call you to account for that which is intended in your hearts...﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 225)

﴿The expiation thereof﴾ that is, the expiation for breaking the oath that you swore deliberately ﴿is to feed ten poor persons with the average type of food that you give to your own families, or to clothe them﴾ that is, to clothe ten poor persons, giving them clothing that is acceptable for praying in.

﴿or to free a slave﴾ that is, freeing believing slaves, as is specified elsewhere. If the individual does one of these three things, then he has expiated his oath.

﴿If that is beyond your means﴾ that is, if you are unable to do any of these three things

﴿then fast for three days. That﴾ namely what has been mentioned here ﴿is the expiation for the oaths you have sworn﴾; it expiates them and erases them, and cancels out the sin.

﴿But fulfil your oaths﴾ and avoid swearing falsely by Allah, or making too many oaths; but fulfil them if you swear them, and do not break them, unless breaking the oath is better. What matters is doing what is good, and an oath should not be an obstacle to doing what is good.

﴿Thus Allah makes clear to you His revelations﴾ which explain and distinguish what is lawful from what is prohibited, and clarify the rulings

«so that you may give thanks» to Allah, for having taught you that which you did not know.

Thus people are obliged to give thanks to Allah (ﷻ) for the blessings that He has bestowed upon them, namely knowledge and explanation of the shar'i rulings.

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا إِنَّمَا الْخَمْرُ وَالْمَيْسِرُ وَالْأَنصَابُ وَالْأَزْلَامُ رِجْسٌ مِّنْ عَمَلِ الشَّيْطَانِ فَاجْتَنِبُوهُ لَعَلَّكُمْ تُفْلِحُونَ ﴿٩٠﴾ إِنَّمَا يُرِيدُ الشَّيْطَانُ أَنْ يُوقِعَ بَيْنَكُمُ الْعَدَاوَةَ وَالْبَغْضَاءَ فِي الْخَمْرِ وَالْمَيْسِرِ وَيَصُدَّكُمْ عَن ذِكْرِ اللَّهِ وَعَنِ الصَّلَاةِ فَهَلْ أَنْتُمْ مُنْهَوْنَ ﴿٩١﴾﴾ (سورة المائدة:

(٩١-٩٠)

- 5:90. O you believe, intoxicants, gambling, idols and divining arrows are an abomination, of Shayṭān's handiwork; therefore avoid such [abomination], so that you might prosper.
- 5:91. Shayṭān seeks only to stir up enmity and hatred among you, by means of intoxicants and gambling, and to keep you back from the remembrance of Allah and from prayer. Will you not then abstain?

Here Allah (ﷻ) condemns these reprehensible things and tells us that they are of Shayṭān's handiwork and that they are an abomination, «therefore avoid such [abomination]» that is, shun it, «so that you might prosper». For prosperity cannot be attained except by avoiding that which Allah has prohibited, especially the evils mentioned here, which are:

- intoxicants (khamr) – this refers to anything that befogs the mind
- gambling – this refers to all contests in which both sides offer to give up something if they lose

- idols – this refers to statues and the like which are set up and worshipped instead of Allah
- divining arrows – which were used for decision-making.

Allah has prohibited these four things; He warns us against them and tells us that they have negative consequences which dictate that they should be shunned and avoided. Those negative consequences include the following:

- They are an abomination; that is, they are evil and metaphorically impure, even if they are not physically impure. We should not contaminate ourselves with the sin and filth of evil things.
- They are of Shaytân's handiwork, and he is the most hostile of enemies to humanity. It is well known that one should take precautions against one's enemy and his traps and actions, especially the things he does to ensnare his foe, for that leads to doom. The best thing the individual can do is keep away from the activities of his avowed enemy, and be careful to avoid falling into his traps.
- No individual can prosper except by avoiding these things. Prosperity means attaining what one seeks and wants, and being saved from what one fears, and these things form an impediment to prosperity.
- These things lead to enmity and resentment among people, and the Shaytân is eager to provoke such feelings, especially by means of intoxicants and gambling, in order to stir up enmity and resentment among the believers. Intoxicants befog the mind and lead to loss of reason, which in turn leads to resentment between a person and his fellow believers, especially if that is accompanied by trading insults. This is an inevitable result of drinking, and it may go as far as murder. In the case of gambling, when one defeats the other and takes a lot of his wealth for nothing in return, this is one of the greatest causes of enmity and resentment.

- These things prevent the heart and tongue from remembering Allah and praying, for which man was created and in which is his happiness. Alcohol and gambling form the greatest impediment to that, as they distract the heart and mind until a long time passes without the individual even realising where he is.

What calamity can be greater and worse than a sin that tarnishes the individual and makes him one of the people of impurity and causes him to follow in the footsteps of the Shayṭān and fall into his traps, then he finds himself being led by him like an insignificant animal being led by its shepherd? Thus it is a hindrance to his prosperity and it creates enmity and resentment among the believers; it prevents one from remembering Allah and praying. Can there be any greater negative consequences than this?

Hence Allah instructed people of sound reasoning to abstain from these things, as He says: ﴿Will you not then abstain?﴾ If the wise person looks at some of these negative consequences, that will be sufficient to deter him from these things, and there will be no need for further admonition or harsh rebukes.

﴿وَأَطِيعُوا اللَّهَ وَأَطِيعُوا الرَّسُولَ وَأَحْذَرُوا فَإِنْ تَوَلَّيْتُمْ فَأَعْلَمُوا أَنَّمَا عَلَى رَسُولِنَا الْبَلَاغُ

الْمُيِّنُ ﴿٩٢﴾﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٩٢)

- 5:92. Obey Allah, and obey the Messenger, and be on your guard. But if you turn away, then know that the duty of Our Messenger is only to convey the message in the clearest way.

Obedience to Allah and obedience to His Messenger (ﷺ) is the same. Whoever obeys Allah has obeyed the Messenger (ﷺ) and whoever obeys the Messenger (ﷺ) has obeyed Allah. That includes doing what Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ) have enjoined of deed and words, both outward and inward, obligatory and recommended, having to do with the rights of Allah and the rights of His creation, as well as refraining from that which Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ) have prohibited. This is comprehensive in application and, as you can see, it includes every command and prohibition, both outward and inward.

﴿and be on your guard﴾ that is, against disobeying Allah and disobeying His Messenger (ﷺ), for that leads to evil and obvious loss. ﴿But if you turn away﴾ that is, from the commands and prohibitions that are addressed to you

﴿then know that the duty of Our Messenger is only to convey the message in the clearest way﴾ and he has fulfilled that duty. If you are guided, then it is to your own benefit, but if you do wrong, then it is to your detriment. Allah is the One Who will bring you to account, and the Messenger (ﷺ) has done what was required of him and has fulfilled his duty.

المائدة: ٩٣)

- 5:93. For those who believe and do righteous deeds, there is no blame on them for what they ate [and drank, in the past], so long as they fear Allah, believe and do righteous deeds, then fear Allah and believe, then fear Allah and do good, for Allah loves those who do good.

When the prohibition on alcohol was revealed, and after it was highlighted that it was emphatically forbidden and how serious the matter was, some of the believers wanted to know about their brethren who had died as Muslims before alcohol was prohibited, and they used to drink it. So Allah (ﷻ) revealed this verse and told them that ﴿For those who believe and do righteous deeds, there is no blame on them﴾ that is, no sin, ﴿for what they ate [and drank, in the past]﴾ that is, what they had consumed of alcohol and the proceeds of gambling before these things were prohibited.

Because this may include what is listed above as well as other things, Allah restricted that by saying: ﴿so long as they fear Allah, believe and do righteous deeds﴾ that is, on condition that they keep away from sin and have a correct belief in Allah, which motivates them to do righteous deeds, then they continue in that path. Otherwise, a person may follow that sometimes but not at other times, and that is not sufficient unless he is as the verse says and continues like that until the end of his life, persisting in doing good. For Allah loves those who do good by worshipping the Creator and helping other people.

This verse includes anyone who eats or drinks or does anything haram after it has been prohibited, then he acknowledges his sin, repents to Allah, fears Him, believes and does righteous deeds; Allah will forgive him and will absolve his sin.

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا لَبِئْسَ مَا كُنْتُمْ تَفْعَلُونَ ۚ وَمِنَ الصَّيْدِ تَنَالُهُ آيْدِيكُمْ وَرِمَاكُمْ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَعْلَمُونَ ۚ وَمِنَ الصَّيْدِ وَآتُمْ حُرْمٌ ۖ وَمَنْ قَتَلَهُ مِنْكُمْ مُتَعَمِّدًا فَجَزَاءٌ مِّثْلُ مَا قَتَلَ مِنَ النَّعَمِ يَحْكُمُ بِهِ ذَوَا عَدْلٍ مِّنكُمْ هَدْيًا بَالِغَ الْكَعْبَةِ أَوْ كَفَرَةٌ طَعَامُ مَسْكِينٍ أَوْ عَدْلٌ ذَلِكُمْ صِيَامًا لِّذَوِّ قُوَّةٍ وَبِالْأَمْرِ ۚ عَفَا اللَّهُ عَنْمَا سَلَفٌ ۚ وَمَنْ عَادَ فَيَنْقِمِ اللَّهُ مِنْهُ وَاللَّهُ عَزِيزٌ ذُو انْتِقَامٍ ۚ ﴿٩٦﴾ أُحِلَّ لَكُمْ صَيْدُ الْبَحْرِ وَطَعَامُهُ مَتَاعًا لَّكُمْ وَلِلنَّاسِ وَلِلْغَنَاقِ ۚ وَحُرِّمَ عَلَيْكُمْ صَيْدُ الْبَرِّ مَا دُمْتُمْ حُرُمًا ۚ وَاتَّقُوا اللَّهَ الَّذِي تَوَسَّلُوهُ إِلَيْهِ تَخْشَوْنَ ۚ﴾ (سورة المائدة: ٩٤-٩٦)

- 5:94. O you who believe, Allah will certainly test you with game that comes within reach of your hands and spears [when you are in iḥrām], so that He may know who will fear Him unseen. Whoever transgresses after this will have a painful punishment.
- 5:95. O you who believe, do not kill game whilst you are in iḥrām. Whoever among you kills it intentionally, the compensation is an offering, brought to the Kaaba, of a livestock animal equivalent to the one he killed, as determined by two just men among you; or, by way of expiation, he may feed poor people or its equivalent in fasting, so that he might taste the evil consequences of his deed. Allah has forgiven what is past, but whoever does it again, Allah will wreak vengeance on him, for Allah is Almighty, an Avenger.
- 5:96. Lawful for you is what you catch from the sea and what the sea brings forth, as provision for you and for travellers. But forbidden to you is the pursuit of land-game whilst you are in iḥrām. And fear Allah, to Whom you will be gathered.

This is one of the blessings that Allah has bestowed upon His slaves: He tells them what He will do to them by way of His will and decree, so that they will obey Him and will proceed on a basis of clarity; so that those who choose to perish might do so after seeing clear evidence, and those who choose to live might do so after seeing clear evidence (cf. 8: 42). Hence He says here: «O you who believe», Allah will inevitably test your faith.

«Allah will certainly test you with game» that is, with a little, not much. Hence it will be a mild test, in an easy-going and gentle manner. The game with which He will test you will be «game that comes within reach of your hands and spears» that is, you would be able to catch it easily. That is so that the test will be meaningful, which would not be the case if it was out of reach of your hands and spears; in that case the test would have no meaning.

Then Allah mentions the wisdom behind that test: ﴿so that He may know﴾ in the sense of knowledge that will be visible to all people, on the basis of which reward and punishment will be allocated.

﴿who will fear Him unseen﴾ and therefore refrain from what Allah has prohibited even though he is able to catch it, and thus he will attain a great reward, unlike the one who does not fear Him unseen, so he does not refrain from sin when he finds an opportunity and will catch whatever he is able to.

﴿Whoever﴾ among you ﴿transgresses after this﴾ clarification which leaves no excuse ﴿will have a painful punishment﴾ such as none can describe except Allah. That is because there is no excuse for this transgression. What matters is the one who fears Him unseen, when no one else is present with him. As for displaying piety and fear of Allah in front of other people, that may be because he fears the people, so he will not be rewarded for that.

Then Allah states that it is not permissible to kill game when in the state of iḥrām: ﴿O you who believe, do not kill game whilst you are in iḥrām﴾ that is, whilst you are in iḥrām for Hajj or 'umrah. The prohibition on killing game includes the prohibition on that which leads to killing, taking part in killing, showing people where the game is, and helping them to kill it. It even goes so far as to prohibit the pilgrim in iḥrām to eat anything that was killed or hunted for his sake. All of that is based on respect for this important ritual, as it is forbidden for the pilgrim in iḥrām to hunt or kill that which is ordinarily permissible for him outside of the state of iḥrām.

﴿Whoever among you kills it intentionally﴾ that is, he kills game deliberately

﴿the compensation﴾ that is required of him ﴿is an offering, brought to the Kaaba, of a livestock animal equivalent to the one he killed﴾ that is, a camel, cow or sheep. It should be determined what is equivalent to it, and he has to find one that is like it, and slaughter it and give the meat in charity.

What is equivalent to it is to be determined by two just men among you that is, two men of good character who know the rulings and regulations and can find the best match. This is what the Ṣaḥābah did when they determined that the equivalent to a dove was a sheep, the equivalent to an ostrich was a camel and the equivalent to a wild ox (of various types) was a cow. This applies to everything that has an equivalent among livestock animals; an equivalent animal must be offered as a sacrifice. If no equivalent can be found, then the equivalent value should be given in charity, as is the basic principle with regard to property that is damaged or destroyed. This sacrifice must be brought to the Kaaba; in other words it must be slaughtered in the Ḥaram zone.

or, by way of expiation, he may feed poor people that is, expiation may take the form of feeding poor people. In other words, instead of sacrificing an equivalent livestock animal, the individual may give food to poor people.

Many of the scholars said that the value of the penalty should be worked out, then food is to be purchased with that money, and each poor person is to be given a mudd of wheat or half a ṣā' of other foodstuffs.

or its equivalent in fasting that is, one may fast one day for each poor person who would have been fed.

so that he might taste the evil consequences of his deed by incurring this punishment but whoever does it again after that Allah will wreak vengeance on him, for Allah is Almighty, an Avenger.

Allah specifically mentioned the one who deliberately kills game, even though compensation is required both in cases, where it is done deliberately and when it is done by mistake, in accordance with the basic principle of Sharia which states that the one who causes physical damage to persons or property that are protected by Sharia is liable regardless of whether he did it deliberately or otherwise, if the damage he caused was done in an unlawful manner, because Allah has ordained this compensation, punishment and vengeance. This applies to the one who does it deliberately. In the case of one who does it by mistake, he is not to be punished but he is obliged to offer compensation. (This is the response of the majority of scholars, that the vengeance mentioned in this verse applies only to the one who does that deliberately. This is the apparent meaning. The difference between this and liability in cases of accidental damage to persons and property in this situation [iḥrām], where the transgression has to do with the rights of Allah, is that if there is no sin, no compensation is required, because there is no damage to persons or property.)

Because the word ṣayd (translated here as «hunting») is applicable to hunting on both land and sea, Allah then makes an exception in the case of hunting by sea (fishing), as He says: «Lawful for you is what you catch from the sea and what the sea brings forth» that is, the game of the sea is permissible for you when you are in the state of iḥrām. This refers to living sea creatures and also to those found dead. This indicates that the maytah (“dead animals”) of the sea are permissible «as provision for you and for travellers» that is, the reason behind it being made permissible for you is for your benefit and for the benefit of your travelling-companions.

«But forbidden to you is the pursuit of land-game whilst you are in iḥrām» from the word ṣayd (translated here as «game») it may be understood that this must refer to wild animals, because tame or domesticated animals cannot be described as ṣayd. They must also be animals that may be eaten, because animals that cannot be eaten may not be hunted and cannot be described as ṣayd.

«And fear Allah, to Whom you will be gathered» that is, fear Him by doing that which He enjoins and refraining from that which He forbids, and seek His help to adhere to His limits, for you know that you will be gathered to Him and He will requite you according to whether you truly feared Him, in which case He will reward you immensely, or you did not fear Him, in which case He will punish you.

﴿ جَعَلَ اللَّهُ الْكَعْبَةَ الْغُرُوبَةَ الْحَرَامَ قِبْلًا لِلنَّاسِ وَالشَّهْرَ الْحَرَامَ وَالْهَدْيَ وَالْقَالَتِ ذَٰلِكَ لِتَعْلَمُوا أَنَّ اللَّهَ يَعْلَمُ مَا فِي السَّمَوَاتِ وَمَا فِي الْأَرْضِ وَأَنَّ اللَّهَ بِكُلِّ شَيْءٍ عَلِيمٌ ﴾ (٩٧) ﴿ أَعْلَمُوا أَنَّ اللَّهَ شَدِيدُ الْعِقَابِ وَأَنَّ اللَّهَ غَفُورٌ رَحِيمٌ ﴾ (٩٨) ﴿ مَا عَلَى الرَّسُولِ إِلَّا الْبَلَاغُ ۗ وَاللَّهُ يَعْلَمُ مَا تُبْدُونَ وَمَا تَكْتُمُونَ ﴾ (٩٩) ﴿ (سورة المائدة: ٩٧-٩٩) ﴾

- 5:97. Allah has made the Kaaba, the Sacred House, a source of stability [and well-being] for humankind, as well as the sacred month, the sacrificial animals and the garlands. That is so that you might know that Allah knows all that is in the heavens and on earth, and that Allah has knowledge of all things.
- 5:98. Know that Allah is severe in punishment and that Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.
- 5:99. The Messenger's duty is only to convey [the message]; Allah knows what you disclose and what you conceal.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that He ﷻ has made the Kaaba, the Sacred House, a source of stability [and well-being] for humankind because by venerating it, people's spiritual and worldly well-being will be in good shape, and their Islam will be complete. By venerating it, their sins are expiated and by visiting it, they attain a great deal of reward and virtue; because of it a great deal of money is spent and great risks are taken to reach it. All kinds of Muslims from all over the world gather in that place, where they get to know one another, seek help from one another and discuss public affairs. Bonds are strengthened among them in a manner that serves both their spiritual and worldly interests. Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿So that they may avail themselves of benefits and mention the name of Allah [at the time of sacrifice], during the appointed days, over the livestock that He has provided for them...﴾ (al-Hajj 22: 28)

Because the Kaaba is a source of stability and well-being for humankind, some of the scholars said that performing pilgrimage to the House of Allah is a communal obligation every year; if all people failed to perform Hajj, then everyone who was able to do so would be sinning. In fact, if all people failed to perform Hajj, they would lose their source of stability and the Day of Resurrection would begin.

﴿the sacrificial animals and the garlands﴾ that is, He has also made the sacrificial animals and the garlands a source of stability for humankind, from which they benefit and for which they will be rewarded.

﴿That is so that you might know that Allah knows all that is in the heavens and on earth, and that Allah has knowledge of all things﴾.

On the basis of His knowledge, He has appointed this sacred House for you, because He knows the interests, both spiritual and worldly, that may be served thereby.

﴿Know that Allah is severe in punishment and that Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful﴾ that is, by remembering these contrasting attributes, so that you will continually bear them in mind and be certain and sure of them. Then you will know that He is severe in punishment, both in this world and in the hereafter, towards those who disobey Him, and that He is Oft-Forgiving and Merciful towards those who repent to Him and obey Him. This knowledge will instil in your heart fear of His punishment and hope of His forgiveness and reward, thus you will conduct yourself in the light of these two principles, fear and hope.

﴿The Messenger's duty is only to convey [the message]﴾ and he has indeed conveyed it as instructed and done what was required of him. Anything beyond that has nothing to do with him.

«Allah knows what you disclose and what you conceal» and He will requite you on the basis of His knowledge.

﴿قُلْ لَا يَسْتَوِي الْخَيْرُ وَالْطَّيِّبُ وَلَوْ أَعْجَبَكَ كَثْرَةُ الْخَيْرِ فَاتَّقُوا اللَّهَ يَتَذَكَّرُ
الْأَلْبَنُ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَفْلِحُونَ﴾ (سورة المائدة: ١٠٠)

5:100. Say: The bad and the good are not equal, even though the abundance of the bad may appear pleasing to you. So fear Allah, O men of understanding, so that you may prosper.

«Say» to the people, warning them against evil and encouraging them to do good

«The bad and the good are not equal» in any way. Faith and disbelief, obedience and disobedience, the people of paradise and the people of hell, good deeds and evil deeds, lawful wealth and unlawful wealth, are not equal.

«even though the abundance of the bad may appear pleasing to you», for it is of no benefit to the one who possesses it; rather it is harmful in both spiritual and worldly terms.

«So fear Allah, O men of understanding, so that you may prosper». Here Allah issues a command to men of understanding – that is, people of mature thinking and wisdom. They are addressed here because they are the ones to whom attention is paid, and it is hoped that there is good in them.

Then Allah tells us that prosperity depends on fearing Allah, which means complying with His commands and prohibitions. Whoever fears Him will prosper, but whoever does not fear Him will incur loss and miss out on gains.

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا لَا تَسْأَلُوا عَنَ أَشْيَاءَ إِن بُدَّ لَكُمْ تَسْؤُكُمْ وَإِن قَسَلُوا عَنْهَا حِينَ يُنَزَّلُ الْقُرْءَانُ بُدَّ لَكُمْ عَفَا ٱللَّهُ عَنْهَا ۗ وَٱللَّهُ غَفُورٌ حَلِيمٌ ﴿١٠١﴾ قَدْ سَأَلَهَا قَوْمٌ مِّن قَبْلِكُمْ ثُمَّ أَصْبَحُوا بِهَا كَافِرِينَ ﴿١٠٢﴾﴾ (سورة المائدة: ١٠١-١٠٢)

- 5:101. O you who believe, do not ask questions about matters which, if they were made known to you, would only cause you hardship. If you ask about them while the Qur'an is being revealed, they will be made known to you. Allah has kept silent about them. Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Forbearing.
- 5:102. Some people before you asked such questions, then became disbelievers as a result of that.

Here Allah forbids His believing slaves to ask about things that, if they became known, would upset them and make them sad, such as when some of the Muslims asked the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) about their fathers and whether they were in paradise or hell, which is a matter that, if it were to become clear to the questioner, would be of no benefit to him. Other examples include asking hypothetical questions or questions that would result in some restrictions in rulings that would possibly cause hardship to the Ummah, as well as asking about things that do not concern one. Asking these and similar questions is not allowed.

With regard to asking questions that do not result in any of these things, that is enjoined, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...So [O people] ask those who have knowledge,<sup>5</sup> if you do not know.﴾ (an-Nahl 16: 43)

<sup>5</sup> This may refer to: Jewish and Christian scholars who have knowledge of the previous scriptures; Muslim scholars who have knowledge of the Qur'an; or those who have knowledge of the history of earlier nations.

«If you ask about them while the Qur'an is being revealed, they will be made known to you» that is, if you ask at the right time, and you ask about them while the Qur'an is coming down to you, so you ask about the meaning of a verse that is not clear to you, or about a ruling of which the application is not clear to you, at a time when it is possible that revelation concerning it may come down from heaven, it will be explained to you and will become clear. Otherwise, keep silent about that concerning which Allah has kept silent.

«Allah has kept silent about them» that is, He has kept silent as a way of not burdening His slaves so whatever Allah has kept silent about is permitted and overlooked

«Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Forbearing» that is, forgiveness is His ongoing attribute and He is known for forbearance and kindness. So seek His forgiveness and kindness, and ask for His mercy and good pleasure.

With regard to these things that you are forbidden to do, «Some people before you asked such questions» that is, they asked similar questions out of stubbornness, not out of a desire to seek guidance. Then when these matters were explained to them and the answer came to them, they «then became disbelievers as a result of that» as the Prophet (ﷺ) said in the ṣaḥeeḥ hadith:

«Whatever I forbid you to do, then avoid it, and whatever I instruct you to do, then do as much of it as you can, for those who came before you were doomed because of their asking too many questions and their differences with their Prophets.» (Bukhari and Muslim)<sup>6</sup>

It is rare, but it does happen that a hadith is not verifiable within the timeframe of researching and editing the book. In that case, a decision is made by the editorial board as to whether or not to include the hadith. It is IIPH's policy not to include weak hadiths or fabricated (fake) hadiths in our publications. If a weak hadith is included in any text, it is only because the author of the book discusses it as a weak hadith. (Editor)

﴿مَا جَعَلَ اللَّهُ مِنْ مِجْرَةٍ وَلَا سَائِبَةٍ وَلَا وَصِيلَةٍ وَلَا حَامٍ وَلَكِنَّ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا يَفْتَرُونَ عَلَى اللَّهِ الْكَذِبَ وَكَرَّهُمْ لَا يَعْقِلُونَ ﴿١٠٣﴾ وَإِذَا قِيلَ لَهُمْ تَعَالَوْا إِلَى مَا أَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ وَإِلَى الرَّسُولِ قَالُوا حَسْبُنَا مَا وَجَدْنَا عَلَيْهِ آبَاءَنَا أُولَئِكَ كَانُوا لَیَعْلَمُونَ شَيْئًا وَلَا يَتَذَكَّرُونَ ﴿١٠٤﴾﴾ (سورة المائدة: ١٠٣-١٠٤)

- 5:103. Allah did not ordain any such thing as the baḥeerah, sā'ibah, waṣeelah or ḥām.<sup>7</sup> Rather those who disbelieve fabricate lies against Allah, and most of them do not understand.
- 5:104. And when it is said to them: Come to the Revelation that Allah has sent down, and to the Messenger, they say: Sufficient for us is what we found our forefathers following. [Would they do that] even though their forefathers did not know anything and were not guided?

Here Allah criticises the polytheists who introduced rulings into their religion for which Allah did not give permission: they prohibited that which Allah had permitted, regarding some of their livestock animals as unlawful on the basis of their own corrupt ideas.

«Allah did not ordain any such thing as the baḥeerah» this was a she-camel whose ears they slit; it was forbidden to ride it, and they regarded it as something to be venerated

<sup>7</sup> These words refer to certain categories of camels to which certain taboos were applied during the jāhiliyah.

Baḥeerah: a she-camel whose milk was dedicated to the idols.

Sā'ibah: a she-camel that was let loose for the sake of their false gods and no load was to be carried on it.

Waṣeelah: a she-camel that produced female offspring the first and second times she gave birth, with no male offspring in between; she was also let loose for the sake of the idols.

Ḥām: a stallion camel that was let loose for the sake of the idols after siring a particular number of offspring, and was not required to carry any load.

﴿sâ'ibah﴾ this refers to a she-camel, cow or ewe; when it reached a certain age, they let it loose, so it would not be ridden or made to carry loads, and it would not be eaten. One of them would make a vow whereby some of his property would be made a sâ'ibah.

﴿or hām﴾ this was a he-camel that was not to be ridden or made to carry loads after it reached a certain stage, which was known to them. All of these are taboos which the polytheists introduced with no proof or evidence; rather they were fabrications against Allah that stemmed from their ignorance and lack of reasoning. Hence Allah said: ﴿Rather those who disbelieve fabricate lies against Allah, and most of them do not understand﴾, because there is no text or rational reason to justify it. Yet despite that they admired their opinions that were based on ignorance and wrongdoing.

And when they are called ﴿to the Revelation that Allah has sent down, and to the Messenger﴾, they turn away and do not accept it and ﴿they say: Sufficient for us is what we found our forefathers following﴾ of religion, even if it is not right and is not a religion that will save us from the punishment of Allah.

If there had been any people of maturity, knowledge and understanding among their forefathers, the matter would be less serious; but their forefathers did not understand anything. In other words, they had no rational thought at all, and had no knowledge or guidance whatsoever. May he perish, the one who imitates someone who has no sound knowledge or mature thinking, and fails to follow that which Allah has sent down or to follow His Messengers, which fills people's hearts with knowledge, faith, guidance and certainty.

﴿يَأْتِيهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا عَلَيْكُمْ أَنفُسَكُمْ لَا يَضُرُّكُمْ مَن ضَلَّ إِذَا اهْتَدَيْتُمْ ؕ إِلَى اللَّهِ مَرْجِعُكُمْ جَمِيعًا فَيُنَبِّئُكُمْ بِمَا كُنتُمْ تَعْمَلُونَ ﴿١٥﴾﴾ (سورة المائدة: ١٠٥)

5:105. O you who believe, take care of your own selves. If anyone else goes astray it will not harm you so long as you follow true guidance. To Allah you will all return, then He will inform you about what you used to do.

«O you who believe, take care of your own selves» that is, strive to improve yourselves and perfect yourselves, and to make yourselves adhere to the straight path, for if you follow the straight path, you will not be harmed by those who go astray therefrom and are not guided to the true religion, for they only harm themselves.

This does not mean that if a person fails or neglects to enjoin what is right and forbid what is wrong, it does not matter, because his guidance cannot be complete unless he does what he is obliged to do of enjoining what is right and forbidding what is wrong. But if he is not able to denounce evil by taking action, speaking out, or at least hating it in his heart, then the going astray of others will not harm him.

«To Allah you will all return» – this refers to your final destination on the Day of Resurrection, when you will all be gathered together before Allah (۞)

«then He will inform you about what you used to do» of good and evil.

 اللَّهُ وَأَسْمَعُوا وَاللَّهُ لَا يَهْدِي الْقَوْمَ الْفَاسِقِينَ ﴿١٠٨﴾ (سورة المائدة: ١٠٦-١٠٨)

- 5:106. O you who believe, when death approaches any of you, let two just men from among you act as witnesses when you make your bequest, or two men from other people if you are travelling in the land and the calamity of death overtakes you. If you have any doubts, detain them after the prayer and let them both swear by Allah: We will not trade our testimony for any price, even if [the beneficiary] is a near relative; we will not conceal the testimony enjoined by Allah, for then we would surely be among the sinners.
- 5:107. Then if it is discovered that these two committed the sin [of dishonesty], let two others take their place, nearest in kin from among those who claim a lawful right. Let them swear by Allah: Our testimony is truer than their testimony; we have not transgressed, for then we would surely be among the wrongdoers.
- 5:108. That will make it more likely that they will give their testimony properly, or else they will fear that their oaths may be refuted by the oaths of others. Fear Allah and listen, for Allah does not guide the transgressing people.

It is enjoined that two people should witness bequests. If a person realises that his death is imminent, he should write his will and it should be witnessed by two people of good character whose testimony is valid.

﴿or two men from other people﴾ that is, people who do not share your religion, Jews or Christians or others. This applies in cases of need when there are no Muslims present.

﴿if you are travelling in the land and the calamity of death overtakes you﴾ that is, you should ask them to witness; it is only enjoined to ask them to witness because their testimony will be accepted in that situation, and it is reiterated that they should be detained (to give testimony) ﴿after the prayer﴾ that they venerate.

﴿and let them both swear by Allah﴾ that they are telling the truth and have not changed anything. This applies ﴿If you have any doubts﴾ about the testimony. However, if you believe them, then there is no need for this oath.

Let them say ﴿We will not trade our testimony﴾ that is, our oath ﴿for any price﴾ that is, we will not lie about it for the purpose of worldly gain

﴿even if [the beneficiary] is a near relative﴾ that is, we are not paying attention to him because he is a relative (and we will not alter the testimony for his sake)

﴿we will not conceal the testimony enjoined by Allah﴾; rather we give testimony on the basis of what we heard

﴿for then﴾ if we concealed it ﴿we would surely be among the sinners﴾.

﴿Then if it is discovered that these two﴾ namely the two witnesses ﴿committed the sin [of dishonesty]﴾ that is, if any indication is found that they lied or gave false testimony

﴿let two others take their place, nearest in kin from among those who claim a lawful right﴾ that is, let two men among the next of kin of the deceased come forward; they should be among those who are most closely related to him

﴿Let them swear by Allah: Our testimony is truer than their testimony﴾ that is, they lied and changed their testimony

﴿we have not transgressed, for then we would surely be among the wrongdoers﴾ that is, if we did wrong and transgressed and gave false testimony.

Allah (ﷻ) says, explaining the wisdom behind this testimony, confirming it and referring it to the next of kin of the deceased if it becomes clear that the witnesses are lying: ﴿That will make it more likely that they will give their testimony properly», when all of this confirmation is required

«or else they will fear that their oaths may be refuted by the oaths of others» that is, they will fear that their oaths will not be accepted, then the matter will be referred to the next of kin of the deceased.

«for Allah does not guide the transgressing people» that is, those whose characteristic is transgression, for they do not want to be guided and they are not seeking the straight path.

To sum up, if a person realises that he is dying when travelling or otherwise, in situations where it is likely that there will be few reliable witnesses, he should make his bequest in front of two Muslim witnesses of good character. If there is no one present but two witnesses who are disbelievers, it is permissible for him to make his bequest in front of them, but if the next of kin have doubts because of their not being Muslim, then he should ask them to swear an oath after the prayer that they are not lying and have not changed anything. Thus they will prove that they are telling the truth. But if they still do not believe them and they find any indication that the witnesses are lying, then if desired, two of the next of kin of the deceased may take their place and swear by Allah that their testimony is more true than the testimony of the first two witnesses, and that the latter have been dishonest and told lies. Thus they will be qualified to take from them what they are claiming.

These verses were revealed concerning the well-known story of Tameem ad-Dâri and 'Adiy ibn Bada', when al-'Adawi gave his bequest to them. And Allah knows best.

These verses are quoted as evidence for a number of rulings, including the following:

- That it is prescribed to make a bequest or will, and that the one who is dying should make a bequest.

- The will is to be accepted as valid, even if the individual reached the point where he was about to die, so long as he was still thinking clearly.
- The will should be witnessed by two men of good character.
- The testimony of disbelievers may be accepted concerning wills and the like in cases of necessity. This is the view of Imam Ahmad. Many of the scholars stated that this ruling is abrogated, but there is no basis for this claim. It may be understood from this that the testimony of disbelievers – when no one else is available, even in other issues – is acceptable, as was the view of Shaykh al-Islam Ibn Taymiyah.
- It is permissible for a Muslim to travel with a disbeliever, if there are no reservations or risks. It is permissible to travel for the purpose of trade or business.
- If there is any doubt about the two witnesses, but there is nothing to indicate dishonesty on their part, and the next of kin want them to swear an oath, they may detain them after the prayer, and they should swear an oath in the manner described here.
- If there are no doubts or suspicion, there is no need to detain them or force them to give an oath.
- Giving testimony is a serious matter, as Allah (ﷻ) has enjoined it; it is essential to pay attention to this matter and give testimony on the basis of fairness.
- It is permissible to test witnesses if there is any doubt concerning them, and to separate them in order to examine their testimony.
- If there is anything to suggest that the witnesses are lying concerning this matter, two of the deceased's next of kin should come forward and swear by Allah, saying: Our oath is more true than theirs, and they have broken the trust and lied. Then what they claim should be given to them, and that indication, plus their oath, takes the place of proof.

﴿يَوْمَ يَجْمَعُ اللَّهُ الرُّسُلَ فَيَقُولُ مَاذَا أُجِبْتُمْ قَالُوا لَا عِلْمَ لَنَا إِنَّكَ أَنْتَ عَلَّمَهُ﴾
 الْغُيُوبِ ﴿١٠٩﴾ إِذْ قَالَ اللَّهُ يَٰعِيسَى ابْنَ مَرْيَمَ اذْكُرْ نِعْمَتِي عَلَيْكَ وَعَلَىٰ وَلَدِكَ

 فَقَالَ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا مِنْهُمْ إِنْ هَٰذَا إِلَّا سِحْرٌ مُّؤْتٍ ﴿١١٠﴾ (سورة المائدة: ١٠٩-١١٠)

- 5:109. On the day when Allah gathers the Messengers together and says: What response did you receive? they will say: We have no knowledge; verily You alone are the Knower of the unseen.
- 5:110. Then Allah will say: O 'Eesâ son of Maryam, remember the blessings which I bestowed upon you and your mother. For I supported you with the Pure Spirit, so that you spoke to the people in the cradle and in maturity. I taught you the scripture and wisdom, the Torah and the Gospel. You made out of clay, as it were, the figure of a bird, and breathed into it, and it became a bird by My leave. You healed those born blind, and the lepers, by My leave, and you brought the dead back to life, by My leave. I restrained the Children of Israel from [harming] you when you brought them the clear signs and the disbelievers among them said: This is obviously nothing but magic!

Here Allah tells us about the Day of Resurrection and what will happen on it of great, terrifying events. Allah will gather together the Messengers and ask them: ﴿What response did you receive?﴾ That is, how did your nations respond to you?

﴿they will say: We have no knowledge﴾; rather all knowledge is Yours, O our Lord, for You are more knowledgeable than us

﴿verily You alone are the Knower of the unseen﴾ that is, You know all things, unseen and seen.

﴿Then Allah will say: O 'Eesâ son of Maryam, remember the blessings which I bestowed upon you and your mother﴾ that is, remember it in your heart and verbally, and fulfil the obligation of giving thanks to your Lord, because He blessed you in ways in which He did not bless others.

﴿For I supported you with the Pure Spirit﴾ that is, I strengthened you with the Spirit and with revelation, which purified you and gave you strength to fulfil the command of Allah and call people to His way. It was also suggested that what is meant by the Pure Spirit is Jibreel ('alayhi as-salâm – peace be upon him), and that Allah helped him by causing him to stay by his side and give him support in difficult situations.

﴿so that you spoke to the people in the cradle and in maturity﴾. What is meant by speaking here is something other than ordinary speech which is merely speaking words. Rather what is meant here is that speaking which benefits both the speaker and the listener, namely calling to Allah.

In this regard 'Eesâ (ﷺ), like his fellow Messengers of strong resolve, spoke in maturity, conveying the message, calling people to good and speaking out against evil. But he differed from them in that he also spoke to the people in the cradle, and said:

﴿...Verily, I am a slave of Allah; He has given me the Book and made me a Prophet. He has made me blessed wherever I may be, and has enjoined on me prayer and zakâh as long as I live.﴾ (Maryam 19: 30-31)

﴿I taught you the scripture and wisdom﴾. The scripture includes the previous Books, especially the Torah. He was the most knowledgeable of the Israelite Prophets – after Moosâ – of the Torah. It also includes the Gospel which Allah sent down to him.

Wisdom refers to knowledge of the subtle wisdom and benefits of laws, calling people and teaching them in a good manner, as well as paying attention to that to which attention must be paid, to the extent that is appropriate.

﴿You made out of clay, as it were, the figure of a bird﴾ that is, the shape of a bird with no soul in it, then you breathed into it, and it became a bird by Allah's leave. And you healed those born blind, who cannot see and have no eyes.

﴿and the lepers, by My leave, and you brought the dead back to life, by My leave﴾. These were clear signs and dazzling miracles that cannot be achieved by doctors and the like. Allah supported 'Eesâ with these signs and strengthened his call thereby.

﴿I restrained the Children of Israel from [harming] you when you brought them the clear signs and the disbelievers among them said﴾ when the truth came to them, supported by clear signs that would compel one to believe in it ﴿This is obviously nothing but magic!﴾.

They wanted to kill 'Eesâ, and they tried hard to do that, but Allah restrained them from harming him and protected him from them.

These are blessings that Allah bestowed upon His slave and Messenger 'Eesâ ibn Maryam, and He called upon him to give thanks for them and fulfil his duties, which he did in the best possible manner, and he was patient and steadfast just as his fellow Messengers of strong resolve were.

﴿وَإِذْ أَوْحَيْتُ إِلَى الْحَوَارِيِّينَ أَنْ آمِنُوا بِي وَبِرَسُولِي قَالُوا آمَنَّا وَاشْهَدْ بِأَنَّا مُسْلِمُونَ ١١١﴾ إِذْ قَالَ الْحَوَارِيُّونَ يَٰعِيسَى ابْنَ مَرْيَمَ هَلْ يَسْتَطِيعُ رَبُّكَ أَنْ يُنْزِلَ عَلَيْنَا مَائِدَةً مِنَ السَّمَاءِ قَالَ اتَّقُوا اللَّهَ إِنْ كُنْتُمْ مُؤْمِنِينَ ١١٢﴾ قَالُوا نُرِيدُ أَنْ نَأْكُلَ مِنْهَا وَنَحْمِلَ قُلُوبَنَا وَنَعْلَمَ أَنْ قَدْ صَدَّقْتَنَا وَنَكُونَ عَلَيْهَا مِنَ الشَّاهِدِينَ

- 5:111. And [remember] when I inspired the disciples to believe in Me and in My Messenger; they said: We believe. Bear witness that we submit to Allah [as Muslims].
- 5:112. And [remember] when the disciples said: O 'Eesâ son of Maryam, can your Lord send down to us a table [spread with food] from heaven? 'Eesâ said: Fear Allah, if you are [truly] believers.
- 5:113. They said: We want to eat from it and let our hearts be reassured, and to know that you have indeed told us the truth, and to be witnesses thereof [of this miracle].
- 5:114. 'Eesâ son of Maryam said: O Allah our Lord, send down to us from heaven a table [spread with food], so that it might be a festival for us, for all our generations present and future, and a sign from You; and grant us provision, for You are the best of providers.
- 5:115. Allah said: I will send it down to you, but if anyone among you disbelieves after that, I will punish him with a punishment the like of which I will never inflict upon anyone else in the world.

That is, remember the blessing that I bestowed upon you, when I caused people to follow you and help you, and I inspired the disciples and instilled in their hearts faith in Me and belief in My Messenger, or I sent inspiration to them on your lips – that is, I commanded them by means of the revelation that came to you from Allah, and they responded to that and submitted, and they said: We believe in Allah; bear witness that we are Muslims.

Thus they combined outward Islam, submission and righteous deeds with inward faith that brings one forth from hypocrisy and weakness of faith.

The disciples were helpers, as Allah (ﷻ) tells us:

﴿O you who believe, be [steadfast] supporters of Allah's cause, as 'Eesâ son of Maryam said to the disciples: Who will be my supporters in Allah's cause? The disciples said: We are the supporters of Allah's cause...﴾ (as-Saff 61: 14)

﴿And [remember] when the disciples said: O 'Eesâ son of Maryam, can your Lord send down to us a table [spread with food] from heaven?﴾ That is, a table on which there was food. This did not stem from any doubt on their part in the power of Allah or His ability to do that. Rather it was by way of a polite request.

Because asking for signs and miracles by way of a challenge is contrary to true faith, these words of the disciples may give the impression that it was a challenge. Hence 'Eesâ (ﷺ) rebuked them and said: ﴿Fear Allah, if you are [truly] believers﴾. For the faith of the believer makes him constantly fear Allah and comply with Allah's commands, so he does not demand signs of which he does not know what the consequences will be.

But the disciples stated that their intention was not like that; rather their intention was good, because there was a need for that. Hence ﴿They said: We want to eat from it﴾ – this indicates that they needed it ﴿and let our hearts be reassured﴾ with faith, when we see the sign with our own eyes. Thus faith will be based on certainty of sight, just as before that it was based on certainty of knowledge. That is similar to the case when Ibrâheem al-Khaleel (ﷺ) asked his Lord to show him how He will raise the dead:

﴿...He replied: Do you not believe then? He said: Yes of course, but just to reassure my heart...﴾ (al-Baqarah 2: 260)

People need to increase their knowledge, certainty and faith all the time; hence they said: ﴿and [we want] to know that you have indeed told us the truth﴾ (5: 113). That is, we want to know that what you have brought is indeed true.

﴿and to be witnesses thereof﴾, so that it will serve some interest for those who come after us; we will testify to it for you and thus more proof will be established.

When 'Eesâ (ﷺ) heard that and understood their intention, he responded to their request by saying: ﴿O Allah our Lord, send down to us from heaven a table [spread with food], so that it might be a festival for us, for all our generations present and future, and a sign from You﴾ that is, so that the time of its descent may be a festival and special occasion, commemorating this great sign, so that it will be remembered and not forgotten with the passage of time.

By the same token, Allah (ﷻ) has made the festivals and special occasions of the Muslims a commemoration of His signs and a reminder of the way of the Messengers, their straight path and His bounty and grace towards them.

﴿and grant us provision, for You are the best of providers﴾ that is, make it provision for us.

'Eesâ (ﷺ) asked for it to be sent down so that it would serve these two purposes: the religious purpose of being an abiding sign and the worldly purpose of bringing provision.

﴿Allah said: I will send it down to you, but if anyone among you disbelieves after that, I will punish him with a punishment the like of which I will never inflict upon anyone else in the world﴾ because he is witnessing this marvellous sign, yet he disbelieves out of stubbornness and wrongdoing; thus he deserves the painful punishment and severe consequences.

It should be understood that although Allah promised to send it down, and He issued this warning to them if they did not believe,

He did not say that He sent it down. It may be that He did not send it down because they decided not to choose that. This is indicated by the fact that there is no mention of it in the Gospel that the Christians have. Or it may be that it was sent down as Allah promised, for Allah does not break His promises, and the fact that it is not mentioned in the Gospel that they have is because it was part of the portion that they forgot. Or it may be that it was not mentioned in the Gospel at all; rather that was something that was passed down verbally from one generation to another, therefore there was no need for Allah to mention it in the Gospel. This interpretation is supported by the words ﴿and to be witnesses thereof﴾ (5: 113). And Allah knows best exactly what happened.

- 5:116. When Allah says: O 'Eesâ son of Maryam, did you say to people: Take me and my mother as two gods besides Allah? He ['Eesâ] will say: Glory be to You! It is not proper for me to say that which I have no right [to say]. If I had said it, You would surely have known it. You know all that I know, whereas I do not know what You know. Verily You alone are the Knower of the unseen.

- 5:117. I said nothing to them except that which You commanded me [to say]: Worship Allah, my Lord and your Lord. I watched over them whilst I was amongst them, then when You took me up to You, You [alone] were the Watcher over them, and You are Witness over all things.
- 5:118. If You punish them, they are indeed Your slaves; if you forgive them, verily You are the Almighty, the Most Wise.
- 5:119. Allah will say: This is the day when the truthful will benefit from their truthfulness; theirs will be gardens through which rivers flow, to abide therein forever. Allah is pleased with them and they are pleased with Him. And that will be the supreme triumph.
- 5:120. To Allah belongs the dominion of the heavens and the earth and all that is in them, and He has power over all things.

This is a rebuke to the Christians who said that Allah was the third of three (trinity). Allah mentioned this to 'Eesâ, who disavowed their view and said: ﴿Glory be to You!﴾; may You be exalted far above this reprehensible notion and above that which is not befitting to You. ﴿It is not proper for me to say that which I have no right [to say]﴾ that is, I should not, and it is not befitting for me, to say something that I am not qualified to say. No created being, neither the angels who are close to Allah nor the Prophets who were sent nor anyone else, has the right or is qualified to be regarded as divine. Rather they are all slaves under control, and poor creatures who are subjugated, dependent and helpless.

﴿If I had said it, You would surely have known it. You know all that I know, whereas I do not know what You know﴾ for You know best what I did ﴿Verily You alone are the Knower of the unseen﴾. This is an example of the Messiah's perfect etiquette in addressing his Lord. He will not say "I said no such thing"; rather he states that he never said anything contrary to his role as a Messenger, and that this is something impossible, and he declares his Lord to be completely above that and refers knowledge to the Knower of the unseen and the seen.

Then he states clearly what he told the Children of Israel:

﴿I said nothing to them except that which You commanded me [to say]﴾; I was merely a slave following Your instructions, and not challenging Your divinity.

﴿Worship Allah, my Lord and your Lord﴾ that is, I instructed them only to worship Allah alone and be sincerely devoted to Him alone, which implies a prohibition on taking me and my mother as two gods besides Allah. It is also a statement that I am a slave under control; just as He is your Lord, He is also my Lord.

﴿I watched over them whilst I was amongst them﴾ that is, witnessing those who followed this command and those who did not ﴿then when You took me up to You, You [alone] were the Watcher over them﴾ that is, You were aware of what was in their hearts and minds ﴿and You are Witness over all things﴾, for You know, hear and see all things; Your knowledge, hearing and vision encompass all that exists, and You will requite Your slaves on the basis of what you know of them, both good and bad.

﴿If You punish them, they are indeed Your slaves﴾ and You are more merciful towards them than they are to themselves, and You know best about their circumstances. If they were not rebellious, You would not punish them.

﴿if you forgive them, verily You are the Almighty, the Most Wise﴾ that is, Your forgiveness stems from Your complete might and power; this is not like one who forgives and overlooks because he is incapable and has no power, because it is by Your wisdom that You forgive the one who takes measures that make him qualified for forgiveness.

«Allah will say» explaining the situation of His slaves on the Day of Resurrection, and who among them will triumph and who will be doomed, who will be wretched and who will be blessed: «This is the day when the truthful will benefit from their truthfulness». The truthful are the ones who were righteous in word and deed, whose intentions were in accordance with the straight path and true guidance. On the Day of Resurrection they will reap the fruits of that truthfulness, when Allah causes them to be honourably seated in the presence of a Mighty Sovereign (cf. 54: 55). Hence Allah says «theirs will be gardens through which rivers flow, to abide therein forever. Allah is pleased with them and they are pleased with Him. And that will be the supreme triumph». And the liars will have the opposite outcome: they will suffer the harmful consequences of their lies and fabrications, and they will reap the evil fruits of their actions.

«To Allah belongs the dominion of the heavens and the earth» because He is their Creator and He controls them by His will and decree. Hence He says: «and He has power over all things». Nothing is beyond Him; rather all things are subject to His will and command.

This is the end of the commentary on Soorat al-Mā'idah.

All praise and thanks are for Allah, and may the blessings and peace of Allah be upon Prophet Muhammad (ﷺ), his family, and his Companions abundantly until the Day of Judgement.

بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ

*In the name of Allah,
the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful*

﴿الْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ الَّذِي خَلَقَ السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضَ وَجَعَلَ الظُّلُمَاتِ وَالنُّورَ ثُمَّ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا
بِرَبِّهِمْ يُعَذِّبُونَ﴾ ﴿١﴾ هُوَ الَّذِي خَلَقَكُمْ مِنْ طِينٍ ثُمَّ قَضَىٰ أَجَلًا وَأَجَلٌ مُّسَمًّى عِنْدَهُ
ثُمَّ أَنْتُمْ تَمْتَرُونَ ﴿٢﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ١-٢)

- 6:1. Praise be to Allah, Who created the heavens and the earth, and made the darkness and the light. Yet those who disbelieve ascribe equals to their Lord.
- 6:2. He it is Who created you from clay, then He decreed a term for you [in this world], and another [in the hereafter] known only to Him. Yet still you doubt.

Here Allah tells us that He is to be praised for His perfect attributes, for His greatness and majesty in general and for the attributes mentioned here in particular. He praises Himself for creating the heavens and the earth, which are indicative of His perfect might, and for His vast knowledge and mercy, His immense wisdom, for His uniqueness in possessing the power of creation and control, and for creating darkness and light.

That includes all that is visible or tangible, such as night and day, sun and moon, as well as all that is metaphorical or intangible, such as the darkness of ignorance, doubt, polytheism, sin and heedlessness, and the light of knowledge, faith, certainty and obedience.

All of that offers definitive proof that He, may He be exalted, is the only One Who is deserving of worship and sincere devotion.

Yet despite that clear evidence and proof, ﴿those who disbelieve ascribe equals to their Lord﴾ that is, they associate others with Him and they worship and venerate them equally alongside Him, even though they do not believe them to be equal to Allah in any aspect of perfection; rather they are weak and helpless, lacking in all regards.

﴿He it is Who created you from clay﴾ that is, when He created your substance and created your father Adam (ﷺ)

﴿then He decreed a term for you [in this world]﴾ that is, He ordained the duration of your stay in this world, during which you would enjoy its delights and be tried and tested by means of what He sent to you of His Messengers:

﴿...so that He may test you [and see] which of you is best in conduct...﴾ (al-Mulk 67: 2)

– and He granted life long enough for anyone who was going to pay heed to do so.

﴿and another [in the hereafter] known only to Him﴾ that is, the hereafter, to which people move from this world, where He will requite them for their deeds, good and bad.

﴿Yet﴾ despite this explanation and definitive proof, ﴿still you doubt﴾ that is, you doubt the promise and threat of Allah, and the requital of deeds on the Day of Resurrection.

Allah mentions darkness [in (6: 1)] in the plural (in the original Arabic, dhulumât) because there are so many different types of darkness. But He mentions light in the singular, because the path that leads to Allah is one, not many. It is the path that requires knowledge of the truth and acting upon it, as He says:

﴿Verily, this is My path, leading straight; follow it, and do not follow [other] paths, lest they cause you to deviate from His path...﴾ (al-An'âm 6: 153)

﴿وَهُوَ اللَّهُ فِي السَّمَوَاتِ وَفِي الْأَرْضِ يَعْلَمُ سِرَّكُمْ وَجَهْرَكُمْ وَيَعْلَمُ مَا تَكْسِبُونَ﴾

(سورة الأنعام: ٣)

- 6:3. He is Allah [the only One to be worshipped] in the heavens and on earth. He knows what you conceal and what you disclose, and He knows what you earn.

That is, He is the only one to be worshipped in the heavens and on earth. The inhabitants of the heavens and the earth – the angels who are close to Him, the Prophets, the Messengers, the ṣiddeeqoon, the martyrs and the righteous – are slaves to their Lord, subjugated to His greatness, and submitting to His might and majesty.

He knows what you conceal and what you disclose, and He knows what you earn, so beware of disobeying Him, strive hard to do righteous deeds that will bring you closer to Him and bring you nearer to His mercy, and beware of any deed that will take you far away from Him and from His mercy.

﴿وَمَا تَأْتِيهِمْ مِنْ آيَةٍ مِنْ آيَاتِ رَبِّهِمْ إِلَّا كَانُوا عَنْهَا مُعْرِضِينَ﴾ ﴿فَقَدْ كَذَّبُوا بِالْحَقِّ لَمَّا جَاءَهُمْ فَسَوْفَ يَأْتِيهِمْ أَنْبَتُهُمْ مَا كَانُوا بِهِ يَسْتَهْزِءُونَ﴾ ﴿أَلَمْ يَرَوْا كَمْ أَهْلَكْنَا مِنْ قَبْلِهِمْ

مِنْ قَرْنٍ مَكَّنَّاهُمْ فِي الْأَرْضِ مَا لَمْ تُمَكِّنْ لَكُمْ وَأَرْسَلْنَا السَّمَاءَ عَلَيْهِمْ مِدْرَارًا وَجَعَلْنَا
الْأَنْهَارَ تَجْرِي مِنْ تَحْتِهِمْ فَأَهْلَكْنَاهُمْ بِذُنُوبِهِمْ وَأَنْشَأْنَا مِنْ بَعْدِهِمْ قَرْنًا آخَرِينَ ﴿٦﴾
(سورة الأنعام: ٤-٦)

- 6:4. No sign ever comes to them from their Lord but they turn away from it.
- 6:5. Thus they denied the truth when it came to them, but soon they will learn the consequences of their ridicule.
- 6:6. Do they not see how many nations We destroyed before them? [They were] people whom We had made more powerful in the land than We have made you, to whom We sent down abundant rain from the sky, and made rivers flow at their feet. Yet for their sins We destroyed them, and raised up after them other nations.

Here Allah tells us how the polytheists turn away and how intense their rejection and opposition are, and that the signs did not benefit them at all, until the punishment befell them.

﴿No sign ever comes to them from their Lord﴾, pointing definitively to the proof and calling them to follow it and accept it
﴿but they turn away from it﴾ and do not pay attention to it or listen to it, because they are distracted by something else and they turn their backs on it.

﴿Thus they denied the truth when it came to them﴾ – the truth deserves to be followed, and they should have given thanks to Allah for making it available for them and bringing it to them. But they responded with the opposite of what they should have done, thus they deserved the severe punishment.

﴿but soon they will learn the consequences of their ridicule﴾ that is, they will see that what they ridiculed is true, and Allah will highlight to the liars their lies and fabrications, and their ridicule of the resurrection, paradise and hell. Hence, when the Day of Resurrection comes, it will be said to the liars:

﴿...This is the fire which you used to deny.﴾ (al-Toor 52: 14)

And Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿They swear their most solemn oaths by Allah that Allah will not raise up those who die. Nay, it is a promise by which He is bound, but most people do not realize. [They will be raised up] so that He may make clear to them that concerning which they differ, and so that those who disbelieved may realize that they were lying.﴾ (an-Nahl 16: 38-39)

Then Allah instructs them to learn a lesson from the previous nations:

﴿Do they not see how many nations We destroyed before them?﴾ that is, how many successive disbelieving nations We destroyed, and We gave them respite before that, as ﴿[They were] people whom We had made more powerful in the land than﴾ these people, in terms of wealth, sons and a life of ease and luxury.

﴿to whom We sent down abundant rain from the sky, and made rivers flow at their feet﴾ which produced for them whatever Allah willed of crops and fruits, of which they enjoyed and ate whatever they wanted. But they did not give thanks to Allah for His blessings; rather they focused on their whims and desires and were distracted by all kinds of physical pleasure.

The Messengers came to them with clear signs, but they did not believe them; rather they rejected them and denied them. Therefore Allah destroyed them for their sins and raised up ﴿after them other nations﴾.

This is the regular way in which Allah dealt with the earlier and later generations, so learn a lesson from those whose story Allah has told you.

- 6:7. If We had sent down to you [a message] written on paper, and they touched it with their own hands, the disbelievers would still say: This is obviously nothing but magic!
- 6:8. They say: Why has an angel not been sent down to him? If We did send down an angel, that would be the end of the matter and they would be given no respite.
- 6:9. And if We had appointed [as Messenger] an angel, We would have made him appear as a man, and thus We would only have confused them in the same way as they are now confusing themselves.

Here Allah tells His Messenger (ﷺ) how stubborn the disbelievers are, and that their rejection is not because of any shortcoming in the message that you brought, or because they are ignorant of the truth; rather it was based on wrongdoing and stubbornness which you have no power to deal with.

﴿If We had sent down to you [a message] written on paper, and they touched it with their own hands﴾ and became certain of it ﴿the disbelievers﴾ who disbelieved out of defiance and arrogance ﴿would still say: This is obviously nothing but magic!﴾

What greater proof can there be than this clear proof? Yet these abhorrent words are what they say concerning it, for they would reject something that they touched with their own hands, that no one with the slightest intelligence could reject.

﴿They say﴾ that is, they also say, out of stubbornness based on ignorance and lack of rational thinking: ﴿Why has an angel not been sent down to him?﴾, that is: why has not an angel been sent down with Muhammad (ﷺ), to support him and help him in what he is doing. They said this on the grounds that he was human, and that the message of Allah could not come except carried by the hands of the angels.

Allah says, highlighting His mercy and kindness to His slaves, when He sent to them a human Messenger from among their number, so that their faith would be based on knowledge and understanding, and belief in the unseen:

﴿If We did send down an angel﴾ with the message, then faith would not stem from knowledge of the truth, rather it would stem from seeing something visible that is of no use on its own.

That applies if they even believe in the first place. But it is most likely they would not believe, and if they do not believe then the matter is concluded; the punishment will be hastened and they will be granted no respite, because this is the way in which Allah deals with those who demand signs then do not believe.

Therefore sending human Messengers to them with clear signs, which Allah knows is in the best interests of people and is kinder to them, whilst granting respite to the disbelievers and deniers, is better and more beneficial for them.

Their demand for an angel to be sent down is bad for them, if only they knew. Moreover, if an angel were sent down to them, they would not be able to learn from him, for they would not be able to bear that.

﴿And if We had appointed [as Messenger] an angel, We would have made him appear as a man﴾, because wisdom does not dictate otherwise

﴿and thus We would only have confused them in the same way as they are now confusing themselves﴾ that is, the matter would still have been confusing for them, because they confused themselves by basing the matter on this confusing principle, which further obfuscates the truth.

When the truth came to them in the proper manner, that was not conducive to their guidance, although others were guided thereby. That was their fault, as they had closed the gate of guidance to themselves and had opened the gates of misguidance.

﴿وَلَقَدْ أَسْتَهْزِئُ بِرُسُلٍ مِنْ قَبْلِكَ فَحَاقَ بِالَّذِينَ سَخِرُوا مِنْهُمْ مَا كَانُوا بِهِ يَسْتَهْزِئُونَ﴾ ﴿١٠﴾ قُلْ سِيرُوا فِي الْأَرْضِ ثُمَّ أَنْظِرُوا كَيْفَ كَانَ عَاقِبَةُ الْمُكْذِبِينَ ﴿١١﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ١٠-١١)

- 6:10. Indeed Messengers before you were ridiculed, but then those who mocked them were overwhelmed by the very thing [punishment] they used to ridicule.
- 6:11. Say: Travel through the land and see what was the fate of the deniers.

Here Allah consoles His Messenger (ﷺ) and urges him to be patient, and He issues a warning and threat to His enemies:

﴿Indeed Messengers before you were ridiculed﴾ when they brought clear signs to their nations, but they disbelieved them and ridiculed them and what they brought. So Allah destroyed them for that disbelief and rejection, and He requited them with the punishment that they deserved.

﴿but then those who mocked them were overwhelmed by the very thing [punishment] they used to ridicule﴾. So beware – O disbelievers – lest you continue to reject the message and there befall you the same fate as befell them.

If you doubt that, then travel through the land and see what was the fate of the deniers, for you will never find anything but people who were destroyed and nations who were given exemplary punishments. Their dwellings became empty and their land became devoid of any joy. The Sovereign, the Avenger destroyed them and what was left of their structures became a lesson for those who have insight. The kind of travel enjoined here is travel in both a spiritual and physical sense, which will lead to drawing lessons; as for merely looking without learning any lesson, that is of no benefit.

﴿قُلْ لِمَنْ مَا فِي السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ قُلْ لِلَّهِ كُنَّ عَلَى نَفْسِهِ الرَّحْمَةُ لِيَجْمَعَ كُنتُمْ إِلَى يَوْمِ الْقِيَامَةِ لَا رَيْبَ فِيهِ الَّذِينَ خَسِرُوا أَنْفُسَهُمْ فَهُمْ لَا يُؤْمِنُونَ﴾

(سورة الأنعام: ١٢)

- 6:12. Say: To whom belongs all that is in the heavens and on earth?
 Say: To Allah; He has taken it upon Himself to be merciful. He will certainly gather you together on the Day of Resurrection, concerning which there is no doubt. It is those who have lost their own souls who will not believe.

Here Allah says to His Prophet (ﷺ):

﴿Say﴾ to those who ascribe partners to Allah, affirming the concept of Allah's oneness and making it binding upon them to believe in it: ﴿To whom belongs all that is in the heavens and on earth?﴾ that is, who is the Creator and Sovereign of all of that, who is control of it all? ﴿Say﴾ to them: ﴿To Allah﴾. They will affirm that and not deny it, so should they not acknowledge that Allah alone is the sovereign and controller, and should they not devote their worship to Him alone and affirm His oneness?

«He has taken it upon Himself to be merciful» that is, both the upper and lower realms are subject to His dominion and control, and He has extended His mercy and kindness over all of them; He has encompassed them in His mercy and blessings, and He has taken it upon Himself and has decreed for Himself that His mercy should take precedence over His wrath, and that giving is dearer to Him than withholding. Allah has opened the gates of mercy to all of His slaves, unless they close the gates to themselves by sinning; He has called them to His mercy unless they are prevented from seeking it by their sins and faults.

«He will certainly gather you together on the Day of Resurrection, concerning which there is no doubt». This is an oath from Him, and He is the most truthful. He has established clear proof and evidence to that effect, which has reached the point of extreme certainty.

Yet the wrongdoers insisted on rejecting that and denying the power of Allah to resurrect His creation; they persisted in disobedience towards Him and had the audacity to disbelieve in Him. Thus they lose out in this world and in the hereafter, and hence He says: «It is those who have lost their own souls who will not believe».

﴿وَلَهُ مَا سَكَنَ فِي اللَّيْلِ وَالنَّهَارِ ۚ وَهُوَ السَّمِيعُ الْعَلِيمُ﴾ (١٣) قُلْ أَغَيْرَ اللَّهِ اتَّخِذُوا وَلِيًّا فَاطِرِ السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ وَهُوَ يُطْعِمُهُ وَلَا يَطْعَمُهُ قُلْ إِنِّي أُمِرْتُ أَنْ أَكُونَ أَوَّلَ مَنْ أَسْلَمَ وَلَا تَكُونَنَّ مِنَ الْمُشْرِكِينَ (١٤) قُلْ إِنِّي أَخَافُ إِنْ عَصَيْتُ رَبِّي عَذَابَ يَوْمٍ عَظِيمٍ (١٥) مَنْ يُصْرَفْ عَنْهُ يَوْمَئِذٍ فَقَدْ رَحِمْنَاهُ ۚ وَذَلِكَ الْفَوْزُ الْمُبِينُ (١٦) وَإِنْ يَسْأَلْكَ اللَّهُ بَصْرًا فَلَا تَكْشِفْ لَهُ ۖ إِنْ هُوَ إِلَّا هُوَ ۚ وَإِنْ يَمَسُّكَ إِخْتِيارٌ فَهُوَ عَلَى كُلِّ شَيْءٍ قَدِيرٌ (١٧) وَهُوَ الْقَاهِرُ فَوْقَ عِبَادِهِ ۚ وَهُوَ الْحَكِيمُ الْخَبِيرُ (١٨) قُلْ أَيُّ شَيْءٍ أَكْبَرُ شَهَادَةً قُلْ اللَّهُ شَهِيدُ بَيْنِي وَبَيْنَكُمْ وَأُوحِيَ إِلَيَّ هَذَا الْقُرْآنُ لِأُنذِرَكُمْ بِهِ ۖ وَمَنْ يَلْبَغْ أَهْلَكُمْ لَتَشْهَدُونَ أَنْ

 ﴿٢٠﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ١٣-٢٠)

- 6:13. To Him belongs all that takes rest in the night or in the day, and He is the All-Hearing, All-Knowing.
- 6:14. Say: Should I take for my protector anyone other than Allah, the Originator of the heavens and the earth, Who feeds but is not fed? Say: I am commanded to be the first of those who submit to Allah [as Muslims]; and do not be one of those who ascribe partners to Allah.
- 6:15. Say: I fear, if I were to disobey my Lord, the punishment of a momentous day.
- 6:16. Whoever is spared [the punishment] on that day, is the one on whom Allah has bestowed mercy, and that is the clearest triumph.
- 6:17. If Allah afflicts you with harm, none can remove it but He; if He blesses you with good, then He has power over all things.
- 6:18. He is Dominant over His slaves, and He is Most Wise, All-Aware.
- 6:19. Say: Whose testimony carries the most weight? Say: It is Allah's; He is witness between me and you. This Qur'an has been revealed to me so that I may warn thereby you and whomever it reaches. Do you really bear witness that there are other gods besides Allah? Say: I bear no such witness! Say: Verily He is only One God, and I disavow all [the partners] that you ascribe to Him.
- 6:20. Those to whom We gave the scripture know it as they know their own sons. It is those who have lost their own souls who will not believe.

This soorah discusses and affirms the oneness of Allah (tawḥeed) on the basis of rational and textual evidence. Almost the entire soorah speaks of tawḥeed and debates with those who ascribe partners to Allah and disbelieve in His Messenger (ﷺ).

In these verses, Allah states that by means of which His guidance becomes clear and the arguments of those who ascribe partners to Him are defeated.

He tells us that ﴿To Him﴾, may He be exalted, ﴿belongs all that takes rest in the night or in the day﴾. That refers to all created things, humans, jinn, angels, animals and inanimate objects.

All of them are created by Allah and under His control; they are enslaved to and subjugated by their Almighty Lord, the Subduer, the Dominant.

So is it right, on the basis of rational thought or any text, that any of these slaves should worship something that cannot bring him any benefit or ward off any harm, and refrain from devoting his worship to the Creator, the Controller, the Sovereign, Who alone possesses the power to benefit or harm?

Or is it the case that sound rational thinking and sound human nature call one to devote worship and love sincerely to Allah alone, the Lord of the worlds, and focus their fear and hope solely on Him?

﴿the All-Hearing﴾ Who hears all voices, in different languages, expressing all kinds of needs

﴿All-Knowing﴾ Who knows what was and what will be, and what will not happen, and if it were to happen, how it would happen; He is aware of all things, visible and invisible.

﴿Say﴾ to those who ascribe partners to Allah: ﴿Should I take for my protector anyone other than Allah﴾, among these helpless created beings, to help and support me? I will not take anyone other than Him to help and support me, because He is the Originator of the heavens and the earth; He is the One Who created them and controls them.

﴿Who feeds but is not fed﴾ that is, He is the One Who provides for all of creation, but He has no need of them. So how can it be appropriate for me to take as my protector someone other than the Creator, the Provider, Who is free of all wants and is most praiseworthy?

﴿Say: I am commanded to be the first of those who submit to Allah [as Muslims]﴾, affirming His oneness, submitting and obeying Him. I should be the first to do so, by complying with the commands of my Lord.

﴿and do not be one of those who ascribe partners to Allah﴾ that is, I am also forbidden to be one of those who ascribe partners to Allah, either by sharing their beliefs or keeping company with them or meeting up with them. This is the most important of my obligations and duties.

﴿Say: I fear, if I were to disobey my Lord, the punishment of a momentous day﴾ for the sin of ascribing partners to Allah deserves eternity in hell and the wrath of the Almighty, and that day is the day of which one should fear the punishment, because the one who is saved from punishment on that day is the one who is truly fortunate and who has indeed triumphed, just as the one who is not saved from it is the one who is indeed doomed and wretched.

Another proof of His oneness is the fact that He is the only One Who can remove hardship and bring good and ease. Hence He says: ﴿If Allah afflicts you with harm﴾ such as poverty, sickness, hardship, grief, worries and the like ﴿none can remove it but He; if He blesses you with good, then He has power over all things﴾. For He alone is the One Who brings benefit or causes harm, so He alone is deserving of worship and servitude.

﴿He is Dominant over His slaves﴾, so none of them does anything or moves or stays still except by His will. Neither kings nor anyone else can go beyond His control and authority; rather they are controlled and subjugated. As He is the One Who is Dominant and others are dominated, He is the only One Who is deserving of worship.

﴿and He is Most Wise﴾ in what He enjoins and prohibits, in His reward and punishment, in what He creates and decrees

﴿All-Aware﴾ – He knows well what is hidden in people's hearts and minds, and all subtle matters. All of this is indicative of His oneness.

﴿Say﴾ to them – after We have highlighted the path of guidance to them: ﴿Whose testimony carries the most weight﴾ concerning this great principle?

﴿Say: It is Allah's﴾ that is, Allah's testimony carries most weight, for He ﴿is witness between me and you﴾. There is no testimony greater than His, and He testifies for me by means of His approval and His actions; He supports me in what I say to you. This is like the verse in which Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿If he [Muhammad] had falsely attributed something to Us, We would surely have seized him by the right hand, then We would surely have severed his aorta.﴾ (al-Hâqqah 69: 44-46)

Allah is Most Wise, All-Powerful, so it is not befitting His wisdom and might to let one who is lying about Him and claiming that Allah sent him when He did not, or that Allah commanded him to call people when He did not, and that Allah permitted him to fight those who oppose him, get carried away (and not seize or punish him). Yet He confirms that he is speaking the truth by allowing him to carry on and by supporting him in what he says by means of dazzling miracles and clear signs, and He helps him and causes the efforts of those who oppose him to end in failure. What testimony could be greater than this testimony?

﴿This Qur'an has been revealed to me so that I may warn thereby you and whomever it reaches﴾ that is, Allah has revealed the noble Qur'an to me for your benefit and in your best interests, so that I can warn you thereby of the painful punishment. This mention of the punishment serves to both encourage and alarm, and explains the actions and words, both visible and hidden, which – if a person does them – he is regarded as having paid heed to the warning.

This Qur'an contains a warning to those who were addressed initially and all those whom it will reach until the Day of Resurrection. It mentions everything that Allah wants from His slaves.

Having explained His testimony, which is the greatest testimony to His oneness, Allah then says: Say to these people who oppose the word of Allah and reject His Messengers: ﴿Do you really bear witness that there are other gods besides Allah? Say: I bear no such witness!﴾ that is, if they testify to that effect, do not testify with them.

This highlights the contrast between the testimony of the most truthful of those who speak the truth, namely the Lord of the worlds and of the best of His creation (the Prophet ﷺ), which is supported by definitive proof and strong arguments that Allah is One with no partner or associate, and the testimony of the polytheists who lost their reasoning, whose religion is mixed up, whose morals and manners are corrupted and who made a laughing stock of themselves before the people of sound reasoning.

Indeed, by their testimony they have gone against their sound human nature and they express contradictory views in their attempt to prove that there are other gods besides Allah, even though their arguments are very flimsy and cannot prove anything.

Choose for yourself which of the two testimonies you want, if you understand; we choose for ourselves that which Allah chose for His Prophet (ﷺ), whose example He instructed us to follow, as He said: ﴿Say: Verily He is only One God﴾ that is, unique, and no one deserves servitude and worship except Him, as He is the only Creator and controller.

﴿and I disavow all [the partners] that you ascribe to Him﴾, such as the idols and rivals, and everything that you ascribe as a partner to Allah. This is the reality of tawḥīd, affirming the divinity of Allah and rejecting such claims for all others.

Having explained His testimony and that of His Messenger (ﷺ) for His oneness, and the testimony of the polytheists whose argument cannot prove the opposite, Allah then tells us that the People of the Book, namely the Jews and Christians, «know it» that is, they acknowledge the truth of tawḥeed «as they know their own sons» that is, they have no reason to doubt, just as they would have no reason to doubt their own children, especially the sons who usually stay by their fathers' side.

Or it may be that the pronoun refers to the Messenger Muhammad (ﷺ), and the People of the Book have no doubt as to the truth of his message, and they are not confused about it, because they have prophecies which foretold his coming and gave a description which fits him and no one else. The two interpretations are interconnected.

«It is those who have lost their own souls» that is, they have missed out on the purpose for which they were created, namely faith and affirmation of the oneness of Allah, and they have deprived themselves of the bounty of the Most Glorious Sovereign «who will not believe» as they have no faith, so do not ask about the loss and evil consequences that befall them.

﴿وَمَنْ أَظْلَمُ مِمَّنِ افْتَرَىٰ عَلَى اللَّهِ كَذِبًا أَوْ كَذَّبَ بِآيَاتِهِ إِنَّهُ لَا يُفْلِحُ الظَّالِمُونَ﴾ (سورة

الأنعام: ٢١)

6:21. Who does greater evil than he who fabricates lies against Allah, or denies His revelations? Verily the wrongdoers will never prosper.

That is, no one does greater evil or is more stubborn than one who possesses either of these two attributes, so how about if they are combined, both fabricating lies against Allah and denying His revelations which were brought by the Messengers? Indeed such a person is the worst of wrongdoers, and wrongdoers never prosper.

This includes everyone who fabricates lies against Allah by claiming that He has a partner or helper, or claims that someone else should be worshipped instead of Him, or ascribes to Him a wife or son. It also includes all those who reject the truth which was brought by the Messengers or those who acted in their stead.

﴿وَيَوْمَ نَحْشُرُهُمْ جَمِيعًا ثُمَّ نَقُولُ لِلَّذِينَ أَشْرَكُوا إِنَّا سُرَّكَاوُكُمْ الَّذِينَ كُنْتُمْ تَزْعُمُونَ ﴿٢٢﴾ ثُمَّ لَمْ تَكُنْ فَتَنْتَهُمْ إِلَّا أَنْ قَالُوا وَاللَّهِ رَبَّنَا مَا كُنَّا مُشْرِكِينَ ﴿٢٣﴾ أَنْظِرْ كَيْفَ كَذَبُوا عَلَى أَنْفُسِهِمْ وَضَلَّ عَنْهُمْ مَا كَانُوا يَفْتَرُونَ ﴿٢٤﴾﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٢٢-٢٤)

- 6:22. On the day when We gather them all together, We will say to those who ascribed partners [to Us]: Where are the partners whom you claimed [to be equal to Allah]?
- 6:23. Then they will have no excuse but to say: By Allah, our Lord, we never ascribed any partners [to Allah].
- 6:24. See how they will lie against themselves. And the [false gods] of their own invention will be lost from them.

Here Allah tells us of the fate of the polytheists on the Day of Resurrection; they will be questioned and rebuked, and it will be said to them: «Where are the partners whom you claimed [to be equal to Allah]?» Allah has no partner; rather they said that by way of a claim and a fabrication.

«Then they will have no excuse but to say: By Allah, our Lord, we never ascribed any partners [to Allah]» When they are tested with that question, they will have no response but to deny that they ascribed partners to Allah and swear that they were not polytheists.

«See» – this is indicative of astonishment at them and their situation

«how they will lie against themselves» that is, they told a lie that will result in loss and great harm to themselves

«And the [false gods] of their own invention will be lost from them» – this refers to the partners that they claimed existed besides Allah, exalted be Allah far above that.

وَمِنْهُمْ مَّن يَسْتَمِعُ إِلَيْكَ وَجَعَلْنَا عَلَى قُلُوبِهِمْ أَكِنَّةً أَنْ يَفْقَهُوهُ وَفِي آذَانِهِمْ وَقْرًا وَإِنْ يَرَوْا
كُلَّ آيَةٍ لَا يُؤْمِنُوا بِهَا حَتَّى إِذَا جَاءُوكَ يُجَادِلُونَكَ يَقُولُ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا إِنْ هَذَا إِلَّا أَسَاطِيرُ
الْأَوَّلِينَ ﴿٢٥﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٢٥)

- 6:25. Among them are some who listen to you, but We have placed covers on their hearts so that they will not understand it, and deafness in their ears. Even if they saw every sign, they would not believe in them. When they come to you to argue with you, those who disbelieve say: These are nothing but tales of the ancients.

That is, some of the polytheists are people who sometimes, for some reason, find themselves listening to what you say, but it is listening that is devoid of any quest for the truth. Hence they do not benefit from that listening, because they are not seeking to follow what is right.

«but We have placed covers on their hearts» that is, so that they will not understand the word of Allah; He has protected His word from such people

«and deafness in their ears» that is, We have placed deafness in their ears, so that they do not listen to that which would benefit them.

«Even if they saw every sign they would not believe in them» – this is the utmost wrongdoing and stubbornness, when there are clear signs that point to the truth, but they do not accept them or believe them; rather they argue on the basis of falsehood, seeking to refute the truth.

Hence Allah says: «When they come to you to argue with you, those who disbelieve say: These are nothing but tales of the ancients» that is, taken from the books of the earlier peoples which were not from Allah or from His Messengers. That is due to their disbelief, otherwise how could this Book, which contains stories of the earlier and later peoples, and truths brought by the Prophets and Messengers, and words of truth, fairness and justice, that is perfect in all aspects, be tales of the ancients?

﴿وَهُمْ يَنْهَوْنَ عَنْهُ وَيَنْتَوُونَ عَنْهُ وَإِنْ يُهْلِكُونَ إِلَّا أَنْفُسَهُمْ وَمَا يَشْعُرُونَ﴾ (سورة

الأنعام: ٢٦)

- 6:26. They prevent others from [following] him [the Prophet (ﷺ)] and they keep away from him themselves, but they only destroy their own souls, although they do not realise it.

This refers to those who ascribe partners to Allah and disbelieve in His Messenger (ﷺ). They both go astray and lead others astray; they forbid people to follow the truth, and they warn against it whilst keeping away from it themselves. They will never harm Allah or His believing slaves in the slightest by their action.

«but they only destroy their own souls, although they do not realise it».

﴿وَلَوْ تَرَىٰ إِذْ وَقَعُوا عَلَى النَّارِ فَقَالُوا يَلَيْتُنَا نُرَدُّ وَلَا نَكْذِبُ بِآيَاتِ رَبِّنَا وَنَكُونُ مِنَ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ ﴿٢٧﴾ بَلْ بَدَأَهُمْ مَا كَانُوا يُخْفُونَ مِنْ قَبْلُ وَلَوْ رُدُّوا لَعَادُوا لِمَا هُمْ عَنْهُمْ وَيَكْذِبُونَ ﴿٢٨﴾ وَقَالُوا إِن هِيَ إِلَّا حَيَاتُنَا الدُّنْيَا وَمَا نَحْنُ بِمَبْعُوثِينَ ﴿٢٩﴾﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٢٧-٢٩)

- 6:27. If you could but see them when they will be made to stand before the fire. They will say: Would that we could be sent back [to this world]! Then we would not reject the revelations of our Lord, and we would be among the believers.
- 6:28. But that which they concealed before will manifest itself to them. And even if they were sent back, they would surely go back to that which was forbidden to them, for they are indeed liars.
- 6:29. And they say: There is nothing beyond our life in this world, and we will not be resurrected.

Here Allah tells us of the situation of the polytheists on the Day of Resurrection, when they are brought to hell:

﴿If you could but see them when they will be made to stand before the fire﴾ to be rebuked and reprimanded; you would see something terrifying and alarming, and you would see how they will acknowledge their disbelief and wrongdoing, and will wish to go back to this world.

﴿They will say: Would that we could be sent back [to this world]! Then we would not reject the revelations of our Lord, and we would be among the believers. But that which they concealed before will manifest itself to them﴾ for they knew, deep down in their hearts, that they were lying, and they often felt that in their hearts, but their ulterior motives prevented them from acknowledging that and turned their hearts away from good. They will also be lying when they express these wishes, for their aim will be only to ward off the punishment from themselves.

«And even if they were sent back, they would surely go back to that which was forbidden to them, for they are indeed liars».

«And they say», denying the Resurrection
 «There is nothing beyond our life in this world» that is, there is nothing real and the only purpose of our existence is the life of this world
 «and we will not be resurrected.».

﴿وَلَوْ تَرَىٰ إِذْ وَقَعُوا عَلَىٰ رَبِّهِمْ قَالَ الْيَسَّ هَٰذَا الْبَٰلِغَةُ ٱلْحَقِّ قَالُوا بَلَىٰ وَرَبِّنَا قَالَ فَذُوقُوا الْعَذَابَ بِمَا كُنتُمْ تَكْفُرُونَ﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٣٠)

6:30. If you could but see them when they will be made to stand before their Lord. He will say: Is this not the truth? They will say: Yes indeed, by our Lord. He will say: Then taste the punishment for having disbelieved.

«If you could but see them» namely the disbelievers
 «when they will be made to stand before their Lord», you would see a grave and terrifying scene.

«He will say» to them, by way of rebuke and reprimand:
 «Is this» that is, what you see of punishment
 «not the truth? They will say: Yes indeed, by our Lord» – they will affirm and acknowledge at the time when doing so will be of no benefit to them.
 «He will say: Then taste the punishment for having disbelieved».

﴿قَدْ خَسِرَ ٱلَّذِينَ كَذَّبُوا۟ بِلِقَآءِ ٱللَّهِ حَتَّىٰ إِذَا جَآءَتْهُمْ ٱلسَّاعَةُ بَعْتَهُۥ قَالُوا۟ يَحْسَرُنَا عَلَىٰ مَا فَرَّطْنَا فِيهَا وَهُمْ يَحْمِلُونَ أَوْزَارَهُمْ عَلَىٰ ظُهُورِهِمْ ۚ أَلَا سَآءَ مَا يَنزِلُونَ﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٣١)

- 6:31. Lost indeed are those who deny the meeting with their Lord until, when the Hour comes upon them suddenly, they will say: Alas for us, that we neglected it! They will bear their burdens on their backs; miserable indeed will be their burden.

That is, those who disbelieve in the meeting with Allah are lost and doomed, and deprived of all good, because this denial caused them to fall into that which is prohibited and to commit sins which incurred doom

﴿until, when the Hour comes upon them suddenly﴾, when they are in the worst condition, they will express the utmost regret

﴿they will say: Alas for us, that we neglected it!﴾ But this feeling of sorrow will come when the time for regret has gone.

﴿They will bear their burdens on their backs; miserable indeed will be their burden﴾, for their burden will be heavy and will weigh them down, and they will not be able to rid themselves of it. Hence they will abide forever in hell and they will deserve the eternal wrath of the Almighty.

﴿وَمَا الْحَيَاةُ الدُّنْيَا إِلَّا لَعِبٌ وَلَهْوٌ وَلِلْآخِرَةِ خَيْرٌ لِلَّذِينَ يَتَّقُونَ أَفَلَا تَعْقِلُونَ﴾

(سورة الأنعام: ٣٢) ﴿٣٢﴾

- 6:32. The life of this world is nothing but play and a distraction; but indeed the life of the hereafter is better for those who fear Allah. Will you not then understand?

This is the reality of this world and of the hereafter. The reality of this world is that it is mere play and distraction; it is play in a physical sense, and its distraction affects hearts and minds, which are deeply attached to it and focus all their attention on it, like children at play.

As for the hereafter, it is ﴿better for those who fear Allah﴾, in and of itself and in its attributes and eternal nature. In it there is what hearts long for and what delights the eye of bliss, pleasure, happiness and joy. But that is not for everyone; rather it is only for those who fear Allah, comply with His commands and avoid that which He prohibits.

﴿Will you not then understand?﴾ That is, do you not have minds with which to understand which of the two realms is most deserving of being given precedence?

﴿قَدْ نَعْلَمُ إِنَّهُ لَيَحْزَنُكَ الَّذِي يَقُولُونَ فَإِنَّهُمْ لَا يُكَذِّبُونَكَ وَلَكِنَّ الظَّالِمِينَ بِآيَاتِ اللَّهِ يَجْحَدُونَ﴾ (٣٣) وَلَقَدْ كَذَّبَتْ رُسُلٌ مِنْ قَبْلِكَ فَصَبَرُوا عَلَى مَا كَذَّبُوا وَأَوْدُوا حَتَّى أَنَّهُمْ نَصَرْنَا وَلَا مُبَدِّلَ لِكَلِمَاتِ اللَّهِ وَلَقَدْ جَاءَكَ مِنْ نَبِيِّ الْمُرْسَلِينَ ﴿٣٤﴾ وَإِنْ كَانَ كَبُرَ عَلَيْكَ إِعْرَاضُهُمْ فَإِنْ اسْتَطَقْتَ أَنْ تَبْتَغِيَ نَفَقًا فِي الْأَرْضِ أَوْ سُلَّمًا فِي السَّمَاءِ فَتَأْتِيَهُمْ بِآيَةٍ وَلَوْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ لَجَمَعَهُمْ عَلَى الْهُدَىٰ فَلَا تَكُونَنَّ مِنَ الْجَاهِلِينَ ﴿٣٥﴾﴾ (سورة

الأنعام: ٣٣-٣٥)

- 6:33. We know well that what they say grieves you [O Muhammad]. It is not you they disbelieve; rather it is the revelations of Allah that the wrongdoers deny.
- 6:34. The Messengers before you were also rejected, but they bore with patience that rejection and mistreatment until Our help came to them. No one can change the words [promises] of Allah. And you have already received some accounts of those Messengers.
- 6:35. If you find their turning away hard to bear, then seek a tunnel into the earth or a ladder into the heavens, if you can, and bring them a sign. If Allah had so willed, He could have brought them all to guidance; so do not be among those who are ignorant.

That is, We know that what those who disbelieve in you say grieves you and upsets you, but We only instruct you to be patient so that you may attain high status and great reward. So do not think that what they say stems from suspicion or doubt concerning you.

«It is not you they disbelieve» because they know that you tell the truth and they know all about you and your comings and goings. They even used to call him – before his mission began – al-Ameen (the trustworthy one)

«rather it is the revelations of Allah that the wrongdoers deny» that is, their rejection is of the revelations of Allah which Allah has sent at your hands.

«The Messengers before you were also rejected, but they bore with patience that rejection and mistreatment until Our help came to them» – so be patient as they were patient, and you will attain victory as they did.

«And you have already received some accounts of those Messengers» by means of which you may find reassurance and peace of mind.

«If you find their turning away hard to bear» that is, if it is difficult for you because of your keenness for them to be guided and your eagerness for them to believe, then do your utmost to bring that about, but you will not be able to guide those whom Allah does not will should be guided.

«then seek a tunnel into the earth or a ladder into the heavens, if you can, and bring them a sign» that is, if you can, then do that, but it will not benefit them at all. This put a stop to his hope that people like these stubborn ones would be guided.

«If Allah had so willed, He could have brought them all to guidance» but His wisdom dictated that they should remain misguided «so do not be among those who are ignorant» who do not acknowledge facts or appreciate them properly.

﴿ إِنَّمَا يَسْتَجِيبُ الَّذِينَ يَسْمَعُونَ وَالْمَوْتَى يَبْعَثُهُمُ اللَّهُ ثُمَّ إِلَيْهِ يُرْجَعُونَ ﴾ (٣٦) وَقَالُوا لَوْلَا نُزِّلَ عَلَيْهِ آيَةٌ مِنْ رَبِّهِ قُلْ إِنَّ اللَّهَ قَادِرٌ عَلَى أَنْ يُنْزِلَ آيَةً وَلَٰكِنْ أَكْثَرُهُمْ لَا يَعْلَمُونَ ﴿٣٧﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٣٦-٣٧)

- 6:36. Only those who hear will respond; as for the dead, Allah will resurrect them, then to Him they will return.
- 6:37. They say: Why has no sign been sent down to him from his Lord? Say: Allah does indeed have the power to send down a sign, – but most of them do not understand [the consequences].

Here Allah (ﷻ) says to His Prophet (ﷺ): «Only those who hear» with their hearts that which will benefit them, namely the people of understanding who are willing to listen «will respond» to your call, accept your message and comply with your commands and prohibitions.

What is meant by hearing in this case is listening with the heart and responding; as for merely hearing with the ears, this is something that is common to both righteous and immoral. Proof is established against all those who are accountable when they hear the revelations of Allah, after which there is no excuse left for not accepting the message.

«as for the dead, Allah will resurrect them, then to Him they will return». It may be that what is meant here is a contrast to what is mentioned earlier, in other words: only those who are spiritually alive will respond to you; as for those whose hearts are spiritually dead, who do not realise what is in their best interests or understand what could save them, they will not respond to you or comply with your message. Their time of reckoning is the Day of Resurrection, when Allah will resurrect them, then to Him they will return.

Or it may be that what is meant by this verse is the apparent meaning, and that Allah (ﷻ) knows when the Day of Resurrection will begin and that He will resurrect the dead on the Day of Resurrection, then He will inform them of what they used to do.

This carries an implicit encouragement to respond to Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ), and an implicit warning against not doing so.

﴿They﴾ that is, those who reject the message out of stubbornness ﴿say: Why has no sign been sent down to him from his Lord?﴾ this refers to signs that they suggest and demand on the basis of their corrupt ideas and thoughts.

This is like when they said:

﴿... We will never believe in you until you cause a spring to gush forth from the earth for us; or you have a garden of date palms and vines, and you cause rivers to gush forth in their midst; or you cause the sky to fall upon us in pieces, as you claimed [that Allah could do that if He willed];<sup>8</sup> or you bring Allah and the angels before us, face to face.﴾ (al-Isrâ' 17: 90-92)

﴿Say﴾ in response to them: ﴿Allah does indeed have the power to send down a sign﴾, and it is not beyond His power to do so; how could it be otherwise when all things are subjugated to His glory and might?

But most people do not know, hence because of their ignorance and lack of knowledge they demand what is bad for them, by asking for signs which, if they came, they would not believe in them, and then the punishment would be hastened for them, as this is the way of Allah which does not change. Nevertheless, if what they meant is signs to highlight the truth and show them the way, then Muhammad (ﷺ) has brought all definitive signs and proof which indicate that his message is the truth, to such an extent that with regard to every issue of religion, the individual will be able to find, on the basis of what he brought, ample rational and textual evidence, so that there will be no room left for even the slightest doubt.

<sup>8</sup> This is a reference to a punishment coming upon them from above, as mentioned in v. 68 ﴿...or that He will not send against you a violent squall of pebbles...﴾. (ar-Râzi)

Blessed be the One Who sent His Messenger (ﷺ) with guidance and the true religion, and supported him with clear signs, so that those who choose to perish (by choosing disbelief) might do so after seeing clear evidence, and those who choose to live (by choosing faith) might do so after seeing clear evidence. Verily Allah is All-Hearing, All-Knowing (cf. 8: 42).

﴿وَمَا مِنْ دَابَّةٍ فِي الْأَرْضِ وَلَا طَائِرٍ يَطِيرُ بِجَنَاحَيْهِ إِلَّا أُمَمٌ أَمْثَالُكُمْ مَا فَرَّطْنَا فِي الْكِتَابِ مِنْ شَيْءٍ ثُمَّ إِلَىٰ رَبِّهِمْ يُحْشَرُونَ﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٣٨)

6:38. There is no creature that moves on the earth, and no bird that flies on its two wings, but they are communities like you. We have neglected nothing in the Book [of Our decrees], then to their Lord they will be gathered.

That is, all animals on land and in the air, tame or wild, including birds, are communities like you. We have created them as We have created you, We grant them provision as We grant you, and Our will is done concerning them as it is done concerning you.

«We have neglected nothing in the Book [of Our decrees]» that is, We have not been careless or heedless in omitting anything from al-Lawḥ al-Maḥfooḍh. Rather all things, great and small, are written in al-Lawḥ al-Maḥfooḍh as they are decreed, and all things will come to pass in accordance with what the Pen wrote.

This verse indicates that written in the first Book (al-Lawḥ al-Maḥfooḍh) are all things that will happen. This is the first category of the divine will and decree, of which there are four categories: the all-encompassing knowledge of Allah; His Book that contains all that exists; His will and decree that is applicable to all things; and His creation of all created things, even people's deeds.

It may be that what is meant by «the Book» here is this Qur'an, in which case the meaning of this verse will be similar to the meaning of the verse in which Allah says:

«...And We have sent down to you the Book, explaining all things...»
(an-Nahl 16: 89)

«then to their Lord they will be gathered» that is, all nations will be gathered and assembled before Allah in the place of standing on the Day of Resurrection, in that huge and terrifying gathering. Then He will requite them on the basis of His justice and kindness, and His judgement will be passed concerning them, which will be praised by the first and the last, the inhabitants of heaven and the inhabitants of the earth.

﴿وَالَّذِينَ كَذَّبُوا بِآيَاتِنَا صُمُّوْا وَبُكْمٌ فِي الظُّلُمٰتِ مَن يَشَا۟لُ اللّٰهَ يُضِلِّهٖ وَمَن يَشَا۟لْهُ
عَلٰى صِرَاطٍ مُّسْتَقِيْمٍ ﴿٣٩﴾﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٣٩)

- 6:39. Those who reject Our revelations are deaf and dumb, [dwelling] in the depths of darkness. Whomever Allah wills, He leaves astray and whomever He wills, He sets on a straight path.

This is a description of those who disbelieve in the signs of Allah and reject His Messengers. They close to themselves the door of guidance, and open the door of doom. They are «deaf» to the truth and «dumb», unable to speak the truth, so they speak nothing but falsehood.

﴿[dwelling] in the depths of darkness﴾ that is, they are immersed in the darkness of ignorance, disbelief, wrongdoing, stubbornness and sin. That is because Allah has left them astray, for ﴿Whomever Allah wills, He leaves astray and whomever He wills, He sets on a straight path﴾, because He is the only One Who decrees guidance and misguidance, according to what is dictated by His grace and wisdom.

﴿قُلْ أَرَأَيْتُمْ إِنْ أَتَاكُمْ عَذَابُ اللَّهِ أَوْ أَتَتْكُمُ السَّاعَةُ أَغَيْرَ اللَّهِ تَدْعُونَ إِنْ كُنْتُمْ صَادِقِينَ ﴿٤٠﴾ بَلْ إِلَٰهَةُ تَدْعُونَ فَيَكْشِفُ مَا تَدْعُونَ إِلَيْهِ إِنْ شَاءَ وَتَنْسَوْنَ مَا تُشْرِكُونَ ﴿٤١﴾﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٤٠-٤١)

- 6:40. Say: What do you think, if the punishment of Allah or the Hour came upon you, would you then call upon anyone other than Allah? [Answer that,] if you are truthful!
- 6:41. No, it is on Him [alone] you would call; then, if He so willed, He would remove that which caused you to call upon Him, and you would forget [the partners] that you ascribe to Him.

Here Allah (ﷻ) says to His Messenger (ﷺ): ﴿Say﴾ to those who ascribe partners to Allah and regard others as equal to Him:

﴿What do you think, if the punishment of Allah or the Hour came upon you, would you then call upon anyone other than Allah? [Answer that,] if you are truthful!﴾ That is, if this hardship and distress occurs, which one would have to try to relieve oneself of, would you call upon your gods and idols, or would you call upon your Lord, the True Sovereign?

﴿No, it is on Him [alone] you would call; then, if He so willed, He would remove that which caused you to call upon Him, and you would forget [the partners] that you ascribe to Him﴾. If this is how you are with your false gods, and you forget them when you are faced with hardships, because you know that they cannot benefit you or harm you, and they have no power to give life, cause death or bring about resurrection, and you call sincerely upon Allah because you know that He is the only One Who can bring benefit or cause harm, and He is the only One Who can answer the call of the one who is in distress, then how come at times of ease you ascribe partners to Him? Is this based on any rational or textual evidence, or do you have any proof for that? Rather you fabricate lies against Allah.

﴿وَلَقَدْ أَرْسَلْنَا إِلَىٰ أُمَمٍ مِّن قَبْلِكَ فَآخَذْتَهُم بِالْبَاسِ وَالضَّرَّةِ لَعَلَّهُمْ يَضُرَّعُونَ ﴿٤٢﴾ فَلَوْلَا إِذْ جَاءَهُمْ بَأْسُنَا تَضَرَّعُوا وَلَكِن قَسَتْ قُلُوبُهُمْ وَزَيَّنَ لَهُمُ الشَّيْطَانُ مَا كَانُوا يَعْمَلُونَ ﴿٤٣﴾ فَلَمَّا نَسُوا مَا ذُكِّرُوا بِهِ فَتَحْنَا عَلَيْهِم أَبْوَابَ كُلِّ شَيْءٍ حَتَّىٰ إِذَا فَرِحُوا بِمَا أُوتُوا أَخَذْتَهُمْ بَغْتَةً فَإِذَا هُمْ مُبْلِسُونَ ﴿٤٤﴾ فَقَطَّعَ دَائِرَ الْقَوْمِ الَّذِينَ ظَلَمُوا ﴿٤٥﴾ وَالْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ رَبِّ الْعَالَمِينَ ﴿٤٦﴾﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٤٢-٤٥)

- 6:42. We sent [Messengers] to nations before you, and We afflicted them with adversity and distress, so that they might humble themselves.
- 6:43. If only they had humbled themselves when Our punishment came upon them! But their hearts were hardened and the Shayṭān made fair-seeming to them what they were doing.
- 6:44. So, when they forgot that of which they had been reminded, We opened unto them the gates of all [good] things until, when they were rejoicing in what they had been given, We seized them suddenly and they were plunged into utter despair.
- 6:45. Thus the transgressors were destroyed to the last man. Praise be to Allah, the Lord of the worlds.

﴿We sent [Messengers] to nations before you﴾ among the previous generations, and they rejected Our Messengers and denied Our signs ﴿and We afflicted them with adversity and distress﴾ that is, with poverty, sickness, calamities and disasters, out of mercy towards them, ﴿so that they might humble themselves﴾ before Us, and turn to Us at times of hardship.

﴿If only they had humbled themselves when Our punishment came upon them! But their hearts were hardened﴾ that is, they became like rock and could not be softened and opened to the truth ﴿and the Shayṭân made fair-seeming to them what they were doing﴾ so they thought that what they were following was the true religion, and they indulged in their falsehood for a while, and the Shayṭân toyed with them and made fools of them.

﴿So, when they forgot that of which they had been reminded, We opened unto them the gates of all [good] things﴾ of the pleasures and distractions of this world ﴿until, when they were rejoicing in what they had been given, We seized them suddenly and they were plunged into utter despair﴾ that is, they despaired of all good. This is the worst of all possible punishments, for to be seized unawares at a time when one is heedless and feeling safe and secure makes the punishment more severe and the calamity greater.

﴿Thus the transgressors were destroyed to the last man﴾ that is, they saw the punishment and all ties between them were severed (cf. 2: 166)

﴿Praise be to Allah, the Lord of the worlds﴾ for what He has willed and decreed of destruction for the disbelievers, for this highlights His signs, honours His close friends, humiliates His enemies and confirms the truthfulness of what the Messengers brought.

﴿قُلْ أَرَأَيْتُمْ إِنْ أَخَذَ اللَّهُ سَمْعَكُمْ وَأَبْصَارَكُمْ وَخَنَّمَ عَلَى قُلُوبِكُمْ مِّنْ إِلَهِ غَيْرِ اللَّهِ يَأْتِيَكُمْ بِهِ أَنْظَرُ كَيْفَ نُصَرِّفُ الْآيَاتِ ثُمَّ هُمْ يَصْدِفُونَ ﴿٤٦﴾ قُلْ أَرَأَيْتُمْ إِنْ أَنزَلْنَاهُ عَذَابٌ لَّهِ يَغْتَاةٌ أَوْ جَهْرَةٌ هَلْ يَهْلِكُ إِلَّا الْقَوْمُ الظَّالِمُونَ ﴿٤٧﴾﴾ (سورة الأنعام)

(٤٦-٤٧)

- 6:46. Say: What do you think, if Allah took away your hearing and your sight, and sealed up your hearts, what god other than Allah could restore them to you? See how elaborately We make the revelations clear, yet still they turn away.
- 6:47. Say: What do you think, if the punishment of Allah came upon you, suddenly or predictably, would any be destroyed except the transgressors?

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that just as He is the only One Who creates things and controls them, He is also unique in His oneness and divinity.

﴿Say: What do you think, if Allah took away your hearing and your sight, and sealed up your hearts﴾ and you remained unable to hear, see or think

﴿what god other than Allah could restore them to you?﴾ If there is none but Allah Who could do that, then why do you worship alongside Him those who have no power to do anything unless Allah wills it?

This is part of the evidence for the oneness of Allah and proof that the ascription of partners to Him is false. Hence He says: ﴿See how elaborately We make the revelations clear﴾ that is, We explain it in various ways, giving all kinds of examples, to explain the truth and highlight the way of the wrongdoers (so that it can be avoided). ﴿yet still they turn away﴾ that is, despite this perfect explanation, they turn away from the revelations of Allah and ignore them.

﴿Say: What do you think﴾ that is, tell me

﴿if the punishment of Allah came upon you, suddenly or predictably﴾ that is, suddenly or preceded by precursors whereby you would know of its approach

﴿would any be destroyed except the transgressors?﴾ who were the cause of the punishment coming upon them, because of their wrongdoing and stubbornness. So beware of persisting in wrongdoing, for it leads to eternal doom and misery.

﴿وَمَا أَرْسَلْنَا الْمُرْسَلِينَ إِلَّا مُبَشِّرِينَ وَمُنذِرِينَ ۖ فَمَنْ ءَامَنَ وَأَصْلَحَ فَلَا خَوْفٌ عَلَيْهِمْ وَلَا هُمْ يَحْزَنُونَ ﴿٤٨﴾ وَالَّذِينَ كَذَّبُوا بِآيَاتِنَا يُمْسِكُهُمُ الْعَذَابُ بِمَا كَانُوا يَفْسُقُونَ ﴿٤٩﴾﴾

(سورة الأنعام: ٤٨-٤٩)

6:48. We sent the Messengers only as bearers of good news and as warners. So those who believe and mend their ways will have no fear, nor will they grieve.

6:49. But as for those who reject Our revelations, punishment will strike them for their evil deeds.

Here Allah (ﷻ) mentions the essence of the message brought by the Messengers, which is glad tidings and warning. That requires an explanation of who the bringer of glad tidings is, what the glad tidings are about, and the deeds which, if a person does them, he will attain those glad tidings, and an explanation of who the warner is, what the warning is about and the deeds which, if a person does them, the warning will become applicable to him. People are divided – according to their response to the call or their lack thereof – into two groups:

﴿So those who believe and mend their ways﴾ that is, they believe in Allah, His angels, His Books, His Messengers and the Last Day, and they make sure that their faith, deeds and intentions are also sound

﴿will have no fear﴾ in the future
 ﴿nor will they grieve﴾ over the past.

﴿But as for those who reject Our revelations, punishment will strike them﴾ that is, punishment will overtake them ﴿for their evil deeds﴾.

﴿قُلْ لَا أَقُولُ لَكُمْ عِنْدِي خَزَائِنُ اللَّهِ وَلَا أَعْلَمُ الْغَيْبِ وَلَا أَقُولُ لَكُمْ إِنِّي مَلَكٌ إِن
 أَتَيْتُ إِلَّا مَا يُوْحَىٰ إِلَيَّ قُلْ هَلْ يَسْتَوِي الْأَعْمَىٰ وَالْبَصِيرُ أَفَلَا تَتَفَكَّرُونَ﴾ (سورة

الأنعام: ٥٠)

6:50. Say [O Muhammad]: I do not tell you that I possess the treasures of Allah, and I do not know the unseen, nor do I tell you that I am an angel; I only follow that which is revealed to me. Say: Is the blind man equal to one who can see? Will you not then reflect?

Here Allah (ﷻ) instructs His Prophet (ﷺ) to address those who demand signs of him or who say to him: You are only calling us to take you as a god besides Allah:

﴿I do not tell you that I possess the treasures of Allah﴾ that is, the keys to His provision and mercy
 ﴿and I do not know the unseen﴾. Rather all of that belongs to Allah; whatever of mercy Allah grants to people, none can withhold, and whatever He withholds, none can release it thereafter (cf. 35: 2). He alone is the Knower of the unseen and the seen:

﴿...He does not disclose His unseen to anyone, except a Messenger whom He has chosen...﴾ (al-Jinn 72: 26-27)

﴿nor do I tell you that I am an angel﴾ and therefore strong and powerful. I do not claim to be above the station that Allah has allocated to me

﴿I only follow that which is revealed to me﴾ that is, the most that I can claim about myself is that I follow that which is revealed to me, so I act upon it concerning myself and I call all people to do likewise.

Once my status is known, why would anyone argue with me or demand of me something that I do not claim to have? Will a man be obliged to do something of which he does not claim to have the means?

Why – when I call you to that which has been revealed to me – do you try to make me claim for myself something that is beyond me? Can this be anything but unfairness, stubbornness and rebelliousness on your part? So explain to them the difference between the one who accepts my call and submits to what is revealed to me, and the one who is not like that:

﴿Say: Is the blind man equal to one who can see? Will you not then reflect?﴾ so that you will be able to evaluate things as they are and make the right choice?

﴿وَأَنْذِرْ بِهِ الَّذِينَ يَخَافُونَ أَنْ يُحْشَرُوا إِلَىٰ رَبِّهِمْ لَيْسَ لَهُمْ مِنْ دُونِهِ وَلِيٌّ وَلَا شَفِيعٌ لَّهُمْ يَتَّقُونَ ﴿٥١﴾ وَلَا تَطْرُدِ الَّذِينَ يَدْعُونَ رَبَّهُمْ بِالْغَدَاةِ وَالْعَشِيِّ يُرِيدُونَ وَجْهَهُ مَا عَلَيْكَ مِنْ حِسَابِهِمْ مِنْ شَيْءٍ وَمَا مِنْ حِسَابِكَ عَلَيْهِمْ مِنْ شَيْءٍ فَتَطْرُدَهُمْ فَتَكُونَ مِنَ الظَّالِمِينَ ﴿٥٢﴾ وَكَذَلِكَ فَتَنَّا بَعْضَهُم بِبَعْضٍ لِّيَقُولُوا أَهَؤُلَاءِ مَنَّ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِمْ مِنْ بَيْنِنَا أَلَيْسَ اللَّهُ بِأَعْلَمَ بِالشَّاكِرِينَ ﴿٥٣﴾ وَإِذَا جَاءَكَ الَّذِينَ يُؤْمِنُونَ بِآيَاتِنَا فَقُلْ سَلَامٌ عَلَيْكُمْ كَتَبَ رَبُّكُمْ عَلَىٰ نَفْسِهِ الرَّحْمَةَ أَنَّهُ مَنْ عَمِلَ مِنْكُمْ سُوءًا بِجَهْلَةٍ ثُمَّ تَابَ مِنْ بَعْدِهِ وَأَصْلَحَ فَأَنَّهُ غَفُورٌ رَحِيمٌ ﴿٥٤﴾ وَكَذَلِكَ نَفْصِلُ الْآيَاتِ وَلِتَسْتَبِينَ سَبِيلَ الْمُجْرِمِينَ ﴿٥٥﴾﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٥١-٥٥)

- 6:51. Warn hereby those who fear being gathered to their Lord, when they will have no protector or intercessor but Him, so that they may become pious.
- 6:52. Do not send away those who call upon their Lord every morning and afternoon, seeking His Countenance. You are not at all accountable for them nor are they accountable for you, and therefore you have no right to send them away; [if you did so] you would be one of the wrongdoers.
- 6:53. Thus We tested some of them by means of others, so that they [the disbelievers] would say: Are these the ones whom Allah has favoured among us? Does not Allah know best those who are grateful?
- 6:54. When those who believe in Our revelations come to you, say: Peace be upon you. Your Lord has taken it upon Himself to be merciful: whoever among you commits a sin out of ignorance, and after that repents and mends his ways, then verily He is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.
- 6:55. Thus We explain the revelations in detail, so that the way of the evildoers may be made known.

This Qur'an is a warning to all people, but only ﴿those who fear being gathered to their Lord﴾ will benefit from it, for they are certain that they will move from this realm to the eternal realm of the hereafter, and therefore they do that which will benefit them and refrain from that which will harm them.

﴿when they will have no protector or intercessor but Him﴾ that is, except Allah; they will have no one but Him to take care of their affairs so that they may attain what they seek, or to ward off what they fear, or to intercede for them, because all of humankind will have no control over the matter at all.

﴿so that they may become pious﴾ and fear Allah by obeying His commands and complying with His prohibitions, as a result of heeding the warning.

﴿Do not send away those who call upon their Lord every morning and afternoon, seeking His Countenance﴾ that is, do not send away from you and from your gatherings, preferring to sit with others, people who are devoted to sincere worship, those who consistently call upon their Lord by way of worship, remembering Him, praying and so on, and who call upon Him by way of asking, at the beginning and the end of the day, seeking thereby Allah's Countenance, with no other aim or goal.

Such people do not deserve to be sent away or ignored; rather they deserve to be taken as friends and loved, and to be brought close, because they are the best of people even if they are poor, and they are indeed noble and honourable, even if in the eyes of people they are lowly and humble.

﴿You are not at all accountable for them nor are they accountable for you﴾ that is, each one will have his own reckoning, for he has his own good or bad deeds.

﴿and therefore you have no right to send them away; [if you did so] you would be one of the wrongdoers﴾. The Prophet (ﷺ) complied closely with this command. When he sat with the poor believers, he was patient and content with them, treated them kindly and gently, showed a good attitude towards them and brought them close to him. Indeed they formed the majority of the people around him, may Allah be pleased with them.

The reason for the revelation of these verses was that some people among Quraysh or among the rough and harsh Arabs said to the Prophet (ﷺ): If you want us to believe in you and follow you, then send away So-and-so and So-and-so – naming some of the poor Companions – for we feel embarrassed for the Arabs to see us sitting with these poor people.

Because he was so keen for them to become Muslim and follow him, he thought of doing that, but Allah rebuked him in these and similar verses.

«Thus We tested some of them by means of others, so that they [the disbelievers] would say: Are these the ones whom Allah has favoured among us?» That is, this is a way in which Allah tests His slaves, as He has made some of them rich and some of them poor, some of them prominent and some of them of lowly standing. Therefore when Allah blesses a poor or lowly person with faith, that is a test for the one who is rich or of high standing.

If a person is seeking the truth and wants to follow it, he will believe and become Muslim, and he will not be prevented from doing so by the fact that he will be sharing a faith with one who is of lesser standing than him in terms of wealth and prominence. But if he is not sincere in seeking the truth, then this will form an obstacle that will prevent him from following the truth.

But they said, looking down on those who they thought were beneath them: «Are these the ones whom Allah has favoured among us?» Hence this prevented them from following the truth, because the intention in their hearts was not pure. Allah said in response to their implicit objection to His having guided these people and not them: «Does not Allah know best those who are grateful?» that is, those who will acknowledge the blessing and do what it requires of righteous deeds, thus He will bestow His favour and blessings upon them, and not upon those who are ungrateful.

For Allah (ﷻ) is wise, and He does not bestow His favour upon one who is not deserving of it. These people who raise objections are of that type, unlike those among the poor and others whom Allah blessed with faith, for they are the ones who are grateful.

When Allah forbade His Messenger (ﷺ) to send away the pious believers, He instructed him to treat them with honour and respect, as He said: «When those who believe in Our revelations come to you, say: Peace be upon you» that is, when the believers come to you, greet them and welcome them warmly, and say things to raise their morale and motivate them, telling them of the mercy, bounty and kindness of Allah, and encourage them by all means that may achieve that; and warn them against committing sin and persisting therein, and instruct them to repent from sin, so that they may attain the forgiveness and mercy of their Lord. Hence He says: «Your Lord has taken it upon Himself to be merciful: whoever among you commits a sin out of ignorance, and after that repents and mends his ways» that is, in addition to giving up sin and regretting it, it is also essential to mend one's ways, do what Allah has enjoined, and change one's bad deeds, both outward and inward.

If you do all of that, «then verily He is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful» that is, He will bestow upon them forgiveness and mercy commensurate with what they have done of what was enjoined upon them.

«Thus We explain the revelations in detail» that is, we explain them and distinguish between the path of guidance and the path of misguidance, so that people may be guided thereby and so that the truth which should be followed will be made clear.

«so that the way of the evildoers» which incurs the wrath and punishment of Allah «may be made known», for once the way of the evildoers is made clear, it can be avoided, unlike when it remains indistinct and ambiguous, in which case this noble goal (of avoiding it) cannot be attained.

﴿قُلْ إِنِّي نُهَيْتُ أَنْ أَعْبُدَ الَّذِينَ تَدْعُونَ مِنْ دُونِ اللَّهِ قُلْ لَا أَنْتُمْ أَهْوَاءُكُمْ قَدْ ضَلَلْتُمْ إِذَا مَا أَنَا مِنَ الْمُهْتَدِينَ ﴿٥١﴾ قُلْ إِنِّي عَلَىٰ بَيِّنَةٍ مِنْ رَبِّي وَكَذَّبْتُمْ بِهِ مَا عِنْدِي مَا اسْتَعِجِلُونَ بِهِ ۚ إِنَّ الْحُكْمَ إِلَّا لِلَّهِ يَقُصُّ الْحَقُّ وَهُوَ خَبِيرٌ﴾

الْفَصْلَيْنِ ﴿٥٧﴾ قُلْ لَوْ أَنَّ عِنْدِي مَا تَسْتَعْجِلُونَ بِهِ لَفُضِّي الْأَمْرُ بَيْنِي وَبَيْنَكُمْ
وَاللَّهُ أَعْلَمُ بِالظَّالِمِينَ ﴿٥٨﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٥٦-٥٨)

- 6:56. Say: I am forbidden to worship those you call upon besides Allah. Say: I will not follow your vain desires; if I did, I would go astray and I would not be one of the rightly guided.
- 6:57. Say: I am [relying] on clear proof concerning my Lord, while you deny [the truth]. What you seek to hasten is not within my power. The decision rests with Allah alone; He rules on the basis of truth and He is the best of judges.
- 6:58. Say: If what you seek to hasten was within my power, the matter would [already] have been settled between me and you. But Allah knows best who the wrongdoers are.

Allah says to His Prophet (ﷺ): «Say» to these polytheists who claim that there are other gods besides Allah:

«I am forbidden to worship those you call upon besides Allah», namely the rivals and idols who have no power to bring benefit or cause harm, or to cause death, bring life or resurrect, for this is falsehood which you have no proof or argument, except following whims and desires, which is the worst misguidance.

Hence Allah says:

«Say: I will not follow your vain desires; if I did» follow your whims and desires, «I would go astray and I would not be one of the rightly guided» in any way at all. Rather the path I am following, of affirming the oneness of Allah and sincerely devoting my deeds to Him, is the truth for which there is definitive proof and evidence.

«Say: I am [relying] on clear proof concerning my Lord» that is, I am relying on clear certainty that my Lord is the true Lord, and that everything else is false. This is firm testimony from the Messenger (ﷺ) in which there is no wavering or hesitation, and he is the best witness of all people. The believers accepted this testimony and the clarity of their certainty of its soundness was commensurate with the level of their faith with which Allah blessed them

«while you», O polytheists, «deny [the truth]». He does not deserve such a response from you, for there is no appropriate response except to believe it. Because you persisted in your rejection, you should understand that the punishment will inevitably befall you; it is with Allah and He will send it down upon you whenever He wills, however He wills, and if you seek to hasten it, I will have no control over the situation, for «The decision rests with Allah alone»; just as He is the One Who ordained the rulings of Sharia, commands and prohibitions, it is He Who will issue the decree of requital, and He will reward or punish according to His wisdom. So objecting to His decree in any way is not acceptable. He has made the right path clear and has told His slaves about the truth, thus leaving no room for excuses and no argument against it, so that those who choose to perish (by choosing disbelief) might do so after seeing clear evidence, and those who choose to live (by choosing faith) might do so after seeing clear evidence (cf. 8: 42).

«and He is the best of judges» between His slaves in this world and the hereafter. So He judges between them and will be praised for it, even by those against whom judgement is passed and they are found guilty.

«Say» to those who seek to hasten the punishment wrongfully, out of ignorance and stubbornness:

«If what you seek to hasten was within my power, the matter would [already] have been settled between me and you», for I would have brought it upon you and there would be nothing good for you in that.

But the matter is in the Hand of the Most Forbearing, Most Patient, Whom people disobey in the most audacious manner, yet He grants them well-being and provision, and bestows His blessings, both visible and invisible, upon them

«But Allah knows best who the wrongdoers are» – nothing about them is hidden from Him, so He grants them respite but He does not forget about them.

﴿وَعِنْدَهُ مَفَاتِحُ الْغَيْبِ لَا يَعْلَمُهَا إِلَّا هُوَ وَيَعْلَمُ مَا فِي الْبَرِّ وَالْبَحْرِ وَمَا تَسْقُطُ مِنْ وَرَقَةٍ إِلَّا يَعْلَمُهَا وَلَا حَبَّةٍ فِي ظُلْمَتٍ الْأَرْضِ وَلَا رَطْبٍ وَلَا يَابِسٍ إِلَّا فِي كِتَابٍ مُبِينٍ﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٥٩)

6:59. With Him are the keys of the unseen; no one knows them but He. He knows all that is in the land and in the sea. Not a leaf falls but He knows it; there is no grain in the darkest bowels of the earth, nor anything fresh or dry, but it is [inscribed] in a clear record.

This verse is one of the verses that most clearly highlight His all-encompassing knowledge, which includes all of the unseen, of which He discloses whatever He wills to whomever He wills of His creation, although much of it remains concealed from the angels who are close to Him and the Prophets who were sent, let alone other people. He knows what is in the wilderness of animals, plants, sand, rocks and dust, and what is in the sea of marine creatures, minerals and other things, that may be contained in different parts of it, and what is in the water.

«Not a leaf falls» from plants on land and in the water, in cities and in the wilderness, in this world and in the hereafter, but He knows it. «there is no grain in the darkest bowels of the earth», which includes the seeds of fruits and other crops, seeds that are sown by people and the seeds of wild plants from which different types of vegetation grow.

﴿nor anything fresh or dry﴾ this is general in meaning and comes after specific descriptions

﴿but it is [inscribed] in a clear record﴾ – this refers to al-Lawḥ al-Maḥfoodh, which contains mention of them and listed them all. Some of the things mentioned may dazzle and astound the minds of smart people. This is indicative of the greatness of the Almighty Lord and the all-encompassing nature of all of His attributes.

If all of humankind, from the first to the last of them, were to come together to comprehend some of His attributes, they would never be able to do so. Blessed be the Almighty Lord, the All-Encompassing, All-Knowing, the Praiseworthy and Glorious, the Witness, the Omniscient.

How great is Allah; no one can list all the words of praise for Him. Rather He is as He has praised Himself, and is far above whatever His slaves may say in praise of Him. This verse indicates that His knowledge encompasses all things and His clear record (al-Lawḥ al-Maḥfoodh) includes all that happens.

﴿وَهُوَ الَّذِي يَتَوَفَّاكُم بِاللَّيْلِ وَيَعْلَمُ مَا جَرَحْتُم بِالنَّهَارِ ثُمَّ يَبْعَثْكُمْ فِيهِ لِيُقْضَىٰ أَجَلٌ مُّسَمًّى ثُمَّ إِلَيْهِ مَرْجِعُكُمْ ثُمَّ يُنَبِّئُكُم بِمَا كُنتُمْ تَعْمَلُونَ ﴿٦٠﴾ وَهُوَ الْغَايُ فَوْقَ عِبَادِهِ وَيُرْسِلُ عَلَيْكُم حَفَظَةً حَتَّىٰ إِذَا جَاءَ أَحَدُكُمُ الْمَوْتُ تَوَفَّتْهُ رُسُلُنَا وَهُمْ لَا يُفْرِطُونَ ﴿٦١﴾ ثُمَّ رُدُّوْا إِلَى اللَّهِ مَوْلَاهُمُ الْحَقِّ ۖ أَلَا لَهُ الْحُكْمُ وَهُوَ أَسْرَعُ الْحَاسِبِينَ ﴿٦٢﴾﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٦٠-٦٢)

- 6:60. It is He Who takes your souls [in sleep] by night, and knows what you have done by day. Then He awakens you again [by day] to complete the term appointed [for you]. Then to Him you will all return, then He will inform you about what you used to do.

- 6:61. He is Dominant over His slaves. He sends keepers [to watch] over you, then when death comes to one of you, Our envoys [angels] take his soul, and they never fail in their duty.
- 6:62. Then they are returned to Allah, their true Lord. Verily His is the judgement and He is the swiftest in reckoning.

All of this is an affirmation of His divinity and is proof against those who ascribe partners to Him. It is a statement that He alone is deserving of love, veneration, respect and honour. Here Allah tells us that He is the only One Who is in control of His slaves' affairs, when they are awake and when they are asleep; He takes their souls in sleep during the night, so their movements become still and their bodies rest, then he wakens them from their sleep, so that they can go about their business and tend to their spiritual and worldly affairs.

Allah (ﷻ) knows what they do and what they earn by their deeds. Allah continues to control them like that until the appointed time comes. Thus He decrees a term for them in this world, and another term after that, when they are resurrected after death. Hence He says: ﴿Then to Him you will all return﴾ and not to anyone else. ﴿then He will inform you about what you used to do﴾ of good and evil.

﴿He is Dominant over His slaves﴾ – His all-encompassing will is done concerning them, so they have no control over their affairs at all; they cannot move or stay still except by His leave.

Nevertheless, He has appointed angels who watch over His slaves and record their deeds, as Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿While indeed there are watchers appointed over you, honourable scribes,<sup>9</sup> who know all that you do.﴾ (al-Infīţār 82: 10-12)

<sup>9</sup> These are the recording angels who write down all that people do of both good and bad deeds.

﴿...constantly accompanying him, one on his right, the other on his left. Not a word does he utter but there is with him a watcher, ready to record it.﴾ (Qâf 50: 17-18)

They keep watch over them whilst they are alive.

﴿then when death comes to one of you, Our envoys [angels] take his soul﴾ that is, the angels who are appointed to take people's souls ﴿and they never fail in their duty﴾. They never allow an hour more than what Allah has decreed, nor do they cut short anyone's lifespan, or carry out any instruction except in accordance with the divine decree.

﴿Then﴾, after death and life in al-barzakh,<sup>10</sup> with whatever it entails of good or bad, ﴿they are returned to Allah, their true Lord﴾ that is, the One Who took care of them on the basis of what He decreed for them, then He took care of them by means of what He enjoined and forbade; He sent the Messengers to them and revealed Books to them.

Then they will return to Him, so that He can take charge of their requital, rewarding them for what they did of good and punishing them for what they did of evil. Hence Allah says: ﴿Verily His is the judgement﴾ – it is His alone, with no partner or associate ﴿and He is the swiftest in reckoning﴾ because of His perfect knowledge and His recording of their deeds, by means of what is written in al-Lawḥ al-Maḥfoodh, then it is written again by the angels in the records that they keep.

As Allah is the only One Who creates and controls, and He has power over His slaves, and takes care of them in all situations, He alone is the One Who decrees what will happen to them, and to Him alone belong the divine decree, the power to ordain what is lawful and what is prohibited, the judgement (on the Day of Resurrection) and the requital. So how could the polytheists turn away from One Who is like that, and instead worship those who have no power of command, who cannot bring even an atom's weight of benefit, and indeed have no power at all?

<sup>10</sup> An intermediate state between death and the Day of Resurrection; it is also said to be a 'place' where the souls of the deceased will remain until the blowing of the trumpet.

By Allah, if they knew how patient Allah is with them, how He grants them well-being and shows compassion towards them even while they are challenging Him by ascribing partners to Him and showing ingratitude towards Him, and disrespecting His greatness by fabricating lies, yet still He grants them well-being and provision, they would become highly motivated to learn about Him and their hearts would be filled with love for Him, and they would hate themselves intensely for having responded to the call of the Shayṭān which leads to disgrace and loss. But they are people who do not understand.

﴿قُلْ مَنْ يُنَجِّيكُمْ مِنْ ظُلُمَاتِ الْبَرِّ وَالْبَحْرِ تَدْعُونَهُ تَضَرُّعًا وَخُفْيَةً لَئِنْ أَجَبْنَا مِنْ هَذِهِ لَتَكُونَنَّ مِنَ الشَّاكِرِينَ ﴿٦٣﴾ قُلِ اللَّهُ يُنَجِّيكُمْ مِنْهَا وَمِنْ كُلِّ كَرْبٍ ثُمَّ أَنْتُمْ مُشْرِكُونَ ﴿٦٤﴾﴾

(سورة الأنعام: ٦٣-٦٤)

- 6:63. Say: Who is it that delivers you from distress on land and sea, when you call upon Him out loud or privately [saying]: If only He would deliver us from this, we will certainly be among those who are grateful.
- 6:64. Say: It is Allah Who delivers you from this and all other adversity, yet you still ascribe partners to Him.

«Say» to these people who ascribe partners to Allah and call upon other gods besides Him, so as to make it binding upon them, as they accept the oneness of Allah's Lordship, to also accept the oneness of His divinity (and that He is the only one deserving of worship):

﴿Say: Who is it that delivers you from distress on land and sea﴾ that is, from its hardship and difficulties, when you cannot find a way out of your troubles, so you call upon your Lord, beseeching Him with humble hearts and a tongue that never ceases to offer supplication, stating your need of Him, and you say – when you are in that situation: ﴿If only He would deliver us from this﴾ hardship in which we find ourselves ﴿we will certainly be among those who are grateful﴾ to Allah; in other words, we will be among those who acknowledge His blessing and use it to help them obey their Lord, and will protect it lest they use it in acts of disobedience.

﴿Say: It is Allah Who delivers you from this and all other adversity﴾ that is, from this particular hardship and from all hardships in general ﴿yet you still ascribe partners to Him﴾ and you do not fulfil your promise to Allah; you forget the blessings that He has bestowed upon you. What proof can be clearer than this of the falsehood of polytheism and the truth of Allah's oneness?

﴿قُلْ هُوَ الْقَادِرُ عَلَىٰ أَنْ يَبْعَثَ عَلَيْكُمْ عَذَابًا مِّنْ فَوْقِكُمْ أَوْ مِنْ تَحْتِ أَرْجُلِكُمْ أَوْ يَلْبِسَكُمْ شِيْعًا وَيُذِيقَ بَعْضَكُمْ بَأْسَ بَعْضٍ ۚ أَنْظُرْ كَيْفَ نُصَرِّفُ الْآيَاتِ لَعَلَّهُمْ يَفْقَهُوْنَ ۚ وَكَذَّبَ بِهِ قَوْمُكَ وَهُوَ الْحَقُّ ۚ قُلْ لَّسْتُ عَلَيْكُمْ بِوَكِيلٍ ۝٦٦ لِّكُلِّ نَبِيٍّ مَّسْقَرٌ ۚ وَسَوْفَ تَعْلَمُوْنَ ۝٦٧﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٦٥-٦٧)

- 6:65. Say: He has the power to send punishment upon you from above you or from beneath your feet, and to divide you into discordant factions, causing some to suffer at the hands of others. See how elaborately We make the revelations clear, so that they may understand.
- 6:66. But your people deny this, although it is the truth. Say: I am not your keeper.

6:67. For everything that is foretold there is a time when it will come to pass; and you will come to know.

Allah (ﷻ) is able to send the punishment upon you from all directions, ﴿from above you or from beneath your feet, and to divide you into discordant factions, causing some to suffer at the hands of others﴾ that is, at times of turmoil and internal fighting.

He is able to do all of that, so beware of persisting in sin, lest there befall you a punishment that would bring about your ruin and destruction. Although He states that He is able to do that, yet by His mercy He has spared this Ummah from the punishment of stones raining down from above and the like, and from the punishment of being swallowed up by the earth beneath their feet.

But He may punish some whom He chooses to punish by causing them to suffer at the hands of one another; so He may give some power over others who then mistreat them, as a punishment in this world, which people may see and learn lessons from, and which people with knowledge will understand.

﴿See how elaborately We make the revelations clear﴾ that is, We make them vary and We have verses which approach the matter from different angles, so as to prove various points, but all of them are indicative of the truth

﴿so that they may understand﴾ that is, so that they may understand the reason for which they were created, and so that they may understand the teachings of Islam and the divine message.

﴿But your people deny this﴾ namely the Qur'an
 ﴿although it is the truth﴾ concerning which there is no doubt.
 ﴿Say: I am not your keeper﴾ and it is not my role to record your deeds or requite them; rather my role is to warn you and convey the message.

﴿For everything that is foretold there is a time﴾ which cannot be brought forward or put back

﴿and you will come to know﴾ the punishment of which We have warned you.

الأنعام: ٦٨-٦٩)

- 6:68. If you see people speaking scornfully about Our revelations, withdraw from them until they begin to talk of other things. If the Shayṭan causes you to forget, then as soon as you remember, do not sit with the wrongdoing people.
- 6:69. Those who fear Allah are in no way accountable for them. However, it is [their duty] to admonish them, so that they may desist from their mockery.

What is meant by speaking scornfully about the revelations of Allah is saying that which is contrary to the truth, such as presenting false ideas in an attractive manner and promoting them, praising those who hold those views, turning away from the truth, and casting aspersions on it and on those who believe in it. So Allah instructed His Messenger (ﷺ) first of all, and his Ummah too, if they see anyone speaking scornfully about the revelations of Allah in any of the ways mentioned, to turn away from them and not to attend the gatherings of those who speak scornfully on the basis of falsehood and persist in doing so, until they talk about something else, then when they talk of other matters, the prohibition mentioned no longer applies.

If there is some good purpose or benefit in talk, it is enjoined, but if it is otherwise, then it is not useful and it is not enjoined. As indulging in falsehood is condemned and criticised, in that prohibition there is implicit encouragement to search, examine and debate in order to reach the truth.

Then Allah says: ﴿If the Shayṭān causes you to forget﴾ that is, if you sit with them by way of forgetting and heedlessness, ﴿then as soon as you remember, do not sit with the wrongdoing people﴾. That includes those who indulge in falsehood and everyone who engages in unlawful talk or unlawful deeds. It is prohibited to sit with them or be present when they are doing or saying unlawful things that one is unable to stop.

This prohibition applies to the one who sits with them and does not act in accordance with Islamic teachings, such as if he joins them in their unlawful actions and deeds, or he keeps quiet and does not denounce the evil-doing. But if he does adhere to Islamic teachings by enjoining them to do good and forbidding them to do evil or to say the evil words that they utter, and that results in putting an end to the evil or reducing it, then there is no blame or sin on him in that case. Hence Allah says: ﴿Those who fear Allah are in no way accountable for them. However, it is [their duty] to admonish them, so that they may desist from their mockery﴾ that is, rather let him remind them and admonish them, so that they may fear Allah (ﷻ) and desist.

This indicates that the one who wants to admonish should use words that are most likely to help them to attain piety. It also indicates that if the reminder or admonition will push the listener further in the way of evil, to the extent that he will refrain from doing what is obligatory, then not admonishing is the better option.

﴿وَدَرِ الذِّبِّ اتَّخَذُوا دِينَهُمْ لَعِبًا وَلَهْوًا وَغَرَّتْهُمُ الْحَيَاةُ الدُّنْيَا وَذَكَّرَ بِهِ
أَن تَبْسَلَ نَفْسٌ بِمَا كَسَبَتْ لَيْسَ لَهَا مِن دُونِ اللَّهِ وَلِيٌّ وَلَا شَفِيعٌ وَإِن تَعْدِلْ

كُلَّ عَدَلٍ لَا يُؤَخِّذُ مِنْهَا أُولَئِكَ الَّذِينَ أُبْسِلُوا بِمَا كَسَبُوا لَهُمْ شَرَابٌ مِّنْ حَمِيمٍ
وَعَذَابٌ أَلِيمٌ بِمَا كَانُوا يَكْفُرُونَ ﴿٧٠﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٧٠)

- 6:70. Leave alone those who take the religion they were ordained to follow as a mere game and mockery, and are deceived by the life of this world. But admonish [with the Qur'an] lest any soul be doomed because of what it has earned, for [then] it will find no protector or intercessor to deliver it from [the punishment of] Allah, and whatever ransom it offers will not be accepted. Such are the ones who are doomed because of what they themselves have earned. They will have scalding water to drink and a painful punishment, because they disbelieved.

What is required of people is sincere devotion to Allah, by worshipping Him alone, with no partner or associate, and doing their best to earn His love and pleasure. That includes turning with all one's heart to Allah and focusing on Him. All one's efforts should be beneficial, serious and not frivolous, sincerely for the sake of Allah, and not for the purpose of showing off.

This is true devotion that is deserving of the name. As for those who claim to be following the truth and to be people of devotion and piety, whilst treating their religion as a game, whereby their hearts are distracted from loving and knowing Allah, and they turn their attention to that which will harm them and waste their time in the pursuit of falsehood, that is because any effort and striving that is not for the sake of Allah is mere play. Allah has instructed us to shun and caution such a person, and not to be deceived by him. His situation should be examined and people should be warned against his actions, and they should not be deceived by him or distracted by his failure to do that which brings one closer to Allah.

«But admonish [with the Qur'an]» that is, remind with the Qur'an, mentioning that which will benefit people, enjoining and explaining, and presenting it in an attractive manner by referring to its beauty. And mention that which is harmful to people and warn them against doing it, describing various types and explaining what is bad about it, which will prompt people to refrain from it.

All of that is «lest any soul be doomed». In other words, before a person commits sins and goes against the will of Allah, and persists in that which is to be avoided. So remind and admonish, so that people will be deterred and will refrain from doing those things.

«for [then] it will find no protector or intercessor to deliver it from [the punishment of] Allah» that is, before it is overwhelmed by its sins, for then no one will be able to benefit it, no relative or friend, for no one could help it besides Allah and no one could intercede for it.

«and whatever ransom it offers will not be accepted», not even an earthful of gold. No ransom will be accepted or be of any avail.

«Such» that is, those who are described thus
«are the ones who are doomed» and will despair of all good
«because of what they themselves have earned. They will have scalding water to drink» that is, water that has been heated to the ultimate degree, which will scald their faces and break up their bowels
«and a painful punishment, because they disbelieved».

﴿قُلْ أَدْعُوا مِنْ دُونِ اللَّهِ مَا لَا يَنْفَعُنَا وَلَا يَضُرُّنَا وَنُرَدُّ عَلَىٰ أَعْقَابِنَا بَعْدَ إِذْ هَدَيْنَا اللَّهَ كَالَّذِي اسْتَهْوَتْهُ الشَّيَاطِينُ فِي الْأَرْضِ حَيْرَانًا لَهُ أَصْحَابٌ يَدْعُونَهُ إِلَى الْهُدَىٰ أَتَيْنَا قُلْ إِنَّ هُدَى اللَّهِ هُوَ الْهُدَىٰ وَأْمَرْنَا لِنُسَلِّمَ لِرَبِّ الْعَالَمِينَ ﴿٧٦﴾ وَأَن أَقِيمُوا الصَّلَاةَ وَآتَوْهُ وَهُوَ الَّذِي إِلَيْهِ تُحْشَرُونَ ﴿٧٧﴾ وَهُوَ الَّذِي خَلَقَ السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضَ بِالْحَقِّ وَيَوْمَ يَقُولُ كُن فَيَكُونُ قَوْلُهُ الْحَقُّ وَلَهُ الْمُلْكُ يَوْمَ يُنْفَخُ

فِي الصُّورِ عَلَيْهِمُ الْعَذَابُ وَالشَّهَادَةُ وَهُوَ الْحَكِيمُ الْخَبِيرُ ﴿٧٣﴾ (سورة الأنعام:

(٧٣-٧١)

- 6:71. Say: Shall we call on others besides Allah who can neither benefit us nor harm us, and turn on our heels after Allah has guided us, like one whom the devils have caused to be confused and disoriented in the land, although he has companions calling him to guidance, saying: Come to us ? Say: Verily Allah's guidance is the only [true] guidance, and we are commanded to submit to the Lord of the worlds,
- 6:72. and to establish prayer and to fear Him, for it is to Him that you will be gathered.
- 6:73. It is He Who created the heavens and the earth for a true purpose. [Remember] the day when He will say, 'Be!' and it will be; His word is the truth. His will be the dominion on the day the Trumpet will be blown. He knows the unseen and the seen, and He is the Most Wise, the All-Aware.

﴿Say﴾ O Messenger, to those who ascribe partners to Allah and call upon others besides Him, and who call you to follow their religion, and explain to them what their gods really are, for in the case of any rational person, it would be sufficient to tell him what they really are and there would be no need to tell him explicitly not to worship them. Any rational person, if he understood the true nature of the polytheists' belief, would be sure that it is false and there would be no need to establish further proof concerning that, and hence he would say: ﴿Shall we call on others besides Allah who can neither benefit us nor harm us?﴾.

This description includes everyone who is worshipped besides Allah: he cannot bring benefit or cause harm, and he has no power or control over anything, for all power and control belongs only to Allah.

﴿and turn on our heels after Allah has guided us﴾ that is, should we turn back to misguidance after Allah has guided us, and turn back from the path that leads to paradise, and turn back to the ways that lead the one who follows them to the painful punishment?

This is a situation that no wise person would accept, for the one who is in this situation is ﴿like one whom the devils have caused to be confused and disoriented in the land﴾ that is, they have made him lose the way that leads to his goal, so he remains disoriented and confused, ﴿although he has companions calling him to guidance﴾, whilst the devils call him to doom. Thus he remains confused, not knowing which way to go.

This is the situation of all people, except those whom Allah (ﷻ) protects. They find within themselves conflicting inclinations and motives. There is the inclination towards the message of Islam, rational thinking and sound common sense; they call him to guidance and the highest possible status in paradise.

Then there is the inclination towards the Shayṭān, his followers and the self (nafs) that prompts evil; they call him to misguidance and to the lowest depths of hell.

Some of the people will follow their inclination towards guidance in all or most of their affairs.

Others will do the opposite of that.

And some will be inclined equally towards both, and will experience inner conflict. Thus you may recognise those who are destined for paradise and those who are destined for hell.

﴿Say: Verily Allah's guidance is the only [true] guidance﴾ that is, there is no guidance except the path which Allah has prescribed on the lips of His Messenger (ﷺ); anything else is misguidance which leads to doom

﴿and we are commanded to submit to the Lord of the worlds﴾ by accepting and affirming His oneness, complying with His commands and prohibitions and accepting to be His slaves. This is the greatest blessing that Allah has bestowed upon people and the best way to be.

﴿and to establish prayer﴾ that is, and we have been commanded to establish prayer with all its essential parts, conditions, sunnahs and so on.

﴿and to fear Him﴾ by doing that which He has enjoined and avoiding that which He has prohibited

﴿for it is to Him that you will be gathered﴾ that is, you will be gathered on the Day of Resurrection, then He will requite you for your deeds, good and bad.

﴿It is He Who created the heavens and the earth for a true purpose﴾, to ordain commands and prohibitions for His slaves, and to reward or punish them

﴿[Remember] the day when He will say, 'Be!' and it will be; His word is the truth﴾, concerning which there is no doubt and there is no need to repeat it, for He does not say anything in vain.

﴿His will be the dominion on the day the Trumpet will be blown﴾ that is, the Day of Resurrection. It is singled out for mention – even though He is the Sovereign of all things (this world and the hereafter) – because no one will have any sovereignty then, and there will no longer be any dominion except that of Allah, the One, the Subjugator.

﴿He knows the unseen and the seen, and He is the Most Wise, the All-Aware﴾ He is the Bestower of all blessing, Who is possessed of perfect wisdom, great kindness and knowledge that encompasses all that is secret and hidden; there is no god but He and no Lord except He.

﴿وَإِذْ قَالَ إِبْرَاهِيمُ لِأَبِيهِ مَا زَرَّ أَنْتَ تَخَذُ أَصْنَامًا ۖ إِلَٰهَةٌ ۖ إِنِّي أَنَا رَبُّكَ ۖ وَقَوْمَكَ فِي ضَلَالٍ مُّبِينٍ ۖ﴾ وَكَذَٰلِكَ نُرَىٰ إِبْرَاهِيمَ مَلَكُوتَ السَّمٰوٰتِ وَٱلْأَرْضِ وَلَيْكُونَ مِنَ

- 6:74. And [remember] when Ibrâheem said to his father Âzar: Do you take idols as gods? I see that you and your people are clearly misguided.
- 6:75. Thus We gave Ibrâheem an insight into [Allah's] mighty dominion over the heavens and the earth, so that he might be one of those who have certain faith.
- 6:76. When the night overshadowed him, he saw a star. He said: This is my lord. But when it set, he said: I do not like those that set.
- 6:77. When he saw the moon rising he said: This is my lord. But when it set, he said: If my Lord does not guide me, I will certainly be one of those who go astray.
- 6:78. When he saw the sun rising, he said: This is my lord; this is greater. But when it set, he said: O my people, I disavow all [the partners] that you ascribe to Allah.
- 6:79. Verily I have turned my face toward Him Who created the heavens and the earth, having turned away from all that is false, and I am not one of those who ascribe partners to Allah.

Here Allah says: remember the story of Ibrâheem (عليه السلام). This is in the context of praising him and highlighting his virtue in that he called people to affirm the oneness of Allah and he prohibited them to ascribe partners to Allah. He said to his father Âzar:

﴿Do you take idols as gods?﴾ For they cannot benefit or harm, and they have no power at all

﴿I see that you and your people are clearly misguided﴾ for you worship that which is not deserving of worship at all, and you fail to worship your Creator Who provides for you and has control over you.

﴿Thus﴾ when We guided him to affirm Our oneness and call people to do likewise

﴿We gave Ibrâheem an insight into [Allah's] mighty dominion over the heavens and the earth﴾ that is, so that he would see, with that insight, what those realms contain of definitive evidence and clear proof

﴿so that he might be one of those who have certain faith﴾ because the strength of faith and knowledge of all that is required will be commensurate with the strength of the evidence and proof.

﴿When the night overshadowed him, he saw a star﴾. Perhaps this refers to a heavenly body that shone more brightly than others. Hence some scholars suggested that this refers to Venus – and Allah knows best.

﴿He said: This is my lord﴾. Going along with his opponent's argument, he said: This is my lord, so let us see whether it is deserving of lordship or not, and whether there will be any proof for that, for it is not appropriate for the wise man to take something as his god without proof or evidence.

﴿But when it set﴾ that is, when that star disappeared
 ﴿he said: I do not like those that set﴾ that is, those that disappear from the one who worships them, for the object of worship should take care of the one who worships it and should manage all his affairs. As for that which disappears for a long time, how can it be deserving of worship? Is taking it as a god anything but the utmost foolishness and the worst falsehood?

﴿When he saw the moon rising﴾ he saw that it was brighter than the star and different from it

«he said: This is my lord» for the sake of argument.

«But when it set, he said: If my Lord does not guide me, I will certainly be one of those who go astray»; thus he expressed his great need for the guidance of his Lord, for he knew that if Allah did not guide him, no one could guide him, and if Allah did not help him to obey Him, no one could help him.

«When he saw the sun rising, he said: This is my lord; this is greater» than the star and the moon.

«But when it set» at that point the path of guidance became clear and the path of doom was defeated.

So «he said: O my people, I disavow all [the partners] that you ascribe to Allah», as clear proof has been established of the falsehood thereof.

«Verily I have turned my face toward Him Who created the heavens and the earth, having turned away from all that is false» that is, I have turned to Allah alone, turning away from all others «and I am not one of those who ascribe partners to Allah». Thus he disavowed polytheism and believed in the oneness of Allah, and he established proof for that. (What we have mentioned concerning the interpretation of these verses is the correct view. The context is one of debate between Ibrâheem and his people, highlighting the falseness of ascribing divinity to these heavenly bodies or anything else. As for those who say that the context is that of looking and wondering in childhood, there is no evidence for that.)

وَحَاجَّهُ قَوْمُهُ قَالَ أَتَمْنَعُونَ فِي اللَّهِ وَقَدْ هَدَانِي وَلَا أَخَافُ مَا تُشْرِكُونَ بِهِ إِلَّا
 أَنْ يَشَاءَ رَبِّي شَيْئًا وَسِعَ رَبِّي كُلَّ شَيْءٍ عِلْمًا أَفَلَا تَتَذَكَّرُونَ
 (٨٠) وَكَيْفَ أَخَافُ مَا أَشْرَكْتُمْ وَلَا تَخَافُونَ أَنَّكُمْ أَشْرَكْتُم بِاللَّهِ مَا لَمْ يُنَزَّلْ
 بِهِ عَلَيْكُمْ سُلْطَانًا فَأَيُّ الْفَرِيقَيْنِ أَحَقُّ بِالْأَمْنِ إِنْ كُنْتُمْ تَعْلَمُونَ (٨١) الَّذِينَ

ءَامَنُوا وَلَٰئِنْ يَلِيْسُوا بِإِيْمَانِهِمْ بِظُلْمٍ اُولٰٓئِكَ لَهُمُ الْاٰمَنُ وَهُمْ مُّهْتَدُوْنَ ﴿٨٢﴾ وَتِلْكَ حُجَّتُنَا ؕ اٰتَيْنٰهَا اِبْرٰهِيْمَ عَلٰى قَوْمِهٖ نَرْفَعُ دَرَجٰتٍ مِّنْ نَّشَآءُ ۚ اِنَّ رَبَّكَ حَكِيْمٌ عَلِيْمٌ ﴿٨٣﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٨٠-٨٣)

- 6:80. His people argued with him. He said: Are you arguing with me about Allah, when He has guided me? I do not fear any partner you may ascribe to Him, unless my Lord wills [that harm should reach me]. My Lord encompasses all things in His knowledge. Will you not then pay heed?
- 6:81. Why should I fear that which you ascribe as partners [to Him], when you do not fear ascribing partners to Allah for which He has not sent down to you any authority? So which side has a greater right to feel safe, if you know [the answer]?
- 6:82. It is those who believe and do not mix their faith with wrongdoing who will be truly safe, and it is they who are truly guided.
- 6:83. That was Our argument that We inspired Ibrâheem [to use] against his people. We raise in rank whomever We will. Verily your Lord is Most Wise, All-Knowing.

﴿His people argued with him. He said: Are you arguing with me about Allah, when He has guided me?﴾ That is, what benefit is there in arguing with one to whom the path of guidance has not been made clear? As for the one whom Allah has guided and who has reached the highest level of certainty, he himself will call people to what he believes in.

﴿I do not fear any partner you may ascribe to Him﴾ for they can never harm me and they can never keep any benefit from me ﴿unless my Lord wills [that harm should reach me]. My Lord encompasses all things in His knowledge. Will you not then pay heed﴾ and realise that He alone is the only One Who deserves worship?

﴿Why should I fear that which you ascribe as partners [to Him]﴾ when they are so helpless and useless

﴿when you do not fear ascribing partners to Allah for which He has not sent down to you any authority﴾ that is, except that you are merely following your whims and desires

﴿So which side has a greater right to feel safe, if you know [the answer]?﴾

Then Allah (ﷻ) says, judging between the two sides:

﴿It is those who believe and do not mix their faith with wrongdoing who will be truly safe, and it is they who are truly guided﴾, so they will be safe from fear, punishment and misery, and they will be guided to the straight path. If they do not mix their faith with wrongdoing at all, or ascription of partners to Allah, or commit sin, they will be completely safe and perfectly guided.

However, if they only avoid mixing their faith with ascription of partners to Allah, but they do some bad deeds, they will attain guidance and will basically be safe, but not perfectly so.

What this verse means is that those who do not attain both matters will be neither guided nor safe; rather their lot will be misguidance and misery.

As Allah (ﷻ) ruled that Ibrâheem should defeat his people in argument because of the definitive proof he presented, He says: ﴿That was Our argument that We inspired Ibrâheem [to use] against his people﴾ that is, We caused him thereby to prevail over them and silence them.

﴿We raise in rank whomever We will﴾ as We raised Ibrâheem (ﷺ) in rank in this world and in the hereafter. Allah raises the one who has knowledge by virtue thereof above other people, especially the one who has knowledge, and acts upon it and teaches others; Allah makes him a leader for people to follow, according to his situation, whereby his deeds are watched, his footsteps followed, and his light is sought so that people may walk in the light of his knowledge in the darkness of the night.

Allah (ﷻ) says:

«...Allah will raise in status those of you who believe and [especially] those who have been given knowledge...» (al-Mujâdilâh 58: 11)

«Verily your Lord is Most Wise, All-Knowing» so He only grants knowledge and wisdom to the right person, and He knows best who that is and how much he deserves to be granted.

﴿وَوَهَبْنَا لَهُ إِسْحَاقَ وَيَعْقُوبَ كُلًّا هَدَيْنَا وَنُوحًا هَدَيْنَا مِنْ قَبْلُ وَمِنْ ذُرِّيَّتِهِ دَاوُدَ وَسُلَيْمَانَ وَأَيُّوبَ وَيُوسُفَ وَمُوسَى وَهَارُونَ وَكَذَلِكَ نَجْزِي الْمُحْسِنِينَ ﴿٨٤﴾ وَزَكَرِيَّا وَيَحْيَى وَعِيسَى وَإِيلَاسَ كُلٌّ مِنَ الصَّالِحِينَ ﴿٨٥﴾ وَإِسْمَاعِيلَ وَإِسْحَاقَ وَيُوشَعَ وَلُوطًا كُلًّا فَضَّلْنَا عَلَى الْعَالَمِينَ ﴿٨٦﴾ وَمِنْ آبَائِهِمْ وَذُرِّيَّاتِهِمْ وَإِخْوَانِهِمْ وَاجْتَبَيْنَاهُمْ وَهَدَيْنَاهُمْ إِلَى صِرَاطٍ مُسْتَقِيمٍ ﴿٨٧﴾ ذَلِكَ هُدَى اللَّهِ يَهْدِي بِهِ مَنْ يَشَاءُ مِنْ عِبَادِهِ وَلَوْ أَشْرَكُوا لَحِطَ اللَّهُ بِمَا كَانُوا يَعْمَلُونَ ﴿٨٨﴾ أُولَئِكَ الَّذِينَ آتَيْنَاهُمُ الْكِتَابَ وَالْحِكْمَ وَالنُّبُوَّةَ فَإِنْ يَكْفُرْ بِهَا هَؤُلَاءِ فَقَدْ وَكَلْنَا بِهَا قَوْمًا لَيَكْفُرُنَّ بِهَا أُولَئِكَ الَّذِينَ هَدَى اللَّهُ فَبِهِدْهُمْ أَقْتَدِ ۚ قُلْ لَا أَشْتَكُكُمْ عَلَيْهِ أَجْرًا إِنْ هُوَ إِلَّا ذِكْرٌ لِلْعَالَمِينَ ﴿٩٠﴾﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٨٤-٩٠)

6:84. We gave him Is-hâq and Ya'qoob, both of whom We guided; before him, We guided Nooh, and among his progeny, [We guided] Dâwood, Sulaymân, Ayyoob, Yoosuf, Moosâ and Hâroon. Thus do We reward those who do good.

6:85. And [We guided] Zakariyâ, Yahyâ, 'Eesâ and Ilyâs; each was among the righteous.

6:86. And [We guided] Ismâ'eel, Alyasa', Yoonus and Loot; each of them We favoured above all other people [of their own times].

- 6:87. And [We guided] some of their forefathers, progeny and brothers; We chose them and guided them to a straight path.
- 6:88. This is the guidance of Allah, with which He guides whomever He will among His slaves. If they had ascribed partners to Him, all their deeds would have come to nothing.
- 6:89. These were the men to whom We gave the scripture, wisdom and prophethood. If these people [the Makkans] disbelieve therein, then We have entrusted it to a people who do not disbelieve therein.
- 6:90. Those [Prophets] are the ones whom Allah guided; let their guidance be an example to follow. Say: No reward do I ask of you for this. It is but a reminder to the worlds.

Having mentioned His slave and close friend Ibrâheem, Allah (ﷻ) then mentions what He bestowed upon him of knowledge, the message and patience, and what Allah honoured him with of righteous offspring, for He made the best of creation one of his lineage; how great is this tremendous honour, which has no comparison.

﴿We gave him Is-hâq and Ya'qoob﴾ his son, who is also known as Isrâ'eel (Israel); he was the father of a people whom Allah favoured over all others (of their own time).

﴿both of whom We guided﴾ to the straight path, in terms of both knowledge and action.

﴿before him, We guided Nooh﴾. This was a special kind of guidance which was only bestowed upon a few people, namely the Messengers of strong resolve, of whom he (Nooh) was one.

﴿and among his progeny﴾ it may be that the pronoun refers to Nooh, as he was the last mentioned, because among those whom Allah mentions is Looṭ, who was a descendent of Nooh but not of Ibrâheem, because he was his nephew (brother's son).

Or it may be that the pronoun refers to Ibrâheem, because the context is one of praising him. Even though Looṭ was not one of his descendants, he was one of those who came to believe at Ibrâheem's hands, and his virtue in guiding Loot is more significant than if he were merely his son.

«[We guided] Dâwood, Sulaymân» the son of Dâwood, «Ayyoob, Yoosuf» the son of Ya'qoob, «Moosâ and Hâroon» the two sons of 'Imrân.

«Thus» that is, just as We made the progeny of Ibrâheem al-Khaleel righteous, because he did well in worshipping his Lord and in benefitting people

«do We reward those who do good» by bestowing upon them generous praise and righteous offspring, commensurate with their good deeds.

«And [We guided] Zakariyâ, Yaḥyâ» his son

«'Eesâ» the son of Maryam

«and Ilyâs; each» of these people «was among the righteous» in their attitude, deeds and knowledge; in fact they were leaders of the righteous and foremost among them.

«And [We guided] Ismâ'eel» the son of Ibrâheem, the father of the people who are the best of peoples, namely the Arab people, and father of the leader of the children of Adam, Muhammad (ﷺ).

«Alyasa', Yoonus» the son of Mattâ

«and Loot» the son of Hârân, the brother of Ibrâheem.

«each of them» that is, each of these Prophets and Messengers «each of them We favoured above all other people [of their own times]» because the degrees of virtue are four, as Allah mentions in the verse:

«Those who obey Allah and the Messenger are the ones who will be with those whom Allah has blessed of the Prophets, the strong and true in faith, the martyrs and the righteous...» (an-Nisâ' 4: 69)

These are among the highest degrees; in fact they are the best of all the Messengers.

The Messengers whose stories Allah tells in His Book are undoubtedly of higher status than those whose stories He did not tell us.

«And [We guided] some of their forefathers» that is, the forefathers of those mentioned

«progeny and brothers» that is, We guided some of the forefathers, progeny and brothers of those mentioned

«We chose them» that is, selected them

«and guided them to a straight path»

«This» namely the guidance mentioned

«is the guidance of Allah» and there is no guidance except His «with which He guides whomever He will among His slaves». So seek guidance from Him, for if He does not guide you, no one else can guide you. Among those whom He chose to guide were the people mentioned here.

«If they had ascribed partners to Him», hypothetically speaking, «all their deeds would have come to nothing», for ascribing partners to Allah invalidates all good deeds and incurs eternity in hell. If these chosen elite had ascribed partners to Allah – which is unlikely as they are far above doing such a thing – all their good deeds would come to nothing, and this applies even more to others.

«Those [Prophets]» who are mentioned here

«are the ones whom Allah guided; let their guidance be an example to follow» that is, follow – O noble Messenger – in the footsteps of these chosen Prophets, and tread their path.

He complied with this command and followed the guidance of the Messengers who came before him; he acquired all perfect attributes and virtues by means of which he surpassed all people and was the leader of the Messengers, foremost among the pious – may the blessings and peace of Allah be upon him and upon all of them.

Based on the fact that he had the example of all the previous Prophets and he followed their example, some of the Ṣaḥâbah quoted this verse as evidence that the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) was the best of all the Messengers.

«Say» to these people who turn away from your call

«No reward do I ask of you for this» that is, I do not ask you for any payment or fee in return for conveying the message to you and calling you to it, for that may be a reason for you to refuse to heed the call. Rather my reward is due only from Allah.

«It is but a reminder to the worlds» so that they may be reminded of that which will benefit them so that they may do it, and of that which will harm them so they may avoid it, and so that they may be reminded of their Lord and of His names and attributes, and be reminded of good manners and the ways that lead to them, and of bad manners and the ways that lead to them. This was a reminder to the worlds and was the greatest blessing that Allah bestowed upon them, so they should accept it and give thanks for it.

(٩١)

- 6:91. They did not give due recognition to Allah when they said: Allah has not sent down any revelation to any human being. Say: Who then sent down the scripture that Moosâ brought as a light and guidance to the people, but you made it into separate sheets, showing some but concealing many, although now you have been taught what neither you nor your forefathers knew before? Say: Allah [sent it down]. Then leave them to amuse themselves with their vain discourse.

This is a denunciation of those who rejected the message (among the Jews and the polytheists), and claimed that Allah never sent anything down to any human being. The one who says such a thing has not given due recognition to Allah and has not venerated Him as He deserves to be venerated, because this is casting aspersions upon His wisdom and claiming that He neglected His slaves and did not issue any commands and prohibitions to them; it is a denial of the greatest blessing that Allah has bestowed upon His slaves, which is the message which His slaves have no way of attaining happiness, dignity and prosperity except by following it. What aspersions towards Allah could be greater than this?

﴿Say﴾ to them – confirming the corrupt nature of their view and asking them what they would confirm –

﴿Say: Who then sent down the scripture that Moosâ brought﴾ namely the Torah

﴿as a light﴾ in the darkness of ignorance

﴿and guidance﴾ away from misguidance and towards the straight path in terms of knowledge and practical application. This is the Book which was widely known and famous, to the extent that they copied it on separate sheets and used it however they wanted; whatever was in accordance with their whims and desires they would show and make it known, and whatever was contrary to their whims and desires, they would hide it and conceal it. That happened a great deal.

﴿although now you have been taught﴾ a great deal of knowledge because of that noble Book

﴿what neither you nor your forefathers knew before﴾ so when they ask you about the one who sent down this great Book, which has those qualities, then respond to this question and ﴿Say: Allah [sent it down]﴾. Then the truth will become clear as day and proof will be established against them; once this is established and you have proven your point, «Then leave them to amuse themselves with their vain discourse» that is, leave them to indulge in falsehood and amuse themselves with things that are of no benefit, until the day comes of which they were warned.

﴿وَهَذَا كِتَابٌ أَنْزَلْنَاهُ مُبَارَكٌ مُصَدِّقُ الَّذِي بَيْنَ يَدَيْهِ وَلِتُنْذِرَ أُمَّ الْقُرَى وَمَنْ حَوْلَهَا
وَالَّذِينَ يُؤْمِنُونَ بِالْآخِرَةِ يُؤْمِنُونَ بِهِ وَهُمْ عَلَى صَلَاتِهِمْ يُحَافِظُونَ﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٩٢)

(٩٢)

- 6:92. This is a blessed Book that We have sent down, confirming what came before it, so that you may warn the Mother of Cities [Makkah] and all those around it. Those who believe in the hereafter believe in it [this Book] and they are ever mindful of their prayers.

«This» – the Qur'an «is a blessed Book that We have sent down» that is, it is blessed because there is a great deal of good in it and abundant benefits

«confirming what came before it» that is, in accordance with the previous Books, attesting to their truth.

«so that you may warn the Mother of Cities [Makkah] and all those around it» that is, We have sent it down also, so that you may warn the Mother of Cities, namely Makkah al-Mukarramah, and those around it in the regions of Arabia and indeed in all lands. So warn the people of the punishment of Allah and how it came upon previous nations, and alert them to the implications of that.

«Those who believe in the hereafter believe in it [this Book]» because if fear is in the heart, the heart will be filled with faith and the individual will do that which pleases Allah.

﴿and they are ever mindful of their prayers﴾ that is, they persist in doing them regularly, fulfilling the necessary conditions and observing their limits and etiquette, and perfecting them. May Allah make us among them.

﴿وَمَنْ أَظْلَمُ مِمَّنْ افْتَرَىٰ عَلَى اللَّهِ كَذِبًا أَوْ قَالَ أُوحِيَ إِلَيَّ وَلَمْ يُوحَ إِلَيْهِ شَيْءٌ وَمَنْ قَالَ سَأُنْزِلُ
مِثْلَ مَا أَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ وَلَوْ تَرَىٰ إِذِ الظَّالِمُونَ فِي غَمَرَاتِ الْمَوْتِ وَالْمَلَائِكَةُ بَاسِطُوا
أَيْدِيهِمْ أَخْرِجُوا أَنْفُسَكُمُ الْيَوْمَ تُجْزَوْنَ عَذَابَ الْهُونِ بِمَا كُنْتُمْ تَقُولُونَ عَلَى
اللَّهِ غَيْرَ الْحَقِّ وَكُنْتُمْ عَنْ آيَاتِهِ تَسْتَكْبِرُونَ ﴿٩٣﴾ وَلَقَدْ جِئْتُمُونَا فَرَادَىٰ كَمَا خَلَقْنَاكُمْ
أَوَّلَ مَرَّةٍ وَتَرَكْتُمْ مَا خَوَّلْنَاكُمْ وَرَاءَ ظُهُورِكُمْ وَمَا نَرَىٰ مَعَكُمْ شُفَعَاءَكُمُ الَّذِينَ زَعَمْتُمْ
أَنَّهُمْ فِيكُمْ شُرَكَاءُ لَقَدْ تَقَطَّعَ بَيْنَكُمْ وَضَلَّ عَنْكُمْ مَا كُنْتُمْ زَعُمُونَ ﴿٩٤﴾﴾ (سورة

الأنعام: ٩٣-٩٤)

- 6:93. Who does greater evil than he who fabricates lies against Allah or says: I have received revelation, when he has received none, or who says: I will bring down the like of what Allah has sent down? If you [O Muhammad] could but see the evildoers when they are in the throes of death and the angels are stretching out their hands [saying]: Give up your souls! Today you will be recompensed with a humiliating punishment, because you used to tell lies against Allah and you arrogantly rejected His revelations.
- 6:94. Now you have come to Us alone, as We created you the first time, and you have left behind all that We had bestowed on you. We do not see with you your intercessors who you claimed were entitled to a share of your worship and devotion. Now all ties between you have been severed and that which you presumed is lost from you.

Here Allah says: No one does more wrong or greater evil than the one who tells lies against Allah, by attributing to Him words or rulings that have nothing to do with Him. Indeed this is the worst of characteristics, because it involves lying and changing religious teachings, both fundamental and minor issues, and attributing that to Allah. This is one of the worst of evil deeds.

It also includes making false claims of prophethood and mendaciously claiming that one received revelation. In addition to telling lies against Allah and audaciously challenging Him, such a person also demands that people should follow him and he strives to make them do that, regarding it as permissible to shed the blood and seize the wealth of anyone who goes against him.

This verse refers to all those who falsely claimed to be prophets, such as Musaylimah al-Kadh-dhâb, al-Aswad al-'Ansi, al-Mukhtâr and others of their ilk.

﴿or who says: I will bring down the like of what Allah has sent down﴾ that is, who does greater evil than one who claims that he is able to do what Allah can do, and tries to compete with Allah in His decrees and to prescribe laws as Allah does? This includes everyone who claims that he is able to compete with the Qur'an and produce something similar to it.

What wrongdoing can be greater than the claim of one who is needy and helpless in and of himself, and imperfect in all ways, that he is able to match the One Who is most strong and independent of means, Who is possessed of absolute perfection in all ways, in His essence, names and attributes?

After criticising the wrongdoers, Allah then mentions what He has prepared of punishment at the moment of death and on the Day of Resurrection: ﴿If you [O Muhammad] could but see the evildoers when they are in the throes of death﴾ that is, their great terror and dreadful anguish, you would see something indescribably frightening.

﴿and the angels are stretching out their hands﴾ towards those dying wrongdoers, beating and tormenting them, and saying as they are pulling out their anguished souls that are reluctant to leave their bodies: ﴿Give up your souls! Today you will be recompensed with a humiliating punishment﴾ that is, a severe punishment that will humiliate you, as the recompense fits the nature of the deed.

This punishment is ﴿because you used to tell lies against Allah﴾, because you lied about Him and rejected the truth that was brought by the Messengers

﴿and you arrogantly rejected His revelations﴾ that is, you thought yourselves to be above submitting to His revelations and rulings. This is indicative of punishment or bliss in al-barzakh. These words and the punishment that is aimed at them occur at the time of death, just before and afterwards. This indicates that the soul is a physical being that may enter and exit, and be addressed; it inhabits the body and departs from it. This refers to their condition in al-barzakh.

As for the Day of Resurrection, when they reach it they will arrive bankrupt and alone, with no family, wealth, children, troops or supporters, as Allah created them the first time, bereft of all things.

On that day, the individual will be separated from everything that he had in this world, apart from his righteous deeds and bad deeds, which are the currency of the hereafter. The outcome in the hereafter will be based on these deeds: good and bad, pleasure and pain, torment and bliss, will all be determined on the basis of deeds. It is deeds that will benefit or harm, cause misery or bring happiness. All other things, such as one's spouse, children, wealth and supporters, will be mere accessories and temporary conveniences. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿Now you have come to Us alone, as We created you the first time, and you have left behind all that We had bestowed on you﴾ that is, everything We gave you and blessed you with; they cannot help you in any way. ﴿We do not see with you your intercessors who you claimed were entitled to a share of your worship and devotion﴾.

The polytheists ascribed partners to Allah, and they worshipped alongside Him the angels, the Prophets, the righteous and others. They are all slaves of Allah, but they gave a share of themselves and of their worship to these created beings, and this claim of theirs was wrongdoing on their part. All creatures are slaves of Allah, and Allah is their Sovereign and the only One Who is deserving of their worship. On the Day of Resurrection, they will be rebuked for joining others in worship with Allah and devoting worship to some of His slaves, ascribing to them the status of the Creator and Sovereign, and these words will be said to them.

«We do not see with you your intercessors who you claimed were entitled to a share of your worship and devotion. Now all ties between you have been severed» that is, the connection between you and your so-called partners, in the sense of intercession and otherwise, has been cut off, and is of no help or benefit to you.

«and that which you presumed is lost from you», whether it is gain, security, happiness, or salvation, whatever the Shayṭān made fair-seeming to you, so that you held it dear and uttered it with your tongues. You were deceived by this false claim, which has no basis in reality, and now that the opposite of what you claimed has become clear to you, you can plainly see that you are losers and have lost your selves, your families and your wealth.

الأنعام: ٩٥-٩٨)

- 6:95. Verily Allah is the One Who cleaves the grain and the date stone [and causes them to sprout]. He brings forth the living from the dead, and He is the One Who brings forth the dead from the living. Such is Allah; so how could they be turned away [from the truth]?
- 6:96. He is the One Who cleaves the daybreak [from the dark of night]. He has made the night for rest, and the sun and moon for the reckoning [of time]. That is the decree of the Almighty, All-Knowing.
- 6:97. It is He Who made the stars for you, so that you may navigate by them in darkness [or when you lose your way] on land and sea. Indeed We have explained Our signs in detail for people who have knowledge.
- 6:98. It is He Who has created you from a single soul, then a repository and a depository. Indeed We have explained Our signs in detail for people who have understanding.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us of His perfection, the greatness of His authority, the power of His might, the vastness of His mercy, the comprehensive nature of His generosity and His great care for His creation.

«Verily Allah is the One Who cleaves the grain» this includes all seeds that people plant themselves, as well as those that they do not plant themselves, such as the seeds that Allah disperses in the wilderness. He cleaves or splits the seeds of crops and plants of various types which are used for all kinds of purposes.

He cleaves or splits the stones or pits from which trees grow, such as date palms, fruit trees and so on, from which humans, livestock and other animals benefit, feeding on that which grows from the seeds and stones that Allah splits. They eat from them and benefit from them in all kinds of ways, as ordained by Allah.

Allah shows them examples of His kindness and generosity that dazzle the mind of the most rational people; He shows them the brilliance of His creation and the perfection of His wisdom, by which they may know Him and affirm His oneness, and they may realise that He is the Truth and that worship of anything other than Him is false.

﴿He brings forth the living from the dead﴾ as He brings forth sperm from the semen, the chick from the egg, and plants and trees from seeds and stones (of dates and the like).

﴿and He is the One Who brings forth the dead﴾ – this refers to that which does not grow or that which does not have a soul

﴿from the living﴾, as He brings forth stones (of dates and the like) and seeds from trees and plants, and he brings forth eggs from birds, and so on.

﴿Such﴾ that is, the One Who does that is unique in His creation and control of these things

﴿is Allah﴾ your Lord; that is, He is the only One Who is divine and worthy of worship from all of His creation, and He is the One Who bestows His blessings upon all of creation and nourishes them by His bounty

﴿so how could they be turned away [from the truth]?﴾ That is, how could they be diverted and turn away from worship of the One Who is like that, and worship instead that which has no power over itself to bring benefit or cause harm, and no control over its own life, death or resurrection?

Having referred to the blessing of creating provision, Allah (ﷻ) then mentions the blessing of providing shelter and creating everything that His slaves need of light and darkness, and the benefits and interests that results from that, as He says:

﴿He is the One Who cleaves the daybreak [from the dark of night]﴾ that is, just as He cleaves the seed and date stone, He also cleaves the depths of darkness of the night, which envelops everything on the face of the earth, with the light of dawn which He cleaves gradually, until the darkness of night disappears entirely and is followed by the brightness of daylight, in which people go about their business and earn their livelihood, and tend to their interests, both spiritual and worldly.

Because people need peace, calm and rest, which cannot be attained in the light of day, Allah ﴿has made the night for rest﴾, during which humans go back to their homes and sleep, animals go back to their pens and barns, and birds go back to their nests and roosts, and they all have their share of rest. Then Allah takes away the night by bringing the daylight, and so it will continue until the Day of Resurrection.

﴿and﴾ Allah has made ﴿the sun and moon for the reckoning [of time]﴾, so as to organise the times for acts of worship and the terms of transactions, and so that one may know how much time has passed. Were it not for the existence of the sun and moon, and their alternation and changes, most people would not know these things and they would not be common knowledge; rather these matters would be known only to a few individuals after a great deal of effort, and people would miss out on these essential benefits.

﴿That﴾ namely what has been mentioned above ﴿is the decree of the Almighty, All-Knowing﴾ to Whom – by His might – these mighty creations submit, and so they move in submission to His command in such a way that they do not go beyond the course that Allah has set for them, and they do not go ahead or fall behind.

﴿All-Knowing﴾ – His knowledge encompasses all things, seen and unseen, first and last.

One of the rational proofs of the all-encompassing nature of His knowledge is the fact that these mighty creations are subjugated to His control and He makes them run according to a brilliant and precise system that is dazzling in its beauty and perfection, and the way in which it serves people's interests in accordance with divine wisdom.

﴿It is He Who made the stars for you, so that you may navigate by them in darkness [or when you lose your way] on land and sea﴾. If you lose your way or the traveller is not sure which direction to take, Allah has made the stars means by which humans may find their way when travelling for their interests or for the purpose of trade. For example, there are stars which are always seen and their position does not change, and there are other stars whose position always changes, but people of knowledge are aware of that and can work out directions and times from that.

This verse and similar verses indicate that it is prescribed to learn about the movement and positions of the stars, a science that is called astronomy, for navigation is not possible without it.

﴿Indeed We have explained Our signs in detail﴾ that is, We have clarified them and distinguished each type from another, so that the signs of Allah are clear and obvious

﴿for people who have knowledge﴾ that is, for people of knowledge, for they are the ones who are addressed here and from whom a response is required, unlike the ignorant and harsh people who turn away from the signs of Allah and from the knowledge brought by the Messengers, for the explanation will be of no benefit to them and will not dispel their confusion or clarify anything that they do not understand.

﴿It is He Who has created you from a single soul﴾, namely Adam (ﷺ). Allah created this human race from him, that has filled the earth and is still increasing and growing, and that varies so greatly in character and physical characteristics that it can scarcely be controlled or described.

Allah created for them a repository; that is a place where they end up and to which they are driven, which is the abode of settlement after which there is nothing. That is the realm which they were created to inhabit and they were placed in this world to strive for it and to do all sorts of activities that will lead to its development and enhancement.

Allah deposited them in the loins of their fathers and the wombs of their mothers, then in this world, then in al-barzakh, and all of these are temporary abodes, which will not last forever. Rather the individual will move on from them until he reaches the permanent realm. As for this world, it is only transient.

«Indeed We have explained Our signs in detail for people who have understanding» of the signs of Allah, and are able to infer proof and evidence from them.

﴿وَهُوَ الَّذِي أَنْزَلَ مِنَ السَّمَاءِ مَاءً فَأَخْرَجْنَا بِهِ نَبَاتَ كُلِّ شَيْءٍ فَأَخْرَجْنَا مِنْهُ خَضِرًا نُخْرِجُ مِنْهُ حَبًّا مُتَرَاكِبًا وَمِنَ النَّخْلِ مِن طَلْعِهَا قِنْوَانٌ دَانِيَةٌ وَجَنَّاتٍ مِّنْ أَعْنَابٍ وَالزَّيْتُونَ وَالرُّمَّانَ مُشْتَبِهًا وَغَيْرَ مُتَشَبِهٍ انظُرُوا إِلَى ثَمَرِهِ إِذَا أَثْمَرَ وَيَنْعِهِ إِنَّ فِي ذَٰلِكُمْ لَآيَاتٍ لِّقَوْمٍ يُؤْمِنُونَ ﴿٩٩﴾﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ٩٩)

- 6:99. It is He Who sends down water from the sky, with which We bring forth all kinds of vegetation. From it We bring forth green shoots, from which We produce grain in close-packed rows. From the spathes of the date palm [come] low-hanging clusters of dates. [With the water We also bring forth] gardens of grapevines, and olive and pomegranate trees, similar [in some ways] yet dissimilar [in others]. Watch their fruits as they grow and ripen. Surely in that there are signs for people who believe.

This is one of the greatest blessings that all creatures are in need of, both humans and others. Allah repeatedly sends down water from the sky at times when people need it, and He causes to grow thereby everything that people and animals eat, so they are nourished by the bounty of Allah and they enjoy His provision and rejoice in His kindness, and He relieves them of drought, despair and famine. So their hearts rejoice and their faces become cheerful, and people attain the mercy of the Most Gracious, Most Merciful, through which they find joy and are abundantly nourished. In return they are required to do their utmost to give thanks to the One Who has bestowed these blessings upon them, to worship Him alone, to turn to Him and to love Him.

Having mentioned in general terms what grows by means of this rain, namely all kinds of trees and plants, Allah then mentions in particular grains and dates, because of their many benefits and because they are staple foods for the majority of humankind.

«From it We bring forth green shoots, from which We produce» that is, from those green plants, «grain in close-packed rows» that is, one row above another, such as wheat, barley, corn, rice and other kinds of grains.

«From the spathes of the date palm» this refers to the vessel before the bunch of dates appears from it. From that vessel Allah brings forth «low-hanging clusters of dates» that is, they are close at hand and easy to pick for the one who wants to do so. It is not difficult to pick them from the palm tree even if it is tall, because it has something like steps on its trunk and is easy to climb.

«[With the water We also bring forth] gardens of grapevines, and olive and pomegranate trees». These trees provide many benefits, hence Allah singles them out for mention after having mentioned trees and plants in general terms.

«similar [in some ways] yet dissimilar [in others]» it may be that this refers to pomegranates and olives; that is, they are similar in terms of the tree and its leaves, but not in terms of the fruit. Or it may be that it refers to all kinds of trees and their fruits, and that some of them resemble one another and are similar in some ways, and others are not similar to one another. But all of them are beneficial to people, as they enjoy their fruits, find nourishment in them and also learn lessons from them, which Allah enjoins them to do: ﴿Watch﴾ that is, observe, contemplate and reflect on ﴿their fruits﴾ that is, observe all trees, especially the date palm, when they begin to bear fruit.

﴿as they grow and ripen﴾ that is, observe it at the time when the fruit appears and the time when it ripens, for in that there are lessons and signs which are indicative of the mercy of Allah, the vastness of His kindness and generosity, and the perfect nature of His power and His care for His slaves.

But not everyone ponders and reflects, and not everyone thinks and understands the intended meaning. Hence Allah (ﷻ) stated that only the believers benefit from His signs: ﴿Surely in that there are signs for people who believe﴾.

The faith of the believers makes them strive in accordance with the dictates of faith, part of which is to contemplate the signs of Allah and learn from them the lessons to which they point, and what is indicated by sound reason, common sense and Islamic teaching.

﴿وَجَعَلُوا لِلَّهِ شُرَكَاءَ الْجِنَّ وَخَلَقَهُمْ وَخَرَقُوا لَهُ بَنِينَ وَبَنَاتٍ بِغَيْرِ عِلْمٍ سُبْحَانَكَ وَتَعَالَى عَمَّا يُصِفُونَ﴾ (١٠٠) بَدِيعُ السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ أَنَّى يَكُونُ لَهُ وَلَدٌ وَلَمْ تَكُن لَّهُ صَاحِبَةٌ وَخَلَقَ كُلَّ شَيْءٍ وَهُوَ بِكُلِّ شَيْءٍ عَلِيمٌ ﴿١٠١﴾ ذَلِكَ كُمُ اللَّهُ رَبُّكُمْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا هُوَ خَلَقَ كُلَّ شَيْءٍ فَقَاعْبُدُوهُ وَهُوَ عَلَى كُلِّ شَيْءٍ وَكِيلٌ ﴿١٠٢﴾ لَا تَدْرِكُهُ الْآبْصَارُ وَهُوَ يُدْرِكُ الْآبْصَارَ وَهُوَ اللَّطِيفُ الْخَبِيرُ ﴿١٠٣﴾ قَدْ جَاءَكُمْ بِصَافِرٍ مِنْ رَبِّكُمْ فَمَنْ أَبْصَرَ فَلِنَفْسِهِ وَمَنْ عَمِيَ فَعَلَيْهَا وَمَا أَنَا عَلَيْكُمْ بِحَفِظٍ ﴿١٠٤﴾﴾ (سورة الأنعام)

(١٠٠-١٠٤)

- 6:100. They regard the jinn as partners of Allah, although He created them, and they falsely attribute to Him sons and daughters without any knowledge. Glory be to Him, and exalted be He far above what they ascribe [to Him].
- 6:101. [He is] the Originator of the heavens and the earth; how could He have a son when He has no wife? He created all things, and He has full knowledge of all things.
- 6:102. Such is Allah your Lord. There is no god but He, the Creator of all things. So worship Him, for He is in charge of all things.
- 6:103. No vision can encompass Him, whereas He encompasses all vision. He is the Knower of subtleties, the All-Aware.
- 6:104. Clear proofs have come to you from your Lord. Whoever sees [the truth], it will be for [the good of] his own soul; whoever is blind [to the truth], it will be to his own detriment. I am not your keeper.

Here Allah tells us that despite His kindness to His slaves, and His showing them His clear signs and proof, the polytheists, such as the Quraysh and others, ascribe to Him so-called partners whom they worship, including some of the jinn and angels who were themselves created by Allah and who possess no characteristics of lordship or divinity at all. They described them as partners to the One Who alone possesses the power of creation and command, and is the Bestower of all kinds of blessings, and Who has the power to ward off all calamities. Thus the polytheists fabricated and invented of their own accord sons and daughters that they falsely ascribed to Allah, with no knowledge whatsoever.

Who does more wrong than one who speaks of Allah without knowledge and falsely attributes to Him the worst of shortcomings, which he should declare Allah to be far above?

Therefore He declared Himself to be far above the fabrications of the polytheists, as He said: ﴿Glory be to Him, and exalted be He far above what they ascribe [to Him]]. For He possesses all attributes of perfection and is far above all shortcomings, faults and defects.

«[He is] the Originator of the heavens and the earth» that is, their Creator, the One Who created them in a precise manner with no precedent, in the most precise and beautiful manner such as not even the people of the greatest reason could invent, and He has no partner in the creation thereof.

«how could He have a son when He has no wife?» That is, how could Allah have a son when He is the Almighty God, who has no wife and has no need of anything that He has created, whilst they are all in need of Him in all situations?

A son must inevitably be of the same nature as his father, but Allah is the Creator of all things and nothing that He has created is like Allah in any way whatsoever.

Having mentioned His creation of things in general, Allah then states that His knowledge encompasses all of them, as He says: «He created all things, and He has full knowledge of all things». Mention of knowledge after creation hints at rational evidence for His definitive knowledge of all things, and that evidence is the perfect design and brilliance of these created things. This points to the vastness of the Creator's knowledge and the perfect nature of His wisdom, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

«How could He Who created not know His own creation, when He is the Knower of subtleties, the All-Aware?» (al-Mulk 67: 14)

– and:

«Is not He Who created the heavens and the earth able to create the like of them?»<sup>11</sup> Yes indeed, for He is the Creator of all, the All-Knowing.» (Yâ Seen 36: 81)

---

<sup>11</sup> That is, He is able to recreate them (on the Day of Resurrection) exactly as they were in the first creation. (as-Sa'di)

﴿Such﴾ that is, the One Who created all of this and ordained it ﴿is Allah your Lord﴾ that is, He is the only one to be worshipped, the only One Who is deserving of the utmost humility and love, the Lord Who is in charge of all His creation and He bestows all kinds of blessings and wards off all kinds of calamities.

﴿There is no god but He, the Creator of all things. So worship Him﴾ that is, as it is proven and established that it is Allah besides Whom there is no other god, devote all kinds of worship to Him alone and make it sincerely for Allah alone, seeking thereby His Countenance, for this is the purpose for which they were created:

﴿I have not created the jinn and humans except to worship Me.﴾
(adh-Dhāriyāt 51: 56)

﴿for He is in charge of all things﴾ that is, all things are under the control of Allah, for He creates and controls them, and they are all at His disposal.

It is well known that the soundness, perfection and proper function of anything that is put under someone's control is dependent upon how good the one in charge of it is, but this applies to people and is not applicable when speaking of Allah (ﷻ) being in charge of things, because their being in charge is on behalf of someone else, and the proxy receives instructions from the one who put him in charge.

But when we speak of Allah (ﷻ) being in charge, He is in charge by and for Himself, which is indicative of His perfect knowledge, proper running of affairs, excellence and justice. It is not possible for anyone to check on Him or find flaws or problems in His creation or find any faults or shortcomings in the way in which He manages things.

One aspect of His being in charge is that He undertook to explain His religion and protect it from anything that may undermine or alter it. He also undertook to protect the believers from that which may undermine or be detrimental to their faith and religious commitment.

﴿No vision can encompass Him﴾ because of His greatness, majesty and perfection. Yet people will be able to see Him and have the joy of gazing upon His Countenance (in the hereafter). Saying that no vision can encompass Him does not mean that people will not see Him; rather it implicitly confirms that. As the verse denies that vision will be able to encompass Him – although encompassing is one of the main characteristics of vision – this indicates that they will see Him, but not encompass Him with their vision.

If He had wanted to say that they will not see Him, He would have said “No vision can see Him” and the like. Thus it is known that there is nothing in this verse to support the view of those who deny the divine attributes and say that they will not see their Lord in the hereafter; rather it is indicative of the opposite of what they say.

﴿whereas He encompasses all vision﴾ that is, He is the One Whose knowledge encompasses all things, visible and hidden; His hearing encompasses all sounds, audible and inaudible; His sight encompasses all that may be seen, small and great. Hence He says: ﴿He is the Knower of subtleties, the All-Aware﴾, Whose knowledge and awareness are so subtle and precise that they encompass everything that is hidden in people’s hearts and innermost selves.

By His subtle knowledge He drives His slave to that which leads him to carry out his religious duties and brings him to that point in ways of which he is not aware and did not plan for. And He leads him to eternal happiness and success in ways that he never anticipated. He may even decree things that a person dislikes and finds hard, so he calls upon Allah to grant him relief, because He knows what is best for the person’s religious commitment and that his reaching perfection is connected to that thing. Glory be to the One who is the Knower of subtleties and is Most Merciful towards the believers.

﴿Clear proofs have come to you from your Lord. Whoever sees [the truth], it will be for [the good of] his own soul; whoever is blind [to the truth], it will be to his own detriment. I am not your keeper﴾.

Having mentioned clear signs and proofs, which point to the truth, Allah then draws attention to them and states that guidance and its opposite are for their own sake.

«Clear proofs have come to you from your Lord» that is, verses that point to the truth and make it as clear as day, because of what they contain of eloquence and clarity, and what they discuss of sublime meanings and beautiful facts, because they come from the Lord Who bestows all kinds of blessings, visible and invisible, upon His creation, the best of which is the sending of clear revelations that explain different issues.

«Whoever sees [the truth]» Through the lessons he learned from those revelations and acts upon it,
 «it will be for [the good of] his own soul» for Allah is independent of means, Most Praiseworthy
 «whoever is blind [to the truth]» in that he was shown but failed to see, and he was warned but failed to pay heed, and the truth was shown to him but he did not submit to it or humble himself, his blindness will only harm him.

«I» – this refers to the Messenger (ﷺ)
 «am not your keeper» that is, I do not watch over your deeds constantly; rather all I have to do is convey the message clearly, and I have fulfilled my duty and conveyed that which Allah revealed to me. That is my task, and anything apart from that is not up to me.

يَدْعُونَ مِنْ دُونِ اللَّهِ فَيَسُبُّوا اللَّهَ عَدْوًا بِغَيْرِ عِلْمٍ كَذَلِكَ زَيَّلْنَا لِكُلِّ أُمَّةٍ عَمَلَهُمْ ثُمَّ إِلَى رَبِّهِمْ تَرْجِعُهُمْ فَيُنْشِئُهُمْ بِمَا كَانُوا يَعْمَلُونَ ﴿١٠٨﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ١٠٥-١٠٨)

- 6:105. Thus We make the revelations elaborately clear, so that they may say: You have learned this [from somebody else], and so that We may make them clear for people who have knowledge.
- 6:106. Follow that which has been revealed to you from your Lord – there is no god but He – and turn away from those who ascribe partners to Him.
- 6:107. If Allah had willed, they would not have ascribed partners to Him. But We have not made you their keeper, nor are you in charge of them.<sup>12</sup>
- 6:108. Do not revile those on whom they call besides Allah, lest they revile Allah out of spite and lack of knowledge. Thus We have made fair-seeming to every nation its actions. In the end they will return to their Lord and He will inform them of what they used to do.

Here Allah forbids the believers to do something that had originally been permissible and even prescribed, which is reviling the gods of the polytheists, which they took as idols and gods besides Allah, as scorning and reviling them was a means of drawing closer to Allah.

But because this was something that may be a cause of the polytheists reviling the Lord of the worlds, Who should be declared to be exalted far above any faults, defects, reviling or defamation, Allah forbade reviling the gods of the polytheists, because they would spring to defend their religion and rally around their gods. That is because Allah has made fair-seeming to every nation its deeds, so they think that their ways are good and if the Muslims revile their gods, they will defend them by all means, even if that means reviling

<sup>12</sup> Shaykh as-Sa'di did not discuss the meaning of vv 105-107 in his Tafseer. (Translator)

Allah, the Lord of the worlds, reverence for Whom is instilled in the hearts of righteous and immoral alike.

But all people will return to Allah on the Day of Resurrection, and they and their deeds will be presented before Him, and He will inform them of what they used to do, both good and bad.

This verse points to an important shar'ī principle, which is that means are to be judged by ends, and means that may lead to something prohibited – even if those means are permissible – are to be deemed prohibited also, if they will lead to evil.

﴿وَأَقْسَمُوا بِاللَّهِ جَهْدَ أَيْمَانِهِمْ لَئِنْ جَاءَتْهُمْ آيَةٌ لَيُؤْمِنُنَّ بِهَا قُلْ إِنَّمَا الْآيَاتُ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ وَمَا يُشْعِرُكُمْ أَنَّهَا إِذَا جَاءَتْ لَا يُؤْمِنُونَ ﴿١٠٩﴾ وَنُقَلِّبُ أَفْئِدَتَهُمْ وَأَبْصَارَهُمْ كَمَا لَوْ يُؤْمِنُوا بِهِ أَوَّلَ مَرَّةٍ وَنَذَرُهُمْ فِي طُغْيَانِهِمْ يَعْمَهُونَ ﴿١١٠﴾ وَلَوْ أَنَّا زَلَّلْنَا إِلَىٰ نَبِيِّهِمُ الْمَلَكِ مِنكُم وَلَكَنَّا لَكُنَّا لَهُم مَّنشَأَ ۖ وَلَكِنَّا أَكْثَرُهُمْ يَجْهَلُونَ ﴿١١١﴾﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ١٠٩-١١١)

- 6:109. They swear their most solemn oaths by Allah that if a sign came to them, they would believe in it. Say: Signs are in the power of Allah alone. How do you [O Muslims] know that even if such a sign were to come, they would believe?
- 6:110. We will turn their hearts and eyes away [from the truth], since they refused to believe in it the first time, and We will leave them to wander blindly in their misguidance.
- 6:111. Even if We did send angels down to them, and the dead spoke to them, and We gathered together all things before them to testify to the truth, they still would not believe, unless Allah willed it. But most of them are ignorant [of this fact].<sup>13</sup>

<sup>13</sup> Juz' 7 actually ends with v. 110, but as the author treated vv. 109-111 as a single passage, we have included v. 111 here. (Translator)

That is, the polytheists who reject the Messenger Muhammad (ﷺ) swear «their most solemn oaths by Allah» that is, most emphatically, in order to confirm

«that if a sign came to them», indicating that Muhammad (ﷺ) was indeed speaking the truth

«they would believe in it». Their words were not for the purpose of sincerely seeking guidance; rather their aim was to give an answer that would ward off people's objections and to definitively reject what the Messenger (ﷺ) had already brought. For Allah had supported His Messenger (ﷺ) with clear evidence and proof which, if anyone paid attention to it, he would not have the slightest doubt about the soundness of the message he brought.

Hence their demand for signs – after that – was a kind of stubbornness that did not deserve a response; in fact not responding was more appropriate.

Allah's way of dealing with His slaves, in the case of those who demand signs from their Messenger – but if they came to them, they would not believe in them – is to hasten the punishment for them. Hence He said here: «Say: Signs are in the power of Allah alone» that is, He is the One Who sends them if He will, and He withholds them if He will, and I have no control over the matter at all. Therefore your demanding signs from me is a kind of wrongdoing and a demand for something that I have no power to deliver. Rather you may ask me to explain what I have brought to you and to confirm it, and that has already happened, but there is no guarantee that if the signs came to them they would accept them and believe; usually people with such an attitude do not believe. Hence Allah says: «How do you [O Muslims] know that even if such a sign were to come, they would believe?»

«We will turn their hearts and eyes away [from the truth], since they refused to believe in it the first time, and We will leave them to wander blindly in their misguidance».

That is, We will punish them – if they do not believe when the Messenger first comes to them and establishes proof against them – by turning their hearts away and preventing them from believing, and by not guiding them to follow the straight path.

This is by Allah's justice and wisdom concerning His slaves, for they are the ones who have brought it upon themselves. He opened the gate for them, but they did not enter; He showed them the way but they did not follow it. So after that, if they are deprived of guidance, that is appropriate for their situation.

Moreover, connecting the issue of having faith to their will only, and not relying on Allah, is one of the most grievous errors. If great signs came to them, such as the angels coming down to them and testifying to the truth of the Messenger, or the dead speaking, or their resurrection after death and the gathering of all things ﴿before them﴾ to speak to them, and they were to see that with their own eyes and touch it with their own hands, to confirm that what the Messenger (ﷺ) brought is the truth, they still would not believe, if Allah did not will that they should do so. But most of them are ignorant, hence they connected the issue of their faith to merely seeing the signs.

Rather what reason and knowledge dictate is that the individual should aim to follow the truth and to seek truth by means of that which Allah has explained, and act upon it, seeking the help of his Lord. He should not rely on himself or his own strength, or demand signs in which there is no benefit.

﴿١١٣﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ١١٢-١١٣)

- 6:112. And similarly We appointed for every Prophet enemies, devils from among humankind and jinn, whispering to one another fancy words in order to deceive. If your Lord had so willed, they would not have done that. So leave them to their fabrications.<sup>14</sup>
- 6:113. And this is so that the hearts of those who do not believe in the hereafter may incline to it [that deceit] and be well pleased with it, and so commit whatever sins they want.

---

Here Allah (ﷻ) says, consoling His Messenger Muhammad (ﷺ): Just as We made for you enemies who reject your message, oppose you and envy you, this is Our way; for each Prophet whom we send to humankind, we make enemies among the devils of humankind and the jinn, who do the opposite of what the Messengers do.

﴿whispering to one another fancy words in order to deceive﴾ that is, they make fair-seeming to one another the falsehood to which they call people, and they come up with flowery words and depict it in the best image, so as to deceive the foolish who do not understand the reality of things.

Thus the foolish are deceived by these fancy words and flowery phrases, so they believe truth to be falsehood and falsehood to be true. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says: ﴿And this is so that the hearts of those who do not believe in the hereafter may incline to it [that deceit]﴾ that is, they may be inclined towards those fancy words, because their lack of belief in the Last Day and their lack of sound reasoning cause them to do that

﴿and be well pleased with it﴾ after inclining towards it. So first of all they incline towards it, then when they have inclined towards it and heard those fancy words, they are pleased with it and it becomes fair-seeming to their minds and becomes a firmly-rooted belief in their hearts.

<sup>14</sup> Juz' 8 actually begins with v. 111, but as the author treated vv. 109-111 as a single passage, we included those verses in Juz' 7. (Translator)

Then as a result of that they do what they do, namely telling lies in word and deed, which inevitably leads to abhorrent beliefs.

This is the state of those who are deceived by the devils among humankind and the jinn, and respond to their call.

As for those who believe in the hereafter, people of sound reasoning and mature thinking, they are not deceived or dazzled by those fancy words; rather their focus is on learning facts and looking at the meaning of that to which those people call them. If it is true, they accept it and submit to it, even if the phrases are not eloquent, but if it is false, they reject it, no matter who its proponent is, even if he uses the most eloquent and flowery of language.

In His wisdom, Allah (ﷻ) has created enemies of the Prophets, and supporters of falsehood who promote it, so as to test His slaves and distinguish between the sincere and the insincere, the wise and the ignorant, the one who has insight and the one who is blind.

By His wisdom, He thereby demonstrates and highlights the truth, for the truth is always bright and clear; when falsehood tries to wrestle with it and resist it, at that point evidence that points to the reality of the truth becomes clear and distinct, and the signs of the corrupt nature of falsehood become apparent. This is one of the greatest goals that may be sought.

﴿ أَفَغَيْرَ اللَّهِ أَبْتَغِي حَكْمًا وَهُوَ الَّذِي أَنْزَلَ إِلَيْكُمُ الْكِتَابَ مُفَصَّلًا ۚ وَالَّذِينَ آتَيْنَاهُمُ الْكِتَابَ يَعْلَمُونَ أَنَّهُ مُنَزَّلٌ مِنْ رَبِّكَ بِالْحَقِّ ۚ فَلَا تَكُونَنَّ مِنَ الْمُمْتَرِينَ ۚ وَتَمَّتْ كَلِمَتُ رَبِّكَ صِدْقًا وَعَدْلًا ۚ لَا مُبَدِّلَ لِكَلِمَاتِهِ ۚ وَهُوَ السَّمِيعُ الْعَلِيمُ ﴾

(سورة الأنعام: ١١٤-١١٥)

6:114. [Say:] Should I seek a judge other than Allah when it is He Who has sent down to you the Book, explained in detail? Those to whom We gave the scripture know full well that it has been sent down from your Lord in truth, so do not be among those who doubt.

6:115. The word of your Lord is perfect in truth and justice. None can change His words, and He is the All-Hearing, All-Knowing.

That is, say, O Messenger: «Should I seek a judge other than Allah» to refer to for judgement and comply with his commands and prohibitions? For anyone other than Allah is subject to judgement, and is not to be the judge. Any edict and ruling issued by any created being is inevitably prone to shortcomings, faults and injustice.

The only One Who is to be taken as a judge is Allah, with no partner or associate, to Whom belongs the power of creation and command.

«when it is He Who has sent down to you the Book, explained in detail» that is, in which are explained what is lawful and what is prohibited, the rulings of Sharia, fundamental and minor issues, and no explanation can supersede His, no argument can be clearer than His, and no one can be better in judgement or more sound in statement than Him, because His rulings are endued with wisdom and mercy.

The people of the previous scriptures, the Jews and Christians, acknowledged that, and they «know full well that it has been sent down from your Lord in truth». Therefore the reports of earlier nations all confirm that «so do not be among those who doubt» this fact.

Then Allah describes it in detail: «The word of your Lord is perfect in truth and justice» that is, it is true in the stories of past nations, and it is just in commands and prohibitions. There is nothing more true than the stories of past nations which Allah mentions in this great Book, and there is nothing more just than His commands and prohibitions.

«None can change His words», as He has preserved them and has given them the highest level of precision and accuracy, so no one could change it and nothing could be better than it.

«and He is the All-Hearing» – He hears all voices in all languages, expressing different needs to Him

«All-Knowing» – His knowledge encompasses all things, visible and invisible, past and future.

﴿وَأَن تَطِيعَ أَكْثَرَ مَنْ فِي الْأَرْضِ يُضِلُّوكَ عَنْ سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ إِن يَتَّبِعُونَ إِلَّا الظَّنَّ
وَأَن هُمْ إِلَّا يَخُوضُونَ ﴿١١٦﴾ إِنَّ رَبَّكَ هُوَ أَعْلَمُ مَن يَضِلُّ عَنْ سَبِيلِهِ ۖ وَهُوَ أَعْلَمُ
بِالْمُهْتَدِينَ ﴿١١٧﴾﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ١١٦-١١٧)

6:116. If you were to obey most of those who are on earth, they would lead you astray from the path of Allah. They follow nothing but conjecture and they do nothing but lie.

6:117. Verily your Lord knows best who goes astray from His path, and He knows best who is rightly guided.

Here Allah (ﷻ) says to His Prophet Muhammad (ﷺ), warning him against obeying the majority of people: «If you were to obey most of those who are on earth, they would lead you astray from the path of Allah», for most of them have gone astray in their religions, deeds and knowledge. Hence their religions are corrupt, their deeds follow their whims and desires, and their knowledge is not based on facts and does not guide to the straight path. Rather the most that can be said is that they follow nothing but mere conjecture, but conjecture is no substitute for certain truth (cf. 10: 36), and they say things about Allah on the basis of speculation, things of which they have no knowledge. It is appropriate that Allah should warn His slaves against one who is like that, and describe them as they are. Although this is addressed to the Prophet (ﷺ), it is intended for his Ummah, because they – like him – are subject to all rulings that are not specifically for him alone.

Allah (ﷻ) is the truest in speech, and He ﷻ knows best who goes astray from His path, and He knows best who is guided and guides others. So you – O believers – must follow His instructions, commands and prohibitions, because He knows best what is in your best interests, and is more merciful to you than you are to yourselves.

This verse indicates that the number of followers is no indicator of truth, and that scarcity of followers does not signal that something is not truth. Rather reality is something other than that, for the people of truth are the fewest in number, but are the greatest in esteem and reward before Allah. Rather we must determine what is true and what is false on the basis of proof and evidence.

(١١٩-١١٨)

- 6:118. So eat of that over which the name of Allah has been pronounced, if you [truly] believe in His revelations.
- 6:119. Why should you not eat of that over which the name of Allah has been pronounced, when He has explained to you in detail what is forbidden to you, except if you are forced by necessity? Indeed, many mislead people by their desires, without any knowledge. Verily your Lord knows best who are the transgressors.

Here Allah instructs His believing slaves, as is expected of them as believers, that if they are truly believers, then they should eat of that over which the name of Allah has been pronounced, of livestock and other permissible animals, and they should believe that it is permissible; they should not do what the ignorant do of prohibiting many things that are permissible, following innovations based on their own ideas and the misguidance of their devils.

Allah tells us that the sign of the believer is that he differs from the people of ignorance with regard to this blameworthy custom which involved changing the laws of Allah. What could prevent them from eating that over which the name of Allah has been pronounced, when Allah has explained to His slaves what is prohibited, and has made the rulings perfectly clear? So there is no room left for confusion or doubt that would prevent them from eating some of that which is permissible for fear of falling into that which is prohibited.

This verse indicates that the basic principle with regard to things and food is that they are permissible, and that if there is no shar'i text to indicate that a thing is prohibited, then it remains permissible. Whatever Allah has remained silent about is permissible, because Allah has clearly explained what is prohibited. If He has not clearly declared it to be prohibited, then it is not prohibited.

However, with regard to that which Allah has explained and clearly stated is prohibited, He has permitted it if one is forced by (severe) hunger, as He (ﷻ) says:

﴿Forbidden to you [for food] are: the meat of animals found dead, blood, the flesh of swine... But if any is forced by [severe] hunger [to eat that which is forbidden], with no intention of sinning, Allah is indeed Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.﴾ (al-Mā'idah 5: 3)

Then Allah issues a warning concerning many people: ﴿Indeed, many mislead people by their desires﴾ that is, on the basis of mere whims and desires ﴿without any knowledge﴾ or proof. So people should beware of such people; their sign – as Allah describes them to His slaves – is that their call is not based on proof and they have no legitimate evidence. Rather all they have as a basis for what they want to do is specious arguments and flawed views, according to their corrupt whims and desires.

These people are transgressing against the laws of Allah and against the slaves of Allah, and Allah does not love the transgressors.

This is in contrast to those who are guided and who guide others; they call people to truth and guidance, and they support their call with rational and textual evidence, seeking nothing thereby but to please their Lord and draw close to Him.

﴿وَذَرُوا ظَهْرَ الْإِثْمِ وَبَاطِنَهُ ۚ إِنَّ الَّذِينَ يَكْسِبُونَ الْإِثْمَ سَيُجْزَوْنَ بِمَا كَانُوا يَقْتَرِفُونَ﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ١٢٠)

6:120. Avoid committing sin, whether openly or in secret; verily those who commit sin will get due recompense for what they earn.

What is meant by sin here is all acts of disobedience that cause trouble for the individual with regard to the rights of Allah and the rights of other people. Allah forbids His slaves to commit sin openly or in secret, whether those sins have to do with physical actions or have to do with thoughts, beliefs and attitudes in the heart.

The individual has not fully given up sin, either outward or hidden, until he learns what it is and finds out about it. Finding out about it and learning what constitutes sin, both outward or hidden, so that one is aware of it, is an individual obligation for everyone who is accountable.

Many people are unaware of many sins, especially the sins of the heart such as arrogance, self-admiration, showing off and so on, to such an extent that a person may commit many of these sins without being aware of it, because of lack of knowledge and lack of understanding.

Then Allah (ﷻ) tells us that those who incur a burden of sin, whether openly or in secret, will be requited according to what they earn and according to the extent of their sins, small or great. This recompense will come in the hereafter, and it may come in this world, whereby a person will be punished, thus reducing his burden of sin.

﴿وَلَا تَأْكُلُوا مِمَّا لَمْ يَذْكُرْ أَسْمُ اللَّهِ عَلَيْهِ وَإِنَّهُ لَفِسْقٌ وَإِنَّ الشَّيَاطِينَ لَيُوحُونَ إِلَىٰ أَوْلِيَآئِهِمْ لِجْعَدِ لَكُمْ وَإِنْ أَطَعْتُمُوهُمْ إِنَّكُمْ لَمُشْرِكُونَ﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ١٢١)

6:121. Therefore do not eat of that over which the name of Allah has not been pronounced, for verily that is an abomination. But the devils whisper to their friends [among humankind] to argue with you; if you were to obey them, you would indeed become [like] those who ascribe partners to Allah.

This prohibition includes everything over which a name other than that of Allah has been pronounced, such as that which is sacrificed to the idols and their gods, which comes under the heading of that which is profane, over which (a name) other than that of Allah has been invoked (at the time of slaughter) (cf. 6: 145), which is specifically prohibited in the text.

It also includes that over which the name of Allah is not pronounced at the time of slaughter, such as sacrifices or ordinary meat, if the one who slaughtered it deliberately omitted to mention the name of Allah. This is the view of many of the scholars.

Excluded from this general meaning is the one who forgets, according to other texts, which indicates that there is no blame on him. This verse also applies to that which dies without being slaughtered in the prescribed manner, because it comes under the heading of that over which the name of Allah was not pronounced at the time of slaughter.

Allah specifically mentioned it (meat of animals that were not slaughtered in the prescribed manner) in the verse:

﴿Forbidden to you [for food] are: the meat of animals found dead...﴾
(al-Mâ'idah 5: 3)

– and perhaps this was the reason for the revelation of the verse, because Allah says: ﴿But the devils whisper to their friends [among humankind] to argue with you﴾ without knowledge.

When the polytheists heard that Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ) prohibited the meat of animals found dead, but they permitted the meat of those which were slaughtered in the prescribed manner – as they regarded the meat of animals found dead as permissible – they said, out of stubbornness towards Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ), and arguing without proof or evidence: Do you eat what you kill, but you do not eat what Allah kills? – referring to that which died of natural causes.

This was a flawed argument that was not based on any proof or evidence; rather it was based on their corrupt opinions by which, if the truth had been in accordance with their desires, verily, the heavens and the earth, and everyone therein would have been corrupted (cf. 23: 71).

May he perish, the one who gives precedence to such arguments over the laws and rulings of Allah, which are in accordance with people's best interests on both the societal and individual level. But this view of theirs should come as no surprise, because this and similar views stem from the whisperings of the devils to their friends (among humankind), who seek to misguide people from their religion and call them to be among the inhabitants of hell.

﴿if you were to obey them﴾ and go along with their ascribing of partners to Allah, making permissible that which is prohibited, and vice versa,

«you would indeed become [like] those who ascribe partners to Allah», because then you would have taken them as allies instead of Allah, and you would have agreed with them in parting from the way of the Muslims, therefore your path would have been the same as theirs.

This verse indicates that whatever some people experience of inspiration and spiritual experiences, which happens a great deal with the Sufis and their ilk, is not to be regarded as truth on its own, and should not be accepted until it has been checked against the Book of Allah and the Sunnah of His Messenger (ﷺ).

If the Qur'an and Sunnah testify in its favour, then it may be accepted, but if it is contrary to them, then it is to be rejected. If nothing is known about that, then judgement is to be reserved and it is to be neither accepted nor rejected, because revelation and inspiration may come from the Most Merciful, or it may come from the Shayṭān, so it is essential to distinguish between the two and to see the difference between them. Failing to see the difference between them leads to errors and misguidance the extent of which is known only to Allah.

﴿أَوَمَنْ كَانَ مِثْلًا فَلَاحِيَنَهُ وَجَعَلْنَا لَهُ نُورًا يَمْشِي بِهِ فِي النَّاسِ كَمَنْ مِثْلُهُ فِي الظُّلُمَاتِ لَيْسَ بِخَارِجٍ مِنْهَا ۚ كَذَلِكَ زُيِّنَ لِلْكَافِرِينَ مَا كَانُوا يَعْمَلُونَ ﴿١٢٢﴾ وَكَذَلِكَ جَعَلْنَا فِي كُلِّ قَرْيَةٍ أَكْثَرَ مُجْرِمِيهَا لِيَمْكُرُوا فِيهَا ۚ وَمَا يَمْكُرُونَ إِلَّا بِأَنْفُسِهِمْ وَمَا يَشْعُرُونَ ﴿١٢٣﴾ وَإِذَا جَاءَهُمْ آيَةٌ قَالُوا لَنْ نُؤْمِنَ حَتَّىٰ نُؤْتَىٰ مِثْلَ مَا أُوتِيَ رُسُلُ اللَّهِ ۗ اللَّهُ أَعْلَمُ حَيْثُ يَجْعَلُ رِسَالَتَهُ ۗ سَيُصِيبُ الَّذِينَ أَجْرَمُوا صَغَارٌ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ وَعَذَابٌ شَدِيدٌ بِمَا كَانُوا يَمْكُرُونَ ﴿١٢٤﴾﴾ (سورة الأنعام)

- 6:122. Can the one who was dead then We brought him to life and gave him a light with which to walk among the people be like one who is in the depths of darkness from which he cannot emerge? Thus have their own deeds been made fair-seeming to the disbelievers.
- 6:123. Thus We have placed in every city leaders from among its evildoers, so that they may plot [against the believers] therein. But they only plot against their own selves, although they do not realise.
- 6:124. And when a sign comes to them, they say: We will not believe until we are given the like of what Allah's Messengers were given. Allah knows best where to place His message. Humiliation from Allah and a severe punishment will befall the evildoers for all their plots.

«Can the one who was», before Allah guided him
«dead» and lost in the darkness of disbelief, ignorance and sin
«then We brought him to life» with the light of knowledge, faith and obedience, so he began to walk among people aware of what he is doing and where he is going, knowing what is good and giving precedence to it, striving to implement it with regard to himself and others, and aware of evil and hating it, striving to avoid it and remove it from himself and others – is such one equal to one who is lost in the darkness of ignorance, misguidance, disbelief and sin?

«in the depths of darkness from which he cannot emerge» because he is confused and does not know which way to go, so he is overcome with worry, distress, grief and misery. Here Allah points out what rational people already know and understand, which is that these two cannot be equal, just as night and day, light and darkness, living and dead, cannot be equal.

It is as if it is being asked: how can anyone with the least reasoning prefer to be in that situation and remain confused in the depths of darkness? The answer is as follows:

﴿Thus have their own deeds been made fair-seeming to the disbelievers﴾ – the Shayṭān keeps making their deeds fair-seeming to them until they think of them as something good and regard them as true, and that belief becomes deeply entrenched in their hearts. Therefore they accept the way they are, complete with evil and sins.

Those who are wandering blindly in darkness and confused in their falsehood are not all the same. Some of them are leaders and others are followers. Some of the leaders will be among the worst off, hence Allah says: ﴿Thus We have placed in every city leaders from among its evildoers﴾ that is, leaders whose sin is greater and who are worse in wrongdoing
 ﴿so that they may plot [against the believers] therein﴾ by means of their treachery and calls to the path of the Shayṭān, opposing the Messengers and their followers in word and deed.

But their plots and schemes will backfire on them, because they plot and plan, and Allah also plans; but Allah is the best of planners (cf. 8: 30).

Thus Allah causes the leading figures of guidance and the best of them to strive against these evildoers, refute their arguments and engage in struggle against them for the sake of Allah, taking appropriate measures to achieve that. Allah helps them, guides them and makes them steadfast, and He causes their fortunes to fluctuate, until the matter is ultimately settled with their victory and prevailing over their enemies, and the best outcome is for those who fear Allah (cf. 7: 128).

But the leading figures among the evildoers persisted in their falsehood and rejected the truth which was brought by the Messengers, out of envy and resentment on their part, so they said:
 ﴿We will not believe until we are given the like of what Allah's Messengers were given﴾ namely prophethood and messengership. This is an objection on their part towards Allah, which indicates that they were filled with self-admiration and were too arrogant to accept the truth that He sent down at the hands of His Messengers, and they were trying to restrict the bounty and grace of Allah.

But Allah refuted their objections that were based on flawed arguments, and He stated that they were not fit for any good, and there was nothing in them that would dictate that they should be among the righteous slaves of Allah, let alone be among the Prophets and Messengers. Hence He said: ﴿Allah knows best where to place His message﴾. Therefore whoever He knows is fit for that, and is able to carry out this tremendous mission, has all good characteristics and is free of all bad characteristics, Allah will give him in accordance with His wisdom, and whoever is not like that, Allah will not give the best of His gifts to one who is not qualified or pure.

This verse is indicative of the perfect nature of Allah's wisdom because, even though He is most merciful, abundantly generous and most kind, He is also Most Wise and only bestows His abundance upon one who is deserving of it.

Then He warns the evildoers and says:

﴿Humiliation from Allah﴾ that is, shame and disgrace; because they were too arrogant to accept the truth, Allah will humiliate them ﴿and a severe punishment will befall the evildoers for all their plots﴾ that is, because of their plots, not due to any injustice on the part of Allah (ﷻ).

﴿فَمَنْ يُرِدِ اللَّهُ أَنْ يَهْدِيَهُ يَشْرَحْ صَدْرَهُ لِلْإِسْلَامِ وَمَنْ يُرِدْ أَنْ يُضِلَّهُ يَجْعَلْ صَدْرَهُ ضَيِّقًا حَرَجًا كَأَنَّا بِصَعْدِهِ فِي السَّمَاءِ ۚ كَذَلِكَ يَجْعَلُ اللَّهُ الرِّجْسَ عَلَى الَّذِينَ لَا يُؤْمِنُونَ﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ١٢٥)

6:125. Whoever Allah wills to guide, He opens his heart to Islam, and whomever He wills to leave astray, He closes and constricts liked what he got of achieving his goals and attaining – according to the degree of the jinni's service – some of his desires. The human worshipped the jinni, so the jinni served the human and gave him some of his worldly needs. In other words, the human will admit: we committed some sins and it is not possible to change that.

﴿but now we have reached the appointed term that You decreed for us﴾ that is, we have reached the point at which You will requite for all deeds, so do to us whatever You will and pass judgement upon us however You will, for we have no argument and no excuse. The matter is in Your Hands and the decision is Yours. It is as if these words of theirs are a kind of plea for mercy and compassion, but it will come at the wrong time. Hence He will judge concerning them on the basis of justice, and no injustice will be done to them, and He will say: ﴿The fire will be your abode, to dwell therein forever﴾

Because this ruling is based on His wisdom and knowledge, the verse ends with the words: ﴿for your Lord is Most Wise, All-Knowing﴾. That is, just as His knowledge encompasses all things, His ultimate wisdom also encompasses all things.

﴿Thus We cause the wrongdoers to take one another as friends and allies, because of what they earn﴾ that is, just as We caused the mârid jinn to be allies of some humans, and We gave them the power to misguide their human allies, and We caused the bond of alliance and friendship to be established between them because of their striving to attain that, it is Our way to create an alliance between every wrongdoer and his counterpart (among the jinn), to entice him and urge him to do evil, and to turn him away and divert him from goodness. This is a severe punishment from Allah, with terrible consequences and a serious impact.

It is the wrongdoer's fault, because he is the one who brought it upon himself.

﴿...And your Lord is never unjust to His slaves.﴾ (Fussilat 41: 46)

If people do a great deal of wrong and evil, and they withhold what is due from them, Allah will put evildoers in charge of them, who will oppress them, mistreat them and make them suffer, and will take from them unjustly and by force many times more than what they withheld of what is due to Allah and to His slaves, without them getting any reward for giving it.

By the same token, if people do good and are upright, Allah will make those in charge of them righteous, and He will make them rulers who rule on the basis of justice and fairness, not on the basis of wrongdoing and oppression.

Then Allah will rebuke everyone who turned away from the truth and rejected it, jinn or human, and will highlight their error, and they will acknowledge that:

«O jinn and humans, did there not come to you Messengers from among you, reciting My revelations to you» that is, My clear revelations which contained details of commands and prohibitions, good and evil, promises and warnings, «and warning you of the meeting of this day of yours», teaching you that salvation and triumph may only be attained by obeying the commands of Allah and avoiding that which He prohibited, and that doom and loss will result from failing to do that? They will acknowledge that, and say: «[Yes], we testify against ourselves. They were deceived by the life of this world» and its adornments and delights, so they were at ease with it and were content with it, and that distracted them from the hereafter.

«They will testify against themselves that they were disbelievers», thus proof will be established against them. At that point, everyone – even they themselves – will realise that Allah is being just with them. Then He will say to them, issuing the verdict that theirs will be a painful punishment:

«...Enter the fire with the nations who passed away before you, of both jinn and humans...» (al-A'raf 7: 38) his heart, as if he were ascending to heaven. Thus Allah places blight on those who do not believe.

Here Allah describes to His slaves the sign of a person's being blessed and guided, and the sign of his being doomed and misguided. If Allah opens a person's heart to Islam, and it is filled with the light of faith and certainty, so that he feels at ease with it, loves good deeds and finds joy in doing them, and does not find them burdensome, then this is a sign that Allah has guided him and has blessed him with faith and guided him to the straight path.

The sign that Allah has willed to send someone astray is that He makes his heart constricted and unwilling to accept faith, knowledge and certainty. So he becomes overwhelmed with doubts and desires, and nothing good reaches his heart; it is not open to any good deeds because it is constricted as if he is having to climb up to heaven when he has no means of doing so.

Because of this lack of faith, he is the reason why Allah places blight upon him, because he has closed the door of mercy and divine kindness to himself.

This is a measure that never alters. The one who gives in charity and fears Allah, and believes in goodness, Allah will make easy for him the path to ease, but whoever is miserly and thinks that he is self-sufficient, and rejects goodness, Allah will make easy for him the path to hardship.

﴿وَهَذَا صِرَاطُ رَبِّكَ مُسْتَقِيمًا ۖ قَدْ فَضَّلْنَا الْآيَاتِ لِقَوْمٍ يَذَّكَّرُونَ ﴿١٢٦﴾﴾ هُمْ دَارُ
السَّلَامِ عِنْدَ رَبِّهِمْ وَهُوَ وَلِيُّهُمْ بِمَا كَانُوا يَعْمَلُونَ ﴿١٢٧﴾﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ١٢٦-١٢٧)

6:126. This is the path of your Lord, a straight path. Verily We have explained Our signs in detail for people who pay heed.

- 6:127. For them will be an abode of peace with their Lord; He will be their Protector, because of their good deeds.

It is a moderate path that leads to Allah and to the place of His honour, the rulings and laws of which have been clearly explained, and good has become distinct from evil. But these details and this explanation are not for everyone; rather they are only «for people who pay heed», for they are the ones who have knowledge, so they benefit from their knowledge and Allah has prepared for them a great reward. Hence He says:

«For them will be an abode of peace with their Lord». Paradise is called an abode of peace because it is free of all faults, troubles, stress, grief and worry, and anything else that could spoil its joy.

This means that its delights will be of the utmost perfection and completeness, to an indescribable degree, and no one could wish for anything better of both spiritual and physical delights. They will have whatever their hearts desire and they will abide therein forever.

«He will be their Protector» Who will take care of them, look after them and protect them in all their affairs; He will help them to obey Him and make it easy for them to attain His love. He only protects them because of their righteous deeds by which they seek to please their Lord, unlike the one who turns away from his Lord and follows his whims and desires; the Shayṭān will gain power over him and will take care of him, thus corrupting his religious commitment and worldly affairs.

- 6:128. On the day when He gathers them all together [He will say]: O jinn, you enticed many of humankind. Their friends among humankind will say: Our Lord, we used one other, but now we have reached the appointed term that You decreed for us. He will say: The fire will be your abode, to dwell therein forever, unless Allah wills otherwise, for your Lord is Most Wise, All-Knowing.
- 6:129. Thus We cause the wrongdoers to take one another as friends and allies, because of what they earn.
- 6:130. O jinn and humans, did there not come to you Messengers from among you, reciting My revelations to you and warning you of the meeting of this day of yours? They will say: [Yes,] we testify against ourselves. They were deceived by the life of this world. They will testify against themselves that they were disbelievers.
- 6:131. That is because your Lord would never destroy a city for its wrongdoing while its people were still unaware.
- 6:132. For all there will be ranks according to their deeds, for your Lord is not unaware of what they do.

- 6:133. Your Lord is Self-Sufficient, full of mercy. If He so willed, He could destroy you and cause whomever He will to replace you, as He created you to replace other people who came before you.
- 6:134. Verily, that which you are warned of will surely come to pass; you cannot escape it.
- 6:135. Say: O my people, carry on as you are, and so will I; you will come to know who it is whose end will be [best] in the hereafter. Verily the wrongdoers will never prosper.

﴿On the day when He gathers them all together﴾ that is, all of the two races, humanity and jinn, those who went astray and those who led others astray, and He says, refuting the jinn who misled humans and made evil fair-seeming to them and enticed them to commit sin: ﴿O jinn, you enticed many of humankind﴾ that is, by misguiding them and barring them from the path of Allah; how could you transgress My sacred limits and stubbornly reject My Messengers? You persisted in fighting against Allah, striving your utmost to bar the slaves of Allah from His path and divert them to hell. Therefore today My curse is inevitably upon you and My vengeance against you is assured; We shall increase your punishment according to the degree of your disbelief and the extent to which you led others astray. You have no excuse to offer and no refuge to turn to, no intercessor to intercede for you and no plea that could be heard.

So do not ask about what will befall them on that day of punishment, disgrace and doom. Hence Allah did not mention any excuse that they may offer.

As for their allies among humankind, they will offer excuses that will not be accepted and will say: ﴿Our Lord, we used one other﴾ that is, both the jinni and the human used one another and benefited thereby.

The jinni liked the human's obedience to him, and his worship and veneration of him, and his seeking protection from him. The human

«you will come to know who it is whose end will be [best] in the hereafter» – me or you.

This is the attitude of the fair-minded person in a serious debate: he points out the two types of deeds and doers, and leaves it to Allah to requite each of them, without stating bluntly or clearly what he really means. But it is already known that the best end in this world and in the hereafter will be for those who fear Allah, and that the believers will have the best end, whilst everyone who turns away from what the Messengers brought will have the worst end. Hence He says: «Verily the wrongdoers will never prosper», for every evildoer, no matter what he enjoys in this world, his end in the hereafter will be doom and ruin.

«Verily Allah gives respite to the wrongdoer until, when He seizes him, He will not let him off.» (Muslim, at-Tirmidhi, and Ibn Mâjah)

- 6:136. They allocated to Allah a portion of that which He created of crops and livestock. They say: This is for Allah – or so they claim – and this is for our partners [that we ascribe to Him]. Then, that which is allocated for their ‘partners’ never reaches Allah, while that which is allocated for Allah does reach their ‘partners’. How despicable is their judgement!
- 6:137. Similarly, their ‘partners’ [the devils] made it fair-seeming to many of the polytheists to kill their own children, in order to destroy them and cause confusion to them in their religion. If Allah had so willed, they would not have done that. So leave them to their fabrications.
- 6:138. They say: These livestock and crops are taboo, and no one may eat thereof except those whom we wish – or so they claim – and other livestock which it is forbidden to ride. And there are livestock over which they do not pronounce the name of Allah [at the time of slaughter], fabricating lies against Him. He will surely requite them for what they fabricate.
- 6:139. They say: What is in the wombs of these animals is reserved exclusively for our males and is forbidden to our females, but if it is stillborn, they all partake of it. He will surely requite them for what they attribute [to Allah, falsely]. Verily He is Most Wise, All-Knowing.
- 6:140. Losers indeed are those who, in their ignorance, have foolishly slain their children, and have made unlawful [food] that Allah has provided to them, fabricating lies against Allah. They have indeed gone astray and have not heeded any guidance.

Here Allah (ﷻ) speaks of the foolishness and grave ignorance of the polytheists who reject the Prophet (ﷺ) and mentions some of their myths, in order to highlight some of their misguidance and warn against them. The objection of such foolish people to the truth brought by the Messenger (ﷺ) does not undermine it at all, for they are not qualified to stand up to the truth. Thus Allah (ﷻ) says as an example of that: ﴿They allocated to Allah a portion of that which He created of crops and livestock﴾, and they also allocated to their so-called partners a portion, when in fact Allah (ﷻ) is the One Who created it for His slaves, as provision. Thus they combined two questionable and prohibited matters. In fact they combined three: thinking that they were doing Allah a favour by allocating a portion to Him, as they believed that this was a donation on their part; allocating a share to the so-called partners who never gave them any provision; and their unjust way of sharing out, as they did not care about or pay attention to that which they allocated to Allah, even though it ended up being for the so-called partners, whilst they did pay attention to and look after that which was allocated to the so-called partners, and none of that would reach Allah. That is because when they gained something – of the crops, fruits and livestock that Allah had created for them – they divided it into two parts: one part which they said was for Allah, or so they claimed, for Allah does not accept anything but that which is done sincerely for His sake, and He does not accept any good deed from anyone who ascribes partners to Him; and another part that they allocated to the so-called partners, namely the idols. If any of that which they had allocated to Allah got mixed with that which they had allocated to others, they would say: Allah has no need of it, and they would not put it back, but if any of that which they had allocated to their gods got mixed with that which they had allocated to Allah, they would put it back and would say: They (the false gods) are in need of it, so it must be put back with their share.

Is there any ruling worse and more unfair than this? For they paid more attention to that which was allocated to the created being, and took more care of it than that which was done for the sake of Allah.

The meaning of this verse may be that which is proven in a ṣaḥeeḥ report from the Prophet (ﷺ), in which he told us that Allah (ﷻ) says: «I am the least in need of a partner. Whoever does any deed in which he associates someone else with Me, I will reject him and his deed.» (Muslim and Ibn Mājah)

According to this interpretation, what the verse means is that what they allocated as a means of drawing closer to the idols is completely devoted to something other than Allah, and Allah has no share in it, and whatever they devoted to Allah – or so they claimed – none of it reaches Him because it is shirk (ascription of partners to Allah). In fact it is also part of the share allocated to the so-called partners and idols, because Allah has no need of it and He does not accept any deed in which any of His creation is associated with Him.

As a result of the foolishness and misguidance of the polytheists, the so-called partners – namely the leaders and the devils – made it fair-seeming to many of them to kill their children by burying them alive. They would kill their male children for fear of poverty and the female children for fear of shame.

All of that resulted from the tricks of the devils who wanted to destroy them and cause confusion to them in their religion, so that they would do acts that are extremely repugnant.

The partners kept making it fair-seeming to them until, in their view, these became good things and desirable conduct. If Allah had so willed, He would have prevented them from doing these things and protected their children from being killed by the parents, and they would not have done it. But His wisdom dictated that they should be left alone to do what they wanted to do, so that they would get carried away. Thus He gave them respite and overlooked what they were doing. Hence He says: «So leave them to their fabrications» that is, leave them to their lies and falsehood, and do not grieve over them, for they can never harm Allah.

Another example of their foolishness has to do with the livestock which Allah made permissible for them in general, and bestowed it as provision and mercy for them to enjoy and benefit from. But they fabricated and introduced innovations based on their own ideas.

They had a special terminology for some types of livestock and crops, concerning which they said: «These livestock and crops are taboo» that is, prohibited «and no one may eat thereof» that is, it is not permissible for anyone to eat them, except those who we want to eat them, or who meet a description that we give – based on their own ideas.

All of that was based on their own claims for which there was no basis or proof except their whims and desires and corrupt notions.

They also had livestock that was not prohibited in all ways; rather it was prohibited to ride it or carry loads on it. They called this ḥām.

There were other kinds of livestock on which they did not invoke the name of Allah; rather they invoked the names of the idols and that which they worshipped instead of Allah, but they attributed these actions to Allah; they were lying when they spoke these evil words.

«He will surely requite them for what they fabricate» that is, when they claimed that it was permissible to ascribe partners to Allah and that it was prohibited to eat or benefit from livestock in ways that He had permitted.

Another of their foolish notions was the idea that what was in the wombs of certain types of livestock – which they specified – was prohibited to females but not to males, so they said: «What is in the wombs of these animals is reserved exclusively for our males» that is, it is permissible for them, and women have no share in it «and is forbidden to our females» that is, our womenfolk. This applied if the offspring was born alive. But if what was in its womb was stillborn, then they all had a share of it – in other words, it was permissible for both males and females.

«He will surely requite them for what they attribute [to Allah, falsely]» that is, when they described what Allah had permitted as being prohibited, and they described what was prohibited as being permissible. Thus they went against the laws of Allah and attributed that to Him.

«Verily He is Most Wise» as He gives them respite and enables them to pursue the misguidance they are following
 «All-Knowing» –nothing is concealed from Him; He knows what they do, what they say against Him and what they fabricate, yet He grants them well-being and bestows provision upon them.

Then He describes their loss and foolishness:

«Losers indeed are those who, in their ignorance, have foolishly slain their children» that is, they have lost their religion, their children and their minds and – after having been blessed with rational thinking – they are now described in terms of foolishness that causes destruction and misguidance.

«and have made unlawful [food] that Allah has provided to them» that is, what He had given as a mercy to them and granted as provision for them. They rejected the blessing of the Lord, but they did not stop there; rather they described it as unlawful when it was of the utmost permissibility.

All of that is «fabricating lies against Allah» that is, it comes under the heading of lies told by every stubborn disbeliever.

«They have indeed gone astray and have not heeded any guidance» that is, they have gone far astray and they have not been guided in any of their affairs.

﴿وَهُوَ الَّذِي أَنْشَأَ جَنَّاتٍ مَّعْرُوشَاتٍ وَغَيْرَ مَعْرُوشَاتٍ وَالنَّخْلَ وَالزَّرْعَ مُخْتَلِفًا
 أَكْلُهُمُ وَالزَّيْتُونَ وَالرُّمَّانَ مُتَشَابِهًا وَغَيْرَ مُتَشَابِهٍ كُلُوا مِنْ ثَمَرِهِ إِذَا

﴿أَتَمَرًا وَأَنَاثًا حَقَّهُ يَوْمَ حَصَادِهِ وَلَا تُشْرِفُوا إِنَّهُ لَا يُحِبُّ الْمُسْرِفِينَ﴾

(سورة الأنعام: ١٤١)

6:141. It is He Who produces gardens, trellised and untrellised, and date palms and all manner of crops, and olives and pomegranates, similar [in some ways] yet dissimilar [in others]. Eat of their fruit when they bear fruit and give what is due on the day of harvest. But do not be extravagant, for Allah does not love those who are extravagant.

Having mentioned what the polytheists did with much of the crops and livestock that Allah had made permissible for them, Allah (ﷻ) then describes the blessings that He had bestowed upon them, and their obligations with regard to crops and livestock:

﴿It is He Who produces gardens﴾ that contain various types of trees and plants

﴿trellised and untrellised﴾ that is, in some of those gardens there are trellises on which the plant grows, and it helps it rise up from the ground; in other gardens there are no trellises, and the plant grows on its stem or trunk, or spreads along the ground.

This highlights the many benefits of those gardens, and tells us that Allah (ﷻ) taught man how to make trellises and grow things.

﴿and﴾ He produces ﴿date palms and all manner of crops﴾ that is, all in one place, and all irrigated by the same water, yet Allah causes some of them to excel others in taste (cf. 13: 4).

Allah singles out for mention the date palm and all manner of crops because of their many benefits, and because they are the staple food for most people.

Allah also produces ﴿olives and pomegranates, similar﴾ in trees ﴿yet dissimilar﴾ in their fruits and taste. It is as if it is saying: for what purpose did Allah create these gardens and what they produce?

Then He tells us that He produced them for people's benefit; thus He says:

﴿Eat of their fruit﴾ that is, the fruit of the date palms and crops ﴿when they bear fruit and give what is due on the day of harvest﴾ that is, give what is due of those crops. This refers to zakâh of those crops for which Sharia sets a minimum threshold (niṣâb). Allah instructed them to give it on the day of harvest, because the harvest of crops is equivalent to the one-year deadline that applies to other kinds of wealth. That is the time when the poor would expect it, and at that time it is easy for the growers to give it. Thus the one who gives it will be known, and will stand out from the one who does not give it.

﴿But do not be extravagant﴾ this prohibition on extravagance applies to food, with regard to eating more than is normal. The one who owns the crops should not eat in such a way that it impacts zakâh. It also refers to giving zakâh on the crops; the owner should not give more than is required of him and thus harm himself, his family or his creditors. All of that comes under the heading of extravagance which Allah has prohibited and which He does not love; rather He hates it and disapproves of it.

This verse indicates that it is obligatory to give zakâh on fruits, and that there is no requirement to wait for one (Hijri) year to pass; rather it becomes due when it is harvested in the fields and when collected from the date palms.

Zakâh is not repeated in this case, even if the harvest remains with a person for many years, so long as it is not intended for trade, because Allah has only commanded that zakâh be paid on it at the time of harvest. But if the crop is affected by blight before that, without any negligence on the part of the owner, then he is not liable for it. It is also permissible to eat from the date palms and crops before giving zakâh on them, and whatever is eaten is not to be counted for the purpose of zakâh; rather zakâh is to be given on what remains after that.

The Prophet (ﷺ) used to send someone to estimate the people's harvest and he would instruct him to leave one third or one fourth of it for the owner, depending on how much had already been eaten by the owners or others.

﴿وَمِنَ الْأَنْعَامِ حَمُولَةٌ وَفَرَسَاتٌ كُلُوا مِن مَّا رَزَقَكُمُ اللَّهُ وَلَا تَتَّبِعُوا خُطُوَاتِ الشَّيْطَانِ إِنَّهُ لَكُمْ عَدُوٌّ مُّبِينٌ ﴿١٤٢﴾ ثَمَنِيَّةَ أَزْوَاجٍ مِّنَ الضَّأْنِ اثْنَيْنِ وَمِنَ الْمَعْزِ اثْنَيْنِ قُلْ ءَالَّذِينَ حَرَّمَ أَمِ الْأُنثِيَيْنِ أَمَّا اشْتَمَلَتْ عَلَيْهِ أَرْحَامُ الْأُنثِيَيْنِ نَحْنُ بِغَيْرِ عِلْمٍ إِنْ كُنْتُمْ صَادِقِينَ ﴿١٤٣﴾ وَمِنَ الْإِبِلِ اثْنَيْنِ وَمِنَ الْبَقَرِ اثْنَيْنِ قُلْ ءَالَّذِينَ حَرَّمَ أَمِ الْأُنثِيَيْنِ أَمَّا اشْتَمَلَتْ عَلَيْهِ أَرْحَامُ الْأُنثِيَيْنِ أَمْ كُنْتُمْ شُهَدَاءَ إِذْ وَصَّيْكُمُ اللَّهُ بِهِذَا فَمَنْ أَظْلَمُ مِمَّنِ افْتَرَى عَلَى اللَّهِ كَذِبًا لِّيُضِلَّ النَّاسَ بِغَيْرِ عِلْمٍ إِنَّ اللَّهَ لَا يَهْدِي الْقَوْمَ الظَّالِمِينَ ﴿١٤٤﴾﴾ (سورة

الأنعام: ١٤٢-١٤٤)

- 6:142. Among livestock, [He creates for you] some that carry loads and others that are too young or too small to do so [such as sheep]. Eat of that which Allah has provided for you, and do not follow the footsteps of the Shayṭān, for he is to you an avowed enemy.
- 6:143. Of livestock you have eight in [four] pairs: a pair of sheep and a pair of goats. Say: Has He forbidden the two males, or the two females, or that which the wombs of the two females may contain? Tell me on the basis of knowledge, if you are speaking the truth.
- 6:144. [And likewise] a pair of camels and a pair of cattle. Say: Has He forbidden the two males, or the two females, or that which the wombs of the two females may contain? Were you present when Allah ordained such a thing for you? Who does greater evil than he who fabricates lies against Allah in order to misguide people without knowledge? Verily Allah does not guide the evildoers.

---

﴿Among livestock, [He creates for you] some that carry loads and others that are too young or too small to do so﴾ that is, some you use to carry loads and ride, and others are not fit to carry loads or be ridden, because they are too small, such as infant animals and the like. With regard to carrying loads and being ridden, livestock are divided into these two categories.

But with regard to eating them or other benefits, they may all be eaten and put to other uses. Hence Allah says: ﴿Eat of that which Allah has provided for you, and do not follow the footsteps of the Shayṭān﴾ that is, his ways and deeds, which includes prohibiting some of that which Allah has granted to you as provision.

﴿for he is to you an avowed enemy﴾ and he only enjoins you to do that which will harm you and lead to your eternal doom.

These are the livestock with which Allah has blessed His slaves, and He has made all of them permissible and wholesome, and He has explained them as follows:

﴿eight in [four] pairs: a pair of sheep﴾ male and female ﴿and a pair of goats﴾ likewise. This makes four, all of which are included in that which Allah has permitted, with no differentiation between them.

So say to these people who go to extremes and prohibit some things and not others, or they prohibit some of them to females but not to males, proving to them that there is no difference between what they permit and what they prohibit:

﴿Has He forbidden﴾ of sheep and goats ﴿the two males﴾? For you do not say that; rather you reject that idea

﴿or the two females?﴾ For you do not say that either; you do not prohibit the males only or the females only of either type.

So what remains is the idea that if the womb contains both a male and a female, or it is not clear what it contains, then do you prohibit ﴿that which the wombs of the two females may contain?﴾ that is, the female sheep or the female goat, without differentiating between male or female? But you do not say this either.

So you do not say any of these three options, which list all the possible categories, then what do you say?

﴿Tell me on the basis of knowledge, if you are speaking the truth﴾ in your claim.

It is well known that they could not say anything acceptable on a rational basis, except one of these three things, but they did not say any of them; rather they said that some livestock, which they decided about themselves, was prohibited to females but not males, or it was prohibited at certain times, and other such notions that were undoubtedly based on deep ignorance and could only be produced through deviant thinking and corrupt ideas. Allah had not sent down any authority for what they said, and they had no proof or evidence for it.

Then Allah says something similar concerning camels and cattle. Having highlighted the falseness and corrupt nature of what they said, He then said to them something the consequences of which could not be escaped except by following the laws of Allah: ﴿Were you present when Allah ordained such a thing for you?﴾. That is, you have only one claim left, and you have no way of proving it, which is for you to say, “Allah ordained this for us and He revealed it to us as He revealed to His Messengers; indeed He revealed to us something contrary to what the Messengers claimed and what was mentioned in the Books that were sent down.” That is a fabrication, as anyone would realise, hence Allah says: ﴿Who does greater evil than he who fabricates lies against Allah in order to misguide people without knowledge?﴾ That is, in addition to his lies and fabrications against Allah, his aim is to mislead the slaves of Allah from the path of Allah, with no clear proof or evidence, and no rational or textual evidence.

﴿Verily Allah does not guide the evildoers﴾, those who have no aim but to do wrong and commit injustice, and to invent fabrications against Allah.

﴿قُلْ لَا أَجِدُ فِي مَا أُوحِيَ إِلَيَّ مُحَرَّمًا عَلَى طَاعِمٍ يَطْعَمُهُ إِلَّا أَنْ يَكُونَ مَيْتَةً أَوْ دَمًا مَسْفُوحًا أَوْ لَحْمَ خِنزِيرٍ فَإِنَّهُ رِجْسٌ أَوْ فِسْقًا أُهِلَّ لِغَيْرِ اللَّهِ بِهِ ۚ فَمَنْ اضْطُرَّ غَيْرَ بَاغٍ وَلَا عَادٍ فَإِنَّ رَبَّكَ غَفُورٌ رَحِيمٌ﴾ (١٤٥) وَعَلَى الَّذِينَ هَادُوا حَرَّمْنَا كُلَّ ذِي ظُفْرٍ وَمِنَ الْبَقَرِ وَالْغَنَمِ حَرَّمْنَا عَلَيْهِمْ شُحُومَهُمَا إِلَّا مَا حَمَلَتْ ظُهُورُهُمَا أَوْ الْحَوَايَا أَوْ مَا اخْتَلَطَ بِعَظْمٍ ۚ ذَٰلِكَ جَزَيْنَهُمْ بِغَيْرِهِمْ وَإِنَّا لَصَادِقُونَ﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ١٤٥-١٤٦)

- 6:145. Say: I do not find in that which is revealed to me anything to be forbidden for people to eat unless it be the meat of animals found dead, blood poured forth or the flesh of swine, for that is an abomination, or that which is profane, over which [a name] other than that of Allah has been invoked [at the time of slaughter]. But if one is forced by necessity, without wilful disobedience, nor transgressing due limits, then your Lord is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.
- 6:146. To the Jews We forbade every [animal] with undivided hoof, and We forbade to them the fat of cattle and sheep, except that which adheres to their backs or entrails, or is attached to their bones. Thus We requited them for their wilful disobedience; verily We state the truth.

When Allah criticised the polytheists for what they prohibited of permissible things and attributed that to Allah, and declared their words to be false, He instructed His Messenger (ﷺ) to explain to the people what Allah has prohibited to them, so that they might know that everything else is permissible; whoever suggests that any of that is prohibited by Allah is lying and fabricating, because a prohibition can only come from Allah on the lips of His Messenger (ﷺ), and Allah said to His Messenger (ﷺ):

«Say: I do not find in that which is revealed to me anything to be forbidden for people to eat» that is, regardless of whether the prohibition applies to using it for other purposes or not

«unless it be the meat of animals found dead» this refers to animals that died without being slaughtered in the prescribed manner; that is not permissible, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

«Forbidden to you [for food] are: the meat of animals found dead, blood, the flesh of swine...» (al-Mâ'idah 5: 3)

«blood poured forth» this refers to blood that comes out of the animal at the time of slaughter, for it is blood that would be harmful if it was retained in the body; when the blood is expelled from the body, the harm that may result from eating the meat is removed.

What this phrase implies is that the blood that remains in the flesh and veins after slaughter is permissible and pure.

«or the flesh of swine, for that is an abomination» that is, these three things are an abomination, which means that they are unclean, impure and harmful. Allah has prohibited them out of kindness towards you, and so that you will keep a distance from filth.

«or that which is profane, over which [a name] other than that of Allah has been invoked [at the time of slaughter]» such as the idols or false gods worshipped by the polytheists. This comes under the heading of profanity, which refers to disobedience towards Allah.

«But if one is forced by necessity» that is, despite the fact that these are prohibited things, if a person is forced by necessity or need to eat any of these things, because he has nothing else and fears that he may die, ﴿without wilful disobedience, nor transgressing due limits﴾ that is, without wanting to eat it if it was not a matter of necessity, or eating more than he needs to,

﴿then your Lord is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful﴾ that is, Allah has pardoned everyone who finds himself in this situation.

The scholars (may Allah have mercy on them) differed concerning this exclusive list mentioned in this verse, even though there are other prohibited things that are not mentioned here, such as wild carnivorous animals, birds of prey that have talons, and so on. Some of the scholars stated that this verse was revealed before the prohibition on other things that are not mentioned here, so there is no contradiction between the list mentioned here and the prohibition that was revealed subsequently, because at that time there was nothing revealed to prohibit what came afterwards.

Other scholars said that this verse includes everything that is prohibited; some of it is mentioned explicitly and other things may be inferred from the context and the general reason for prohibition.

The reason given for the prohibition on the meat of animals found dead, blood and the flesh of swine – or at least the latter – is ﴿for that is an abomination﴾. This is a general description that applies to everything that is prohibited, for all prohibited things are abominable and unclean, and they are filthy and off-putting things that Allah has forbidden to His slaves, so as to protect and honour them, and to keep them away from directly handling filthy and unclean things.

The details of that which is an abomination and prohibited are to be found in the Sunnah, which explains the Qur'an and its goals. If Allah (ﷻ) has not prohibited any food except what is mentioned here, and the prohibition has no source except the laws of Allah, this indicates that the polytheists who prohibited that which Allah had provided to them were fabricating lies against Allah and attributing to Him something that He did not say.

The verse also points to a strong possibility: Allah mentioned swine (pigs) in this verse, in which the context is one of criticising and refuting the views of the polytheists mentioned above, having to do with prohibition of that which Allah has made permissible, and mentioning their arguments concerning that on the basis of their own whims and desires, which had to do only with livestock animals (an'âm: camels, cattle, sheep and goats), none of which are prohibited except that which is mentioned in this verse, namely those found dead and those over which a name other than that of Allah is invoked at the time of slaughter; all others are permissible.

Perhaps the reason why swine or pigs are mentioned here, according to this idea, is that some ignorant readers may include them with livestock animals, assuming them to be akin to sheep, as the ignorant among the Christians and others of their ilk do, so they raise them as they raise other livestock, and they regard them as permissible, not differentiating between them and an'âm livestock. So this list of prohibited things is aimed at protecting this Ummah from such impure things. With regard to that which was prohibited to the People of the Book, some of these things are good and permissible, but they were prohibited to them by way of punishment. Hence Allah says: ﴿To the Jews We forbade every [animal] with undivided hoof﴾, such as camels and the like.

Also prohibited to them were certain parts of cattle and sheep: ﴿and We forbade to them the fat of cattle and sheep﴾.

Not all the fat was prohibited; rather it was the fat of the buttocks. Hence permissible fat was excluded from that: ﴿except that which adheres to their backs or entrails﴾, which is the fat that is mixed with them, ﴿or is attached to their bones﴾.

﴿Thus﴾ that is, by means of these prohibitions ordained for the Jews

«We requited them for their wilful disobedience» that is, the wrongdoing and transgression against the rights of Allah and the rights of His slaves. Hence Allah forbade these things to them, as a punishment to them

«verily We state the truth» in all that We say, do and rule. Who is truer than Allah in speech, and who could be better in judgement than Allah, for a people who are certain in faith?

﴿فَإِنْ كَذَّبُوكَ فَقُلْ رَبُّكُمْ ذُو رَحْمَةٍ وَاسِعَةٍ وَلَا يُرَدُّ بَأْسُهُ عَنِ الْقَوْمِ
الْمُجْرِمِينَ﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ١٤٧)

6:147. If they accuse you [O Muhammad] of lying, then say: Your Lord is full of mercy all-embracing, but His punishment cannot be averted from the evildoers.

That is, if these polytheists accuse you of lying, then carry on calling them with promises of reward and warnings of punishment, and tell them that Allah «is full of mercy all-embracing» that is, His mercy encompasses all of His creation, so hasten to seek His mercy by appropriate means, first and foremost among which, and the most essential of which, is believing in Muhammad (ﷺ) and the message he brought.

«but His punishment cannot be averted from the evildoers» that is, those who do a lot of wrong actions and commit a lot of sins. So beware of sin that incurs the punishment of Allah, the gravest of which is disbelieving in Muhammad (ﷺ).

﴿سَيَقُولُ الَّذِينَ أَشْرَكُوا لَوْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ مَا أَشْرَكْنَا وَلَا آبَاؤُنَا وَلَا حَرَمْنَا مِنْ شَيْءٍ
كَذَلِكَ كَذَّبَ الَّذِينَ مِنْ قَبْلِهِمْ حَتَّى دَافُوا بِأَسْنَانِهِمْ هَلْ عِنْدَكُمْ مِنْ عِلْمٍ

فَتُخْرِجُوهُ لَنَا إِنْ تَتَّبِعُونَ إِلَّا الظَّنَّ وَإِنْ أَنْتُمْ إِلَّا تَخْرُصُونَ ﴿١٤٨﴾ قُلْ فَلِلَّهِ الْحُجَّةُ
الْبَاطِلَةُ فَلَوْ شَاءَ لَهَدَّيْتُكُمْ أَجْمَعِينَ ﴿١٤٩﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ١٤٨-١٤٩)

- 6:148. Those who ascribe partners to Allah will say: If Allah had so willed, we would not have ascribed partners to Him, and neither would our forefathers, and we would not have introduced any taboos. In like manner did those who came before them reject [their Prophets], until they tasted Our punishment. Say: Do you have any [certain] knowledge? If so, present it to us. You follow nothing but conjecture and you do nothing but lie.
- 6:149. Say: Allah alone has the ultimate proof. If He had so willed, He could have guided you all.

Here Allah states that the polytheists will present arguments to justify the ascription of partners to Allah and the prohibition of that which Allah had permitted, on the grounds of it being the divine will and decree; they will take the will of Allah, which encompasses all things, good and bad, as an argument to ward off any blame from themselves.

And they did indeed say what Allah said they would say, as He tells us elsewhere:

﴿Those who ascribe partners to Allah say: If Allah had so willed, we would not have worshipped anything besides Him...﴾ (an-Nahl 16: 35)

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that the disbelieving nations kept using this argument as justification for rejecting the call of the Messengers, and they took it as an excuse, but that did not benefit them in any way at all. They persisted in this attitude until Allah destroyed them and made them taste the punishment.

If it had been a valid argument, it would have averted the punishment from them, and Allah would not have sent the punishment upon them, because He only sends His punishment upon those who deserve it. Thus it is known that this is an invalid and flawed argument, and it is specious and unconvincing on a number of counts, the most significant of which are as follows:

- Allah states that if this argument had been valid, the punishment would not have befallen them.
- An argument should be based on knowledge and proof. If it is based on mere speculation and conjecture that is no substitute for certain truth, then it is invalid. Hence Allah says: ﴿Say: Do you have any [certain] knowledge? If so, present it to us﴾. If they did have any knowledge – at a time when they were avowed enemies of the Prophet (ﷺ) – they would have produced it. Because they did not produce it, it is known that they had no knowledge.

﴿You follow nothing but conjecture and you do nothing but lie﴾. The one who bases his argument on speculation and conjecture is following falsehood and is a loser, so how about if he bases it on transgression, stubbornness, evil and corruption?

- Allah alone has the ultimate proof which leaves no excuse for anyone, on which the Prophets and Messengers, the divinely revealed Books, the prophetic reports, sound reasoning, upright human nature and righteous attitudes are all agreed. Thus it is known that everything that is contrary to this definitive evidence is false, because whatever is contrary to the truth can only be falsehood.
- Allah (ﷻ) has given each person ability and willpower by means of which he is able to do what he is obliged to do. Allah does not enjoin upon anyone that which he is unable to do, and He does not prohibit to anyone that which he is unable to give up. Therefore using the argument of the divine will and decree is nothing but pure wrongdoing and stubbornness.

- Allah (ﷻ) does not compel people to do anything; rather He has made their actions the matter of their own choice. If they want, they may do it, and if they want they may refrain. This is something that is well known and well established, and no one denies it except one who stubbornly rejects tangible and visible evidence. Everyone differentiates between voluntary and involuntary movements; however all of that comes under and is subject to the will of Allah.
- Those who use the concept of the divine will and decree as justification for their sins are contradicting themselves, for they cannot be consistent in argument. Rather if someone mistreats them by beating them, taking their wealth and the like, then gives the argument that this happened by the will and decree of Allah, they will not accept this argument, and they will become very angry with him.

So how strange it is when they use this argument to justify their disobedience towards Allah and their doing that which incurs His wrath, but they do not accept for anyone to use this argument for doing anything that upsets them.

- They do not use the argument of the divine will and decree to express belief in these concepts, for they know that this is not a valid argument. Rather their intention is to ward off the truth, for they think of the truth in terms of defending themselves against it, so they try to avert it by means of whatever argument crosses their minds, even if they think it is wrong.

﴿قُلْ هَلَمْ شَهِدَآءُكُمْ الَّذِينَ يَشْهَدُونَ أَنَّ اللَّهَ حَرَّمَ هَٰذَا فَإِنْ شَهِدُوا فَلَا تَشْهَدُ مَعَهُمْ وَلَا تَتَّبِعْ أَهْوَاءَ الَّذِينَ كَذَّبُوا بِآيَاتِنَا وَالَّذِينَ لَا يُؤْمِنُونَ بِالْآخِرَةِ وَهُمْ بِرَبِّهِمْ يَعْدِلُونَ﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ١٥٠)

6:150. Say [O Muhammad]: Bring your witnesses who can testify that Allah has forbidden all this. Then if they testify, do not testify with them. Do not follow the desires of those who reject Our revelations, and those who do not believe in the hereafter, and they ascribe equals to their Lord.

That is, say to those who prohibit that which Allah has made permissible and they attribute that ruling to Allah: Bring your witnesses who can testify that Allah has indeed prohibited this. If these words are said to them, they have two options: either they will not bring anyone to testify to that effect, thus their claim is demonstrated to be false and not based on any testimony or proof; or, if they do bring someone to testify to that effect for them, no one could testify to that effect except a sinful fabricator whose testimony is not acceptable, for this is not a matter concerning which people of good character may be found to testify. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says, forbidding His Prophet (ﷺ) and his followers to give such testimony: ﴿Then if they testify, do not testify with them. Do not follow the desires of those who reject Our revelations, and those who do not believe in the hereafter, and they ascribe equals to their Lord﴾ that is, they regard others, such as the idols, as equal to Him.

As they disbelieved in the Last Day, and did not affirm the oneness of Allah, their whims and desires were in accordance with their beliefs, which leaned towards ascribing partners to Allah and rejecting the truth. Hence it was more appropriate, with regard to someone with such inclinations, for Allah to forbid the best of His creation to follow such a man or to testify with such people. Thus it is known that their prohibition of that which Allah had made permissible stemmed from those misguided whims and desires.

﴿ قُلْ تَعَالَوْا أَتْلُ مَا حَرَّمَ رَبِّي عَلَيْكُمْ أَلَّا تُشْرِكُوا بِهِ شَيْئًا وَبِالْوَالِدَيْنِ إِحْسَانًا وَلَا تَقْتُلُوا أَوْلَادَكُمْ مِنْ إِمْلَاقٍ نَحْنُ نَرْزُقُكُمْ وَإِنَّهُمْ لَوَالِدُكُمْ لَا تَقْرُبُوا الْفَوَاحِشَ مَا ظَهَرَ مِنْهَا وَمَا بَطَنَ وَلَا تَقْتُلُوا النَّفْسَ الَّتِي حَرَّمَ اللَّهُ إِلَّا بِالْحَقِّ ذَلِكَُمْ وَصْنَكُمْ بِهِ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَعْقِلُونَ ﴿١٥١﴾ وَلَا تَقْرَبُوا مَالَ الْيَتِيمِ إِلَّا بِالْيَقِينِ لَا تَكُفُّ نَفْسًا حَتَّى يَبْلُغَ أَشُدَّهُ وَأَوْفُوا بِالْعَيْلِ وَالْيَتِيمِ بِالْقِسْطِ لَا تَكُفُّ نَفْسًا إِلَّا وُسْعَهَا وَإِذَا قُلْتُمْ فَاعْدِلُوا وَلَوْ كَانَ ذَا قُرْبَىٰ وَبِمَهْدِ اللَّهِ أَوْفُوا ذَلِكَُمْ وَصْنَكُمْ بِهِ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَذَكَّرُونَ ﴿١٥٢﴾ وَأَنَّ هَذَا صِرَاطِي مُسْتَقِيمًا فَاتَّبِعُوهُ وَلَا تَتَّبِعُوا السُّبُلَ فَتَفَرَّقَ بِكُمْ عَنْ سَبِيلِهِ ذَلِكَُمْ وَصْنَكُمْ بِهِ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَتَّقُونَ

- 6:151. Say: Come, I will recite to you what your Lord has made binding on you: that you should not ascribe any partner to Him; that you should show kindness to parents; that you should not kill your children because of poverty, for We will provide for you and for them; that you should not approach shameful deeds, whether openly or in secret; that you should not kill, for that is forbidden by Allah, except in the course of justice. Thus He instructs you, so that you may understand.
- 6:152. Do not touch the orphan's property, before he comes of age, except to improve it; give full measure and weight, with equity. We do not place on any soul a burden greater than it can bear. And when you speak, be fair, even if it concerns a close relative. And fulfil the covenant of Allah. Thus He instructs you, so that you may pay heed.
- 6:153. Verily, this is My path, leading straight; follow it, and do not follow [other] paths, lest they cause you to deviate from His path. Thus He instructs you, so that you may protect yourselves [from misguidance].

Here Allah (ﷻ) says to His Prophet (ﷺ): «Say» to these people who prohibited that which Allah had made permissible: «Come, I will recite to you what your Lord has made binding on you», the rulings that are binding upon everyone and which include what is prohibited in terms of food, drink, words and actions.

«that you should not ascribe any partner to Him» that is, neither few nor many.

The real nature of ascribing partners to Allah is that a created being is worshipped as Allah is to be worshipped, or is venerated as Allah is to be venerated, or is described in terms of any attribute that is unique to Allah in terms of Lordship or divinity. If a person refrains from ascribing partners to Allah in any way, then he becomes a monotheist (one who affirms the oneness of Allah), sincere towards Him in all his affairs. It is Allah's right over His slaves that they should worship Him alone, and not associate anything with Him.

Then He lists the most important rights after His own:

«that you should show kindness to parents» by speaking respectfully and kindly, and doing good deeds. Showing kindness includes any word or deed that benefits one's parents and makes them happy, and if the individual shows kindness to his parents, then there is no disobedience towards them.

«that you should not kill your children» male or female «because of poverty» that is, because you are worried about how to provide for them, as happened during the jāhiliyah when hard-heartedness and injustice prevailed. If they are prohibited to kill their own children in this situation, then killing their children for no reason, or killing the children of others, is even more emphatically prohibited.

«for We will provide for you and for them» that is, We have guaranteed the provision of all. You are not the ones who provide for your children or even for yourselves, so there is no need to worry about them.

«that you should not approach shameful deeds» – this refers to major sins that are regarded as obscene or repugnant

﴿whether openly or in secret﴾ – this refers to actions that are visible and those that have to do with thoughts and intentions.

The prohibition on approaching shameful deeds is more effective than a prohibition on merely doing them, because it includes a prohibition on their precursors and the means that lead to them.

﴿that you should not kill, for that is forbidden by Allah﴾ this refers to killing any Muslim, male or female, young or old, righteous or evildoer, or killing a non-Muslim who is protected by a covenant with the Muslims

﴿except in the course of justice﴾ such as the previously-married adulterer, cases of murder, or one who leaves his religion and splits from the main body of Muslims.

﴿Thus He instructs you﴾ and enjoins what is mentioned above ﴿so that you may understand﴾ His instructions, then pay attention to them and adhere to them.

This verse indicates that the individual's compliance with the commands of Allah will be commensurate with his level of understanding.

﴿Do not touch the orphan's property﴾ by consuming it or replacing it with your wealth in an unfair manner, or taking it for no reason ﴿before he﴾ that is, the orphan ﴿comes of age﴾ that is, reaches maturity and knows how to handle it. When he reaches maturity, he may be given his wealth at that point and he may dispose of it as he sees fit.

﴿except to improve it﴾ that is, except in the event that you are trying to improve their wealth, so that they may benefit from it. This indicates that it is not permissible to touch the orphan's property or dispose of it in a manner that is detrimental to the orphan, or in a manner that, although it is not detrimental to him, is not in his best interests either.

This indicates that the orphan – before he comes of age – is not allowed to dispose of his wealth and that his guardian may dispose of his wealth in the manner that is best, and this ruling comes to an end when the orphan comes of age.

«give full measure and weight, with equity» that is, on the basis of fairness and honesty. If you strive hard in that, then «We do not place on any soul a burden greater than it can bear» that is, as much as it is able to bear, and not too much. So if anyone strives hard to be honest in terms of measures and weights, then falls short without realising, and without being negligent, then Allah is Oft-Pardoning, Oft-Forgiving.

The scholars of uṣool quoted this and similar verses as evidence that Allah does not burden anyone with more than he can bear, and that if a person fears Allah with regard to His commands, and does whatever he can, then there is no blame on him for anything beyond that.

«And when you speak» in the event of judging between people and putting an end to their disputes, or you comment on their views or their situations, then «be fair» in what you say, by paying attention to being truthful both regarding those whom you like and those whom you dislike, and by being fair and not concealing that which needs to be disclosed, for being biased against someone because you dislike him or some of his views constitutes wrongdoing, which is prohibited.

In fact when a scholar discusses the views of the innovators, what he is required to do is give credit where it is due, and to explain what there is of truth or falsehood in their statements and to take into consideration how close to or far from the truth it is.

The fuqahā' (jurists) have stated that the qâḍi (judge) must be fair and equitable towards both disputants in the way he speaks to them and looks at them.

«And fulfil the covenant of Allah» that includes the covenant which He has made with His slaves, according to which they must fulfil His rights, as well as the covenants that people make with one another. All covenants must be fulfilled and it is prohibited to break any covenant or fail to fulfil it properly.

«Thus» that is, the rulings mentioned above
 «He instructs you, so that you may pay heed» to what He has explained to you of rulings, and so that you may carry out His instructions properly and learn the wisdom behind them and the rulings concerning them.

Having explained many of the major rulings and important laws, Allah then refers to them and to that which is more comprehensive and general than them, as He says: «Verily, this is My path, leading straight» that is, these and similar rulings, which Allah has explained in His Book and made clear to His slaves, are the path of Allah that leads to Him and to paradise; it is a moderate, easy and straightforward path.

«follow it» in order to attain success and prosperity, and to fulfil your hopes

«and do not follow [other] paths» that is, paths that are contrary to this path

«lest they cause you to deviate from His path» that is, lead you astray and cause you to deviate right and left. For if you go astray from the straight path, there is nothing else but paths that lead to hell.

«Thus He instructs you, so that you may protect yourselves [from misguidance]»; if you do what Allah has explained to you, by learning it and acting upon it, you will be among the pious and successful slaves of Allah. The path is described in the singular and as being His because there is only one path that leads to Him, and Allah is the One Who helps those who follow it to adhere to it.

﴿ثُمَّ آتَيْنَا مُوسَى الْكِتَابَ تَمَامًا عَلَى الَّذِي أَحْسَنَ وَتَفْصِيلًا لِّكُلِّ شَيْءٍ

كَذَّبَ بِآيَاتِ اللَّهِ وَصَدَفَ عَنْهَا سَنَجْزِي الَّذِينَ يَصْدِفُونَ عَنْ آيَاتِنَا سُوءَ الْعَذَابِ
بِمَا كَانُوا يَصْدِفُونَ ﴿١٥٧﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ١٥٤-١٥٧)

- 6:154. Moreover, We gave Moosâ the scripture, completing [Our favour] for those who did good, and explaining all things in detail, and as a guidance and a mercy, so that they might believe in the meeting with their Lord.
- 6:155. And this [Qur'an] is a blessed Book that We have sent down, so follow it and fear Allah, so that you may attain mercy.
- 6:156. Lest you should say: The scripture was sent down to two groups [the Jews and Christians] before us, and we were unaware of their teachings.
- 6:157. Or lest you should say: If the scripture had been sent down to us, we would have been better guided than they. Now there has come to you a clear sign from your Lord, and a guidance and a mercy. Who does greater evil than he who rejects Allah's revelations and turns away from them? We will requite those who turn away from Our revelations with the worst kind of punishment, for their turning away.

Here Allah tells us that He «gave Moosâ the scripture», namely the Torah

«completing» His favour and kindness

«for those who did good» among the Ummah of Moosâ, for Allah bestowed upon the doers of good among them unlimited blessings, the most perfect of which was the Torah which was sent down to them. Thus the blessing of Allah to them was completed, and it was obligatory for them to give thanks for it.

﴿and explaining all things in detail﴾ for which they needed explanation, such as what was lawful and what was prohibited, commands and prohibitions, beliefs and so on

﴿and as a guidance﴾ that is, to guide them to that which was good and to inform them of what was evil with regard to both fundamental and minor issues

﴿and a mercy﴾ so that by means of it they might attain happiness, mercy and a great deal of goodness

﴿so that﴾ by means of Our sending down to them the Book and clear proofs ﴿they might believe in the meeting with their Lord﴾, for it included definitive evidence of the Resurrection and recompense for deeds, which required them to believe in the meeting with their Lord and to prepare for it.

﴿And this﴾ namely the Holy Qur'an and wise reminder ﴿is a blessed Book that We have sent down﴾ that is, it contains much good and abundant knowledge, and all other branches of knowledge are taken from it and all blessings are derived from it. There is nothing good but the Qur'an calls to it and encourages it. It mentions wisdom and interests that encourage one to pursue good. And there is nothing evil but it forbids it and warns against it, and it mentions reasons that put one off doing such things, and the bad consequences thereof.

﴿so follow it﴾ and comply with its commands and prohibitions, and base your understanding of your religion, both fundamental and minor issues, on it.

﴿and fear Allah﴾ lest you go against His command and ﴿so that﴾, if you follow it (the Qur'an)

﴿you may attain mercy﴾, for the greatest means of attaining Allah's mercy is following this Book, learning it and acting upon it.

﴿Lest you should say: The scripture was sent down to two groups [the Jews and Christians] before us, and we were unaware of their teachings﴾ that is, We have sent down this blessed Book to you so that you will have no excuse, and lest you should say: The Book was only sent down to two groups who came before us, namely the Jews and Christians.

﴿and we were unaware of their teachings﴾ that is, lest you say: No Book came down to us, and of the Books that were revealed to the two earlier groups we have no knowledge. Therefore We sent down a Book to you, and no other Book that came down from heaven is more comprehensive or clearer than it.

﴿Or lest you should say: If the scripture had been sent down to us, we would have been better guided than they﴾. That is, either you will give the excuse that no guidance reached you in the first place, or you will give the excuse that what you had of guidance was incomplete and imperfect. But by means of this Book you have received the basics of guidance and more, to the point of perfect guidance. Hence Allah says: ﴿Now there has come to you a clear sign from your Lord﴾ which includes everything that can highlight and explain the truth in a perfect manner

﴿and a mercy﴾ that is, blessing for you in your spiritual and worldly affairs. This requires you to comply with its rulings and to believe in its stories, and implies that the one who does not pay attention to it and rejects it is the worst of wrongdoers. Hence Allah says: ﴿Who does greater evil than he who rejects Allah's revelations and turns away from them?﴾ That is, he shuns them and turns away from them.

﴿We will requite those who turn away from Our revelations with the worst kind of punishment﴾ that is, the punishment that causes pain and distress

﴿for their turning away﴾ themselves and turning others away from it; this will be a requital for their bad deeds.

﴿...And your Lord is never unjust to His slaves.﴾ (Fussilat 41: 46)

This verse indicates that knowledge of the Qur'an is the noblest and most blessed of knowledge, by means of which one attains guidance to the straight path, which is perfect guidance, with which there is no need for the speculations and ideas of the philosophers or any other branches of knowledge of the earlier and later generations. It is well known that earlier scripture was not revealed to any except the two groups, namely the Jews and Christians. They are the People of the Book unless otherwise specified; no other group is included with them, neither the Magians nor anyone else.

This passage highlights how the people of the jāhiliyah (pre-Islamic period) were before the Qur'an was revealed: they were completely ignorant and had no knowledge of what the People of the Book had, who had some knowledge, and they were unaware of their teachings.

﴿هَلْ يَنْظُرُونَ إِلَّا أَنْ تَأْتِيَهُمُ الْمَلَائِكَةُ أَوْ يَأْتِيَ رَبُّكَ أَوْ يَأْتِيَ بَعْضُ آيَاتِ رَبِّكَ يَوْمَ يَأْتِيَ بَعْضُ آيَاتِ رَبِّكَ لَا يَنْفَعُ نَفْسًا إِيْتِنَاهَا تَكُنَّ ءَامَنَتْ مِنْ قَبْلُ أَوْ كَسَبَتْ فِي إِيمَانِهَا خَيْرًا قُلِ انْظُرُوا إِنَّا مُنْظِرُونَ﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ١٥٨)

6:158. Are they waiting for the angels to come to them, or for your Lord to come, or for some of the signs of your Lord to come? On the day when some of the signs of your Lord come, no good will it do to a soul to believe then, if it did not believe before or earn some good through its faith. Say: Wait then; we too are waiting.

Here Allah (ﷻ) says: are these people, who are persisting in their wrongdoing and stubbornness, waiting for the precursors of punishment and the precursors of the hereafter? Are they waiting ﴿for the angels﴾ to come and take their souls? For if they reach that point, neither faith nor righteous deeds will benefit them.

Or are they waiting ﴿for your Lord to come﴾ and judge all people, requiting the doers of good and the doers of evil?

Or are they waiting ﴿for some of the signs of your Lord to come﴾ which will signal the approach of the Hour?

﴿On the day when some of the signs of your Lord come﴾, extraordinary signs, from which it will be known that the Hour is at hand and that the Resurrection is nigh, ﴿no good will it do to a soul to believe then, if it did not believe before or earn some good through its faith﴾ that is, when some of the signs of Allah appear, it will not benefit the disbeliever to believe, or the believer who is falling short, to mend his ways after that. The only thing that will benefit him is the faith that he had before that, and the good deeds, for which he hoped for reward, that he did before these signs came.

The wisdom behind that is obvious. Faith is only of benefit if it is faith in the unseen and is voluntary on the part of the individual. Once the signs appear, then it becomes a matter of that which is seen and faith will no longer be of benefit because it is more akin to faith when one has no other choice, like the faith of one who is drowning or burning to death and the like, those who, when they see death, they give up what they were doing. This is like what Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿But when they saw Our punishment, they said: We believe in Allah alone, and we reject that which we used to associate with Him. But their believing after they had seen Our punishment could not benefit them at all. Such has always been the way of Allah in dealing with His slaves...﴾ (Ghāfir 40: 84-85)

Many ṣaḥeeḥ hadiths from the Prophet (ﷺ) indicate that what is meant by “some of the signs of Allah” here is the rising of the sun from its place of setting; when the people see that, they will believe, but their faith will be of no benefit and at that time the gate of repentance will be closed.

As this is a warning to those who rejected the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ), who were expecting calamities and disasters to befall the Prophet (ﷺ) and his followers, Allah says:

﴿Say: Wait then; we too are waiting﴾ and you will come to know which of us is more deserving of protection and safety.

This verse offers proof for the view of ahl as-Sunnah wal-jamâ'ah who affirm the actions of Allah (ﷻ), such as His rising above the Throne (in a manner that befits His Majesty), descending and coming, without likening it to or thinking of it in terms of human attributes.

There is a great deal of evidence to this effect in the Qur'an and Sunnah.

It also indicates that one of the portents of the Hour will be the rising of the sun from its place of setting, and that Allah (ﷻ) is Most Wise; by His decree, faith is only of benefit if it is by choice and not under compulsion, as mentioned above.

We also learn from this verse that man may attain good by means of his faith. Acts of obedience, righteousness and piety are only of benefit and can only develop if the individual has faith. If his heart is devoid of faith, then none of these deeds will be of any benefit to him.

﴿إِنَّ الَّذِينَ فَرَّقُوا دِينَهُمْ وَكَانُوا شِيَعًا لَّسْتَ مِنْهُمْ فِي شَيْءٍ إِنَّمَا أَمْرُهُمْ إِلَى اللَّهِ ثُمَّ يُنَبِّئُهُم بِمَا كَانُوا يَفْعَلُونَ ﴿١٥٩﴾﴾
 ﴿فَلَا يَجْزِي إِيَّاهُ مِثْلَهَا وَهُمْ لَا يُظْلَمُونَ ﴿١٦٠﴾﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ١٥٩-١٦٠)

6:159. As for those who differed concerning their religion and divided into sects, you [O Muhammad] have nothing whatsoever to do with them. Their case rests with Allah; in the end He will inform them of what they used to do.

6:160. Whoever comes [on the Day of Resurrection] with a good deed will be repaid tenfold, but whoever comes with an evil deed will be recompensed only with the like thereof; and no one will be wronged.

Here Allah warns those who differed concerning their religion, those who divided and split into factions, each of them taking a share and calling themselves by a name that is of no benefit with regard to religious commitment, such as the Jews, Christians and Magians. Something similar may be said concerning those who call themselves by names that do not help to perfect their faith, such as those who take something of Islamic teachings and make that the core of their religious commitment, abandoning other matters that are of equal or greater importance, as is the case with various sects and followers of innovation and misguidance who divided the Ummah.

This verse indicates that Islam calls for unity and harmony, and it forbids division and dissent among its followers with regard to all matters, both fundamental and minor.

Allah enjoined him (the Prophet ﷺ) to disavow those who divide their religion, as He says: ﴿you [O Muhammad] have nothing whatsoever to do with them﴾ that is, you have nothing to do with them and they have nothing to do with you, because they have differed with you and opposed you
 ﴿Their case rests with Allah﴾, for they will return to Him and He will requite them for their deeds
 ﴿in the end He will inform them of what they used to do﴾.

Then He describes the nature of the requital:
 ﴿Whoever comes [on the Day of Resurrection] with a good deed﴾ – this includes both words and deeds, outward or inward, having to do with the rights of Allah or the rights of His creation
 ﴿will be repaid tenfold﴾. This is the minimum degree of reward

﴿but whoever comes with an evil deed will be recompensed only with the like thereof﴾ this is by the perfect justice and kindness of Allah (ﷻ), for He will never wrong them in the slightest. Hence He says: ﴿and no one will be wronged﴾.

﴿قُلْ إِنِّي هَدَىٰ رَبِّي إِلَىٰ صِرَاطٍ مُسْتَقِيمٍ دِينًا قِيَمًا مِثْلَهُ بِرِهْمٍ خَفِيفًا وَمَا كَانَ مِنَ الْمُشْرِكِينَ﴾ (١٦١) قُلْ إِنَّ صَلَاتِي وَنُسُكِي وَمَحْيَايَ وَمَمَاتِي لِلَّهِ رَبِّ الْعَالَمِينَ ﴿١٦٢﴾ لَا شَرِيكَ لَهُ، وَبِذَلِكَ أُمِرْتُ وَأَنَا أَوَّلُ الْمُسْلِمِينَ ﴿١٦٣﴾ قُلْ أَغْنَىٰ اللَّهُ عَنِّي رَبِّيَ وَهُوَ رَبُّ كُلِّ شَيْءٍ وَلَا تَكْسِبُ كُلُّ نَفْسٍ إِلَّا عَلَيْهَا وَلَا نُزِرُ وَأَرْزُ وَزَرُ أُخْرَىٰ ثُمَّ إِلَىٰ رَبِّكُمْ مَرْجِعُكُمْ فَيُنَبِّئُكُمْ بِمَا كُنتُمْ فِيهِ تَخْلِفُونَ ﴿١٦٤﴾ وَهُوَ الَّذِي جَعَلَ لَكُمُ الْخَلْقَ الْأَرْضَ وَرَفَعَ بَعْضَكُمْ فَوْقَ بَعْضٍ دَرَجَاتٍ لِّيَبْلُوَكُمْ فِي مَا آتَاكُمْ إِنَّ رَبَّكَ سَرِيعُ الْعِقَابِ وَإِنَّهُ لَغَفُورٌ رَحِيمٌ ﴿١٦٥﴾ (سورة الأنعام: ١٦١-١٦٥)

- 6:161. Say: Verily, my Lord has guided me to a straight path, an upright religion, the religion of Ibrâheem the monotheist, and he was not one of those who ascribe partners to Allah.
- 6:162. Say: Verily my prayer, my sacrifice, my living and my dying are all for Allah, the Lord of the worlds;
- 6:163. No partner has He. Thus I am commanded, and I am the first of those who submit to Allah [in Islam].
- 6:164. Say: Should I seek a lord other than Allah, when He is the Lord of all things? No soul earns [evil] but it is to its own detriment; no bearer of burdens can bear the burden of another. Then to your Lord you will [all] return, then He will inform you about the matters concerning which you differed.
- 6:165. And it is He Who has made you the successors of others on the earth, and has caused some of you to excel others [in worldly advantages], so that He may test you by means of that which He has bestowed upon you. Verily your Lord is swift in punishment, yet He is indeed Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.

---

Here Allah (ﷻ) instructs His Prophet (ﷺ) to say and proclaim that what he is following of guidance to the straight path is the moderate religion which promotes sound beliefs and righteous deeds, and it enjoins all that is good and forbids all that is abhorrent. This is the religion of the Prophets and Messengers, especially the leader of the monotheists and the father of those Prophets who were sent after his death, namely the close friend of the Most Merciful, Ibrâheem (عليه السلام). He is the monotheist whose path stands out from all crooked paths and all other deviant religions such as those of the Jews, Christians and polytheists.

This is in general terms; then Allah singles out for mention the noblest acts of worship, as He says:

«Say: Verily my prayer, my sacrifice» – this is because of the virtue of these two acts of worship and what they imply of loving Allah, devoting worship sincerely to Him alone and drawing closer to Him in one's heart and by means of one's words and actions. Sacrifice means giving up what one loves of wealth or property for that which is dearer to one, namely Allah (ﷻ).

If a person is sincere in his prayer and sacrifice, he will inevitably be sincere towards Allah in all his deeds.

«my living and my dying» that is, whatever I do in my life and whatever Allah decrees should happen to me, and what He decrees for me at the time of my death, all of that is «for Allah, the Lord of the worlds; No partner has He» in worship, just as He has no partner in sovereignty and control.

This sincerity towards Allah is not something that I have made up by myself; rather «Thus I am commanded» – it is enjoined upon me and I have no choice but to comply

﴿and I am the first of those who submit to Allah [in Islam]﴾ of this Ummah.

﴿Say: Should I seek a lord other than Allah﴾ among His creation; would that be right or would it be appropriate for me to take someone other than Him as a lord and submit my affairs to him, when Allah is the Lord of all things? All creatures are subject to His Lordship and must submit to His commands.

Therefore I and others have no choice but to take Allah as our Lord and be content with Him, and not be attached to any of those who are subject to His control and are helpless in themselves.

This is followed by encouragement and warning, which takes the form of mentioning the recompense:

﴿No soul earns [evil] but it is to its own detriment﴾ that is, whatever a person does, good or evil, the consequences thereof will reach him. This is like the verse in which Allah says:

﴿Whoever does righteous deeds, it is to his own benefit and whoever does evil deeds, it is to his own detriment...﴾ (Fussilat 41: 46)

﴿no bearer of burdens can bear the burden of another﴾ rather each one will carry his own burden; if anyone causes someone else to be misguided and to incur a burden of sin, then he will also bear a burden of sin for what he caused, without that detracting from the burden of the one who actually did it.

﴿Then to your Lord you will [all] return﴾ on the Day of Resurrection ﴿then He will inform you about the matters concerning which you differed﴾ of good and evil, and He will requite you for that abundantly.

﴿And it is He Who has made you the successors of others on the earth﴾ that is, He has caused you to succeed one another, generation after generation, and to succeed other people on earth; He has subjugated to you all that is on earth and has tested you, to see what you will do.

﴿and has caused some of you to excel others [in worldly advantages]﴾ in terms of strength, well-being, provision, physical appearance and character

﴿so that He may test you by means of that which He has bestowed upon you﴾ as your deeds vary.

﴿Verily your Lord is swift in punishment﴾ for those who disobey Him and reject His revelations

﴿yet He is indeed Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful﴾ to those who believe in Him and do righteous deeds, and repent from that which could incur doom.

This is the end of the commentary on Soorat al-An'ām.

All praise and thanks are for Allah, and may the blessings and peace of Allah be upon Prophet Muhammad (ﷺ), his family, and his Companions abundantly until the Day of Judgement.

بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ

*In the name of Allah,
the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful*

﴿الْعَص﴾ ١ كَتَبْنَا أَنْزِلَ إِلَيْكَ فَلَا يَكُنْ فِي صَدْرِكَ حَرَجٌ مِنْهُ لِئُنْذِرَ بِهِ وَذِكْرَى
لِلْمُؤْمِنِينَ ٢ اتَّبِعُوا مَا أَنْزَلَ إِلَيْكُم مِّن رَّبِّكُمْ وَلَا تَتَّبِعُوا مِن دُونِهِ أَوْلِيَاءَ قَلِيلًا مَّا
تَذَكَّرُونَ ٣ وَكَمْ مِّن قَرْيَةٍ أَهْلَكْنَاهَا فَجَاءَهَا بَأْسُنَا بَيِّنًا أَوْ هُمْ قَائِلُونَ ٤ فَمَا
كَانَ دَعْوَانَهُمْ إِذْ جَاءَهُمْ بَأْسُنَا إِلَّا أَن قَالُوا إِنَّا كُنَّا ظَالِمِينَ ٥ فَلَنَسْأَلَنَّ الَّذِينَ
أُرْسِلَ إِلَيْهِمْ وَلَنَسْأَلَنَّ الْمُرْسَلِينَ ٦ فَلَنَقْصُصَنَّ عَلَيْهِمْ بِعِلْمٍ وَمَا كُنَّا غَائِبِينَ
﴿سورة الأعراف: ١-٧﴾

7:1. Alif. Lâ. Meem. Sâd.<sup>15</sup>

<sup>15</sup> Groups of letters (al-huroof al-muqatta'ah) appear at the beginning of several soorahs. The most correct scholarly view states that we are required to believe in them as they appear to be, without delving into their meaning, knowledge of which we should leave to Allah. We believe that they were not revealed in vain, and that there is wisdom behind them of which we are not aware.

- 7:2. This is a Book that has been sent down to you [O Muhammad], so do not let your heart be troubled by it; [it has been sent down] so that you may warn thereby and remind the believers.
- 7:3. Follow [O humankind] that which has been sent down to you from your Lord, and do not follow any close associates besides Him. Little is it that you pay heed!
- 7:4. How many a city did We destroy [for their sins]; Our punishment came upon them [suddenly] by night or whilst they rested at midday.
- 7:5. Their only cry, when Our punishment came upon them, was: We were indeed wrongdoers.
- 7:6. We will certainly question those to whom the Messengers were sent, and We will certainly question the Messengers themselves.
- 7:7. Then verily We will recount to them what they did, on the basis of knowledge, for We were never absent.

Here Allah (ﷻ) says to His Prophet (ﷺ), highlighting to him the greatness of the Qur'an: ﴿This is a Book that has been sent down to you﴾ that is, a great Book that contains all that people need, all divine injunctions and all aims and goals of Sharia, in a precise and detailed manner.

﴿so do not let your heart be troubled by it﴾ that is, do not let there be any anxiety, doubt or confusion in your heart; rather you should understand that it has been sent down by One Who is Most Wise, Worthy of all praise.

﴿No falsehood can approach it from before it or from behind it; [it is] a revelation from One Who is Most Wise, Praiseworthy.﴾ (Fussilat 41: 42) – and He is indeed the most truthful in speech. So let your heart be open to it and let your mind be at rest; convey its commands and prohibitions, and do not fear any blame or opposition.

﴿so that you may warn﴾ the people ﴿thereby﴾ and admonish and remind them; thus proof will be established against the stubborn.

﴿and remind the believers﴾, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿But continue to exhort them, for exhortation benefits the believers.﴾

(adh-Dhâriyât 51: 55)

Thus they will remember the straight path and righteous deeds, both outward and inward, and be alert to that which prevents a person from following that path.

Then Allah addresses people in general and draws their attention to the Book:

﴿Follow [O humankind] that which has been sent down to you from your Lord﴾ that is, the Book that was sent down for your sake, for it is ﴿from your Lord﴾, Who wants to perfect you, so He has sent down to you this Book which, if you follow it, will perfect you and complete His favour upon you, and you will be guided to the best and most sublime of deeds and attitudes.

﴿and do not follow any close associates besides Him﴾ that is, do not take them as friends and follow their whims and desires, and forsake following the truth because of them.

﴿Little is it that you pay heed!﴾ If you paid heed and realised what is in your best interests, you would not have given precedence to that which is harmful over that which is beneficial, or to an enemy over a friend.

Then Allah warns of His punishment to the nations who rejected the message brought to them by their Messengers, lest those who are addressed here do likewise:

﴿How many a city did We destroy [for their sins]; Our punishment﴾ that is, Our severe penalty ﴿came upon them [suddenly] by night or whilst they rested at midday﴾ that is, at a time when they were heedless and unaware, and it never crossed their minds that they might perish. When the punishment came to them they could not ward it off and their false gods in which they had placed their hopes could not help them.

They did not deny what they used to do of wrongdoing and sin: ﴿Their only cry, when Our punishment came upon them, was: We were indeed wrongdoers﴾. This is like the verses in which Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿How many cities that were given to wrongdoing have We utterly destroyed, and raised up other people in their stead. When they sensed Our punishment [approaching], they began to flee from it. [It was said to them:] Do not flee. Go back to your comforts and your dwellings, so that you may be sought out [to give help and advice to others]. They said: Woe to us! We were indeed wrongdoers. And that cry of theirs did not cease until We mowed them down and left them lifeless.﴾
(al-Anbiyā' 21: 11-15)

﴿We will certainly question those to whom the Messengers were sent﴾ that is, We shall question the nations to whom Allah sent the Messengers as to their response to their Messengers.

﴿On that day, Allah will call to them, saying: What was your response to the Messengers?﴾ (al-Qaṣaṣ 28: 65)

﴿and We will certainly question the Messengers themselves﴾ about their conveying of their Lord's message, and the response of their nations.

﴿Then verily We will recount to them﴾ that is, to all people, telling them of their deeds ﴿on the basis of knowledge﴾ for Allah knows all that they do.

﴿for We were never absent﴾ at any time whatsoever. This is like the verse in which Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿...Allah has kept account of it whilst they have forgotten it...﴾
(al-Mujādilah 58: 6)

Then Allah mentions the recompense for deeds:

﴿وَالْوَزْنُ يَوْمَئِذٍ الْحَقُّ ۖ فَمَنْ ثَقُلَتْ مَوَازِينُهُ فَأُولَٰئِكَ هُمُ الْمُفْلِحُونَ ﴿٨﴾ وَمَنْ خَفَّتْ مَوَازِينُهُ فَأُولَٰئِكَ الَّذِينَ خَسِرُوا أَنفُسَهُمْ بِمَا كَانُوا بِآيَاتِنَا يَظْلِمُونَ ﴿٩﴾﴾ (سورة

(الأعراف: ٨-٩)

- 7:8. The weighing [of deeds] on that day will be true and just. Those whose good deeds weigh heavy in the balance will be the successful ones.
- 7:9. And those whose good deeds weigh lightly in the balance are the ones who will lose their own souls, because they wrongfully rejected Our revelations.

That is, the weighing of deeds on the Day of Resurrection will be done with justice and fairness, and there will be no injustice or unfairness at all.

«Those whose good deeds weigh heavy in the balance» and outweigh their bad deeds

«will be the successful ones» that is, those who will be saved from that which they fear, and will attain that which they hope for. They are the ones who will attain the greatest goal and eternal happiness.

«And those whose good deeds weigh lightly in the balance» and are outweighed by their bad deeds

«are the ones who will lose their own souls» because they will miss out on eternal bliss and be subjected to the painful punishment

«because they wrongfully rejected Our revelations», so they did not comply with them as they were required to do.

﴿وَلَقَدْ مَكَنَّاكُمْ فِي الْأَرْضِ وَجَعَلْنَا لَكُمْ فِيهَا مَعِيشٌ ۚ فَلَيْلًا مَا تَشْكُرُونَ ﴿١٠﴾﴾ (سورة الأعراف: ١٠)

(سورة الأعراف: ١٠)

- 7:10. We established you firmly on earth and appointed for you means of livelihood therein; little it is that you give thanks.

Here Allah (ﷻ) reminds His slaves of His blessings, by mentioning shelter and livelihood:

﴿We established you firmly on earth﴾ that is, We prepared it for you so that you would be able to build on it, cultivate it and benefit from it in different ways

﴿and appointed for you means of livelihood therein﴾ by means of what it produces of trees, plants, metals and minerals, as well as all kinds of crafts and trades that you practice. He is the One Who prepared that and made available the means thereof.

﴿little it is that you give thanks﴾ to Allah, Who has bestowed upon you all kinds of blessings and diverted from you all kinds of suffering.

﴿وَلَقَدْ خَلَقْنَاكُمْ ثُمَّ صَوَّرْنَاكُمْ ثُمَّ قُلْنَا لِلْمَلَائِكَةِ اسْجُدُوا لِآدَمَ فَسَجَدُوا إِلَّا إِبْلِيسَ لَمْ يَكُنْ مِنَ السَّاجِدِينَ ﴿١١﴾ قَالَ مَا مَنَعَكَ أَلَّا تَسْجُدَ إِذْ أَمَرْتُكَ قَالَ أَنَا خَيْرٌ مِّنْهُ خَلَقْنِي مِنْ نَّارٍ وَخَلَقْتَهُ مِنْ طِينٍ ﴿١٢﴾ قَالَ فَاهْبِطْ مِنْهَا فَمَا يَكُونُ لَكَ أَنْ تَتَكَبَّرَ فِيهَا فَاخْرُجْ إِنَّكَ مِنَ الصَّاغِرِينَ ﴿١٣﴾ قَالَ أَنْظِرْنِي إِلَى يَوْمِ يُبْعَثُونَ ﴿١٤﴾ قَالَ إِنَّكَ مِنَ الْمُنظَرِينَ ﴿١٥﴾﴾

(سورة الأعراف: ١١-١٥)

- 7:11. We created you, then We shaped you, then We said to the angels: Prostrate to Adam. So they prostrated, except for Iblees; he was not one of those who prostrated.
- 7:12. [Allah] said: What prevented you from prostrating when I commanded you? He said: I am better than he; You created me from fire and You created him from clay.
- 7:13. [Allah] said: Get down from here [paradise]! It is not proper for you to be arrogant here. Get out, for you are one of the despised.

7:14. [Iblees] said: Grant me respite until the day they are resurrected.

7:15. [Allah] said: You are among those who are granted respite.

Here Allah (ﷻ) says, addressing the children of Adam: ﴿We created you﴾ in that We created the origin and source from which you emerged, namely your father Adam (ﷺ)

﴿then We shaped you﴾ and gave you the best shape and form, and Allah taught him what he needed to perfect his character, the names of all things.

Then Allah commanded the noble angels to prostrate to Adam, by way of honour and respect, and in affirmation of his virtue. They all complied with the command of their Lord and ﴿prostrated﴾, all except for Iblees. He refused to prostrate to him out of disdain for him and his own self-admiration. Hence Allah rebuked him for that and said:

﴿What prevented you from prostrating﴾ to the one whom I created directly with My own Hands, that is, I honoured him and favoured him in this way, which was not given to anyone else, but you disobeyed My command and showed no respect to Me?

﴿He﴾ namely Iblees ﴿said﴾ justifying his objection to his Lord: ﴿I am better than he﴾, then he tried to prove this false claim by saying ﴿You created me from fire and You created him from clay﴾, which implies that the one who was created from fire is superior to the one who was created from clay, because fire is able to rise above clay. But this is one of the most corrupt of analogies, and is invalid on a number of counts, including the following:

- It is used in the context of opposing the command of Allah to prostrate. If an analogy (qiyās) is contrary to a text then the conclusion of the analogy is false, because the purpose of making analogies is to find a ruling in matters concerning which there is no clear text. The issue should be similar to another issue for which there is a text, and should be connected to the one for which there is a text. But to make an analogy that is contrary to the text, and leads to overlooking the text altogether, is the worst kind of analogy.

- The words «I am better than he» on their own are sufficient to highlight the evil character of Iblees, because this shows that he demonstrated his evil nature by means of his self-admiration, arrogance and speaking about Allah without knowledge. What evil could be greater than that?
- He lied by regarding the substance of fire as being superior to the substance of clay or mud, for clay has the characteristics of humility, tranquillity and dignity, and from it emerge the blessings of the earth, such as trees and all kinds of plants. As for fire, it has the characteristics of fickleness and capriciousness, and it burns.

Hence when Iblees did what he did, he fell from his former lofty status and became the lowest of the low. Therefore Allah said to him: «Get down from here» that is, from paradise «It is not proper for you to be arrogant here», because it is the abode of the good and pure, so it is not befitting for the most iniquitous and evil of Allah's creation.

«Get out, for you are one of the despised» that is, those who are scorned and humiliated; as a punishment for his arrogance and self-admiration, he was disgraced and brought low.

When the enemy of Allah proclaimed his enmity towards Allah and towards Adam and his progeny, he asked Allah for respite until the Day of Resurrection, so that he would be able to mislead whomever he could of the children of Adam.

Because Allah's wisdom dictated that His slaves were to be tried and tested, in order to distinguish the truthful from the liars, those who would obey Him from those who would obey His enemy, He granted this request and said: «You are among those who are granted respite».

﴿ قَالَ فِيمَا أُغْوَيْتَنِي لَأَقْعُدَنَّ لَهُمْ صِرَاطَكَ الْمُسْتَقِيمَ ﴿١٦﴾ ثُمَّ لَا يَتَّبِعُهُمُ بَيْنَ أَيْدِيهِمْ وَمِنْ خَلْفِهِمْ وَعَنْ أَيْمَانِهِمْ وَعَنْ شَمَائِلِهِمْ وَلَا تَجِدُ أَكْثَرَهُمْ شَاكِرِينَ ﴿١٧﴾ ﴾ (سورة الأعراف: ١٦-١٧)

(17)

- 7:16. [Iblees] said: Because You have caused me to be misguided, I will certainly lie in wait for them on Your straight path.
- 7:17. Then I will certainly come at them from before them and from behind them, from their right and from their left. And You will find most of them ungrateful.

When Iblees despaired of the mercy of Allah, he said: «Because You have caused me to be misguided, I will certainly lie in wait for them» that is, people «on Your straight path» that is, I will surely stay close to the path and do my utmost to bar people from it, and cause them not to follow it.

«Then I will certainly come at them from before them and from behind them, from their right and from their left» that is, from all directions and angles, in every way he can, to achieve some of his intentions concerning them.

Because the evil one knew that they were weak and that many of them may be overcome with heedlessness, and because he had resolved to do his utmost to mislead them, he thought – and he was right in his thinking – that most of them would be ungrateful.

«And You will find most of them ungrateful» for giving thanks is part of following the straight path, which he wants to bar them from and prevent them from being grateful. Hence Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

«...He only calls his followers so that they may become inhabitants of the raging fire.» (Fâfir 35: 6)

The only reason Allah warned us of what he said and resolved to do is so that we may take precautions against him and prepare ourselves to face our enemy, and protect ourselves by being aware of the ways in which he tries to get at us through our weak points. Praise be to Allah, for He has bestowed a great blessing upon us.

﴿قَالَ أَخْرِجْ مِنْهَا مَذْمُومًا مَذْحُورًا لَّمَنْ تَبِعَكَ مِنْهُمْ لَأَمْلَأَنَّ جَهَنَّمَ مِنْكُمْ أَجْمَعِينَ﴾ (١٨)

(سورة الأعراف: ١٨)

- 7:18. [Allah] said: Get out of here [paradise], disgraced and outcast. Whoever among them follows you, I will surely fill hell with you all.

When said Iblees what he said, Allah said to him: ﴿Get out of here﴾ in the manner of one who is despised and scorned, not by way of honour; rather he was ﴿disgraced﴾ that is, rejected, and ﴿outcast﴾ far away from Allah and His mercy, and all that is good.

﴿I will surely fill hell with you all﴾ with you and all those among them who follow you. This is an oath from Allah (ﷻ), that hell is the abode of those who disobey Him, and He will inevitably fill it with Iblees and his followers among the jinn and humankind.

Then Allah warned Adam of his evil and temptation:

﴿وَيَقَادِمُ أَتَى وَوَجَّكَ الْجَنَّةَ فَكَلَا مِنْ حَيْثُ شِئْتُمَا وَلَا تَقْرَبَا هَذِهِ الشَّجَرَةَ فَتَكُونَا مِنَ الظَّالِمِينَ﴾ (١٩) فَوَسَّوَسَ لَهُمَا الشَّيْطَانُ لِيُبْدِيَ لَهُمَا مَا وُورِيَ عَنْهُمَا مِنْ سَوْءِ نِيَّتِهِمَا وَقَالَ مَا نَهَاكُمَا رَبُّكُمَا عَنْ هَذِهِ الشَّجَرَةِ إِلَّا أَنْ تَكُونَا مَلَائِكَةً أَوْ تَكُونَا مِنَ الْخَالِدِينَ ﴿٢٠﴾ وَقَاسَمَهُمَا

إِنِّي لَكُمْ لَيْنَ النَّاصِيكِ ﴿١٩﴾ فَذَلَّهُمَا يَفْرُورٌ فَلَمَّا ذَاقَا الشَّجَرَةَ بَدَتْ لَهُمَا سَوْآتُهُمَا
 وَطَفِقَا يَخْصِفَانِ عَلَيْهِمَا مِنْ وَرَقِ الْجَنَّةِ وَنَادَاهُمَا رَبُّهُمَا أَلَمْ أَنْهَكُمَا عَنْ تِلْكَ الشَّجَرَةِ
 وَأَقُلَّ لَكُمْ إِنَّ الشَّيْطَانَ لَكُمْ عَدُوٌّ مُبِينٌ ﴿٢٠﴾ قَالَا رَبَّنَا ظَلَمْنَا أَنْفُسَنَا وَإِنْ لَمْ تَغْفِرْ لَنَا
 وَتَرْحَمْنَا لَنَكُونَنَّ مِنَ الْخَاسِرِينَ ﴿٢١﴾ (سورة الأعراف: ١٩-٢٣)

- 7:19. O Adam! Dwell, you and your wife, in paradise; and eat from it wherever you may wish; but do not approach this tree, or else you will both become transgressors.
- 7:20. Then Shayṭān whispered to them so that that which had been hidden from them of their private parts would be disclosed to them. He said: Your Lord only forbade this tree to you, lest you become angels or become immortal.
- 7:21. And he swore to them both [saying]: I am to you a sincere adviser.
- 7:22. So he led them on by deceit. Then when they had tasted [the fruit] of the tree, their private parts became visible to them, so they began to put together leaves from the garden to cover themselves. Their Lord called unto them: Did I not forbid that tree to you and tell you that Shayṭān was an avowed enemy unto you?
- 7:23. They said: Our Lord, we have wronged ourselves. If You do not forgive us and have mercy on us, we will certainly be among the losers.

Allah (ﷻ) instructed Adam and his wife Ḥawwâ', with whom Allah had blessed him and made her a source of comfort for him, to eat from wherever they wished in paradise, and to enjoy whatever they wanted, but He singled out for them one tree and told them not to eat from it. Allah knows best what it was, and there is no benefit for us in knowing what it was. He forbade them to eat from it, based on the words ﴿or else you will both become transgressors﴾. They continued to comply with the instructions of Allah until the enemy Iblees came to them with his plot; he whispered to them, deceived them and confused them.

﴿He said: Your Lord only forbade this tree to you, lest you become angels or become immortal﴾. Elsewhere, Allah tells us that he said: ﴿...O Adam, shall I show you the tree of immortality and a dominion that will never decay?﴾ (Tā Hā 20: 120)

In addition to that, he swore to them by Allah: ﴿I am to you a sincere adviser﴾; as I have told you this.

They were deceived by that, and desire overwhelmed reason at that point.

﴿So he led them on by deceit﴾ that is, he brought them down from their high status of being far away from sin and disobedience, and they became contaminated with the filth of sin, and they ate from that tree.

﴿Then when they had tasted [the fruit] of the tree, their private parts became visible to them﴾ that is, the 'awrah of each of them appeared after it had been covered, and their spiritual nakedness that resulted from loss of piety had an impact on their outward dress, which was removed as a result, causing their 'awrahs to appear. When their 'awrahs appeared, they felt shy, so they began to put together leaves from the garden to cover themselves (7: 22).

﴿Their Lord called unto them﴾ when they were in that state, rebuking them: ﴿Did I not forbid that tree to you and tell you that Shayṭān was an avowed enemy unto you?﴾ So why did you do that which was forbidden and why did you pay heed to your enemy?

Then Allah blessed them by enabling them to repent and by accepting their repentance, so they acknowledged their sin and asked Allah for forgiveness, saying: ﴿Our Lord, we have wronged ourselves. If You do not forgive us and have mercy on us, we will certainly be among the losers﴾ that is, we have committed the sin that You told us not to, and we have harmed ourselves by committing sin. We have done that which will incur loss, unless You forgive us by erasing the sin and cancelling the punishment, have mercy on us by accepting our repentance and pardon us for such errors. So Allah forgave them for that:

﴿...Adam disobeyed his Lord, and fell into error. Then his Lord brought him close, accepted his repentance, and guided him.﴾ (Tā Hā 20: 121-122)

However, Iblees continued his transgression and did not give up his disobedience.

Whoever follows the example of Adam by admitting his sin, asking for forgiveness, regretting it and giving it up – if he commits a sin – his Lord will draw him near and guide him.

But whoever follows the example of Iblees by carrying on – if he commits a sin – and continuing to increase it, will only go further away from Allah.

﴿قَالَ اهْبِطُوا بَعْضُكُمْ لِبَعْضٍ عَدُوٌّ وَلَكُمْ فِي الْأَرْضِ مُسْتَقَرٌّ وَمَتْنَعٌ إِلَىٰ حِينٍ ٢٤﴾
 ﴿قَالَ فِيهَا تَحْيَوْنَ وَفِيهَا تَمُوتُونَ وَمِنْهَا تُخْرَجُونَ ٢٥﴾ يَبْنِي ءَادَمَ فَذَٰلِكَ لَنَا عَلَيْكُمْ
 لِبَاسًا يُّوزَىٰ سَوَاءٌ بَيْنَكُمْ وَرِدْشًا وَلِبَاسُ النَّفَقَىٰ ذَٰلِكَ خَيْرٌ ذَٰلِكَ مِنْ ءَايَاتِ اللَّهِ لَعَلَّهُمْ

- 7:24. [Allah] said: Go down from here [all of you] as enemies to each other. On earth you will have an abode and your means of livelihood for a while.
- 7:25. He said: There you will live, there you will die and from it you will be brought forth.
- 7:26. O children of Adam, We have bestowed upon you garments to cover your private parts and as an adornment. But the garment of piety is best. That is one of the signs of Allah, so that they may pay heed.

---

When Allah sent Adam, his wife and their progeny down to the earth, He told them how their stay on earth would be, and that He had ordained that they should live a life there that was to be followed by death, a life that would be filled with trials and tests; they would stay there, and Messengers would be sent to them and Books would be revealed, until death came to them, whereupon they would be buried in the earth. Then after that would come the resurrection, when Allah would raise them up and bring them forth from the earth to the real, eternal realm.

Then He reminded them of what He had made available to them of clothing that is essential and clothing that is worn for the purpose of beautification. The same applies to all things, such as food, drink, mounts, spouses and so on. Allah has made available to His slaves that which is essential and more. He explains that this is not to be pursued for its own sake; rather Allah has sent it down to help them to worship and obey Him. Hence He says: ﴿But the garment of piety is best﴾. That is, better than physical clothing, for the garment of piety lasts and does not wear out or vanish; it is the beauty of the heart and soul.

As for outward clothing, its purpose is to cover the 'awrah sometimes, or to be an adornment for the wearer, and it has no other benefit beyond that.

Moreover, if a person cannot obtain this clothing, all that results from that is the uncovering of his 'awrah, which does not harm him if he cannot help it. But if there is no garment of piety, then his inner 'awrah becomes uncovered, which results in disgrace and shame.

﴿That is one of the signs of Allah, so that they may pay heed﴾ that is, what is mentioned concerning clothing is so that you may be reminded of that which benefits you or harms you, by way of an analogy between outward garments and the inner garment of piety.

﴿يَبْنَىٰٓ ءَادَمَ لَا يَفْتِنَنَّكُمُ الشَّيْطٰنُ كَمَا اَخْرَجَ اٰبَوَيْكُم مِّنَ الْجَنَّةِ يَنْزِعُ عَنْهُمَا لِبَاسَهُمَا لِيُرِيَهُمَا سَوْءَتَهُمَا ۚ اِنَّهُ يَرٰنَكُمْ هُوَ وَقَبِيلُهُ مِّنْ حَيْثُ لَا تَرَوْنَهُمْ ۗ اِنَّا جَعَلْنَا الشَّيَاطِيْنَ اَوْلِيَآءَ لِّلَّذِيْنَ لَا يُؤْمِنُوْنَ ۚ﴾ (سورة الاعراف: ٢٧)

- 7:27. O children of Adam, do not let Shayṭān deceive you, as he caused your parents to be expelled from the garden, stripping them of their garments and making their private parts visible to them. For he and his offspring see you from where you cannot see them. We have made the devils friends and allies of those who do not believe.

Here Allah (ﷻ) warns the children of Adam that the Shayṭān will do to them what he did to their father:

﴿O children of Adam, do not let Shayṭān deceive you﴾ by making sin fair-seeming to you and calling you to it and encouraging you to commit it, lest you give in to him

﴿as he caused your parents to be expelled from the garden﴾ and brought them down from a high status to a lower one. He wants to do the same to you, and he will spare no effort to tempt you if he can. So you must be mindful and take precautions, equip yourselves so that you will be ready to combat him, and do not be heedless of situations where he may ambush you.

﴿For he and his offspring﴾ namely the devils among the jinn ﴿see you﴾ and are constantly watching you ﴿from where you cannot see them. We have made the devils friends and allies of those who do not believe﴾ for lack of faith inevitably leads to the formation of alliances between man and the Shayṭān.

﴿Verily, he has no power over those who believe and put their trust in their Lord; he has power only over those who take him as an ally and, under his influence, ascribe partners to Allah.﴾ (an-Nahl 16: 99-100)

﴿وَإِذَا فَعَلُوا فَحْشَةً قَالُوا وَجَدْنَا عَلَيْهَا آبَاءَنَا وَاللَّهُ أَمَرَنَا بِهَا قُلْ إِنَّ اللَّهَ لَا يَأْمُرُ بِالْفَحْشَاءِ أَنْقُولُونَ عَلَى اللَّهِ مَا لَا تَعْلَمُونَ ﴿٢٨﴾ قُلْ أَمَرَ رَبِّي بِالْقِسْطِ وَأَقِيمُوا وُجُوهَكُمْ عِنْدَ كُلِّ مَسْجِدٍ وَادْعُوهُ مُخْلِصِينَ لَهُ الدِّينَ كَمَا بَدَأَكُمْ تَعُودُونَ ﴿٢٩﴾ فَرِيقًا هَدَىٰ وَفَرِيقًا حَقَّ عَلَيْهِمُ الضَّلَالَةُ إِنَّهُمْ اتَّخَذُوا الشَّيَاطِينَ أَوْلِيَاءَ مِنْ دُونِ اللَّهِ وَيَحْسَبُونَ أَنَّهُمْ مُّهْتَدُونَ ﴿٣٠﴾﴾ (سورة الأعراف: ٢٨-٣٠)

- 7:28. When they do something shameful, they say: We found our fathers doing this and Allah has enjoined it upon us. Say: Verily Allah does not enjoin that which is shameful. Would you attribute to Allah something of which you have no knowledge?
- 7:29. Say [O Muhammad]: My Lord has enjoined the doing of what is right; direct your worship only to Him whenever you pray, and strive sincerely [in worship] for the sake of your Lord alone. As He created you in the beginning, so you will be brought back [to life].
- 7:30. Some [of you] He will have guided, whereas others will inevitably have gone astray, because they will have taken the devils as friends and allies instead of Allah, thinking that they are guided.

Here Allah highlights the abhorrent state of the polytheists who commit sin and claim that Allah commanded them to do that.

«When they do something shameful» – this refers to everything that is regarded as obscene and repugnant, including their circumambulation of the Kaaba whilst naked.

«they say: We found our fathers doing this» and they were telling the truth concerning that

«and Allah has enjoined it upon us». This was a lie, hence Allah rejected this claim and said:

﴿Say: Verily Allah does not enjoin that which is shameful﴾ that is, it is not befitting to the perfect nature and wisdom of Allah to instruct His slaves to commit shameful deeds, whether it be this that the polytheists used to do or any other such deed.

﴿Would you attribute to Allah something of which you have no knowledge?﴾ What fabrication could be worse than this?

Then He mentions what He did enjoin: ﴿Say [O Muhammad]: My Lord has enjoined the doing of what is right﴾ that is, doing what is sound and just, in terms of both acts of worship and dealing with others. He did not enjoin wrongdoing and injustice.

﴿direct your worship only to Him whenever you pray﴾ that is, be devoted to Allah alone and strive hard to perfect your acts of worship, especially the prayer, which you should establish properly in terms of physical actions and inwardly in the sense of focus and contemplation, and purify it of everything that may distract from it or spoil it.

﴿and strive sincerely [in worship] for the sake of your Lord alone﴾ that is, seek thereby His Countenance alone, not ascribing any partner to Him, and do not show off and do not have any ulterior motive in your worship except devotion and servitude to Allah and the pursuit of His pleasure.

﴿As He created you in the beginning﴾ that is the first time ﴿so you will be brought back [to life]﴾ when you are resurrected, for the One Who is able to create you in the first place is able to recreate you; indeed, recreation is easier than the initial creation.

﴿Some [of you] He will have guided﴾ that is, Allah will have made the means of guidance easy for them and diverted from them all obstacles and impediments

﴿whereas others will inevitably have gone astray﴾ – misguidance will have become their due because of what they brought upon themselves by taking measures that lead to misguidance.

﴿because they will have taken the devils as friends and allies instead of Allah﴾ –

﴿...Whoever takes the Shayṭān as a protector [and helper] instead of Allah has indeed suffered a manifest loss.﴾ (an-Nisā' 4: 119)

When they rejected friendship and alliance with the Most Merciful, and they preferred friendship and alliance with the Shayṭān, that resulted in the likelihood of abandonment by Allah and being left to their own devices. Thus they incurred the greatest loss even though they thought that they were guided, because facts had been turned upside down in their minds, so that they thought that falsehood was truth and truth falsehood.

These verses indicate that commands and prohibitions are in accordance with divine wisdom and people's best interests, as Allah (ﷻ) states that it cannot be possible that He would enjoin something that is shameful or irrational, for He only enjoins that which is fair and right.

This indicates that guidance is by the grace and blessing of Allah, and that misguidance results from His forsaking a person if that person, because of his ignorance and wrongdoing, takes the Shayṭān as an ally, thus becoming the cause of his own misguidance.

The one who thinks that he is guided when in fact he is misguided has no excuse, because it is within his means to be guided; his misjudgement in thinking that he is guided when he is not is due to his wrongdoing when he abandoned the path that could lead to guidance.

﴿يَبْنَى مَادَمَ خُذُوا زِينَتَكُمْ عِنْدَ كُلِّ مَسْجِدٍ وَكُلُوا وَاشْرَبُوا وَلَا تُسْرِفُوا إِنَّهُ لَا يُحِبُّ

الْمُسْرِفِينَ﴾ (سورة الأعراف: ٣١)

- 7:31. O children of Adam, dress well every time you offer prayer [or perform tawâf]. Eat and drink, but do not exceed the bounds, for He does not love those who exceed the bounds.

Having stated that He bestowed upon the sons of Adam garments to cover their private parts and as an adornment (7: 26), Allah says here: ﴿O children of Adam, dress well every time you offer prayer [or perform ṭawâf]﴾ that is, cover your 'awrah completely in all prayers, both obligatory and supererogatory, for covering them is an adornment to the body just as uncovering them is unsightly and displeasing.

It may be that what is meant by dressing well here is more than just covering the 'awrah; rather what is meant is wearing clean and nice clothes. This is a command to cover the 'awrah when praying and also to aim to look nice and keep one's garment clean and free of dirt.

Then Allah says: ﴿Eat and drink﴾ that is, of that which Allah has provided to you of good and wholesome things

﴿but do not exceed the bounds﴾ in doing so. Exceeding the bounds means either consuming more than what is sufficient and eating too much of foods that are harmful to the body, or going to extremes in choosing the most luxurious and fanciest of foods, drinks and clothing, or going beyond that which is permissible to that which is unlawful.

﴿for He does not love those who exceed the bounds﴾, for exceeding the bounds angers Allah and is detrimental to man's physical well-being and livelihood. It may even lead to being unable to spend on what is necessary. This verse instructs us to eat and drink, and forbids us to refrain from doing so, and it also forbids us to exceed the bounds in doing so.

﴿قُلْ مَنْ حَرَّمَ زِينَةَ اللَّهِ الَّتِي أَخْرَجَ لِعِبَادِهِ وَالطَّيِّبَاتِ مِنَ الرِّزْقِ قُلْ هِيَ لِلَّذِينَ آمَنُوا فِي الْحَيَاةِ الدُّنْيَا خَالِصَةً يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ كَذَلِكَ نَفَصِّلُ الْآيَاتِ لِقَوْمٍ يَعْلَمُونَ ﴿٣٣﴾ قُلْ إِنَّمَا حَرَّمَ رَبِّي الْفَوَاحِشَ مَا ظَهَرَ مِنْهَا وَمَا بَطَنَ وَالْإِثْمَ وَالْبَغْيَ بِغَيْرِ الْحَقِّ وَأَنْ تُشْرِكُوا بِاللَّهِ مَا لَمْ يُزَلِّ بِهِ سُلْطَانًا وَأَنْ تَقُولُوا عَلَى اللَّهِ مَا لَا نَعْلَمُونَ ﴿٣٤﴾﴾ (سورة الأعراف: ٣٢-٣٣)

- 7:32. Say: Who has forbidden the decent apparel and goodly provision that Allah has bestowed upon His slaves? Say: They are, in the life of this world, for those who believe [although shared by others], and will be exclusively theirs on the Day of Resurrection. Thus We explain the revelations in detail for people who have knowledge.
- 7:33. Say: My Lord has only forbidden shameful deeds, whether [committed] openly or in secret, sin, unjustified aggression, ascribing partners to Allah for which He has not sent down any authority, and saying concerning Allah that of which you have no knowledge.

Here Allah criticises those who go to extremes and cause themselves hardship by prohibiting that which Allah has made permissible of good and wholesome things.

﴿Say: Who has forbidden the decent apparel and goodly provision that Allah has bestowed upon His slaves﴾ of different types of clothing and good and wholesome provision, such as food and drink of all types? In other words: who is it that dares to prohibit that with which Allah has blessed His slaves, and who is it that seeks to impose restrictions on that which Allah has made easy?

Allah has bestowed this abundance of good things upon His slaves to help them to worship Him, so He did not make it permissible to any but His believing slaves. Hence He said: ﴿Say: They are, in the life of this world, for those who believe [although shared by others], and will be exclusively theirs on the Day of Resurrection﴾.

﴿Thus We explain the revelations in detail﴾ that is, We clarify them and make them clear
 ﴿for people who have knowledge﴾, because they are the ones who will benefit from what Allah explains in detail of His revelations; they know that they are from Allah, so they appreciate them and understand them.

Then Allah mentions the things that He has prohibited, which are prohibited in all divinely revealed laws:

«Say: My Lord has only forbidden shameful deeds» that is, major sins which people find shameful and repugnant because they are so horrible, such as fornication, adultery, homosexuality and so on.

«whether [committed] openly or in secret» that is, shameful deeds that have to do with physical actions and those that have to do with beliefs, ideas and attitudes in the heart, such as arrogance, self-admiration, showing off, hypocrisy and the like.

«sin, unjustified aggression» that is, actions that incur a burden of sin and punishment with regard to violation of the limits set by Allah, and transgression against people with regard to their lives, wealth and honour. Thus this includes sins having to do with the rights of Allah and those having to do with the rights of other people.

«ascribing partners to Allah for which He has not sent down any authority» that is proof; rather He has sent down proof and evidence in support of His oneness.

Ascribing partners to Allah means associating with Allah in worship any of His creation. That may include minor manifestations of this practice, such as showing off, swearing by anything other than Allah, and the like.

«and saying concerning Allah that of which you have no knowledge» with regard to His names, attributes, deeds or laws. All of that is prohibited by Allah, as He has forbidden His slaves to commit any such acts, because of the negative consequences to which they lead for the individual and for society as a whole. That is because they involve wrongdoing and constitute a challenge to Allah, as well as looking down on the slaves of Allah and changing the religion and laws that He has ordained.

﴿وَلِكُلِّ أُمَّةٍ أَجَلٌ فَإِذَا جَاءَ أَجْلُهُمْ لَا يَسْتَأْخِرُونَ سَاعَةً وَلَا يَسْتَقْدِمُونَ﴾ (سورة

الأعراف: ٣٤)

- 7:34. For every nation there is an appointed time; when their appointed time comes, they will not be able to delay it for a single moment or bring it forward.

That is, Allah expelled the children of Adam to the earth and caused them to dwell therein, and He ordained for them an appointed time which no nation can bring forward or put back, either in conjunction with other nations or on its own.

﴿يَبْنِيْٓءَآدَمَ إِمَّا يَأْتِيَنَّكُمْ رُّسُلٌ مِّنكُمْ يَقُصُّونَ عَلَيْكُمْ ءَايَاتِي ۖ فَمَنِ اتَّقَنِيَ وَأَصْلَحَ فَلَا خَوْفٌ عَلَيْهِمْ وَلَا هُمْ يَحْزَنُونَ ﴿٣٥﴾ وَالَّذِينَ كَذَّبُوا بِآيَاتِنَا وَاسْتَكْبَرُوا عَنْهَا أُولَٰئِكَ أَصْحَابُ النَّارِ هُمْ فِيهَا خَالِدُونَ ﴿٣٦﴾﴾ (سورة الأعراف: ٣٥-٣٦)

- 7:35. O children of Adam, when there come to you Messengers from among you, reciting My revelations to you, then whoever fears Allah and mends his ways will have no fear nor will they grieve.
- 7:36. But as for those who reject Our revelations and turn away from them with arrogance, they will be inhabitants of the fire; they will abide therein forever.

When Allah expelled the children of Adam from paradise, He tested them by sending the Messengers and revealing the Books to them, telling them of the signs of Allah and explaining His rulings to them. Here He mentions the virtue of those who respond to the Messengers and the loss of those who do not respond to them, as He says:

«then whoever fears Allah» and avoids that which Allah has prohibited, namely ascribing partners to Him and major and minor sins «and mends his ways» with regard to his outward deeds and his private acts

«will have no fear» of evil that others fear

«nor will they grieve» over the past. Once there is no fear or grief, there will be perfect security, happiness and eternal success.

«But as for those who reject Our revelations and turn away from them with arrogance» that is, they do not believe in them in their hearts, and they do not submit outwardly to them

«they will be inhabitants of the fire; they will abide therein forever», as they took the revelations lightly and persisted in rejecting them, so they will be humiliated with an eternal punishment.

﴿فَمَنْ أَظْلَمُ مِمَّنْ افْتَرَىٰ عَلَى اللَّهِ كَذِبًا أَوْ كَذَّبَ بِآيَاتِهِ ۖ أُولَٰئِكَ يَنَالُهُمُ نَصِيبُهُم مِّنَ الْكِتَابِ ۚ حَتَّىٰ إِذَا جَاءَهُمْ رَسُولُنَا يُتَوَفَّوهُمْ قَالُوا إِنَّا مَا كُنْتُمْ تَدْعُونَ مِن دُونِ اللَّهِ قَالُوا ضَلُّوا عَنَّا وَشَهِدُوا عَلَىٰ أَنفُسِهِمْ أَنَّهُمْ كَافِرِينَ ﴿٣٧﴾﴾ (سورة الأعراف: ٣٧)

- 7:37. Who does greater evil than he who fabricates lies against Allah or rejects His revelations? Such people will receive the share that is decreed for them<sup>16</sup> until, when Our envoys come to take their souls, they will say: Where are those whom you used to call upon besides Allah? They will say: They are lost from us. And they will testify against themselves that they were disbelievers.

<sup>16</sup> This refers to the share of provision and temporary joy that may be decreed for them in this world; that will not avail them at all in the hereafter.

That is, no one does greater evil «than he who fabricates lies against Allah» by ascribing partners to Him, or attributing shortcomings to Him, or attributing words to Him that He did not say «or rejects His revelations» that clearly point to the obvious truth and guide to the straight path. These people, even if they enjoy ease in this world and get their share of that which has been decreed for them in al-Lawḥ al-Mahfūdh, still nothing will avail them; they enjoy ease for a little while, then they will be punished for a long time.

«until, when Our envoys come to take their souls» that is, when the angels who are appointed to take their souls at the appointed time (of death) come to them

«they will say» to them at that point, by way of rebuke:

«Where are those whom you used to call upon besides Allah?» namely the idols and statues; for now the time of need has come, if they can be of any benefit to you or ward off any harm from you.

«They will say: They are lost from us» that is, they have diminished and proven false, and they cannot avail us anything against the punishment of Allah.

«And they will testify against themselves that they were disbelievers» and that they deserve the eternal, humiliating punishment.

﴿قَالَ ادْخُلُوا فِي أُمَمٍ قَدْ خَلَتْ مِنْ قَبْلِكُمْ مِنَ الْجِنِّ وَالْإِنسِ فِي النَّارِ كُلَّمَا دَخَلَتْ أُمَّةٌ لَعَنَتْ أُخْتَهَا حَتَّى إِذَا آذَرَكُوا فِيهَا جَمِيعًا قَالَتْ أُخْرَيْنَاهُمْ لِأَوْلَئِهِمْ رَبَّنَا هَؤُلَاءِ أَصْلَحُوا فَغَايَاهُمْ عَذَابٌ أَلِيمٌ﴾ (سورة الأعراف: ٣٨)

(38)

- 7:38. [Allah] will say: Enter the fire with the nations who passed away before you, of both jinn and humans. Every time another nation enters it, it will curse its fellow-nation until, when they have all caught up with one another, the last of them will say about the first: Our Lord, these people led us astray, so give them a double punishment of fire. He will say: [It will be] doubled for all, but you do not know.

«Enter the fire with the nations who passed away before you, of both jinn and humans», for they followed the same path as you followed of disbelief and arrogance, thus they will all deserve disgrace and loss.

Every time one of the transgressing nations enters the fire, «it will curse its fellow-nation». This is like the verse in which Allah says:

«...but on the Day of Resurrection you will disavow one another and curse one another...» (al-'Ankaboot 29: 25)

«until, when they have all caught up with one another» that is, when all its people are gathered together in hell, the first and the last, the leaders and followers

«the last of them» that is those who come last, the followers of the leaders

«will say about the first» that is, about their leaders, complaining to Allah that they misguided them:

«Our Lord, these people led us astray, so give them a double punishment of fire» that is, give them an extra punishment because they led others astray and they made evil deeds fair-seeming to us.

﴿وَقَالَتْ أُولَئِهِمْ لِأَخْرَجْنَاهُمْ فَمَا كَانَتْ لَكُمْ عَلَيْنَا مِنْ فَضْلٍ فَذُوقُوا الْعَذَابَ بِمَا كُنْتُمْ

تَكْسِبُونَ ﴿٣٩﴾ (سورة الأعراف: ٣٩)

7:39. The first of them will say to the last: You were no better than us, so taste the punishment for what you used to earn.

That is, the leaders will say to their followers: «You were no better than us» that is, we all played a part in misguidance and in doing deeds that incur punishment, so what advantage do you have over us?

«He» namely Allah (ﷻ)

«will say» to each of them

«[It will be] doubled for all» and each will have his own share of the punishment.

«so taste the punishment for what you used to earn». But it is known that the punishment for the leaders of misguidance will be greater and more severe than that of the followers, just as the bliss of the leaders of guidance will be greater than the reward of the followers.

Allah (ﷻ) says:

«For those who disbelieve and bar others from the path of Allah, We will add punishment to their punishment because they used to spread mischief.» (an-Nahl 16: 88)

These and similar verses indicate that all types of those who rejected the revelations of Allah will abide forever in torment and will basically all share the punishment, although they will vary in degree according to the level of their deeds, stubbornness, wrongdoing and lies; the friendships that existed among them in this world will, on the Day of Resurrection, turn into enmity and mutual cursing.

﴿إِنَّ الَّذِينَ كَذَّبُوا بِآيَاتِنَا وَاسْتَكْبَرُوا عَنْهَا لَا تُفَتَّحُ لَهُمْ أَبْوَابُ السَّمَاءِ وَلَا يَدْخُلُونَ الْجَنَّةَ حَتَّى يَلِجَ الْجَمَلُ فِي سَمِّ الْخِيَاطِ ۚ وَكَذَلِكَ نَجْزِي الْمُجْرِمِينَ ﴿٤١﴾﴾ هُم مِّنْ جَهَنَّمَ مِهَادٌ وَمِنْ فَوْقِهِمْ غَوَاشٍ ۚ وَكَذَلِكَ نَجْزِي الظَّالِمِينَ ﴿٤٢﴾﴾ (سورة الأعراف: ٤٠-٤١)

7:40. But as for those who reject Our revelations and turn away from them with arrogance, the gates of heaven will not be opened for them, nor will they enter paradise, until a camel can pass through the eye of a needle. Thus We requite the evildoers.

7:41. They will have a bed of hellfire and over them will be coverings [of fire]. Thus We requite the wrongdoers.

Here Allah tells us of the punishment of those who reject His revelations and do not believe in them, even though there are clear signs, and are too arrogant to believe or comply with the rulings; rather they disbelieved and turned away. They will despair of all good, for the gates of heaven are not opened to their souls when they die and are taken up, wanting to ascend to Allah. They ask permission, but permission is not given to them, as they did not ascend in this world to the level of faith in Allah and knowing and loving Him. By the same token, they will not ascend after death, because the recompense fits the nature of the deed.

What is meant in this verse is that the gates of heaven are opened for the souls of the believers who complied with the commands of Allah and believed in His revelations, so that they may ascend to Allah and reach wherever Allah wills they should reach of the higher realm. They will have the joy of being close to their Lord and of earning His good pleasure.

Allah (ﷻ) says concerning the people of hell: ﴿nor will they enter paradise, until a camel can pass through the eye of a needle﴾ that is, until a camel, which is one of the largest animals, can enter the eye of a needle, which is one of the smallest and narrowest of spaces. This is a metaphor of impossibility.

What is meant is that just as it is impossible for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle, it is impossible for those who reject the revelations of Allah to enter paradise. Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿...Whoever ascribes partners to Allah, then Allah has forbidden paradise for him, and the fire will be his abode...﴾ (al-Mā'idah 5: 72)

– and here He says: ﴿Thus We requite the evildoers﴾ that is, those whose sins are many and their transgression and arrogance were great.

﴿They will have a bed of hellfire﴾ that is, beneath them
﴿and over them will be coverings [of fire]﴾ that is, they will be overshadowed and covered by the punishment

﴿Thus We requite the wrongdoers﴾ who wronged themselves, as a recompense and deserved punishment, for your Lord never wrongs His slaves.

﴿وَالَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا وَعَمِلُوا الصَّالِحَاتِ لَا نُكَلِّفُ نَفْسًا إِلَّا وُسْعَهَا أُولَٰئِكَ أَصْحَابُ الْجَنَّةِ هُمْ فِيهَا خَالِدُونَ ﴿٤٢﴾ وَنَزَعْنَا مَا فِي صُدُورِهِمْ مِنْ غَلٍ تَجْرَىٰ مِنْ تَحْتِهِمْ لَا يَأْتُهُمُ الْهَمُّ وَلَا الْحُزْنُ وَنُفِخَ فِي السُّرُورِ الَّذِي هَدَيْنَا لَهَذَا وَمَا كُنَّا لِنَهْتَدِيَ لَوْلَا أَنَّ هَدَيْنَا اللَّهَ لَقَدْ جَاءَتْ رُسُلُ رَبِّنَا بِالْحَقِّ وَنُودُوا أَنْ تُلْكُمُ الْجَنَّةُ أُورِشْتُمُوهَا بِمَا كُنْتُمْ تَعْمَلُونَ ﴿٤٣﴾﴾ (سورة

- 7:42. But as for those who believe and do righteous deeds – We do not place on any soul a burden greater than it can bear – they will be the inhabitants of paradise; they will abide therein forever.
- 7:43. We will remove all ill feelings from their hearts and make rivers flow at their feet. They will say: Praise be to Allah Who has guided us to this, for we would never have been guided if Allah had not guided us. The Messengers of our Lord surely brought the truth to us. It will be proclaimed to them: This is paradise, which you are made to inherit as a reward for your deeds.

Having mentioned the punishment of the sinners and wrongdoers, Allah (ﷻ) then mentions the reward of those who obey Him:

﴿But as for those who believe﴾ in their hearts

﴿and do righteous deeds﴾ with their physical faculties, thus combining faith and action, outward deeds and inward deeds, doing what is obligatory and refraining from what is prohibited. As the phrase ﴿and do righteous deeds﴾ is general in meaning and includes all righteous deeds, both obligatory and supererogatory, some of which may be beyond a person's capability, Allah then says:

﴿We do not place on any soul a burden greater than it can bear﴾ that is, He places on it only as much as it is able to bear, and does not expect of it that which is beyond its means. As this is the case, the individual must fear Allah as much as he can, and if he is unable to do some duties that others are able to do, they will be waived in his case, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿Allah does not place on any soul a burden greater than it can bear...﴾
(al-Baqarah 2: 286)

﴿...and [He] has not imposed any hardship on you in religion...﴾
(al-Hajj 22: 78)

﴿So fear Allah as best you can...﴾ (at-Taghâbun 64: 16)

Nothing is obligatory if one is unable to do it, and nothing is prohibited in the case of necessity.

﴿they﴾ that is, the ones who have faith and do righteous deeds ﴿will be the inhabitants of paradise; they will abide therein forever﴾ that is, they will never leave it or desire anything else in its stead, because they will see therein all kinds of delight, all desirable things, the ultimate in pleasure, and no one could aspire to anything greater.

﴿We will remove all ill feelings from their hearts﴾ – by His kindness and generosity towards the people of paradise, Allah will remove the ill feeling that existed in their hearts, and the attitude of competition that existed among them, so that they will become brothers who love one another and close friends who are reconciled.

Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

﴿We will remove all ill feelings from their hearts; they will be like brethren seated on couches facing one another.﴾ (al-Hijr 15: 47)

Allah will grant them honour because of which each one of them will attain a great deal of joy and happiness, and will think that there is no bliss greater than that which he enjoys. Thus they will be safe from envy and resentment, because the reasons for such feelings are no longer present.

﴿and make rivers flow at their feet﴾ that is, they will cause the rivers to spring out whenever and wherever they want. If they want them to flow through their palaces or those lofty chambers, or through the gardens of paradise, through the orchards and flowers, they will flow without any ditch or channel, and they will enjoy good things without limits.

When they see what Allah has blessed and honoured them with, ﴿They will say: Praise be to Allah Who has guided us to this﴾ because He blessed us and inspired us to believe in Him and to adhere to the deeds that led to this abode, and Allah preserved our faith and our deeds until we reached this abode thereby, so blessed be the Most Generous Lord Who has bestowed all these blessings upon us and has granted us favours both visible and invisible, that cannot be listed or counted.

﴿for we would never have been guided if Allah had not guided us﴾ that is, we could not have found guidance if He had not blessed us with His guidance and enabled us to follow His Messengers

﴿The Messengers of our Lord surely brought the truth to us﴾ that is, when they enjoy all the blessings of which the Messengers had foretold and they become certain of their reality by seeing them, after it had been certain knowledge, they will say: It has come to pass and we have seen all that the Messenger promised us, and all that they brought to us has been shown to be true, with no doubt or confusion.

﴿It will be proclaimed﴾ by way of congratulation, honour, greeting and respect: ﴿This is paradise, which you are made to inherit﴾ that is, you are its heirs and it has become your lot, as the lot of the disbelievers is hell. You are made to inherit it ﴿as a reward for your deeds﴾.

Some of the earlier generations said that the people of paradise will be saved from hell by the forgiveness of Allah, and will be admitted to paradise by the mercy of Allah, and they will be allocated abodes and will inherit them by virtue of their righteous deeds, which are part of His mercy and indeed are one of the highest degrees of His mercy.

﴿وَنَادَىٰ أَصْحَابُ الْجَنَّةِ أَصْحَابَ النَّارِ أَن قَدْ وَجَدْنَا مَا وَعَدَنَا رَبُّنَا حَقًّا فَهَلْ وَجَدْتُمْ مَا وَعَدَ رَبُّكُمْ حَقًّا قَالُوا نَعَمْ فَأَذَّنَ مُؤَذِّنٌ بَيْنَهُمْ أَن لَعْنَةُ اللَّهِ عَلَى الظَّالِمِينَ ﴿٤٤﴾ الَّذِينَ يَصُدُّونَ عَن سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ وَيَبْغُونَهَا عِوَجًا وَهُمْ بِالْآخِرَةِ كَفُورُونَ ﴿٤٥﴾﴾ (سورة الأعراف: ٤٤-٤٥)

- 7:44. The inhabitants of paradise will call out to the inhabitants of hell: We have indeed found what our Lord promised us to be true. Have you found what your Lord promised to be true? They will say: Yes. Then a caller will proclaim among them: The curse of Allah is upon the wrongdoers,
- 7:45. Those who barred [people] from the path of Allah and sought to make it appear crooked, and who disbelieved in the hereafter.

Having mentioned how the two groups will settle into the two abodes, and will find that of which the Messengers told them and that the Books mentioned of reward and punishment, Allah then tells us that the people of paradise will call out to the inhabitants of hell: ﴿We have indeed found what our Lord promised us to be true﴾ when He promised us paradise in return for believing and doing righteous deeds, and He has admitted us to it and shown us that which He described to us

«Have you found what your Lord promised» in return for that disbelief and disobedience «to be true?»

«They will say: Yes,» we have found it to be true. Then it will become clear to all creatures, beyond any shadow of a doubt, that the promise of Allah is true, and who is truer in speech than Allah? All doubts and confusion will be dispelled and the matter will become certain reality. The believers will rejoice greatly in the promise of Allah, and the disbelievers will despair of all good and will acknowledge that they deserve the punishment.

«Then a caller will proclaim among them» that is, among the people of hell and the people of paradise

«The curse of Allah» that is, being cast far away from all that is good «is upon the wrongdoers», because Allah opened to them the gates of His mercy, but they turned away wrongfully, and they turned away from the path of Allah themselves and barred others from it, thus they went astray and caused others to go astray.

Allah (ﷻ) wants His path to be straight and He wants those who follow it to adhere to it, but these people «sought to make it appear crooked», so as to divert people from following the straight path, and they «disbelieved in the hereafter».

This is what caused them to deviate from the straight path and to focus on their own unlawful whims and desires, and not to believe in the resurrection or fear the punishment or hope for reward. What this proclamation means is that the mercy of Allah is upon the believers, and His kindness always encompasses them.

﴿وَبَيْنَهُمَا حِجَابٌ وَعَلَى الْأَعْرَافِ رِجَالٌ يَعْرِفُونَ كُلًّا بِسِيمَتِهِمْ وَنَادَوْا أَصْحَابَ الْجَنَّةِ أَنْ سَلِّمُوا عَلَيْهِمْ لَمْ يَدْخُلُوهَا وَهُمْ يَطْمَعُونَ ﴿٦٦﴾ وَإِذَا صُرِفَتْ أَبْصَارُهُمْ تِلْقَاءَ أَصْحَابِ النَّارِ قَالُوا رَبَّنَا﴾

لَا تَجْعَلْنَا مَعَ الْقَوْمِ الظَّالِمِينَ ﴿٤٧﴾ وَنَادَى الْأَعْرَافُ رِجَالًا لَا يَعْرفُونَهم بِسِمَنَهم قَالُوا مَا أَغْنَى عَنْكُم جَعْمُكُمْ وَمَا كُنتُمْ تَسْتَكْبِرُونَ ﴿٤٨﴾ أَهَؤُلَاءِ الَّذِينَ أَقْسَمْتُمْ لَا يَنَالُهُمُ اللَّهُ بِرَحْمَةٍ أَدْخُلُوا الْجَنَّةَ لَا خَوْفٌ عَلَيْكُمْ وَلَا أَنتُمْ تَحْزَنُونَ ﴿٤٩﴾ ﴿سورة الأعراف: ٤٦-٤٩﴾

- 7:46. Between them there will be a barrier, and on its heights there will be men who will recognise each group by their marks. They will call out to the inhabitants of paradise: Peace be upon you. They will not have entered it but they will hope [to do so].
- 7:47. And when their eyes are turned towards the inhabitants of hell, they will say: Our Lord, do not put us with the wrongdoers.
- 7:48. The people on the heights will call out to men whom they will recognise by their marks: Of what benefit to you were your great numbers and wealth and your scornful pride?
- 7:49. Are these the ones concerning whom you swore that Allah would never bestow His mercy upon them? [Now] enter paradise; you will have no fear nor will you grieve.

Between the people of paradise and the people of hell there will be a barrier called al-a'raf (the heights), which is not part of paradise or of hell, but it overlooks both, and it is possible to look down from it and see both groups. On top of this barrier will be men who will recognise both the people of paradise and of hell

«by their marks» that is, signs in them from which they may be recognised and distinguished. When they look at the people of paradise, they will call out to them, saying: «Peace be upon you». In other words, they will greet them even though – up to this point – they will not have entered paradise, but they will hope to enter it, and Allah will not put hope in their hearts except for the reason that He will want to bestow honour upon them.

«And when their eyes are turned towards the inhabitants of hell» and they see the scene of great horror «they will say: Our Lord, do not put us with the wrongdoers». When the people of the heights see the people of paradise, they will hope to be with them in paradise, and they will greet them. But when their gaze turns involuntarily towards the people of hell, they will seek the protection of Allah from that fate. This is in general terms.

Then Allah mentions some specific exchanges after having spoken of the matter in general terms:

«The people on the heights will call out to men whom they will recognise by their marks». This refers to some of the people of hell, who were men of high status and wealth in this world, and had many children. The men on the heights will say to them, when they see them alone in their punishment, with no supporters or helpers:

«Of what benefit to you were your great numbers» in the former world, which you used to rely on to ward off harm and seek what you needed in the former world, yet today they have vanished and are of no avail to you. Of what benefit to you was your arrogance towards the truth and towards those who brought it and those who followed it?

Then they will point out to them some people among the inhabitants of paradise who in this world were poor and weak, and the people of hell used to ridicule them. And they will say to the people of hell: «Are these» whom Allah has admitted to paradise «the ones concerning whom you swore that Allah would never bestow His mercy upon them», thinking little of them, looking down on them and admiring yourselves? Now you have broken your oath and Allah has shown you something you never reckoned with.

«[Now] enter paradise» because of your deeds; in other words, it will be said to these weak ones by way of honour and respect: Enter paradise by virtue of your righteous deeds

«you will have no fear» with regard to hardship in the future

﴿nor will you grieve﴾ for the past; rather you are safe and secure, rejoicing in all good.

This is like the passage in which Allah (ﷻ) says:

﴿Verily, the evildoers used to laugh at those who believed; when they passed by them, they would wink at one another [in mockery]... But on that day those who believed will laugh at the disbelievers, while sitting on couches, observing [the wretched fate of the disbelievers].﴾

(al-Mutaffifeen 83: 29-30; 34-35)

The scholars and commentators differed as to who the people on the heights are and what their deeds will be.

The correct view is that they are people whose good deeds and bad deeds are equal. Their bad deeds will not be greater than their good deeds, such that they would enter hell, and their good deeds are not greater than their bad deeds, such that they would enter paradise. So they will remain on the heights for as long as Allah wills, then Allah (ﷻ) will admit them – by His mercy – to paradise, for His mercy precedes and prevails over his wrath, and His mercy encompasses all things.

﴿وَنَادَىٰ أَصْحَابُ النَّارِ أَصْحَابَ الْجَنَّةِ أَنْ أَفِضُوا عَلَيْنَا مِنَ الْمَاءِ أَوْ مِمَّا رَزَقَكُمُ اللَّهُ قَالُوا إِنَّ اللَّهَ حَرَّمَهُمَا عَلَى الْكَافِرِينَ ٥١﴾ الَّذِينَ اتَّخَذُوا دِينَهُمْ لَهْوًا وَلَعِبًا وَغَرَّتُهُمُ الْحَيَاةُ الدُّنْيَا فَالْيَوْمَ نَنسِفُهُمْ كَمَا نَسَفْنَا قَوْمَهُمْ هَذَا وَمَا كَانُوا بِآيَاتِنَا يَجْحَدُونَ ٥٢﴾ وَلَقَدْ جَنَّاتُهُمْ يُكْتَبُ فِيهَا أَسْمَاءُ عَلَىٰ عُلَمٍ هُدًى وَرَحْمَةً لِّقَوْمٍ يُؤْمِنُونَ ٥٣﴾ هَلْ يَنْظُرُونَ إِلَّا تَأْوِيلَهُ يَوْمَ يَأْتِي تَأْوِيلَهُ يَقُولُ الَّذِينَ نَسَوْهُ مِنْ قَبْلُ قَدْ جَاءَتْ رُسُلُنَا بِالْحَقِّ فَهَلْ لَنَا مِنْ شُفَعَاءَ فَيَشْفَعُوا لَنَا أَوْ نُرَدُّ فَنَعْمَلَ غَيْرَ الَّذِي كُنَّا نَعْمَلُ قَدْ خَسِرُوا أَنْفُسَهُمْ وَضَلَّ عَنْهُمْ مَا كَانُوا يَفْتَرُونَ

(سورة الأعراف: ٥٠-٥٣)

- 7:50. The inhabitants of hell will call out to the inhabitants of paradise, [saying]: Send down to us some of the water or other things that Allah has provided for you. They will say: Verily Allah has forbidden them both to the disbelievers,
- 7:51. Those who took the religion they were ordained to follow as a mockery and a mere game, and were deceived by the life of this world. Today We will forget them as they forgot that they would ever meet this day and because they used to reject Our revelations.
- 7:52. We have indeed brought to them a Book which We have explained in detail, on the basis of knowledge, as guidance and mercy to people who believe.
- 7:53. What are they waiting for but the fulfilment of its [warning]? On the day when it is finally fulfilled, those who neglected it before will say: The Messengers of our Lord indeed brought the truth. Have we, then, any intercessors who could intercede on our behalf? Or could we be sent back [to the previous world], so that we might act differently from the way we used to act. In fact they will have lost their souls and that which they invented will be lost from them.

---

The inhabitants of hell will call out to the inhabitants of paradise when the punishment reaches an unbearable degree and their hunger and thirst become intense, seeking their help. They will say: ﴿Send down to us some of the water or other things that Allah has provided for you﴾ of food. The people of paradise will respond to them by saying: ﴿Verily Allah has forbidden them both﴾ that is, the water and food of paradise ﴿to the disbelievers﴾. That will be the requital for their disbelief in the revelations of Allah and their taking of the religion that they were instructed to follow, in return for which they were promised a great reward, ﴿as a mockery and a mere game﴾ that is, they were distracted and turned away from it, and they took it as a game and mockery; instead of following their religion, they were distracted by idle pursuits and were content with that rather than adhering to the true religion.

﴿and were deceived by the life of this world﴾ with all its adornments and many callers, so they were content with it and rejoiced in it, and they turned away from the hereafter and forgot about it.

﴿Today We will forget them﴾ that is, we will leave them in torment ﴿as they forgot that they would ever meet this day﴾, so it was as if they were only created for this world, with no punishment or recompense ahead of them

﴿and because they used to reject Our revelations﴾. In fact they did not reject them because the revelations of Allah were short and unclear; rather Allah tells us: ﴿We have indeed brought to them a Book which We have explained in detail﴾ that is, We clarified in it all that people need to know ﴿on the basis of knowledge﴾ from Allah, Who knows the situation of people at all times and in all places, and He knows what is and is not good for them. Hence His explanation is not the explanation of one who is unaware of human affairs or ignorant of some of them, as a result of which he may issue an inappropriate ruling; rather it is an explanation by One Whose knowledge encompasses all things and His mercy encompasses all things.

﴿as guidance and mercy to people who believe﴾ that is, by means of this Book the believers attain guidance and are saved from misguidance; truth and falsehood, guidance and error, are highlighted. They also attain thereby mercy and goodness, and are blessed in this world and the hereafter. Thus they are protected from misguidance and doom.

As for the ones who deserve punishment, they did not believe in this great Book or comply with its commands and prohibitions; hence nothing remains to be said except that they deserve to have happen to them what the Qur'an foretold.

Hence Allah says: ﴿What are they waiting for but the fulfilment of its [warning]?﴾ That is, the occurrence of what it foretold. This is like the words of Yoosuf (عليه السلام) when his dream came to pass:

﴿...this is the fulfilment of my dream of old...﴾ (Yoosuf 12: 100)

﴿On the day when it is finally fulfilled, those who neglected it before will say﴾, regretting what they did, seeking intercession for forgiveness of their sins, and affirming what the Messengers had said: ﴿The Messengers of our Lord indeed brought the truth. Have we, then, any intercessors who could intercede on our behalf? Or could we be sent back [to the previous world], so that we might act differently from the way we used to act?﴾ But the time for returning to this world will be over:

﴿So the intercession of the intercessors will not benefit them.﴾ (al-Muddath-thir 74: 48)

Their request to return to this world so that they might do good deeds will be a false promise, the intent of which is to ward off what has befallen them. Allah (جل جلاله) says:

﴿...And even if they were sent back, they would surely go back to that which was forbidden to them, for they are indeed liars.﴾ (al-An'âm 6: 28)

﴿In fact they will have lost their souls﴾ when they caused them to miss out on gains and to follow the path of doom. This is not like losing one's wealth or furniture or children; rather this is a loss that cannot be made up.

﴿and that which they invented will be lost from them﴾ in this world, namely the false hopes that they entertained and the promises that the Shayṭân made to them. They will come to something they never reckoned with; their falsehood and misguidance will become obvious to them and they will realise that what the Messengers brought was true.

﴿إِنَّ رَبَّكُمُ اللَّهُ الَّذِي خَلَقَ السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضَ فِي سِتَّةِ أَيَّامٍ ثُمَّ اسْتَوَىٰ عَلَى الْعَرْشِ يُغْشِي اللَّيْلَ النَّهَارَ يَطْلُبُهُ حَيْثُهَا وَالشَّمْسُ وَالْقَمَرُ وَالنُّجُومُ مُسَخَّرَاتٌ بِأَمْرِهِ ۗ أَلَا لَهُ الْخَلْقُ وَالْأَمْرُ ۗ بَارَكَ اللَّهُ رَبُّ الْعَالَمِينَ﴾ (سورة الأعراف: ٥٤)

- 7:54. Verily your Lord is Allah, Who created the heavens and the earth in six days, and then rose over the Throne [in a manner that befits His Majesty]. He covers the day with the night in swift pursuit. [And He created] the sun, the moon and the stars, all subservient to His command. Verily, His is the creation and the command. Blessed be Allah, the Lord of the worlds.

Here Allah (ﷻ) tells us that He is the only Lord Who is deserving of worship, with no partner or associate.

﴿Verily your Lord is Allah, Who created the heavens and the earth﴾ and all that is in them, despite their greatness and vastness, and the precision, care and beauty with which they are created.

﴿in six days﴾, the first of which was Sunday and the last of which was Friday. When He finished their creation, He ﴿rose over the Throne [in a manner that befits His Majesty]﴾ that is, the mighty Throne that encompasses seven heavens and the earth, and all that is in them and between them, in a manner that is befitting to His majesty, greatness and power. So He rose above the Throne and everything is under His control and subjected to His universal laws and religious decrees. Hence He says:

﴿He covers the day﴾ which is bright ﴿with the night﴾ which is dark, thus everything on the face of the earth becomes dark, humans rest, and all creatures go back to their dwellings and rest from their striving and comings and goings that occupy them during the day.

﴿in swift pursuit﴾. Every time night comes, the day goes, and every time the day comes, the night goes, and this is ongoing and will continue until Allah rolls up this earth and people are moved to another realm.

«[And He created] the sun, the moon and the stars, all subservient to His command» that is, His control and domination, which are indicative of His attributes of perfection. The creation of these entities and their great size is indicative of His perfect power; their precision, order and proficiency are indicative of His perfect wisdom; what they contain of benefits that meet basic necessities and other, non-essential benefits are indicative of the vastness of His mercy. All of that is indicative of His vast knowledge and that none should be worshipped but He.

«Verily, His is the creation and the command» that is, He is the Creator Who originated all of creation, both the upper and lower realms, and their essence, qualities, and actions; His command includes laws and prophethoods.

His creation includes His universal laws and decrees, and His command includes religious rulings, then there will be rules and decrees of requital in the hereafter.

«Blessed be Allah» that is, how great and exalted is He, and how generous and kind. So He is blessed for what He is, for His greatness and perfect attributes. And He blesses others by bestowing a great deal of good by His generosity and kindness. All blessings in the universe stem from His mercy, hence He says: «Blessed be Allah, the Lord of the worlds».

Having mentioned His greatness and majesty, which highlights to people of understanding that He is One and the only One Who is to be worshipped and Whose help is to be sought for all one's needs, He then enjoins what one should do in response to that:

﴿ادْعُوا رَبَّكُمْ تَضَرُّعًا وَخُفْيَةً إِنَّهُ لَا يُحِبُّ الْمُعْتَدِينَ ﴿٥٥﴾ وَلَا تُفْسِدُوا فِي الْأَرْضِ بَعْدَ إِصْلَاحِهَا وَادْعُوهُ خَوْفًا وَطَمَعًا إِنَّ رَحْمَتَ اللَّهِ قَرِيبٌ مِنَ الْمُحْسِنِينَ ﴿٥٦﴾﴾ (سورة الأعراف: ٥٥-٥٦)

- 7:55. Call upon your Lord with humility and in private, for indeed Allah does not love those who overstep the limits.
- 7:56. Do not spread mischief in the land after it has been put in order, but call upon Him with fear and hope, for the mercy of Allah is always near to those who do good.

---

Calling or supplication includes the supplication of asking and the supplication of worship. Allah enjoins us to call upon Him «with humility» that is, beseeching Him when asking and persisting in worship «and in private» that is, not out loud or openly, for fear of showing off; rather it should be done in private and with sincerity towards Allah.

«for indeed Allah does not love those who overstep the limits» that is, those who transgress the bounds in all matters. Overstepping the limits also includes asking Allah for things that are not good for one, or being unreasonable in asking, or going to extremes in raising the voice in supplication. All of that comes under the heading of overstepping the limits.

«Do not spread mischief in the land» by committing acts of sin and disobedience

«after it has been put in order» by doing acts of obedience, for acts of disobedience lead to corruption of people's character, deeds and provision, as Allah (ﷻ) says elsewhere:

«Corruption and disorder have appeared on land and sea<sup>17</sup> because of what people's hands have earned...» (ar-Room 30: 41)

By the same token, acts of obedience refine and set straight people's character, deeds and provision, and all their affairs in this world and the hereafter.

<sup>17</sup> This refers to the widespread occurrence of troubles such as drought, fires and floods, poor yield of crops, decline of fish stocks, market stagnation and difficulty in earning a living. That is because of people's sins, including neglect and abuse of the natural environment.

﴿but call upon Him with fear and hope﴾ that is, fear of His punishment and hope of His reward, hoping that one's deeds will be accepted and fearing that they will be rejected, not offering supplication in the manner of one who thinks that he is entitled to a response from his Lord, filled with self-admiration and raising himself above his station, or in the manner of one who is heedless and not focusing.

To sum up, the etiquette of supplication as mentioned in this verse is that one should be sincere in calling upon Allah alone, which is indicated by offering supplication in private, concealing and hiding it. There should be both fear and hope, with no heedlessness, complacency or not caring about the response. This is part of offering supplication in the proper manner, because doing every act of worship properly means striving one's best and doing it in a perfect manner with no shortcomings in any way. Hence Allah says: ﴿for the mercy of Allah is always near to those who do good﴾ in worshipping Allah, and do kindness to the slaves of Allah. The more a person strives to worship Allah properly, the closer he is to the mercy of his Lord, and his Lord is closer to him by His mercy. This is obviously encouragement to strive to do well.

﴿وَهُوَ الَّذِي يُرْسِلُ الرِّيحَ بُشْرًا بَيْنَ يَدَيْ رَحْمَتِهِ ۖ حَتَّىٰ إِذَا أَقْلَتِ سَحَابًا
ثَقُلَا سَفَّنتَهُ لِبَلَدٍ مَّيِّتٍ فَأَنْزَلْنَا بِهِ الْمَاءَ فَأَخْرَجْنَا بِهِ مِنْ كُلِّ الثَّمَرَاتِ ۚ كَذَٰلِكَ نُخْرِجُ
الْمَوْتَىٰ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَذَكَّرُونَ ﴿٥٧﴾ وَالْبَلَدُ الطَّيِّبُ يَخْرِجُ نَبَاتَهُ ۖ وَيَاذْنِ رَبِّهِ ۖ وَالَّذِي
حَبَّتْ لَا يَخْرِجُ إِلَّا نَكِدًا ۚ كَذَٰلِكَ نُصَرِّفُ الْآيَاتِ لِقَوْمٍ يَشْكُرُونَ ﴿٥٨﴾﴾ (سورة

(الأعراف: ٥٧-٥٨)

- 7:57. It is He Who sends forth the winds as harbingers of His mercy.
Then, when they have gathered up heavy clouds, We drive them to a dead land where We cause the rain to fall upon it, bringing forth all kinds of crops thereby. In like manner will We bring forth the dead [on the Day of Resurrection], so that you may pay heed.

- 7:58. The good land brings forth its vegetation abundantly, by its Lord's leave, but bad land brings forth only poor and scant vegetation. Thus do We make the revelations elaborately clear for people who give thanks.

Here Allah (ﷻ) highlights one of the signs of His power and one of the signs of His mercy:

﴿It is He Who sends forth the winds as harbingers of His mercy﴾ that is, the winds are harbingers of rain, which the wind drives by His leave, and people feel happy with the sign of Allah's mercy, and their hearts feel at rest before it comes.

﴿Then, when they﴾ the winds ﴿have gathered up heavy clouds﴾ that some of the winds drove up and other winds accumulated them, and yet other winds fecundated them

﴿We drive them to a dead land﴾ where almost all of the animals have died and the people have almost despaired of the mercy of Allah.

﴿where We cause the rain to fall upon it﴾ that is, the dead land. So abundant rain falls from that cloud, and Allah causes a wind to scatter it by His leave.

﴿bringing forth all kinds of crops thereby﴾, so that people feel happy with the mercy of Allah and enjoy His bounty.

﴿In like manner will We bring forth the dead [on the Day of Resurrection], so that you may pay heed﴾ that is, just as We revived the earth with vegetation after it was dead, in like manner We will bring the dead forth from their graves, after they had become scattered dust. This is clear proof (of the resurrection), and there is no difference between the two matters. The one who denies the resurrection because he thinks it is not possible – even though he sees something similar to it – is doing that out of stubbornness and is denying something tangible.

This encourages us to contemplate and reflect upon the signs of Allah, and to think of them in order to learn a lesson and find proof, not in a negligent and careless manner.

Then Allah tells us how the lands that receive rain vary.

«The good land» is that which has good soil. If rain falls upon it, it «brings forth its vegetation abundantly», for which it has the potential «by its Lord's leave» that is, by the will of Allah, for the means do not lead to the ends unless Allah permits it by His leave.

«but bad land brings forth only poor and scant vegetation» that is, poor quality vegetation that is of no benefit and in which there is no blessing.

«Thus do We make the revelations elaborately clear for people who give thanks» that is, We explain in different ways, giving different likenesses, and We make it available to people who show gratitude to Allah by acknowledging His blessings and using them to seek His pleasure. They are the ones who benefit from what Allah has discussed in His Book of rulings and obligations, because they see it as one of the greatest blessings that could lead them to their Lord. Hence they receive it by joyfully expressing their need for it, and they ponder it and contemplate its meanings, so they understand it according to their ability to understand.

This is a likeness of hearts when revelation, which is the substance of life, just as rain is the substance of life, comes to them. When revelation comes to good hearts, they accept it and understand it, and the result is in accordance with their good origin and good nature.

As for evil hearts in which there is no good, when revelation comes to them it finds no acceptance; rather it finds these hearts negligent and heedless, or opposed to it. Hence it is like rain that falls on a salty marsh, sand or rocks, and has no impact on them. This is like the verse in which Allah (ﷻ) says:

«He sends down water from the sky and the watercourses flow, each according to its measure, and the torrent carries with it a rising foam...» (ar-Ra'd 13: 17)

﴿لَقَدْ أَرْسَلْنَا نُوحًا إِلَىٰ قَوْمِهِ فَقَالَ يَتَقَوَّمُوا لِعِبَادَةِ اللَّهِ مَا لَكُمْ مِنَ الْإِلَهِ غَيْرُهُ ۚ إِلَىٰ

 بِرِيسَالِنَا إِنَّهُمْ كَانُوا قَوْمًا عَمِينَ ۝٦٤﴾ (سورة الأعراف: ٥٩-٦٤)

- 7:59. Indeed We sent Nooh to his people. He said: O my people, worship Allah; you have no god but He. I fear for you the punishment of a momentous day.
- 7:60. The chieftains of his people said: Verily we see that you are clearly misguided.
- 7:61. He said: O my people, I am not misguided; rather I am a Messenger from the Lord of the worlds.
- 7:62. I convey unto you the messages of my Lord and give you sincere advice, for I know from Allah that which you do not know.
- 7:63. Do you wonder that there has come to you an admonition from your Lord through a man from among yourselves, so that he may warn you, and you may fear [Allah], and so that you may attain mercy.
- 7:64. But they rejected him, and We saved him and those who were with him, in the Ark, and We drowned those who rejected Our signs. Verily, they were people who were blind [to the truth].

Having mentioned sound evidence of His oneness, Allah (ﷻ) then supports that by mentioning what happened to the Prophets who called their people to affirm His oneness, but they rejected that; how He supported those who affirmed His oneness and destroyed those who opposed them and refused to accept their messages; and how the call of all the Messengers was to the same religion and the same belief. Here He tells us about Nooh, who was the first of the Messengers:

«Indeed We sent Nooh to his people» to call them to worship Allah alone, at a time when they were worshipping idols.

«He said» to them: «O my people, worship Allah» alone «you have no god but He» for He is the Creator, Provider and Controller of all things, and all others are created, subject to His control, and have no power at all. Then he warned them, if they did not obey him, of the punishment of Allah:

«I fear for you the punishment of a momentous day». This was indicative of his sincerity towards them and his compassion for them, as he feared for them the eternal punishment and everlasting misery, like his fellow Messengers who cared for people more than their own fathers and mothers did. But when he said that to them, they responded in the worst manner.

«The chieftains of his people» that is, the leaders and influential wealthy individuals who are usually arrogant towards the truth and do not follow the Messengers

«said: Verily we see that you are clearly misguided» and it was not enough for them – may Allah curse them – not to follow him; rather they also displayed arrogance and criticised him in the worst manner, describing him as misguided. And they did not just describe him as misguided; they described him as clearly misguided, as if it were something that was obvious to everyone.

This is one of the worst kinds of stubbornness that cannot even deceive the least rational of people. This description (of being «clearly misguided») was in fact applicable to the people of Nooh, who would come to the idols that they had shaped with their own hands from inanimate material that could not hear or see, and could not avail them anything, and elevate them to the status of the Creator of the heavens, and they would devote to them whatever they could of all kinds of acts of worship.

Were it not for the fact that they had minds and reason by means of which the proof of Allah was established against them, they would be deemed insane. In fact one might say that the insane would be more rational than they were. Nooh responded to them in a kind and gentle manner, in the hope that they might follow him.

﴿He said: O my people, I am not misguided﴾ that is, I am not misguided in any way; rather I am myself guided and I seek to guide others. His guidance was akin to that of his fellow Prophets, the Messengers of strong resolve; it was the best and most perfect kind of guidance, the guidance of the perfect and complete message. Hence he said: ﴿rather I am a Messenger from the Lord of the worlds﴾ that is, my Lord and your Lord, the Lord of all creation Who takes care of His creation in all aspects, one of the most important of which is that He sent Messengers to His slaves, to enjoin them to do righteous deeds, attain good characteristics and adopt sound beliefs, and to forbid them to do the opposite of that.

Hence he said: ﴿I convey unto you the messages of my Lord and give you sincere advice﴾ that is, my role is to convey the message to you, to explain His oneness, and His commands and prohibitions, by way of sincerity and compassion towards you.

﴿for I know from Allah that which you do not know﴾; therefore what you must do is obey me and comply with my instructions, if you understand.

﴿Do you wonder that there has come to you an admonition from your Lord through a man from among yourselves﴾ that is, how can you be amazed by something you should not be amazed by, which is that there has come to you a reminder, admonition and advice at the hands of a man from among you whose character, honesty and background you know well?

That is because Allah cares for you, and His kindness should be met with acceptance and gratitude.

﴿so that he may warn you, and you may fear [Allah], and so that you may attain mercy﴾ that is, to warn you of the painful punishment, and so that you may take measures to save yourselves, such as fearing Allah outwardly and inwardly. Thus you may attain the abundant mercy of Allah.

But his efforts were to no avail and he did not succeed: ﴿But they rejected him, and We saved him and those who were with him, in the Ark﴾ that is, the ship which Allah instructed Nooh (ؑ) to build, and He revealed to him that he should take on board a pair of every type of animal, along with his family and those who believed with him. So he took them all on board and Allah saved them thereby.

﴿and We drowned those who rejected Our signs. Verily, they were people who were blind﴾ to guidance. They saw the truth and Allah showed them – at the hands of Nooh – clear signs that could cause people of understanding to believe, but they mocked him and ridiculed him, and they disbelieved.

﴿وَالَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا مِنْ قَوْمِ نُوحٍ﴾ قَالَ يَنْفِقُونَ أَفَلَا تَتَّقُونَ ﴿٦٦﴾ قَالَ الْمَلَأُ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا مِنْ قَوْمِهِ إِنَّا لَنَرُّكَ فِي سَفَاهَةٍ وَإِنَّا لَنُظَنُّكَ مِنَ الْكَذِبِينَ ﴿٦٧﴾ قَالَ يَنْفِقُونَ لَيْسَ بِي سَفَاهَةٌ وَلَكِنِّي رَسُولٌ مِنْ رَبِّ الْعَالَمِينَ ﴿٦٨﴾ أُولَئِكَ كُفَرُوا مِنْ رَبِّي وَأَنَا لَكُمْ نَاصِحٌ أَمِينٌ ﴿٦٩﴾ أَوْعَجِبْتُمْ أَنْ جَاءَكُمْ ذِكْرٌ مِنْ رَبِّكُمْ عَلَى رَجُلٍ مِنْكُمْ لِيُنذِرَكُمْ وَأَذْكُرُوا إِذْ جَعَلَكُمْ خُلَفَاءَ مِنْ

(سورة الأعراف: ٦٥-٧٢)

- 7:65. To 'Ād We sent their brother Hood. He said: O my people, worship Allah; you have no god but He. Will you not then fear Him?
- 7:66. The chieftains of his people who disbelieved said: Indeed we regard you as foolish, and indeed we think you are a liar.
- 7:67. He said: O my people, there is nothing foolish about me; on the contrary, I am a Messenger from the Lord of the worlds.
- 7:68. I convey unto you the messages of my Lord and I am your sincere and honest adviser.
- 7:69. Do you wonder that there has come to you an admonition from your Lord through a man from among yourselves, so that he may warn you? Remember when He made you successors to the people of Nooh and increased you in stature. Remember the favours of Allah, so that you may prosper.
- 7:70. They said: Have you come to tell us to worship Allah alone, and to give up that which our forefathers used to worship? Bring us that with which you are threatening us, if you are telling the truth.
- 7:71. He said: Punishment and wrath have already become due to you from your Lord. Are you arguing with me about names that you have invented, you and your forefathers, for which Allah has not sent down any authority? Wait then; I too am waiting.

7:72. Then We saved him and those who were with him, by Our mercy, and we destroyed to the last man those who rejected Our signs, for they would not believe.

﴿To 'Ād﴾ – This refers to the first 'Ād, who were in Yemen ﴿We sent their brother﴾ in lineage ﴿Hood﴾ (﴿هٓوٓء﴾), to call them to affirm the oneness of Allah and forbid them to ascribe partners to Him or transgress in the land.

﴿He said﴾ to them: ﴿O my people, worship Allah; you have no god but He. Will you not then fear Him﴾ and fear His wrath and punishment, if you continue as you are? But they did not respond and they did not follow him.

﴿The chieftains of his people who disbelieved said﴾, rejecting his call and criticising his message:

﴿Indeed we regard you as foolish, and indeed we think you are a liar﴾ that is, we think you are nothing but a fool and immature, and we think it most likely that you are one of the liars.

Things had turned completely upside down in their minds and they became utterly blind to the truth, as they accused their Prophet (﴿ص﴾) of what they were guilty of, when he was the furthest of all people from that, for they were the real fools and liars.

What foolishness can be greater than that of one who responds to the utmost truth with rejection and is too arrogant to follow those who wish to guide him and show him the way with all sincerity, and instead submits both physically and emotionally to every rebellious devil and directs his worship inappropriately, worshipping trees and rocks that can avail him nothing?

What lie could be worse than the lie which attributes all these falsehoods to Allah (﴿ل﴾)?

﴿He said: O my people, there is nothing foolish about me﴾ in any way whatsoever. Rather he was a Messenger who was guided and sought to guide others.

﴿on the contrary, I am a Messenger from the Lord of the worlds. I convey unto you the messages of my Lord and I am your sincere and honest adviser﴾, so what you must do is respond by accepting, submitting and obeying the Lord of humankind.

﴿Do you wonder that there has come to you an admonition from your Lord through a man from among yourselves, so that he may warn you?﴾ That is, how can you wonder at something that is not surprising at all? Namely, Allah has sent to you a man from among you who you know, to guide you to that which is in your best interests and encourage you to do that which is beneficial for you. Your amazement is that of people who reject it.

﴿Remember when He made you successors to the people of Nooh﴾ that is, and praise your Lord and give thanks to Him, for He established you in the land and made you successors to the doomed nations who – for they did as you have done, and they enjoyed their share of worldly pleasures as you have done, and they indulged in falsehood as you have done. Verily they were losers; that is, the first and the last of them, and what loss could be greater than losing out on the gardens of bliss and being deprived of closeness to the Most Generous? But even though they will share the loss, they will vary greatly in the extent of their loss.

﴿For all﴾ of them ﴿there will be ranks according to their deeds﴾; the one who did less evil will not be like the one who did a great deal of evil, and the follower will not be like the leader.

Similarly, although those who attain reward and paradise will share the success, triumph and admission to paradise, there will be differences (in status) between them such as is known only to Allah. But they will all be pleased with what the Lord gives them, and they

«They said» in amazement at his call, telling him that it was impossible for them to obey him:

«Have you come to tell us to worship Allah alone, and to give up that which our forefathers used to worship?» May Allah curse them, for they regarded the beliefs and practices of their forefathers as the most important of obligations and the most perfect of matters, and something that no one should object to. They gave precedence to the misguidance of their forefathers, polytheism and idol worship, over that which the Messengers called to, namely affirming the oneness of Allah alone, with no partner or associate. They rejected their Prophet and said: «Bring us that with which you are threatening us, if you are telling the truth». Thus they prayed against themselves.

Hood (عليه السلام) said to them: «Punishment and wrath have already become due to you from your Lord» that is, they will inevitably befall you, for all the causes thereof are present and the time for doom has come.

«Are you arguing with me about names that you have invented, you and your forefathers» that is, how can you argue about matters that are not real, and about idols that you call gods, when there is nothing divine in them at all, not even an atom's weight «for which Allah has not sent down any authority?» For if that were true, Allah would have sent down authority for it; the fact that He did not do so indicates that it is false. There is nothing expected or made obligatory – especially with regard to major fundamental issues – but Allah has provided evidence to support it and unambiguous authority.

«Wait then» for what will befall you of the punishment that I have promised you

«I too am waiting». There is a difference between the two types of waiting: the waiting of one who fears the coming of the punishment, and that of the one who hopes for victory and reward from Allah. Hence Allah followed that by saying:

«Then We saved him» namely Hood

﴿and those﴾ believers ﴿who were with him, by Our mercy﴾. Allah was the One Who guided them to faith and made their faith a means of their attaining His mercy, so He saved them by His mercy.

﴿and we destroyed to the last man those who rejected Our signs﴾ that is, We eradicated them by means of the severe punishment that left none of them alive. Allah sent against them the devastating wind that left nothing it came upon, but made it as stuff decayed (cf. 51: 41-42). Thus they were destroyed and thereafter nothing was left to be seen except their dwellings (cf. 46: 25). So see what was the fate of those who were warned and against whom proof was established. But they did not pay heed; they were commanded to believe but they did not believe, so the outcome for them was destruction, disgrace and shame.

﴿They were overtaken by a curse in this world, and [they will be cursed] on the Day of Resurrection. Verily, 'Ād disbelieved in their Lord. So away with 'Ād, the people of Hood!﴾ (Hood 11: 60)

And Allah says here: ﴿and we destroyed to the last man those who rejected Our signs, for they would not believe﴾ by any means; rather He described them as disbelievers and stubborn.

﴿وإِلَىٰ ثَمُودَ أَخَاهُمْ صَالِحًا قَالَ يَنْفَوِرَ اعْبُدُوا اللَّهَ مَا لَكُم مِّنْ إِلَهِ غَيْرُهُ ۖ

- 7:73. And to Thamood We sent their brother Şâliḥ. He said: O my people, worship Allah; you have no god but He. There has come to you a clear sign from your Lord: this is the she-camel of Allah, a sign unto you. So leave her to graze in the land of Allah, and do not harm her in any way, or else a painful punishment will overtake you.
- 7:74. Remember when He made you successors to the people of 'Ād and settled you in the land; you build for yourselves palaces in the plains and carve out dwellings in the mountains. So remember the favours of Allah, and do not strive to spread mischief in the land.
- 7:75. The chieftains of his people who were arrogant said to those who were regarded as weak, to those among them who believed: Do you really know that Şâliḥ has been sent by his Lord? They said: We do indeed believe in the message with which he has been sent.
- 7:76. Those who were arrogant said: As for us, we disbelieve in that in which you believe.
- 7:77. Then they hamstrung the she-camel, and insolently transgressed the command of their Lord, saying: O Şâliḥ, bring us that with which you are threatening us, if you are indeed one of the Messengers [of Allah]!
- 7:78. So an earthquake overtook them, and morning found them lying lifeless in their homes.

7:79. So he left them, saying: O my people, I did indeed convey to you the message of my Lord. I gave you sincere advice, but you do not like sincere advisers.

﴿And to Thamood﴾ – they were a well-known tribe who lived in al-Hijr (the Rocky Tract) and its environs, in the Hejaz region of Arabia.

Allah sent to them ﴿their brother Şâlih﴾ as a Prophet, calling them to believe and affirm His oneness, and to forbid them to ascribe partners to Allah or set up rivals to Him.

﴿He said: O my people, worship Allah; you have no god but He﴾. His call was the same as the call of his fellow Messengers: the command to worship Allah alone, explaining that people have no god other than Allah.

﴿There has come to you a clear sign from your Lord﴾ that is, an extraordinary sign that could only be a sign from heaven, for people could not produce it. Then he explained further by saying:

﴿this is the she-camel of Allah, a sign unto you﴾ that is, this is a special and noble she-camel, because it is attributed to Allah (ﷻ) by way of honour, and in it there is a great sign for you.

The nature of that sign is mentioned elsewhere:

﴿Şâlih said: Here is a she-camel; she will have her share of water and you will have your share, each on an appointed day.﴾ (ash-Shu'arâ' 26: 155)

They had a large well which was known as Bi'r an-Nâqah (the Well of the She-Camel), where they and the she-camel took turns. The she-camel had a day when she would drink, and the people would drink the milk from her udder, and the people had a day when they would come to drink, and the she-camel would stay away.

Their Prophet Şâlih (ﷺ) said to them: ﴿So leave her to graze in the land of Allah﴾; you do not have to take care of her in any way

﴿and do not harm her in any way﴾ by hamstringing or otherwise, ﴿or else a painful punishment will overtake you﴾.

﴿Remember when He made you successors﴾ in the land, enjoying it and achieving what you aspired to

﴿successors to the people of 'Ād﴾ whom Allah destroyed, and He caused you to succeed them

﴿and settled you in the land﴾ that is, He caused you to become established in the land, and He made available to you the means that lead to what you want to achieve

﴿you build for yourselves palaces in the plains﴾ that is, in the flat land where there are no mountains; you build tall palaces and fortified buildings there

﴿and carve out dwellings in the mountains﴾ as can be seen until the present, their dwellings and other buildings in the mountains, which will remain as long as the mountains remain.

﴿So remember the favours of Allah﴾ that is, His blessings and what He has bestowed upon you of bounty, provision and strength

﴿and do not strive to spread mischief in the land﴾ that is, do not cause ruin to the earth with evildoing and sin, for sin leads to the ruin of civilisation, and now their land is devoid of them and their dwellings are empty.

﴿The chieftains of his people who were arrogant﴾ that is, the leaders and nobles who were too arrogant to believe

﴿said to those who were regarded as weak﴾ although not all the weak were believers

﴿to those among them who believed: Do you really know that Ṣāliḥ has been sent by his Lord?﴾ That is, is he telling you the truth or is he lying?

Those who were regarded as weak said: ﴿We do indeed believe in the message with which he has been sent﴾ that is, the oneness of Allah, and what he tells us about Him and His commands and prohibitions.

«Those who were arrogant said: As for us, we disbelieve in that in which you believe.» Their arrogance made them not submit to the truth to which those who were regarded as weak had submitted.

«Then they hamstrung the she-camel» that he had warned them about, saying that if they harmed her, a painful punishment would befall them.

«and insolently transgressed the command of their Lord» that is, their hearts grew hard and they arrogantly refused to comply with the command of their Lord, insolent transgression of which causes one to taste the severe punishment. So it is no wonder that Allah sent upon them a punishment which He did not send upon anyone else.

In addition to these actions, they began challenging Allah, not caring what they did; rather they boasted of it by saying: «O Şâlih, bring us that with which you are threatening us» if you are telling us the truth, of the punishment. He said:

«...Enjoy life in your worldly abodes for [another] three days. This is a promise that will not be belied.» (Hood 11: 65)

«So an earthquake overtook them, and morning found them lying lifeless in their homes» on their knees, for Allah had destroyed them to the last man.

«So he» that is, Şâlih (ﷺ) «left them» when Allah sent the punishment upon them

«saying» that is, addressing them by way of rebuke after Allah had destroyed them: «O my people, I did indeed convey to you the message of my Lord. I gave you sincere advice» that is, everything with which Allah sent me to you, I conveyed to you and I was keen for you to be guided, and I strove hard to make you follow the straight path and the true religion

«but you do not like sincere advisers»; rather you rejected the words of the sincere advisers, and you obeyed the words of every accursed devil.

It should be noted that many commentators mention with regard to this story that the she-camel came out of a solid rock that they suggested to Şâlih, and that the rock went into labour in the manner of a pregnant woman, and the she-camel emerged as they were looking on; she had a calf with her when they hamstrung her, which bleated three times, then the mountain opened up and the calf entered into it; Şâlih (عليه السلام) told them: The sign of the punishment coming upon you is that on the first of three days your faces will be yellow, on the second day they will be red, and on the third day they will be black, and it came to pass as he foretold.

All of these stories come from the Isrâ'eeliyât (stories narrated from Jewish sources), which should not be transmitted in commentaries on the Book of Allah. There is nothing in the Qur'an to indicate such events at all. Rather, if they were true Allah (سبحانه) would have mentioned them, because they contain signs and wonders and lessons that He could not have overlooked or omitted to mention until they came via those whose narrations are not trustworthy. In fact the Qur'an proves false some of the things mentioned. Şâlih said to them:

﴿...Enjoy life in your worldly abodes for [another] three days...﴾
(Hood 11: 65)

– that is, enjoy this very short time, for you will have no other pleasure after that. What pleasure could there be for people whose Prophet (according to the story mentioned above) had warned them of the punishment and told them of its precursors, which were to happen day by day in a manner that included all of them, by their faces becoming yellow, red and black, because of the punishment?

This can only be contrary to the Qur'an and opposite to what it says. The Qur'an provides sufficient information and guidance and there is no need for anything else.

Yes, if there is a soundly narrated report from the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) that does not contradict the Book of Allah, then we accept it, for it is included among that which the Qur'an has instructed us to follow:
